Record of conviction, while in force may be used as the foundation for a disbarment proceeding, but it is no longer possible, after a pardon, to disbar an attorney by this statutory proceeding wherein, if it is maintainable at all, judgment must go against him without any opportunity to defend against any present imputation against his moral character—In re Emmons, 154 P. 619, 29 Cal App 121

93. Matter of E———, 65 How Pr (N Y) 171.

94. Cal—In re Lincoln, 283 P. 965, 102 Cal App 733
Mo—In re Richards, 63 S W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo. 907
Neb—State v. Fisher, 174 N W. 320, 103 Neb. 736
N Y—In re Schneidkraut, 246 N.Y. S 505, 231 App Div. 109
Pa—Snyder's Case, 152 A. 33, 301 Pa 276, 76 A L R 666—In re Wolfe's Disbarment, 135 A. 732, 288 Pa. 331, 50 A L R. 380—In re Barach, 123 A 727, 279 Pa 89—In re Kauffman, 14 Pa Dist & Co 506
Vt—In re O'Brien, 113 A. 527, 95 Vt 167, 14 A L R. 859.
6 C J p 588 note 41
Misdemeanor in professional capacity
A statute making it a ground for disbarment where an attorney has committed a misdemeanor in his professional capacity has been construed as not using the word misdemeanor in the technical sense of offenses punishable by fine and imprisonment, but as the equivalent of professional misbehavior—In re Richards, 63 S W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907.

95. People v. John, 72 N E 789, 212 Ill. 615.

96. Pa—In re Wolfe's Disbarment, 135 A. 732, 288 Pa 331, 50 A L R. 380
Vt—In re O'Brien, 113 A. 527, 95 Vt. 167, 14 A L R 859

97. Minn—In re Bauer, 209 N.W. 21, 167 Minn 350
N Y—In re Schecht, 275 N.Y S. 712, 242 App Div. 495—In re Klein, 275 N.Y.S 703, 242 App Div. 494—In re

Thus one who secures admission to practice by willfully misrepresenting the facts as to his qualifications for admission,[98] or by fraudulently suppressing the fact of his indictment or conviction of crime,[99] the institution of disbarment proceedings,[1] or previous disbarment[2] in another jurisdiction, is guilty of such fraud and deceit as to require his disbarment.

§ 23. —— Professional Misconduct

a. In general
b. In relation to client
c. In relation to other attorneys
d. In relation to court
e. Deception of court and obstruction of justice
f. Misuse, falsification, or alteration of records and papers
g Misconduct as judge, prosecuting attorney, etc.
h. Miscellaneous grounds

a. In General

Violation of codes of ethics or any conduct on the part of an attorney in his professional capacity which tends to bring reproach on the legal profession constitutes ground for suspension or disbarment.

Conduct of an attorney in the performance of his duties as such is especially subject to the supervision of the courts in which he exercises that profession, and professional misconduct renders him subject to suspension or disbarment by the court, according to the degree of moral turpitude evinced by such misconduct.[3] This professional misconduct may consist in betraying the confidence of a client, as shown infra § 23 b, in attempting by

Price, 235 N Y S 601, 226 App Div 460
6 C J p 588 notes 43, 44

Fraudulent admission in another jurisdiction

Admission to the bar of another jurisdiction by falsely representing membership in the local bar is tainted by fraud and such fraud will contaminate the license to practice, granted on motion thereafter in the local jurisdiction on faith of such admission in the other jurisdiction —In re Price, 235 N.Y.S. 601, 226 App Div 460.

Proceeding to set aside order of admission of attorney from another jurisdiction as not a disbarment proceeding see supra § 15 a (2).

98. N Y.—In re Price, 235 N Y S 601, 226 App Div 460—In re Carpel, 165 N Y S. 102, 178 App Div. 146—In re Moskovits, 155 N.Y.S 485, 169 App Div 527.
N C—Attorney General v Gorson, 183 S E 392, 209 N C. 320, certiorari denied Gorson v. State of North Carolina ex rel Attorney General of North Carolina, 56 S Ct 752
6 C J p 588 note 45

99. N Y—In re Carpel, 165 N Y S 102, 178 App Div 146—In re Osgoodby, 155 N Y S 485, 169 App Div 626
Wis—State v. Podell, 207 N.W. 709, 189 Wis 457
6 C J p 588 note 46.

1. N Y—In re Price, 235 N Y S 601, 226 App Div 460
Wis—In re State Board of Law Examiners, 184 N W. 379, 175 Wis 66

2. Nev—State Bar v. Riccardi, 294 P 537, 53 Nev 128.
N Y—In re Hughes, 177 N.Y.S 234, 188 App Div. 520.
N C—Attorney General v Gorson, 183 S E 392, 209 N C 320, certiorari denied Gorson v State of North Carolina ex rel. Attorney General of North Carolina, 56 S Ct 752
6 C J p 588 note 47.

3. U S—Selling v Radford, (Mich.) 37 S Ct 377, 243 U S. 46, 61 L Ed 585—Duke v Committee on Grievances of Supreme Court of District of Columbia, (App D C.) 82 F (2d) 890, certiorari denied 56 S Ct 751—In re Ades, (D C Md.) 6 F.Supp 467
Cal—Ewell v State Bar of California, 40 P (2d) 264, 2 Cal (2d) 209—Mauer v State Bar of California, 26 P (2d) 14, 219 Cal. 271.
Colo—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v ———, Attorney at Law, 295 P 917, 88 Colo 325
Ill—In re Needham, 4 N E (2d) 19, 364 Ill. 65—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N.E 332, 351 Ill 206—People v Gorman, 178 N E 880, 346 Ill 432—People v. A'Brunswick, 146 N E 483, 315 Ill. 442—People v. Harris, 112 N E 978, 273 Ill. 413.
Iowa—In re Hunt, 205 N W. 321, 201 Iowa 181
Mass—In re Cohen, 159 N E 495, 261 Mass. 484, 55 A L R 1309
Mich—Attorney General v. Nelson, 249 N W. 439, 263 Mich. 686
N Y—In re Gordon, 241 N.Y.S 263, 229 App Div 88—In re Casey, 203 N Y S 61, 208 App Div. 24—In re Pouker, 197 N Y S 190, 203 App Div 520—In re Thayer, 190 N Y S 392, 198 App Div. 311—In re Earley, 177 N Y S. 347, 188 App.Div 532—In re Brown, 165 N Y S 736, 178 App Div 558—In re Brandmarket, 164 N Y S 369, 177 App Div 656—In re Smith, 160 N Y S 88, 173 App Div 601—In re Burnstine, 155 N Y S 500, 169 App.Div 540—In re Napolis, 155 N Y S 416, 169 App Div 469—In re Wilson, 170 N Y S. 725.
Ohio—In re Bickley, 4 Ohio N P.(N. S) 129
Okl—Ferguson v City of Hooker, 36 P (2d) 18, 169 Okl 34—In re Morgan, 33 P.(2d) 770, 168 Okl. 461
Pa—Stone v Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 163 A. 473, 312 Pa 576, 90 A L R 1109—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 312 Pa 555—In re Rosenbaum, 150 A 748, 300 Pa. 465—In re Lemisch, 22 Pa Dist & Co 645—In re Gartner, 22 Pa Dist & Co 643—In re Brodsky, 22 Pa Dist. & Co. 641—In re Samuel W. Salus, 22 Pa.Dist. & Co. 573.
S D—In re Waggoner, 206 N.W 427, 49 S.D. 78—In re Swihart, 177 N W. 364, 42 S D 628—In re Hanson, 161 N.W. 353, 38 S D. 350
Wash—In re Smith, 233 P. 288, 133 Wash. 145, 43 A.L.R. 102—In re Harvey, 216 P. 7, 125 Wash 698—In re Arctander, 188 P. 330, 110 Wash 296
Wis—Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W. 357, 185 Wis 350.
6 C J. p 588 note 48.

Abuse of special appearances

Attempted abuse of special appearances should be dealt with, when necessary, by disciplinary action against the offending attorney—U. S v. Collins, (C C A N Y) 55 F.(2d) 70.

Appropriating property deposited as bail

An attorney at law who attempted to appropriate to his own use property which he knew did not belong to his client, but which had been intrusted by the owners thereof to be deposited in lieu of bail to secure the any means to practice a fraud or impose on or deceive the court, as shown infra § 23 d, or the adverse party or his counsel, as shown infra § 23 c; and in fact in any conduct which tends to bring reproach on the legal profession or to alienate the favorable opinion which the public should entertain concerning it.[4]

Misdemeanor within the meaning of a disbarment statute is equivalent to professional misbehavior and is not used in any technical sense of an offense punishable by fine or imprisonment.[5]

Moral turpitude comprises everything done contrary to justice, honesty, or good morals,[6] and misconduct in reference to one's duties and obligations as an attorney—conduct contrary to justice, honesty, modesty, or good morals—constitutes moral turpitude;[7] but, whether or not a violation of the rules of professional conduct involves any or all of these elements or is merely characterized as unethical, such violation may be penalized.[8] However, moral turpitude cannot be predicated on errors of judgment as to the law, or on action had and taken in good faith.[9]

Professional ethics. While it has been held that there is no difference between personal and professional ethics,[10] conduct usual or permissible in a commercial business may not be permissible to a lawyer.[11] Although the canons of ethics of the American and state bar associations are not enforced by the courts as a binding obligation,[12] the codes of legal ethics are commonly recognized as establishing wholesome standards of professional release of his client from custody pending trial, which property he knew was to be returned to the owners, was held guilty of such unprofessional conduct as to warrant disbarment—In re Condon, 195 N W 492, 157 Minn. 24.

Attempting to force settlement by threats

Evidence showing that an attorney attempted to force a cash settlement of a slander action by a representation that a proposed book of attorney's client contained scandalous statements concerning the person from whom the settlement was sought, and that the book would be published if the action were not settled, required the attorney's disbarment—In re Pollack, 285 N.Y.S. 344, 246 App Div. 211.

Ignorant, negligent, or willful malpractice

While disciplinary proceedings cannot be taken against a solicitor for ignorant malpractice, he may be censured, and in gross cases disciplined for negligent malpractice, and may be disbarred for willful malpractice—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N J Eq. 232

Paying money to a "fixer" to procure a suspended or light sentence for a client has been held ground for disbarment.—In re Grudberg, 283 N Y.S. 353.

Proper venue and removal from calendar

Attorneys should see that actions are brought in the proper venue and are promptly removed from the calendar when they have been settled or discontinued—In re Glucksman, 243 N Y.S 1, 230 App Div 185

Actions held not to constitute misconduct

(1) That an attorney procured service of an unfiled complaint for alimony has been held not conduct meriting infliction of punishment, under evidence that opposing counsel were apprised of the fact that complaint was not filed nor summons issued—Bruns v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 989, 213 Cal 151.

(2) Bankers refused to underwrite railroad bonds, unless the president of the railroad would underwrite part of the issue, the president to have an interest in the bankers' option to purchase the bonds at a stated price and this arrangement was approved by the directors of the railroad and carried out. Where, after the president's interest in the option had expired, his personal attorney, who was also attorney for the railroad, induced the bankers to restore the president to his original interest in the option and subsequent financiering required the railroad to purchase its outstanding bonds, the bankers and the president exercised their option, and then sold bonds at a large profit, it has been held that the attorney was not guilty of misconduct—In re Chadbourne, 198 N.Y. S 422, 204 App Div. 459.

4. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill. 206—6 C J. p 589 note 52

Malpractice by an attorney comprises any conduct which shows such intentional fraud on the court or client as involves moral turpitude—In re Smith, 94 A. 39, 84 N J Eq 252—6 C J. p 589 note 52 [a].

Professional malpractice is of three kinds,—ignorant, negligent, and willful—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N J Eq. 232

Willful professional misconduct

That the conduct of an attorney in engaging in business ventures and extending his credit further than his resources justified was subject to criticism, in that he placed himself in a position where his integrity as a lawyer could be questioned, was held not alone sufficient to constitute willful professional misconduct. —People v. Hansen, 147 N E. 431, 316 Ill. 502

5. In re H——— S———, (Mo App) 69 S W (2d) 325

6. Jacobs v. State Bar of California, 25 P.(2d) 401, 219 Cal. 59.

7. Dudney v. State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 770, 214 Cal 238—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 291 P 583, 210 Cal 303—In re Humphrey, 168 P. 60, 174 Cal 290.

8. Dudney v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 770, 214 Cal. 238.

9. In re Kling, 186 P. 152, 44 Cal. App 267.

10. In re Williams, (Okl) 50 P. (2d) 729

Professional ethics is not a distinct system of morality, but it is the application of the accepted standards of right and wrong to the conduct of professional men in the business relations peculiar to their professional employment—In re Williams, (Okl) 50 P (2d) 729.

Standards of common honesty and fair dealing determine whether an attorney is subject to a disciplinary proceeding—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E. 332, 351 Ill. 206

11. In re Tracy, (Minn.) 266 N.W. 88.

12. People v McCallum, 173 N.E. 827, 341 Ill 578—Hunter v. Troup, 146 N.E. 321, 315 Ill. 293.

action,[13] and an attorney may be disciplined for not observing them.[14]

b. In Relation to Client

(1) In general
(2) Representing conflicting interests
(3) Misappropriation and failure to account

(1) In General

Unfaithful or fraudulent conduct of an attorney toward his client constitutes ground for suspension or disbarment.

The law is well settled that unfaithful or fraudulent conduct of an attorney toward his client, showing the unfitness of the attorney to handle the affairs of others, is good ground for suspension or disbarment.[15] It is also ground for suspension or disbarment that an attorney used means inconsistent with truth or professional ethics to aid his client's cause.[16] Betraying the confidence of his client,[17] defrauding him,[18] or obtaining money

13. Ill.—Hunter v. Troup, supra
Mass.—In re Cohen, 159 N.E. 495, 261 Mass. 484, 55 A.L.R. 1309

Must not offend against reasonable rules of propriety

Whatever may be the constitutional rights of an attorney at law, he must not offend against reasonable rules of propriety, and the courts must see that the public interests are conserved by the observance by lawyers of the proprieties, even though profit may be thereby restrained—In re Cohen, 159 N.E. 495, 261 Mass. 484, 55 A.L.R. 1309.

14. Hunter v. Troup, 146 N.E. 321, 315 Ill. 293.

Unprofessional conduct in an attorney is that which violates the rules or ethical code of his profession or which is unbecoming a member of that profession—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206—People v. Gorman, 178 N.E. 880, 346 Ill. 432

15. Ark.—Maloney v. State, 32 S.W. (2d) 423, 182 Ark. 510
Cal.—Myers v. State Bar of California, 50 P.(2d) 795—Lantz v. State Bar of California, 298 P. 497, 212 Cal. 213—Bar Association of San Francisco v. Cantrell, 193 P. 598, 49 Cal.App. 468.
D.C.—Fletcher v. Laws, 62 App.D.C. 40, 64 F.(2d) 163.
Fla.—In re Clifton, 155 So. 324, 115 Fla. 168.
Idaho—In re Wourms, 170 P. 919, 31 Idaho 291.
Ill.—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Byrne, 188 N.E. 849, 354 Ill. 607—People v. Olson, 153 N.E. 348, 322 Ill. 210.
Ky.—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S.W. 948, 165 Ky. 93, L.R.A.1917B 1132.
Minn.—In re Tracy, 266 N.W. 88—In re Garrett, 188 N.W. 322, 152 Minn. 300—In re Ginsberg, 169 N.W. 787, 141 Minn. 271.
Mont.—In re Waddell, 172 P. 1036, 54 Mont. 597.
N.J.—In re McDermut, 114 A. 144, 96 N.J.Law 17
N.Y.—In re Marshall, 213 N.Y.S. 611, 216 App.Div. 168—In re Lynch, 205 N.Y.S. 518, 210 App.Div. 191—In re Marcus, 203 N.Y.S. 417, 208 App.Div. 300—In re Gilbert, 202 N.Y.S. 885, 207 App.Div. 687—In re Ball, 171 N.Y.S. 489, 184 App.Div. 18—In re Rahm, 161 N.Y.S. 1038, 175 App.Div. 330, reargument denied 163 N.Y.S. 1128—In re Mulligan, 161 N.Y.S. 1033, 175 App.Div. 322—In re O'Neill, 161 N.Y.S. 899, 175 App.Div. 973
Okl.—In re Tillman, 11 P.(2d) 511, 157 Okl. 166
Or.—State v. Goldstein, 220 P. 565, 109 Or. 497—State v. Farrin, 160 P. 124, 81 Or. 489.
Pa.—In re Alexander, 134 A. 77, 321 Pa. 125—Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa. 186—In re Goldberg, 22 Pa.Dist. & Co. 582—Gorson's Case, 11 Pa.Dist. & Co. 563.
S.D.—In re Wilmarth, 172 N.W. 921, 42 S.D. 76
Tenn.—State v. Rogers, 191 S.W. 125, 136 Tenn. 578.
Wash.—In re Martin, 181 P. 880, 107 Wash. 372.
Wis.—State v. Bradford, 259 N.W. 109, 217 Wis. 389.
6 C.J. p. 589 note 52.

Phrase "maintain inviolate the confidence," as contained in Code Civ. Proc. § 282, is not confined merely to noncommunication of facts learned in the course of professional employment—In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal.App. 144.

Transactions adverse to client

(1) An attorney who, as trustee of a decedent's estate, purchased from himself individually a third mortgage was guilty of misconduct warranting suspension from practice—In re Ball, 171 N.Y.S. 489, 184 App.Div. 18

(2) An attorney who, as trustee of a decedent's estate, made a personal profit, by receiving a bonus for a loan of trust money on inadequate security without his client's knowledge, was guilty of misconduct warranting suspension.—In re Ball, supra.

(3) Under an alleged contract whereby an attorney was to receive one fourth of the amount to be recovered for his client's ward, the attorney's retention, out of cash received, of one fourth of the amount of a note payable eleven months hence, given to the client, was so unethical as to call for exercise by the Supreme Court of its disciplinary power—In re Barth, (Ariz.) 50 P.(2d) 564

Concealing amount offered in settlement

Evidence disclosing that an attorney solicited a case and then concealed from his client the amount offered in settlement authorized disbarment.—In re Purdy, 25 P.(2d) 1096, 166 Okl. 31.

Failure to give advice where client is experienced person

Where an attorney negotiated a sale of stock, part of which belonged to a trust estate, and the entire purchase price, including a commission paid to the attorney by the buyer, was turned over to the attorney's client who then paid the attorney for his services, the attorney was not guilty of professional misconduct in failing to tell his client that he must account to the trust estate for this commission, and to prepare the necessary papers to protect both himself and client, in view of the fact that the client was an experienced financier, the attorney was not employed by the trust estate, and the fact that, after the attorney's attention had been called to the client's failure to account for the commission, the attorney advised the client to do so, and the client followed this advice—In re Chadbourne, 198 N.Y.S. 422, 204 App.Div. 459.

16. Cal.—Galbraith v. State Bar of California, 23 P.(2d) 291, 218 Cal. 329.
Minn.—In re Glover, 223 N.W. 931, 176 Minn. 519
N.Y.—In re Yardum, 218 N.Y.S. 6, 218 App.Div. 134.

Confession of adultery

A solicitor has been held guilty of unprofessional conduct in procuring from a client's wife in her husband's presence a sworn confession of adultery—In re Hahn, 94 A. 953, 84 N.J.Eq. 523, motion denied 96 A. 539, 85 N.J.Eq. 510, Ann.Cas.1918B 880

17. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206—6 C.J. p. 589 note 49.

18. Ark.—Maloney v. State, 32 S.W. (2d) 423, 182 Ark. 510.

or property from him by extortion[19] or by false representations relative to matters intrusted to him as an attorney,[20] warrants suspension or disbarment. The same is true of defrauding a client by means of false and misleading statements,[21] by knowingly giving false advice,[22] by inducing or making a settlement to the disadvantage of a client,[23] or by trading a number of releases for a lump sum to be distributed to clients as the attorney thinks best.[24] So also, the abandonment of his client's interests after receipt of a fee,[25] as by failure to protect the rights of the client on writ of error or appeal[26] or by withdrawing a motion for a new trial without the knowledge or authority of his client,[27] has been held ground for disciplinary action.

The refusal of an attorney to deliver the client's letters and papers on demand is ground for suspension where the attorney did not claim any lien on them.[28]

Negligence or mistake. While, as shown infra § 125, an attorney has a duty to execute the business intrusted to him with a reasonable degree of care, skill, and dispatch, mere negligence or mistake in the performance of an attorney's duty is generally insufficient to warrant disbarment,[29] but it has been held ground for disciplinary action that

Ill—People v. Gilmore, 177 N.E. 710, 345 Ill. 28

Taking assignment

An attorney has been held guilty of overreaching himself and of defrauding his client in procuring an assignment from the client to a cause of action filed in her name—People v. Gilmore, 177 N.E. 710, 345 Ill. 28

19. N.Y.—In re Aydelotte, 200 N.Y.S. 637, 206 App.Div. 93
Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v. Sheldon, 7 P.(2d) 226, 43 Wyo. 523
6 C.J. p. 590 note 54.

20. Ill.—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Kwasigroch, 192 N.E. 221, 357 Ill. 302
N.J.—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N.J.Eq. 232—In re Eaton, 94 A. 31, 84 N.J.Eq. 379—In re Colyer, 94 A. 29, 84 N.J.Eq. 449
N.Y.—In re Gavrin, 286 N.Y.S. 208, 246 App.Div. 397—In re Gladstone, 173 N.Y.S. 89, 185 App.Div. 471.
N.D.—In re Bryans, 204 N.W. 9, 52 N.D. 673
Okl.—In re Johnson, 33 P.(2d) 189, 168 Okl. 366
6 C.J. p. 590 note 55.

Violation of a promissory obligation, followed by a false assertion, often repeated, that the promise was being performed, constitutes malpractice—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N.J.Eq. 232.

21. Cal.—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 291 P. 583, 210 Cal. 303—In re Hittson, 185 P. 308, 43 Cal.App. 462
Idaho—In re Henry, 269 P. 416, 46 Idaho 573
Minn.—In re Chisholm, 241 N.W. 53, 185 Minn. 326.
N.M.—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N.M. 93.
N.J.—In re Trimble, 95 A. 863, 85 N.J.Eq. 348.
N.Y.—In re Jaffe, 280 N.Y.S. 927, 245 App.Div. 831—In re Hyman, 174 N.Y.S. 306, 186 App.Div. 263—In re Gridley, 167 N.Y.S. 107, 179 App.Div. 621—In re Coleman, 156 N.Y.S. 487, 170 App.Div. 537.
Or.—State ex rel. Seton v. McMonamin, 29 P.(2d) 520, 146 Or. 60
S.D.—In re Morrison, 178 N.W. 732, 43 S.D. 185
Wash.—In re Cavers, 4 P.(2d) 1106, 165 Wash. 261.
Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v. Sheldon, 7 P.(2d) 226, 43 Wyo. 522
6 C.J. p. 590 note 57.

Acquisition of client's money by representations that it was needed in the prosecution of a foreclosure action for the client, and subsequent conversion thereof by the attorney, has been held misconduct requiring suspension of the attorney—In re Williams, 289 N.Y.S. 103, 248 App.Div. 203.

22. In re Alexander, 184 A. 77, 321 Pa. 125—6 C.J. p. 590 note 58.

Honest mistake

That an attorney honestly advised his client that he could procure a divorce in Virginia after the client obtained constructive domicile there was held not to establish professional misconduct—In re Baltimore, 252 N.Y.S. 771, 233 App.Div. 320.

23. Ill.—People v. Sullivan, 117 N.E. 134, 279 Ill. 634, L.R.A.1918A 1136
N.Y.—In re Richardson, 226 N.Y.S. 250, 222 App.Div. 282.
6 C.J. p. 590 note 59.

Attorney has been held justified in refusing offer of settlement which required full performance by his client in advance of trial, and gave the other party three days thereafter to file a surety bond or deposit fifty thousand dollars cash—In re Farrell, 262 N.Y.S. 766, 237 App.Div. 673

24. In re Glucksman, 243 N.Y.S. 1, 230 App.Div. 185.

25. N.Y.—In re Steierman, 262 N.Y.S. 121, 237 App.Div. 584—In re Marcus, 203 N.Y.S. 417, 208 App.Div. 300.
N.D.—In re Maloney, 153 N.W. 385, 35 N.D. 1.
S.D.—In re Morrison, 178 N.W. 732, 43 S.D. 185.

26. Ariz.—Tovar v. State, 8 P.(2d) 247, 39 Ariz. 528
N.J.—In re McDermut, 114 A. 144, 96 N.J.Law 17
Okl.—In re Tillman, 11 P.(2d) 511, 157 Okl. 166.

Excuse

An attorney could not excuse himself from protecting the rights of his client, under death sentence, on writ of error, by insisting that there was no money to pay the necessary expense of a transcript, in view of a statute permitting a transcript to be printed at public expense on the judge's order—In re McDermut, 114 A. 144, 96 N.J.Law 17.

27. State Bd. of Law Examiners v. De la Motte, 142 N.W. 929, 123 Minn. 54.

28. In re Youngentob, 168 N.Y.S. 961, 181 App.Div. 490

29. Ill.—People v. Charone, 123 N.E. 291, 283 Ill. 220
Nev.—In re Miller, 38 P.(2d) 972, 55 Nev. 444
N.Y.—In re Farrell, 262 N.Y.S. 766, 237 App.Div. 673—In re Downes, 167 N.Y.S. 583, 180 App.Div. 282.

Accepting employment when busy

Acceptance of employment by an attorney when the press of other matters prevents immediate action is not ground for disbarment—People v. Wing, 120 N.E. 451, 284 Ill. 647

Institution of a second and different action on dismissal of the first and denial of amendment has been held not to constitute professional misconduct—In re Farrell, 262 N.Y.S. 766, 237 App.Div. 673.

Laziness or inattention to business does not warrant disbarment as an attorney without evidence of dishonorable or corrupt motives—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699.

Mistake in drafting a petition in a suit prosecuted for his client, resulting from oversight, or, at most, from negligence, does not justify disbarment—In re Smith, 94 A. 39, 84 N.J.Eq. 252.

an attorney was culpably or grossly careless and negligent as to his client's interests [30]

Loans to or from clients. Making a loan to a destitute client where it is not consideration for the employment[31] or the borrowing of money from a client[32] is not, of itself, ground for suspension or disbarment. but, where the attorney is guilty of false representations respecting the security for the loan, he is subject to disciplinary action.[33]

Excessive fees An exact standard for fixing attorney's fees does not exist, and the charging of an excessive fee is not ground for suspension or disbarment if the attorney is not guilty of willfully overreaching, or of fraud and deception toward, the client,[34] notwithstanding later developments prove the fee to be unreasonably large, or the services unnecessary,[35] but, where the fee is clearly excessive,[36] or the attorney fails to render any adequate service therefor,[37] an attorney is subject to disciplinary action.

Mentally incompetent client. An attorney's acceptance of a retainer from a client to investigate

30. Cal—Ring v State Bar of California, 47 P (2d) 704—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75—Marsh v State Bar of California, 291 P 583, 210 Cal 303
N J—In re Trimble, 95 A 863, 85 N J Eq 348
N Y—In re Radetsky, 284 N Y S 89, 245 App Div 662—In re Gerety, 270 N Y S 653, 240 App Div 496
Okl—In re Connell, 192 P 564, 79 Okl 212
Wash—In re Boland, 248 P 399, 140 Wash 148
Wis—State v Sodenberg, 255 N W 906, 215 Wis 571

Unexplained delay by a solicitor in prosecution of a suit for his client constitutes malpractice—In re Smith, 94 A 39, 84 N J Eq 252—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A 42, 84 N J Eq 232

31. In re Sizer, 267 S W 922, 306 Mo 356

32. Attorney General v Lane, 243 N W 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565

33. In re Walder, 247 N Y S 14, 231 App Div 206.

34. Cal—Myers v State Bar of California, 50 P.(2d) 795—Herrscher v State Bar of California, 49 P (2d) 832
Ill—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v Green, 187 N E 811, 353 Ill 638
Mont—In re Maury, 34 P (2d) 380, 97 Mont 316
N M—In re Marron, 160 P 391, 22 N M 252, L R A 1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P 216, 22 N M 501
Ohio—In re McCray, 1 Ohio App 421
Okl—Haunstein v State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P (2d) 558
6 C J p 599 note 69

Retaining more than contracted amount

The action of an attorney in charging or retaining fifty per cent commission on a claim taken for collection, although his agreement was to charge merely twenty-five per cent, has been held to merit disciplinary action—In re Choate, (Okl) 50 P (2d) 706.

35. N Y—In re Roth, 169 N Y S 151, 181 App Div 618
Ohio—In re McCray, 1 Ohio App 421

36. Cal—Herrscher v State Bar of California, 49 P (2d) 832—In re Goldstone, 6 P (2d) 513, 214 Cal 490, 80 A L R 701
Ill—People v Pio, 139 N E 45, 308 Ill 128
N J—In re Hahn, 94 A 953, 84 N J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830
N Y—In re Gavrin, 275 N Y S 789, 242 App Div 490—In re Karp, Alter, Busch Rusgo, Aronstein, Butler, Mayer, Kahan, Fitzsimmons, Goldstein, McAuliffe, Hirsch, Frankel, Weber, and Kurtz, 270 N Y S 113, 240 App Div 388, affirmed In re Karp, 195 N E 160, 266 N Y 473—In re Annabel, 229 N Y S 385, 228 App Div 539—In re Fisch, 177 N Y S 338, 188 App Div 525—In re Cohen, 155 N Y S 517, 169 App. Div 544
S D—In re Egan, 157 N W 310, 37 S D 159, motion denied 161 N W 1003, 38 S D 458
Wash—In re Wiltse, 186 P. 848, 109 Wash 261
Wis—State v Barto, 232 N W 553, 202 Wis 329

Contract in advance of services

An attorney, who contracts in advance for an unreasonable fee, is as guilty as one who extorts it after rendering his services, and in neither case does a settlement with his client free him from liability—In re Cohen, 155 N Y S. 517, 169 App Div. 544.

Deducting for disbursements

An attorney's practice of accepting retainors and deducting for payments due physicians, and thereby paying clients less than the percentage due under retainers, is condemned—In re Cashman, 242 N Y S 566, 229 App Div 471—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N Y S 481, 228 App Div 470

One half of alimony

An attorney making an agreement to receive one half of all alimony collected prior to judgment together with counsel fees awarded has been held guilty of misconduct warranting suspension—In re Dangler, 182 N. Y S 471, 192 App Div 237

37. Cal—Farrar v State Bar of California, 34 P (2d) 1024, 1 Cal (2d) 359—Barbee v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 353, 213 Cal 296
Ill—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Green, 187 N E 811, 353 Ill 638—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill 206—People v. Anderson, 112 N E 273, 273 Ill 37
Mich—Attorney General v Lane, 243 N W. 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed. 565.
N J—In re Hahn, 94 A. 953, 84 N J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A. 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830
N Y.—In re Higgins, 291 N Y S. 63, 249 App Div 64—In re Sussman, 290 N Y S 727, 248 App Div 494—In re Pollane, 244 N Y S 201, 230 App Div 318—In re Dangler, 199 N.Y S. 306, 205 App Div 94—In re Levinson, 188 N Y S 730, 197 App Div 46, reargument denied 191 N Y S 935, 199 App Div 966
Pa—In re Morris, 14 Pa Dist. & Co 164—Graft's Disbarment, 13 Pa Dist. & Co. 313—McCoach's Case, 10 Pa.Dist & Co. 25.
R I—Grinsell v Wilcox, 98 A. 977.
6 C J p 590 note 56

Belief action was begun

While an attorney is bound by the date in a process server's affidavit of service, as respects the date of commencement of an action on the issue of the amount of a fee, an attorney has been held not to have overreached himself in retaining the amount agreed if action was necessary to collect the money, where the facts justified the belief that the summons had been actually served—In re Flanagan, 247 N Y S. 724, 231 App Div 548

Ignorance of client

Where a fee contracted for is clearly extortionate, the client cannot have had in view the real effect of the contract—In re Hahn, 94 A 953, 84 N J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830.

his rights is not improper, although the attorney knows him to be a lunatic, or later discovers that fact, for to hold otherwise would deprive an insane person of the aid and assistance of counsel in protecting his rights;[38] but, where an attorney procures conveyances from a mentally incompetent client of practically all his property, it is ground for disbarment.[39]

(2) Representing Conflicting Interests

An attorney's conduct in representing conflicting claims of two or more clients may be such as to warrant his disbarment.

Attempting to act for one party to a litigation or business dealings after having been engaged to represent the adverse party, and seeking to use the knowledge and secrets acquired from the first for the benefit of the second and the injury of the first, is such culpable conduct as will always justify suspension or disbarment unless satisfactory explanation can be made;[40] and it makes no difference in this respect whether the relation itself has been terminated, for the obligation of fidelity and loyalty still continues.[41] As shown infra § 47, an attorney may represent his client's adversary with perfect propriety whenever their interests are not hostile to each other, and consequently the mere fact that he apparently occupied that position does not necessarily imply that in doing so he has been guilty of such unprofessional conduct as warrants disbarment.[42] In order to entail that consequence it should appear that there were antagonistic interests in fact which he assumed to represent on both sides,[43] and that in assuming this relation to both sides of a controversy he was acting from a corrupt motive or with an evil intent, and that by reason of such conduct some injury or wrong was sustained by parties interested directly or indirectly in the litigation.[44]

(3) Misappropriation and Failure to Account

(a) In general

(b) By one partner

(a) In General

Misappropriation of the funds of a client by an attorney with a fraudulent purpose is ground for suspension or disbarment

Although in some jurisdictions, a demand by the client is held necessary,[45] whether so provided by statute or not, it is always a ground for the suspension or disbarment of an attorney that he has misappropriated the funds of his client, either by failing to pay over money collected by him for his client or by appropriating to his own use funds intrusted to his care, as by mingling them with his own funds,[46] provided the circumstances attend-

38. People v. Adams, 94 N E 950, 249 Ill. 524.

39. In re Egan, 157 N.W. 310, 37 S D. 159, motion denied 161 N W 1003, 38 S D. 458—6 C J. p 590 note 62.

40. Cal—Galbraith v. State Bar of California, 23 P.(2d) 291, 218 Cal 329.
Mich—Murphy v. Riggs, 213 N W 110, 238 Mich 151
Mont—In re Grorud, 275 P. 1098, 84 Mont 221.
N Y—In re Moses, 195 N Y S 358, 202 App Div 83—In re Young, 177 N Y S. 259, 188 App Div 538.
Okl—In re Gowdy, 36 P (2d) 902, 169 Okl 370—Ferguson v City of Hooker, 36 P (2d) 18, 169 Okl 34—In re Dick, 26 P (2d) 413, 166 Okl. 114—In re Jeter, 20 P (2d) 886, 163 Okl 27—State v. Jefferson, 193 P 44, 79 Okl 288
Pa—In re Goldberg, 184 A 74, 321 Pa. 109—Lewis v Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 173 A. 652, 316 Pa 193.
S D—In re Morrison, 178 N W. 732, 43 S.D. 185
6 C J. p 590 note 63, p 621 note 54 [a].

Personal interest in case

Partners acting as solicitors for both parties and withholding the fact of personal interest have been held guilty of contemptuous conduct warranting suspension—Ertag v Cavallo Const. Co., 145 A 627, 104 N J. Eq 331.

41. Cal—Galbraith v State Bar of California, 23 P.(2d) 291, 218 Cal. 329
N M—In re Marron, 160 P. 391, 22 N M 252, L R A.1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P. 216, 22 N M. 501.
S D—In re Wilmarth, 172 N.W. 921, 42 S D 76.
6 C J. p 591 note 64.

42. In re Collins, 81 P. 220, 147 Cal 8

43. In re Collins, supra—6 C.J p 591 note 67

44. In re Baum, 186 P 927, 32 Idaho 676—6 C J p 591 note 68.

45. Ill—People v Harris, 112 N E 978, 273 Ill 413
Ky—Denny v Commonwealth, 194 S W 330, 175 Ky 357
N Y—In re Baltimore, 252 N Y S 771, 233 App Div 320
Pa—In re Griffith, 184 A 76, 321 Pa 64—In re Forman, 184 A. 75, 321 Pa 47—In re Gery, 180 A 307, 284 Pa 121—Dixon v. Minogue, 124 A. 334, 280 Pa. 138—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416—In re Rule on A for Disbursement, 11 Pa Dist. 268.
Vt—In re Aldrich, 95 A. 927, 89 Vt. 518

46. Ariz—In re Myrland, 29 P (2d) 483—In re Langworthy, 8 P (2d) 245, 39 Ariz 523—In re Manatt, 264 P. 473, 33 Ariz 299—In re Bailey, 254 P 481, 31 Ariz 407, certiorari denied Bailey v. State of Arizona, 48 S Ct 31, 275 U S 575, 72 L Ed 434—In re Bailey, 248 P 29, 30 Ariz 407
Cal—Wilcox v State Bar of California, 42 P.(2d) 631, 2 Cal (2d) 614—Oster v. State Bar of California, 42 P (2d) 627, 2 Cal (2d) 625, rehearing denied and modified on other grounds 43 P (2d) 535—Brown v. State Bar of California, 42 P.(2d) 306, 2 Cal (2d) 533—Smuckler v. State Bar of California, 38 P.(2d) 777, 2 Cal (2d) 80—Branch v. State Bar of California, 56 P (2d) 945—Roark v. State Bar of California, 55 P (2d) 339—Tatlow v State Bar of California, 55 P (2d) 214—Seavey v State Bar of California, 47 P (2d) 281—Nolan v State Bar of California, 13 P.(2d) 512, 216 Cal 58—McArthur v. State Bar of California, 12 P (2d) 453, 215 Cal. 652—D'Elia v. State Bar of California, 300 P 826, 212 Cal 770—Schaffer v. State Bar of California, 298 P 994, 212 Cal 367—In re Herron, 298 P. 474, 212 Cal 196—Green v. State Bar of California, 292 P 638, 210 Cal 603—In re Petersen, 280 P 124, 208 Cal 42—Bar Association of San Francisco v. Cantrell, 193 P. 598, 49 Cal App 468

Colo—People v. Warren, 12 P (2d) 348, 91 Colo 99—People v Marshall, 297 P 998, 88 Colo 394—People v Winograd, 287 P 864, 87 Colo 384—People v Cary, 251 P 597, 80 Colo 443—People v Furman, 212 P 825, 72 Colo 549—People v Humbert, 194 P. 612, 69 Colo 188—People v. Kohn, 149 P 249, 59 Colo 353

D C—Thomas v. Ogilby, 59 App D C. 382, 44 F (2d) 890

Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P (2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190

Ill—In re Mack, 196 N E. 197, 360 Ill 343—In re Casey, 195 N E 39, 359 Ill 496—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Chancellor, 192 N E 641, 358 Ill. 112—In re Borchardt, 192 N E 383, 357 Ill 458—In re Zahn, 190 N E 419, 356 Ill 283—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Pace, 188 N E 169, 354 Ill 111—People v. Hansen, 185 N E. 225, 352 Ill 144—People v. Hachtman, 183 N E 222, 350 Ill 326—People v Ladouceur, 179 N E 890, 347 Ill 454—People v Simmons, 173 N E 398, 341 Ill. 340—People v Olson, 153 N E 348, 322 Ill 210—People v Grusd, 148 N E 860, 318 Ill 44—People v. Kwasigroch, 130 N E 344, 296 Ill. 542—People v Loeff, 126 N E 577, 292 Ill 55—People v. Smith, 124 N E 807, 290 Ill. 241, 9 A L R 183—People v Moseley, 116 N E 123, 278 Ill. 377—People v Pfuhl, 114 N E 10, 275 Ill 243—People v Czarnecki, 109 N E 14, 268 Ill 278

Iowa—In re Cloud, 250 N W 160, 217 Iowa 3—State v Kaufmann, 209 N W 417, 202 Iowa 157

Kan—In re Stanley, 33 P (2d) 163, 139 Kan 656—In re Learnard, 249 P. 606, 121 Kan 596

Ky—Commonwealth for and on behalf of Pike County Bar Ass'n v Hinton, 72 S W (2d) 481, 254 Ky 798—Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S W 555, 208 Ky. 452

La—In re Fourchy, 143 So 714, 175 La. 628, appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Fourchy v Fletchinger, 53 S Ct 387, 288 U.S. 589, 77 L Ed. 968—In re Heard, 141 So 60, 174 La 563—In re Wolff, 115 So 809, 165 La 641.

Mass—In re Carver, 112 N E 877, 224 Mass 169

Minn—In re McGrath, 265 N W. 23—In re Ostensoe, 264 N W 569—In re Rasmussen, 262 N W 258—In re Strand, 260 N.W. 499—In re Nelson, 256 N W. 186, 192 Minn. 313—In re Waters, 256 N.W 139, 192 Minn. 262—In re Ebert, 255 N.W. 89, 191 Minn. 589—In re Dahlberg, 252 N W. 417, 190 Minn. 496—In re Stauning, 252 N W. 84, 190 Minn 405—In re Bodin, 249 N.W. 569, 189 Minn. 396—In re Severson, 248 N W. 293, 189 Minn. 20—In re Breding, 247 N W. 694, 188 Minn 367—In re Larson, 245 N W. 626, 187 Minn 427—In re Manahan, 242 N W. 548, 186 Minn. 98—In re Moerke, 238 N.W 690, 184 Minn. 314—In re Smith, 237 N W 877, 184 Minn 87—In re Friedman, 236 N W. 703, 183 Minn. 350—In re Smith, 236 N.W. 324, 183 Minn. 220—In re Scott, 232 N. W 108, 181 Minn 230—In re Kanter, 231 N W. 396, 181 Minn 65—In re Kahner, 231 N W. 233, 180 Minn 556—In re Comfort, 230 N W 582, 180 Minn 148—In re Heath, 227 N W 892, 178 Minn 547—In re Redding, 225 N W 274, 177 Minn 352—In re Young, 225 N W 97, 177 Minn 203—In re Halvorson, 221 N W 907, 175 Minn 520—In re George, 215 N W. 425, 172 Minn 347—In re Spencer, 215 N W 191, 172 Minn 158—In re Hage, 214 N W 663, 171 Minn 434—In re Buck, 214 N W. 662, 171 Minn 352—In re Ericson, 213 N W 556, 171 Minn 111—In re Yakey, 212 N.W 13, 170 Minn 21—In re Larson, 210 N W 865, 169 Minn 194—In re Bauer, 209 N W 31, 167 Minn. 350—In re Cherry, 208 N W 197, 166 Minn 448, 45 A L R 1103—In re Eberhart, 205 N W 266, 164 Minn 408—In re Dahl, 199 N W 429, 159 Minn 481, 43 A L R 52

Mont—In re Stevens, 16 P (2d) 410, 92 Mont 549—State v. Hughes, 10 P (2d) 584, 92 Mont 53—In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537—In re McCue, 248 P 187, 77 Mont 47—In re Niles, 224 P 861, 70 Mont. 249—In re Jewell, 201 P 266, 60 Mont 602—In re Lunke, 182 P 126, 56 Mont 226—In re Gullickson, 181 P 983, 56 Mont 144—Ex parte Burke, 176 P 421, 55 Mont 303—In re Waddell, 172 P 1036, 54 Mont 597.

Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v Goldman, 255 N W. 32, 127 Neb 340—State ex rel Sorensen v Kennedy, 248 N W. 314, 124 Neb 789—State v Priest, 242 N W 433, 123 Neb 241—State v Priest, 223 N W 635, 113 Neb 47

Nev—In re Pilkington, 49 P (2d) 965—In re French, 225 P 396, 47 Nev. 469

N J—In re Hahn, 94 A 953, 84 N J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830—In re Cosey, 94 A 54, 84 N J Eq 343, motion denied 96 A. 595, 85 N J Eq 599—In re Lowenkopf, 183 A. 716, 14 N.J Misc 203—In re Wittstein, 136 A. 183, 5 N J Misc. 239.

N M—In re Royall, 286 P. 156, 34 N M 554—In re Fleming, 259 P. 613, 32 N M. 442—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N.M. 93.

N Y—In re Wallach, 285 N Y.S. 363, 246 App Div. 213—In re Braun, 285 N Y.S 360, 246 App Div. 206—In re Newman, 284 N.Y S. 294, 245 App. Div. 660—In re Whaley, 284 N Y S 85, 245 App Div. 664—In re Clowe, 283 N Y S 808, 245 App Div. 596—In re Delman, 283 N.Y S. 801, 245 App Div. 593—In re Ostergren, 283 N Y S 615, 246 App Div 725—In re Warrick, 278 N Y S 132, 244 App Div. 48—In re Jackson, 272 N Y S 913, 242 App Div. 240, motion granted 195 N E 149, 266 N Y. 450—In re Williams, 272 N Y S 893, 243 App Div 151—In re Purcell, 272 N Y S 328, 241 App Div. 843—In re Porcella, 272 N Y S 285, 241 App Div. 844—In re Rosenblatt, 271 N.Y S 581, 241 App Div 215—In re Ivone, 270 N Y S. 697, 241 App Div 5—In re Husin, 268 N Y S 106, 239 App Div 551—In re Krissoff, 267 N Y S. 887, 239 App Div. 436—In re Needleman, 267 N.Y S. 785, 240 App Div 971—In re Williams, 267 N Y S 354, 239 App Div. 131—In re Cunningham, 267 N Y S. 346, 239 App Div 114—In re Kahan, 267 N Y S 289, 239 App Div 123—In re Lehman, 267 N.Y.S 287, 239 App. Div. 126, motion granted 191 N E 515, 264 N Y. 462—In re Horkimer, 267 N Y S 245, 239 App Div. 118—In re Siegel, 265 N Y S 497, 238 App Div 744—In re Gappelberg, 264 N Y S 267, 238 App Div. 238—In re Mahan, 262 N Y S 702, 237 App Div. 664—In re Smith, 262 N Y S. 684, 237 App Div 662—In re Scuderi, 262 N Y S 91, 237 App Div 589—In re Sullivan, 261 N Y. S 664, 237 App Div. 551, motion denied 264 N Y S 914—In re Treadwell, 260 N.Y S. 264, 236 App Div 562—In re Janover, 260 N Y S 134, 236 App Div. 436—In re Brown, 260 N Y.S 111, 236 App Div. 423—In re Salmon, 260 N.Y.S 86, 236 App Div. 441—In re Campbell, 260 N Y S. 80, 236 App Div 429—In re Yochelson, 258 N Y S 724, 236 App Div 307—In re Blakesberg, 258 N.Y S 583, 236 App Div. 227—In re Vogelstein, 258 N Y S. 574, 236 App.Div 252—In re Moran, 258 N Y S 565, 236 App Div 243—In re Schneider, 258 N Y S 558, 236 App Div. 243—In re Crames, 258 N Y.S. 551, 236 App. Div. 229—In re Powers, 257 N Y S. 113, 235 App Div. 382—In re Mulry, 255 N Y S. 249, 234 App Div 404—In re Rebarber, 254 N Y S 126, 234 App Div 27—In re Schwind, 253 N. Y S 762, 233 App Div. 468—In re Robson, 253 N.Y.S. 713, 233 App. Div. 471—In re Halpern, 253 N.Y. S. 613, 233 App Div. 480—In re Malcolm, 253 N.Y S 602, 233 App. Div. 476—In re Cumming, 252 N.Y. S. 762, 233 App Div. 313—In re Radtke, 252 N.Y.S. 760, 233 App. Div. 309—In re Cohen, 252 N.Y S. 757, 233 App.Div 317—In re Silver, 252 N Y S 749, 233 App.Div. 303—In re Carroll, 248 N.Y.S. 363, 231 App.Div. 623—In re Cusack, 247 N.Y.S. 39, 231 App Div. 186—In re Walder, 247 N Y S 14, 231 App Div 206—In re Brinn, 246 N. Y S. 515, 231 App Div 179—In re Schneidkraut, 246 N Y S 505, 231 App.Div 109—In re Pollane, 244 N.Y.S 201, 230 App Div 318—In re Babcock, 243 N Y S 489, 230 App Div. 323—In re Rosenbaum, 242 N Y.S 15, 229 App Div 199—In re Greenwald 241 N Y S 703, 229 App Div. 139—In re Gordon, 241 N Y S. 276, 229 App Div 142—In re Ziff, 239 N Y S 388, 228 App Div 209—In re Langfur, 238 N Y S 498, 227 App Div 468—In re O'Connor, 236 N.Y S 25, 226 App Div 600—In re Polan, 235 N Y S 667, 226 App Div 467—In re Raileanu, 232 N.Y.S 175, 225 App Div 90—In re Elliott, 230 N Y S 1, 224 App Div. 207—In re Cusack, 227 N Y S 187, 222 App Div. 624—In re Richardson, 226 N Y.S 250, 222 App Div. 282—In re Krimsky, 226 N Y S. 188, 222 App Div 275—In re Gertler, 226 N Y. S. 65, 222 App Div. 270—In re Oberstein, 222 N Y S 656, 221 App Div 60—In re Kopf, 222 N Y S 636, 221 App Div 51—In re McWilliams, 221 N Y S 708, 220 App Div. 523—In re Stark, 221 N Y S. 248, 220 App Div 133—In re Walsh, 217 N Y S 253, 217 App Div 437—In re Lordan, 217 N Y S 237, 217 App Div. 441—In re Greenberg, 213 N Y S. 728, 216 App Div 164—In re Menzel, 213 N Y S 707, 216 App Div 176—In re Auerbach, 213 N Y S 664, 216 App.Div 159—In re Marshall, 213 N Y S 611, 216 App Div. 168—In re Zahm, 211 N Y.S. 144, 213 App Div 551—In re Vermilya, 211 N Y S 36, 213 App Div 546—In re Newman, 208 N Y S 140, 211 App Div 654, reargument denied 155 N E 874, 244 N Y 507—In re McKenna, 208 N Y S 127, 211 App Div. 646, affirmed 148 N E 766, 240 N Y 703—In re McGee, 208 N Y S. 104, 211 App Div. 650, affirmed 152 N E 436, 242 N Y 581—In re Simons, 208 N Y S 51, 211 App Div 659—In re Enklewitz, 207 N Y S 596, 211 App Div 268—In re Tryon, 205 N Y S 423, 209 App Div 793—In re Ackerson, 205 N Y S 407, 209 App Div. 735—In re Goette, 205 N Y S 388, 210 App Div 189—In re Galland, 203 N Y S 42, 208 App Div. 48—In re Makay, 203 N. Y S 15, 208 App Div 44—In re Brown, 200 N Y S 661, 206 App. Div. 111—In re Steinfeld, 198 N Y S. 124, 204 App Div. 508—In re Menzel, 196 N.Y S 834, 203 App Div. 515—In re McEveety, 195 N Y. S 345, 202 App Div 79—In re Farrington, 193 N.Y S 334, 200 App Div. 735—In re Rose, 189 N Y S 543, 197 App Div. 865—In re McKee, 188 N Y S. 753, 197 App Div. 192—In re O'Brian, 188 N Y S 506, 197 App Div. 50—In re Steinberg, 184 N Y.S. 450, 193 App Div. 502—In re MacWilliams, 184 N Y S 343, 193 App Div. 499—In re Smithwick, 183 N Y S 301, 193 App Div 459—In re Boughton, 182 N Y S 440, 192 App Div 235—In re Earley, 177 N.Y.S. 347, 188 App Div 532—In re Tinney, 176 N Y S 103, 187 App Div 569—In re Hyman, 174 N Y S. 306, 186 App Div 263—In re Roth, 169 N Y S 151, 181 App Div 618—In re Flowerman, 168 N. Y S 860, 181 App Div 488—In re Rini, 168 N.Y S 859, 181 App Div 496—In re Wilkenfeld, 167 N Y S 598, 180 App Div 286—In re Coleman, 165 N.Y S 685, 178 App Div. 580—In re Pollock, 165 N Y S 631, 178 App Div. 577—In re Walsh, 164 N.Y S 553, 177 App Div 659—In re Haire, 162 N Y S 510, 175 App Div 847—In re Herrman, 161 N Y S 977, 175 App Div 310—In re Little, 161 N Y S 570, 175 App Div 280—In re Dobbs, 160 N Y S 173, 173 App Div. 605—In re Eisenberg, 160 N Y S 148, 173 App Div 598—In re O'Brien, 158 N Y S 1059, 172 App Div 621—In re Dressler, 158 N Y S. 191, 173 App Div 929—In re Goldfarb, 157 N Y S 1076, 173 App Div 882—In re Kammerlohr, 157 N.Y S 933, 171 App Div 781—In re Simpkins, 155 N Y S 531, 169 App Div 632—In re Evans, 155 N Y S 491, 169 App Div 502—In re Adler, 155 N Y S 489, 169 App Div 494—In re Lichtenberg, 155 N Y S 483, 169 App Div 505—In re Vanderpool, 155 N Y S 467, 169 App Div 499—In re Osgoodby, 155 N Y S 465, 169 App Div 626—In re Cohen, 155 N Y S 459, 169 App Div 492—In re Hayes, 155 N Y S 457, 169 App Div 516—In re Harris, 155 N Y S 450, 169 App Div 525—In re Weill, 155 N Y S 449, 171 App Div 895—In re Levor, 155 N Y S 426, 169 App Div 642—In re Gray, 155 N Y S 407, 171 App Div 894—In re Dinkelspiel, 283 N Y S 395—In re Fontinelli, 283 N Y S. 268—In re Kushner, 283 N Y S 167—In re Reiburn, 283 N Y S 136—In re Ropiecki, 282 N Y S 947—In re Brody, 276 N Y S 368—In re White, 204 N Y.S 618.

N D —In re Garrity, 235 N W. 343, 60 N D. 454—In re Torson, 183 N W. 1016, 46 N D 200

Ohio —In re Mengert, 8 Ohio N P (N S) 355—In re Morehouse, 8 Ohio N P (N S) 179

Okl.—In re Myres, 43 P.(2d) 773, 173 Okl 123—In re Lester, 36 P (2d) 478, 169 Okl 162—In re Shoemake, 31 P (2d) 928, 168 Okl 77—In re Burns, 215 P 193, 90 Okl 1—State v. Breslin, 169 P. 897, 67 Okl 135—In re Warren, 151 P 619, 49 Okl 87

Or —State v Tarpley, 259 P 733, 122 Or. 479—State v Parker, 252 P. 711, 120 Or 465—State v. Estes, 209 P. 486, 105 Or 222

Pa —In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa 362—In re Bonner, 176 A. 220, 317 Pa 185—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 312 Pa. 555—In re Ryan, 20 Pa Dist & Co. 636—In re Marcus, 20 Pa Dist. & Co 616—In re Bonner, 20 Pa Dist & Co 593—In re Kauffman, 14 Pa Dist & Co 506—In re Stiles, 14 Pa Dist & Co 296—McEvoy's Case, 12 Pa Dist & Co 741—Ferry's Case, 12 Pa Dist & Co 716—Melnick's Case, 11 Pa Dist & Co 566—Garlic's Case, 11 Pa Dist & Co. 453—In re Rule on D for Disbarment, 12 Pa. Dist. 276—Ashton Disbarment, 4 Pa Dist. 425—In re Allen, 41 Pa Co 562

R I —Heitmanck v. Turano, 158 A 878—Hale v. McGauley, 147 A. 889

S D —In re Fitzpatrick, 266 N W 150—In re Foy, 250 N W 671, 63 S D. 33—In re Teesdale, 183 N W 131, 44 S D 204—In re Van Ruschen, 160 N W. 1006, 38 S D 254

Utah —In re Steffensen, 39 P (2d) 723, 85 Utah 380—In re Matthews, 217 P 250, 61 Utah 581.

Wash —In re Disbarment of McCann, 43 P (2d) 437, 181 Wash. 183—In re Hutchinson, 33 P (2d) 1119, 178 Wash 112—In re Sampley, 294 P 1118, 160 Wash 92—In re Martin, 132 P 579, 107 Wash 461—In re Gowan, 176 P 7, 101 Wash 166

Wis —State v Kuenzli, 249 N W 511, 212 Wis 296—State v Andrews, 240 N W 147, 206 Wis 615

Wyo —State Board of Law Examiners v Brown, 290 P. 1013, 42 Wyo 108

6 C J p 591 note 69

No circumstances warrant appropriation to own use

(1) No circumstance in which an attorney may be placed will warrant him in appropriating to his personal use the funds of his client, or justify him in falsely stating that such funds are not in his hands—San Francisco Bar Association v McClellan, 181 P 231, 40 Cal App 630—In re Barth, 189 P 499, 26 N M 93—In re Reich, 287 N Y S. 861, 247 App Div. 459

(2) An attorney's claim regarding services for a corporation in which the client was interested could not justify retention of the client's money—Hale v. McGauley, (R.I) 147 A 889

(3) Retention by an attorney of an entire fund collected for his client has been held not justified because the fees had not been settled—In re Wittstein, 136 A 183, 5 N J.Misc 239

(4) Nor can an attorney retain an entire sum collected because of a disagreement between him and his client as to costs and the amount of his fee—Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky. 357.

(5) A claim for fees to which he is not entitled will not justify an attorney's use of a client's money.—

ing the transaction are such as to satisfy the court that the attorney is acting in bad faith or with a fraudulent purpose.[47] Mere nonpayment of mon-

People v. Loeff, 126 N E 577, 292 Ill 55

(6) In a disbarment proceeding, fraudulent withholding of a client's money by an attorney has been held not excusable by an alleged lien not claimed until shortly before trial — State Board of Law Examiners v Brown, 290 P 1013, 42 Wyo 108

(7) It is no excuse for failure promptly to pay over funds to the use specified by the client that the attorney intended later to repay the money, or that the client could suffer no loss — In re Coleman, 165 N Y S 685, 178 App Div 580

(8) Financial misfortune affords no justification for an attorney's conversion of funds placed in his hands for a specific purpose — In re Borchardt, 192 N E 583, 357 Ill. 458 — In re Zahn, 190 N E 419, 356 Ill 283 — People v Grusd, 148 N E 860, 318 Ill 41 — In re Freda, 267 N Y S 292, 239 App Div 116

(9) Failure of a bank in which an attorney was a depositor did not justify misapplication of money he received from a client two months later to pay the master in chancery in a foreclosure suit, since the attorney's dire financial necessity could not exonerate misapplication of funds — In re Zahn, supra

(10) Where an attorney obtains money from an insurance society to be paid into court in an interpleader case, and retains it, it is no excuse that the society was not legally incorporated and authorized to do business, and that he ultimately paid the money to the person entitled before a dismissal of the bill of interpleader — People v Czarnecki, 109 N E 14, 268 Ill. 278

(11) It is no defense to an attorney's misappropriation of money paid him by officers of a benefit society that an officer authorized him to retain it as payment of fees, where he knew it was a trust fund, and that the officer had no authority to authorize such retention — People v Czarnecki, supra

(12) It is no excuse that the attorney is unable to pay the client through lack of means — People v Kwasigroch, 130 N.E 344, 296 Ill 542

(13) An attorney's conduct in converting a client's securities has been held not excused by the client's subsequent ratification of the attorney's use of securities, although such ratification mitigated the attorney's act — In re Kohler, 270 N.Y.S 634, 240 App Div 501.

(14) Where an attorney was given a check to pay costs of a referee, his failure to do so was not excused by his doubting the soundness of the referee's conclusions and by pending disciplinary proceedings, which disrupted his business and left him in a highly agitated state of mind — In re Coleman, 165 N Y S 685, 178 App Div 580

(15) An attorney who borrowed money from a client knowing the client's expectation that the money was to be expended in paying off liens against certain property had the duty to be frank with the client, where he intended to use the money for other purposes, and could not escape censure by the plea that the money was a loan, not constituting a trust fund, and could, therefore, be used by the attorney as he saw fit — In re Ropiecki, 282 N Y S. 947

(16) A contract of employment as attorney to take the necessary legal steps to collect clients' interests in decedent's estate for a fee of twenty-five per cent of the "amount recovered" has been held to warrant the attorney's retention of only such percentage of the amount actually collected for the clients, so as to require his disbarment because of retention of, and failure to account to clients for, a larger sum collected, as against the contention that his additional charges were proper for services performed in an effort to realize on judgment obtained by him for clients — Dalzell v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 57 P (2d) 1300

Duty to keep books to prove honesty

An attorney should keep proper books and records to be prepared to prove his honesty and fair dealing if his actions are questioned in disciplinary proceedings — In re O'Neill, 240 N Y S 188, 228 App Div. 518.

Final judgment in a suit for accounting is conclusive in a disbarment proceeding as to the rights of an attorney and his client to the fund in question — State v. Priest, 223 N W 635, 118 Neb. 47.

Acts of conversion

(1) An attorney's payment of witness' fees out of a client's funds after the client's demand for return of the money constituted conversion. — In re Annabel, 229 N Y.S 385, 223 App Div 539.

(2) However, an attorney authorized to apply an amount collected for his client on a certain claim against his charges, which were not fixed, has been held not guilty of conversion in retaining the entire amount collected on another claim as part of the charge for his services without informing the client of collection thereof until the latter complained to the bar association — In re Sachs, 238 N Y S 1001, 248 App Div. 201.

Commingling moneys

(1) Commingling of other persons' moneys with his own by an attorney is condemned as a dangerous practice, but an attorney is not subject to censure for commingling moneys belonging to different clients. — Gordon v Harrison, 161 A 608, 105 Pa Super. 513

(2) An attorney's belated segregation of a client's money in a separate account did not excuse previous mingling thereof with own funds — In re Powers, 257 N.Y S 113, 235 App Div 382

Deceit and willful misconduct

Under Code (1907) § 2992, an attorney, who collected notes for his client and thereafter advised the client that the money had not been collected, is guilty of deceit and of willful misconduct, justifying a disbarment — Peters v. State, 69 So 576, 193 Ala 593.

Withholding amount of settlement

Where an attorney compromised with the paramour of his client's wife for twenty-five thousand dollars, concealing the amount thereof from his client, and paying him only two thousand dollars and detectives nine thousand dollars, which payments were subsequently slightly increased on discovery of the facts, it was held that his conduct was unconscionable, oppressive, and fraudulent, and required his disbarment — In re Hahn, 94 A. 953, 84 N J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830.

"Good moral character," which is a condition precedent to the right to practice law, includes honesty and frankness toward a client, and is inconsistent with an endeavor wrongfully to obtain the client's property — People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Pace, 183 N.E. 169, 354 Ill 111.

47. Ill — People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Hammond, 191 N.E. 215, 356 Ill 581.
Ky — Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S W 555, 203 Ky. 452 — Bonner v Goodloe, 266 S.W 62, 205 Ky 555
N Y — In re Marvin, 168 N Y S 555, 180 App Div 778 — In re Picker, 153 N Y S 456, 171 App Div. 895 — In re Levitan, 284 N Y S 850
S D — In re Nelson, 214 N W 808, 51 S D. 451.
6 C J p 592 note 70.

Liability depends on intent

An attorney's liability to discipline has been held dependent on acts done and his intent, and not controlled by the technical question whether he adopted the proper remedy for settlement of disputes, or whether his acts constituted a technical conversion — In re Marvin, 168 N.Y S. 555, 180 App Div. 778.

ey, not accompanied with any fraud or dishonesty,[48] or delay for only a reasonable time in transferring the money to the client,[49] is not a sufficient ground for suspension or disbarment; but an attorney is subject to censure for failure to keep the funds of clients in such a manner that they may be paid over on demand when due.[50] The amount misappropriated[51] and the purpose of the informant or relator[52] are, however, immaterial. The excuse of youth and inexperience will not be received except perhaps in mitigation of the penalty.[53]

Failure to pay due solely to insolvency. In cases where there has been no fraud or willful wrong, and the attorney's failure to pay over was due solely to his insolvency, the court has sometimes regarded the proceeding as a mere remedy for the client, and made the judgment of disbarment conditional to take effect within a certain time unless the attorney shall, before that time, pay over to the client all sums due by him with interest and costs.[54]

Disobedience to order requiring payment to client. The court may disbar an attorney who disobeys its order requiring him to pay over to his client money collected.[55]

Necessity that money be received in professional capacity. It has been held that it must appear that the money or other funds withheld by the attorney came into his hands, and is held by him, in his capacity as attorney, and that he cannot be disbarred for retaining money acquired and held by him in pursuance of an ordinary contract of trade not involving the relation of attorney and client.[56] However, under the rule, stated supra § 19, that misconduct justifying disbarment is not limited to acts committed strictly in a professional character, but extends to all such misconduct as would have prevented an admission to the bar, it has been held immaterial whether the money came into the attorney's hands in a professional or nonprofessional capacity.[57]

(b) By One Partner

Misappropriation of a client's money by one partner

Money paid under a contract for services

(1) An attorney cannot be suspended for refusing to repay money paid him by a client under a contract for services—Evans v Wade, 278 S W. 604, 212 Ky. 238

(2) "Money of a client," as used in a statute with respect to conversion thereof by an attorney collecting it, refers to money collected from third persons for the use and benefit of the client and not money paid by a client to the attorney under a contract of employment of the attorney. —Evans v. Wade, supra.

Real dispute and offer of amount claimed due

Where there was a real dispute between an attorney and client as to the terms of retainer, and the attorney several times offered to pay the client the amount which he admitted to be due the client from the proceeds of settlement of claim for injuries, there was no basis for disciplinary proceedings—In re Dobroczynski, 207 N.Y.S. 795, 211 App Div. 642

Keeping first payment as fee

Under contingent retainer of fifty per cent, an attorney could keep all of one thousand dollars received as first payment on a four thousand dollar settlement with a railroad in receivership, if further payments were to be made—In re Jackson, 267 N Y S 601, 239 App Div. 122.

48. Ky.—Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S W. 555, 208 Ky. 452—Bonner v. Goodloe, 266 S.W. 62, 205 Ky 555.

Mont—In re McCue, 261 P 341, 80 Mont 537

S D.—In re Nelson, 214 N W. 803, 51 S D 451

6 C.J. p 592 note 71.

Retention of part as fee

Under St. § 104, an attorney's refusal to pay over money collected for a client to be grounds for disbarment must be wrongful, and not in good faith, and an attorney who, under §§ 331i1–331k5, had collected money from a parent for the support of children, and in good faith retained a portion of it as a fee, was not liable to disbarment, although such moneys were not chargeable with his fee—Bonner v. Goodloe, 266 S W. 62, 205 Ky. 555.

Failure to notify as to collection

The conduct of accused in failing to notify his client of collection of money due the client until two months after receipt of the money, while blameworthy, has been held not to require disbarment—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. McClellan, 131 P 231, 40 Cal App. 630.

Defalcation by clerk

Where an attorney's employee collected an account in September, of which the attorney did not learn until March or April, and after the agent's defalcation and destruction of the records, delaying determination of amounts owed, and he made good to his client in June, his delay was not unreasonable—In re Hirsch, 171 N.Y S. 534, 184 App.Div. 147.

49. Ky—Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky. 357.

Okl—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl 183

Three months after demand

Retention of money belonging to a client for ten months after its collection and for three months after formal demand therefor was made on an attorney in the county of his residence was an unreasonable delay—Denny v Commonwealth, 194 S. W. 330, 175 Ky. 357.

50. In re Solem, 248 N W. 212, 188 Minn. 572—6 C J p 592 note 72.

51. Matter of Sayer, 131 N Y.S. 331, 146 App Div. 928

52. Matter of Z———, 89 Mo.App. 426

53. Matter of Karliner, 147 N Y S 563, 163 App Div 881—Matter of Herbst, 143 N Y S 890, 158 App. Div. 601—Matter of Buchler, 140 N Y S 324, 155 App Div. 246.

54. Colo—Matter of Browne, 2 Colo. 553

Tenn—Davis v. State, 23 S W. 59, 92 Tenn. 634—Jones v Miller, 1 Swan 151.

55. Minn—In re Severson, 248 N.W. 293, 189 Minn 20.

N Y—In re Kinney, 280 N Y S 822, 245 App Div. 314—In re Carter, 164 N Y.S. 862, 177 App.Div. 677.

6 C J. p 592 note 77.

56. People v. Appleton, 105 Ill. 474, 44 Am R. 812—6 C J. p 592 note 78.

57. Kan—In re Wilson, 100 P. 635, 79 Kan. 674, 21 L R.A (N S.) 517, 17 Ann Cas 690.

Wis—In re O———, 42 N.W. 221, 73 Wis. 602.

without knowledge on the part of the other partners may not constitute a ground for suspension or disbarment of the others.

Where two or more attorneys are practicing in partnership, and one of them receives and improperly appropriates the money of a client without the knowledge of his partners, and fails on demand to pay it over, all the members of the firm are civilly liable for the amount so misappropriated, as shown infra § 150, but only the member who is personally culpable can be suspended from practice or disbarred therefor.[58] Where, however, the money is in contemplation of law in the hands of the firm and all the members thereof have knowledge of the misappropriation, all are liable to disbarment, although only one had the full benefit of the money.[59]

c. In Relation to Other Attorneys

Unfair dealing with other attorneys, intermeddling with their clients, making false and scandalous remarks concerning them, etc., constitutes ground for disciplinary proceedings.

An attorney has been held liable to disciplinary action for attempting to make an opposing attorney drunk in order to obtain the advantage of him in the trial of a case,[60] intermeddling between a brother attorney and his client,[61] disregarding an attorney in settling with his client,[62] making false and scandalous statements concerning a fellow attorney,[63] and for instituting disbarment proceedings against a brother attorney with improper motives and without just grounds.[64] So, also, deceiving or attempting to deceive the opposing party or his counsel,[65] lack of good faith in his dealings with an opposing attorney,[66] failure to pay, as agreed, a contingent interest to an attorney whom he superseded in the trial of a case,[67] or who was associated with him in the case,[68] has been held ground for suspension or disbarment. Also, it is ground for disbarment that an attorney fraudulently attempted to prevent his former partner from collecting his share of the profits of the partnership in an action for an accounting.[69]

d. In Relation to Court

(1) In general
(2) Offensive conduct toward judges

(1) In General

Misconduct toward a court or judge in or out of court may warrant suspension or disbarment, including conduct which may also constitute a contempt of court.

Professional misconduct authorizing suspension or disbarment is not confined to misconduct in the attorney's relation to his client, but includes as well misconduct toward the court or a judge in or out of court.[70] Thus, deliberate disobedience of a mandate or order of court,[71] as by a willful vio-

58. State v Breslin, 169 P 897, 67 Okl 125—6 C J p 593 note 82

59. People v. Betts, 58 P. 1091, 26 Colo. 521

60. Dickens' Case, 67 Pa. 169, 5 Am R 420.

61. Cal—Ewell v. State Bar of California, 40 P.(2d) 264, 2 Cal.(2d) 209
N Y.—In re Glasberg, 155 N.Y.S. 437, 169 App Div 496
6 C J p 593 note 85.

62. In re O'Neil, 239 N Y S 297, 228 App Div. 129
Attorney also officer of corporation
An attorney was bound to observe legal ethics whether he was the officer of an indemnity company or its general counsel—In re O'Neil, 239 N. Y S 297, 228 App.Div. 129.

63. D.C—In re Reid, 45 App D C. 240, L R A 1916F 394.
Kan—In re Macy, 196 P. 1095, 109 Kan 1, 14 A L R 848.
Wis—State v Rubin, 229 N.W. 36, 201 Wis. 30.
6 C J. p 593 note 86.
Where also contempt of court
Where attorney's misconduct consisted of alleging in a petition unnecessary and scandalous matter as to the moral character of another attorney, an application for disbarment predicated thereon will not be entertained since there is an adequate remedy by contempt proceedings—People v. Berry, 29 P. 904, 17 Colo 322
Trial court refusing to take action
A bitter controversy between an attorney and a deputy prosecuting attorney and state's witnesses has been held not to warrant disciplinary action, where the trial judge refused to take action at the time—In re Dore, 4 P (2d) 1107, 165 Wash 225
Criticism as to amount for which action was brought
In an attorney's action for services in bringing an action for criminal conversation with defendant's wife and for alienation of affections, defendant's counsel's criticism in his argument to the jury of plaintiff for bringing the action for so large an amount of damages has been held not ground for disbarment of defendant's counsel.—State v. Ridgway, 208 P. 587, 104 Or 634.
While counsel is not liable to a civil action or to criminal proceedings for anything he may have said in the course of a trial or investigation, provided it was relevant or pertinent to the subject matter of the controversy, a member of the bar is always responsible to the court for his professional conduct—In re Schwartz, 195 N.Y.S. 513, 202 App. Div 88.

64. Matter of Kelly, 62 N Y. 198

65. Ariz—In re Myrland, 45 P.(2d) 953
N Y—In re Yardum, 218 N Y S. 6, 218 App Div. 134—In re Kaluaky, 155 N Y S 550, 169 App Div 531
Wash—In re Bolin, 232 P. 370, 132 Wash 453.
6 C J p 589 note 51.
Sharp practice by an attorney warrants disciplinary measures by the supreme court—In re Boland, 248 P. 399, 140 Wash. 148.

66. Minn—In re Gurley, 239 N.W. 149, 184 Minn. 450
N.Y—In re Steinberg, 184 N.Y.S 450, 193 App Div. 502.
6 C J p 594 note 88.

67. In re Lambert, 280 N.Y S. 820, 245 App Div. 316.

68. In re Youngentob, 168 N Y S 961, 181 App.Div. 490.

69. In re Berkeley, 160 N Y S 1093, 174 App Div. 305, affirmed 154 N.E. 621, 243 N.Y. 597.

70. U S—In re Ades, (D.C.Md) 6 F. Supp. 467.
Ala—In re Mitchell, 71 So. 467, 196 Ala 430.
6 C J p 594 note 89.

71. In re Gluck, 243 N.Y.S. 334, 229

lation of an order suspending the attorney from practice,[72] constitutes ground for suspension or disbarment.

Contempt of court. While a contempt of court may constitute a ground for disbarment, ordinarily disbarment will not be ordered for a contempt of court unless the contempt is of so gross a nature as to render the attorney unworthy of his office[73] In all such cases of disbarment proceedings for contempt amounting to misbehavior in office the statutory procedure must be observed.[74]

(2) Offensive Conduct toward Judges

Any conduct reflecting unjustly on the character or integrity of a judge will justify suspension or disbarment.

The obligation which attorneys assume, when admitted to the bar, to maintain at all times the respect due to the courts of justice and judicial officers, is not discharged by merely observing the rules of courteous demeanor in open court, but includes abstaining both in and out of court from insulting language and offensive conduct toward the judges personally for their judicial acts, and a violation thereof constitutes a ground for suspension or disbarment[75] Thus, a threat of personal chastisement made by an attorney to a judge out of court for his conduct during the trial of a pending cause is a breach of this obligation and constitutes sufficient ground for striking the attorney from the rolls[76] So, also, using written or spoken language reflecting unjustly on the character or integrity of the judge of the court is conduct unbecoming an attorney, and an indignity on the court, and will justify the summary disbarment of the attorney guilty of it.[77] Some cases hold that, if the offense is committed out of court, the offensive language or conduct complained of must have had reference to the official acts of the judge[78] While attorneys have the widest latitude in differing with, and criticizing the opinions of, the courts, yet when they resort to misrepresentation and unwarranted assaults on the courts whose officers they are, they violate their duty and obligation and are subject to suspension or disbarment[79] Such cases have arisen in which

App Div. 490—In re Reinhardt, 162 N Y S. 524, 175 App Div. 843.

Where order a nullity

Where, on an attorney's objection to dismissal of his client's suit until his fees were paid, the court heard the testimony, and fixed fees over the attorney's objection, he was not subject to disbarment for refusal to abide by court order fixing his fee, the judge being without jurisdiction, and the order as to fees a nullity—People v A'Brunswick, 146 N E 433, 315 Ill 442—6 C J. p 595 note 2 [b].

72. N Y—In re Dangler, 199 N.Y.S. 306, 205 App.Div. 94.
S D—In re Hosford, 252 N W. 843, 62 S D. 374

73. In re Minnis, (Cal.) 56 S Ct 504—6 C J. p 595 note 2.
Contempt and disbarment proceedings as distinct proceedings see infra § 28

74. State v. Root, 67 N W 590, 5 N D 487, 57 Am S.R. 568—6 C J. p 596 note 4.

75. U S—In re Ades, (D C Md) 6 F. Supp. 467.
Colo—People v. Ginsberg, 285 P. 758, 87 Colo 115.
Kan—In re Hanson, 160 P. 1141, 99 Kan. 23.
Mont—In re Huppe, 11 P (2d) 793, 92 Mont 211.
N Y.—In re Bevans, 233 N.Y.S 439, 225 App Div. 427.
Okl—State v. Breckenridge, 258 P. 744, 126 Okl. 86, 53 A L R 1239
R I—In re Troy, 111 A. 723, 43 R I 279.
S D.—State v. Kirby, 154 N.W. 234, 36 S.D. 138.
Utah.—In re Hilton, 158 P 691, 48 Utah 172, Ann Cas 1918A 271.
6 C J. p 594 notes 90, 91

Letter not intended for circulation

An attorney's reference to a judge as an "arrogant jackass" in a letter to a state representative did not warrant suspension from practice, absent evidence that the attorney intended the matter to be circulated—In re Huppe, 11 P (2d) 793, 92 Mont 211.

76. U S—Bradley v. Fisher, (D C.) 13 Wall 335, 20 L Ed 646
Ark—Beene v State, 22 Ark. 149
N D—State v. Root, 67 N W. 590, 5 N D 487, 57 Am.S R 568
Or.—Ex p. Ditchburn, 52 P. 694, 32 Or. 538
6 C J. p 594 note 90

77. Cal—Peters v. State Bar of California, 26 P (2d) 19, 219 Cal 218—In re McCowan, 170 P 1100, 175 Cal 51, 177 Cal 93—In re Humphrey, 163 P 60, 174 Cal 290
Mich—Attorney General v Nelson, 249 N W. 439, 263 Mich 686
Pa—In re Gross, 177 A 767, 318 Pa 143, certiorari denied 56 S Ct 248, 296 U S 645, 80 L Ed 458—In re Gray, 16 Pa Dist 967.
R I—In re Troy, 111 A. 723, 43 R I 279.
Utah—In re Hilton, 158 P 691, 48 Utah 172, Ann Cas 1918A 271
Wash—State v. Willis, 103 P. 737, 95 Wash 251.
6 C J p 594 note 91.

Objectionable printed matter not shown to, or approved by, attorneys

That attorneys were shown and approved before publication the body of an article is insufficient to show improper conduct where the comments and heading of the article which constituted the objectionable portion misrepresenting the action of a court were not shown to, or approved by the attorneys—In re Marron, 160 P. 391, 23 N M 252, L R. A 1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P. 216, 22 N M. 501.

78. U S—Bradley v. Fisher, (D C) 13 Wall 335, 20 L Ed 646
Fla—State v. Kirke, 12 Fla. 278, 95 Am D. 314
Tex—Jackson v State, 21 Tex. 668.
6 C J p 594 note 92

79 U S—In re Ades, (D C Md.) 6 F. Supp 467
Cal—In re Humphrey, 163 P 60, 174 Cal 290—In re Graves, 231 P. 411, 64 Cal App 176—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v Philbrook, 170 P. 440, 35 Cal App. 460
Ill—People v Standidge, 164 N E. 844, 333 Ill 361—People v Metzen, 125 N E 734, 291 Ill 55
Mont—In re Huppe, 11 P (2d) 793, 92 Mont 211
N Y—In re Bevans, 233 N.Y S 439, 225 App Div. 427
Okl—State v Breckenridge, 258 P. 744, 126 Okl 86, 53 A L R 1239
R I—In re Troy, 111 A 723, 43 R I. 279
Utah—In re Hilton, 158 P. 691, 48 Utah 172, Ann Cas 1918A 271.
6 C J p 594 note 93.

Offense against individual and court

Publication of a false and malicious attack on a judicial officer is the libelous or scandalous matter concerning one or more judges, constituting the basis of the charge, was made a part of a brief,[80] a pleading,[81] a petition for a rehearing,[82] or an affidavit in a cause;[83] and it has been held that the writing of a personal letter to a judge complaining of his conduct and reflecting on his integrity constitutes professional misconduct for which the attorney may be disciplined.[84]

Attorney not privileged. While, in actions for libel and slander, counsel are exempt from liability for defamatory language in the pleadings, or published or uttered in the course of judicial proceedings, provided such language is pertinent and material to the case, as stated in the title Libel and Slander § 104 [36 C J. p 1250 note 92-p 1261 note 88], this rule does not apply, and cannot be pleaded as a defense, in proceedings to disbar an attorney for maliciously slandering the judge before whom he has conducted litigation, in such a case defendant can only protect himself by showing the truth of the charges alleged,[85] although, where the statement was made in good faith in the course of a judicial proceeding and relevant to the subject or cause of inquiry, it is not a ground for suspension or disbarment.[86]

e. Deception of Court and Obstruction of Justice

Conduct on the part of an attorney tending to subvert or obstruct justice is a ground for suspension or disbarment

There is no recognized rule of law or ethics which justifies the conduct of counsel in any case, civil or criminal, in endeavoring by dishonest means to mislead the court or jury, even if to do so might work to the advantage of his client, and such conduct will constitute a ground for suspension or disbarment.[87] A duty rests on the courts to maintain the integrity of the legal profession by disbarring attorneys who indulge in practices designed to bring the courts or the profession into disrepute, or to perpetrate a fraud on the courts, or to corrupt and defeat the administration of justice.[88] An attorney may be suspended or disbarred for perverting, or attempting to pervert, a decision of a cause on the merits, by deceiving or misleading the court,[89] by bribing or tampering with wit-both an offense against him individually and against the courts—In re Bevans, 233 N Y S 439, 225 App Div 427.

Repetition no defense

In disbarment proceedings, an attorney cannot avoid responsibility for statements that seats on the supreme court were purchased by the claim that he merely repeated the sentiments of another person, whose name he gave when making the statements—In re Troy, 111 A 723, 43 R I 279.

Criticism within constitutional rights

(1) An attorney at law who acts within his constitutional rights in criticising the court would not be guilty of conduct such as to render him unfit to practice his profession—In re Hickey, 258 S W 417, 149 Tenn 344

(2) But criticisms should always strictly observe the principles of truth, honesty, and fairness—In re Humphrey, 163 P 60, 174 Cal 290

Criticisms of candidate for judge

Criticisms of a candidate for judge of court are privileged so far as made on reasonable ground and in good faith, as regards a disbarment proceeding—Snyder's Case, 152 A. 32, 301 Pa 276, 76 A L R 666—6 C. J p 594 note 93 [c].

Private conversation

Statements of an attorney at law in private conversation, referring to the judge of the circuit court and his cousin as being "some combination" and that, when the cousin moved his finger west, the judge moved west, have been held insufficient to warrant disbarment—In re Hickey, 258 S W 417, 149 Tenn 344

Statements held not ground for suspension

Notwithstanding facts did not justify publication of a newspaper article by defendant charging that the circuit judge was wholly unfit and incapacitated to hold court and as a result the court had broken down and ceased to function, such publication did not render defendant unfit to be a member of the bar.—In re Hickey, 258 S W 417, 149 Tenn 344

80. U S—In re Minnis, (Cal) 56 S Ct 504
Kan—In re Hanson, 160 P. 1141, 99 Kan 23
6 C J. p 595 note 94

81. In re Bevans, 233 N Y S 439, 225 App Div 427—6 C J p 595 note 95

82. Ky—In re Woolley, 11 Bush 95
La—De Armas' Case, 10 Mart 123
Wash—In re Robinson, 92 P 929, 48 Wash 153, 15 L R A (N S) 525, 15 Ann Cas 415

83. Mich—In re Mains, 80 N W 714, 121 Mich 603
N Y—Matter of Rockmore, 111 N Y S 879, 127 App Div 499—Matter of Murray, 11 N Y S 336

84. Ill—People v Metsen, 125 N E 734, 291 Ill 55
N M—In re Rogers, 212 P 1034, 28 N M 375
N Y—In re Carrao, 156 N.Y S. 379, 170 App Div 545
6 C.J p 595 note 98

85. Cal—In re Graves, 221 P. 411, 64 Cal App 176
Mont—In re Huppe, 11 P.(2d) 783, 93 Mont 211
N Y—In re Bevans, 233 N Y S 439, 225 App Div 427
6 C.J p 595 note 1.

86. In re Sherwood, 103 A 42, 259 Pa. 254, L R A 1918D 447

87. Hawaii—In re Metzger, 31 Hawaii 929.
N Y—In re Palmieri, 162 N Y S 799, 176 App Div 58, reversed on other grounds 117 N E 1073
S D—In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S D 76.

88. People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Sherwin, 4 N.E (2d) 477, 364 Ill. 350

89. Cal—Roark v State Bar of California, 55 P (2d) 839—Wright v State Bar of California, 17 P (2d) 101, 217 Cal 59—In re Graves, 280 P 115, 208 Cal 57—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v. Devall, 210 P 279, 59 Cal App 230.
D C—Thomas v Ogilby, 59 App D C 382, 44 F (2d) 890
Hawaii—In re French, 28 Hawaii 47
Ill—People v. Johnson, 176 N E 278, 344 Ill 132
Kan—In re Macy, 196 P 1095, 109 Kan 1, 14 A L R 848
Ky—Davis v Commonwealth, 2 S W. (2d) 1038, 233 Ky 90
Mass—In re Ulmer, 167 N E. 749, 268 Mass. 373
Minn—In re Glover, 223 N W 921, 176 Minn 519—In re McGinley, 209 N W 870, 168 Minn 224

nesses[90] or jurors,[91] by stifling or suppressing evidence,[92] by introducing evidence or allowing evidence to be given which he knows to be false or forged,[93] by knowingly making false or forged

Mont.—In re O'Keefe, 175 P. 593, 55 Mont 200.
Neb.—State v. Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb 736
Nev.—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v. Scoular, 190 P 899, 44 Nev 208.
N.M.—In re Marron, 160 P 391, 22 N.M. 252, L.R.A.1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P. 216, 22 N.M. 501.
N.Y.—In re Zanger, 194 N.E. 72, 266 N.Y. 165, reversing 267 N.Y.S. 193, 239 App.Div. 129, reargument denied 270 N.Y.S. 657, 241 App.Div 60—In re Heimsoth, 175 N.E. 112, 255 N.Y. 409, affirming 243 N.Y.S. 149, 229 App.Div. 194—In re Feinstein, 280 N.Y.S. 267, 245 App.Div. 740—In re Isaacs, 270 N.Y.S. 708, 240 App.Div. 498—In re Katz, 243 N.Y.S. 96, 230 App.Div. 172—In re Schlacht, 239 N.Y.S. 454, 228 App.Div. 226—In re Weinstein, 239 N.Y.S. 404, 228 App.Div. 210—In re Rosenberg, 238 N.Y.S. 514, 227 App.Div. 527—In re Maisel, 238 N.Y.S. 622, 227 App.Div. 522—In re Gilchrist, 208 N.Y.S. 720, 208 App.Div. 497—In re Moses, 195 N.Y.S. 358, 202 App.Div. 83—In re Farrington, 193 N.Y.S. 334, 200 App.Div. 735—In re Dangler, 182 N.Y.S. 471, 192 App.Div. 237—In re Ginsburg, 177 N.Y.S. 293, 188 App.Div. 517—In re Gladstone, 173 N.Y.S. 89, 185 App.Div. 471—In re Sachs, 155 N.Y.S. 461, 169 App.Div. 622—In re Lichtenberg, 155 N.Y.S. 482, 169 App.Div. 605
N.D.—In re Bryans, 204 N.W. 9, 52 N.D. 673.
Okl.—In re Huggins, 31 P.(2d) 944, 168 Okl. 91.
Or.—State v. Mannix, 288 P. 507, 133 Or. 32, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or. 329—State v. Goldstein, 220 P. 565, 109 Or. 497
Pa.—In re Oliensis, 26 Pa.Dist. 853—In re Serber, 14 Pa.Dist. & Co. 481
S.D.—In re Egan, 218 N.W. 1, 52 S.D. 394—In re Morrison, 178 N.W. 732, 43 S.D. 185
Utah—In re Jones, 249 P. 803, 68 Utah 213
Vt.—In re O'Brien, 107 A. 487, 93 Vt. 194
Wash.—In re Bolin, 232 P. 370, 132 Wash. 453
6 C.J. p. 589 note 50, p. 596 note 6.

Conspiracy by clients

(1) Where client and others, conspiring to obstruct justice and accomplish an unlawful purpose, continually consult their attorney, and he criticises their plans and purposes only on the ground of impracticability, and tacitly approves of obtaining the desired results by the means employed, he will, in a disbarment proceeding, be considered as one of the conspirators—State v. Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb. 736.

(2) A member of the bar, knowing of a conspiracy of his client and others to obstruct justice and accomplish an unlawful purpose in a litigation in which he is employed as an attorney, should prevent such practices, if possible, and, if not, should either expose such conspiracy, in view of Rev.St. (1913) § 269, or withdraw from the employment.—State v. Fisher, supra

Deceiving clerk of court

It is unethical and unprofessional for an attorney to hand a clerk, from whom he obtained a genuine exhibit, a spurious duplicate bearing a forged signature of the clerk, in order to secure the clerk's unwilling aid in misrepresenting to a witness that the spurious writing was the genuine exhibit.—In re Metzger, 31 Hawaii 929

False addresses of plaintiffs

Attorney cannot escape responsibility for deception in giving false addresses on pleadings by feigning ignorance of systematic office practice.—In re Katz, 243 N.Y.S. 96, 230 App.Div. 172.

Interposition of false answer

That an answer does not state the legal defense to an action against an attorney is not in itself sufficient to subject the attorney to censure for interposition of a false answer.—In re Rolph, 264 N.Y.S. 171, 238 App.Div. 235

Misrepresentation to discredit witness

It is unethical and unprofessional for an attorney, even though defending a man on trial for his life, to resort to falsehood and misrepresentation in order to show supposed lack of credibility of handwriting expert.—In re Metzger, 31 Hawaii 929.

Paper forged by another

The lawyer who knowingly uses the forgery of another to impose on a court cannot justify or lessen his violation of duty as a member of the bar by showing that he did not himself commit the forgery.—State v. Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb. 736

90. Ky.—Taylor v. Commonwealth, 233 S.W. 895, 192 Ky. 410.
N.Y.—In re Rouss, 155 N.Y.S. 557, 169 App.Div. 629, affirmed 116 N.E. 782, 221 N.Y. 81, certiorari denied 38 S.Ct. 332, 246 U.S. 661, 62 L.Ed. 927
Okl.—In re Williams, 46 P.(2d) 507
Pa.—In re Blumenthal and Verlin, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 781.
S.D.—In re Hooper, 189 N.W. 309, 45 S.D. 525
6 C.J. p. 596 note 7

91. Colo.—People v. Powell, 287 P. 858, 87 Colo. 387
Ohio.—In re Neff, 23 Ohio Cir.Ct. (N.S.) 318.
Wash.—In re Bruener, 294 P. 254, 159 Wash. 504.
6 C.J. p. 597 note 8.

92. U.S.—Harkin v. Brundage, (C.C.A.Ill.) 13 F.(2d) 617, certiorari granted 47 S.Ct. 237, 273 U.S. 682, 71 L.Ed. 838, and reversed on other grounds 48 S.Ct. 268, 276 U.S. 36, 72 L.Ed. 457.
Colo.—People ex rel. Colorado Bar Ass'n v. ———, Attorney at Law, 295 P. 917, 88 Colo. 325.
6 C.J. p. 597 note 9.

93. Ariz.—In re Hoover, 46 P.(2d) 647.
Ark.—McGehee v. State, 32 S.W.(2d) 308, 182 Ark. 603
Cal.—Roark v. State Bar of California, 55 P.(2d) 889—Green v. State Bar of California, 2 P.(2d) 340, 213 Cal. 403—Bruns v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 939, 213 Cal. 151—State Bar of California v. Jones, 280 P. 964, 208 Cal. 240
Hawaii.—In re French, 28 Hawaii 47
Kan.—In re Gorsuch, 214 P. 794, 113 Kan. 380.
N.M.—In re Marron, 160 P. 391, 22 N.M. 252, L.R.A.1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P. 216, 22 N.M. 501
N.Y.—In re Gladstone, 173 N.Y.S. 89, 185 App.Div. 471—In re Abuza, 166 N.Y.S. 105, 178 App.Div. 757—In re Palmieri, 162 N.Y.S. 799, 176 App.Div. 58, reversed on other grounds 117 N.E. 1078.
Ohio.—In re Abrams, 173 N.E. 312, 36 Ohio App. 384
Pa.—In re Barach, 123 A. 737, 279 Pa. 89.
Vt.—In re O'Brien, 113 A. 527, 95 Vt. 167, 14 A.L.R. 859—In re O'Brien, 107 A. 487, 93 Vt. 194.
6 C.J. p. 597 note 10

Permitting client to testify falsely

Lawyer owes client the duty to see that the latter's rights are fully protected under forms of law, but is never justified in imposing on the court or knowingly permitting client to do so by testifying falsely.—In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P.(2d) 647.

Summing up false testimony to jury

Where an attorney obviously aids a witness to lie and deliberately and emphatically in his summing up to the jury of what he personally knows to be false testimony adopts it, such conduct is the equivalent of false swearing by himself and equally worthy of discipline.—In re Palmieri, 162 N.Y.S. 799, 176 App.Div. 58, reversed on other grounds 117 N.E. 1078.

affidavits, or having them made, for the purpose of deceiving the court,[94] or by incorporating misstatements in the pleadings or in the papers in a case before the court.[95] Other acts of misconduct resulting in obstructing or perverting the administration of justice which have been held grounds for disbarment are: Conspiring to obtain a divorce on false grounds,[96] inducing litigants to assume a fictitious residence,[97] filing suit before legal residence necessary therefor is fully established;[98] filing suit or taking proceeding in the wrong jurisdiction with corrupt motive or fraudulent design to subvert justice;[99] filing a sham answer[1] or affidavit[2] for the purpose of delay; abetting witness to conceal identity or to impersonate another;[3] deliberately and knowingly procuring a false and fraudulent judgment or order;[4] submitting a fictitious case;[5] submitting only a partial statement of material facts known to him,[6] continuing a suit based on perjured testimony;[7] prosecuting a claim known by him to be unjust and without merit,[8] advising a client to forfeit bail[9] or to disobey an order of court;[10] applying for continuance because of the absence of material witnesses who

Emergency no excuse

Emergency does not excuse an experienced attorney's adoption of testimony known to him to be false—In re Palmieri, 162 N.Y.S. 799, 176 App.Div. 58, reversed on other grounds 117 N.E. 1078

94. D.C.—Curtis v. Whiteford, 59 App.D.C. 330, 41 F.(2d) 302
Minn.—In re Bresky, 214 N.W. 666, 171 Minn. 490
Nev.—In re Bailey, 161 P. 512, 40 Nev. 139
N.J.—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N.J.Eq. 232
N.Y.—In re Finkel, 288 N.Y.S. 409, 248 App.Div. 369—In re Diamond, 262 N.Y.S. 665, 237 App.Div. 657—In re Powers, 257 N.Y.S. 113, 235 App.Div. 382—In re Batt, 246 N.Y.S. 77, 230 App.Div. 656—In re Brown, 165 N.Y.S. 736, 178 App.Div. 558—In re Hawes, 156 N.Y.S. 283, 169 App.Div. 644, affirmed 111 N.E. 211, 217 N.Y. 602—In re Cebulsky, 155 N.Y.S. 463, 169 App.Div. 636—In re O'Brien, 155 N.Y.S. 552, 169 App.Div. 519.
N.D.—In re Bryans, 204 N.W. 9, 52 N.D. 673
Pa.—In re Olliensis, 26 Pa.Dist. 853—In re Shoemaker, 18 Pa.Co. 36.
S.D.—In re Egan, 157 N.W. 310, 37 S.D. 159, motion denied 161 N.W. 1003, 38 S.D. 458
6 C.J. p. 597 note 11.

False affidavit to dismiss appeal

Attorney for defendants, to whom a copy of stenographer's minutes and of case on appeal were delivered, who, after turning them over to a third party who lost them, obtained dismissal of the appeal on default by an affidavit stating that plaintiff had done nothing to bring the case on for argument, although a return of the minutes for bringing of the appeal had been sought, was guilty of improper conduct, justifying suspension.—In re Finkel, 288 N.Y.S. 409, 248 App.Div. 369.

Positive affidavit instead of one on information and belief

Conduct of attorney in permitting an affidavit positive in form, when it should have been on information and belief, to stand without correction was deserving of censure, but not necessarily corrupt or dishonest.—In re Egan, 157 N.W. 310, 37 S.D. 159, motion denied 161 N.W. 1003, 38 S.D. 458.

Acting in professional capacity

Attorney assisting another attorney in preparing pleadings in an action for his own services acted in a professional capacity within the code providing for disbarment for professional misconduct.—Curtis v. Whiteford, 59 App.D.C. 330, 41 F.(2d) 302

95. In re Wilson, 170 N.Y.S. 725

Misstatement immaterial to case

A misstatement in a brief that bonds devised to testator's wife had matured and been paid, when she had sold them before maturity, which was inadvertently copied in other briefs, but not material to the case, does not amount to professional misconduct.—In re Wilson, 170 N.Y.S. 725

96. In re Forrester, 155 N.Y.S. 420, 169 App.Div. 619—6 C.J. p. 597 note 13

97. In re O'Neill, 171 N.Y.S. 514, 184 App.Div. 75—In re Mathot, 166 N.Y.S. 217, 178 App.Div. 759, dismissal of appeal granted 117 N.E. 948, 222 N.Y. 8.

98. In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P.(2d) 647.

Zealousness no excuse

The fact that counsel for plaintiff in a divorce suit became persuaded, in his anxiety to serve his client, that the latter's residence was that of her parents in the county of venue would not justify his action in commencing and prosecuting suit before she established a legal residence in such county for the statutory period.—In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P.(2d) 647.

99. La.—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079.
Ohio.—In re Abrams, 173 N.E. 312, 36 Ohio App. 384.

1. In re Tinney, 176 N.Y.S. 102, 187 App.Div. 569—In re Schreiber, 156 N.Y.S. 398, 170 App.Div. 543.

2. People v. Martin, 124 N.E. 340, 288 Ill. 615.

3. In re Zanger, 194 N.E. 72, 266 N.Y. 165, reversing 267 N.Y.S. 193, 239 App.Div. 129, reargument denied 270 N.Y.S. 657, 241 App.Div. 60

Good faith

Where a person was known and dealt with in relation to certain business under an assumed name, an attorney, who thoughtlessly, but in good faith, permitted such person to testify under the assumed name and made affidavits referring to him by the assumed name, was held not guilty of professional misconduct justifying disbarment.—In re Zanger, 194 N.E. 72, 266 N.Y. 165, reversing 267 N.Y.S. 193, 239 App.Div. 129, reargument denied 270 N.Y.S. 657, 241 App.Div. 60

4. Ill.—People v. Brillow, 140 N.E. 829, 309 Ill. 173
N.Y.—In re Wilson, 170 N.Y.S. 725

5. Kan.—In re Macy, 196 P. 1095, 109 Kan. 1, 14 A.L.R. 848
N.Y.—In re Cohen, 258 N.Y.S. 615, 236 App.Div. 263—In re Hawes, 156 N.Y.S. 283, 169 App.Div. 644, affirmed 111 N.E. 211, 217 N.Y. 602.
6 C.J. p. 597 note 15.

6. Matter of V———, 42 N.Y.S. 268, 10 App.Div. 491—6 C.J. p. 597 note 16

7. Matter of Hardenbrook, 135 App.Div. 634, 121 N.Y.S. 250, affirmed 92 N.E. 1036, 199 N.Y. 539.

8. N.Y.—In re Brooklyn Bar Ass'n, 227 N.Y.S. 666, 223 App.Div. 149.
Okl.—In re Pruett, 46 P.(2d) 919.
6 C.J. p. 597 note 18.

9. Matter of Pascal, 131 N.Y.S. 823, 146 App.Div. 836.

10. In re Apfel, 195 N.Y.S. 325, 202 App.Div. 76—6 C.J. p. 597 note 20.

Good faith

Attorney's conduct in informing a client that a restraining order preventing disposition of stock pending a divorce trial was void, without a showing of bad faith, did not merit disciplinary action.—In re Dore, 4 P.(2d) 1107, 165 Wash. 225.

are actually present;[11] citing a case as controlling without informing the court of unreported decisions known to him which discredited it,[12] filing false or sham pleadings,[13] or worthless appeal bonds;[14] supporting a claim by a false and fraudulent appraisement;[15] offering depositions directly contradictory to those made in a former proceeding by the same deponent;[16] and submitting a proposition to change an opinion of a court for a money consideration.[17]

Conduct tending to prejudice consideration of pending litigation, on the part of an attorney, has been held to constitute a ground for suspension or disbarment.[18]

f. Misuse, Falsification, or Alteration of Records and Papers

Misuse or falsification of court records or papers is a ground for suspension or disbarment.

An attorney may be suspended or disbarred for improperly falsifying, altering, or abstracting court records or papers.[19] Thus, knowingly antedating a writ[20] or the jurat to an official oath taken before him and the acknowledgment of an official bond made before him as notary public,[21] or an acknowledgment,[22] or inducing a clerk of court to antedate the filing of a paper so as to secure a lost right[23] or to change the return date of a subpœna,[24] or executing a paper purporting to be a judgment of the court,[25] or simulating a court order to obtain possession of property[26] is sufficient ground for suspension or disbarment. That the alteration was made without fraudulent intent palliates, but does not justify, the act.[27] Also, it is ground for suspension or disbarment for an attorney to misuse court orders, papers, or processes,[28] as by drafting an indecent and scandalous complaint to coerce payment or settlement,[29] or by alleging untrue, infamous matter in pleadings.[30] However, an attorney was held not deserving of punishment for alleged alterations in a transcript on an appeal, where such alterations were made with an honest motive, were freely admitted by the attorney, and were due to his inexperience.[31]

g. Misconduct as Judge, Prosecuting Attorney, Etc.

Misconduct of an attorney acting in an official capacity, such as judge, prosecuting attorney, or the like, has been held to constitute a ground for his suspension or disbarment.

Although the official conduct of public officers has been held not subject to review in disbarment pro-

11. In re Champion, 103 P. 600, 24 Okl. 154

12. Matter of V———, 42 N.Y.S. 268, 10 App.Div. 491.

13. In re Tinney, 176 N.Y.S. 102, 187 App.Div. 569—6 C.J. p. 597 note 24

14. People v. Pickler, 57 N.E. 893, 186 Ill. 64.

15. State v. Fisher, 117 N.W. 882, 82 Neb. 361, affirmed 119 N.W. 249, 82 Neb. 367.

16. Matter of Schleimer, 135 N.Y.S. 406, 150 App.Div. 507.

17. People v. Reaugh, 79 N.E. 936, 234 Ill. 541

18. N.M.—In re Hanna, 227 P. 983, 30 N.M. 96

Pa.—In re Gross, 177 A. 767, 313 Pa. 143, certiorari denied 56 S.Ct. 248, 296 U.S. 645, 80 L.Ed. 453—Snyder's Case, 152 A. 33, 301 Pa. 276, 76 A.L.R. 666—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416.

19. Ariz.—In re Spriggs, 284 P. 521, 36 Ariz. 262

Kan.—In re Macy, 196 P. 1095, 109 Kan. 1, 14 A.L.R. 848.

N.Y.—In re Rubenstein, 197 N.Y.S. 75, 203 App.Div. 517—In re Farrington, 193 N.Y.S. 334, 200 App.Div. 735

Okl.—In re Huggins, 31 P.(2d) 944, 168 Okl. 91.

Wis.—State v. Sullivan, 249 N.W. 519, 213 Wis. 314

Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v. Strahan, 8 P.(2d) 1090, 44 Wyo. 156, rehearing denied 13 P.(2d) 1083, 44 Wyo. 487

6 C.J. p. 598 note 29

Negligence in nondiscovery of changes

Counsel's failure to investigate changes in transcript was held to be inexcusable neglect meriting reprimand by the court.—Sparks v. Commonwealth, 8 S.W.(2d) 397, 225 Ky. 334.

Suggesting change by client

The language used by an attorney, charged with counseling falsification of documents, is immaterial, if it suggests fraudulent conduct.—In re Bullowa, 229 N.Y.S. 145, 223 App.Div. 593

20. Ex p. Brown, 1 How.(Miss.) 303

21. In re Arctander, 1 N.W. 43, 26 Minn. 25

22. In re Orlean, 271 N.Y.S. 331, 241 App.Div. 101.

23. Howard v. Gulf, etc., R. Co., (Tex.Civ.App.) 135 S.W. 707

24. Thompson v. Denman, 50 S.W.(2d) 222, 164 Tenn. 428

25. In re Bunt, 182 N.Y.S. 434, 192 App.Div. 226.

26. In re Myrland, (Ariz.) 45 P.(2d) 953

27. In re Dore, 4 P.(2d) 1107, 165 Wash. 225—6 C.J. p. 598 note 33

28. Minn.—In re Dows, 209 N.W. 627, 168 Minn. 6, 47 A.L.R. 265

Mont.—In re Frederick, 227 P. 999, 71 Mont. 205.

N.J.—In re Hahn, 94 A. 953, 84 N.J.Eq. 523, motion denied 96 A. 589, 85 N.J.Eq. 510, Ann.Cas.1918B 830

Pa.—In re Blumenthal & Verlin, 10 Pa.Dist. & Co. 731.

R.I.—Grievance Committee of Rhode Island Bar Ass'n v. Clifford, 97 A. 975.

S.D.—In re Swihart, 177 N.W. 364, 42 S.D. 628.

Publication of defamatory affidavit

Preparing a defamatory affidavit, withholding the same from filing after it was ordered sealed, and communicating the contents to a newspaper, was held to warrant suspension.—In re Sadicoff, 282 P. 953, 208 Cal. 555.

29. In re Hansen, 169 N.Y.S. 881, 182 App.Div. 568.

30. N.Y.—In re Burger, 271 N.Y.S. 676, 241 App.Div. 218—In re Rapport, 283 N.Y.S. 210.

Wis.—In re Richter, 204 N.W. 492, 187 Wis. 490, 41 A.L.R. 485

Suggesting shameful exposures

It was improper for an attorney, by references in his bill as to the nature of the investigations made by him, to suggest the possibility of shameful exposures which would follow litigation, especially where the most disgraceful charges were based only on assertions of third parties.—In re Bunker, 199 N.Y.S. 435, 205 App.Div. 237.

31. People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Sherwin, 4 N.E.(2d) 477, 364 Ill. 350.

ceedings,[32] it has also been held that the court may suspend or disbar an attorney for misconduct relating to his duties as a justice of the peace,[33] magistrate,[34] sheriff,[35] district or prosecuting attorney,[36] village attorney,[37] attorney general,[38] or as a fiduciary under a court appointment.[39]

Misconduct as judge. A constitutional provision relating to the removal of judges of the supreme or circuit courts has been held inapplicable in determining the power of the court to disbar a member of the bar who is also a judge of the superior court,[40] and in some jurisdictions it has been held that the courts

32. In re Borie, 118 So 45, 166 La 855.

33. In re Hobbs, 73 A 303, 75 N H 285—6 C J p 600 note 81

34. Matter of Davis, 15 Hawaii 377

35. In re Roberts, 30 Hawaii 583

36. N D—In re Crum, 215 N W. 682, 55 N D. 876, 55 A L R 220
Okl—In re Simpson, 192 P. 1097, 79 Okl 305
Pa—Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa 186
6 C J p 600 note 83

Conduct held to warrant disciplinary action

(1) Acceptance of a bribe by a county attorney, for which he agrees not to prosecute one for a crime—In re Simpson, 192 P 1097, 79 Okl 305

(2) Acceptance by two attorneys of employment to prosecute a suit for civil damages on the same facts against accused—In re Truder, 17 P (2d) 951, 37 N M 69

(3) Acceptance of money by an attorney when acting as prosecuting officer, knowing it was intended to influence him—In re Crum, 215 N W. 682, 55 N D 876, 55 A L R. 220

(4) Accepting a reward for recovering and returning stolen property and assisting the deputy sheriff, who, under Rev Code (1919) § 3691, is prohibited from receiving a reward for doing any official act, in also securing a reward for similar services—In re Waggoner, 206 N W. 427, 49 S D. 78—In re Waggoner, 199 N. W. 244, 47 S D 401

(5) Appearing in other counties and defending respondents charged with committing crimes therein, and appearing in proceedings in which the state was an opposing party or had adverse interests—In re Wakefield, 177 A 319, 107 Vt 180

(6) Attaching tags to exhibits admitted in evidence with notations thereon for the purpose of prejudicing the jury—State v. Harris, 213 P 215, 66 Mont 34.

(7) Collecting money from the county on fictitious claims and enforcing civil liability by threats of criminal prosecution—People ex rel. Colorado Bar Ass'n v ———, Attorney at Law, 9 P (2d) 611, 90 Colo 440.

(8) Collecting of money on forfeited bonds, etc, by a county attorney, and instead of turning it over, after deducting commission, withholding it on a claim of the county's indebtedness to himself—In re Sitton, 177 P 555, 72 Okl 13

(9) Converting funds of the state paid to a prosecutor by check by virtue of his office—State v Garland, 150 P 289, 77 Or. 92.

(10) Hampering the administration of criminal law by endeavoring to secure provision for prosecutrix and child rather than to convict one charged with rape—In re McCowan, 170 P. 1100, 175 Cal 51, 177 Cal 93.

(11) Neglect of duty—People v. Anglim, 78 P 687, 33 Colo 40—In re Voss, 90 N W 15, 11 N D 540—In re Simpson, 83 N W 541, 9 N D 379—6 C J p 591 note 63 [a], p 621 note 54 [a]

(12) Raising amounts on several receipts attached to verified bills, on which an attorney received reimbursement from the county for alleged expenditures incident to his official duties—In re Forbes, 257 N W 329, 192 Minn 544.

(13) Requiring written stipulation for release including liability for instituting criminal prosecution on dismissal of criminal case—In re Truder, 17 P (2d) 951, 37 N M 69

(14) Urging defendant to plead guilty when he protests his innocence—People v. Phipps, 104 N.E 144, 261 Ill. 576

(15) Using office as an instrument to aid civil business, issuing warrants and complaints for criminal prosecutions to compel the persons accused to make settlements—In re Joyce, 234 N.W 9, 182 Minn 156—In re Bunston, 155 P 1109, 52 Mont. 82

It is not misconduct for a state's attorney, believing that perjury has been committed, to bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury, although interested therein, if he acts in good faith and is free from prejudice While an information for disbarment of a state's attorney is pending in the supreme court, he is not justified in having the matter of perjury in swearing thereto laid before the grand jury, and in doing so is not guilty of unprofessional conduct or breach of duty, if there is no personal spite or prejudice on his part, and he in good faith exercises no control, influence, or assistance in such presentation.—People v. Hickman, 128 N E 484, 294 Ill 471.

Mere dereliction of county attorney by failure to prosecute case, where the evidence showed the commission of the offenses charged, has been held not enough to warrant disbarment.—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah, 118.

Grounds for removal or suspension from office as district or prosecuting attorney see District and Prosecuting Attorneys § 7 [18 C J. p 1302 note 32—p 1303 note 53].

37. In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676

Division of fees

Division with the mayor of the city of the fees earned by respondent as city attorney and as commissioner in a special assessment proceeding was ground for disbarring respondent—People v. Jadrich, 151 N E 241, 320 Ill 344

38. In re Becker, 208 N Y S 437, 208 App Div 224—6 C.J. p 600 note 83 [b]

It is a very dangerous practice for any attorney, who has been connected with the attorney general's or district attorney's office in the prosecution of persons charged with criminal offenses, to appear thereafter for such defendants in subsequent proceedings of a criminal nature—In re Becker, 208 N.Y S. 437, 208 App Div 224

Conduct requiring disciplinary action

(1) A false statement by a deputy attorney general to the court that papers he had requested from the district attorney did not relate to the case which he was defending, made without knowledge as to whether such statement was true or false, was unjustified, and required punishment—In re Becker, 208 N Y S 437. 208 App Div. 224.

(2) A deputy attorney general, who by virtue of his office and his official demand obtained evidence from the district attorney on which a person had been indicted, was thereby disqualified from defending such person, and his conduct in appearing for such defendant was improper.—In re Becker supra.

39. Ill—People v. Tilton, 120 N E. 252, 284 Ill 385
N Y—In re Fridiger, 188 N Y S. 39, 196 App Div. 413, 39 N Y Cr 214—In re Lichtenberg, 155 N Y S 482, 169 App.Div 505
Ohio—In re Woodworth, 31 Ohio N. P (N S) 107

40. In re Stolen, 214 N W. 379, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A L R 1355, affirmed 216 N.W 127, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L R 1355.

have no jurisdiction in disbarment proceedings against an attorney for misconduct committed in his capacity as a judge of a court of record on the ground that the remedy by impeachment is exclusive;[41] but in other jurisdictions, it has been held that the court has authority to revoke or suspend the license to practice law, even though the attorney at the time of misconduct holds a judicial or other official position,[42] although the exercise of such power deals only with the status or relation of the attorney as such.[43] Of course, where the judge of a particular court is not required to be a qualified attorney and disbarment will not affect his official status, he may be disbarred for misconduct in office.[44]

A board of governors of the state bar was held to have jurisdiction to entertain complaints filed against a member of the state bar touching on his present fitness to practice law and based on the acts of the attorney occurring during a prior incumbency of the office of county judge.[45]

h. Miscellaneous Grounds

Under the rule that professional misconduct renders an attorney subject to disciplinary action, various acts of misconduct have been held sufficient or insufficient to authorize suspension or disbarment.

Under the rule that professional misconduct renders an attorney subject to disciplinary action, various acts of misconduct have been held to authorize suspension or disbarment such as: Permitting use of name by unqualified persons,[46] or by another attorney,[47] transacting business under another's name;[48] using name of another attorney in an action without his authority,[49] soliciting business in an unprofessional manner,[50] as by employing paid "detective agency"

For a firm of attorneys to advertise as a mercantile collection agency under the fictitious name of a "detective agency" was unethical.—In re Swihart, 177 N.W. 364, 42 S.D. 628

49. In re Grosso, 194 N.E. 514, 359 Ill. 243—6 C.J. p. 598 note 36.

50. U.S.—In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F. Supp. 467.

Cal.—Johnson v. State Bar of California, 52 P.(2d) 928—McCue v. State Bar of California, 47 P.(2d) 268—Recht v. State Bar of California, 23 P.(2d) 273, 218 Cal. 352—Townsend v. State Bar of California, 291 P. 837, 210 Cal. 362—Barton v. State Bar of California, 289 P. 818, 209 Cal. 677

Colo.—People v. Ginsberg, 285 P. 758, 87 Colo. 115.

Ill.—People v. Ashton, 180 N.E. 440, 347 Ill. 570—People v. McCallum, 173 N.E. 827, 341 Ill. 578.

Iowa.—State v. Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157

Minn.—In re Greathouse, 248 N.W. 735, 189 Minn. 51

Mo.—In re Gallant, (App.) 95 S.W. (2d) 1249

N.Y.—In re Schwarz, 132 N.E. 921, 231 N.Y. 642, affirming 186 N.Y.S. 535, 195 App.Div. 194, and reargument denied 134 N.E. 554, 232 N.Y. 520—In re Schwartz, 267 N.Y.S. 243, 239 App.Div. 127—In re Axtell, 242 N.Y.S. 18, 229 App.Div. 323, affirmed 177 N.E. 423, 257 N.Y. 210, and modified on other grounds 257 N.Y.S. 470, 235 App.Div. 350—In re Helfant, 240 N.Y.S. 242, 228 App.Div. 479—In re Schacht, 239 N.Y.S. 516, 228 App.Div. 232—In re Bovard, 239 N.Y.S. 465, 228 App.Div. 263—In re Vail, 239 N.Y.S. 414, 228 App.Div. 217—In re Klein, 239 N.Y.S. 382, 228 App.Div. 246—In re Schleider, 239 N.Y.S. 311, 228 App.Div. 221—In re Burke, 237 N.Y.S. 53, 227 App.Div. 746—In re Brooklyn Bar Ass'n, 227

41. In re Strahl, 195 N.Y.S. 385, 201 App.Div. 729—6 C.J. p. 601 note 84.

42. Ariz.—In re Spriggs, 284 P. 521, 36 Ariz. 262.

S.D.—In re Rempfer, 216 N.W. 355, 51 S.D. 393, 55 A.L.R. 1346

Utah.—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118.

Wis.—In re Stolen, 214 N.W. 879, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355, affirmed 216 N.W. 127, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355

Proceeding in reality seeking removal dismissed

Where an application for disbarment of an attorney in reality sought his removal from the office of municipal judge, and extraordinary or unusual circumstances were lacking, it was held that the proceeding should be dismissed.—In re Gibbs, 214 N.W. 350, 51 S.D. 464.

Conduct aggravated

Unworthy conduct of an attorney at law is aggravated, where he is a judge of a district court.—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118

Grounds for suspension or disbarment

(1) The action of a district judge in writing a letter addressed to himself, purported to have been written by a party to a litigation in his court, and which the judge attempted to have signed by such party, was held unjustifiable conduct incompatible with a judge's duties.—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118

(2) An attorney, inducing those appearing before him, while acting as a county judge, to pay exorbitant retainer fees to another attorney, and advising in a matter which might and did come before him as judge, was guilty of conduct requiring disbarment.—In re Rempfer, 216 N.W. 355, 51 S.D. 393, 55 A.L.R. 1346.

(3) An attorney, who, while judge, willfully caused the records of his court to be falsified, so as to benefit a former client, must be disbarred.—In re Spriggs, 284 P. 521, 36 Ariz. 262

(4) Giving legal advice, in violation of statute.—People v. Lindsey, 283 P. 539, 86 Colo. 458

Conduct held not ground for suspension or disbarment

(1) Proceedings, merely erroneous, whereby a district judge arbitrarily suspended attorneys from practice, furnish no basis for disbarment of such district judge.—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118

(2) It is not ground for disbarment of an attorney that, while judge of the district court and while representing a party to an election contest before the legislature, he directed the grand jury's attention to reports that the other party to the contest had spent money largely in excess of the amount to which he made affidavit, where the instruction would have been proper except for the fact that he represented a party to such contest, and the instruction had no direct bearing on the contest.—People v. Class, 201 P. 883, 70 Colo. 381

43. In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118

44. State v. Peck, 91 A. 274, 88 Conn. 447, L.R.A.1915A. 663—6 C.J. p. 601 note 85.

45. Weston v. Board of Governors of State Bar, (Okl.) 61 P.(2d) 229

46. Cal.—Smallberg v. State Bar of California, 297 P. 916, 212 Cal. 113.

N.Y.—In re Durst, 263 N.Y.S. 575, 237 App.Div. 685

6 C.J. p. 598 note 34.

47. In re Wintrob, 26 Pa.Dist. 864.

48. Minn.—In re Hertz, 166 N.W. 397, 139 Minn. 504

Nev.—In re Scott, 292 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113.

6 C.J. p. 598 note 35

agents to solicit retainers,[51] by giving or offering a valuable consideration therefor in violation of statute,[52] rewarding, directly or indirectly, those bringing cases to his office,[53] or by advertising as a divorce lawyer through the public press and otherwise[54] in violation of statute,[55] ambulance chasing;[56] soliciting employment by threats;[57] com-

N Y S 666, 223 App Div. 149—In re Levine, 205 N Y S 589, 210 App. Div 8—In re Gray, 172 N Y S. 648, 184 App Div. 822—In re Schwarz, 161 N Y S 1079, 175 App Div 835
Ohio—In re Rule 28 of Cleveland Bar Ass'n, 29 Ohio N P (N S) 291
Wash—In re Winthrop, 237 P 3, 135 Wash 135—In re Wiltse, 186 P. 848, 109 Wash 261—In re Gill, 176 P 11, 104 Wash 160.
6 C J p 598 note 37.

Dishonorable or disreputable

An attorney's solicitation of employment will not, under all circumstances, justify his disbarment or suspension, but to justify that the solicitation must be in a dishonorable or disreputable manner, and where it consists of a mere effort to honorably procure employment for legitimate purpose, it is no ground for suspension or disbarment—State v. Smith, 99 S E 332, 84 W.Va 59

Advice free

Advertisement consisting of name and address of attorney and words "advice free" violated the rule against advertisement, requiring reprimand of attorney—Barton v. State Bar of California, 289 P. 818, 209 Cal 677.

Under another name

Advertisement by attorney-at-law under a name not his own is conduct justifying discipline—In re Cohen, 159 N E 495, 261 Mass. 484, 55 A L R 1309

Officer of insurer

Attorney-superintendent of claims for employers' liability insurer was held subject to censure for activity in securing retention of attorney to represent claimants having third party claims—In re Cherry, 240 N Y. S 282, 228 App Div. 458.

Attorney not chargeable with notice as matter of law

That attorney over five-year period obtained six cases by solicitation did not make him chargeable, as matter of law, with notice of solicitation by employees—In re Seidman, 240 N Y. S. 592, 228 App Div. 515.

51. U S—In re Ades, (D C.Md.) 6 F. Supp. 467.
Cal—Sawyer v. State Bar of California, 32 P.(2d) 369, 220 Cal 702—Fish v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal. 215
Hawaii—In re Trask, 30 Hawaii 736.
Ill—People v. Beresniak, 127 N E 36, 292 Ill. 305
Kan—In re Gorsuch, 214 P. 794, 113 Kan. 380.
Ky—Chreste v. Commonwealth, 198 S.W. 929, 178 Ky. 311—Chreste v. Commonwealth, 186 S W. 919, 171 Ky. 77, Ann Cas 1918E 122.
Mass—In re Thibodeau, 3 N E (2d) 749, 106 A L R 542.
N Y—In re Kreindler, 240 N Y.S. 604, 228 App Div 492—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N Y S 481, 228 App Div. 470—In re Mahan, 239 N Y S. 892, 228 App.Div 241—In re Levy, 239 N Y S 377, 228 App Div. 249—In re Schleider, 238 N Y S. 601, 227 App Div. 532—In re Levine, 205 N.Y.S. 589, 210 App Div. 8.
Ohio.—In re Meck, 200 N E 478, 51 Ohio App 237.
Pa—In re Salus, 184 A 69, 321 Pa. 103—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A 59, 321 Pa 31.
6 C J p 598 note 38.

52. In re Newman, 158 N.Y S. 375, 172 App Div. 173—6 C J p 599 note 39

53. Cal—Dahl v State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 977, 213 Cal 160—Irving v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 2, 213 Cal 81—Shaw v State Bar of California, 297 P. 532, 212 Cal 52.
Ill—People v. Jadrich, 151 N.E 241, 320 Ill. 344.
Kan—In re Staton, 210 P. 615, 113 Kan 226
N Y—In re Littick, 232 N.Y.S. 571, 225 App Div 246, affirmed 171 N.E 805, 253 N Y 613
Wis—State v Kiefer, 222 N W. 795, 197 Wis 524.

"Unlicensed person" with whom attorney is prohibited from sharing compensation incidental to professional employment refers to a person not licensed to practice law—Howe v State Bar of California, 298 P 25, 212 Cal 222.

Alliance between doctors and lawyers

Alliance whereby doctors act as "feeders" for lawyers and lawyers act as collectors for recommending physicians is disapproved—In re Robinson, 241 N Y S 296, 229 App Div. 119—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N Y S. 481, 228 App.Div. 470.

54. Cal—Mayer v. State Bar of California, 39 P.(2d) 206, 2 Cal (2d) 71
Mass—In re Cohen, 159 N E 495, 261 Mass 484, 55 A L R 1309
N Y—In re Neuman, 155 N Y.S. 428, 169 App Div 638
Pa—In re Olienasa, 26 Pa Dist 853.
S D—In re Donovan, 178 N.W. 143, 43 S D. 93, 9 A L R. 1497.
6 C J. p 599 note 40.

Violation of ethics

An attorney may properly accept a retainer for the prosecution or defense of an action for divorce when convinced that his client has a good cause, but the ethics of the profession forbid that an attorney should advertise his talents or his skill as a shopkeeper advertises his wares—In re Donovan, 178 N.W. 143, 43 S. D 93, 9 A L R 1497.

55. In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal. App 650

56. U S—In re Ades, (D.C Md.) 6 F Supp. 467.
Cal—Remington v. State Bar of California, 28 P.(2d) 510, 218 Cal 446—Smith v. State Bar of California, 294 P. 1057, 211 Cal. 249, 73 A L R. 393
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v. Goldman, 255 N W 32, 127 Neb. 340
N Y—In re Becker, 241 N.Y.S 369, 229 App Div. 62, appeals dismissed In re Levy, 174 N E 461, 255 N Y. 223—In re Feuerman, 238 N.Y S. 656, 227 App Div. 506—In re Reichman, 238 N Y.S. 647, 227 App.Div. 512—In re Seligsohn, 238 N Y.S 637, 227 App Div 480—In re Orange, 237 N Y S 49, 227 App Div. 748—In re Dollins, 237 N.Y S. 46, 227 App Div. 747—In re Gondelman, 233 N Y S. 343, 225 App Div 462—In re Marlow, 232 N Y S. 573, 225 App Div. 252—In re Katska, 232 N Y S 575, 225 App Div 250, modified on other grounds 237 N Y S. 803, 227 App.Div 821—In re Newell, 160 N.Y S. 275, 174 App. Div. 94
Wis—State v Cannon, 226 N W. 385, 199 Wis 401.

Not justifiable

"Ambulance chasing" by attorneys is not justified, because poor persons might be deprived of rights by overreaching representatives of persons about to be sued—In re Rothbard, 232 N Y.S. 582, 225 App Div. 266

Failure to keep usual books

Attorney's failure to keep records, or destruction of or failure to produce records kept, although not included in ambulance chasing charges against him, indicated he violated the law and an intent to hide conditions—In re Marlow, 232 N Y S 573, 225 App Div. 252.

Arrangement for notification of accidents

Attorney, who had an arrangement with an employee of a railroad whereby the latter disclosed telegraphic communications received by the road containing particulars of accidents, so that the attorney might have his "ambulance chaser" at the spot at the earliest possible moment, was guilty of unprofessional conduct—In re Newell, 160 N.Y S 275, 174 App Div. 94.

57. Matter of Hamilton, 24 Philippine 100.

mencing actions without proper retainers;[58] publishing articles laudatory of himself and derogatory of other attorneys;[59] sending communications to persons against whom he has claims to collect in such a form as to indicate that an action has been commenced or that legal proceedings are pending to collect the claim, where such is not the fact,[60] using criminal procedure[61] or threatening criminal proceedings[62] to enforce a civil claim; purchasing litigious rights[63] in a suit in which he is interested as attorney,[64] blackmailing,[65] or aiding a client in carrying through a scheme in the nature of blackmail;[66] defrauding insurance companies by means of fictitious claims,[67] accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or fighting a duel in another state and killing his adversary;[68] obtaining incriminating letters by threats,[69] collusively obtaining a divorce,[70] commencing suit for divorce without authority,[71] moving one's admission against adverse report of examiners;[72] acquiescence in placing of excessive number of lawyers on payroll of sanitary district,[73] stating the law incorrectly to stir up a riot,[74] taking an unfair advantage of a party in the absence of his legal adviser;[75] altering and using before another court an undertaking unsuccessfully used,[76] conniving at a violation of the bankruptcy law,[77] disposing of the property of a bankrupt so as to put it out of the power of the trustee in bankruptcy to recover the property applicable to the claims of creditors,[78] filing a sham petition in order to obtain the taking of a deposition, that the testimony might be published in a newspaper;[79] directing the sheriff to take from defendant on a writ of replevin a large quantity of goods not described in the writ;[80] advising a breach of trust with the design to benefit himself, or assisting a client in a scheme which he knows to be dishonest and fraudulent;[81] conversing before jurors as to the merits of a case in which he is employed,[82] advising client to forfeit bail,[83] securing release of prisoner by imposition,[84] offering to sell evidence to adverse attorney,[85] offering to disclose material testimony on employment as associate counsel,[86] taking money from accused criminal to procure release from custody,[87] nonpayment

58. In re Glucksman, 248 N Y S 1, 230 App Div 135—In re Cohen, 240 N.Y S 350, 228 App Div 465

59. Ill.—People v. Berezniak, 127 N E. 36, 292 Ill 305
S D—In re Morrison, 178 N W. 732, 43 S D 185

60. Pa.—In re Weiss, 176 A 924, 317 Pa. 415.
S D—In re Swihart, 177 N W. 364, 42 S D 628
6 C J p 599 note 42.

Mailing summonses
For a firm of attorneys operating a mercantile collection agency to mail summonses in the hope debtors would take their receipt as the equivalent of personal service, was unlawful—In re Swihart, 177 N.W 364, 42 S D 628

61. Pa—In re Weiss, 176 A 924, 317 Pa 415.
S D—In re Waggoner, 206 N.W. 427, 49 S D 78
6 C J. p 599 note 47.

Instituting prosecution without foundation
It was dishonorable and unprofessional for an attorney to cause prosecution to be instituted without foundation or probable cause to bring about a settlement of a civil action, even though the attorney did not therein represent that he was the county attorney.—In re Waggoner, 199 N W. 244, 47 S D 401.

62. N Y.—In re Feinstein, 253 N Y S 455, 233 App Div. 541—In re Gelman, 245 N Y S 416, 230 App Div. 521—In re Hyman, 235 N Y S 622, 226 App Div. 468—In re Bookman, 188 N Y S 271, 196 App Div 765—In re Beachboard, 263 N Y S 492
S D—In re Bartlett, 197 N W. 285, 47 S D 208

63. In re Zirinsky, 255 N.Y S 493, 234 App Div. 470—6 C J. p 599 note 43

64. People v Gilmore, 177 N E 710, 345 Ill 28

65. People v Blakemore, 141 N E 138, 309 Ill 311—6 C J p 599 note 44.

66. In re Meighen, 214 N W 848, 51 S D 459—6 C J. p 599 note 45.

67. In re Durst, 239 N Y S. 316, 228 App Div. 256.

68. Smith v. State, 1 Yerg (Tenn) 228

69. Matter of Chadsey, 126 N Y S 456, 141 App Div 458, affirmed 95 N E 1124, 201 N.Y 572

70. In re Neary, (Okl) 50 P (2d) 1119—6 C J. p 599 note 49

71. Dillon v State, 6 Tex 55.

72. Matter of Deringer, 12 Phila (Pa) 217

73. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 333, 351 Ill 206

74. Jones' Case, 12 Pa Co 229.

75. Cal—Carpenter v State Bar of California, 292 P 450, 210 Cal 530
N Y—In re Yardum, 218 N.Y.S. 6, 218 App Div 134.
6 C.J. p 599 note 52.

Concealing attorneyship
It is unethical for a lawyer to conceal his attorneyship, especially when dealing with layman—In re Yardum, 218 N Y S 6, 218 App Div. 134

76. Matter of Goldberg, 29 N Y S. 972

77. In re Naphtaly, (Cal) 14 Cent. L J 96

78. Matter of Joseph, 120 N Y S 793, 135 App Div 589

79. Ex p. Krieger, 7 Mo App 367.

80. In re Goldberg, 63 N Y S 392, 49 App Div 357

81. People v Keegan, 32 P 421, 18 Colo 237, 36 Am S R 274—6 C.J. p 599 note 59

82. Pa—Matter of Carter, 1 Phila 507.
Tenn—Turner v. St. John, 3 Coldw 376.

83. Matter of Pascal, 131 N Y S 823, 146 App Div 836

84. In re Waggoner, 199 N.W 244, 47 S D 401—6 C J p 599 note 63.

Unethical defense
Attorney in disbarment proceedings is guilty of unethical and unprofessional conduct in interposing a defense that a prisoner who had escaped while being transported to another state by the attorney at his request was not legally held by the sheriff because legal commitment had not been issued—In re Waggoner, 206 N W 427, 49 S D 78.

85. In re Enright, 31 A 786, 67 Vt. 351.

86. Chreste v. Commonwealth, 186 S W 919, 171 Ky 77, Ann Cas 1918E 122

87. In re Kelly, 188 N.Y.S. 502, 197 App Div. 41.

of annual license fee,[88] appearing in court to participate in a case in a drunk and intoxicated condition;[89] suspension or disbarment by sister state;[90] giving false testimony before investigating board;[91] failure to appear and answer charges before disciplinary committee,[92] assisting a corporation or another to practice law;[93] passing bad checks,[94] fomenting litigation or instigating lawsuits,[95] bringing actions to extort money,[96] bringing actions on groundless claims,[97] advising prosecution of actions without having been consulted by plaintiff,[98] bringing actions in supreme court instead of municipal court because of greater likelihood of settlement by insurance companies,[99] agreeing to defend persons in advance of commission of criminal offense,[1] advising or aiding person to obtain property other than by orderly processes of law,[2] fraudulently procuring money on false drafts and procuring estate funds from executor without security,[3] obtaining claims against person for purpose of filing petition in bankruptcy;[4] signing client's name to affidavit of inability to pay costs,[5] obstructing the Draft Act,[6] obtaining information from grand jurors concerning their official action;[7] having claims assigned to resident of a town adjoining a city so that suit could be filed before town justice in violation of statute;[8] violation of escrow agreement;[9] intentional violation of the law or constitution.[10]

Insufficient grounds. The following acts, by reason of the circumstances of the particular case, have been held insufficient to warrant suspension or disbarment: Making motion on ground not supported by facts;[11] bringing a suit which the attorney knows cannot be maintained for want of jurisdiction,[12] charging term fees according to a rule of the county bar,[13] submitting an illegal and excessive bill of costs;[14] conspiring to sell to a newspaper a confession of one accused of murder;[15] taking a false acknowledgment as notary public;[16] specializing in personal injury cases;[17] soliciting claims in aid of client's interest[18] without misrepresentation;[19] making contingent fee contracts,[20] failure to have client correct false testimony before leaving witness stand;[21] employment of investigators;[22] irregular

88. In re Gibson, 4 P (2d) 643, 35 N M 550

Penalty of suspension from practice for nonpayment of annual license fee provided by 1927 amendment to State Bar Act will not be imposed for delinquency occurring under original act (L [1927] c 113 § 2, amending L [1925] c 100 § 10)—In re Gibson, 4 P (2d) 643, 35 N M 550.

89. In re Macy, 196 P 1095, 109 Kan 1, 14 A L R 848

90. Minn—In re Leverson, 261 N.W 480.
S D—In re Brown, 264 N W 521.

91. In re Kohler, 270 N Y S 634, 240 App Div 501—In re Branch, 165 N Y.S 688, 178 App Div 585

92. In re Morris, 14 Pa Dist. & Co 164

93. Cal.—Smallberg v State Bar of California, 297 P 916, 212 Cal 113
Minn—In re Otternes, 232 N W. 318, 181 Minn 254, 73 A L R 1319
N Y.—In re Pace, 156 N Y S 641, 170 App Div 818.

94. Minn—In re Karatz, 202 N.W 74, 162 Minn 80
N J—In re P, 169 A 25, 111 N J Law 509
N Y—In re Schiel, 253 N Y S 753, 233 App Div 306

95. In re Cohen, 159 N E 495, 261 Mass 484, 55 A L R 1309

"Interest," within a statute prohibiting attorney from encouraging litigations from motive of interest, means something more than an impersonal desire to assert or vindicate a right.—In re Eaton, 235 N.W. 587, 60 N.D 580.

"Passion," within a statute prohibiting attorney from encouraging litigation from motive of passion, denotes malice, antipathy, hatred, or revenge—In re Eaton, 235 N W. 587, 60 N D 580

96. In re Macy, 196 P. 1095, 109 Kan 1, 14 A L R 848

97. In re Macy, supra

98. Smallberg v State Bar of California, 297 P 916, 212 Cal 113

99. In re Schneidkraut, 246 N Y S 505, 231 App Div. 109.

1. In re Lemisch, 184 A 72, 321 Pa 110—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81

2. Colo—People ex rel. Colorado Bar Ass'n v ———, Attorney at Law, 295 P 917, 83 Colo 325—People v Kelley, 285 P. 767, 87 Colo 88
N M—In re Hittson, 150 P 733, 20 N M 319, L R A 1916A 1171

3. In re Rogers, 235 N.Y S 718, 226 App Div 470

4. People v. Ginsberg, 285 P. 758, 87 Colo 115

5. People v Johnson, 176 N E. 278, 344 Ill 132

6. In re Margolis, 112 A. 473, 269 Pa 206, 12 A L R 1186

7. In re Hittson, 150 P 733, 20 N M 319, L R A 1916A 1171.

8. In re An Attorney, 154 N Y S. 703, 170 App Div 922

9. In re Tanz, 260 N Y S 219, 236 App Div 559—In re Furstenburg, 243 N.Y S 9, 230 App Div. 166

10. U S—Bartos v U S District Court for District of Nebraska, (C. C A Neb) 19 F (2d) 723, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138. N M—In re Margolis, 29 Pa Dist. 1134

11. Fletcher v. Daingerfield, 20 Cal. 427

12. Hinckley v. Krug, 34 P. 118, 4 Cal Unrep Cas 208

13. In re Aldrich, 86 A. 801, 86 Vt. 531

14. Matter of Zirinsky, 148 N.Y S 517, 163 App Div 960

15. In re Haymond, 53 P. 899, 121 Cal 385

16. Matter of Barnard, 136 N.Y S 185, 151 App Div. 580

17. In re Sizer, 267 S W. 922, 306 Mo 356

18. People v. Edelson, 145 N E. 246, 313 Ill 601.

For petition in bankruptcy

Attorneys who solicited claims for purpose of having creditors sufficient to authorize a petition in bankruptcy, and represented the petitioners in bankruptcy under a mistaken belief that they had authority, were held not guilty of unprofessional conduct, warranting suspension—People v. Edelson, 145 N E 246, 313 Ill 601.

19. People v. Ashton, 180 N E. 440, 347 Ill. 570

20. In re Sizer, 267 S.W. 922, 306 Mo. 356

21. In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P (2d) 647.

22. In re Sizer, 267 S.W. 922, 306 Mo. 356.

conduct by attorney employed by accused prior to his own admission to the bar;[23] advancing living expenses to needy client;[24] belligerent and headstrong attitude, temper and disposition;[25] securing release of aliens from military service;[26] settling infants' cases without a court order[27] especially where the court failed or refused to fix a fee,[28] refusal to answer questions in ambulance-chasing investigation on ground of privilege, but no such claim made in disciplinary proceedings;[29] tendering bill for services to decedent, corroborated by executor, and then withdrawing claim after stubborn contest in court;[30] volunteering services to needy litigants,[31] turning over to another attorney work which accused did not have time to perform, or in preparing papers for such attorney and indorsing such other attorney's name thereon;[32] bringing contempt proceedings to collect judgment from trustee after delay and various proceedings,[33] participation in friendly suit to secure authorization of settlement of claims for personal injuries to infants;[34] solicitation of few isolated cases in attorney's behalf for which he paid no commission[35]

§ 24. —— Nonprofessional Misconduct

Generally, conduct of an attorney outside his professional capacity which shows him to be unfit to manage the affairs of others is ground for his suspension or disbarment.

Commonly, an attorney is free to engage in commercial pursuits of an honorable character and to advertise and to extend his purely mercantile business honestly and fairly by ordinary commercial methods.[36] While it has been held that the court has no jurisdiction to disbar an attorney for misconduct committed in his individual capacity and not in a professional capacity,[37] as a general rule an attorney may be suspended or disbarred for such misconduct unconnected with his professional duties as shows him to be an unfit and unsafe person to manage the legal business of others,[38] although it

23. In re Kling, 186 P. 152, 44 Cal App 267

24. Ill.—People v. McCallum, 173 N. E. 827, 341 Ill. 578
N.Y.—In re Cherry, 240 N.Y.S. 282, 228 App.Div 458.

25. People v A'Brunswick, 146 N.E. 433, 315 Ill 442

26. In re Arctander, 188 P. 380, 110 Wash. 296.

27. In re Schlaimer, 247 N.Y.S. 9, 231 App Div 202—In re Linden, 240 N.Y.S. 274, 228 App Div. 497.

28. In re Fink, 241 N.Y.S. 886, 229 App Div. 338—In re Jeromer, 239 N.Y.S. 304, 228 App Div. 123—In re Goldberg, 238 N.Y.S. 273, 227 App Div. 502.

29. In re Schneidkraut, 246 N.Y.S. 505, 231 App Div. 109.

30. In re Campbell, 1 Ohio App. 413

31. In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F.Supp 467.

In many cases

Where no proceedings were taken in any court to punish attorney for volunteering, at request of certain organization, services in defense of a colored man accused of murder in hostile community, tender of services in subsequent cases under similar circumstances should not be made the subject of punitive action —In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F.Supp 467

Notifying court

Attorney volunteering services in defense of accused should notify and consult with court whose duty it is, at least in capital cases, to provide counsel.—In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F.Supp 467

32. In re Wilmarth, 172 N.W. 921, 42 S.D. 76.

33. In re Wilson, 170 N.Y.S. 725.

34. In re Wilbur, 239 N.Y.S. 483, 228 App Div 197.

35. In re Seidman, 240 N.Y.S. 592, 228 App Div. 515.

36. In re Thibodeau, (Mass.) 3 N.E. (2d) 749.

Where attorney conducting association, furnishing legal service to members, sent to members a list of attorneys which the members could select but permitted them to engage unlisted attorneys, the fact that a partner of such attorney and the son of a partner were named in the list was held not to show impropriety, where the attorney's law firm did not derive any direct advantage therefrom, but such listed attorneys were permitted to retain moneys received for services rendered to the members —In re Thibodeau, (Mass.) 3 N.E. (2d) 749, 106 A.L.R. 542

37. Ark.—Maloney v. State ex rel Cypert, 32 S.W.(2d) 423
La.—State v. Weber, 75 So. 111, 141 La. 448—State v. Fourchy, 31 So. 325, 106 La. 742
Tex.—Lotto v. State, (Civ.App.) 208 S.W. 563

38. U.S.—Bartos v. U.S. Dist. Court for Dist. of Nebraska, (C.C.A.Neb.) 19 F.(2d) 722, reversing (D.C.) In re Bartos, 13 F.(2d) 138
Cal.—In re Shattuck, 279 P. 998, 208 Cal. 6
Colo.—People v. Allen, 295 P. 1107, 88 Colo. 283.
Conn.—Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v. Broder, 152 A. 292, 112 Conn. 262, 269
Fla.—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699
Hawaii.—In re Mills, 17 Hawaii 564.
Idaho.—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676
Ill.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E. 333, 351 Ill. 206—People v. Meyerovitz, 116 N.E. 139, 273 Ill. 356
Kan.—In re Wilson, 230 P. 748, 123 Kan. 657
Mass.—In re Carver, 112 N.E. 877, 224 Mass. 169
Minn.—In re Waleen, 250 N.W. 798, 190 Minn. 13—In re Moerke, 238 N.W. 690, 184 Minn. 314—In re Westphal, 237 N.W. 593, 184 Minn. 28—In re Skinner, 214 N.W. 652, 171 Minn. 437—In re Cary, 177 N.W. 801, 146 Minn. 80, 9 A.L.R. 1272.
Mont.—In re Young, 250 P. 957, 77 Mont. 332—In re McCue, 248 P. 187, 77 Mont. 47—In re Callicotte, 187 P. 1019, 57 Mont. 297
Neb.—State v. Scoville, 243 N.W. 269, 123 Neb. 457, followed in State ex rel. Good v. Black, 251 N.W. 109, 125 Neb. 382
N.Y.—In re Dolphin, 147 N.E. 538, 240 N.Y. 89, dismissing appeal 203 N.Y.S. 472, 208 App Div. 223—In re Wilcox, 276 N.Y.S. 463, 243 App. Div. 103—In re Leder, 272 N.Y.S. 154, 242 App Div. 641—In re Fischel, 247 N.Y.S. 168, 231 App Div. 193—In re Goldstein, 220 N.Y.S. 473, 220 App Div. 107, modifying 218 N.Y.S. 944, 218 App Div. 799—In re Somerville, 170 N.Y.S. 879, 183 App Div. 445—In re Isaacs, 158 N.Y.S. 403, 172 App Div. 181.
Okl.—In re Osmond, 54 P.(2d) 319, 174 Okl. 561—In re Hills, 40 P.(2d) 1031, 170 Okl. 427—Warkentin v. Kleinwachter, 27 P.(2d) 160, 166 Okl. 218—State v. Jefferson, 193 P. 44, 79 Okl. 288.
Or.—State v. Mannix, 288 P. 507, 133 Or. 329, rehearing denied 290 P.

745, 133 Or 329—State v. Estes, 209 P. 486, 105 Or 222
Pa—In re Wolfe's Disbarment, 135 A 732, 288 Pa 331, 50 A.L.R 330
S D—In re Morrison, 178 N.W 732, 43 S D 185
Utah—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118.
Va—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v Drewry, 172 S E 282, 161 Va 833
Wash—In re Snelling, 224 P. 600, 129 Wash 56—In re Ward, 179 P. 76, 106 Wash 147—In re Turner, 176 P 332, 104 Wash 276
Wis—State v Ingram, 248 N.W. 915, 212 Wis 142—In re Richter, 204 N.W 492, 187 Wis 490, 41 A.L.R 485.
6 C J p 600 note 78

Immorality or dishonesty

Unprofessional misconduct which would justify disbarment must have an element of immorality or dishonesty, or be of such character as to be in violation of private interests or the public good—People v. Baker, 142 N.E. 554, 311 Ill. 66, 31 A.L.R 737—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118.

Statute authorizing suspension of attorney's license for any "unlawful or dishonest or unworthy or corrupt or unprofessional conduct" has been held to authorize discipline or disbarment for conduct committed out of court or disconnected with discharge of any professional duty—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S E 282, 161 Va. 833

Perjury as a witness

(1) It has been held that an attorney who perjures himself while a witness in a proceeding may be disbarred—In re Ulmer, 167 N E 749, 268 Mass. 373—In re Herts, 211 N.W 678, 169 Minn 431—In re O'Keefe, 175 P. 593, 55 Mont. 200—In re Popper, 184 N.Y S 406, 193 App Div 505, 39 N.Y Cr 5.

(2) Technical perjury is not necessary—In re Popper, supra

(3) Nor is it any excuse or defense that the court was not deceived—In re O'Keefe, supra.

(4) To the contrary it has been held that an attorney who gives false testimony or makes a false affidavit in a judicial proceeding in which he was not acting as attorney has been held not liable to suspension or disbarment, since in such a case he is privileged to the same extent as any other witness from any punishment except a criminal prosecution—Beckner v. Commonwealth, 103 S W. 378, 126 Ky. 318, 31 Ky L. 703, 128 Am S R 287.

Particular misconduct held to authorize disciplinary action

(1) Conviction of attorney for conversion of his employer's money while acting as officer of a trust company, notwithstanding that he had not been actually engaged in the practice of law—In re Arrow, 290 N. Y S 677, 248 App Div. 490.

(2) Delivering public addresses under auspices of I. W. W., whose literature, teaching sabotage and criminal syndicalism and advocating serious crimes, was circulated among his listeners with his knowledge.—In re Smith, 233 P. 288, 133 Wash. 145, 43 A.L.R 102.

(3) Habitual drunkenness—Wood v. State, 165 S E 908, 45 Ga App 783—In re Maley, 1 N E (2d) 495, 363 Ill 149

(4) Obtaining money by false promise of marriage—In re Raileanu, 232 N Y S 175, 225 App Div. 90.

(5) Owning monetary interest in social club in which card games for money stakes were played required his suspension—In re Fischer, 247 N Y.S. 168, 231 App Div. 193.

(6) Passing bad checks—In re McCue, 248 P. 187, 77 Mont. 47—State ex rel Sorensen v. Ireland, 251 N W 119, 125 Neb. 570—In re Kammerlohr, 157 N Y S. 933, 171 App Div. 781—State v Mannix, 288 P. 507, 133 Or. 329, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or. 329.

(7) Testifying as character witness for known criminal—In re Schachne, (D C N.Y.) 5 F.Supp. 630.

(8) Use by attorney of a petition addressed to Chicago Bar Association charging high federal government official with unprofessional conduct in handling of an estate, and of a petition to probate court involving same matter, in attempt by threat of a public scandal involving the federal administration, to secure a governmental appointment for himself—In re Malmin, 4 N E (2d) 111, 364 Ill. 164.

(9) Vouching for validity of supersedeas bond of underworld character without investigating validity of the obligation—In re Maben, 27 P (2d) 601, 167 Okl 111.

(10) Where attorney, in response to question in verified application for third marriage license whether he was divorced, a widower, or single, had answered, "Single," when, in fact, his first marriage had been annulled and he had been divorced from second wife by unexpired California interlocutory decree, such conduct was held not excusable even if the attorney misconstrued the law and deemed himself free to remarry in another state—In re Schecht, 275 N. Y.S. 712, 242 App Div. 495.

Particular acts held not ground for suspension or disbarment

(1) Contract to obtain appointment of another to public office—Ex parte Redmond, 125 So. 333, 156 Miss 439.

(2) Acts committed and opinions expressed by an attorney of the supreme court during the war, which were not in accord with the standard of patriotism set by the bar association and observed by the average citizen and member of the profession, but which nevertheless did not amount to treason, nor to a violation of the espionage law then in force (U S Comp St [1918] U S Comp.St Annot Suppl [1919] §§ 10212a-10212h), or of any federal or state statute, nor to a violation of the oath and duties of an attorney, as prescribed by the statutes and the decisions and rules of this court—In re Clifton, 196 P. 670, 33 Idaho 614, 19 A.L.R. 931.

(3) Conduct of an assistant corporation counsel assigned to the police department in erroneously ordering the arrest of a witness at a hearing before the chief police inspector—In re Dolphin, 203 N Y S. 472, 208 App Div 223, appeal dismissed 147 N E 538, 240 N.Y. 89.

(4) Instructing and preparing applicants for admission to the bar for taking the examination before the board of law examiners, for which he conducted quiz classes for compensation, although accused must not advertise or represent that he can or will furnish his students with a question or questions which are to be used by the board of law examiners in the examination of the applicants—People v Baker, 142 N E. 554, 311 Ill 66, 31 A.L R. 737.

(5) Shooting and injury of two persons under claimed right of defense of self or property, even if not justified.—State v Metcalfe, 214 N. W. 874, 204 Iowa 123

(6) Stopping payment of check, issued to enable borrower to obtain release of property from attachment, after borrower had informed attorney that borrower could not repay loan.—Warkentin v. Kleinwachter, 27 P (2d) 160, 166 Okl. 213.

(7) Where attorney, to obtain delivery of cleaned and repaired fur coat for wife, delivered a check for small amount, but told the furrier that the check was postdated and not good at the time, and that the attorney expected to make it good by depositing an expected fee and requested the furrier to hold the check until the following Tuesday, but the expected fee did not materialize it was held not to warrant disciplinary action against the attorney, although his checking account had been closed for some time when the check was delivered—In re Hyman, 275 N Y.S. 708, 242 App Div. 492.

Conviction of crime not committed in professional capacity as ground for disbarment see supra § 21.

has been held in some cases that an attorney will not be disbarred for misconduct not in his professional capacity unless such misconduct is infamous or very gross.[39] While it has been held that an attorney acting in ordinary business transactions must exercise a higher degree of care than is required of a layman in the conduct of his private affairs,[40] it has also been held that when an attorney steps aside from his duties as a member of the profession, and engages in business affairs of any character with persons who repose no special confidence in him and to whom he owes no personal obligations, no rule of law compels him to be more careful than the ordinary business man.[41]

Attorney occupying judicial position. The court may disbar an attorney betraying a lack of moral qualifications although acting as a judge, notwithstanding the misconduct bore no relation to his duties and responsibilities in his professional capacity.[42]

§ 25. Defenses

a. In general
b. Limitations and laches
c. Settlement with client

a. In General

Technical defenses are unavailable to an attorney where he knows his conduct was ethically wrong. Failure to interpose a defense is a waiver thereof.

An attorney charged with delinquencies should admit them and make such truthful explanations as he may, and should not rely on technical defenses or employ sophistry in argument in an attempt to establish a superficial justification.[43] Thus, the youth and inexperience[44] motive for the act,[45] honest belief of the attorney,[46] physical disabilities of the attorney,[47] or his financial needs,[48] voluntary intoxication,[49] habitual drunkenness,[50] or previous good character[51] of the accused attorney is no defense to a disbarment proceeding. Nor is the motive for preferring the charges[52] such as for the purpose of collecting money previously converted by the attorney,[53] or for personal spite and revenge,[54] a defense, if the charges are true. Also, it is no defense that the attorney has escaped criminal responsibility,[55] or has testified to his connection with the crime charged.[56] Nor is it any defense that others in the community have been guilty of the same offense,[57] that the at-

39. U S —Bartos v. U. S. District Court for District of Nebraska, (C. C.A Neb) 19 F (2d) 722, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138
Ill —People v Hoering, 148 N E 299, 317 Ill 390.
Utah.—In re Jones, 249 P. 803, 68 Utah 213
6 C J. p 600 note 80.

Changing name of grantee in deed

Attorney's change of name of grantee after execution of deed was held under the circumstances, not a sufficiently serious matter to justify disbarment or suspension —In re Jones, 249 P 803, 68 Utah 213.

40. Minn —In re Waleen, 250 N W. 798, 190 Minn 13
N Y —Feiber v Copeland, 250 N.Y S 429, 232 App.Div 504.

Same standards

That attorney who had collected, and appropriated to his own use, money which he received in payment for stock which he had sold for a client, may have been acting in the matter as agent instead of attorney for the client, was held not to bar consideration of such conduct in discipline proceeding, since attorneys are held to the same standard of fair dealing in their private as in their professional character —In re Hansen, (Mont) 54 P (2d) 882.

41. Cal —In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal App 144
Okl —Warkentin v Kleinwachter, 27 P.(2d) 160, 166 Okl. 213.
S D —In re Case, 182 N W. 638, 44 S D 120
6 C J p 600 note 79.

A mere business transaction by which somebody purchased from a lawyer property, with which she became dissatisfied, cannot afford ground for disbarment, where the lawyer did not act as her attorney nor in a confidential relation, and kept within the law —Buhler v. Trick, 144 N E. 840, 195 Ind. 190

42. In re Stolen, 214 N W. 379, 193 Wis 602, 55 A L R 1355, affirmed 216 N W. 127, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A L R 1355

Borrowing money from criminal

The action of a superior court judge in borrowing money from notorious bootleggers was held to require his disbarment —In re Stolen, 214 N W 379, 193 Wis 602, 55 A L R 1355, affirmed 216 N W. 127, 193 Wis 602, 55 A L R. 1355

43. In re Feinstein, 253 N.Y.S. 455, 233 App Div 541.

Technical legal defenses are not available to an attorney in a disciplinary proceeding where he knows his conduct was ethically and morally without support.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Chicago, 184 N E. 332, 351 Ill 206.

44. In re Breidt, 94 A. 214, 84 N J Eq 222—6 C.J. p 602 note 96

45. State v. Woerndle, 220 P. 744, 109 Or 461.

46. In re Coleman, 156 N Y S. 487, 170 App Div. 537.

47. In re Warrick, 278 N Y S 132, 244 App Div. 48—In re Hyman, 174 N.Y S 306, 186 App Div. 263.

48 Ill —People v. Grusd, 148 N E 860, 318 Ill 44
N Y —In re Warrick, 278 N Y S 132, 244 App Div 48—In re Cunningham, 267 N Y S 846, 239 App Div. 114—In re Campbell, 260 N Y S 80, 236 App Div 439—In re Pollino, 244 N Y S 201, 230 App Div 718—In re McEvcety, 195 N [illegible] 345, 202 App Div 79—In re Earley, 177 N Y S 347, 188 App Div 532—In re Hyman, 174 N Y S 306, 186 App. Div. 263

49. State v. Ledbetter, 260 P. 454, 127 Okl 85

50. People v Tracey, 145 N.E. 665, 314 Ill 434.

51. People v Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill 132—6 C J p 602 note 97.

52. In re Sizer, 267 S W. 922, 306 Mo 356.

53. In re Heath, 227 N.W. 892, 178 Minn. 547.

54. Ill —People v. Holt, 116 N E. 612, 279 Ill 107—People v. Harris, 112 N E 978, 273 Ill. 413.
Mont —In re Hansen, 54 P (2d) 882.
Okl —In re Kelley, 28 P.(2d) 564, 167 Okl. 142
6 C J p 602 note 99.

55. U S —U S. v. Parks, (C.C Colo) 93 F 414
N.Y —Matter of Robinson, 136 N.Y S. 548, 151 App Div 589, affirmed 103 N E 160, 209 N Y 354

56. Matter of Rouss, 147 N Y.S. 713, 162 App Div. 496

57. Ill —In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitorney has reformed,[58] that attorney representing party in civil action had no duty to take part in prosecution of case as state's attorney after change of venue was granted,[59] that the misconduct has created a civil liability,[60] that the attorney was ignorant of the law violated,[61] that he was acting for himself and not for another,[62] that legal advice, while holding office of juvenile judge, was given in a foreign jurisdiction,[63] that a partnership existed between an attorney and another whom he defrauded by acts involving moral turpitude,[64] that disbarment would disqualify the attorney from holding office as commonwealth's attorney,[65] that a civil action to collect the money was dismissed by the plaintiff,[66] or terminated in verdict and judgment for respondent,[67] that only a breach of contract occurred,[68] that attorney's opportunity for commission of reprehensible actions was created in part by the client,[69] or that his client has not complained and may not have been injured.[70] Long and intimate friendship with client,[71] failure of client to object because plaintiff's attorney represented him in a former related action arising out of the same matter,[72] threat of mandamus or criminal prosecution,[73] or acquiescence to misuse of fund by one not entitled thereto,[74] constitutes no defense. Also, an unauthorized investment of a client's funds is no defense for failure to pay the money to the client,[75] and an attorney of record, who actually keeps in touch with the matters, may not escape responsibility on the plea that the counsel he retained is to blame,[76] and an attorney who had ordered his card printed as an advertisement in a foreign paper, cannot avoid responsibility for the insertion of the name and address of a disbarred attorney having offices in the same suite by a claim that he had only seen the advertisement once and merely noticed his name, the advertisement being in a language not understood.[77] The failure of the client to make a demand for the payment of money may be of some weight in considering the excuse of forgetfulness.[78]

An attorney is not justified in wrongfully deviating from a strict performance of his duty to the court because of a bona fide belief that his adversary is attempting to take an unfair advantage,[79] nor is an attorney relieved of this duty because he engages in gratuitous employment for a client,[80] and a contention that an investigation, under authority of a statute not in effect at the time the acts were committed, is ex post facto is without merit.[81] Also, the principle that ratification is equivalent to antecedent authority is inapplicable in a proceeding to discipline an attorney for conversion of his client's funds so as to constitute a defense thereto.[82] The capacity of a sanitary district to contract for services of attorneys is no defense to a charge that the attorneys participated in a wrongful use of public funds where they reasonably knew they could not, in good conscience, remain parties to such contract,[83] nor is it a defense that the attorneys waited for work without realizing the injustice of taking public funds without a return therefor.[84]

tary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill 206—People v Jackson, 153 N E 621, 333 Ill 618.
Ohio—In re Meck, 200 N E. 478, 51 Ohio App 237.
6 C J p 602 note 6.

58. Ga—Wood v State, 165 S E 908, 45 Ga App 783
Pa—In re Rosenbaum, 150 A. 748, 300 Pa 465
S D—In re Webb, 159 N.W. 107, 37 S D 509.
Attorney's claim of rehabilitation in disciplinary proceedings should be evidenced by an honest intent to make whatever amends are necessary to clear record of past conduct and by his attitude of cooperation with the persons whose legal duty is to investigate his conduct and make proper recommendations to the supreme court—Wood v State Bar of California, (Cal) 58 P.(2d) 1280.

59. People v Hickman, 128 N E. 484, 294 Ill 471.

60. Maggart v. State Bar of California, (Cal) 61 P (2d) 451—Jacobs v State Bar of California, 25 P. (2d) 401, 219 Cal 59

61. N Y—Matter of Robinson, 125 N.Y S 193, 140 App Div. 329.
S D—In re Schull, 127 N W. 541, 25 S D 602

62. Matter of Bauder, 112 N.Y S 761, 128 App Div 346.

63. People v Lindsey, 283 P. 539, 86 Colo. 458.

64. In re Cruickshank, 190 P. 1038, 47 Cal App 496

65. Commonwealth v Stump, 57 S. W (2d) 524, 247 Ky 589.

66. In re Maloney, 153 N.W 385, 35 N D 1

67. In re Egan, 154 N W 521, 36 S D 228

68. In re Levinson, 188 N Y S 730, 197 App Div 46, reargument denied 191 N.Y S. 935, 199 App Div. 966.

69. In re Casey, 195 N E. 39, 359 Ill 496.

70. In re Hendrick, 241 N Y S 50, 229 App Div. 100—In re Steinberg, 184 N Y S. 450, 193 App Div. 502—In re Ball, 171 N.Y S 489, 184 App Div 18—6 C J. p 602 note 9.

71. State v. Woodville, 108 So. 309, 161 La 125.

72. Michel v. McKenna, 227 N.W 396, 199 Wis 603

73. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N E. 332, 351 Ill. 206

74. In re McKee, 188 N Y S. 753, 197 App Div 192

75. In re Gery, 130 A. 307, 284 Pa. 121.

76. In re Heimsoth, 243 N Y S. 149, 229 App Div 194, affirmed 175 N.E. 112, 255 N.Y 409

77. In re Treadwell, 162 N.Y S. 554, 175 App Div. 833

78. In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537

79. In re Hittson, 150 P 733, 20 N. M 319, L R A 1916A 1171.

80. In re Moore, 150 P. 736, 20 N.M. 312.

81. In re Winne, 280 P. 113, 208 Cal. 35.

82. People v Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo 428.

83. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill. 206

84. In re Information to Discipline

The fact that evidence of misconduct was heard at a former disciplinary proceeding is no defense to a subsequent proceeding where no formal charge based on such misconduct had been made in the first proceeding,[85] and where an attorney, against whom a rule for disbarment was pending, made statements reflecting on the judge, but later apologized, a statement by the judge that the matter is ended has been held to relate to the contempt and not to the rule for disbarment which had not been considered by the court at that time.[86]

It is a good defense that the misconduct was committed by a partner or clerk without authority or knowledge of the accused[87] or that the attorney honestly considered he was not the attorney or agent of the party and acted accordingly.[88]

Failure to interpose a defense constitutes a waiver thereof.[89]

Acquittal of a criminal charge, pardon, etc., as a defense is treated supra § 21.

b. Limitations and Laches

General statutes of limitations are not applicable to disciplinary proceedings, although staleness of a charge may prevent its being considered. Special statutes, if valid, will bar the prosecution of such a proceeding

The general statute of limitations is no defense to a proceeding for the disbarment or suspension of an attorney,[90] nor will the courts establish a limitation as to the time in which such proceedings may be instituted by analogy to the statute of limitations unless, from the nature or circumstances of the particular case, it appears that it would be unjust or unfair to require the attorney to answer as to such occurrences.[91]

Staleness in a charge against an attorney may prevent its being considered, because an unreasonable delay in the presentation of a charge of misconduct may make it impossible for an attorney to procure the witnesses or the testimony which would have been available at an earlier time to meet such charge.[92] However, the court will not refuse to hear charges of unprofessional conduct against an attorney because of expiration of long period of time unless it would be unjust to compel him to answer such charges.[93]

Statute specially applicable. It has been held that a proceeding to discipline an attorney is barred where brought after the time prescribed by a statute of limitations specially applicable to such proceedings,[94] and that the repeal of such a statute will not operate to revive the cause of action for disbarring the attorney.[95] However, it has also been held that Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, supra.

85. In re Huppe, 11 P.(2d) 793, 92 Mont. 211.

Expressio unius est exclusio alterius not applicable to judgment

Where an attorney had been reprimanded for misconduct made the basis of a complaint, but no formal charge based on certain other conduct had been made although the referee had made no findings but had submitted the evidence thereof, such conduct may properly be investigated in a subsequent proceeding notwithstanding the court had held another matter, not the basis of a formal charge, in abeyance, the rule expressio unius est exclusio alterius not being applicable—In re Huppe, 11 P (2d) 793, 92 Mont. 211.

86. Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416

87. In re Wilson, 170 N Y S 725.

88. In re Hughes, 242 N W. 711, 186 Minn. 204

89. In re Ulmer, 167 N E. 749, 268 Mass 373

90. Ariz—In re Bailey, 248 P. 29, 30 Ariz 407
Ga.—Wood v State, 165 S.E. 908, 45 Ga App 783.
La.—State v Walker, 75 So. 207, 141 La. 464
Neb.—State v Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb 736.
N.Y.—In re Gavrin, 286 N Y S 208, 246 App Div 397—In re Simpkins, 155 N Y S 521, 169 App.Div 632.
Or.—State v. Mannix, 288 P. 507, 133 Or. 329, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or 329—State v Tarpley, 259 P 732, 122 Or. 479—State v. Parker, 252 P 711, 120 Or 465—State v. Woerndle, 220 P. 744, 109 Or. 461
Pa.—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416—In re Stockwell, 21 Pa Co 105
S C.—State v Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C. 263
S D.—In re Egan, 154 N.W. 521, 36 S D 228.
6 C J p 601 note 86.

Disbarment proceedings are civil proceedings and therefore the rule of prescription governing civil actions would more properly be applicable than the rule governing prescription of criminal proceedings.—In re Kenner, 152 So. 520, 173 La. 774.

91. Wood v. State, 165 S E. 908, 45 Ga App. 783—6 C J. p 601 note 87.

92. Ga.—Wood v State, 165 S E. 908, 45 Ga App 783
Minn.—In re Tracy, 266 N.W. 88.
6 C J p 585 note 3, p 601 note 88.

Delay insufficient to constitute a defense

(1) Complaint in disbarment proceeding based on attorney's alleged misconduct terminating several months previously is not stale—Wood v. State, 165 S.E. 908, 45 Ga. App. 783.

(2) Delay of three years in presenting petition to discipline attorney after disbarment in federal court is no defense—In re Ulmer, 167 N E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.

(3) Disbarment is not prevented by a delay of five years in the hearing on the rule, which is not so great as to warrant, a dismissal on the ground of laches, especially as it inured to respondent's benefit—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416.

Lapse of ten years

That state's attorney nearly ten years before disbarment proceeding represented two complaining witnesses in civil actions based upon the same facts as pending criminal actions prosecuted by him in violation of Pol Code, § 938, but in ignorance of such statute and with no improper motives, gives but little support to a charge of present unfitness to practice—In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S.D. 76.

93. People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v Sherwin, 4 N.E (2d) 477, 364 Ill 350.

94. In re Evans, 179 P. 922, 72 Okl 215

95. In re Evans, supra.

a statute providing limitations for the bringing of disciplinary proceedings was invalid.[96]

c. Settlement with Client

Settlement with a client, especially where made after disciplinary proceedings are begun or threatened, is no defense.

Settlement with clients on a basis satisfactory to them, or repayment of the amount due or of part thereof, does not preclude inquiry into the moral and professional quality of an attorney's acts prior to and in connection therewith, and hence is no defense to a proceeding to disbar him, based thereon,[97] especially where made under compulsion.[98] The court will not permit matters affecting the character of its officers to be settled by private arrangement.[99]

Payment after proceedings begun or threatened

Payment or application of the amount due or withheld, when made by the attorney after the proceedings for disbarment have been commenced, or are about to be instituted, does not operate to relieve him from the liability already incurred, and the court may still proceed to disbar him.[1] A fortiori, a mere intent,[2] or offer to make restitution,[3] or a tender of the money withheld,[4] constitutes no defense.

§ 26. Proceedings

The authorities are conflicting as to the venue and entitling of disciplinary proceedings and the joinder thereof with other proceedings.

A requirement that the proceeding be heard in the county of the attorney's residence is not jurisdictional[5] and may be waived,[6] and the question being one of fact, cannot be considered on a motion to dismiss, which deals solely with questions of law.[7]

96. In Minnesota
(1) A statute providing a two year limitation for the bringing of disciplinary proceedings against an attorney has been held invalid—In re Tracy, (Minn.) 266 N.W. 88

(2) Prior thereto it was held that misconduct of an attorney occurring more than the statutory period before the institution of the proceedings was not ground for discipline, unless such conduct was of a continuing nature—In re Waters, 256 N.W. 139, 192 Minn 262—In re Gerlich, 244 N.W. 414, 187 Minn 88—In re Moerke, 238 N.W. 690, 184 Minn 314—In re Buck, 214 N.W. 662, 171 Minn 352—In re Cherry, 208 N.W. 197, 166 Minn 448, 45 A.L.R 1108

97. Colo—People v. Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo 428.
Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190
Ill—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Hammond, 191 N.E. 215, 356 Ill 581.
Ky.—Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S.W. 330, 175 Ky 357
Mont.—In re Hansen, 54 P.(3d) 882
Neb—State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb. 241.
N.Y.—In re Yochelson, 258 N.Y.S. 724, 236 App Div 307—In re Pollane, 244 N.Y.S 201, 230 App Div 318—In re O'Connor, 236 N.Y.S. 25, 226 App Div. 600—In re Little, 161 N.Y.S. 570, 175 App Div 280
Pa—In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa. 362.
S.D—In re Nelson, 214 N.W. 808, 51 S.D. 451.
Wash—In re Gowan, 176 P. 7, 104 Wash. 166.
6 C.J. p 601 note 89.

Claim by attorney to part of sum in hand does not excuse his failure to pay over promptly to his client the part as to which there is no claim—In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa. 362.

98. Cal—Maggart v. State Bar of California, 61 P.(2d) 451—Ring v State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal 747.
Mont.—In re Hansen, 54 P.(2d) 882
N.Y—In re Westcott, 156 N.Y.S. 504, 170 App Div 541.

99. State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb 241.

1. Ill—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Chancellor, 192 N.E. 641, 358 Ill. 112—In re Borchardt, 192 N.E. 383, 357 Ill 458—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Kwasigroch, 192 N.E. 221, 357 Ill 302—In re Zahn, 190 N.E. 419, 356 Ill. 283—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Lotterman, 187 N.E. 424, 353 Ill 399—People v. Hansen, 185 N.E. 225, 352 Ill. 144—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill 206—People v. Grusd, 148 N.E. 860, 318 Ill 44.
Iowa—In re Cloud, 250 N.W. 160, 217 Iowa 3.
Mont—In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537
N.Y—In re Porcella, 272 N.Y.S 235, 241 App Div. 344—In re Babcock, 243 N.Y.S 489, 230 App Div 323—In re Doody, 222 N.Y.S 551, 221 App Div 15—In re Walsh, 217 N.Y.S 253, 217 App Div. 437—In re Galland, 203 N.Y.S 42, 208 App. Div 48—In re Makay, 203 N.Y.S. 15, 208 App Div. 44—In re McElveety, 195 N.Y.S. 345, 202 App Div. 79—In re Kelly, 188 N.Y.S. 502, 197 App Div. 41—In re MacWilliams, 184 N.Y.S 343, 193 App. Div. 499—In re Earley, 177 N.Y.S 347, 188 App Div. 532—In re Hyman, 174 N.Y.S 306, 186 App Div. 263—In re Flowerman, 168 N.Y.S. 860, 181 App Div. 488
Pa—Breslin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 175 A 378, 316 Pa. 392—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416—In re Goldbacher, 20 Pa Dist & Co 597—In re Bonner, 20 Pa Dist. & Co 593
6 C.J. p 601 note 91.
In Kentucky
(1) It has been held that an attorney is entitled to an opportunity to repay the client before disciplinary action is begun.—Evans v. Wade, 278 S.W. 604, 212 Ky. 238.

(2) But a failure to pay over the money to clients has been held not excused by efforts to settle with them or by payment of some of them after the institution of disbarment proceedings—Commonwealth, for and on behalf of Pike County Bar Ass'n, v. Hinton, 72 S.W (2d) 481, 254 Ky. 798.

2. Mich—In re Coburn, 174 N.W. 134, 207 Mich 350.
N.Y—In re Cunningham, 267 N.Y.S. 346, 239 App Div. 114.
S.D—In re Kaas, 162 N.W. 370, 39 S.D 4
6 C.J. p 602 note 93.

3. Matter of Z———, 39 Mo App 426

4. Clegg v. Baumberger, 9 N.E 700, 110 Ind 536.

5. Peters v State Bar of California, 26 P.(2d) 19, 219 Cal 218.

6. Peters v. State Bar of California, supra.
Hearing without objection
Attorney submitting, without objection, to hearing in disciplinary proceeding, held in county other than required by statute, could not raise the objection on petition to annual recommendation of the board of governors of the state bar for suspension from practice—Peters v. State Bar of California, 26 P.(2d) 19, 219 Cal 218.

7. In re Ulmer, 167 N.E 749, 268 Mass 373.

How entitled. The proceeding is sometimes entitled in the name of the state at the relation of the prosecuting attorney, attorney-general, or other public officer who institutes it,[8] and sometimes in the name of a client[9] or the bar association.[10] Since a proceeding to disbar an attorney is not a criminal proceeding, it need not run in the name of the state,[11] and the practice quite generally prevails of entitling it either Ex parte, In re, or In the Matter of, followed by the name of the accused, and such title seems preferable as indicating more accurately the real nature of the proceeding.[12]

A mere clerical error in the entitling of the petition will not vitiate it.[13]

That the information on which the proceeding is based does not proceed in the name of the aggrieved client and does not comply with strict rules of pleading with reference to the caption is immaterial, its only purpose being to bring to the attention of the court and the attorney for the state the facts, so that they may determine whether the case is one calling for further action.[14]

Joinder of proceedings. While there is authority to the effect that contempt and disbarment proceedings may be joined,[15] it has also been held that contempt and disbarment proceedings are distinct proceedings and should not be combined.[16]

While it has been held that a court cannot require the matter of a substituted attorney's disbarment to be tried with a proceeding for the former attorney's discharge,[17] it has also been held that the court has power to consider charges of misconduct against an attorney on the appeal of his client's case where sufficient cause is shown for the institution of disbarment proceedings.[18]

Proper party. In a proceeding to discipline an attorney for failure to pay over funds, the client, a collection company, being interested in the proceeds was a proper party to the proceeding as relator.[19]

Public hearing. An attorney who failed to demand a public trial in the proceedings for his suspension could not claim that he was deprived of a public hearing.[20]

§ 27. —— Notice and Preliminary Proceedings

a. Notice
b. Preliminary proceedings

a. Notice

Subject to some exceptions, an attorney is entitled to notice, which may be constructive or by publication where the attorney cannot be found.

The general rule is that before an attorney may be removed from his office by a court, whether under a statute or in the exercise of its inherent powers, he is entitled to notice and opportunity to be heard in defense,[21] and a statute providing that an attor-

8. Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky. 357—6 C.J. p 604 note 34.

Requiring election in whose name to prosecute has been held properly refused—Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky. 357.

9. Wilson v. Popham, 15 S.W. 859, 91 Ky 337, 13 Ky L 904.

10 Boston Bar Assoc v Casey, 97 N E 751, 211 Mass. 187, 39 L R A. (N S) 116, Ann.Cas 1913A 1226.

11 Ky.—In re McDonald, 162 S W. 566, 157 Ky 92.
Mo—In re Bowman, 7 Mo App. 569.
N D—In re Crum, 75 N W. 257, 7 N. D 316

12. Schwartz v State, 18 Ohio App. 373—6 C J p 604 note 33.

13. State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or. 407.

14. Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W 330, 175 Ky. 357.

15. Kan—In re Hanson, 5 P.(2d) 1088, 134 Kan. 165
Ohio.—State v. Albin, 161 N E. 792, 118 Ohio St. 527.

16. State v Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb. 736—6 C.J. p 596 note 5.

17. U S. v. Hicks, (C C A Cal) 37 F (2d) 289

18. Vivian Collieries Co. v Cahall, 110 N.E 672, 184 Ind. 473

19. Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky 357

20. State Bar of California v Jones, 280 P 964, 208 Cal 240

21. U S—Conley v. U S, (C C A Minn) 59 F (2d) 929—U S v. Hicks, (C C.A Cal) 37 F (2d) 289—Bartos v U S Dist Court for Dist. of Nebraska, (C.C A Neb) 19 F (2d) 722, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138.
Ariz—In re Bailey, 248 P. 29, 30 Ariz 407
Ark—Dickerson v. State, 179 S W 324, 120 Ark. 9.
Cal—In re Reid, 187 P. 7, 182 Cal 33.
Mass—In re Keenan, 192 N E 65, 287 Mass 577, 96 A L R 679—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E 749, 268 Mass 373—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N E 269, 251 Mass 6.
Minn—In re Diesen, 215 N W. 427, 173 Minn 297
N M—State v. Raynolds, 158 P. 413, 22 N M 1.
S.D—In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D. 374.
Utah—Foster v. Burton, 232 P. 917, 64 Utah 550—Higgins v. Burton, 232 P 914, 64 Utah 562
Vt—In re Haddad, 173 A. 103, 106 Vt 322
6 C J p 604 note 39.

Thirty days' notice is reasonable, is due process, and a determination of the issue by the judge in disbarment proceedings is the exercise of judicial power and is not a denial of the right of trial by jury.—Ex parte Cashin, 90 So 850, 128 Miss 224.

Notice of facts constituting misconduct

(1) An attorney in disciplinary proceedings against him is entitled to notice setting forth the facts constituting such misconduct—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E 749, 268 Mass 373—State v. Smith, 99 S E. 332, 84 W.Va 59

(2) Omission of a copy of findings of federal court disbarring attorney from papers ordered to be served on attorney in disciplinary proceedings is not a fatal defect, on motion to dismiss, the attorney being familiar with such findings—In re Ulmer, supra.

Citation signed by judge in vacation

A citation to appear, signed by a

ney shall be suspended after a complaint is filed in disbarment proceedings until the question in disbarment is finally determined has been held invalid.[22] Such notice need not be in the form of technical process,[23] and does not require the seal of the court,[24] the teste of a judge,[25] or authentication by the clerk.[26] While it has been held that the notice or citation must be served on the attorney and returned,[27] and that leaving a copy at the attorney's residence or most notorious place of abode is insufficient,[28] it has also been held that, although the proceeding is in the nature of a civil action as shown infra § 28, it is not a civil action in the strict sense that service of summons as required in civil actions is necessary to give the court jurisdiction, and the court may adopt any method of notice which gives the attorney the privilege of making his defense,[29] and service by mail[30] or by publication,[31] or substituted or constructive service,[32] has been held sufficient where the attorney is absent from the state and cannot, after due diligence, be found, provided there is a statute or rule of court authorizing such service.[33]

An attorney failing to answer an accusation after notice to appear and answer is not entitled to a notice of the meeting of a local administrative committee where the rules of procedure of the state bar provide that on failure to answer the accusation the committee might proceed to a determination without further notice to the attorney.[34]

Exceptions to rule requiring notice. Where an offense by an attorney is committed in the presence of the court,[35] or where he has been convicted of a felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and where the record of his conviction has been duly certified to the court,[36] no notice is necessary. Nor is it necessary in proceedings of this kind that the accused attorney be given notice and an opportunity to be heard before the board of law examiners or the officer thereof who conducts the preliminary investigation.[37]

Waiver. Where an attorney appears in answer to each rule in disbarment proceedings, the question of formal notice drops out of the case.[38]

b. Preliminary Proceedings

Where the facts before the court are indefinite, it may order inquisition into conduct of attorneys.

Where the information is so indefinite as to make judge in vacation, and giving the attorney thirty days to prepare his defense, has been held sufficient—Ex parte Cashin, 90 So. 850, 128 Miss 224

Refusal to issue rule on original information for disbarment has been held not to bar issuance of rule on subsequent information—Commonwealth v. Stump, 57 S W (2d) 524, 247 Ky 589

Ordinary writ of summons not proper

A disbarment proceeding cannot be instituted or maintained by an ordinary writ of summons and attachment—Philbrick v. Creed, 117 N E 637, 228 Mass 382.

Before United States supreme court

On proceedings to disbar a member of the supreme court of the United States on the ground of disbarment by state court, opportunity should be given to point out any ground which would prevent the supreme court from giving effect to finding of state court establishing want of fair private and professional character—Selling v. Radford, (Mich) 37 S Ct 377, 243 U S 46, 61 L Ed 585, Ann Cas 1917D, 569.

22. McMurchie v Superior Court of Yavapai County, 221 P. 549, 26 Ariz 52

23. In re Ulmer, 167 N E 749, 268 Mass. 373—6 C J p 604, note 40.

24. Mass—In re Allin, 112 N E 494, 224 Mass 9
Or—State v. Hall, 190 P. 304

25. In re Allin, 112 N E 494, 224 Mass. 9.

26. State v Hall, (Or) 190 P 304

27. Strickland v Willingham, 175 S E 605, 49 Ga App 355—6 C J. p 604 note 41

28. Strickland v Willingham, supra

29. Miss—Ex parte Cashin, 90 So 850, 128 Miss. 224
Wash—State v Willis, 163 P. 737, 95 Wash 251

30. In re Allen, 41 Pa Co. 562—6 C J. p 605 note 42.

31. In re Holland, 274 P 559, 96 Cal App 655

32. In re Craven, 151 So 625, 178 La 372, 90 A L R 973—In re Heard, 125 So 593, 169 La. 559—In re Craven, 125 So 591, 169 La 555

Service on attorney's counsel of record

Service of notice of complaint in disbarment proceedings on counsel of respondent attorney instead of on respondent attorney was held not to deprive the committee on grievances of Chicago Bar Association as commissioners of supreme court of jurisdiction where the counsel on whom notice was served represented respondent attorney in other complaints filed in the same proceedings and was of record in instant proceedings in supreme court—In re Mack, 196 N E 197, 360 Ill 343

33. In re Heard, 125 So 593, 169 La 559—In re Craven, 125 So 591, 169 La 555

34. In re Pilkington, (Nev) 49 P 2d 965.

35. Mass—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N E 269, 251 Mass 6
Utah—Higgins v Burton, 232 P. 914, 64 Utah 562—Foster v. Burton, 232 P. 917, 64 Utah 550
6 C J. p 605 note 43

36. Cal—In re Thompson, 174 P. 86, 37 Cal App 344—In re Shepard, 170 P 442, 35 Cal App 492.
Mont—In re Peters, 235 P. 772, 73 Mont 234
N C—State v Harwood, 173 S E 24, 206 N C 807.
6 C J p 605 note 44.

Circumstances dispensing with notice

Superior court was held authorized to suspend attorney against whom disbarment proceedings were pending for refusal to present evidence in disbarment proceedings which he had commenced against another attorney and because of the court's knowledge that he had been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, notwithstanding that the attorney was given no notice of intended action, except recital of facts to the attorney on which the court would pass an order suspending him—De Krasner v. Boykin, (Ga App.) 186 S E 701.

37. La—State v. Fourchy, 31 So. 325, 106 La. 743.
Minn—State Bd of Law Examiners v Byrnes, 105 N W. 965, 97 Minn. 534.

38. Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416.

charges impossible or improper without further inquisition, the court may order such inquisition[39] and may appoint a committee to furnish it with specific information as to the conduct of attorneys,[40] and the requirements of the law as to the formulation of a charge are inapplicable thereto in advance of the preferment of the charge.[41] A statute authorizing the commissioners of the state bar to appoint committees to investigate charges against members of the bar and to report their findings has been held not invalid.[42]

The written accusation of a grievance committee of a bar association necessary to institute disbarment proceedings by calling the court's attention to the misconduct must be properly signed, duly attested, and accompanied by a sufficient affidavit,[43] which affidavit is in the nature of a bill of particulars attached to the accusation of the grievance committee.[44]

The attorney is not entitled to a transcript of the testimony given before a committee investigating his conduct[45] nor to cross-examine the witnesses appearing before such committee.[46]

Factual basis necessary. In order to move a court to action to discipline attorneys with respect to their general conduct, it is essential that a factual basis for such action be presented to it.[47]

§ 28. —— Nature and Form

Strictly speaking, disbarment proceedings are neither civil nor criminal, but special proceedings to preserve the courts and the public from ministrations of unfit persons. Courts may prescribe a method of procedure where none is provided.

Proceedings for the disbarment or suspension of attorneys are judicial proceedings,[48] and while it has been held that they are not criminal proceedings,[49] there is authority to the effect that they partake of the nature of criminal prosecutions or are quasi criminal,[50] although generally, they are held to be of a civil, rather than of a criminal,

39. Del.—Pyle v. Yarowsky, 146 A. 296, 16 Del.Ch. 280.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Karlin v. Culkin, 162 N.E. 487, 248 N.Y. 465, 60 A.L.R. 851, affirming 228 N.Y.S. 873, 228 App.Div. 822.
Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

Need not be public

A preliminary inquisition, without adversary parties, neither ending in any decree nor establishing any right, is not a sitting of a court within the fair intendment of a statute whereby sittings of a court are required to be public.—People ex rel. Karlin v. Culkin, 162 N.E. 487, 248 N.Y. 465, 60 A.L.R. 851, affirming 228 N.Y.S. 873, 228 App.Div. 822.

Compulsory process

Court's power to inquire into attorneys' professional conduct imports power to employ appropriate and adequate methods, including compulsory process.—People ex rel. Karlin v. Culkin, 162 N.E. 487, 248 N.Y. 465, 60 A.L.R. 851, affirming 228 N.Y.S. 873, 228 App.Div. 822.

Subpoena duces tecum regularly issued on an order of the supreme court has been held effective to require attorneys to appear to testify before a bar association or committee.—In re Investigation by Bar Ass'n of Hudson County, 160 A. 809, 109 N.J.Law 275.

40. In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

Report as to other additional misconduct

(1) Where the court appointed a committee not only to ascertain whether members of the bar had connection with organized crime, but for the purpose of investigating charges against the professional conduct of members of the bar, the committee was authorized to make a report with recommendation as to other unprofessional matters revealed by the investigation, because when the rule was issued covering matters reported, a case against the offenders had legal life from that moment only.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

(2) Committee appointed by judge to institute disbarment proceedings could investigate charges of unprofessional misconduct, even though not submitted by the judge.—In re Abrams, 173 N.E. 312, 36 Ohio App. 384.

41. People ex rel. Karlin v. Culkin, 162 N.E. 487, 248 N.Y. 465, 60 A.L.R. 851, affirming 228 N.Y.S. 873, 228 App.Div. 822.

42. In re Edwards, 266 P. 665, 45 Idaho 676.

43. Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v. Strickland, 158 S.E. 110, 200 N.C. 630.

44. Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v. Strickland, supra.

45. Idaho.—In re Edwards, 255 P. 906, 44 Idaho 163.
Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

46. In re Disbarment Proceedings, supra.

47. Application of City Club of New York, 253 N.Y.S. 100, 233 App.Div. 351.—In re Rochester Bar Ass'n's Resolutions, 236 N.Y.S. 76, 226 App.Div. 233.

Affidavits insufficient

Affidavits filed incidental to an appeal of a law case have been held insufficient to justify an investigation into the professional misconduct of an attorney.—Vivian Collieries Co. v. Cahall, 110 N.E. 672, 184 Ind. 473.

48. In re Crum, 204 P. 948, 103 Or. 296.

49. Cal.—In re Winne, 280 P. 113, 208 Cal. 35.—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Sullivan, 198 P. 7, 185 Cal. 621.
Fla.—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699.
La.—In re Craven, 151 So. 625, 178 La. 372, 90 A.L.R. 973.
N.Y.—In re Lynch, 238 N.Y.S. 482, 227 App.Div. 477.—In re Spencer, 201 N.Y.S. 315, 206 App.Div. 806.—In re Popper, 184 N.Y.S. 406, 193 App.Div. 505, 39 N.Y.Cr. 5.—In re O'Neill, 171 N.Y.S. 514, 184 App.Div. 75.—In re Herrman, 161 N.Y.S. 977, 175 App.Div. 310.—In re Ropiecki, 282 N.Y.S. 947.
Okl.—In re Sitton, 177 P. 555, 72 Okl. 13.
Or.—State ex rel. Seton v. Arnold, 28 P.(2d) 846, 145 Or. 634.
Va.—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S.E. 282, 161 Va. 833.

Disciplinary proceedings are not criminal, and their privilege is not to punish but to inquire into the conduct of an officer of the court, and hence purely criminal aspect of attorney's conduct in giving false financial statement or false testimony was not involved in disciplinary proceedings.—In re Kunstler, 289 N.Y.S. 107, 248 App.Div. 393.

50. Ga.—Strickland v. Willingham, 175 S.E. 605, 49 Ga.App. 355.
Ky.—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S.W. 948, 165 Ky. 93, L.R.A.1917B 1132.

nature,[51] and, consequently do not fall within that class of cases that entitles the attorney to a jury trial, see the title Juries § 66 [35 C.J. p 186 notes 84, 85]. However, strictly speaking, such proceedings are neither civil actions nor criminal prosecutions,[52] but are special proceedings,[53] peculiar to themselves,[54] sui generis,[55] disciplinary in nature,[56] and of a summary character, resulting from the inherent power of the courts over their officers,[57] and they usually relate to conduct unbecoming to an attorney after his admission to practice.[58] Such a proceeding is not a lawsuit between parties litigant,[59] but is rather in the nature of an inquest or inquiry as to the conduct of the respondent.[60]

Although the word punishment is frequently used[61] and it cannot be questioned that disbarment is punishment,[62] it is almost universally held that the proceeding is not for the purpose of punishment of the attorney,[63] but to determine the fitness of an

N D—In re Eaton, 235 N.W. 537, 60 N.D. 530.
6 C J p 602 note 11.

51. Ark—Maloney v State, 32 S.W. (2d) 423, 182 Ark. 510
Idaho—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676
Ky—Lenihan v Commonwealth, 176 S W. 948, 165 Ky. 93, L R A 1917B 1132
La—In re Kenner, 152 So. 530, 178 La. 774—State v. Flynn, 107 So 314, 160 La 483.
Mich—Attorney General v. Lane, 243 N W. 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct. 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565
N J—In re Breidt, 94 A. 214, 84 N J Eq. 232.
Okl—In re Connell, 192 P. 564, 79 Okl 212—State Bar Comm v Sullivan, 131 P 703, 35 Okl. 745, L R. A 1915D 1218
S D—In re Morrison, 178 N.W 732, 43 S D 185—State v. Kirby, 154 N. W 284, 36 S D. 188.
Tex—Houtchens v State, (Com App) 63 S.W (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App) 47 S W (2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App) 74 S W. (2d) 976—Houtchens v. Mercer, (Com App) 29 S W (2d) 1031, 69 A L R. 1103
Va.—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S E 282, 161 Va. 833.
Wash—State v. Rossman, 101 P 357, 53 Wash 1, 21 L R A (N S.) 821, 17 Ann Cas. 625.
W.Va.—Hall v. Eary, 170 S.E. 904, 114 W Va. 82
6 C J. p 602 note 15.

"This distinction must be borne in mind: The law punishes one for what he does, not for what he is, while an attorney is disbarred because of what he is as proven, as of course it only could be proven, by what he has done It is this that fundamentally differentiates a disbarment proceeding from a criminal prosecution, and proves the correctness of the holding that a disbarment proceeding is purely civil in its nature."—In re Egan, 154 N. W. 521, 36 S D. 228.

As respects procedural matters

As respects pleading, jurisdiction, supersedeas, and other procedural matters, a disbarment suit is a "civil suit"—Burns v State, (Tex.Civ. App) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted

Criminal procedure rules not applicable

A disciplinary proceeding is not governed by the procedural rules appertaining to the trial of one accused of a criminal offense—Johnson v State Bar of California, (Cal) 52 P (2d) 928—In re Needham, 4 N. E (2d) 19, 364 Ill. 65.

52. Ala—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So. 239, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So 257, 228 Ala. 21—McCord v. State, 126 So 873, 220 Ala. 466.
La—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079.
Miss—Ex parte Redmond, 125 So 833, 156 Miss. 439
Mo.—In re Sparrow, 90 S W (2d) 401—In re Richards, 63 S W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo 907.
Nev—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v Scoular, 190 P. 899, 44 Nev 208.
Ohio—Schwartz v. State, 18 Ohio App 373.
Or.—State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 358, 93 Or 407.
6 C J. p 602 note 12.

53. Cal—In re Winne, 280 P 113, 208 Cal 35—In re Morganstern, 215 P 721.
N M—In re Zinn, 34 P (2d) 1097, 38 N M. 449.
N Y—In re Mathot, 117 N E 948, 222 N Y 8, granting dismissal of appeal 166 N.Y S. 217, 178 App Div 759
Ohio—Schwartz v. State, 18 Ohio App. 373
6 C J p 602 note 13.

54. Cal—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal.(2d) 75—In re Vaughan, 209 P. 353, 189 Cal 491, 24 A L R 858
Nev—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v. Scoular, 190 P. 899, 44 Nev 208.

55. Ala—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So. 239, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So 246, 228 Ala 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So. 257, 228 Ala 21
Mo—In re Sparrow, 90 S W.(2d) 401—In re Richards, 63 S W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo 907—In re Noell, (App) 96 S.W (2d) 212—In re H——— S———, (App.) 69 S.W. (2d) 325.
Or—State ex rel Seton v. Arnold, 28 P.(2d) 346, 145 Or. 634.

56. In re Popper, 184 N Y S. 406, 193 App Div. 505, 39 N.Y.Cr. 5.

57. Ala.—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.
Iowa—State v Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157.
La.—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079
6 C.J. p 602 note 13.

58. Gibson v. Lee, (Ga.App) 181 S. E. 192

59. Idaho—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676.
W Va—State v. Smith, 99 S E. 332, 84 W Va. 59.
6 C J p 602 note 12 [a].

Not adversary proceeding

A proceeding to vacate an order of admission to the bar is not adversary in the sense that the attorneys filing the information are adverse parties without standing as plaintiffs because not parties to the ex parte proceeding for admission—In re McDonald, 164 N E 261, 200 Ind 424.

60. Idaho—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676
Mo—In re Richards, 63 S W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo. 907.
N M—In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N M 449.
W.Va—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W Va. 59

61. Cal—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal. (2d) 75
N J—In re Breidt, 94 A. 214, 218, 84 N.J Eq 222
"And yet, after all, I know of no better term in which to characterize the plight of a disciplined solicitor, one disbarred or suspended, than as 'punishment.' That is the term used by our Supreme Court . . . and it amounts to punishment by whatever name called."—In re Breidt, supra.

62. Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S W 948, 165 Ky. 93, L.R.A.1917B 1132.

63. U.S—Ex p. Wall, (Fla.) 2 S Ct. 569, 107 U.S. 265, 27 L Ed. 552—Duke v. Committee on Grievances of the Supreme Court of the Dis-officer of the court to continue in that capacity[64] and to preserve and protect the courts of justice and the public from the official ministration of persons unfit to practice.[65]

In some jurisdictions there are two methods by which an attorney may be disbarred: (1) By the exercise of the inherent power of the courts in the orderly administration of public justice; (2)

trict of Columbia, (App D C) 82 F (2d) 890, certiorari denied 56 S Ct 751—Hertz v. U. S, (C C A Minn) 18 F (2d) 52
Ark—Maloney v. State, 32 S W.(2d) 423, 182 Ark. 510
Cal—Hill v. State Bar of California, 42 P (2d) 629, 2 Cal (2d) 622—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 39 P.(2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75—McIntosh v. State Bar of California, 294 P. 1067, 211 Cal 261—In re Vaughan, 209 P 353, 189 Cal 491, 24 A L R. 858—In re Cate, 212 P. 694, 60 Cal App 279—In re Shepard, 170 P. 442, 35 Cal App 492
Colo—People v. Irwin, 152 P. 905, 60 Colo. 177
Conn—In re Kone, 97 A. 807, 90 Conn 440.
Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P (2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190—In re Kerl, 188 P. 40, 32 Idaho 737, 8 A L R. 1259—In re Wourms, 170 P. 919, 31 Idaho 291.
Ill—In re Borchardt, 192 N E 383, 357 Ill. 458
Kan—In re Gorsuch, 214 P. 794, 113 Kan. 380.
Ky.—Commonwealth v. Porter, 46 S W (2d) 1096, 242 Ky. 561—Chreste v Commonwealth, 198 S W 929, 178 Ky 311.
La—In re Mundy, 158 So 563, 180 La 1079—State v. Gowland, 140 So 500, 174 La 351
Mo.—In re Sparrow, 90 S W (2d) 401—In re Richards, 63 S W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907—In re H——— S———, (App) 69 S W (2d) 325
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v Goldman, 255 N W 32, 127 Neb 340—State ex rel Sorensen v Ireland, 251 N W. 119, 125 Neb 570—State v. Priest, 242 N W. 433, 123 Neb. 241.
N J—In re Breidt, 94 A. 214, 84 N. J Eq 222
N Y—In re Rouss, 116 N E. 782, 221 N Y 81, affirming 155 N Y S 557, 169 App Div. 629, reargument denied and amendment of remittitur granted 117 N E 1083, 221 N Y 667—In re Mahan, 262 N Y S 702, 237 App Div 664—In re Heitrick, 197 N Y S 6, 203 App Div 512—In re Ropiecki, 232 N Y S 947
Ohio—Schwartz v. State, 18 Ohio App 373
Okl—In re Lane, 54 P.(2d) 339—In re Green, 49 P (2d) 197—In re Bond, 31 P.(2d) 921, 168 Okl 161—State v Ledbetter, 260 P. 454, 127 Okl 85
Or—State ex rel. Seton v. Arnold, 28 P (2d) 846, 145 Or. 634
Pa—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 312 Pa 555—In re Oliensis, 26 Pa Dist. 853.
S C—State v Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C 263
S D—In re Brown, 264 N W 521—In re Byrne, 262 N W. 236—In re Hosford, 252 N W 843, 62 S D. 374—In re Egan, 218 N W. 1, 52 S D 394—In re Nelson, 214 N W. 803, 51 S D 451—In re Egan, 154 N W 521, 36 S D 228
Tex—Burns v. State, (Civ App) 76 S.W (2d) 172, error granted.
Va—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v Drewry, 172 S E 282, 161 Va 333
Wis—State v Kern, 233 N W 629, 203 Wis 178—State v. Barto, 232 N W 553, 202 Wis 329
6 C.J p 581 note 59

Although penalty for repeated offense may be much greater than would have been imposed were it first offense, such increased penalty is not meting out of further punishment for prior acts, but is adjudication of attorney's fitness to continue in practice—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75

64. Cal—Hill v. State Bar of California, 42 P (2d) 629, 2 Cal (2d) 622—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75—In re Vaughan, 209 P 353, 189 Cal 491, 24 A L R 858
Fla—Branch v. State, 163 So. 48
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v Ireland, 251 N W. 119, 125 Neb. 570
N Y—In re Ropiecki, 232 N Y S 947.
S D—In re Byrne, 262 N W 236

65. U S—Ex p Wall, (Fla) 2 S Ct 569, 107 U S 265, 27 L Ed 552—Duke v Committee on Grievances of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, (App D.C) 82 F.(2d) 890, certiorari denied 56 S Ct. 751—Hertz v. U. S, (C C A Minn) 18 F (2d) 52
Ark—Maloney v. State, 32 S W.(2d) 423, 182 Ark 510
Cal—McIntosh v. State Bar of California, 294 P. 1067, 211 Cal 261—In re Vaughan, 209 P 353, 189 Cal. 491, 24 A L R 858—In re Cate, 212 P. 694, 60 Cal App 279—In re Shepard, 170 P 442, 35 Cal App 492.
Colo—People v. Irwin, 152 P. 905, 60 Colo 177.
Conn—In re Kone, 97 A. 807, 90 Conn 440.
Fla—Gould v. State, 127 So 309, 99 Fla 662, 69 A L R 699.
Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190—In re Kerl, 188 P. 40, 32 Idaho 737, 8 A.L R 1259—In re Wourms, 170 P 919, 31 Idaho 291.
Ill—In re Borchardt, 192 N.E 383, 357 Ill 458—People v. Meyerovitz, 116 N E 189, 273 Ill 356
Kan—In re Gorsuch, 214 P. 794, 113 Kan 380.
Ky—Commonwealth v. Porter, 46 S W (2d) 1096, 242 Ky 561—Chreste v Commonwealth, 198 S W 929, 178 Ky 311
La—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079—In re Craven, 151 So 625, 178 La 372, 90 A L R 973—State v. Gowland, 140 So. 500, 174 La 351.
Mass—In re Keenan, 192 N E 65, 287 Mass 577, 96 A L R 679.
Mich—Attorney General v. Lane, 243 N W 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S.Ct. 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565
Mo—In re Sparrow, 90 S W (2d) 401—In re Richards, 63 S W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907—In re H——— S———, (App) 69 S W (2d) 325
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v. Goldman, 255 N W. 32, 127 Neb 340—State v. Priest, 242 N W. 433, 123 Neb 241.
N J—In re Breidt, 94 A. 214, 84 N J Eq 222
N Y—In re Heitrick, 197 N Y S 6, 203 App Div 512—In re Popper, 184 N Y S 406, 193 App Div. 505, 39 N Y Cr 5
Ohio—Schwartz v. State, 18 Ohio App 373
Okl—In re Green, 49 P (2d) 197—In re Bond, 31 P (2d) 921, 168 Okl. 161—State v. Ledbetter, 260 P. 454, 127 Okl 85
Or—State ex rel Seton v Arnold, 28 P (2d) 846, 145 Or 634
Pa—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A 579, 312 Pa 555—In re Oliensis, 26 Pa Dist 853
S C—State v. Jennings, 159 S.E 627, 161 S C 263
S D—In re Brown, 264 N.W 521—In re Hosford, 252 N W. 843, 62 S D 374—In re Egan, 218 N W. 1, 52 S D 394—In re Nelson, 214 N. W. 803, 51 S D 451
Tenn—State v. Davis, 23 S W. 59, 92 Tenn. 634
Tex—Burns v State, (Civ App) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted—Houtchens v Mercer, (Civ App) 80 S W (2d) 545.
Va—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S E. 282, 161 Va 333
Wis—State v. Barto, 232 N W. 553, 202 Wis 329
6 C J p 581 note 60.

No private interest

Disbarment proceeding is undertaken and carried forward solely for the public welfare, and involves no private interest except that of the

by the statutory method,[66] and where special statutes regulating the proceedings have been enacted, they should be observed as far as the steps to be taken have been prescribed.[67] However, while it has been held that the proceedings are governed exclusively by statutes specifically covering them,[68] it has also been held that the proceeding need not follow any particular form, statutory or otherwise,[69] and that it is immaterial whether rules of procedure adopted by the state bar were followed,[70] so long as respondent had notice and an opportunity to be heard. Where no form of procedure is prescribed, the court may adopt a method of procedure[71] and the form is not controlling so long as the essentials of fair notice and opportunity to be heard are present,[72] but such method adopted does not restrict the general power of the courts, and the courts may disregard such rules and adopt the methods most suitable to the occasion,[73] although it has been stated that as far as applicable the proceeding should be conducted in general harmony with the practice of the courts in civil matters.[74] However, an attorney cannot be disbarred for conduct subsequent to his admission in a proceeding by a committee on character and fitness to cancel their certificate of general fitness and strike his name from the roll,[75] and the summary method of procedure for disbarment of an attorney convicted of a crime has been held not applicable to a case where an attorney was removed from public office, the procedure being limited to prosecutions for a criminal offense in which the judgment finally determines for all purposes the question of guilt or innocence of the particular crime.[76] A newly created method of procedure may be employed in an inquiry into acts of alleged misconduct which occurred prior to the creation of such new procedure,[77] and disbarment proceedings, when properly instituted, are not invalid.[78]

Before bar committees, boards, and the like.

attorney—In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R. 679

66. Ky.—Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W. 555, 208 Ky. 452.
N.C.—Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v. Strickland, 158 S.E. 110, 200 N.C. 630

67. Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v. Strickland, supra—6 C.J. p. 608 note 97

68. Cal.—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 39 P.(2d) 403, 2 Cal.(2d) 75—In re Vaughan, 209 P. 353, 189 Cal. 491, 24 A.L.R. 858
Fla.—Petition of Jacksonville Bar Ass'n, 169 So. 674.

Matters occurring prior to statute

Disbarment cannot be had in a proceeding instituted by a state bar under the statutory method where all matters complained of took place prior to the enactment of such statute authorizing such procedure, and which repealed all prior subsisting statutes on the subject.—In re Parker, 184 S.E. 532, 209 N.C. 693

69. Ariz.—In re Myrland, 45 P.(2d) 953—In re Bailey, 248 P. 29, 30 Ariz. 407
Mass.—In re Mayberry, 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976

Disbarment proceedings held to conform to statute.—In re Manatt, 264 P. 473, 33 Ariz. 299

70. In re Myrland, (Ariz.) 45 P.(2d) 953

Formal and definite rules

"While it is an excellent practice to have formal and definite rules covering procedure before the State Bar in matters of this kind, the only requirement going to the jurisdiction of this court is that the respondent has ample opportunity to present his side of the matter."—In re Myrland, (Ariz.) 45 P.(2d) 953, 954.

71. Cal.—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal.App. 702
Miss.—Ex parte Cashin, 90 So. 850, 128 Miss. 224
Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.
6 C.J. p. 609 note 98

Power of supreme court to prescribe rules of conduct for disciplining of attorneys includes power by general rules to set up, or provide for setting up, judicial agencies in the nature of special judicial commissions for the purpose of vesting in them the right to take such proceedings as may be necessary to inquire into the charges of alleged professional misconduct on the part of attorneys.—Petition of Jacksonville Bar Ass'n, (Fla.) 169 So. 674

Retroactive operation

(1) The rule that rules of court must be held to operate prospectively only does not apply to a disbarment proceeding.—In re Noell, (Mo. App.) 96 S.W.(2d) 213.

(2) A disbarment proceeding does not test a right of property, as regards the retroactive operation of court rules.—In re Noell, supra.

Statutory procedure not provided

A disbarment for the violation of Code Civ. Proc. § 287 subd. 5, is not precluded, because at the time of such misconduct the procedure in cases of violation of that act had not been provided for, since under § 187 suitable process or mode of proceeding might be adopted, and particularly where the acts committed were also a violation of § 287 subd. 2, which imposes no limitation on the power of the court to entertain a motion for removal or suspension.—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal.App. 702.

72. Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81
Va.—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S.E. 282, 161 Va. 833
6 C.J. p. 608 note 19.

Proceeding to review unauthorized judgment of bar commission as proceeding to disbar

Proceeding to review state bar commission's unauthorized disbarment of attorney for conviction of crime will be treated as a disbarment proceeding on the certificate of conviction.—In re Dampier, 267 P. 452, 46 Idaho 195

Proceeding by client to compel payment of funds

Under a statute making it the court's duty to disbar an attorney retaining a client's money after demand, it has been held that the court may enter an order of disbarment in a proceeding by the client to compel the attorney to pay over the money.—Dixon v. Minogue, 124 A. 334, 280 Pa. 128
Disbarment proceeding as form of summary proceeding by client to compel payment over of money see infra § 159

73. In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

74. State v. Flynn, 107 So. 314, 160 La. 483—6 C.J. p. 609 note 99.

75. In re Ransom, 192 N.E. 912, 353 Ill. 227.

76. In re Reid, 187 P. 7, 182 Cal. 88

77. In re Barclay, 24 P.(2d) 302, 82 Utah 283

78. U.S.—Ex p. Wall, (Fla.) 2 S.Ct. 569, 107 U.S. 265, 27 L.Ed. 552—McVicar v. State Board of Law Examiners, (D.C.Wash.) 6 F.(2d) 33.

Proceedings under a rule of court, either before the court or before bar commissioners, are of like force and effect, and either proceeding is proper,[79] and, while it has been said that in disbarment proceedings before a board of governance the proceedings before the hearing masters should conform as nearly as may be to equity practice, there is no absolute requirement that they shall be conducted as in equity.[80] A bar committee's investigations and hearings had in order to determine their subsequent course in the matter are summary in character, and not adversary in any proper sense.[81] The board of governors of a state bar, in performance of their statutory powers relating to disbarment, acts merely as an intermediary agency for the taking of testimony and reporting thereon to the court,[82] and the disciplinary investigation is ancillary to the judicial review by the court of the decisions of the board,[83] but nevertheless an inquiry by a committee of a bar association instituted on advice by supreme court and upon subpœnas regularly issued under a court order is a court inquiry.[84]

§ 29. —— Conditions Precedent

A preliminary examination of the charges by a district attorney or bar association may be a condition precedent to disbarment proceedings in some jurisdictions, but it is not necessary that there be a prior civil action looking to the redressing of the injured person's wrongs.

In some jurisdictions, proceedings will not be entertained against attorneys for misconduct unless a preliminary examination of the charges has been had by a district attorney or by the appropriate committee of the bar association,[85] and a state bar act has been held to contemplate an investigation and a finding or conclusion as to whether or not it is advisable to institute proceedings against a member and cause a hearing to be held.[86]

A prior civil action, looking to the redressing of the injured person's wrongs, is not a condition precedent to the maintenance of a disbarment proceeding.[87]

Necessity for prior conviction by a court of criminal jurisdiction where the acts constituting the ground for disbarment amount to a crime see § 21 supra.

§ 30. —— Persons Entitled to Prosecute

The right to institute and prosecute the proceeding is not confined to clients, but the court may proceed of its own motion. Also, a bar association or attorneys may prosecute such proceedings.

The right to institute a disbarment proceeding is not confined to clients,[88] nor is it necessary that the person complaining should have a financial interest in the matter, or an interest of such nature as characterizes one as a party in interest in ordinary litigation.[89] It is not necessary that proceedings against attorneys for malpractice or unprofessional conduct should be founded on formal allegations against them,[90] as the court, learning of professional misconduct of attorneys, may institute disbarment proceedings, of its own motion, without waiting for a specific complaint,[91] and may direct some attorney to draw up the accusation and

Mass.—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.
As not a denial of equal protection of the law, see Constitutional Law § 562 [12 C.J. p. 1184 note 63 (d)].
Summary proceeding as constituting due process of law, see Constitutional Law § 612 [12 C.J. p. 1224 note 25].

79. In re Casey, 195 N.E. 39, 359 Ill. 496.

80. Klensin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A. 474, 312 Pa. 564.

81. In re Sparrow, (Mo.) 90 S.W. (2d) 401.

82. Cal.—Johnson v. State Bar of California, 52 P.(2d) 928.
Idaho.—In re Edwards, 266 P. 665, 45 Idaho 676.
Nev.—In re Scott, 293 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113.
Arm of supreme court.
The board of bar commissioners is, in effect, the arm of the supreme court, commissioned to find facts, declare opinion, and recommend course of action, but may do nothing final.—In re Edwards, 294 P. 847, 50 Idaho 238.
Committee on discipline is no more a judicial body than the board of bar commissioners.—In re Edwards, 294 P. 847, 50 Idaho 238.

83. In re Richardson, 288 P. 669, 209 Cal. 492.

84. In re Investigation by Bar Ass'n of Hudson County, 160 A. 809, 109 N.J.Law 275.

85. In re Tuck, 167 N.Y.S. 534, 180 App.Div. 924.
Evidence held insufficient to prevent dismissal of application for disbarment.—In re Babcock, 210 N.W. 196, 50 S.D. 413.

86. In re Herron, 298 P. 474, 212 Cal. 196.

87. Idaho.—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190.
Wash.—State v. Snook, 139 P. 764, 78 Wash. 671.

88. State v. Hunter, 276 S.W. 639, 152 Tenn. 233.—6 C.J. p. 604 note 28.

89. State v. Hunter, supra.—6 C.J. p. 604 note 29.

90. In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.—6 C.J. p. 603 note 21.
Information developed in progress of cause.
Such proceedings are often instituted on information developed in the progress of a cause or from what the court learns of the conduct of the attorney from its own observation.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.—6 C.J. p. 603 note 23.

91. Ky.—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S.W. 948, 165 Ky. 93, L.R.A. 1917B 1132.
N.Y.—People ex rel. Karlin v. Culkin, 162 N.E. 487, 248 N.Y. 465, 60 A.L.R. 851, affirming 228 N.Y.S. 873, 223 App.Div. 822.—In re Wendel's Estate, 267 N.Y.S. 33, 148 Misc. 884.
Ohio.—Preusser v. Faulhaber, 15 Ohio Cir.Ct.(N.S.) 110.
Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.—Snyder's Case, 152 A. 33, 301 Pa. 276, 76 A.

prosecute the case.[92] The proceedings are frequently instituted and prosecuted by bar associations.[93] The proceedings are often instituted and conducted by the prosecuting officer of the state,[94] attorneys,[95] and sometimes by third parties on affidavit.[96]

Waiver of irregularity. Although, by statute, a prosecution against an attorney for misconduct may be instituted by information or motion of two or more practicing attorneys, accused by appearing and answering to a motion of one attorney waives objection to the form of proceeding that it was commenced by only one.[97]

§ 31. —— Charges

a. In general
b. Verification and signature
c. Amendment

L R 666—Magginnis' Case, 112 A 555, 269 Pa 186.
S D—In re Hosford, 252 N W 843, 62 S D 374
Wis—Rubin v State, 216 N W. 513, 194 Wis. 207
6 C J p 603 note 24.

92. Ind—In re Saric, 149 N E 434, 197 Ind 1.
Iowa—In re Cloud, 250 N.W. 160, 217 Iowa 3
6 C.J. p 604 notes 26, 33.

"Order of court"
District judges' preliminary order, appointing an attorney to investigate the conduct of, and file accusations against, another attorney, became an "order of court," contemplated by the disbarment statute, when filed by the presiding judge in the office of the clerk in the proper county during court session, although prepared and signed by judges outside such county.—In re Cloud, 250 N W. 160, 217 Iowa 3.

Presumption as to termination of authority
Under Burns St Annot (1914) § 1011 (Rev St [1881] § 976), providing for appointment by the court of attorneys to prosecute proceedings to remove an attorney, there is no presumption that their authority ended, in the absence of a showing of removal, resignation, or death, until judgment of the court is made effectual by being properly recorded.—In re Saric, 149 N E 434, 197 Ind 1

Substitution of attorneys
Under Code § 325 et seq, the court may appoint attorneys other than those appointed to draw up accusations to prosecute charges—State v. Kimball, (Iowa) 158 N W 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836.

93. Cal—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P.(2d) 325, 213 Cal. 237.
Ind—In re McNames, 200 N E 703.
La—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079
Nev—State Bar v. Riccardi, 294 P. 537, 53 Nev 128.
6 C J. p 604 note 30.
But it has been stated that bar associations as such cannot be complainants in disbarment proceedings—In re Sizer, 267 S W. 922, 306 Mo 356.

"Aggrieved" applicable to bar association
Under Acts (1919) c 42 § 3, providing that proceedings for disbarment may be instituted by the court on its own motion or by a bar association or committee, or an individual aggrieved by the conduct of an attorney, the requirement that the petition shall be presented by petitioners "aggrieved" applies alike to a bar association, a committee, or an individual—State v. Hunter, 276 S. W. 639, 152 Tenn 233

Fact that a bar association is incorporated does not place it outside the terms of Code Civ Proc. § 291, as amended by St (1921) p 100 § 3, providing that the accusation in disbarment proceeding may be presented by a legally organized bar association—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal App 702

Member of bar appointed by association
An order authorizing the board of managers and the committee on grievances of the Chicago Bar Association, acting as commissioners of the supreme court, to investigate complaints against members of the bar, did not require that the original complainant follow the proceeding into the supreme court, but permitted a member of the bar designated by the board of managers to present the matter to the supreme court—In re Malmin, 4 N.E (2d) 111, 364 Ill. 164

More than one attorney
Under a statute providing that a proceeding for the disbarment of an attorney may be instituted by the complaint of a judge of any court, a practicing attorney, etc, it has been held that the complaint may be made by several attorneys acting as the duly appointed committee or commission of the bar association, and that an objection thereto on the ground that it was not permissible and was an act prejudicial to accused in the trial before the jury is without merit—Houtchens v. State, (Tex Civ.App) 47 S W.(2d) 679, reversed on other grounds (Com App) 63 S W (2d) 1011, motion granted 74 S W.(2d) 976.

Substitution of board of governors of state bar for supreme court committee
Where the supreme court committee on professional ethics and grievances instituted a disbarment proceeding and subsequently the supreme court substituted a board of governors of the state bar to carry out the same duties previously intrusted to the committee, the board of governors had the right to proceed with further prosecution of the suit for disbarment—In re Mundy, 161 So 184, 182 La. 148

94. People v. Harris, 112 N E 978, 273 Ill. 413—6 C J p 604 note 32.

Solicitor for judicial district
(1) May institute proceedings when authorized by statute—State v. Riddle, 105 So. 259, 213 Ala. 480.

(2) May not do so when not so authorized—Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v Strickland, 158 S E 110, 200 N C. 630.

State's attorney other than one where respondent resides
Under Sup Ct.Rules, rule 40 (85 N. E xii), the fact that a state's attorney, other than the state's attorney where respondent in disbarment proceedings resided, was a relator, the petition being verified by two other relators, both aggrieved parties, has been held immaterial—People v. Harris, 112 N E. 978, 273 Ill. 413.

95. Colo—People v. Class, 201 P. 883, 70 Colo 381.
Ohio—In re Meck, 200 N E. 478, 51 Ohio App 237.
6 C J. p 604 note 31.

Personal aggrievance unnecessary
In a petition for disbarment, made by an individual member of the bar, a claim that the petitioner must have been personally aggrieved in the sense of suffering injury to person or property by the conduct of defendant is too narrow a construction of Acts (1919) c 42 § 3, since every member of the bar is "aggrieved" by professional misconduct of any other member—State v. Hunter, 276 S W. 639, 152 Tenn. 233.

96. Neb.—State v. Fisher, 174 N W. 320, 103 Neb 736
Tenn—State v Hunter, 276 S W. 639, 152 Tenn 233
6 C J. p 603 note 25.

97. Jackson v. State, 21 Tex. 668.

a. In General

While no accusation may be necessary where the ground for disbarment is conviction of crime, ordinarily the court may not suspend an attorney without some charge being made and filed against him. Technical pleading is not essential, but the charge must be sufficiently specific so as to inform accused of the nature of his alleged misconduct.

While, under some statutes, where the ground for disbarment is conviction of crime, no accusation in writing is necessary,[98] this is not true in all jurisdictions,[99] and, ordinarily, the court may not suspend an attorney, other than for contempt, without some charge being made and filed against him [1]

Although it has been held that the petition for disbarment is governed by the rules of practice at common law so far as applicable,[2] it has also been held that disbarment proceedings, being special proceedings, as shown supra § 28, are not controlled by the rules or principles of criminal or common-law pleading,[3] or by statutory provisions in regard to complaints in civil actions or indictments in criminal proceedings,[4] the usual practice being for the court to issue a rule or order on the attorney, reciting the substance of the information or charges against him and requiring him to show cause why he should not be suspended or disbarred.[5] However, while formal and technical pleading is not essential to this proceeding,[6] it is important that the charges against an attorney shall be so specific as fairly to inform him of the nature of the misconduct of which he is accused.[7] It is

98. Cal.—Barnes v. District Court of Appeal, Second Appellate Dist., 173 P. 1100, 178 Cal. 500.
Mont.—In re Peters, 235 P. 772, 73 Mont. 284.

99. State v. Prendergast, 164 P. 1173, 84 Or. 307.

Complaint held demurrable

A complaint in disbarment proceedings under Lord L. § 1092 subd. 1, was held demurrable where it charged merely that accused was convicted in the federal court of using the mails to defraud in violation of U.S. Pen.Code § 215.—State v. Prendergast, 164 P. 1173, 84 Or. 307.

1. Cal.—In re Reid, 187 P. 7, 183 Cal. 88.
Utah.—Foster v. Burton, 232 P. 917, 64 Utah 550.—Higgins v. Burton, 232 P. 914, 64 Utah 562.

Charges not bearing title of original action

In a proceeding against an attorney for misconduct in misquoting the record in his brief, so far as in disbarment, separate charges, not bearing the title of the original action, should have been filed, and a failure so to file requires a dismissal without prejudice.—Dolley v. Ragon, 228 P. 664, 67 Cal.App. 731.

2. Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Casey, 116 N.E. 541, 227 Mass. 46.

3. Ill.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary District of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206.
La.—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079.
N.M.—In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N.M. 449.
6 C.J. p. 605 note 47 [a].

Information or indictment unnecessary

(1) Since disciplinary proceedings are not intended for punishment (supra § 28), they do not fall within that class of cases that require the charges to be preferred by information or indictment.—State v. McRae, 38 So. 605, 49 Fla. 389, 6 Ann.Cas. 980.—Hess v. Conway, 144 P. 205, 93 Kan. 246.

(2) Proceedings instituted against certain attorneys by a board of managers and a committee on grievances of the Chicago Bar Association acting as commissioners of the supreme court, pursuant to an order authorizing them to investigate complaints against members of the bar, were held sufficient to confer jurisdiction upon the supreme court of the disbarment proceeding against such attorneys, notwithstanding the proceeding was not instituted by the filing of an information.—In re Malmin, 4 N.E.(2d) 111, 364 Ill. 164.

4. Or.—State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or. 407.
Wash.—In re Sherrill, 198 P. 725, 116 Wash. 143.

5. Cal.—Irving v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 2, 213 Cal. 31.
Mass.—In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R. 679.
6 C.J. p. 603 note 22.

Passing on sufficiency of charge

Sufficiency of a charge against an attorney sought to be disbarred is passed on when an application is made for leave to file the information to disbar.—People v. Jackson, 153 N.E. 621, 322 Ill. 618.

6. Ala.—In re Fite, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 4.—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So. 229, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So. 257, 228 Ala. 21.—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.
La.—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079.
Mass.—In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 94 A.L.R. 679.
Ohio.—In re Bickley, 4 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 129.
Or.—State v. Woerndle, 209 P. 604, 109 Or. 461.—State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or. 407.
W.Va.—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59.

Court will look to substance

In a disbarment proceeding, the court on demurrer will look to the substance of the charge rather than to the technical accuracy with which it is presented.—State v. Woerndle, 209 P. 604, 109 Or. 461.—State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or. 407.

Proceeding to vacate order of admission

In a proceeding to set aside and vacate the order of admission, where fraud is claimed in the application for admission to practice, the form of the pleadings is not material, and any relevant facts may be inquired into.—In re Wells, 163 P. 657, 174 Cal. 467.

Professional capacity

An information for the disbarment of an attorney under the statutes in some jurisdictions must allege that respondent is an attorney.—State v. Quarles, 48 So. 499, 153 Ala. 54.

7. Ala.—In re Fite, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 4.
Cal.—In re Lincoln, 233 P. 965, 102 Cal.App. 733.
Fla.—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699.—Hogan v. State, 104 So. 598, 89 Fla. 388.
Idaho.—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676.
Ill.—People v. Briggs, 161 N.E. 736, 330 Ill. 339, certiorari denied Schmuts v. People of State of Illinois ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n, 49 S.Ct. 27, 278 U.S. 625, 73 L.Ed. 545.
La.—In re Mundy, 158 So. 563, 180 La. 1079.
Mass.—In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R. 679.
N.D.—In re Eaton, 235 N.W. 587, 60 N.D. 580.
Or.—State v. Hall, 190 P. 304.
S.D.—In re Gibbs, 214 N.W. 850, 51 S.D. 464.
W.Va.—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59.
6 C.J. p. 605 note 48.

Complaints held sufficient

Ala.—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So.

not necessary for the complaint to set out facts tending to establish the course, regularity, and results of proceedings leading up to the authorization and participation of the bar association, as a presumption of regularity attaches,[8] and the fact that an affidavit contains a statement that affiants had investigated the conduct of respondent does not invalidate the complaint to which it is attached, but such surplus matter should be stricken therefrom.[9]

It has been held not material that the charges and specifications are not proved exactly as alleged,[10] but an attorney is not called on to defend against matters not contained in the charge,[11] and, ordinarily, trial can be had only on the charges contained in the information or rule, and other charges in the affidavits filed with it, or brought out by the evidence, will not be considered[12] unless such affidavits are made a part thereof.[13] However, while it has been held that proof of acts not charged will not justify disbarment,[14] where the matter was fully covered by testimony and the attorney had every opportunity to and did present his evidence, he cannot complain.[15] Also, an attorney cannot complain of a variance between the pleadings.

229, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So. 257, 228 Ala. 21—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.

Cal.—In re Masuran, 263 P. 339, 88 Cal.App. 272—People v. California Protective Corporation, 214 P. 1089, 76 Cal.App. 354.

Idaho.—In re Edwards, 294 P. 847, 50 Idaho 238.

La.—In re Mundy, 153 So. 563, 180 La. 1079—In re Kenner, 152 So. 520, 178 La. 774.

Mass.—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.

Complaint held insufficient

A charge in a rule that an attorney solicited employment, without showing that it was by dishonorable or disreputable means, is not sufficient.—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59.

General charge considered with specific charges

While a general charge that respondent's reputation for truth and veracity and fair dealing is bad as not being specific, yet it may be considered with the specific charges filed.—People v. Martin, 124 N.E. 340, 288 Ill. 615.

Petition alleging disbarment elsewhere

(1) Petition to disbar an attorney, alleging merely the facts on which a foreign judgment of disbarment was based, without independently charging the existence of those facts, did not state the cause of action.—State v. Flynn, 107 So. 314, 160 La. 483.

(2) Petition alleging that an attorney had been disbarred in United States district court for professional misconduct amounting to moral wrong, a copy of the findings by the judge in the federal court being annexed, is sufficient.—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.

Portion of complaint held too vague.—In re Gibbs, 214 N.W. 850, 51 S.D. 464.

Statement in one or more paragraphs

If the facts of the charged misconduct are clearly brought to accused's attention, the form in which they are stated, as whether they are stated in one or two paragraphs, is not of great importance.—In re Smith, 85 P. 584, 73 Kan. 743.

8. State Bar v. Riccardi, 294 P. 537, 53 Nev. 128.

9. Houtchens v. State, (Tex.Com.App.) 63 S.W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ.App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com.App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 976.

10. In re Barclay, 24 P.(2d) 302, 82 Utah 288.—6 C.J. p. 605 note 50.

Evidence admissible

Under a disbarment petition, alleging fraudulent withholding by attorney of moneys collected for client, but not enumerating items, evidence of items was admissible.—State Board of Law Examiners v. Brown, 290 P. 1013, 42 Wyo. 108.

Immaterial variance

In a disbarment proceeding, a variance between the charge that accused had appropriated corporation manager's money and proof that the money belonged to the corporation was immaterial.—In re Barclay, 24 P.(2d) 302, 82 Utah 288.

11. In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676.

12. Cal.—Townsend v. State Bar of California, 291 P. 837, 210 Cal. 362.—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Sullivan, 198 P. 7, 185 Cal. 621.

Idaho.—In re Edwards, 266 P. 665, 45 Idaho 676.

Ill.—People v. McCaskrin, 156 N.E. 328, 325 Ill. 149.

Mass.—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N.E. 269, 251 Mass. 6.

Mont.—In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont. 537.

N.D.—In re Elton, 235 N.W. 587, 60 N.D. 580.

Pa.—Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa. 186.

W.Va.—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59.

6 C.J. p. 605 note 52.

Charges not set forth in affidavit, but included in accusation by solicitor

In disbarment proceedings against an attorney, including in the written accusation drawn up by the solicitor charges not set forth in the affidavit accompanying the accusation was error.—Committee on Grievances of State Bar Ass'n v. Strickland, 158 S.E. 110, 200 N.C. 630.

Answer alleging general good behavior

In view of the fact that the rule in disbarment proceedings does not require respondent to answer, an allegation in an answer filed by him of general good behavior does not authorize consideration of charges against respondent not included in the formal charges presented.—Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa. 186.

Petition broad enough to cover findings

Under the petition the referee was not limited to a finding on the charge of conspiracy to defraud an insurance company which involved but one phase of the attorney's conduct.—In re Durst, 239 N.Y.S. 316, 228 App.Div. 256.

Guilt of crime not in issue

In a disbarment proceeding, the attorney's guilt or innocence of a crime, for which he has been convicted, is not in issue.—In re Kerl, 188 P. 40, 32 Idaho 737, 8 A.L.R. 1259.

13. State v. Shumate, 87 S.E. 613, 48 W.Va. 359.

14. In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676.—6 C.J. p. 605 note 51.

15. Idaho.—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190.

Ill.—In re Mack, 196 N.E. 197, 360 Ill. 343.

N.Y.—In re Kohler, 270 N.Y.S. 634, 240 App.Div. 501.—In re Horovitz, 240 N.Y.S. 343, 228 App.Div. 484.

Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

Obviating amendment

The admission of testimony as to acts not charged has been held to obviate the necessity for a motion to amend the petition.—In re Horovitz, 240 N.Y.S. 343, 228 App.Div. 484.

ings and the proof, where it relates only to issues injected voluntarily by his own testimony.[16]

Waiver. An attorney appearing and offering evidence without objection waives any defect in the charge, as that it was not specific enough to inform him of the misconduct with which he is charged.[17]

b. Verification and Signature

Verification of the charges, although not jurisdictional, is generally required It may, in some jurisdictions, be on information and belief. Where so required, the information must be signed by the proper persons for court to have jurisdiction.

While, where the proceeding is initiated by a bar association or commission, verification may be dispensed with,[18] and in a disbarment proceeding before a committee on grievances of a bar association, a verified complaint is not required,[19] ordinarily the formal charges should be verified by the affidavit of some person to the effect that the charges therein contained are true.[20] Such verification is not jurisdictional,[21] although the attorney had no notice of the preinvestigation of the conduct prior to the show-cause order,[22] and may be waived by respondent.[23] Although it has been held that the court will merely require such verification as assures good faith,[24] in some jurisdictions it is necessary that the charges shall be made or verified by one having actual knowledge thereof,[25] unless the verification is made by a bar association;[26] but in other jurisdictions verification on information and belief is sufficient,[27] provided the sources of such information and the grounds for such belief are definitely set forth in the affidavit[28] in accordance with the general rule governing affidavits on information and belief, as shown in the title Affidavits § 26. However, the verification is not affected by the nonproduction of affidavits and documents on which the information and belief were partially derived.[29]

The sufficiency of the verification must be determined by an inspection of it, and the evidence of affiant cannot be taken for the purpose of showing

16. Wood v State, 165 S E 908, 45 Ga App 783
Prior proceeding by informer as not ground for abating subsequent disbarment proceeding for same misconduct see Abatement and Revival § 32 note 16.

17. Barton v. State Bar of California, 289 P. 818, 209 Cal. 677.

18. People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Templeman, 1 N E (2d) 850, 362 Ill 152—People v Briggs, 161 N E 736, 330 Ill. 339, certiorari denied Schmuts v People of State of Illinois ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n, 49 S Ct. 27, 278 U.S 625, 73 L Ed. 545—6 C J p 606 note 60.

19. In re Casey, 195 N.E. 39, 359 Ill. 496

20. Cal—In re Herrick, 176 P. 165
Fla—Hogan v. State, 104 So. 598, 89 Fla. 383
Ill—In re Ransom, 192 N E 912, 358 Ill 227.
6 C J p 606 note 57.

Where proceedings are moved by third parties on affidavit, the accusation must be drawn up and sworn to by the person making it—In re Cloud, 250 N.W 160, 217 Iowa 2—6 C J. p 604 note 27.

21. Ala—Ex parte Messer, 152 So 244, 228 Ala. 16.
Cal—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 325, 213 Cal 237—Bruns v State Bar of California, 1 P (2d) 989, 213 Cal 151—Irving v State Bar of California, 1 P (2d) 2, 213 Cal. 81—In re Herron, 298 P 474, 212 Cal. 196.
Tex—Houtchens v State, (Civ App) 47 S W (2d) 679, reversed on other grounds (Com.App.) 63 S W.(2d) 1011, motion granted 74 S W.(2d) 976
6 C J p 606 note 58

22. Fish v. State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal 215

23. Ex parte Messer, 152 So 244, 228 Ala. 16—6 C J. p 606 note 59.

24. State v Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or 407

By attorney, one of petitioners
Verification of a petition made on affidavits of an attorney, who deposed that he was the attorney for petitioners and was one of the petitioners himself and a member of the bar association, is technically sufficient—State v. Greenfield, 162 P. 858, 93 Or 407.

By officer of bar association
A complaint is not insufficiently verified because the verification was made by an officer of complainant bar association—Ring v State Bar of California, 24 P (2d) 821, 218 Cal 747.

25. In re Masuran, 263 P 339, 88 Cal App 272—6 C J. p 606 note 61

Statutory verification sufficient
Where charges of accusation against attorney were made positively, statutory verification was positive affirmance of allegations therein, notwithstanding verification contained words "except as to matters therein stated on information and belief".—Lantz v State Bar of California, 298 P. 497, 212 Cal 213.

26. Ring v. State Bar of California, 24 P (2d) 821, 218 Cal 747—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal App 702

Verification by president sufficient
Under Code Civ Proc §§ 290, 291, as amended by St (1921) p 100 § 3, requiring the accusation in disbarment proceedings to be in writing, and relating to the verification thereof, it was held that such an accusation filed by an incorporated bar association was sufficiently signed and verified when signed by the president and assistant secretary of the association, and verified by the president in his individual capacity—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal. App 702

Allegations based on knowledge
A complaint may be verified on information and belief, although the allegations thereof were based on complainant's knowledge—Ring v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal. 747.

Statute not invalid
A statute authorizing a verification on information and belief where made by a bar association has been held not invalid—In re Morganstern, 215 P 721, 61 Cal App 702.

27. La—In re Borie, 118 So 45, 166 La. 855.
Or—State v. Hall, 190 P 304.
Tex—Houtchens v. State, (Com. App) 63 S W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App) 47 S.W (2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S W. (2d) 976—Rowland v State, (Civ. App) 55 S W.(2d) 133.
6 C J p 606 note 62.

28. In re Veeder, 65 P. 180, 10 N M. 669.

29. Houtchens v. State, (Tex.Civ. App) 47 S W (2d) 679, reversed on other grounds (Com App) 63 S W. (2d) 1011, motion granted 74 S.W. (2d) 976.

that he had no personal knowledge as to the charges.[30]

Signature. While the court is without jurisdiction where the information is not signed either by the attorney general, a state's attorney, or the president and secretary of a bar association, where so required,[31] a complaint in a disbarment proceeding will not be quashed because signed by more than one attorney, notwithstanding the statute provides that it shall be signed by "a practicing attorney."[32]

c. Amendment

Court should be liberal in allowing amendments, but should also give respondent an opportunity of meeting any new matter therein alleged.

The power of the court to allow an amendment is as broad as in any other special proceeding,[33] and the court should be most liberal in allowing amendments provided respondent is given an opportunity of meeting any new matter therein alleged.[34] Leave to file an amendment to the petition must be obtained from the court, and cannot be granted by a commissioner taking the evidence.[35] It is not error to allow an amendment to the petition after sustaining a demurrer thereto,[36] and an amendment may be made after the hearing has been entered on, where accused is given time to prepare his defense to new charges contained therein;[37] but an amendment of the petition has been refused after complainants have announced that they are through taking evidence in chief, and respondents have proceeded with their evidence on the strength of such announcement.[38] However, it has been held that an accusation in disbarment proceedings may be amended to conform to the proof after the case has been tried and coincident with the entry of judgment.[39] While a referee does not abuse his discretion in refusing an amendment until the attorney general can investigate the charge contained therein,[40] the new charge ought not to be disregarded and the court may treat the amendment as a new petition.[41]

§ 32. —— Demurrer, Answer, and Subsequent Pleadings

a. Demurrer
b. Answer
c. Subsequent pleadings

a. Demurrer

Respondent may demur to accusation, which will then be taken as true, and on overruling of demurrer, the court will enter proper judgment.

Although not expressly provided by statutes relating to disbarment proceedings, it has been held that an attorney has a right to demur to the petition.[42] Where a demurrer is filed, the allegations of the complaint are to be taken as true,[43] and if the demurrer is overruled, the court will enter final judgment in accordance with the gravity of the offenses charged.[44] Where a demurrer is filed to the whole accusation, and any one of the charges or specifications contains sufficient cause for the motion to disbar, the demurrer should be overruled.[45]

30. In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal App 702—6 C J. p 606 note 65.

31. In re Ransom, 192 N E 912, 358 Ill. 227.

32. Houtchens v. State, (Tex Com App) 63 S.W (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App) 47 S W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com.App) 74 S W (2d) 976—Rowland v State, (Tex Civ.App.) 55 S.W (2d) 133.

33. State v. Kimball, (Iowa) 158 N W 579, rehearing denied 160 N W. 836.

34. In re Egan, 154 N W. 521, 36 S. D. 228

Amendment not prejudicial

Introduction at the time of hearing before the board of law examiners, in a disbarment proceeding, of the new cause of complaint has been held within the board's discretion, and not error or prejudicial, where respondent attorney did not request, either before the board, or the supreme court, additional time conformably to Remington Comp St. § 139—18—In re Winthrop, 237 P. 3, 135 Wash 135.

35. People v. Smith, 124 N E 807, 290 Ill. 241, 9 A L R 183.

36. Hogan v. State, 104 So. 598, 89 Fla 338

37. In re Winthrop, 237 P. 3, 135 Wash 135—In re Sherrill, 198 P. 725, 116 Wash. 143.

38. In re Sizer, 267 S W. 922, 306 Mo. 356.

39. In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal App. 702

40. In re Polley, 159 N.W. 42, 37 S. D. 523.

41. In re Polley, supra.

42. In re Bickley, 4 Ohio N.P (N S.) 129.

43. Ill—People v. Briggs, 161 N E 736, 330 Ill. 339, certiorari denied Schmutz v. People of State of Illinois ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n, 49 S Ct 27, 273 U S 625, 73 L Ed. 545 Ky.—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S W 948, 165 Ky 93, L R A 1917B 1132

S D—In re Waggoner, 199 N W. 244, 47 S.D 401.

44. People v Briggs, 161 N E 736, 330 Ill 339, certiorari denied Schmutz v People of State of Illinois ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n, 49 S Ct 27, 273 U S. 625, 73 L.Ed. 545.

45. Rosenberg v Commonwealth ex rel Otte, 74 S W.(2d) 473, 255 Ky. 413—6 C.J. p 606 note 66.

Demurrer held not to challenge sufficiency of complaint

Where a complaint for disbarment consisted of a single paragraph specifying six different series of alleged acts of misconduct, and no motion was made to separate it into paragraphs, a demurrer to "each paragraph" of the complaint did not challenge the sufficiency of any one of the alleged series of acts taken separately.—Buhler v. Trick, 144 N. E 840, 195 Ind. 190.

b. Answer

Respondent should seasonably enter his plea or answer, and should explain and set out the bona fides of the alleged misconduct.

When a petition and accusation in a disciplinary proceeding has been duly served on an attorney, he must seasonably plead or interpose an answer to the accusation,[46] and the refusal of the court to permit the filing of a plea on the day set for trial is within the court's discretion.[47] Where so required by statute the court must pass on the sufficiency of the charges before the attorney is required to answer.[48] In the absence of a controlling statutory provision, respondent is not entitled to the time allowed to answer an ordinary summons, but may be cited to appear within any time that gives him a reasonable opportunity to prepare his defense.[49]

The answer should raise an issue[50] and particularity should be observed, not merely to deny the charges, but to explain and set out the bona fides of the transactions to which they relate.[51] An answer, failing to deny specific charges of misconduct, constitutes an admission thereof,[52] and an attorney is bound by his admission in his answer that in certain matters he acted in his professional capacity.[53] Where the answer is uncertain[54] or seems to be evasive,[55] respondent may be given an opportunity to amend or file a more specific answer; and the same is true where the answer contains scandalous and impertinent matter.[56]

Verification. Ordinarily, the answer should be verified,[57] but the circumstances may be such as to dispense with this requirement.[58]

c. Subsequent Pleadings

No pleadings are had beyond the answer.

There are no further pleadings beyond the answer to the rule to show cause; the replication is not used in this form of proceeding.[59] On filing the answer the accuser may move to make the rule absolute, and respondent may move to discharge the rule.[60]

§ 33. —— Evidence

a. In general
b. Failure to testify or call witness
c. Accomplice testimony

a. In General

(1) Presumptions and burden of proof
(2) Admissibility
(3) Weight and sufficiency

(1) Presumptions and Burden of Proof

The authorities are in conflict as to whether an accused attorney is entitled to the presumption of innocence. The burden of proof rests on those in charge of a disbarment proceeding.

On the basis that disbarment proceedings are not criminal in nature (see supra § 28), it has been stated that an accused attorney is not entitled to a presumption of innocence,[61] but a license to 46. Ill.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206.

Minn.—In re Ahlstrom, 268 N.W. 638.—In re Eberhart, 205 N.W. 266, 164 Minn. 408.

Motion for disbarment properly denied

Denial of a motion of relator in a disbarment proceeding to disbar an attorney by default because of failure to file an answer on or before the date fixed by rule nisi, which required an attorney to appear and answer on such date, or when thereafter reached on call as by law directed, was held not error, where the attorney appeared and filed the answer in accordance with the order of the judge to whom the motion was referred in rule nisi.—De Krasner v. Boykin, (Ga.App.) 186 S.E. 749

Defense of laches was held not available to respondent in a disbarment proceeding in the absence of a pleading or evidence showing that respondent, because of lapse of time, had been prevented from producing in evidence facts which, if produced, would have been a defense to the charges.—In re Noell, (Mo.App.) 96 S.W.(2d) 213

47. Thomas v. Ogilby, 59 App.D.C. 382, 44 F.(2d) 890

48. State v. Mosher, 103 N.W. 105, 128 Iowa 82, 5 Ann.Cas. 984

49. Cal.—In re Lowenthal, 21 P. 7, 78 Cal. 427.
Okl.—In re Brown, 39 P. 469, 2 Okl. 590.
6 C.J. p. 606 note 67.

50. In re Richter, 204 N.W. 492, 187 Wis. 490, 41 A.L.R. 485

Answer held insufficient to raise an issue of fact.—In re Richter, 204 N.W. 492, 187 Wis. 490, 41 A.L.R. 485

51. Rosenberg v. Commonwealth ex rel. Otte, 74 S.W.(2d) 478, 255 Ky. 413.—6 C.J. p. 606 notes 69, 70

52. Colo.—People v. Cowen, 298 P. 957, 88 Colo. 571.—People v. Powell, 287 P. 858, 87 Colo. 337.
N.Y.—In re Goldberg, 238 N.Y.S. 273, 227 App.Div. 502.

53. In re Richards, 63 S.W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo. 907.

54. In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N.M. 449

On failure to amend an answer that is uncertain, the answer will be deemed to raise no effective denial of the allegations.—In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N.M. 449

55. Colo.—People v. Webster, 64 P. 207, 28 Colo. 223.
Minn.—In re Nunn, 76 N.W. 38, 73 Minn. 292

56. People v. Payson, 71 N.E. 692, 210 Ill. 82.

57. State v. Winton, 5 P. 337, 11 Or. 456, 50 Am.R. 486

58. State v. Winton, supra.

59. Colo.—People v. Selig, 55 P. 732, 25 Colo. 505, 506
Fla.—State v. Maxwell, 19 Fla. 31.

60. State v. Maxwell, supra.

61. Ring v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal. 747.—6 C.J. p. 607 note 79.

In Massachusetts, in a disbarment proceeding heard by a single justice, ruling that there was no presumption of innocence other than that in contemplation of law re-practice law being a certificate of good moral character and a representation by the court, as of the date of the license, that the licensee is a trustworthy person who reasonably may be expected to act fairly and honestly in the practice of his profession, it has been held that the original representation exists as a continuing presumption in the absence of proof to the contrary,[62] and in some jurisdictions it has been held that an attorney is presumed to be innocent of the charges preferred and to have performed his duty, in accordance with his oath,[63] and to have acted from proper motives.[64] However, the presumption prevails only until a prima facie case of guilt is made out.[65] It will be presumed that the attorney knows the court rules,[66] and intended the natural result of his acts,[67] that an examining board and the court admitting him to practice had no knowledge concerning his conviction in a foreign state;[68] and, where the attorney has defaulted in the disbarment proceeding, that he is guilty.[69] It will not be presumed that the attorney in the particular case in question deviated from his usual course of procedure in his business matters.[70]

Burden of proof. The burden of proof rests on those in charge of a disbarment proceeding to prove the alleged acts of misconduct[71] and the moral turpitude thereof,[72] but where a prima facie case has been made out, the burden of overcoming such prima facie case by evidence rests on the attorney.[73]

Under a rule to show cause why he should not be disbarred, the burden is on the attorney to justify his conduct;[74] and where the attorney admits the conduct charged, the burden is on him to justify it.[75]

(2) Admissibility

The rules and principles of evidence applicable to civil proceedings are applicable to disbarment proceedings, and to be admissible the evidence must be relevant, competent, and material

The rules and principles of the law of evidence applicable to civil proceedings are also applicable to disbarment proceedings,[76] and the evidence on either side must be such as is legally competent to maintain the issue.[77] The court may acquire, spondent began trial as an innocent man and would remain such unless charges were proved was held proper—In re Mayberry, 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976.

In New York

(1) In a later case it was held that no presumption of innocence is applicable—In re Ropiecki, 282 N.Y.S. 947.

(2) But in an earlier case it was held that the attorney would be presumed innocent, where the information charged him with the commission of a criminal act—In re An Attorney, 161 N.Y.S. 504, 175 App.Div. 653.

62. Roark v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 55 P.(2d) 339.

63. State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183—State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl. 124—In re McNabb, 185 P. 441, 76 Okl. 253—In re Reilly, 183 P. 738, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A.L.R. 8[illegible]—6 C.J. p. 607 note 78.

64. Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa. 186.

65. Roark v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 55 P.(2d) 339—6 C.J. p. 607 note 80.

As to receipts taken by attorney

In a disbarment proceeding based on misappropriation of estate funds by an attorney for executor, the court could not presume that the attorney, who produced no receipts in support of his assertion of payment to executor, had not taken receipts—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Templeman, 1 N.E.(2d) 850, 363 Ill. 152.

66. People v. Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill. 132.

67. In re Sherin, 210 N.W. 507, 50 S.D. 428.

68. State Bar of California v. Hull, 284 P. 492, 103 Cal.App. 302.

69. In re Stauning, 352 N.W. 84, 190 Minn. 405.

70. People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Pace, 188 N.E. 169, 354 Ill. 111.

Failure to take receipts

In disbarment proceedings based on misappropriation of clients' money, an attorney's failure to take receipts for payments could not be presumed where in other matters the attorney took and gave receipts as a matter of course—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Pace, 188 N.E. 169, 354 Ill. 111.

71. Cal.—In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal.App. 144.

N.Y.—In re Spencer, 201 N.Y.S. 315, 206 App.Div. 806.

Pa.—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81.

Establishing all facts

To sustain an accusation in a disbarment proceeding for the alleged violation of a client's confidence, it is not necessary to establish all the facts as to the ultimate loss on the client's part which might be necessary in an action for damages for deceit—In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal.App. 144.

Where fraud charged

Burden of proof where fraud is charged is on the party bringing the charge, since all men are presumed to act from honest motives until the contrary is shown—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Hammond, 191 N.E. 215, 356 Ill. 581.

72. In re Wells, 168 P. 657, 174 Cal. 467.

73. Cal.—In re Graves, 221 P. 411, 64 Cal.App. 176.

N.Y.—In re Horowitz, 240 N.Y.S. 343, 228 App.Div. 484—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N.Y.S. 481, 228 App.Div. 470.

Pa.—In re Salus, 184 A. 70, 321 Pa. 106—In re Gery, 130 A. 307, 284 Pa. 121.

6 C.J. p. 607 note 81.

Explanation of bank deposits

Evidence of large bank deposits many times greater than the salary earned by a public official requires explanation by such official, and such rule is applicable in disciplinary proceedings against an attorney who is an ex-official—In re Kunstler, 289 N.Y.S. 107, 248 App.Div. 393.

74. People v. Lindsey, 283 P. 539, 86 Colo. 458.

75. Attorney General v. Lane, 243 N.W. 6, 259 Mich. 283, certiorari denied Lane v. Voorhies, 53 S.Ct. 115, 287 U.S. 654, 77 L.Ed. 565—6 C.J. p. 607 note 82.

76. Ala.—Ex parte Messer, 152 So. 244, 228 Ala. 16.

Ill.—In re Needham, 4 N.E.(2d) 19, 364 Ill. 65.

Mass.—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.

N.Y.—In re Lynch, 238 N.Y.S. 482, 227 App.Div. 477.

6 C.J. p. 607 note 83.

77. Cal.—In re Richardson, 288 P. 669, 209 Cal. 492.

Neb—State v. Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb 736.
6 C.J. p 607 note 33.

Evidence held admissible

(1) Attorney's answer to the original charges to show his admission of the facts, where the amended charges were practically identical with the original charges—Thomas v. Ogilby, 59 App D.C. 382, 44 F.(2d) 890

(2) Attorney's insistence on the removal of a murder prosecution against a colored man from a hostile community and to trial by jury from which colored persons, as a class, were not excluded, which the counsel appointed by the court deemed unnecessary, was relevant to the charge that the attorney improperly injected himself into the case not to protect accused's constitutional rights but to exploit the views of a certain organization.—In re Ades, (D. C.Md.) 6 F.Supp. 467.

(3) Conveyances corroborating the evidence of witness as to reparation from an attorney on the theory that fraud was practiced on a client, in support of the specific charge in a disbarment proceeding—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466

(4) Copies of the pleadings and findings of fact in federal disbarment proceedings—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373

(5) Copy of an affidavit prepared by an attorney to deceive the court was sufficiently identified for introduction in disbarment proceedings, although never part of the record—Hertz v. U. S., (C.C.A.Minn.) 13 F.(2d) 52.

(6) Evidence of disbarments in other states, and of fraud in securing admission to practice, was admissible on the question of fitness to hold a license—In re Bailey, 254 P. 481, 31 Ariz. 407, certiorari denied Bailey v. State of Arizona, 48 S.Ct. 31, 275 U.S. 575, 72 L.Ed. 434

(7) Evidence on charges which were found an insufficient cause for discipline may be considered as tending to characterize the attorney's conduct and intent in matters found to constitute misconduct—In re Moerke, 238 N.W. 690, 184 Minn. 314

(8) Findings and an order of the district court, in a summary proceeding brought against an attorney by clients to recover moneys—In re Gerlich, 244 N.W. 414, 187 Minn. 88

(9) A judgment suspending an attorney from practice was admissible in subsequent proceedings charging the attorney with practicing during the suspension period, although an appeal from the judgment was undetermined—Lincoln v. Superior Court of California, 271 P. 1107, 95 Cal. App. 35.

(10) Letters written by an attorney, which he did not deny, were held not prejudicial, notwithstanding the claim that the letters were improperly obtained.—In re Scott, 292 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113.

(11) Statement by an attorney to a witness, from which misconduct charged could reasonably be inferred—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.

(12) Testimony as to an attorney's statement about the source of title and a subsequent attempt to secure the return of the property.—McCord v. State, supra.

(13) Although a specific charge of an attorney's misconduct may not be supported by sufficient evidence to require a disbarment, yet, if it shows a disposition to unprofessional conduct, it should be considered in connection with facts established on other charges in the same complaint for disbarment—State v. Fisher, 174 N.W. 320, 103 Neb 736.

(14) In a disbarment proceeding for soliciting claims and suits through paid agents, evidence of the solicitation of claims by an alleged agent of the attorneys was admissible, although there was no showing what disposition was made of the claims—In re Gallant, (Mo.App.) 95 S.W.(2d) 1249.

(15) In a proceeding to disbar an attorney on the ground of conveyances in fraud of his former partner, a judgment creditor, the record in the former partner's action against respondent was competent proof as to his conduct therein—In re Berkeley, 160 N.Y.S. 1093, 174 App.Div. 205, affirmed 154 N.E. 621, 243 N.Y. 597.

(16) In proceedings to disbar an attorney who attempted to procure settlement of a slander action by the threat that such attorney's client would publish a libelous book against the party from whom settlement was sought, a letter written by the client after the threat by the attorney, on which letter the client was convicted of blackmail, was properly admitted to show the character of the manuscript and the purpose for which it was typed—In re Pollack, 285 N.Y.S. 244, 246 App.Div. 211.

(17) Statement, made by an attorney's counsel on an appeal to the board of tax appeals on the matter of deducting business expenses from gross income, that the attorney secured business through information received from employees of companies and paid employees for such information, although not conclusive on the attorney, was admissible in a disbarment proceeding as made in the attorney's presence and as corroborating the charge that the attorney spent money to obtain law business—In re Noell, (Mo.App.) 96 S.W.(2d) 213.

Antecedent disciplinary proceedings

State bar committee, hearing charges against an attorney, did not err in permitting an inquiry into possible antecedent disciplinary proceedings against him—Dalzell v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 57 P.(2d) 1300.

Opinion evidence

Judge's testimony that he would not have permitted the withdrawal of the deposit had the attorney informed him of the oral decision disposing of the deposit was held not objectionable as being the opinion of a witness—In re Lincoln, 283 P. 965, 103 Cal.App. 733.

Parol evidence

Oral testimony concerning fee-splitting did not violate the parol evidence rule, although documents were introduced, the purpose being not to vary the terms but to impeach the written representations—Ring v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal. 747

Testimony at former hearing of person, since deceased

(1) Testimony of a deceased person, taken on a preliminary examination before the official committee, after notice and an opportunity to cross-examine, is admissible at the final hearing before the commissioner in disbarment proceedings.—In re Heard, 141 So. 60, 174 La. 563.

(2) But, where the adverse party had no opportunity or right to cross-examine such witness, such testimony has been held inadmissible—In re Lynch, 238 N.Y.S. 482, 227 App. Div. 477.

On cross-examination

(1) Prosecuting attorneys had the right to cross-examine thoroughly defendant as witness in his own behalf in a disbarment proceeding—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466

(2) Cross-examination of defendant in a disbarment proceeding relative to the discussion of an incident in which he had contributed to the moral delinquency of a girl did not require reversal—McCord v. State, supra.

(3) The fact that a conviction for subornation of perjury was pending on an appeal did not preclude the question, on cross-examination in disbarment proceedings, as to whether the attorney had been convicted therefor—In re Abrams, 173 N.E. 312, 36 Ohio App. 384.

In rebuttal

In disbarment proceedings, it was competent to show in rebuttal that, contrary to counsel's assertion, defendant attorney made the statement alleged—In re Abrams, 173 N.E. 312, 36 Ohio App. 384.

Evidence held inadmissible

(1) Evidence offered to control the findings of fact made by the federal through all legitimate channels open to it, information available as to the present moral fitness of the attorney to practice law,[78] but irrelevant and immaterial testimony is not admissible.[79] The person charged should be permitted to avail himself of all the recognized competent evidence that would tend to disprove such charge and vindicate his character,[80] and, where respondent sets up a defense, it is proper to admit testimony to disprove it.[81] Where the charges are denied, the affidavits and papers on which the proceedings were instituted are not evidence on the issues, but are simply pleadings or statements of the charges relied on,[82] but where the attorney agrees that the case should be submitted on the record, affidavits on which the information is based and which are a part of the record may properly be considered.[83]

An exception to the general rule which excludes evidence of transactions other than those involved in the charge, as discussed in the title Evidence § 579 [22 C.J. p 745 note 43], is that evidence of similar derelictions is admissible to show scienter, where proof of criminal or fraudulent intent is essential to sustain the charge[84] or to prove intent and a common plan.[85]

Statute relaxing rules of evidence. A disbarment proceeding has been held to belong to that court in disbarment proceedings.—In re Ulmer, 167 N E 749, 268 Mass 373.

(2) Testimony as to the reasonable value of land, in proceedings based on the attorney's misconduct in procuring client to sign the deed —McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala 466.

(3) Identity of respondent in disbarment proceedings with respondent in the previous case, or the fact that the previous information was filed.—People v. Johnson, 176 N E 278, 344 Ill 132.

(4) Where disbarment proceedings were resubmitted to the commissioner for the further cross-examination of a witness, who disappeared, testimony that she subsequently made statements conflicting with the original testimony was incompetent.—People v. Johnson, supra

78. In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D 374

Character affidavits

In a proceeding to revoke an attorney's license for making a false affidavit when applying for admission to the bar, character affidavits were relevant.—State Bar of California v. Rollinson, 1 P (2d) 428, 213 Cal. 36, reversing (App.) 291 P. 431

79. Cal.—Shaw v State Bar of California, 297 P. 532, 212 Cal. 52—In re Richardson, 288 P 669, 209 Cal 492.
N.Y.—In re Goldstein, 258 N.Y S 548, 236 App Div 233.

Evidence held inadmissible

(1) Testimony as to defendant's presence at a political meeting the preceding year, in order to show motive for preferring charges.—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.

(2) Where an attorney was charged with having confederated with another to commit perjury as to the genuineness of a document, the acquittal of the confederate on trial of the indictment against him is not competent evidence for the attorney in disbarment proceedings, for the reason, among others, that the parties to the proceedings were not the same—In re O'Brien, 113 A. 527, 95 Vt 167, 14 A L R 859

Evidence held immaterial

(1) Client's ratification of attorney's use for his own purposes of money sent him to redeem mining properties from tax sales—People v. Hillyer, 297 P 1004, 88 Colo 428

(2) Evidence of the presence of members of the bar signing the information at a meeting of the bar which resolved to prefer the charges resulting in the disbarment of the attorney—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466

Evidence held immaterial and hearsay

In a disbarment proceeding, testimony that attorneys filing the complaint had investigated the conduct of defendant before filing the complaint, and that they were actuated by proper motives, was incompetent as hearsay and immaterial—Houtchens v State, (Tex Com App) 63 S.W. (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App) 47 S W (2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App) 74 S W.(2d) 976.

Evidence held irrelevant

Attorney's conspiracy action is unjustified, unless based on reasonable grounds, and only relevant evidence is admissible in disbarment proceedings instituted because of the bringing of such action, and acts, omissions, and statements are not admissible unless connected with defendants—In re Bevans, 225 N.Y.S. 273, 222 App Div. 701.

80. Allen v. State Bar of California, 21 P (2d) 107, 218 Cal. 19—6 C J. p 607 note 84.

Previous good character

(1) The attorney's character being directly in issue, evidence thereof is admissible—State Bar of California v. Rollinson, 1 P (2d) 428, 213 Cal 36, reversing (App) 291 P 431—People v. Johnson, 176 N E 278, 344 Ill. 132—People v Johnson, 163 N E 326, 332 Ill. 84—Buhler v. Trick, 144 N E. 840, 195 Ind. 190—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S W. 948, 165 Ky 93, L R A 1917B 1132—6 C J. p 607 note 84 [a].

(2) However, such evidence must be produced in a manner sanctioned by the rules of evidence—Allen v. State Bar of California, 21 P.(2d) 107, 218 Cal 19.

81. Propper v. Owens, 72 S E 242, 136 Ga. 787.

82. Houtchens v State, (Tex Com. App) 63 S W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App) 74 S W. (2d) 976—6 C.J p 607 note 86.

Reading affidavit to jury

(1) Reading an affidavit, attached to the complaint, to the jury has been held prejudicial error, where investigation of defendant by affiants as officers of the bar association was alleged—Houtchens v State, (Tex Com App.) 63 S W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S W. (2d) 976.

(2) This is so, also, where the finding against the attorney was based entirely on the affidavit, without other evidence to support it—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S W 948, 165 Ky 93, L R A 1917B 1132

83. Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S W. 330, 175 Ky. 357.

84. Ex parte Powell, (Ala) 166 So 614—In re Fite, 152 So 246, 228 Ala. 4—Ex parte Messer, 152 So. 244, 228 Ala. 16.

Employment of paid solicitors

In disbarment proceedings of attorneys for employing paid agents to solicit claims and suits and for solicitation through paid agents, evidence of similar transactions to those charged in the information was admissible, since it tended to show concerted plan or manner of conducting law business—In re Gallant, (Mo App.) 95 S W.(2d) 1249.

85. In re Kohler, 270 N.Y.S. 634, 240 App Div. 501.

class of cases to which a statute, designed to relax the rules of evidence thought to be too strict and narrow for ordinary litigation, would ordinarily be applicable.[86]

(3) Weight and Sufficiency

The authorities are conflicting as to the amount of proof necessary to sustain the charges in a disbarment proceeding. Conviction of a crime is sometimes made conclusive evidence of an attorney's unfitness to continue in the profession.

The authorities in disbarment proceedings are not uniform as to whether such a suit is civil or criminal (see supra § 28), or as to the amount of proof necessary to sustain the charges. By some courts it is held that, being criminal or quasi-criminal, or where the acts charged are criminal in their nature, the charge should be proved beyond a reasonable doubt.[87] Other courts hold that the rule in criminal prosecutions that the guilt of the accused must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt does not apply to proceedings for disbarment,[88] and that it is sufficient if the charge is established by a preponderance of evidence, as in any civil case.[89] However, it has been held that a mere preponderance of the evidence may not be sufficient,[90] and frequently, in describing the amount of proof required, the courts use such phrases as "clear and convincing evidence,"[91] "clearly established,"[92] "satisfy the court to a reasonable certainty,"[93] "clear preponderance of evidence," "clear and sat-

86. In re Keenan, 192 N E 65, 287 Mass 577, 96 A L R 679

Declarations of deceased person before commencement of action

(1) A statute, providing that a declaration of deceased person should not be inadmissible in evidence as hearsay, if the court found that it was made in good faith before the commencement of the "action," and on personal knowledge of declarant, was applicable to a disbarment proceeding—In re Keenan, 192 N E 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R 679.

(2) In a disbarment proceeding, the fact that deceased juryman, who had made statements concerning the misconduct of respondent in influencing jurymen, was the self-confessed taker of a bribe and was promised immunity from prosecution for his revelations, and that such declarations were not subject to cross-examination, did not affect their admissibility as evidence under the statute—In re Keenan, supra.

(3) Declarations of a deceased juryman concerning the misconduct of an attorney, although made prior to the actual institution of a disbarment proceeding but after the commissioner began taking the evidence touching on the conduct of respondent, were admissible under a statute removing the inadmissibility of such declarations because of their hearsay nature, provided they were made prior to the commencement of the action, since the commissioner's inquiry was merely preliminary in nature, was not designed to establish any rights or to end in any judgment or decree, and could not be considered the commencement of a disbarment proceeding—In re Keenan, supra.

87. People v. Bither, 165 N.E 793, 334 Ill 264—People v. Kerker, 146 N.E. 439, 315 Ill 572—6 C J. p 607 note 87.

88. Ala.—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala 466
Ariz.—In re Myrland, 29 P.(2d) 483
Cal.—Fischer v State Bar of California, 58 P (2d) 1277, rehearing denied 59 P (2d) 805—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v Sullivan, 198 P 7, 185 Cal 621—In re Cruickshank, 190 P. 1038, 47 Cal.App 496
Ill.—In re Malmin, 4 N E (2d) 111, 364 Ill 164.
Mass.—In re Mayberry, 2 N E (2d) 248, 105 A L R 976
N Y.—In re Lynch, 238 N Y S 482, 227 App Div 477—In re Herrman, 161 N Y S 977, 175 App Div 310—In re Ropiecki, 282 N Y S. 947
Va.—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v. Drewry, 172 S E 282, 161 Va 833
6 C J p 607 note 88

Failure to keep, or destruction of, books, vouchers, and checks, although not alone the basis for charges in disciplinary proceedings, is a suspicious circumstance—In re O'Neill, 240 N Y S 183, 228 App Div. 518.

Proof of payments to solicitors not necessary

Charge of solicitation made against an attorney in disciplinary proceedings may be established without proof of the payment by the attorney for the solicitor's services—In re Schacht, 239 N Y S. 516, 228 App Div 232

89. Ark.—Maloney v State, 32 S W (2d) 423, 182 Ark 510
N Y.—In re Farrell, 262 N Y S. 766, 237 App Div. 678—In re Spencer, 201 N Y S 315, 206 App Div 806—In re Herrman, 161 N Y S 977, 175 App Div. 310
Pa.—In re Lemisch, 184 A. 72, 321 Pa. 110
Tex.—Houtchens v. State, (Com App.) 63 S W (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S W (2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S W (2d) 976
6 C J. p 607 note 89

90. Okl.—In re Maben, 27 P.(2d) 601, 167 Okl 111—In re Simpson, 192 P 1097, 79 Okl 305—In re Connell, 192 P. 564, 79 Okl 212.
Or.—State v. Estes, 209 P. 486, 105 Or 222

91. Ariz.—In re Myrland, 29 P (2d) 483
Ill.—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Hammond, 191 N E 215, 356 Ill 581—In re Pelz, 190 N E 250, 356 Ill 200—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Lotterman, 187 N E 424, 353 Ill 399—People v Kerker, 146 N E 439, 315 Ill. 572
Minn.—In re Otterness, 232 N W. 318, 181 Minn 254, 73 A.L.R 1319
Miss.—Ex parte Redmond, 125 So. 833, 156 Miss 439
N Y.—In re An Attorney, 161 N Y. S 504, 175 App Div 653
Okl.—Haunstein v State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P (2d) 558—In re Rice, 29 P.(2d) 599, 167 Okl 330—In re Hadwiger, 27 P.(2d) 604, 167 Okl. 307
Or.—State v. Mannix, 288 P 507, 132 Or 329, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or 329
Pa.—In re Lemisch, 184 A 72, 321 Pa 110—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A 59, 321 Pa. 81.
6 C.J. p 607 note 90

92. Cal.—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Sullivan, 198 P 7, 185 Cal. 621
Ill.—People v. Jackson, 153 N E. 621, 322 Ill 613
Okl.—In re Maben, 27 P (2d) 601, 167 Okl. 111—State v. Ledbetter, 260 P 454, 127 Okl 85—State v Cutlip, 202 P 782, 83 Okl 183—In re Simpson, 192 P. 1097, 79 Okl 305—In re Connell, 192 P. 564, 79 Okl. 212.
Or.—State v Estes, 209 P 486, 105 Or 222—State v. Garland, 150 P. 289, 77 Or. 92.

93. Cal.—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 825, 213 Cal 237—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v. Goldman, 199 P. 836, 53 Cal.App 42.
Okl.—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183—State v. Vernor, 191 P 729, 79 Okl 124—In re McNabb, 185 P 431, 76 Okl 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 728, 75 Okl 192, 7 A.L.R. 89.

isfactory legal proof," and the like,[94] not only with regard to the acts charged, but also with regard to fraudulent or dishonest motives.[95] This rule has been said to be preëminently appropriate where the offense charged is cognizable by the criminal law,[96] but, even where the charges of professional misconduct on which an attorney is disbarred are not of a criminal nature, it has been held that they should be established by a preponderance of "satisfactory evidence."[97]

All proper intendments are in favor of the attorney,[98] and reasonable doubts[99] or conflicts in the evidence[1] should be resolved in his favor; but where the charges remain unexplained by the attorney, they must be taken as true.[2] The testimony of the attorney must be accepted as true unless outweighed by other facts and circumstances presented by the evidence,[3] and evidence bearing the earmarks of private spite should be accepted with extreme caution and scrutinized most carefully.[4]

In many cases the evidence has been held sufficient to support a finding that the attorney was guilty of the conduct charged,[5] while in a large

94. Idaho—In re Baum, 186 P. 927, 32 Idaho 676
Ill—In re Lasecki, 192 N.E. 655, 358 Ill 69—People v Johnson, 163 N.E. 326, 332 Ill 84—People v McCaskrin, 156 N.E. 328, 325 Ill 149—People v Hansen, 147 N.E. 431, 316 Ill 502—People v A'Brunswick, 146 N.E. 483, 315 Ill 442—People v. Baker, 142 N.E. 554, 311 Ill 66, 31 A.L.R. 737
Iowa—In re De Caro, 262 N.W. 132, 220 Iowa 176
Minn—In re Hertz, 166 N.W. 397, 139 Minn 504
N.Y.—In re Steinfeld, 198 N.Y.S. 124, 204 App.Div. 508
S.C.—State v. Jennings, 159 S.E. 627, 161 S.C. 263
Utah—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 163
Va.—Norfolk & Portsmouth Bar Ass'n v Drewry, 172 S.E. 282, 161 Va. 833
W.Va.—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59
6 C.J. p. 607 note 90.

To justify disbarment, the case must at least be clear and free from doubt—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v Hammond, 191 N.E. 215, 356 Ill. 581—People v Gorindar, 182 N.E. 732, 350 Ill. 256—People v Pio, 139 N.E. 45, 308 Ill. 128—In re Haddad, 173 A. 103, 106 Vt. 322

Evidence held to authorize inference of guilt.—In re Salus, 184 A. 70, 321 Pa. 106—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81

95. Ill.—In re Lasecki, 192 N.E. 655, 358 Ill. 69—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v Lotterman, 187 N.E. 424, 353 Ill. 399—People v Gorindar, 182 N.E. 732, 350 Ill. 256—People v McCaskrin, 156 N.E. 328, 325 Ill. 149—People v Hansen, 147 N.E. 431, 316 Ill. 502—People v A'Brunswick, 146 N.E. 483, 315 Ill. 442
Fla.—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699.
Okl.—Haurstein v State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P.(2d) 558—In re Rice, 29 P.(2d) 599, 167 Okl. 330—In re Hadwiger, 27 P.(2d) 604, 167 Okl. 307

96. In re An Attorney, 161 N.Y.S. 504, 175 App.Div. 653—6 C.J. p. 608 note 91

97. Cal.—In re Houghton, 8 P. 52, 67 Cal. 511.
Mich.—Matter of Baluss, 28 Mich. 507
Wis.—In re O———, 42 N.W. 221, 73 Wis. 602

98. In re Petersen, 280 P. 124, 208 Cal. 42—In re Alameda County Bar Ass'n, 170 P. 432, 35 Cal.App. 534

Good reputation strongly tends to prove innocence

(1) Where an attorney by his conduct has built up a reputation for honesty and fair dealing, when his integrity as a lawyer is assailed, such reputation is a circumstance strongly tending to prove his innocence—People v McCallum, 173 N.E. 827, 341 Ill. 578

(2) However, testimonials regarding an attorney's good character do not serve to outweigh inferences, where the evidence shows intentional wrongdoing—In re Durst, 239 N.Y.S. 316, 228 App.Div. 256

Inferences from return of fee claimed to be exorbitant

In a disbarment proceeding for charging exorbitant fees, no adverse or favorable inferences could be indulged as a result of the attorney's restitution of the moneys received, where the restitution was made solely in the interests of expediency in relation to another case and under pressure—Herrscher v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 49 P.(2d) 832

Testimony of self-confessed perjurer

In a disciplinary proceeding against an attorney, finding could not be based on uncorroborated testimony of self-confessed perjurer and unmitigated liar—In re O'Neill, 171 N.Y.S. 514, 184 App.Div. 75.

99. Laney v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 60 P.(2d) 845—Golden v State Bar of California, 2 P.(2d) 325, 213 Cal. 237—In re Alameda County Bar Ass'n, 170 P. 432, 35 Cal.App. 534

1. San Francisco Bar Ass'n v McClellan, 181 P. 231, 40 Cal.App. 630—6 C.J. p. 607 note 90 [a] (2).

2. People v. Lindsey, 283 P. 539, 86 Colo. 458

3. In re Stolen, 214 N.W. 379, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355, affirmed 216 N.W. 127, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355

Disbelief of attorney's testimony not based on surmise or conjecture

In a disbarment proceeding, the state bar governors could not disbelieve the attorney's testimony that he paid fifty thousand one hundred seventeen dollars and fifty-four cents obligation merely because the petitioner testified that the payment was in currency, but the disbelief must be based on evidence sufficient to support a finding against accused—Golden v State Bar of California, 2 P.(2d) 325, 213 Cal. 237

Evidence held sufficient to establish the fact that respondent charged with borrowing money from bootleggers knew the character of such persons—In re Stolen, 214 N.W. 379, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355, affirmed 216 N.W. 127, 193 Wis. 602, 55 A.L.R. 1355

4. Herrscher v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 49 P.(2d) 832—Peck v State Bar of California, 17 P.(2d) 112, 217 Cal. 47.

5. U.S.—Hertz v. U. S., (C.C.A. Minn.) 18 F.(2d) 52—In re O'Neill, (D.C.N.Y.) 5 F.Supp. 465—In re Rowe, (D.C.N.Y.) 4 F.Supp. 35.
Ariz.—In re Lohrke, 2 P.(2d) 1039, 38 Ariz. 520
Ark.—State v Huddleston, 293 S.W. 353, 173 Ark. 686.
Cal.—Wilcox v State Bar of California, 42 P.(2d) 631, 2 Cal.(2d) 614—Brown v State Bar of California, 42 P.(2d) 306, 2 Cal.(2d) 533—Barton v State Bar of California, 40 P.(2d) 502, 2 Cal.(2d) 294—Maggart v State Bar of California, 61 P.(2d) 451—Jurich v State Bar of California, 60 P.(2d) 282—Fischer v State Bar of California, 58 P.(2d) 1277, rehearing denied 59 P.(2d) 805—Padgham v. State Bar of California, 58 P.(2d) 633—Branch v State Bar of California, 56 P.(2d) 945—Roark v. State Bar of California, 55 P.(2d) 839—Seavey

v. State Bar of California, 47 P (2d) 281—Sawyer v State Bar of California, 32 P (2d) 369, 220 Cal. 702—Nolan v State Bar of California, 28 P (2d) 1050, 219 Cal 759—Stafford v State Bar of California, 26 P (2d) 833, 219 Cal. 415—Mauer v. State Bar of California, 26 P (2d) 14, 219 Cal. 271—Ring v State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal 747—Galbraith v State Bar of California, 23 P (2d) 291, 218 Cal 339—Recht v State Bar of California, 23 P (2d) 278, 218 Cal. 352—Allen v State Bar of California, 21 P (2d) 107, 218 Cal 19—Wright v State Bar of California, 17 P. (2d) 101, 217 Cal 59—Fish v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal 215—Irving v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 2, 213 Cal 81—D'Elia v. State Bar of California, 300 P. 826, 212 Cal 770—Lantz v. State Bar of California, 298 P 497, 212 Cal 213—Smallberg v State Bar of California, 297 P 916, 212 Cal. 119—McIntosh v State Bar of California, 294 P. 1067, 211 Cal 261—Smith v. State Bar of California, 294 P. 1057, 211 Cal 249, 73 A.L.R. 393—Marsh v State Bar of California, 291 P 588, 210 Cal 303—Aydelotte v. State Bar of California, 290 P 41, 209 Cal 737—In re Richardson, 288 P 669, 209 Cal 492—Bailey v State Bar of California, 288 P 433, 209 Cal 476—In re Stafford, 284 P. 670, 208 Cal 738—State Bar of California v Jones, 280 P 964, 208 Cal. 240—In re Vaughan, 209 P 353, 189 Cal 491, 24 A.L.R 858—In re Lincoln, 283 P. 965, 102 Cal App 733—In re Masuran, 263 P. 339, 88 Cal.App 372—In re Hittson, 185 P. 308, 43 Cal App 462—In re Soale, 159 P 1065, 31 Cal App 144.

Colo—People v Boutcher, 4 P (2d) 910, 89 Colo 497—People v Hillyer, 297 P 1004, 88 Colo 428—People v. Irwin, 152 P. 905, 60 Colo. 177

Hawaii—In re Lyman, 30 Hawaii 405

Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P (2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190

Ill—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Templeman, 1 N E (2d) 850, 363 Ill 152—In re Casey, 195 N E 39, 359 Ill 496—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Byrne, 188 N E 849, 354 Ill. 607—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Pace, 188 N E 169, 354 Ill. 111—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Green, 187 N E 811, 353 Ill 638—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N.E. 832, 351 Ill 206—People v. Hachtman, 183 N E 222, 350 Ill 326—People v Ladouceur, 179 N.E. 890, 347 Ill. 454—People v Gilmore, 177 N E 710, 345 Ill. 28—People v. Johnson, 176 N E 278, 344 Ill. 132—People v. Simmons, 173 N E 898, 341 Ill 340—People v. Jackson, 153 N E 621, 322 Ill. 618—People v. Hoering, 148 N E 299, 317 Ill. 390—People v Fish, 143 N E 49, 311 Ill 497—People v Donovan, 123 N E. 513, 288 Ill 555—People v Holt, 116 N E 612, 279 Ill 107—People v. Moseley, 116 N. E 123, 278 Ill. 377—People v. Pfuhl, 114 N E 10, 275 Ill 243—People v Keeley, 112 N E 362, 273 Ill 95—People v. Stonecipher, 111 N E 496, 271 Ill 506—People v. Czarnecki, 109 N E. 14, 268 Ill. 278

Iowa—In re De Caro, 262 N W 132, 220 Iowa 176—In re Cloud, 250 N W 160, 217 Iowa 3—State v Kaufmann, 209 N W 417, 202 Iowa 157

Kan—In re Stanley, 33 P (2d) 163, 139 Kan 656—In re Evans, 29 P (2d) 1111, 139 Kan 63—In re Wilson, 280 P. 748, 128 Kan 657—In re Learnard, 249 P. 606, 121 Kan 596—In re Gilbert, 216 P 1039, 114 Kan 57—In re Staton, 210 P 615, 112 Kan 226

Ky—Commonwealth ex rel Ward v Harrington, 98 S W (2d) 53, 266 Ky 41—Taylor v Commonwealth, 233 S W. 895, 192 Ky. 410

La—In re Kenner, 152 So 520, 178 La 774—In re Fourchy, 143 So 714, 175 La 628, appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Fourchy v Fletchinger, 53 S Ct 387, 288 U S 589, 77 L Ed 968—In re Heard, 141 So 60, 174 La 562—State v Woodville, 108 So 309, 161 La 135

Mass—In re Mayberry, 3 N E (2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976—In re Allin, 112 N E 494, 224 Mass. 9—In re O Connell, 53 N E 1001, 54 N E 553, 174 Mass. 253

Mich—Crowley v Burns, 267 N W. 631, 276 Mich 351—Attorney General v. Nelson, 249 N.W. 439, 263 Mich 686

Minn—In re Waleen, 264 N W 802—In re Larson, 245 N.W 626, 187 Minn 427—In re Gerlich, 244 N W 414, 187 Minn 88—In re Moerke, 238 N W 690, 184 Minn 314—In re Hage, 214 N W 663, 171 Minn 434—In re Yakey, 212 N W 13, 170 Minn 21—In re Hertz, 211 N W 678, 169 Minn 431—In re Eberhart, 205 N W 266, 164 Minn 408—In re Cary, 177 N W. 801, 146 Minn. 80, 9 A L R 1272

Miss—In re Latham, 139 So 457, 162 Miss 233—In re Marshall, 138 So 293, 162 Miss 364

Mo—In re H——— S———, (App) 69 S W (2d) 325

Mont—In re Hansen, 54 P (2d) 882—In re Young, 250 P 957, 77 Mont 332—In re Niles, 224 P. 861, 70 Mont. 249—In re O'Keefe, 175 P. 593, 55 Mont 200—In re Waddell, 172 P 1036, 54 Mont 597

Nev—In re Miller, 59 P (2d) 9—In re Bailey, 161 P 512, 40 Nev. 139

N J—In re Cosey, 94 A. 54, 84 N J. Eq 343, motion denied 96 A. 595, 85 N J Eq 599—In re Smith, 94 A 30, 84 N J Eq. 252

N Y—In re Kunstler, 289 N Y S 107, 248 App Div 393—In re Aronstein, 289 N Y S 62, 248 App Div 349—In re Sachs, 288 N Y S 1001, 248 App Div. 201—In re Dorfman, 287 N.Y S 399, 247 App Div 271—In re Campbell, 286 N Y S 187, 246 App Div 394—In re Braun, 285 N Y S 360, 246 App Div 206—In re Lazarus, 284 N Y S 340, 245 App Div 657—In re Schecht, 275 N Y. S 712, 242 App Div 495—In re Abel, 276 N Y S 443, 242 App Div. 490—In re Karp, Alter, Busch, Rusgo, Aronstein, Butler, Mayer, Kahan, Fitzsimmons, Goldstein, McAuliffe, Hirsch, Frankel, Weber, and Kurtz, 270 N Y S 113, 240 App Div 388, affirmed In re Karp, 195 N E 160, 266 N Y 473—In re Greenfogel, 267 N Y S 892, 239 App Div 432, motion denied 191 N E 515, 264 N Y 463—In re Friedland, 264 N Y S 151, 238 App Div. 215—In re Treadwell, 260 N Y S 264, 236 App Div 562—In re Goldstein, 258 N Y S 548, 236 App Div 233—In re Powers, 257 N Y S 113, 235 App Div 382—In re Albert, 252 N Y S 774, 233 App Div. 822—In re Silver, 252 N Y S 749, 233 App Div 303—In re Flanagan, 247 N Y S 724, 231 App Div 548—In re Cusack, 247 N Y S 39, 231 App Div 186—In re Brinn, 246 N.Y.S 515, 231 App Div 179—In re Babcock, 243 N Y S 489, 230 App Div. 332—In re Schmidt, 243 N Y S 295, 229 App Div 604—In re Sprung, 242 N Y S 660, 229 App Div 501—In re Gluck, 243 N Y S 334, 229 App. Div. 490—In re Cohen, 243 N Y S 75, 229 App Div. 478—In re Axtell, 242 N Y S 18, 229 App Div 323, affirmed 177 N E 428, 257 N.Y. 210, and modifying on other grounds 257 N Y S 470, 235 App Div 350—In re Kopleton, 241 N Y S 171, 229 App Div 111—In re Katz, 241 N Y. S 317, 229 App Div. 103—In re Gordon, 241 N Y S 263, 229 App Div 88—In re Eichner, 241 N Y S 113, 229 App Div. 77—In re Becker, 241 N Y S 369, 229 App Div 62, appeal dismissed In re Levy, 174 N E. 461, 255 N Y 233—In re Seidman, 240 N Y S 592, 228 App Div 515—In re Linden, 240 N Y.S 271, 228 App Div 497—In re Horovitz, 240 N.Y S 343, 228 App Div. 484—In re Schacht, 239 N Y S 516, 228 App Div. 232—In re Schlacht, 239 N Y S 454, 228 App Div 226—In re Feuerman, 238 N Y S 656, 227 App. Div. 506—In re Seligsohn, 238 N. Y S 627, 227 App Div. 480—In re Rogers, 235 N Y S. 718, 226 App. Div 470—In re Rothbard, 232 N.Y S. 582, 225 App Div. 266—In re Littick, 232 N Y S 571, 225 App Div 246, affirmed 171 N E 805, 253 N.Y 613—In re Elliott, 230 N Y S 1, 224 App Div 207—In re Bullowa, 229 N.Y.S. 145, 223 App Div. 593—

In re Crary, 228 N Y S 340, 223 App Div 277—In re Krumsky, 226 N Y S 188, 222 App Div. 275—In re Stark, 221 N Y S 243, 220 App Div 133—In re Lordan, 217 N Y S 237, 217 App Div 441—In re Walsh, 217 N Y S 253, 217 App Div 437—In re Marshall, 213 N Y S 611, 216 App Div 168—In re Greenberg, 213 N Y S 728, 216 App Div 164—In re Auerbach, 213 N Y S 664, 216 App Div. 159—In re Simons, 208 N Y S 51, 211 App Div 659—In re Newman, 208 N Y S 140, 211 App Div 654—In re McGee, 208 N Y S. 104, 211 App Div 650, affirmed 152 N.E 436, 242 N Y 581, reargument denied 155 N E 874, 244 N Y. 507—In re McKenna, 208 N Y S 127, 211 App Div. 646, affirmed 148 N E 766, 208 N Y 703—In re Enklewitz, 207 N Y S 596, 211 App Div 268—In re Goette, 205 N Y S 388, 210 App Div. 189—In re Ackerson, 205 N Y S. 407, 209 App.Div 735—In re Marcus, 203 N Y S. 417, 208 App Div 300—In re Makay, 203 N Y S 15, 208 App Div 44—In re Flynn, 203 N Y. 29, 208 App Div. 40—In re Gilbert, 202 N Y S 885, 207 App Div 687—In re Spencer, 201 N.Y S 315, 206 App Div 806—In re O'Brian, 188 N Y S. 506, 197 App Div 50—In re Steinberg, 184 N Y. S 450, 193 App Div 503—In re Bunt, 182 N Y S 434, 192 App Div 226—In re Hunter, 179 N Y S 199, 189 App Div 805—In re Earley, 177 N Y S. 347, 188 App Div 532—In re Pollock, 165 N Y S 631, 178 App Div. 577—In re Hoyt, 165 N Y S 722, 178 App Div 570—In re Brown, 165 N Y S 736, 178 App Div. 558—In re Walsh, 164 N Y S 553, 177 App Div. 659—In re Haire, 162 N Y. S 510, 175 App Div 847—In re Herrman, 161 N Y S 977, 175 App Div. 310—In re Kammerlohr, 157 N Y S 933, 171 App Div 781—In re Hawes, 156 N Y S 283, 169 App Div. 644, affirmed 111 N E 211, 217 N.Y. 602—In re Cebulsky, 155 N Y S. 463, 169 App Div 636—In re Cohen, 155 N Y S 517, 169 App Div 544—In re Lenney, 155 N Y S. 473, 169 App Div. 509, appeal dismissed 115 N E 1043—In re Vanderpool, 155 N Y S 467, 169 App Div 499—In re Reiburn, 283 N.Y S 136—In re Ropiecki, 282 N.Y.S 947.

N C—Brummitt v. Winburn, 175 S E 498, 206 N C. 923

N D—In re Eaton, 235 N.W. 587, 60 N D. 530—In re Garrity, 235 N W 343, 60 N D. 454—In re Torson, 183 N W 1016, 46 N D 200.

Okl.—In re Murray, 61 P (2d) 1051—In re Lane, 54 P.(2d) 339—In re Neary, 50 P (2d) 1119—In re Roff, 50 P.(2d) 355—Charlton v. State Bar of Oklahoma, 42 P (2d) 233, 171 Okl. 128—In re Hills, 40 P (2d) 1031, 170 Okl. 427—In re Gowdy, 36 P.(2d) 902, 169 Okl 370—In re Lester, 36 P (2d) 478, 169 Okl. 162—In re Sides, 12 P.(2d) 232, 158 Okl. 110—Bar Commission of Oklahoma v. Dill, 229 P. 801, 107 Okl 61—In re Simpson, 192 P. 1097, 79 Okl 305—State v Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl 124—State v. Curd, 181 P. 484, 75 Okl 15—In re Horne, 167 P. 1148, 64 Okl 315.

Or—Ex parte Johnston, 61 P (2d) 296—State ex rel Seton v Arnold, 28 P (2d) 846, 145 Or 634—State v Mannix, 288 P 507, 133 Or 329, rehearing denied 290 P 745, 133 Or. 339—State v. Estes, 209 P. 486, 105 Or 222

Pa—In re Kraus, 185 A 737, 322 Pa 362—In re Griffith, 184 A. 76, 321 Pa 64—In re Forman, 184 A. 75, 321 Pa. 47—In re Lemisch, 184 A 72, 321 Pa 110—In re Salus, 184 A 69, 321 Pa 103—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 312 Pa 555—In re Barach, 123 A. 737, 279 Pa 89

R I—In re Troy, 111 A. 723, 43 R I. 279

S D—In re Brown, 264 N W 521

Tex—Rowland v State, (Civ.App) 55 S W (2d) 133

Utah—In re Barclay, 24 P.(2d) 302, 82 Utah 288

Wash—In re Gwynn, 37 P (2d) 1114, 179 Wash 389—In re Mills, 176 P 556, 104 Wash 278

Wis—State v Ingram, 248 N W 915, 212 Wis 142—State v Stetson, 234 N W 704, 203 Wis 657—State v Barto, 232 N W 553, 202 Wis. 329

6 C J p 607 note 90 [c]

Evidence held sufficient to prove

(1) Attorney's failure to comply with the law governing compromise of infants' claims, in disciplinary proceedings—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N. Y.S 481, 228 App Div 470.

(2) Attorney's practice to disregard court orders fixing compensation in infants' cases—In re Gordon, 241 N Y S. 263, 229 App Div 88

(3) Bad faith—In re Gerlich, 244 N.W. 414, 187 Minn 88.

(4) That accused acted inadvertently under a misapprehension of the real facts and intended no wrong—In re Staton, 210 P. 615, 112 Kan 226

(5) That an attorney did not improperly volunteer to defend a colored man accused of murder, over his objection, knowing that accused had confessed, in order to exploit the views of a certain organization, rather than to protect accused's constitutional rights—In re Ades, (D C. Md) 6 F.Supp 467.

(6) That an attorney for executor induced executor to loan him estate funds without giving security, which were not repaid—In re Rogers, 235 N Y.S. 718, 226 App Div 470.

(7) That an attorney volunteering, at the request of a certain organization, to defend a colored man accused of murder did not neglect the constitutional rights of accused—In re Ades, supra.

(8) That an attorney did not falsely represent to the court that he had been engaged to represent accused—In re Ades, supra

(9) That an attorney published false statements criticizing certain state judges and officials.—In re Ades, supra.

(10) That an attorney was guilty of misconduct in obtaining a loan by false representations that he owned an interest in a certain building, and that a certain corporation was indebted to him in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars—State v. Estes, 209 P. 486, 105 Or 222

(11) That an attorney fraudulently obtained from a client money which he pretended to loan to a fictitious person—People v Ladouceur, 179 N E 890, 347 Ill 454

(12) That an attorney did not intentionally misrepresent to a client that judgment for costs had been entered—In re Rolph, 264 N Y S 171, 238 App Div. 235.

(13) That an attorney did not interpose a false answer in an action against him—In re Rolph, supra.

(14) That an attorney deserved censure for reposing undue trust and confidence in an employee, suffering him to conduct the collection branch of his business without due supervision, resulting in the employee's embezzlement of client's moneys and loss of records, thus delaying restitution—In re Hirsch, 171 N Y S. 534, 184 App Div 147.

(15) That an attorney was guilty of misrepresenting to the state and federal courts the status as party plaintiff of a corporation, amounting to deceit and requiring disbarment.—State v Mannix, 288 P. 507, 133 Or. 329, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or. 329.

(16) That an attorney's misconduct in delaying payment of money received for a client was without improper motive, and that he had no intention or idea of defrauding his client.—In re Hirsch, supra

(17) That an attorney's fee of forty per cent of the legacies collected was grossly excessive—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Lotterman, 187 N.E 424, 353 Ill. 399.

(18) That respondent grossly neglected his duty as attorney for plaintiff in an action against a railroad company for personal injuries—People v. Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo. 428.

(19) That respondent made a false affidavit of defense for client, that he filed false affidavits to enjoin a sale of property ordered in proceedings for the forfeiture of criminal bonds, and that he failed to protect client's rights on the foreclosure of a first deed of trust—People v. Martin, 124 N E. 340, 288 Ill. 615.

number of other cases it has been held insufficient.[6]

(20) That respondent misappropriated money collected for client.—People v. Hillyer, supra.

(21) That client did not consent to the retention by an attorney of money given him to deposit in court.—In re Pollock, 165 N.Y.S. 631, 178 App. Div. 577.

(22) To support the finding of a committee.—In re Barclay, 34 P.(2d) 302, 82 Utah 288.

(23) Unprofessional solicitation of business, as through paid agents or runners

Cal.—Johnson v. State Bar of California, 52 P.(2d) 928

Ill.—People v. McCallum, 173 N.E. 827, 341 Ill. 578

Mo.—In re Noell, (App.) 96 S.W.(2d) 213—In re Gallant, (App.) 95 S.W.(2d) 1249.

N.Y.—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N.Y.S. 481, 228 App. Div. 470

Pa.—In re Salus, 184 A. 70, 321 Pa. 106

(24) Violation of the confidence of a client so as to subject an attorney to disbarment.—In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal.App. 144

6. U.S.—U.S. v. Hicks, (C.C.A.Cal.) 27 F.(2d) 289—In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F.Supp. 467.

Cal.—Herrscher v. State Bar of California, 49 P.(2d) 832—Ewell v. State Bar of California, 40 P.(2d) 264, 2 Cal.(2d) 209—Kilpatrick v. State Bar of California, 32 P.(2d) 248, 220 Cal. 689—Burke v. State Bar of California, 21 P.(2d) 577, 218 Cal. 143—Peck v. State Bar of California, 17 P.(2d) 112, 217 Cal. 47—Clark v. State Bar of California, 4 P.(2d) 944, 214 Cal. 281—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P.(2d) 325, 213 Cal. 237—In re Petersen, 280 P. 124, 208 Cal. 42—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Oppenheim, 198 P. 1069, 186 Cal. 75—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Sullivan, 198 P. 7, 185 Cal. 621—In re Peaslis, 252 P. 745, 80 Cal.App. 672—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v. Devall, 210 P. 279, 59 Cal.App. 230—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v. Goldman, 199 P. 836, 53 Cal.App. 42—In re Kling, 186 P. 152, 44 Cal.App. 267—In re Alameda County Bar Ass'n, 170 P. 432, 35 Cal.App. 534.

Ill.—In re Kolb, 199 N.E. 92, 362 Ill. 190—In re Horwitz, 196 N.E. 208, 360 Ill. 313—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Hammond, 191 N.E. 215, 356 Ill. 581—In re Pels, 190 N.E. 250, 356 Ill. 200—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Mall, 188 N.E. 449, 354 Ill. 323—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Lotterman, 187 N.E. 421, 353 Ill. 399—People v. Golondar, 182 N.E. 732, 350 Ill. 256—People v. Bither, 165 N.E. 798, 334 Ill. 264—People v. Johnson, 163 N.E. 326, 332 Ill. 84—People v. McCaskrin, 156 N.E. 328, 325 Ill. 149—People v. Hansen, 147 N.E. 431, 316 Ill. 502—People v. A'Brunswick, 146 N.E. 483, 315 Ill. 442—People v. Mohan, 138 N.E. 279, 307 Ill. 158—People v. Lasley, 135 N.E. 50, 302 Ill. 595—People v. Meyer, 132 N.E. 420, 299 Ill. 355—People v. Hickman, 128 N.E. 434, 294 Ill. 471—People v. Charone, 123 N.E. 291, 288 Ill. 220—People v. Wing, 120 N.E. 451, 284 Ill. 647.

Ind.—Vivian Collieries Co. v. Cahall, 110 N.E. 672, 184 Ind. 473

Ky.—Commonwealth ex rel. Wilson v. Steele, 67 S.W.(2d) 508, 252 Ky. 420—Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W. 555, 208 Ky. 452

La.—In re Craven, 151 So. 625, 178 La. 372, 90 A.L.R. 973—In re Borie, 118 So. 45, 166 La. 855

Minn.—In re Jelle, 244 N.W. 518, 187 Minn. 140—In re Otterness, 232 N.W. 318, 181 Minn. 254, 73 A.L.R. 1319—In re Morgan, 216 N.W. 319, 172 Minn. 532—In re Scott, 215 N.W. 175, 172 Minn. 248—In re Mohn, 184 N.W. 14, 149 Minn. 377—In re Hertz, 166 N.W. 397, 139 Minn. 504

Miss.—Ex parte Redmond, 125 So. 833, 156 Miss. 439

Mo.—State ex rel. Barrett v. Farris, 264 S.W. 363

Mont.—In re Huppe, 11 P.(2d) 793, 92 Mont. 211

Nev.—In re Clarke, 212 P. 1037, 46 Nev. 304—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v. Scoular, 190 P. 899, 44 Nev. 208—In re Winters, 163 P. 244, 40 Nev. 335

N.M.—In re Marron, 160 P. 391, 22 N.M. 252, L.R.A.1917B 373, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P. 216, 22 N.M. 501

N.Y.—In re Cook, 273 N.Y.S. 13, 242 App.Div. 224—In re Halprin, 271 N.Y.S. 679, 241 App.Div. 220—In re Lauria, 271 N.Y.S. 678, 241 App.Div. 216—In re Siegel, 271 N.Y.S. 671, 241 App.Div. 102—In re Cohalan, 271 N.Y.S. 76, 241 App.Div. 17—In re DeMillo, 270 N.Y.S. 645, 241 App.Div. 8—In re Karp, Alter, Busch, Rusgo, Aronstein, Butler, Mayer, Kahan, Fitzsimmons, Goldstein, McAuliffe, Hirsch, Frankel, Weber, and Kurtz, 270 N.Y.S. 113, 240 App.Div. 388, affirmed In re Karp, 195 N.E. 160, 266 N.Y. 473—In re Farrell, 262 N.Y.S. 766, 237 App.Div. 678—In re Vogelstein, 258 N.Y.S. 574, 236 App.Div. 252—In re Hussey, 258 N.Y.S. 634, 236 App.Div. 236—In re Fischer, 247 N.Y.S. 168, 231 App.Div. 192—In re Fisch, 246 N.Y.S. 760, 231 App.Div. 192—In re Schneidkraut, 246 N.Y.S. 505, 231 App.Div. 109—In re Glucksman, 243 N.Y.S. 1, 230 App.Div. 185—In re Cashman, 242 N.Y.S. 566, 229 App.Div. 471—In re Greenwald, 241 N.Y.S. 703, 229 App.Div. 189—In re Robinson, 241 N.Y.S. 296, 229 App.Div. 119—In re O'Neill, 240 N.Y.S. 183, 228 App.Div. 518—In re Linden, 240 N.Y.S. 274, 228 App.Div. 497—In re Horovitz, 240 N.Y.S. 343, 228 App.Div. 484—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N.Y.S. 481, 228 App.Div. 470—In re Cohen, 240 N.Y.S. 350, 228 App.Div. 465—In re Cherry, 240 N.Y.S. 232, 228 App.Div. 458—In re Bovard, 239 N.Y.S. 465, 228 App.Div. 263—In re Schlacht, 239 N.Y.S. 454, 228 App.Div. 226—In re Schleider, 239 N.Y.S. 311, 228 App.Div. 221—In re O'Neil, 239 N.Y.S. 297, 228 App.Div. 129—In re Baker, 238 N.Y.S. 409, 227 App.Div. 540—In re Langfur, 238 N.Y.S. 498, 227 App.Div. 468—In re Spigelgass, 233 N.Y.S. 33, 225 App.Div. 297—In re Woodburn, 208 N.Y.S. 331, 212 App.Div. 43—In re Levine, 205 N.Y.S. 589, 210 App.Div. 8—In re O'Neill, 171 N.Y.S. 514, 184 App.Div. 75—In re Somerville, 170 N.Y.S. 879, 183 App.Div. 415—In re Treadwell, 162 N.Y.S. 554, 175 App.Div. 833—In re An Attorney, 161 N.Y.S. 504, 175 App.Div. 653—In re Metcalfe, 236 N.Y.S. 591—In re Keesing, 233 N.Y.S. 319—In re Ifshin, 233 N.Y.S. 308—In re Janover, 165 N.Y.S. 645

N.D.—In re Doherty, 164 N.W. 948, 38 N.D. 260.

Ohio.—In re Campbell, 17 Ohio Cir.Ct.(N.S.) 223, 1 Ohio App. 413—In re McCray, 17 Ohio Cir.Ct.(N.S.) 213, 1 Ohio App. 421

Okl.—Haunstein v. State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P.(2d) 558—In re Rice, 29 P.(2d) 599, 167 Okl. 330—In re Fleming, 29 P.(2d) 592, 167 Okl. 335—In re McNabb, 185 P. 431, 76 Okl. 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 728, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A.L.R. 89—In re Huddleston, 181 P. 711, 75 Okl. 48.

Or.—State v. Ridgway, 208 P. 587, 104 Or. 624

S.D.—In re Wilmarth, 172 N.W. 921, 42 S.D. 76

Utah.—In re Jones, 249 P. 803, 68 Utah 213.

Wash.—In re Bond, 60 P.(2d) 54—In re Dunham, 214 P. 628, 124 Wash. 418

6 C.J. p. 607 note 90 [d].

Evidence held insufficient to prove

(1) Acceptance of bribe.—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. Oppenheim, 198 P. 1069, 186 Cal. 75.

(2) Acceptance of salaries without rendering adequate services therefor.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206

(3) Alleged misconduct of an attorney in appearing as attorney for defendant in a divorce action with-

Conviction of crime as conclusive evidence. In some jurisdictions, usually by virtue of express statutory provisions, the conviction of an attorney of a crime involving moral turpitude is conclusive evidence of his unfitness to remain a member of the bar,[7] and in some states this rule has been ap-out authority—In re Rice, 29 P.(2d) 599, 167 Okl 330.

(4) Alleged misconduct of an attorney in that he, by misrepresentations and bad faith, obtained delivery of a truck held under execution by constable—In re Rice, supra

(5) Attorney's contention that one thousand dollars of two thousand dollars, which client allegedly had paid to the attorney to be applied as a down payment on the purchase of certain realty, had been paid merely as compensation for past services—In re Ropiecki, 282 N Y S 947

(6) Attorney's contention that a transaction, whereby client gave an attorney two thousand five hundred dollars, receiving in return an insurance policy, was a sale of the policy to the client and not, as claimed by the client, a loan secured by the policy for the express purpose of paying outstanding liens against particular property—In re Ropiecki, supra

(7) Attorney's contention that he had kept the unpaid balance of clients' money in cash in a safe in his office, properly earmarked, and had not commingled it with his private property—In re Ropiecki, supra

(8) That an attorney's payments to doctors, were compensation for the doctors' recommending him in personal injury cases or that the attorney withheld excessive amounts from clients—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N.Y.S 481, 228 App Div 470

(9) Attorney's solicitation as to cases in which he obtained retainers through recommendations of third parties—In re Seidman, 240 N Y S 592, 228 App Div 515

(10) Attorney's solicitation of litigation, client's testimony being contradicted—In re Seidman, supra

(11) Bad faith or fraudulent purpose, necessary to justify disbarment—In re Lasecki, 192 N E 655, 358 Ill 69

(12) Breach of trust in capacity as an attorney—In re Parker, 184 S E 533, 209 N C 693

(13) Bringing an action in the name of a woman on a policy issued to her father without her knowledge or consent, and of alleging therein that her father had died, although he was still living, and of receiving and appropriating proceeds of settlement—In re Hertz, 166 N W 397, 139 Minn 504

(14) Charge that an attorney obtained and converted bank account without client's knowledge—In re DeMillo, 270 N Y S 645, 241 App.Div. 8

(15) Charge that respondent had collected money from various insurance societies, and failed to account for it to his clients—In re Hertz, supra

(16) Dividing fees with persons not lawyers—In re Gallant, (Mo App) 95 S W (2d) 1249

(17) Fraudulent intent—Barbee v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 353, 213 Cal. 296

(18) Innocence of intentional wrongdoing recommending him to leniency—Howe v State Bar of California, 298 P 25, 213 Cal 222

(19) That a small loan by lawyers to a destitute client, by whom they had been employed to bring a personal injury action, was a consideration for employment and that respondents proposed to the client to put up a certified check for a certain amount if the client would permit them to bring action to set aside the settlement made by the client with defendant in the proposed action—In re Sizer, 267 S W. 922, 306 Mo. 356

(20) That an allegation in a petition for mandamus that the petitioner was the sole attorney for accused, to whom the warden had denied the petitioner access, was made with the intention to deceive the court which knew that other counsel had been appointed for accused—In re Ades, (D C Md) 6 F Supp 467.

(21) That an attorney procured habeas corpus without having been engaged to represent accused and without informing the court of the fact—In re Ades, supra.

(22) That an attorney attempted to intimidate state's witness and get her to change her testimony.—In re Ades, supra

(23) That an attorney had falsely represented at hearing of writ for habeas corpus that permission to consult with accused had been refused—In re Ades, supra

(24) That an attorney falsely swore that he had no funds in his possession as trustee belonging to trustor, where trustor had theretofore assigned interest in trust funds—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 335, 213 Cal 237.

(25) That an attorney fraudulently wrote an assignment on the back of stock certificates which were given as collateral security for a loan—State v. Estes, 209 P 486, 105 Or. 322

(26) That an attorney converted to his own use money which was given him to institute bankruptcy proceedings or permitted taxes for which a client had given him money, with the request to pay them, to become delinquent—State v. Estes, supra.

(27) That attorneys extorted an additional fee from a client by threats of criminal proceedings—In re Marron, 160 P 391, 22 N M 253, L R A 1917B 378, motion granted In re Marron & Wood, 165 P 216, 22 N M 501.

(28) That an attorney was guilty of knowingly prosecuting fraudulent claim for personal injuries—People v McCallum, 173 N E 827, 341 Ill 578

(29) That an attorney filed false and fraudulent affidavits to induce the court to advance an action for personal injuries knowing affidavits to be fraudulent.—People v McCallum, supra

(30) That an attorney attempted to induce a third person to buy realty and to refuse to pay the unrecorded mortgage thereon—In re Spencer, 201 N.Y S 315, 206 App Div. 806

(31) That by undue influence, fraud, and deceit an attorney induced a client, while she was incompetent, to make her will, leaving a legacy to his daughter and appointing him executor, and procured the assignment to his wife of real estate mortgages.—In re Spencer, supra.

(32) That respondents had agreed, in violation of Rev St (1919) § 668, to divide fees with unlicensed representatives employed by them as investigators and claim agents—In re Sizer, 267 S W 922, 306 Mo 356

(33) That respondents, in order to get personal injury cases, promised to give clients money to live on pending the action, and offered to place a certain amount to such persons' credit in bank—In re Sizer, supra

(34) That, while acting as agent to collect rents, pay for taxes and repairs, and to find a purchaser for a business block, attorney deceived his principal as to the value of her equity therein, to enable himself to purchase it at a lower price through a third party without her knowledge—In re Spencer, supra

7. Cal—In re Collins, 206 P 990, 188 Cal 701, 32 A L R 1062—In re O'Connell, 194 P 1010, 184 Cal 584
Idaho—In re Kerl, 188 P 40, 32 Idaho 737, 8 A L R 1259
Ill—In re Needham, 4 N E (2d) 19 364 Ill 65—People v Meyerovitz, 116 N E 189, 278 Ill 356
Iowa—State v Metcalfe, 214 N.W 874, 204 Iowa 123
Ky—Commonwealth v Porter, 46 S. W (2d) 1096, 242 Ky 561—Underwood v Commonwealth, 105 S.W. 151, 32 Ky L. 32.

plied where the conviction was secured in a federal court,[8] but wholly denied[9] or qualified, at least to some extent,[10] in other states.

In other jurisdictions, it has been held that, in the absence of statute, a conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude is not conclusive, in a disbarment proceeding against an attorney on any ground of res judicata,[11] although it has been held to establish prima facie the attorney's unfitness to practice.[12]

b. Failure to Testify or Call Witness

Failure of an attorney to testify in his own defense or to call witnesses may be considered in weighing the evidence adduced in a disbarment proceeding.

The rule in criminal cases that the failure of accused to testify in his own behalf shall not be considered against him does not apply to proceedings for disbarment of an attorney, and such failure may be considered in weighing the evidence offered against him.[13] Also, where the testimony of witnesses, if true, shows the attorney to be guilty of the alleged offenses, any inference to be drawn from his failure to produce other witnesses must be resolved against him.[14]

c. Accomplice Testimony

Ordinarily, an accomplice may testify against the attorney, but the authorities are conflicting as to the necessity of corroboration.

One who entered into a corrupt scheme with an attorney may, in proceedings to disbar the attorney, testify to the details of the scheme,[15] and the rule of the criminal law that defendant cannot be convicted on the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice has been held not to apply in disbarment proceedings.[16] However, where required, the extent to which corroboration is necessary in such a proceeding is for the determination of the court in each case.[17]

Mont—In re Callicotte, 187 P. 1019, 57 Mont. 297

Neb—State v Scoville, 243 N.W. 269, 128 Neb 457, followed in State ex rel Good v Black, 251 N.W. 109, 125 Neb 382

Pa—In re Gottesfeld, 91 A. 494, 245 Pa. 314.

S.D—In re Kirby, 73 N.W. 92, 10 S.D. 322, 39 L.R.A. 856.

6 C.J. p 608 note 91 [a].

Conviction of contempt

Where an order of the probate court holding an attorney guilty of contempt for converting to his own use property of an estate had been affirmed by the appellate court and a further review of the record was denied by the supreme court, the order was "final" and immune from collateral attack in a proceeding to disbar such attorney—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Templeman, 1 N.E.(2d) 850, 363 Ill. 152

Guilt may be proved without record

Although the record of the conviction is conclusive evidence of the guilt of the accused, guilt may be established without such record—People v. Meyerovitz, 116 N.E. 189, 278 Ill. 356

Injunction not equivalent to conviction

Injunction against an attorney's maintaining a place where liquors were kept for sale and sold was held not a conviction of felony within the statute making conviction conclusive—State v. Metcalfe, 214 N.W. 874, 204 Iowa 123.

Prosecution abandoned on appeal

Prosecution of an attorney in a district court on an appeal, where the case was triable anew, after a conviction in a police court, was held abandoned, and the conviction of little, if any, probative force in disbarment proceedings—State v Metcalfe, 214 N.W. 874, 204 Iowa 123

Conviction of crime involving moral turpitude as ipso facto causing disbarment see supra § 21

Conviction of crime involving moral turpitude as making it mandatory on court to disbar attorney see infra § 38

8. In re Needham, 4 N.E.(2d) 19, 364 Ill. 65

Conviction of illegal use of mails

Judgment of the federal circuit court of appeals affirming a judgment of the federal district court convicting an attorney of using the United States mails to obtain money and property of others by fraud and false pretenses was held conclusive evidence of such attorney's guilt—In re Needham, 4 N.E.(2d) 19, 364 Ill. 65

9. Not conclusive of either guilt or moral turpitude

Conviction of an attorney of a felony in the federal court is not conclusive evidence of such guilt or of moral turpitude in disbarment proceedings, so as to preclude this court from looking into the record for the purpose of determining both the guilt and the moral turpitude of such attorney, but is conclusive only of the fact of conviction—In re Green, 16 P.(2d) 582, 161 Okl. 1.

10. Not conclusive of moral turpitude

While conclusive effect will be given the record of conviction in a federal court, it is not conclusive that the crime involved moral turpitude; that is a question of law for this court—In re Downs, 268 P. 17, 46 Idaho 464—In re Dampier, 267 P. 452, 46 Idaho 195

11. N.Y.—In re Kaufmann, 157 N.E. 730, 245 N.Y. 423, reversing 211 N.Y.S. 256, 213 App.Div. 555—In re Lindheim, 211 N.Y.S. 261, 213 App. Div. 560

Wis.—State v. O'Leary, 241 N.W. 621, 207 Wis. 297, 81 A.L.R. 1193

Judgment on plea of nolo contendere

Mere introduction of a certified copy of an indictment and judgment thereon, based on a plea of nolo contendere, was held not to show "conviction or confession" of felony, warranting an attorney's disbarment—In re Stiers, 167 S.E. 382, 204 N.C. 48

12. State v. O'Leary, 241 N.W. 621, 207 Wis. 297, 81 A.L.R. 1193

13. Cal.—Fish v. State Bar of California, 4 P.(2d) 937, 214 Cal. 215—In re Graves, 221 P. 411, 64 Cal. App. 176

N.Y.—In re Lynch, 238 N.Y.S. 482, 227 App.Div. 477—In re O'Neill, 171 N.Y.S. 514, 184 App.Div. 75.

6 C.J. p 608 note 93

Right of attorney to decline to testify in disbarment proceeding see Witnesses § 441 [70 C.J. p 735 notes 41–43]

14. In re Herrman, 161 N.Y.S. 977, 175 App.Div. 310.

15. State v. Cadwell, 40 P. 176, 16 Mont. 119—6 C.J. p 608 note 91

16. In re Morton, 177 P. 453, 179 Cal. 510—6 C.J. p 608 note 95.

Client held not accomplice

Client is held not to be an attorney's accomplice, so as to require corroboration of his testimony in a disbarment proceeding, because of the execution of a note and mortgage on the attorney's advice to defraud creditors—In re Masuran, 263 P. 339, 88 Cal.App. 272.

17. Matter of Hardenbrook, 121 N.Y.S. 250, 135 App.Div. 634, affirmed 92 N.E. 1086, 199 N.Y. 539.

§ 34. —— Trial or Hearing

a. In general
b Reference

a. In General

The trial or hearing in a disbarment proceeding should be conducted in accordance with general legal principles, including those applicable to continuances, instructions, reopening a case, confronting witnesses, and verdicts.

Where not prescribed by statute, the court may prescribe the form and manner of proceeding (supra § 28) and is vested with a large discretion[18] which is not to be exercised in an arbitrary manner,[19] but most cautiously and with a scrupulous protection of the rights of accused,[20] and in accordance with the legal rules and principles for determining his guilt.[21] All matters touching upon the integrity of the bar should receive the fullest consideration without regard to technicalities,[23] and the attorney cannot control the investigation of the court or the consideration of any facts or circumstances that will assist the court in accurately determining his then fitness to practice law,[23] but, subject to the constitutional limitation as to self-incrimination, he must answer, disclose and testify.[24]

Joint or separate trial. Where two or more attorneys jointly commit acts which, if proven, justify the disbarment of each, they may be jointly charged as together doing the acts, and it is not error to refuse a separate trial to each in the absence of a statute giving such right.[25] Upon such joint trial one or more may be acquitted and the others convicted, or all may be acquitted or convicted, according to the evidence.[26]

Continuance. The granting of a continuance is within the discretion of the trial court[27] and the refusal thereof is not cause for reversal where ample opportunity was afforded for a full investigation,[28] and the attorney suffered no prejudice thereby;[29] but it is error to refuse respondent a

18. U S—Bartos v U S District Court for District of Nebraska, (C C A Neb) 19 F (2d) 722, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138.
D C—Thomas v Ogilby, 59 App D C 382, 44 F (2d) 890
Ill—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Lotterman, 187 N E 424, 353 Ill 399
Okl—In re Rice, 29 P (2d) 599, 167 Okl 330—In re Hadwiger, 27 P.(2d) 604, 167 Okl. 307
S D—In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D 374
Vt—In re Haddad, 173 A. 103, 106 Vt 322

The order of proof is within the sound discretion of the trial court and an order of the court that the charges should be disposed of separately as respects the proof is reasonable—Thomas v Ogilby, 59 App D C. 382, 44 F (2d) 890.

19. U S—Bartos v. U. S District Court for District of Nebraska (C C.A Neb) 19 F.(2d) 722, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138
Ill—In re Lasecki, 192 N E 655, 358 Ill 69—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Lotterman, 187 N E 424, 353 Ill 399—People v. Bither, 165 N E 798, 334 Ill 264
Okl—In re Rice, 29 P (2d) 599, 167 Okl 330—In re Hadwiger, 27 P. (2d) 604, 167 Okl. 307.

20. In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D 374.

21. Ill—In re Lasecki, 192 N E 655, 358 Ill 69—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Lotterman, 187 N E. 424, 353 Ill. 399—People v. Gorindar, 182 N.E 732, 350 Ill. 256—People v. Gilmore, 177 N E 710, 345 Ill 38—People v. Bither, 165 N.E 798, 334 Ill. 264.
Okl—In re Rice, 29 P (2d) 599, 167 Okl 330—In re Hadwiger, 27 P (2d) 604, 167 Okl 307.
Vt—In re Haddad, 173 A. 103, 106 Vt 322
6 C J p 609 notes 98, 99.

Decision as to merits of plea

Where an attorney interposed exceptions by way of a preliminary defense, he is entitled to a decision from the court on the merit of his pleas—State v. Flynn, 107 So 314, 160 La 483.

Interrogation of witnesses by judge

It has been held not improper for the judge to interrogate witnesses—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416.

22. In re Huppe, 11 P.(2d) 793, 92 Mont 211.

23. In re Hosford, 252 N W 843, 62 S D 374.

Intention not to practice in future

An attorney's intention not to practice law in the future is no reason why the court should decline to proceed to a final determination of the disbarment proceeding.—People v. Powell, 287 P. 858, 87 Colo. 387.

24. Cal.—Fish v. State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal 215
Minn—In re Halvorson, 221 N.W 907, 175 Minn 520
N M—In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N.M 449.

Attorney may not assume an attitude purely defensive, but must explain transactions wrongful on their face and demonstrate their innocence or good faith—In re Zinn, 34 P.(2d) 1097, 38 N M 449.

25. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill. 206—6 C J p 609 note 11.

26. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, supra—6 C J. p 609 note 12.

27. Iowa—State v. Kimball, 158 N. W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W 836.
Pa—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416

28. Wilhelm's Case, supra.

29. Green v State Bar of California, 292 P 638, 210 Cal 603

Refusal held not prejudicial or erroneous

(1) Refusal to continue disbarment proceeding on the ground that attorney had tendered an answer only at the time of trial was held not error, where all the parties had announced ready, and the answer was in effect a denial of the charges of the petition, and did not allege new matter which would cause the relator surprise—De Krasner v. Boykin, (Ga App) 186 S.E 749.

(2) The refusal of a continuance which resulted in a hearing where the attorney was without benefit of counsel has been held not prejudicial where the matter involved a single issue without complications and the facts found rested almost entirely on admissions made by the attorney in his answer and oral testimony and letters written by him, and where he subsequently appeared before the board of commissioners and the supreme court without counsel—In re Steffensen, 39 P.(2d) 722, 85 Utah 380.

(3) Refusal of a continuance has been held not prejudicial where the continuance on a proper showing being made by him.[30]

Right to confront witnesses. A disbarment proceeding not being criminal in nature (supra § 28), it has been held that the accused attorney is not entitled to be confronted face to face with the witnesses against him,[31] but that the depositions of absent or nonresident witnesses, if competent otherwise, are competent and admissible evidence in such cases.[32] On the other hand some courts hold that disbarment or suspension can be had only on evidence good at common law, given in the presence of respondent, by witnesses subject to cross-examination.[33] This right may, however, be waived by the appearance of respondent and his failure to enter objection thereto at any time.[34]

Reopening case. The judges hearing a disbarment proceeding have authority to entertain a motion to reopen the case.[35] Such motion is addressed to their sound discretion[36] and a reopening of the case may be based upon such reasonable terms as they see fit.[37] Where the motion to reopen the proceedings for newly discovered evidence is granted, the lower court should consider such evidence and then transmit it to the appellate court together with a report as to whether any change in the recommendation is to be made.[38]

Dismissal or direction of verdict. While the court will dismiss the proceeding where the charges are not supported by the evidence,[39] a motion to dismiss will be denied where a prima facie case has been presented,[40] or where the evidence introduced by the attorney constitutes no defense thereto.[41] Also, there being no exceptions thereto, the pro-

attorney filed no answer to the complaint, signed a stipulation of readiness on the day before the hearing, and appeared at a later hearing without counsel—Green v State Bar of California, 292 P 638, 210 Cal 603

(4) Where accused was given ample time to prepare depositions and notice of the day on which they would be required, and though the time was extended they were not received within the extended time, the court did not err in refusing to wait longer for them, especially where the only matter thereby shown not already in evidence was immaterial—In re Vaughan, 209 P. 353, 189 Cal. 491, 24 A.L.R 858.

(5) Refusing continuance to defendant to prepare defense to amendment charging him with causing disappearance of a witness, where defendant did not appear and testify, was held within the discretion of the trial court, the accusation being as to a matter of his personal conduct—State v Kimball, (Iowa) 158 N W 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836

(6) The denial by commissioners to hear disbarment proceedings, of a continuance because witnesses for the attorney were under indictment and would claim their privilege of refusing to give testimony, is not shown to be erroneous, where the commissioners reserved their ruling upon the effect of the claim of privilege by the witnesses until such claim should be made, and the witnesses were not subpœnaed by the attorney to appear at the hearing before the commissioners—In re O'Brien, 113 A. 527, 95 Vt. 167, 14 A L R 859

(7) It was not error for the commissioners to hear disbarment charges to deny a continuance because of the physical inability of the attorney to attend the hearing until proof of such inability be made by some showing beyond the mere statement of his counsel—In re O'Brien, supra

(8) The court properly refused continuance of disbarment proceedings until determination on appeal of criminal action for subornation of perjury, disbarment involving charges other than perjury—In re Abrams, 173 N E 312, 36 Ohio App 384

30. In re Vaughan, 209 P 353, 189 Cal 491, 24 A L R 858—6 C J. p 609 note 13.

Continuance held proper

Proceedings against an attorney for violating a judgment of suspension are properly continued until after the determination of an appeal from such judgment of suspension—Lincoln v Superior Court of California, 271 P 1107, 95 Cal App 35

31. Ala—Ex parte Messer, 152 So 244, 228 Ala. 16

Cal—Bar Ass'n of San Diego v. Superior Court of San Diego County, 222 P 135, 64 Cal App 590—In re Morganstern, 215 P. 721, 61 Cal. App 702

6 C J. p 608 note 18, p 609 note 5

Failure to call person verifying accusation

Accused in disbarment proceedings was held not denied constitutional right to be confronted with witnesses because the person verifying the accusation was not called as a witness—In re Mazuran, 263 P 339, 88 Cal App 272

32. People v. Stonecipher, 111 N E 496, 271 Ill. 506—6 C J. p 609 note 6.

33. In re Sizer, 267 S W 922, 306 Mo 356—6 C J. p 609 note 7

Right to cross-examine witnesses testifying at preliminary investigation into attorney's conduct see supra § 27.

34. In re ———, 86 N Y. 563—6 C J p 609 note 8.

35. State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 3 P (2d) 79, 43 Wyo. 223

36. State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, supra.

Newly discovered evidence

On a motion to reopen the case for the purpose of taking newly discovered evidence, the court should consider whether the evidence could with reasonable diligence have been discovered and produced at the trial, whether it would be merely cumulative, and whether it would probably cause a change, favorable to respondent, in the recommendation theretofore made—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 3 P (2d) 79, 43 Wyo 223

37. State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, supra

38. State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, supra.

Recommendation based on all the evidence

The supreme court in disbarment proceedings against an attorney should have the benefit of the recommendation of trial judges based on all the evidence—State Board of Law Examiners v. Strahan, 3 P (2d) 79, 43 Wyo 223

39 Colo—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v Kelley, 18 P.(2d) 1118, 93 Colo 212

Mont—In re O'Sullivan, 251 P. 143, 77 Mont. 444

6 C J p 610 note 16

40. In re Ulmer, 167 N E 749, 268 Mass 373

Some evidence, although conflicting

A request for a ruling that there is no evidence to show deceit, malpractice, or other gross conduct will be denied where there is evidence, although conflicting, of such conduct.—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N.E 269, 251 Mass 6.

41. Thomas v Ogilby, 59 App D C. 382, 44 F.(2d) 890.

ceedings will be dismissed for want of prosecution,[42] as where the principal witness for the prosecution has died since the institution of the proceeding and it is impossible to obtain sufficient evidence to justify the submission of the case,[43] or where the alleged conduct occurred a long time previous to the petition and the matter was before the courts and examined by the bar association, which failed to find sufficient ground to present charges.[44] However, a motion to dismiss the proceedings as violative of the attorney's constitutional rights will be denied where the affidavit submitted in support of the motion is devoid of fact or argument indicating the most remote invasion of such rights.[45]

A proceeding for disbarment or suspension cannot be dismissed, over objection, on the motion of the accuser,[46] defendant is entitled to have the evidence examined by the court so as to receive an authoritative determination of the falsity of the charges.[47]

In disbarment proceedings, as in all civil actions, the court may direct a verdict, where the evidence is uncontroverted.[48]

Arguments of counsel. An argument of counsel referring to the reputation and high standing of the lawyers who signed the complaint, and their motives and beliefs in so doing, is error,[49] but an argument calling attention to the evil consequences of the practice charged in a specification other than that on which the attorney was disbarred was held not ground for reversal.[50]

Instructions. Upon a submission of questions to a jury, the instructions given to the jury must not be general,[51] or misleading,[52] and must not be contradictory, ambiguous, or argumentative.[53] While instructions on the weight of the evidence should not be given,[54] it is not error to give an instruction assuming the truth of facts which the attorney has admitted,[55] and the court may instruct the jury as to the amount of proof required.[56] Each question submitted to the jury need not cover all the issues in the case[57] and where a petition was drawn in the form of a single count alleging several grounds for disbarment, it is not necessary for the court to instruct the jury to specify the particular ground or grounds on which they predicate their verdict.[58] It is not error to refuse to submit interrogatories referring the legal interpretation of the specifications to the jury;[59] and the failure to charge or submit a particular interrogatory is not error in the absence of a specific request therefor.[60]

Questions of law and fact Where the answer is insufficient or where no answer is filed, so that the essential facts stand admitted, it is not error to refuse to submit the issues of fact to the jury.[61] Whether the withholding of money was with a fraudulent intent is a question for determination of the trier of facts,[62] but the question whether a felony of which an attorney was convicted shows that he is unfit to be trusted with the duties of his profession, is not a fact to be found, but a conclusion of law to be deduced from facts revealed to the court.[63]

In a proceeding before the court, it is the court's duty to determine the competency as well as the weight of the evidence,[64] and also the credibility of the witnesses.[65]

Matters considered. In disbarment proceedings,

42. In re Townsend, 168 P. 218, 67 Okl 25.

43. State v. Johnson, 188 P 1053, 78 Okl 58

44. In re Tuck, 167 N.Y.S. 534, 180 App Div 924

45. In re Carter, 164 N.Y.S. 862, 177 App Div 677.

46. Cal.—In re Knott, 12 P. 780, 71 Cal 584
Pa.—In re Davies, 93 Pa. 116, 39 Am. R 729
6 C.J. p 609 note 14.

47. In re Chandler, 63 N.W. 69, 105 Mich 235.

48. Wood v State, 165 S.E. 908, 45 Ga App 783—6 C.J. p 610 note 17.

49. Houtchens v State, (Tex Com. App.) 63 S.W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ.App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 976.

50. McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.

51. Houtchens v State, (Tex Com. App.) 63 S.W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 976

52. McCord v. State, 126 So 873, 220 Ala. 466

Instruction held misleading

An instruction reciting parts of a pleading which had been previously stricken out by the court has been held misleading and erroneous—Buhler v. Trick, 144 N.E. 340, 195 Ind 190

53. Houtchens v. State, (Tex Com App.) 63 S.W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 976.

Instruction held contradictory and argumentative.—Houtchens v State, (Tex Com App.) 63 S.W.(2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 679, and motion granted (Com App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 976.

54. Houtchens v. State, supra.

55. Chreste v Commonwealth, 198 S.W. 929, 178 Ky 311

56. McCord v State, 126 So 873, 220 Ala 466

57. McCord v State, supra.

58. Wood v. State, 165 S.E. 908, 45 Ga App 783.

59. McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala 466

60. McCord v State, supra.

61. Rosenberg v. Commonwealth ex rel Otte, 74 S.W.(2d) 478, 255 Ky. 413.

62. In re McCue, 261 P 341, 80 Mont. 537.

63. State v. Harwood, 173 S.E. 24, 206 N.C. 87

64. Miller v Commonwealth, 57 S.W.(2d) 476, 247 Ky. 479

65. Mass.—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v Sleeper, 146 N.E. 269, 251 Mass. 6.

the public interest is the primary question[66] and the real question for determination in such proceedings is whether or not the attorney is a fit person to be longer allowed the privileges of being an attorney.[67] The court will examine all the facts and circumstances[68] and must view the alleged misconduct from the standpoint of facts appearing at the time[69]

Verdict or findings. Where a petition, drawn in the form of a single count, alleges several grounds as causes for disbarment, the verdict need not specify the grounds on which it is predicated, a general verdict being sufficient,[70] and under a statute providing for suspension or disbarment of an attorney found guilty of fraudulent or dishonest conduct, it has been held a verdict finding the attorney guilty as charged is sufficient and that it is not necessary that the verdict specifically find the attorney guilty of fraudulent or dishonest conduct.[71]

While written findings are not required in a disbarment proceeding unless so provided by statute,[72] they are not prohibited[73] and the practice of making no findings is not to be commended.[74]

Pa.—In re Salus, 184 A. 69, 321 Pa. 103.
Wis.—State v. Bradford, 259 N.W. 109, 217 Wis. 389.

66. State v. Schnorenberg, 243 N.W. 486, 208 Wis. 595.

67. Cal.—McIntosh v. State Bar of California, 294 P. 1067, 211 Cal. 261
Idaho—In re Wourms, 170 P. 919, 31 Idaho 291.
Ill.—People v. Jackson, 153 N.E. 621, 322 Ill. 618.
Iowa.—State v. Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157.
Kan.—In re Gorsuch, 214 P. 794, 113 Kan. 380.
N.Y.—In re Kelly, 188 N.Y.S. 502, 197 App. Div. 41
Okl.—State v. Ledbetter, 260 P. 454, 127 Okl. 85—In re Sitton, 177 P. 555, 72 Okl. 13.
Pa.—In re Olienais, 26 Pa. Dist. 853, 863.
S.D.—In re Brown, 264 N.W. 521—In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S.D. 374—In re Van Ruschen, 160 N.W. 1006, 38 S.D. 254—In re Egan, 154 N.W. 521, 36 S.D. 228
Wis.—State v. O'Leary, 241 N.W. 621, 207 Wis. 297, 81 A.L.R. 1193—State v. Kern, 233 N.W. 629, 208 Wis. 178
6 C.J. p. 581 note 62.

68. U.S.—In re Ades, (D.C.Md.) 6 F. Supp. 467.
Ill.—People v. Gorindar, 182 N.E. 732, 350 Ill. 256—People v. Gilmore, 177 N.E. 710, 345 Ill. 28
Okl.—In re Green, 16 P.(2d) 582, 161 Okl. 1.

Matters considered in determining an attorney's fitness

(1) In a disciplinary proceeding the local administrative committee and board of governors of state bar as well as the supreme court are required to consider accused attorney's past record as to proceedings wherein disciplinary measures have actually been prescribed—In re Miller, (Nev.) 59 P.(2d) 9

(2) In determining the guilt of the attorneys, their reputation is to be taken into consideration, as well as the practice observed by the profession generally in the matter involved—People v. Edelson, 145 N.E. 246, 313 Ill. 601.

(3) In determining an attorney's moral fitness, the court should consider the constitutional and statutory privileges as an elector that were lost through his conviction of a crime—Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v. Broder, 152 A. 292, 112 Conn. 263, 269.

(4) The court can hear such facts of a case originating in a municipal court as is pertinent to the charge of misconduct—In re Disbarment Proceedings, 184 A. 59, 321 Pa. 81

(5) The fact that an attorney was convicted of a crime should always be considered in determining his fitness to continue practice—In re Van Ruschen, 160 N.W. 1006, 38 S.D. 254

(6) The levy of a fine because of visits to disorderly houses may be considered in determining whether an attorney is a proper person to hold a license—People v. Smith, 124 N.E. 807, 290 Ill. 241, 9 A.L.R. 188.

(7) A judgment in a civil action against the attorney is not res adjudicata in a disbarment proceeding, and the court may examine the facts anew—In re Tanz, 252 N.Y.S. 769, 233 App. Div. 300

Matters not considered in determining attorney's fitness

(1) Where the acts charged show that the attorney is unfit to continue practicing, the supreme court, having inherent power to disbar him, need not consider the validity of a statute setting up grounds for disbarment regardless of whether the petition attempts to set up statutory grounds—In re Spriggs, 284 P. 521, 36 Ariz. 263.

(2) Matters attempted to be set out in a bill of exceptions on a writ of error from a conviction of a crime, but which was held not a bill of exceptions because not presented in time, cannot be considered in the disbarment proceedings—In re O'Connell, 194 P. 1010, 184 Cal. 584

(3) A trial judge hearing disciplinary proceedings against an attorney previously disbarred in a federal court is not required to review what took place in the federal court—In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373.

Motive not decisive

The motive actuating an attorney in the commission of a felony of which he was convicted is not decisive of whether he is fit to be trusted with the duties of his profession—State v. Harwood, 173 S.E. 24, 206 N.C. 87

69. Colo.—People v. Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo. 428
Wis.—State v. Rubin, 229 N.W. 36, 201 Wis. 30

70. Wood v. State, 165 S.E. 908, 45 Ga. App. 783

71. Newsom v. State, (Tex. Civ. App.) 236 S.W. 228

72. Cal.—In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal. App. 650
Nev.—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v. Scoular, 190 P. 899, 44 Nev. 308
6 C.J. p. 609 note 1.

73. In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal. App. 650

Conformity of findings to charges

(1) A finding that an attorney violated a certain rule and statute cannot be sustained where the complaint charges no violation thereof, and no amendments were made to the complaint although leave to amend was given—Irving v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 2, 213 Cal. 81.

(2) A finding that respondent knowingly failed to tell the truth and was guilty of perjury in the disbarment proceeding has been held not error notwithstanding there was no charge of perjury in the complaint, where the issue narrowed down to the question whether respondent was telling the truth or committing perjury—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N.E. 269, 251 Mass. 6.

74. In re Kling, 186 P. 152, 44 Cal. App. 267.

Conclusions held findings of fact

In disbarment proceeding, conclusions of single justice that declarations of deceased person were made in good faith upon personal knowledge and before commencement of proceeding, as required by statute

On a petition for reargument the decision may be modified so as to omit a sentence which the judge who took testimony on motion deleted from his findings.[75]

Preservation of evidence. A statutory provision requiring the evidence to be reduced to writing, filed, and preserved contemplates such preservation for the purpose of appeal only,[76] and if the accused is acquitted there is no occasion for completing the record.[77] Such a requirement is complied with if the oral testimony is taken down in shorthand, duly certified, and filed at the time judgment is entered.[78]

b. Reference

Where a reference is permissible, the referee, if not disqualified, is an officer of the court vested with its authority and dignity in the special instance to conduct the proceedings and report thereon to the court.

There is a conflict of authority as to the right to a reference in a disbarment proceeding. In some jurisdictions, the usual practice is to refer the proceedings to a referee or a committee of the bar association to take the testimony and report thereon together with findings and recommendations,[79] but in a number of states it is ruled that not only should the judge make the findings of fact and law, but also that the witnesses should be examined in the presence of the court.[80]

Where a disbarment proceeding is referred to a referee, it has been held that the referee is an officer of the court[81] vested with the dignity and authority of the court in the special instance,[82] and with all the powers and attributes of such officers in the discharge of the duties which devolve upon them[83]

Disqualification to act. While the members of a bar association's grievance committee or executive committee have been held disqualified to act as referees in disciplinary proceedings instituted by the bar association,[84] it has also been held that in a proceeding before the state bar governors, any members present may act as prosecutors without being disqualified to participate in the recommendation,[85] and a person is not disqualified to act as referee therein because he had, while president of the bar association, appointed the members of the grievance committee conducting the hearings,[86] and a commissioner appointed to take testimony is not disqualified because of his membership in the bar association preferring the charges.[87] As the findings of the referee or committee are not binding on the court (see infra § 37), bias or prejudice of the referee or committee will not disqualify them,[88] and where statutory grounds of disqualification are specified, no member of a committee will be held to be disqualified in the absence of a showing of a statutory ground therefor.[89]

Proceedings. A court order appointing a committee on grievances as commissioners of the court in disciplinary matters effects a change in procedure alone and therefore there is no merit in a contention that such commissioners were without jurisdiction because the complaints were not verified;[90] and an attorney cannot object to the proceedings on the ground that after demurrers were interposed to the charges, the committee on discipline was discharged and the bar commission thereafter took charge of the proceedings and made the findings and recommendations, where a rule providing therefor was adopted by the bar and approved by the court.[91] A motion to amend the complaint raises no issue of removing inadmissibility in evidence of such declarations because of hearsay nature, were findings of fact and supported by the evidence—In re Keenan, 192 N E 65, 287 Mass 577, 96 A L R. 679.

75. In re Tracy, (Minn.) 267 N.W. 142, modifying 266 N W. 88.

76. State v. Tomlinson, 109 N W. 120, 131 Iowa 617.

77. State v. Tomlinson, supra.

78. State v Tomlinson, supra—State v. Mosher, 103 N W. 105, 128 Iowa 82, 5 Ann Cas 984

79. La.—In re Mundy, 161 So 184, 182 La 148
Mont.—In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont. 537
6 C J. p 609 note 9.

80. State v. Finley, 11 So. 674, 30 Fla 325, 18 L R A. 401—6 C.J. p 609 note 10

81. State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl 124—In re McNabb, 185 P 431, 76 Okl 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 728, 75 Okl 192, 7 A L R 89.

82. In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont. 537.

83. Klonsin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A. 474, 312 Pa. 564

84. In re Metcalfe, 286 N.Y.S. 591—6 C J. p 609 note 9 [b].

85. Golden v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 325, 213 Cal. 227.
Statute authorizing committee to prefer and to sit for consideration of charges
A state bar act is not void because of a provision authorizing a local administrative committee or the board of governors to prefer charges against an attorney and then to sit for consideration of the charges so preferred "The powers conferred . . relate to matters of great public concern, in which the members of the board and committee have no personal interest They have no greater interest in the result of this proceeding than has any other member of the profession or any other member of the community entitled to protection against unscrupulous lawyers."—In re Scott, 292 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113.

86. In re Metcalfe, 286 N Y.S 591

87. In re Richards, 63 S.W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907.

88. Fish v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal 215.

89. Fish v. State Bar of California, supra—Aydelotte v. State Bar of California, 290 P. 41, 209 Cal. 737

90. In re Mack, 196 N E 197, 360 Ill 343.

91. In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190 fact so as to require the presence of the attorney at the time in order to protect his rights[92] The referee or committee has been held justified in investigating the general professional conduct of the attorney;[93] and it is not error to refuse a request for a ruling that a petition for disbarment is not a proper method to obtain information as to the attorney's relations with a client where the sole issue is as to whether respondent's professional conduct has been so reprehensible as to require his disbarment.[94]

Findings, conclusions, and recommendations. In some jurisdictions, a referee or commissioner may only take and report the testimony,[95] and cannot dismiss the charges, but can merely make recommendations,[96] while in other jurisdictions, the state bar board of governors has power only to dismiss the charges or to make a minute entry that it deems the evidence sufficient to merit further action,[97] and a recommendation as to the punishment to be imposed is beyond and outside its powers[98] A statute empowering a board of governors of the state bar to make findings in disbarment proceedings and report them to the supreme court has been held not invalid,[99] and the attorney is not entitled to be served with a copy of the findings prior to the filing thereof with the clerk of court[1] However, where a statute makes no such requirement, a referee or committee need not state findings of fact and conclusions of law,[2] but where conclusions of law are made by the referee, they must stand on their soundness in law and the sufficiency of the findings and evidence to uphold them.[3]

A commissioner's report that the evidence is insufficient to sustain the charges is sufficient as against a contention that it should have specifically found the respondent not guilty,[4] and the fact that the commissioner, who found the attorney guilty of the acts charged, did not recommend disbarment is no ground for rejecting his report[5] A recommendation for suspension or disbarment by a board of governors implies a finding that the acts committed by an attorney involved moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption,[6] and there is no merit in a contention, because ten months elapsed between the submission of the charges and the recommendation of the committee, that the decision is contrary to law.[7]

A concurrence of a majority of the board of governors is sufficient to sustain their recommendation[8]

Neither the board of governors of the bar nor the court should attempt to evaluate an attorney's services in a disbarment proceeding, there having been no failure to disclose to the client the true facts and no overreaching or fraud on the part of the attorney.[9]

§ 35. —— New Trial and Rehearing

A new trial or rehearing is within the discretion of the trial court or tribunal and will ordinarily be granted on a proper showing being made

A new trial may be granted in a disbarment proceeding where a proper showing is made[10] and it is within the discretion of the judge to grant a new trial after a verdict of not guilty.[11] However, where an attorney has been disbarred by the supreme court in an original proceeding, it has

92. In re Egan, 154 N.W. 521, 36 S D 228.

93. Klensin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A. 474, 312 Pa 564

94. Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N E 269, 251 Mass 6.

95. In re Richards, 63 S W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907

96. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill 206

97. In re Hoover, (Ariz) 46 P.(2d) 647.

98. In re Hoover, supra.

99. State Bar of Oklahoma v McGhee, 298 P. 580, 148 Okl 219

1. Shaeffer v State Bar of California, 32 P (2d) 140, 220 Cal 681.

2. In re Richards, 63 S W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo 907

3. In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537.

4. People v Kerker, 146 N E 439, 315 Ill. 572

5. In re Heard, 141 So 60, 174 La. 563.

6. Marsh v State Bar of California, 291 P. 583, 210 Cal 303.

7. Mauer v State Bar of California, 26 P.(2d) 14, 219 Cal. 271

8. Ala.—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So 229, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So 257, 228 Ala. 21—In re Fite, 152 So 246, 228 Ala. 4
Cal.—Golden v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 325, 213 Cal. 237
Ill.—In re Needham, 4 N.E (2d) 19, 364 Ill 65

9. Herrscher v. State Bar of California, (Cal) 49 P.(2d) 332.

10. Ind.—Ex p. Walls, 64 Ind 461
Ky.—Chreste v. Commonwealth, 186 S.W 919, 171 Ky. 771, Ann Cas. 1918E 122.
Response submitted under a misunderstanding
Where an attorney submitted his response in disbarment proceedings under unusual circumstances, at a time when he was in such a mental state as not to fully appreciate its effect and under a misunderstanding as to the punishment to be inflicted, it was held that he was entitled to a new trial.—Chreste v Commonwealth, 186 S W 919, 171 Ky. 771, Ann Cas 1918E 122

No facts showing new evidence
An order disbarring an attorney cannot be reversed for refusal of new trial on affidavits showing merely that certain things were omitted to be done at the trial in securing evidence to exonerate respondent, conceding that counsel were inefficient. —In re Cruickshank, 190 P. 1038, 47 Cal App. 496.

11. State Board of Law Examiners v Phelan, 5 P (2d) 263, 43 Wyo. 481, 78 A L R 1317.

been held that a motion for a new trial will not be entertained.[12]

While the granting or denial of a rehearing is a matter within the discretion of the trial court,[13] generally an attorney will be granted a rehearing in a proper case,[14] provided the petition for rehearing is filed within the prescribed time.[15] On a rehearing, counsel must convince the court that on the record before it the petitioner was prejudiced by an error of law or a misconception of the evidence.[16]

§ 36. —— Judgment or Order

While the rules governing judgments or orders and the entry thereof need not be strictly followed, the rules as to vacation, modification, and collateral attack have generally been applied.

The orders of the court are the only orders which work disbarment or suspension;[17] the decision of the referee or committee in disbarment proceedings does not amount to a judgment of disbarment or suspension.[18] Common-law rules governing the entries of judgments are not applicable to judgments or orders in disciplinary proceedings,[19] and after the finding of facts, the order of disbarment or suspension may be entered without any further notice to the attorney.[20] A judgment disbarring an attorney is not invalid because entered by two of the judges appointed to try the case, the third judge dissenting.[21]

A judgment of disbarment has been held one in rem and can be based on substituted process[22] and, where the proceedings are properly begun and the attorney pleads guilty or fails to answer, the court will proceed to render such judgment as the case requires,[23] and, a fortiori, where the attorney has consented to the entry of an order for his disbarment, an order striking his name from the roll will be made.[24] Where the attorney has failed to appear and answer, a motion for judgment by default[25] or pro confesso[26] will be granted. However, an unsworn information in a disbarment proceeding against an attorney cannot be taken pro confesso,[27] but the charges must be proved, notwithstanding respondent's default of answer.[28]

A judgment disbarring an attorney implies that he is unfit to be trusted in the duties of his profession,[29] and that the court rendering the judgment considered such attorney a member of its

12. Matter of Tyler, 12 P. 289, 13 P 169, 71 Cal 353

13. In re Allin, 112 N.E. 494, 224 Mass 9

In absence of any injustice

Attorney charged with professional misconduct was held not entitled as matter of right to have the matter reheard before a local administrative committee merely because the attorney had made no appearance before it, in the absence of any injustice suffered by the attorney.—Maggart v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 61 P (2d) 451.

14. In re Allin, 112 N.E. 494, 224 Mass 9—6 C.J. p 610 note 19

Recommendation of board of governors

The board of governors of the state bar was held justified in concluding that full justice could be accorded an attorney charged with professional misconduct and recommended to be disbarred by the local administrative committee by taking additional evidence at a hearing before the board without remanding the matter to the local committee for a hearing de novo.—Maggart v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 61 P.(2d) 451.

Rehearing properly granted

Defendant was held to have a right to hearing on motion for rehearing in disbarment proceedings although the term of office of one of three judges sitting in the proceedings had expired, since the court trying the proceedings had not ceased to exist.—Attorney General v. Shaw, 269 N.W. 138, 277 Mich 187.

Second petition for a rehearing will not be considered, the decision on the first petition being a final disposition of the case.—State Board of Law Examiners v. Strahan, 13 P (2d) 1083, 44 Wyo 487, denying rehearing 8 P (2d) 1090, 44 Wyo 156.

15. Ill.—In re Casey, 195 N.E. 39, 359 Ill. 496

Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 13 P.(2d) 1083, 44 Wyo. 487, denying rehearing 8 P. (2d) 1090, 44 Wyo 156

Presented after period of suspension expired

Notwithstanding that, had evidence produced on rehearing been available and produced at the original hearing, the court's decision would have sustained contention of the suspended attorney, where period of suspension had expired, application for rehearing will not be granted.—In re Feinberg, (N.J.) 126 A. 667.

16. In re Feinberg, supra.

17. Cal.—In re Shattuck, 279 P. 998, 208 Cal. 6.

Nev.—State ex rel. McCloskey v Greathouse, 36 P.(2d) 367, 55 Nev 409

18. State ex rel McCloskey v. Greathouse, supra

19. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 134 N.E. 332, 351 Ill 206.

20. In re Allin, 112 N.E. 494, 224 Mass. 9.

21. In re Cloud, 250 N.W. 160, 217 Iowa 3.

22. In re Craven, 151 So 625, 178 La 372, 90 A.L.R. 973

23. Bar Commission of Oklahoma v. Dill, 229 P 801, 107 Okl 61.

24. In re McNamara, 272 N.Y.S. 127, 242 App Div. 631

25. Colo.—People ex rel. Atty. Gen. v. Bentall, 51 P (2d) 352.

Nev.—State Bar of Nevada v. Riccardi, 296 P 1013, 53 Nev 128.

Motion for judgment on the pleadings on an attorney's failure to answer, while improper, may be sustained as a motion for a default judgment.—People v. Kaufman, 5 P. (2d) 1114, 90 Colo 8.

26. In re Simons, 214 N.Y.S. 50, 216 App Div 162

Assumption of guilt

When personal service has been made upon accused in disbarment proceedings and he defaults, an order of discipline will be entered upon the assumption that the attorney is guilty as charged.—In re Bodin, 249 N.W. 569, 189 Minn. 396.

27. Ex parte Latham, 136 So. 625, 161 Miss 243

28. Ex parte Latham, supra.

29. State v Harwood, 173 S.E. 24, 206 N.C. 37.

bar,[30] and such judgments need not contain a statement of the grounds of disbarment or suspension,[31] nor specify the particular charge or accusation upon which the attorney was disbarred or suspended[32] and should be no broader than a rule to show cause.[33] Where the accusation in a disbarment proceeding merely charges certain facts and prays that accused be found guilty and be disbarred, the final order of the court that the application of plaintiff shall be granted is a sufficient finding of his guilt,[34] and an order of disbarment entered on a finding of misconduct alleged in the petition is not erroneous although the findings also include other specifications of misconduct not alleged in the petition.[35] A judgment or order suspending an attorney for an indefinite period is not void,[36] nor is a judgment disbarring an attorney for a definite period and "until the further order of this court" invalidated by the quoted clause,[37] for, even if such clause is void, it may be considered as mere surplusage.[38] The judgment may order the proceedings to be held in abeyance for a definite period and to be dismissed at the end of such period on a showing that the attorney has not been again guilty of the conduct charged,[39] but while part of a court's order of suspension requiring the attorney's disbarment at the end of a certain period at another hearing, before another judge, most probably, and on other evidence of additional misconduct is invalid,[40] where the decree is certain and meets all the requirements of a final judgment, such invalid portion may be disregarded as surplusage.[41]

In such proceedings no fine, imprisonment, or other punitive sentence can be imposed;[42] but under some statutes it seems that an attorney may be suspended for withholding or embezzling his client's moneys, and a money judgment rendered against him for the amount of the money so withheld or embezzled, in the same decree.[43] If defendant is not found guilty the only judgment that can be rendered is a dismissal of the charges;[44] and, where relator refuses to proceed with the trial after denial of motion for continuance, the proceedings may be dismissed.[45]

While a judgment or order suspending or disbarring an attorney is self-executing,[46] it has been held that such judgment will be stayed to the extent of permitting the attorney to obtain substitutions for his clients.[47] Except with respect to an attorney's right to future reinstatement (infra § 41), the judgment or order in disbarment proceedings is final and conclusive unless reversed or modified on appeal,[48] and all the statutes and rules touching that subject are applicable.[49]

Vacation or modification. An order of disbarment, rendered upon an accusation which is fatally

30. In re Ulmer, 167 N.E. 749, 268 Mass. 373

31. Danford v. Superior Court of California in and for City and County of San Francisco, 193 P. 272, 49 Cal.App. 303—6 C.J. p. 610 note 20.

32. Iowa—Perry v. State, 3 Greene 550
Kan.—In re Wilcox, 133 P. 547, 90 Kan. 95.
Mo.—State v. Watkins, 3 Mo. 480.

33. Moutray v. People, 44 N.E. 496, 163 Ill. 194—Winkelman v. People, 50 Ill. 449

34. In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal.App. 650—6 C.J. p. 610 note 23

35. In re Allin, 112 N.E. 494, 224 Mass. 9.

36. Conn.—In re Kone, 97 A. 307, 90 Conn. 440
Kan.—In re Hanson, 5 P.(2d) 1088, 134 Kan. 165.
Ohio—State v. Darby, 144 N.E. 611, 109 Ohio St. 632—State v. Le Blond, 140 N.E. 510, 108 Ohio St. 126, certiorari denied and error dismissed 44 S.Ct. 134, 263 U.S. 679, 714, 68 L.Ed. 503.

Suspension until repayment of client's claim.

(1) The court will not order an attorney to pay a debt to his client as a condition for permission to resume practice after suspension—State v. Hughes, 10 P.(2d) 584, 92 Mont. 53.

(2) Where attorney was alleged to have defrauded a client by indirect sale of alleged worthless bonds, under evidence tending to show that they had some value, the court in a judgment of temporary disbarment, should not make the period of suspension depend on payment of accuser's claim, that being too indefinite—In re Soale, 159 P. 1065, 31 Cal.App. 144.

37. In re Tyler, 20 P. 674, 78 Cal. 307, 12 Am.S.R. 55—6 C.J. p. 610 note 24.

38. Philbrook v. Newman, (C.C.Cal.) 85 F. 139

39. State v. Soderberg, 255 N.W. 906, 215 Wis. 571.

40. In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal.App. 650

41. In re Biaggi, supra.

42. State v. McRae, 38 So. 605, 49 Fla. 389, 6 Ann.Cas. 580—6 C.J. p. 610 note 26.

43. Reilly v. Cavanaugh, 32 Ind. 214.
Punishment generally see infra § 38.

44. State v. Tracy, 87 N.W. 727, 115 Iowa 71—6 C.J. p. 610 note 28.

45. De Krasner v. Boykin, (Ga.App.) 186 S.E. 749.

46. Lincoln v. Superior Court of California, 271 P. 1107, 95 Cal.App. 35—In re Graves, 216 P. 386, 62 Cal.App. 168.

47. In re Axtell, 257 N.Y.S. 470, 235 App.Div. 350, modifying 242 N.Y.S. 18, 229 App.Div. 823, affirmed 177 N.E. 423, 257 N.Y. 210

48. Ala.—Ex parte Peters, 70 So. 648, 195 Ala. 67
Mass.—In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R. 679.
Miss.—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So. 791, 165 Miss. 523.

Further order of suspension after provisional order

Where an attorney, convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude, has been suspended by the court pending final action on the judgment of conviction, disciplinary proceedings, based on the facts giving rise to the criminal action, may be brought against him and a further order of suspension rendered, the first order of suspension being provisional and temporary.—Shafer v. State Bar of California, 12 P.(2d) 957, 215 Cal. 706.

49. In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass. 577, 96 A.L.R. 679.

defective,[50] or which is not supported by any evidence,[51] or where proper service was not had on the attorney,[52] will be set aside on application which should be made to the court in which the original proceedings were had, notwithstanding the judgment has been affirmed on appeal.[53]

The court may also, in a proper case, modify its judgment from one of disbarment to one of suspension,[54] and the judgment in a disciplinary proceeding is not res judicata, if thereafter, upon proper hearing, with all the rights of the attorney safeguarded, the court shall determine otherwise as to the then fitness of such accused to practice, or as to the propriety of the order previously entered,[55] and it obviously follows that an act by a suspended or disciplined attorney might give rise to modification of the judgment, on complaint or on the court's own motion.[56] Likewise, the conduct of accused or the development of additional facts might give rise to modification of a suspension order, either favorably or unfavorably to accused.[57] Where judgment has been rendered against defendant with his consent, he cannot, in the absence of proof of fraud, have it vacated on the ground that he acted on the erroneous advice of counsel.[58]

Where an original decree of disbarment had been canceled by a second decree, except in so far as it affected his practice within the state, it has been held that a court acted illegally and beyond its authority in canceling the second decree on a motion by the attorney seeking a modification of such original decree.[59]

Collateral attack. A judgment disbarring or suspending an attorney cannot be collaterally attacked as by way of defense to a proceeding in the nature of an information for attempting to practice law without a license.[60]

§ 37. —— Review

a. Of court order or judgment
b. Of proceedings before committee or referee

a. Of Court Order or Judgment

(1) In general
(2) Effect of appeal; supersedeas

(1) In General

General rules apply with respect to review of a judgment or order in a disbarment proceeding.

In some early cases it was held that an appeal or writ of error will not lie to review an order suspending or disbarring an attorney;[61] but under the statutes in most jurisdictions the rule is now otherwise,[62] notwithstanding the proceeding is not a proceeding according to the course of the com-

50. U. S. v. Clark, (D.C Alaska) 76 F 560.

51. Kan.—In re Burnette, 78 P 440, 70 Kan. 229
Utah.—In re Evans, 130 P. 217, 42 Utah 282

52. Strickland v Willingham, 175 S. E. 605, 49 Ga.App. 355.

53. Matter of Wharton, 62 P. 741, 130 Cal. 486.

54. In re Burke, 21 Ohio Cir.Ct. 34, 11 Ohio Cir Dec 397.

55. In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D 374.
Judgment as not res judicata on application for reinstatement see infra § 41.

56. In re Hosford, 252 N.W. 843, 62 S D. 374.

57. In re Hosford, supra
Reinstatement see infra § 41.

58. People v. Hill, 55 N.E. 542, 182 Ill. 425.

59. Maxey v. Polk County District Court, 165 N.W. 1005, 182 Iowa 366

60. U S.—Philbrook v. Newman, (C. C Cal.) 85 F. 139.
Tex.—Smith v. State, 5 Tex. 578.

61. Ex p. Robinson, (D C Ark.) 19 Wall (U S.) 513, 22 L.Ed. 205—6 C J. p 610 note 36.

62. Del.—Adair v. Pennewill, 153 A. 859, 4 W W Harr 390
Pa.—In re Gery, 5 Pa Dist & Co. 580
W.Va.—State v Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W Va. 59
6 C J. p 611 note 37.

Writ of error
A writ of error is proper to review disbarment proceeding because not in accordance with law, sufficiency of evidence, improper admission of incompetent evidence, or of an alleged abuse of discretion.—Adair v. Pennewill, 153 A. 859, 4 W W Harr (Del.) 390.

Certiorari
(1) A writ of certiorari has been held a proper remedy to correct or revise disbarment proceedings where it is a substitute for a writ of error.—Ex p. Biggs, 64 N C. 202—6 C.J. p 611 note 45

(2) But there is authority to the contrary.—Randall, Petitioner, 11 Allen (Mass.) 473.

(3) A district court has been held to have power to issue a writ of certiorari to the board of commissioners of the state bar and to inquire into its jurisdiction to suspend an attorney from practice.—State v. Kiker, 261 P. 816, 33 N.M. 6.
Certiorari to review proceedings of particular tribunals or officers generally see Certiorari § 46 [11 C.J. p 134 notes 80–97].

Filing exceptions not proper remedy
The remedy of an attorney is by appeal if error has been committed by the court in its findings of fact and law in a disbarment proceeding, and the filing of exceptions is improper.—In re Gery, 5 Pa Dist. & Co. 580

"Persons aggrieved"
One deprived by order of the court of chancery of his office of solicitor and of the right of exercising to the full extent, the office of counselor is aggrieved thereby within 1 Comp St. (1910) p 450 § 111, authorizing persons aggrieved by any order of the court of chancery to appeal from the same.—In re Hahn, 96 A 589, 85 N. J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830, denying motion 94 A. 958, 84 N J Eq 523.

Necessity of leave to appeal
(1) No appeal may be taken from a unanimous decision of the appellate division in a disbarment proceeding without leave of the appellate division or of the court of appeals unless a constitutional question is involved.—In re Mathot, 117 N E 948, 222 N.Y. 8, granting dismissal 166 N.Y.S. 217, 178 App.Div. 759.

(2) An order of disbarment for a contumacious assertion of spurious

mon law,[63] and it has been held that an attorney has an absolute right to appeal from a judgment in a disbarment proceeding.[64] In some jurisdictions no appeal will lie by the relator or accuser from the action of the court in refusing disbarment,[65] especially where the proceeding is brought under a statute providing for the disbarment of an attorney on conviction of a crime,[66] but in other jurisdictions the prosecutor may appeal.[67]

Jurisdiction. The appellate jurisdiction of a court on a writ of error or appeal from a judgment of disbarment or suspension is derived from and dependent on constitutional and statutory provisions.[68]

Presentation of grounds and record. The presentation of grounds for review[69] and the record on appeal[70] are governed by the statutes and rules of practice of the particular jurisdiction.

Hearing and determination. In some states disbarment proceedings are tried de novo on appeal,[71] privileges has been held not to directly involve a constitutional question within the meaning of this rule —In re Levy, 174 N.E. 461, 255 N.Y. 223, dismissing appeal In re Becker, 241 N.Y.S. 369, 229 App.Div. 62

(3) Under a statute providing for a review of a disbarment proceeding by a "motion of appeal," it has been held that the phrase means an application for and allowance of an appeal —Attorney General v. Lane, 243 N.W. 6, 259 Mich. 283, certiorari denied Lane v. Voorhies, 53 S.Ct. 115, 287 U.S. 654, 77 L.Ed. 565

Mandamus to secure or compel acknowledgment of right to practice law see Mandamus § 113 [38 C.J. p. 648 note 32–649 note 47 p. 651 notes 1–10].

63. Adair v. Pennewill, 153 A. 859, 4 W.W.Harr. (Del.) 390

64. Houtchens v. Mercer, 27 S.W. (2d) 795, 119 Tex. 244—Houtchens v. Mercer, (Tex.Com.App.) 29 S.W.(2d) 1031, 69 A.L.R. 1103

Collectors of an estate of a deceased attorney cannot maintain an appeal from an order of disbarment because of the fact that such order lessens the respect in which the memory of such attorney would otherwise be held where the statute defining their powers does not give them the right to have such an action revived —Metzger v. O'Donoghue, 53 App.D.C. 107, 288 F. 461.

65. N.Y.—In re Dolphin, 147 N.E. 538, 240 N.Y. 89, dismissing appeal 203 N.Y.S. 472, 208 App.Div. 223

Pa.—Critchfield v. Levy, 109 A. 155, 265 Pa. 388.

6 C.J. p. 611 note 39.

66. In re Stiers, 167 S.E. 382, 204 N.C. 48.

67. Ark.—State v. Huddleston, 293 S.W. 353, 173 Ark. 686.

Conn.—Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v. Broder, 152 A. 292, 112 Conn. 263, 269

Iowa.—State v. Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157.

6 C.J. p. 611 note 40.

County bar association held "party aggrieved" was entitled to appeal from a judgment merely suspending attorney for one year—State v. Huddleston, 293 S.W. 353, 173 Ark. 686.

An order dismissing a disbarment proceeding has been held appealable as an order determining the action and as an order affecting or determining substantial rights—State v. Snook, 139 P. 764, 78 Wash. 671.

Where no substantial right affected

An order overruling a motion for the appointment of an attorney to conduct proceedings for disbarment does not affect any substantial right, and is therefore not appealable— Byington v. Moore, 30 N.W. 485, 70 Iowa 206

68. In West Virginia, the supreme court of appeals has jurisdiction of a writ of error to a judgment of a circuit court disbarring or suspending an attorney—State v. Smith, 99 S.E. 332, 84 W.Va. 59—State v. Shumate, 87 S.E. 618, 48 W.Va. 359.

Construction of contravening provisions

(1) Under a provision of the code that if the provisions of different chapters or articles of the code appear to contravene each other, the provisions of each chapter or article shall prevail as to all matters and questions growing out of the subject matter of that chapter or article, an act defining the court of appeals' jurisdiction prevails over an apparently contradictory statutory provision for appeal to supreme court by suspended attorney.—Memphis and Shelby County Bar Ass'n v. Himmelstein, 53 S.W.(2d) 378, 165 Tenn. 102

(2) Where a code embodies two acts without material change, relating to appellate jurisdiction of the courts, it must be held that the code embodies them as previously construed—Memphis and Shelby County Bar Ass'n v. Himmelstein, supra.

69. In Georgia

Refusal of trial court in disbarment proceedings to certify a bill of exceptions until plaintiff in error had certified as material to complete understanding of errors complained of certain exhibits was held not error —De Krasner v. Boykin, (App.) 186 S.E. 701.

70. In California

(1) The reasons stated by the lower court for disbarring an attorney are no part of the judgment and have no place in the record on appeal.— In re Cruickshank, 190 P. 1033, 47 Cal.App. 496.

(2) On appeal under an alternative method provided by statute, an appellate court has held that it could not order that exhibits need not be copied into the reporter's transcripts, but that the clerk of court be required to produce and file the original exhibits to be used at the hearing on appeal —In re Millsap, 268 P. 970, 92 Cal.App. 653

In Iowa

(1) The attorney may select grounds of appeal and prepare his abstract to that end, and unless he desires to submit for review questions of fact upon the evidence, he need not include the evidence in his abstract —State v. Kimball, 158 N.W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836

(2) In disbarment proceedings, where statute provides that transcript be transferred to appellate court on appeal, accused cannot limit right of state to present entire record by his appeal from part of record only as state may appeal also —State v. Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157.

In Wyoming

Where a motion to reopen the case for newly discovered evidence is denied, parts of the additional record necessary for the information of the appellate court should be sent up — State Board of Law Examiners v. Strahan, 3 P.(2d) 79, 43 Wyo. 223

71. In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 312 Pa. 555—6 C.J. p. 611 note 42.

In Iowa

(1) Under statutory provisions relating thereto, it has been held that a disbarment proceeding is triable de novo on appeal to the supreme court, notwithstanding the statute provides for a special court of three judges to try and determine disbarment cases —In re De Caro, 262 N.W. 132, 220 Iowa 176—In re Cloud, 250 N.W. 160, 217 Iowa 2.

(2) Prior to the enactment of such statutory provisions, the sole question for the appellate court was whether the evidence sustained the findings and judgment —State v. Kaufmann, 209 N.W. 417, 202 Iowa 157.

while in others the appellate court has no jurisdiction to try the case de novo, but its jurisdiction is appellate only.[72] Some presumptions must be indulged in favor of the fair intent of the trial court and its rulings,[73] and it will be presumed that the judgment of the lower court was predicated only on competent evidence, unless the contrary affirmatively appears,[74] but the appellate court cannot presume that error is shown in the judgment of the lower court.[75]

On appeal the test is whether the trial court exercised a reasonable discretion,[76] and the lower court's exercise of discretion will not be interfered with except in case of abuse.[77]

The verdict of a jury is conclusive on the appellate court where there is sufficient evidence to justify it[78] and, unless error clearly appears, the conclusions and findings of fact by the trial court will not be reversed[79] especially where based on conflicting evidence.[80]

Questions not raised in the trial court will not be considered on appeal,[81] and the court will not

72. Ala.—Peters v State, 69 So 576, 193 Ala. 598
Mich.—Attorney General v Lane, 243 N.W 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565
6 C J p 611 note 43

The appeal is in the nature of certiorari and the appellate court does not weigh the testimony.—Attorney General v. Nelson, 249 N W. 439, 263 Mich 686

In New York

(1) The court of appeals' power of review of the determination of the appellate division is limited to the consideration of the single question whether the finding of guilt has any evidence to sustain it.—In re Goldstein, 220 N Y S 473, 220 App Div 107, modifying 218 N.Y S 944, 218 App Div. 799.—6 C J p 611 note 38 [a].

(2) The court has no jurisdiction over questions relating to the comparative weight of the evidence or of the fairness of the sentence.—In re Hawes, 111 N E 211, 217 N.Y. 602, affirming 156 N Y S 283, 169 App Div 944

(3) The court of appeals has no power to revise the determination of the appellate division as to the punishment to be inflicted.—In re Axtell, 177 N E 423, 257 N Y. 210, affirming 242 N Y S 18, 229 App Div. 323, modified 257 N Y S 470, 235 App Div. 350.

(4) The appellate division has exclusive jurisdiction to mitigate the rigor of its judgments in disbarment proceedings.—In re Axtell, supra.

(5) Where the evidentiary facts are undisputed, and the only possible inferences from those facts point to innocence of the attorney, the court of appeals has jurisdiction to review the order of disbarment.—In re Zanger, 194 N E 72, 266 N.Y. 165, reversing 267 N Y S 193, 239 App.Div 129, reargument denied 270 N.Y S. 657, 241 App Div 60

(6) Where the facts are stipulated, the question for the court to determine is whether from the agreed facts an inference may be drawn that the attorney was guilty of such conduct as constituted a cause for disbarment.—In re Zanger, supra

73. McCord v State, 126 So 873, 220 Ala. 466

Conclusions of trial court hearing disbarment proceeding are very persuasive on the supreme court, since the trial court better knows the lawyer, his standing, character, credibility, and fidelity to trust.—In re Kraus, 185 A 737, 322 Pa 362

74. Miller v Commonwealth, 57 S W (2d) 476, 247 Ky. 479

75. Houtchens v. Mercer, (Tex Civ App.) 30 S W (2d) 545

Misapplication of evidence by single justice in disbarment proceeding would not be presumed.—In re Mayberry, (Mass.) 3 N E (2d) 248, 105 A L R 976

76. Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v Broder, 152 A. 292, 112 Conn 263, 269

77. Ark.—Maloney v State, 32 S W. (2d) 423, 182 Ark 510.—McGehee v State, 32 S W (2d) 308, 182 Ark. 603.—State v Huddleston, 293 S W. 353, 173 Ark 686
D C.—Thomas v Ogilby, 59 App D C. 332, 44 F (2d) 890
Pa.—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416

Refusal of continuance

That matter of a continuance in disbarment proceedings was for the discretion of the trial court, and its refusal is not a cause for reversal, especially where ample opportunity was afforded for full investigation.—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa. 416

Rule not applicable to intermediate appellate court

The rule that the lower court's exercise of discretion will not be interfered with except in case of abuse has been held to relate to the exercise of discretion of the trial court rather than to that of an intermediate appellate court, and the supreme court will reverse the decree of a court of appeals which had reversed the decree of the trial court, the trial court not having abused its discretion.—Thompson v Denman, 50 S.W. (2d) 222, 164 Tenn 428.

78. Rowland v State, (Tex Civ App.) 55 S W.(2d) 133

Of same effect as in civil action

Verdict of jury in disbarment proceedings has the same effect in settling issues of fact as the verdict in a civil action at law.—State Board of Law Examiners v Phelan, 5 P. (2d) 262, 43 Wyo. 481, 78 A.L R 1317

79. Cal.—In re Morton, 177 P 453, 179 Cal 510.—In re Hittson, 185 P. 303, 43 Cal App 462
Fla.—Gould v State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla 662, 69 A L R 699
Ky.—Heck v Battistee, 189 S W 25, 172 Ky 234.
Mass.—Bar Ass'n of City of Boston v. Sleeper, 146 N E 269, 251 Mass 6
Pa.—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A. 579, 313 Pa 555.—In re Gery, 130 A. 307, 284 Pa. 121.—In re Barach, 123 A 727, 279 Pa. 89.—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A 560, 269 Pa 416.—In re Margolis, 112 A. 478, 269 Pa 206, 12 A L R. 1186
Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 8 P.(2d) 1090, 44 Wyo 156, rehearing denied 13 P (2d) 1083, 44 Wyo 487
6 C J p 611 note 38 [b].

Findings have effect of verdict in civil action

Findings of trial judges in disciplinary proceedings against attorney should be given effect, in settling issues of fact, of verdict in a civil action.—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 8 P (2d) 1090, 44 Wyo. 156, rehearing denied 13 P (2d) 1083, 44 Wyo 487

80. In re Morganstern, 215 P 721, 61 Cal App 702.—In re Cruickshank, 190 P. 1038, 47 Cal App. 496.

Court will not retry proceeding

The court will not retry the proceeding and determine the credibility of witnesses and the weight of the evidence as a matter of original jurisdiction, and disregard the judgment of the lower court.—In re Masuran, 268 P. 339, 88 Cal App 272.

81. Ala.—Peters v. State, 69 So. 576, 193 Ala. 598.
Iowa.—State v. Kimball, 153 N W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N W. 336.
Wyo.—State Board of Law Examin-reverse the judgment or order for errors occurring in the trial where they were not prejudicial to the attorney.[82] Also the court will not render any decision on appeal where the question has become moot,[83] and the court, having passed on the constitutionality of a statute in a habeas corpus proceeding by the attorney, will not again review the question in a disbarment proceeding.[84] Where no evidence is presented in the abstract only points of law are reviewable,[85] and neither the denial of a rehearing, nor the question whether suspension or absolute removal was required, present questions of law for review,[86] and the question whether the evidence was clear and convincing is not properly reviewable as a matter of law on certiorari.[87] Where the attorney filed a claim of exceptions to the findings, rulings, and order of the court, it has been held that the only question presented was whether the rulings of law affecting the attorney were correct.[88] Findings of a trial court are properly a part of the record which the appellate court may review,[89] and the reversal of a judgment of conviction of crime on which disbarment proceedings were predicated, although not made part of the record on appeal, has been held proper to be considered on appeal from a judgment of disbarment.[90]

If the proceedings were properly instituted, no substantial rights denied the respondent, no prejudicial errors committed, and there is competent evidence to sustain the judgment, it must be affirmed,[91] but where the order made is improper, the court on a review of the record will vacate such order.[92]

ers v. Brown, 290 P. 1013, 42 Wyo 108.

Insufficient objection

In disbarment proceedings under Code § 325 et seq, the objection that amended charges were not sworn to as required by statute is not so presented to the trial court as to be reviewable, by a plea that they were not drawn up in legal form and were insufficient to put defendant on his defense—State v Kimball, (Iowa) 158 N.W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836

Invited error

An attorney cannot complain on appeal that an affidavit was not sufficient, where he agreed that it might be read as testimony of an absent witness, thereby avoiding the granting of a continuance—Chreste v Commonwealth, 193 S.W. 929, 178 Ky. 311.

Res judicata

Where the court entered an order dismissing disbarment proceeding, even if the order was final judgment, the court had jurisdiction to commence a new proceeding to hear new testimony, and the order could be at most an affirmative defense of res judicata which attorney could not assert for the first time on appeal from judgment of disbarment entered in later proceeding—In re Mayberry, (Mass.) 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976.

82. Ala.—McCord v. State, 126 So. 873, 220 Ala. 466.
Iowa—State v. Kimball, 158 N.W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836
Ky.—Denny v. Commonwealth, 194 S.W. 330, 175 Ky 357
Tex.—Rowland v. State, (App.Div.) 55 S.W.(2d) 133.

No evidence showing prejudice

(1) That seven attorneys signed complaint in disbarment proceeding was held not to require reversal of judgment of suspension for the reason that the jury gave the signatures evidentiary weight where no fact suggests such influence—Rowland v State, (Tex.Civ.App.) 55 S.W.(2d) 133.

(2) Respondent in disbarment proceeding for bribing or attempting to bribe jurors was held not prejudiced by single justice's findings, based on evidence, relative to the presence on juries of a considerable number of jurors of a low grade of intelligence and character—In re Mayborry, (Mass.) 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976.

(3) Where respondent in disbarment proceeding before single justice had been fully heard on all matters involved, with knowledge of charges, variances in details between statements in special commissioner's preliminary reports and justice's findings were immaterial—In re Mayberry, supra.

Error held prejudicial

In disbarment proceeding, reading of affidavits to jury on which information was based was held prejudicial error where one of their findings was based entirely on such affidavits.—Lenihan v Commonwealth, 176 S.W. 948, 165 Ky. 93, L.R.A.1917B 1132.

83. Bowles v Lawa, 59 App.D.C. 399, 45 F.(2d) 669, certiorari denied 51 S.Ct. 488, 283 U.S. 841, 75 L.Ed. 1452—Whitaker v. Grievance Committee of Supreme Court of District of Columbia, 56 App.D.C. 148, 10 F.(2d) 1013.

Not moot because of expiration of suspension period

Questions presented by appeal from judgment suspending attorney did not become moot because of expiration of period of suspension.—In re Luncoln, 283 P. 965, 102 Cal.App. 733.

84. In re Meek, 36 P.(2d) 267, 169 Okl. 89.

85. State v. Kimball, (Iowa) 158 N.W. 579, rehearing denied 160 N.W. 836

Whether findings of fact warrant conclusion

Where the evidence is not brought up, the only question for the court is whether the findings of fact warrant the conclusion—People v. Tilton, 120 N.E. 252, 284 Ill. 385

86. In re Allin, 112 N.E. 494, 224 Mass 9

87. In re Coburn, 174 N.W. 134, 207 Mich. 350.

88. In re Keenan, 192 N.E. 65, 287 Mass 577, 96 A.L.R. 679

Credibility of witnesses

In disbarment proceeding heard by single justice where there was no direct evidence of respondent's participation in unlawful practices, credibility of witnesses and determination of probabilities was held for the justice—In re Mayberry, (Mass.) 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976

89. In re Biaggi, 172 P. 1130, 36 Cal. App 650

In Massachusetts

On appeal in disbarment proceeding, which is a proceeding at common law, the supreme judicial court must decide whether general or special findings are warranted by direct testimony or as inferences from all the evidence or whether findings can be sustained on any reasonable view of the case as presented to the trial court—In re Mayberry, 3 N.E.(2d) 248, 105 A.L.R. 976

90. State v. Metcalfe, 214 N.W. 874, 204 Iowa 123.

91. Mich.—Attorney General v Nelson, 249 N.W. 439, 263 Mich 686
Pa.—In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa. 362.

92. In re Schulte, 17 P.(2d) 687, 161 Okl. 206.

(2) Effect of Appeal; Supersedeas

Since a judgment or order of suspension or disbarment is self-executing, its operation is not affected by an appeal or a writ of error.

Since a judgment of disbarment or suspension is self-executing (see supra § 36), its operation is not affected by an appeal[93] or writ of error,[94] except as to costs;[95] and a writ of supersedeas will not issue as there is no further action to be taken by the court below upon which the writ could act,[96] but there is authority to the contrary.[97]

b. Of Proceedings before Committee or Referee

General rules have been applied to a review of a report of a referee or committee in a disbarment proceeding.

Proceedings before a referee or committee for the discipline, suspension, or disbarment of an attorney are subject to review by the court,[98] and sometimes by a board of governors of the state bar,[99] and review, as used in a statute relating to a petition to the court to review the decision of the board of bar governors, means a reexamination of the entire case,[1] a judicial reexamination, as of the proceedings of a lower court by a higher court.[2]

Application and record. The transmission of the record of disbarment proceedings had before a referee or committee has been held to confer jurisdiction on the court to consider and determine charges not dismissed, notwithstanding the disciplinary body did not comply with a statute in that it entered no order dismissing the charges and made no minute entry of the sufficiency of the evidence to merit further action,[3] and notwithstanding a statute gives the right as a matter of course only to the person whose license has been revoked to object and have a review of proceedings of the state board of examiners, the court may, of its own motion, examine into the charges against an attorney even though revocation of his license has not been recommended by the board.[4] While the finding of the board of governance may be brought up for review by the court by the filing of exceptions,[5] it has been held necessary that a party bring to the court such part of the record as is necessary to be considered on the exceptions,[6] and where it is desired to review the findings of fact of a commissioner to whom a disbarment case was referred, respondent must file exceptions, an abstract of the record, brief and argument.[7] The abstract of the record must be a complete abstract or abridgment of the record and not a mere index to the testimony in the record[8] and must set forth all the evidence upon the contested findings.[9] Where the attorney's abstract of the transcript of the proceedings does not contain all the evidence

93. Lincoln v. Superior Court of California, 271 P 1107, 95 Cal App 35—In re Graves, 216 P 386, 62 Cal App 168—6 C J. p 612 note 46.

94. Tyler v. Presley, 13 P. 856, 72 Cal. 290.

95. Walls v Palmer, 64 Ind. 493.

96. In re Graves, 216 P. 386, 62 Cal App 168.

97. Houtchens v. Mercer, (Tex Com. App.) 29 S.W.(2d) 1031, 69 A.L.R. 1103.

Supersedeas bond can be made payable to the state—Houtchens v Mercer, (Tex Com App.) 29 S W.(2d) 1031, 69 A.L R. 1103

98. In re Hadwiger, 27 P.(2d) 604, 167 Okl. 307

99. In re Williams, (Okl.) 46 P.(2d) 507.

Power of board of governors

(1) A board of governors of the state bar is authorized to sit as an appellate court and review the findings and conclusions of the administrative committee, and may adopt the report in toto; adopt it in part and reject it in part; may take additional evidence, or it may disregard all the proceedings had and hear the whole case itself—In re Williams, (Okl.) 46 P.(2d) 507

(2) Bar commissioners are authorized, without another hearing, to reverse ruling of committee on discipline, which sustained demurrer to disciplinary complaint against attorney—In re Edwards, 294 P. 847, 50 Idaho 238.

1. In re Shattuck, 279 P. 998, 203 Cal 6

2. In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537.

3. In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P.(2d) 647.

4. In re Olson, 198 P. 742, 116 Wash 186

5. In re Rosenbaum, 150 A. 748, 300 Pa 465.

Waiver of service of summons in error will not give the appellate court jurisdiction to review a disbarment proceeding where such waiver is by a person not concerned with the preparation or prosecution of the proceeding—Schwartz v. State, 18 Ohio App. 373.

6. People v Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill. 132

Private communication by a reviewing governor to other members of the board of governors as to the state of the record of the proceedings before the local administrative committee is no part of the record on review.—Shaeffer v. State Bar of California, 32 P.(2d) 140, 220 Cal. 631.

7. People v. Czarnecki, 109 N.E. 14, 268 Ill. 278

Impertinent matter stricken from brief

Exhibits consisting of laudatory letters concerning the attorney will be stricken from his brief on the ground of impertinence.—People v. A'Brunswick, 146 N.E. 433, 315 Ill. 442

8. People v. Czarnecki, 109 N.E. 14, 268 Ill. 278.

9. People v. Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill 132

Clerk's transcript

A bar association is not entitled to a dismissal of an appeal because no reporter's transcript was filed, where the attorney did file a duly certified clerk's transcript, as defendant may rely on errors shown by the clerk's transcript.—In re Millsap, 268 P. 970, 92 Cal App. 653.

Motion to confirm after submission to court

A motion to confirm the report because of the failure to abstract all the necessary evidence will not be considered where interposed after the submission of the cause to the court—People v. Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill. 132.

and record to enable the court to pass upon his exceptions, amicus curiæ may file an additional abstract, but no burden rests upon him to do so,[10] and if the evidence is not fairly abstracted, the opposite party's remedy is to file an additional abstract.[11] However, although an attorney, petitioning for review, fails to file a brief, the court may examine and determine the case on its merits,[12] and a commissioner's erroneous conclusions of law based on correct findings of fact can be attacked although no objections or exceptions thereto were taken.[13]

A petition to review an order of a board of governors will not be considered where not filed within the required time.[14]

Hearing. On review, the court has full authority to confirm, modify, or set aside the report and findings of a referee or committee,[15] and must examine the entire record anew,[16] review and weigh the evidence,[17] and consider all the circumstances revealed by the record,[18] uninfluenced in whole or in part by the action taken by the referee or committee.[19]

The burden is on the party attacking the findings to prove them to be incorrect[20] notwithstanding the fact that the court weighs the evidence,[21] and no presumption of unfairness or partiality in a proceeding before the board of law examiners for the disbarment of an attorney arises from the fact that the complaint was verified by a member of the board to the effect that he believed it to be true, as the power of instituting proceedings is expressly conferred on the board.[22]

While in the absence of a settled case,[23] or where neither side has brought up the evidence,[24] or where a part only of the evidence taken is brought up,[25] the findings of fact of a referee or committee may be considered conclusive. Ordinarily, although based on substantial evidence,[26] the findings, conclusions, and report of the referee or committee are advisory or recommendatory in character, but not of binding effect on the court,[27] and will be freely set aside if found to be incorrect.[28]

10. In re Larsen, 192 N.E. 643, 358 Ill. 103

11. People v Johnson, 176 N.E. 278, 344 Ill. 132

12. In re Cargill, 23 P.(2d) 693, 164 Okl 265

13. People v Keeley, 112 N.E. 362, 273 Ill. 95.

14. Bordner v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 459, 218 Cal. 580

15. Ala.—Ex parte Thompson, 152 So. 229, 228 Ala. 113, followed in Ex parte Walker, 152 So. 246, 228 Ala. 130, and In re Countryman, 152 So. 257, 228 Ala. 21

N.Y.—In re Weidmann, 285 N.Y.S. 43.

Okl.—State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl. 124—In re McNabb, 185 P. 431, 76 Okl. 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 738, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A.L.R. 89.

Utah.—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 163

16. Cal.—In re Stafford, 284 P. 670, 208 Cal. 738

Nev.—State Bar of Nevada v. Miller, 24 P.(2d) 317, 55 Nev. 38—In re Scott, 293 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113.

That attorney may not be misled to his prejudice

Where the attorney was advised by the chairman of the local administrative committee that the proceeding would be postponed or reopened, the reviewing court should see that he was not misled to his prejudice thereby, regardless of whether his application to reopen the case was made in strict compliance with the statute.—Ewell v. State Bar of California, 40 P.(2d) 264, 2 Cal.(2d) 209.

17. Cal.—Bentson v. State Bar of California, 13 P.(2d) 512, 216 Cal. 58—Clark v. State Bar of California, 4 P.(2d) 944, 214 Cal. 281

Okl.—In re Murray, 61 P.(2d) 1051—In re Neary, 50 P.(2d) 1113—In re Pruett, 46 P.(2d) 919—Charlton v. State Bar of Oklahoma, 42 P.(2d) 233—In re Hills, 40 P.(2d) 1031, 170 Okl. 427—In re Purdy, 25 P.(2d) 1096, 166 Okl. 31—In re Tillman, 11 P.(2d) 511, 157 Okl. 166.

18. In re Lane, (Okl.) 54 P.(2d) 339—In re Choate, (Okl.) 50 P.(2d) 706—In re Threadgill, 27 P.(2d) 601, 166 Okl. 301—In re Dick, 26 P.(2d) 412, 166 Okl. 114

19. In re Scott, 293 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113

20. Cal.—Aydelotte v. State Bar of California, 290 P. 41, 209 Cal. 737

Okl.—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183—State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl. 124—In re McNabb, 185 P. 431, 76 Okl. 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 738, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A.L.R. 89

Burden not sustained.—Jacobs v. State Bar of California, 25 P.(2d) 401, 219 Cal. 59—Aydelotte v. State Bar of California, 290 P. 41, 209 Cal. 737.

21. Ring v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 821, 218 Cal. 747—In re Petersen, 280 P. 124, 208 Cal. 42

22. In re Sherrill, 198 P. 725, 116 Wash. 143

23. In re Waters, 256 N.W. 139, 192 Minn. 262.

24. People v. Edelson, 145 N.E. 246, 313 Ill. 601—People v. Pio, 139 N.E. 45, 308 Ill. 128

25. In re Larsen, 192 N.E. 643, 358 Ill. 103—People v. Tilton, 120 N.E. 252, 284 Ill. 385.

26. Herrscher v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 49 P.(2d) 832

27. Cal.—In re Stafford, 284 P. 670, 208 Cal. 738—In re Petersen, 280 P. 124, 208 Cal. 42—In re Shattuck, 279 P. 998, 208 Cal. 6.

Nev.—State ex rel. McCloskey v. Greathouse, 36 P.(2d) 357, 55 Nev. 409—In re Scott, 293 P. 291, 53 Nev. 24, rehearing denied 296 P. 1113

N.M.—In re Gibson, 4 P.(2d) 643, 35 N.M. 550

Okl.—In re Lane, 54 P.(2d) 339—In re Choate, 50 P.(2d) 706—Haunstein v. State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P.(2d) 558—In re Threadgill, 27 P.(2d) 601, 166 Okl. 301—In re Dick, 26 P.(2d) 412, 166 Okl. 114—State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl. 124—In re McNabb, 185 P. 431, 76 Okl. 253—In re Reily, 183 P. 738, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A.L.R. 89

Utah.—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 163

Wash.—In re Boland, 248 P. 399, 140 Wash. 148.

Reprimand

Recommendation by local administrative committee of state bar of discipline of attorney in the form of a reprimand was held advisory only as regards action by the board of governors of the state bar.—Wood v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 53 P.(2d) 1280.

28. Okl.—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183—State v. Vernor, 191 P. 729, 79 Okl. 124—In re McNabb, 185 P. 431, 76 Okl. 253—In re

However, the report and recommendations of a referee or committee, after an investigation, carry weighty presumptions of justice and propriety,[29] and while the findings of a referee are not conclusive, they will be given the same dignity as a special verdict by a jury, or the findings of a trial court,[30] and will be adopted where amply sustained by the evidence,[31] or where they are not against the clear weight of the evidence,[32] or where the evidence consisted of sharply conflicting testimony.[33]

Questions not raised before the referee or committee will not be considered on a review of the report and findings,[34] and evidence not introduced before the disciplinary body taking testimony will not be considered by the appellate court.[35] Similarly, a charge not pursued nor found upon by the referee or committee cannot be considered on a review of their recommendation,[36] and a special plea in bar to the jurisdiction must be regarded as abandoned where not argued in respondent's brief.[37] Errors occurring in the disbarment proceeding are not grounds for rejecting the recommendation of a referee or committee where they are not prejudicial.[38]

On a motion to dismiss an appeal, the question of whether an order of the court of chancery disbarring a solicitor from practicing in that court is sustainable as an order suspending him until the supreme court has acted is not presented and can only be dealt with on the appeal itself.[39]

Decision After reviewing the action of a board of governors, the court will make such order as is warranted by the facts and deemed proper under the circumstances of the case,[40] and the court has power to reverse the ruling of the referee on the question of allowing an amendment to the complaint and to again refer the case to the ref-

Reily, 183 P 728, 75 Okl. 192, 7 A L R 89

Wash.—In re Ryzek, 187 P 364, 109 Wash 700

Inconsistency with judgment adjudicating same questions

Where the findings are found to be inconsistent with a valid judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction of this state adjudicating the same questions of law or fact, they will be disregarded in so far as they are inconsistent therewith.—Haunstein v State Bar of Oklahoma, (Okl.) 46 P (2d) 558

29. Okl.—In re Lane, 54 P (2d) 839—Haunstein v State Bar of Oklahoma, 46 P (2d) 558—In re Meek, 36 P (2d) 267, 169 Okl 89—In re Threadgill, 27 P (2d) 601, 166 Okl 301—In re Dick, 26 P (2d) 412, 166 Okl. 114—State v Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl 183—State v Vernor, 191 P 729, 79 Okl 124—In re McNabb, 185 P 431, 76 Okl 253—In re Reily, 183 P 728, 75 Okl 192, 7 A L R 89

Or.—State v Goldstein, 220 P. 565, 109 Or 497

Pa.—In re Alexander, 184 A 77, 321 Pa 125—Klensin v Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A 474, 312 Pa 564—In re Rosenbaum, 150 A 748, 300 Pa 465

Presumed just

In a proceeding to discipline attorney, advisory recommendations of board of governors of state bar will be presumed, in first instance, to be just, but may be approved by the supreme court in such modified form as is deemed proper.—In re Myres, 43 P.(2d) 773, 172 Okl 123

Consideration of recommendation beyond power of committee

While a recommendation as to the punishment to be made is beyond the power of the committee or board of bar governors in some jurisdictions and not binding on the court, nevertheless the court may consider such recommendation.—In re Hoover, (Ariz.) 46 P (2d) 647

30. In re Grorud, 275 P. 1098, 84 Mont 221—In re McCue, 261 P 341, 80 Mont 537—In re Sullivan, 189 P 770, 57 Mont 592

Same presumptions indulged

Presumptions indulged in favor of trial court's or jury's action is indulged in support of findings and conclusions of committee on grievances of bar association.—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v. ———, Attorney at Law, 9 P (2d) 611, 90 Colo 440

31. Minn.—In re Nelson, 209 N.W 316, 167 Minn 467

Mont.—In re Grorud, 275 P. 1098, 84 Mont 221—In re McCue, 261 P 341, 80 Mont 537—In re Griggs, 240 P 820, 74 Mont 373—In re Sullivan, 189 P 770, 57 Mont 592

N Y.—In re Batt, 246 N Y S 77, 230 App Div 656—In re Karlin, 242 N Y S 653, 229 App Div 500

N D.—In re Nevin, 222 N W 266, 57 N D 367

Okl.—In re Schulte, 243 P. 933, 114 Okl 115.

32. In re Neary, (Okl.) 50 P (2d) 1119—In re Roff, (Okl.) 50 P (2d) 355—In re Pruett, (Okl.) 46 P (2d) 919—In re Grant, (Okl.) 46 P (2d) 317—Charlton v State Bar of Oklahoma, 42 P (2d) 233, 171 Okl 128—In re Hills, 40 P (2d) 1031, 170 Okl 427—In re Purdy, 25 P (2d) 1096, 166 Okl 31—In re Tillman, 11 P (2d) 511, 157 Okl 166

33. N Y.—In re McGauley, 270 N Y S 772, 241 App Div. 19—In re Wilson, 251 N Y.S. 954, 232 App Div 808

Pa.—Klensin v Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A. 474, 312 Pa 564

Credibility of witnesses is for referee.—State v Bradford, 259 N W. 109, 217 Wis 389

34. Cal.—Howe v State Bar of California, 298 P 25, 212 Cal 222

N Y.—In re Popper, 184 N Y.S 406, 193 App Div 505, 39 N Y Cr. 5.

35. Johnson v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 52 P (2d) 928

36. Cal.—Golden v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 325, 213 Cal 237.

N Y.—In re Cohen, 243 N Y S. 75, 229 App Div. 478

37. In re Richards, 63 S.W (2d) 672, 333 Mo 907

38. Roark v. State Bar of California, (Cal.) 55 P.(2d) 839.

Errors held not prejudicial

(1) Misconduct of one of examiners in disbarment proceeding in intimidating witness and resorting excessively to leading questions and conducting improper and prejudicial cross-examination was held not prejudicial where the evidence conclusively established attorney's misconduct.—Roark v State Bar of California, (Cal.) 55 P (2d) 839

(2) Petitioner for review of recommendation of disbarment, given complete hearing in the supreme court, was held not prejudiced because not served with copy of the commissioners' findings.—In re Henry, 269 P 416, 46 Idaho 578

39. In re Hahn, 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830, denying motion 94 A 953, 84 N.J Eq 523

40. In re Williams, (Okl.) 58 P.(2d) 145—In re Jeter, 20 P (2d) 886, 163 Okl 27

eree to hear evidence on and report upon any issue arising from such amendment,[41] and where several attorneys are involved in a transaction and only one was subjected to investigation and disbarment recommended, the court will remand the proceeding with directions to bring in such attorneys for investigation and to take such further steps as may seem meet and proper.[42] Where the circumstances justify a rereference, as where respondent wished to produce newly discovered evidence bearing directly on the issue, it will be again referred to the referee to take additional testimony,[43] and where, coincident with a motion made on the report of the referee, recanting affidavits were filed which are met by answering affidavits, the reference should be opened and the matter remitted to hear evidence on the affidavits.[44] However, the proceedings will not be remanded for the taking of evidence which the attorney failed or neglected to produce during the investigation of his conduct[45] or where such evidence is not creditable,[46] or where it relates to a side issue[47]

Rehearing. That a petition for a rehearing was not filed within the required time after the entry by the court of an order of suspension has been held not to deprive the court of its power to grant a rehearing, since the court could vacate such order of its own volition and thereby retain jurisdiction of the proceedings for further consideration, regardless of whether or not any petition for a rehearing was filed.[48]

Review of action of board of governors. An attorney charged with professional misconduct was held not entitled to complain of the refusal of the board of governors to remand matter to the local administrative committee where the board elected to take additional evidence with consent of attorney and his counsel, and it was not contended that he was not fully heard, nor that a more favorable showing would have been made on hearing de novo.[49] On proceedings to review an order of the board of governors of state bar recommending suspension from practice for one year, where all other attorneys involved in the transaction had been exonerated, the order of the board as to such attorney was annulled and proceeding based thereon ordered dismissed[50]

§ 38. —— Punishment

The court has discretion as to what punishment shall be imposed Generally, disbarment will not be decreed unless the conduct of the attorney shows that he is morally unfit to continue in the profession.

In arriving at the punishment to be imposed, precedents are of little aid,[51] and each case must be largely governed by its particular facts, and the matter rests in the sound discretion of the court.[52] The question is not what punishment may the offense warrant, but what does it require as a penalty to the offender, as a deterrent to others, and as an indication to laymen that the courts will maintain the ethics of the profession[53] Disbarment will be decreed only when the court is convinced of its neces-

41. In re Egan, 154 N.W. 521, 36 S D 228

42. Gray v State Bar of California, 33 P.(2d) 1016, 1 Cal (2d) 226

43. In re Jackson, 267 N.Y.S. 601, 239 App Div 122

44. In re O'Neill, 165 N.Y S 569

45. Cal.—Shaeffer v State Bar of California, 32 P (2d) 140, 220 Cal 681
La.—In re Heard, 141 So 60, 174 La 563

46. State v. Mannix, 288 P 507, 133 Or 329, rehearing denied 290 P 745, 133 Or 329

47. In re Goldstein, 253 N.Y S 548, 236 App Div. 233

48. Mayer v State Bar of California, (Cal) 39 P (2d) 206

49. Maggart v State Bar of California, (Cal) 61 P (2d) 451

50. Gray v State Bar of California, (Cal) 59 P (2d) 1033.

51. In re Powers, 257 N.Y.S. 113, 235 App Div 382

52. Ark.—Maloney v. State, 32 S.W. (2d) 423, 182 Ark 510—McGehee v State, 32 S W (2d) 308, 182 Ark. 603—State v. Huddleston, 293 S W. 353, 173 Ark 686.
Conn.—Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v Broder, 152 A 292, 112 Conn 263, 269
Iowa.—In re DeCaro, 262 N.W. 132, 220 Iowa 176
Ky.—Lenihan v. Commonwealth, 176 S W 948, 165 Ky. 93, L R A 1917D 1132
Or.—State v Tarpley, 259 P 783, 122 Or 479
S C.—State v Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C 263
6 C J p 612 note 49

According to law and conscience

The jurisdiction exercised by the court over an attorney is one exercised according to law and conscience, and not according to technical rules.—Gould v. State, 127 So 309, 99 Fla 662, 69 A L R 699

Commonwealth's attorney who was found guilty of misconduct in connection with an indictment and in retaining excessive fees from money collected for clients would not be suspended from the practice of law, since he would thereby be prevented from performing his official duties, but the penalty of censure was imposed.—Commonwealth ex rel Ward v Harrington, 98 S W (2d) 53, 266 Ky 41

Effective judicial disapproval

Under circumstances calling for disciplinary measures against an attorney, although not disbarment, such measures should be coextensive with effective judicial disapproval of misconduct.—State v. Kern, 233 N. W. 639, 203 Wis 178

Discipline not retroactive

If an attorney's conduct subjects him to discipline, such discipline is not retroactive merely because no similar acts have previously passed under judicial scrutiny.—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill 206.

53. Iowa.—In re De Caro, 262 N W. 132, 220 Iowa 176
Or.—State v. Tarpley, 259 P. 783, 122 Or 479
Utah.—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 168
6 C J p 612 note 50.

Influencing considerations

First, the effect that the punishment may have on others with a view sity for the protection of the profession, the courts, and the public,[54] and a removal from the bar should not be decreed where any punishment less severe, such as reprimand, temporary suspension, or fine, would accomplish the end desired.[55] It follows that the court may, instead of striking an attorney's name from the rolls, merely suspend him from practice for a specified length of time,[56] or until the perform-of stamping out the evil; second, the probability of reform or regeneration of the offending attorney; and, third, punishment—State v Kiefer, 222 N W. 795, 197 Wis. 524.

Motive considered

In proceedings for the disbarment or suspension of attorneys, the motive as well as the charge should be considered in determining the punishment—In re Ward, 179 P. 76, 176 Wash 147.

54. Mont—In re Peters, 235 P. 772, 73 Mont 284.
N D—In re Bryans, 204 N W. 9, 52 N D 673
Okl—In re Sitton, 177 P. 555, 72 Okl 13
S D—In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S D 76.
Wis—State v. Rubin, 229 N W 36, 201 Wis. 30—In re Richter, 204 N W. 492, 187 Wis 490, 41 A L R. 485

To warrant disbarment, an attorney's conduct must be so gross as to show want of integrity, moral turpitude, depravity of character, or dishonesty—State v. Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C 263.

Statement of standard of conduct warranting disbarment repudiated

(1) It has been stated that disbarment should be resorted to only where the evidence and circumstances are such as to show that respondent is so lacking in ability or character as to be wholly unfit to be intrusted with the interests of others—In re Bartlett, 197 N.W. 285, 47 S D. 208.

(2) In a later case the court held that it had inadvertently set too low a standard of conduct and that such sentence should be stricken from the opinion—In re Waggoner, 199 N W 244, 47 S D 401.

55. Cal—Barbee v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 353, 213 Cal. 296
Iowa—In re DeCaro, 262 N.W 132, 220 Iowa 176
Ky—Lenihan v Commonwealth, 176 S W 948, 165 Ky. 93, L R A 1917B 1132
Mont—In re Jewell, 201 P. 266, 60 Mont 602.
N J—In re Breidt, 94 A 214, 84 N J Eq 222
N Y—In re Axtell, 257 N Y S. 470, 235 App Div 350, modifying 242 N. Y S 18, 229 App Div. 333, affirmed 177 N E 423, 257 N Y. 210.
Okl—In re Green, 49 P.(2d) 197
Or—State v Tarpley, 259 P 783, 122 Or 479—State v. Woerndle, 220 P. 744, 109 Or. 461.
Pa—Maginnis' Case, 112 A. 555, 269 Pa 186.
Wis—State v. Rubin, 229 N.W. 36, 201 Wis 30
6 C J p 613 note 51.

56. Cal—Barbee v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 353, 213 Cal. 296
Mo—In re Tall, 93 S W (2d) 922
N Y—In re Swanick, 291 N Y S 193, 249 App Div 100—In re Sachs, 288 N Y S 1001, 248 App Div 301
Or—State v. Tarpley, 259 P 783, 122 Or 479
S C—State v. Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C. 263
6 C J. p 612 notes 52.

Thirty days.—In re Frederick, 227 P 999, 71 Mont 205—In re Tillman, 11 P (2d) 511, 157 Okl 166—State v Breckenridge, 258 P. 744, 126 Okl. 86, 53 A L R 1239

Sixty days.—In re Hoover, (Ariz) 46 P (2d) 647—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 163—6 C J. p 612 note 52 [a]

Ninety days.—In re Jewell, 201 P. 266, 60 Mont. 602—Ex parte Burke, 176 P 431, 55 Mont 303—In re Williams, (Okl) 58 P (2d) 145—In re Choate, (Okl) 50 P (2d) 706—In re Johnson, 33 P (2d) 189, 168 Okl 366—In re Bond, 31 P (2d) 921, 168 Okl 161—In re Boland, 248 P. 399, 140 Wash 148

Two months.—In re Nelson, 214 N. W 808, 51 S D 451.

Three months

Cal—Ewell v. State Bar of California, 40 P (2d) 264, 2 Cal (2d) 209—Sawyer v State Bar of California, 32 P.(2d) 369, 220 Cal. 702—Peters v State Bar of California, 26 P. (2d) 19, 219 Cal 218—Galbraith v. State Bar of California, 23 P (2d) 291, 218 Cal 329—Recht v State Bar of California, 23 P (2d) 273, 218 Cal 352—Rehart v State Bar of California, 16 P (2d) 993, 217 Cal 57—In re Goldstone, 6 P (2d) 513, 214 Cal 490, 80 A L R 701—Fish v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 937, 214 Cal 215—Barbee v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 353, 213 Cal. 296—Bruns v State Bar of California, 1 P (2d) 989, 213 Cal 151—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v Devall, 210 P. 279, 59 Cal App 230
Mont—State v Hughes, 10 P.(2d) 584, 92 Mont 53
N Y—In re Wilson, 289 N Y S 213, 248 App Div 388—In re Cantor, 289 N Y S 193, 248 App Div 390—In re Purcell, 272 N Y S 338, 241 App 343—In re Yochelson, 258 N Y S. 724, 236 App Div 807—In re Halpern, 253 N.Y.S 618, 233 App Div. 480—In re Galland, 203 N.Y.S 42, 203 App Div. 43.
Utah—In re Steffensen, 39 P (2d) 722, 85 Utah 330—In re Barclay, 24 P (2d) 302, 82 Utah 283.
Vt—In re Wakefield, 177 A. 319, 107 Vt. 130
Wash—In re Snelling, 224 P. 600, 129 Wash 56.
Wis—State v Kiefer, 222 N.W. 795, 197 Wis. 524
6 C J p 612 note 52 [b].

Four months.—McCue v. State Bar of California, (Cal) 47 P.(2d) 268

Six months

U.S—In re Gilbert, 48 S Ct 309, 276 U S 294, 72 L Ed 580.
Ariz—In re Myrland, 45 P (2d) 953.
Cal—Oster v State Bar of California, 42 P (2d) 627, 2 Cal (2d) 625, rehearing denied and modified on other grounds 43 P (2d) 535—Wood v. State Bar of California, 58 P (2d) 1280—Townsend v. State Bar of California, 51 P.(2d) 379—Barton v. State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 149, 213 Cal 186—Dahl v. State Bar of California, 1 P (2d) 977, 213 Cal 160—Schaffer v. State Bar of California, 298 P. 994, 212 Cal 367—In re Sadicoff, 282 P. 952, 208 Cal 555
Ill—In re Maley, 1 N E (2d) 495, 363 Ill 149
Ky—Commonwealth for and on behalf of Pike County Bar Ass'n v. Hinton, 72 S W.(2d) 481, 254 Ky. 798
La—State v. Woodville, 108 So. 309, 161 La 125
Minn—In re Ostensoe, 264 N.W. 569—In re Joyce, 234 N W. 9, 182 Minn 156—In re Dows, 209 N W. 627, 168 Minn 6, 47 A L R 265.
Nev—In re Miller, 38 P (2d) 972, 55 Nev 444—Washoe County Bar Ass'n v. Scoular, 190 P. 899, 44 Nev 208
N J—In re Isserman, 140 A. 253, 6 N J Misc 146
N.Y—In re Sale, 289 N Y S 66, 248 App Div. 402—In re Reich, 287 N Y S 861, 247 App.Div 459—In re Gavrin, 286 N Y S 203, 246 App Div 397—In re Newman, 284 N.Y S 294, 245 App Div 660—In re Radetsky, 284 N Y.S 89, 245 App. Div. 662—In re Delman, 283 N Y S 801, 245 App.Div 598—In re Goldman, 272 N.Y S. 293, 241 App Div. 349—In re Rosenblatt, 271 N Y S 581, 241 App Div 215—In re Gerety, 270 N Y.S 653, 240 App Div 496—In re Cunningham, 267 N Y S. 346, 239 App Div. 114—In re Freda, 267 N Y S 292, 239 App Div 116—In re Davidson, 252 N Y S 767, 233 App.Div. 311—In re Vail, 239 N Y.S. 414, 228 App Div. 217—

In re Mahan, 239 N Y S 392, 228 App.Div. 241—In re Brown, 200 N Y S 661, 206 App Div 111—In re Menzel, 196 N Y S 334, 203 App Div 515—In re Schwartz, 195 N Y.S 513, 202 App Div 88—In re Rose, 189 N Y S 543, 197 App Div 865—In re MacWilliams, 184 N Y S 343, 193 App Div 499—In re Jakubowsky, 283 N Y S. 347

N D—In re Crum, 215 N.W. 682, 55 N D 876, 55 A L R 220

Okl—In re Neary, 50 P (2d) 1119—In re Hills, 40 P (2d) 1031, 170 Okl 427—In re Shoemake, 31 P (2d) 938, 168 Okl 77—In re Hadwiger, 27 P (2d) 604, 167 Okl 307—State v Jefferson, 193 P 44, 79 Okl 288

Or—State v Woerndle, 220 P. 744, 109 Or 461

S D—In re Meighen, 214 N W 848, 51 S D 459—In re Hooper, 189 N W 309, 45 S D 525—In re Donovan, 178 N W 143, 43 S D 98, 9 A L R 1497—In re Swihart, 177 N W 364, 42 S.D. 628

6 C J p 612 note 52 [c].

Eight months.—In re Sullivan, 189 P 770, 57 Mont 592—In re Miller, (Nev) 59 P (2d) 9

Eighteen months.—McArthur v State Bar of California, 12 P (2d) 453, 215 Cal 652—Costigan v Adkins, 57 App D C 153, 18 F (2d) 803, certiorari denied Adkins v Costigan, 47 S Ct. 769, 274 U.S 760, 71 L Ed 1338

One year

U S—U S v. Kegley, (D C Cal.) 8 F Supp. 327

Ark.—Maloney v State, 32 S W (2d) 428, 182 Ark 510—McGehee v. State, 32 S W (2d) 808, 182 Ark 603—State v Huddleston, 293 S W. 353, 173 Ark 686

Cal—Farrar v State Bar of California, 34 P (2d) 1034, 1 Cal (2d) 359—Johnson v. State Bar of California, 52 P.(2d) 928—Ring v State Bar of California, 47 P (2d) 704—Peck v State Bar of California, 17 P.(2d) 112, 217 Cal 47—Bentson v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 513, 216 Cal 58—Green v State Bar of California, 2 P (2d) 840, 213 Cal 402—Irving v. State Bar of California, 1 P.(2d) 2, 213 Cal 81—D'Ellia v State Bar of California, 300 P 826, 212 Cal. 770—Lantz v State Bar of California, 298 P 497, 212 Cal 213—In re Herron, 298 P 474, 212 Cal 196—Smallberg v. State Bar of California, 297 P. 916, 212 Cal 113—Shaw v. State, Bar of California, 297 P. 532, 212 Cal. 52—Mills v State Bar of California, 296 P 280, 211 Cal 579, rehearing denied 297 P 19, 211 Cal 579—Townsend v. State Bar of California, 291 P. 837, 210 Cal 362—Marsh v. State Bar of California, 291 P 583, 210 Cal. 303—State Bar of California v. Jones, 280 P. 964, 208 Cal 240—In re Petersen, 280 P 124, 208 Cal. 42—Bar Association of San Francisco v. Cantrell, 193 P. 593, 49 Cal App 468.

Colo—People v Ginsberg, 285 P. 753, 87 Colo 115

Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P (2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190.

Ill—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 351 Ill 206—People v Ashton, 180 N E 449, 347 Ill 570

Iowa—In re De Caro, 262 N W 132, 220 Iowa 176

Mich—Attorney-General v. Nelson, 249 N W 439, 263 Mich. 686

Minn—In re Smith, 237 N W 877, 184 Minn 87—In re Halvorson, 221 N W 907, 175 Minn. 520—In re Buck, 214 N W 662, 171 Minn. 352—In re Ginsberg, 169 N W 737, 141 Minn 271

Mo—In re Gallant, (App) 95 S W (2d) 1249

Nev—In re Pilkington, 49 P (2d) 965—In re Scott, 292 P 291, 53 Nev 24, rehearing denied 296 P 1113

N J—In re Feinberg, 136 A. 667—In re Glauberman, 152 A 650, 107 N J Eq 384

N Y—In re Zipkin, 291 N Y S 272, 249 App Div 100—In re Braun, 285 N Y S 360, 246 App Div 206—In re Lazarus, 284 N Y S 340, 245 App Div 657—In re Whaley, 284 N Y S. 85, 245 App Div 664—In re Engler, 283 N.Y S 180—In re Warrick, 278 N Y S 132, 244 App Div 48—In re Gavrin, 275 N Y S 789, 242 App Div 490—In re Jackson, 272 N Y S 918, 242 App Div. 240, motion granted 195 N E 149, 266 N Y 450—In re Miller, 272 N Y S 706, 241 App Div 414—In re Burger, 271 N Y S 676, 241 App Div 213—In re Isaacs, 270 N Y S 708, 240 App Div 498—In re Ludden, 268 N Y S 123, 239 App Div 548—In re Husin, 268 N Y S 106, 239 App Div 551—In re Williams, 267 N Y S 354, 239 App Div 131—In re Chaikin, 264 N Y S 221, 238 App Div 211—In re Treadwell, 260 N Y S 264, 236 App Div 562—In re Blakesberg, 258 N. Y S 583, 236 App Div 227—In re Feinstein, 253 N Y S 455, 233 App Div. 541—In re Schiel, 252 N Y S 753, 233 App Div. 806—In re Wyte (formerly Weissberger), 248 N Y S 26, 231 App Div 539—In re Flanagan, 247 N Y S 724, 231 App Div. 548—In re Fischer, 247 N Y S 168, 231 App Div 193—In re Gordon, 241 N Y.S. 276, 229 App Div 142—In re Reynolds, 241 N Y S 146, 229 App Div. 117—In re Hendrick, 241 N Y S 50, 229 App Div. 100—In re Schleider, 239 N Y S 311, 228 App Div 221—In re Schleider, 238 N Y. S 601, 227 App Div 532—In re Springer, 238 N Y S 591, 237 App Div 490—In re Rosenberg, 238 N Y S 514, 227 App Div 527—In re Goldberg, 238 N Y S 273, 227 App Div 502—In re Bevans, 233 N Y S 439, 225 App Div 427—In re Annabel, 229 N.Y.S 385, 223 App Div 539—In re Stark, 221 N.Y.S 243, 220 App Div 132—In re Goldstein, 220 N Y S 473, 220 App Div 107, modifying 218 N Y S 944, 218 App Div. 799—In re Lynch, 205 N Y.S. 518, 210 App Div 191—In re Tryon, 205 N Y S 423, 209 App Div. 793—In re Aydelotte, 200 N.Y S 637, 206 App Div. 93—In re Pouker, 197 N. Y S 190, 203 App Div 520—In re Kelly, 188 N Y S 502, 197 App Div. 41—In re Dangler, 182 N Y S 471, 192 App Div. 237—In re Eisenberg, 160 N Y S 143, 173 App Div. 598—In re Goldfarb, 157 N Y S 1076, 173 App Div. 882—In re Neuman, 155 N Y S 428, 169 App Div 638—In re Dinkelspiel, 283 N Y S 395

N D—In re Bryans, 204 N W. 9, 52 N D. 673.

Ohio—In re Meck, 200 N E 478, 51 Ohio App 237

Okl—In re Pruiett, 46 P (2d) 919—In re Myres, 43 P.(2d) 773, 172 Okl 123—In re Dick, 26 P (2d) 412, 166 Okl 114

Or—Ex parte Eastman, 62 P (2d) 27—State v. Parker, 252 P. 711, 120 Or 465

Pa—Breslin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 175 A. 378, 316 Pa 392—Lewis v Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 173 A 652, 316 Pa 193

S D—In re Hosford, 245 N W. 822, 60 S D 625

Wash—In re Disbarment of McCann, 42 P (2d) 437, 181 Wash. 183—In re Hutchinson, 33 P (2d) 1119, 178 Wash 112—In re Cavers, 4 P (2d) 1106, 165 Wash 261—In re Sampley, 294 P 1113, 160 Wash 92—In re Kienstra, 282 P. 221, 154 Wash 153, modifying 276 P 294, 151 Wash 424—In re Ward, 179 P 76, 176 Wash 147—In re Turner, 176 P. 332, 104 Wash 276

Wis—State v Kuensli, 249 N W. 511, 212 Wis 296

6 C J p 612 note 52 [e].

Two years

U S—In re Fertig, (C C A) 68 F (2d) 307.

Cal—Johnson v. State Bar of California, 52 P (2d) 928—Wright v State Bar of California, 17 P (2d) 101, 217 Cal. 59—Green v. State Bar of California, 292 P. 638, 210 Cal 603

Ill—In re Grosso, 194 N E 514, 359 Ill. 243—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Chancellor, 192 N.E. 641, 353 Ill. 112—In re Zahn, 190 N.E 419, 356 Ill. 283

Minn—In re Yakey, 212 N.W. 13, 170 Minn. 21.

N J—In re P., 169 A. 25, 111 N J. Law 569—In re Broidt, 94 A. 214, 84 N J Eq 222—In re Rosenkrans, 94 A. 42, 84 N J Eq 232

N Y—In re Sugarman, 288 N.Y.S. 592, 248 App Div 724—In re Porcella, 272 N Y S 235, 241 App.Div. 344—In re Siegel, 265 N Y.S. 497, 238 App Div 744—In re Mahan, 262 N Y S. 702, 237 App Div. 664—

ance of prescribed conditions,[57] and this course is the usual one where the conduct complained of is a mere failure to turn over to his client money collected for him, no deliberate fraud, imposition, or attempt at oppression being shown.[58]

Mitigating circumstances may be considered in determining the punishment to be imposed in disciplinary proceedings, such as the motives and purposes which actuated accused, his previous good record, his characteristics and nature, testimonials as to his good character and reputation, his youth and inexperience and the fact that he was not guilty of intentional wrongdoing, or restitution of the client's money,[59] and, where mitigating circumstances are shown, the

In re Tans, 260 N Y S 219, 236 App Div 559—In re Brown, 260 N Y S 111, 236 App Div 423—In re Campbell, 260 N Y S 80, 236 App Div 429—In re Gottlieb, 260 N Y S 45, 236 App Div 432—In re Moran, 258 N Y S 565, 236 App Div 243—In re Crames, 258 N Y S 551, 236 App Div 229—In re Powers, 257 N Y S 113, 235 App Div 382—In re Babcock, 243 N Y S 489, 230 App Div 323—In re Fieldsteel, 240 N Y S 481, 228 App Div 470—In re Cherry, 240 N Y S 282, 228 App Div 458—In re Linden, 240 N Y S 274, 228 App Div 497—In re Weinstein, 239 N Y S 404, 228 App Div 210—In re Levy, 239 N Y S 377, 228 App Div 249—In re Feuerman, 238 N Y S 656, 227 App Div 506—In re Reichman, 238 N Y S 647, 227 App Div 512—In re Langfur, 238 N Y S 498, 227 App Div 468—In re Burke, 237 N Y S 53, 227 App Div 746—In re Cusack, 227 N Y S 187, 222 App Div 621—In re Menzel, 213 N Y S 707, 216 App Div 176—In re Marshall, 213 N Y S 611, 216 App Div. 168—In re McElveety, 195 N Y S 345 202 App Div 79—In re McKee, 188 N Y S 753, 197 App Div 192—In re Evans, 155 N Y S 491, 169 App Div 502—In re Adams, 291 N Y S 2.

R I—In re Troy, 111 A 723, 43 R I 279

Wis—State v Bradford, 259 N W 109, 217 Wis 389—State v Ingram, 248 N W. 915, 212 Wis 142—State v. Cannon, 226 N W 385, 199 Wis 401.

Wyo—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 8 P (2d) 1090, 44 Wyo. 156, rehearing denied 13 P (2d) 1083, 44 Wyo 487

6 C J. p 612 note 52 [f]

Two years and six months.—Smukler v State Bar of California, 38 P (2d) 777, 2 Cal (2d) 80

Three years

Cal—Hill v State Bar of California, 42 P (2d) 629, 2 Cal (2d) 622—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P.(2d) 403, 2 Cal.(2d) 75—Tatlow v State Bar of California, 55 P (2d) 214—Johnson v State Bar of California, 52 P (2d) 928—Shaeffer v State Bar of California, 32 P (2d) 140, 220 Cal 681—Mauer v State Bar of California, 26 P.(2d) 14, 219 Cal 271

Iowa—State v Kaufmann, 209 N W 417, 202 Iowa 157

Mich—Attorney General v. Lane, 243 N W. 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565

Minn—In re Waleen, 250 N W. 793, 190 Minn 13

N J—In re Breidt, 94 A 214, 84 N J Eq 222

N Y—In re Rubenstein, 197 N Y S 75, 203 App Div 517—In re Hettrick, 197 N Y S 6, 203 App Div 512—In re Moller, 290 N Y S 257

Wyo—State Board of Law Examiners v Brown, 290 P 1013, 42 Wyo 108

6 C J p 612 note 52 [g].

Five years.—In re Schachne, (D C N Y) 5 F Supp 680—In re Dolins, 237 N Y S 46, 227 App Div 747—In re Bolin, 232 P 370, 132 Wash 453

Indefinitely or until further order of the court

Colo—Melville v. Wettengel, 57 P (2d) 699, 98 Colo 529—People v Winograd, 287 P 864, 87 Colo 384—People v Kelley, 285 P. 767, 87 Colo 88

Ill—People v Harris, 112 N E 978, 273 Ill 413—People v Anderson, 112 N E 273, 273 Ill 37

Mont—In re Gullickson, 181 P. 983, 56 Mont 144

N J—In re Lowenkopf, 183 A 716, 14 N J Misc 203

R I—Heitmanek v Turano, 158 A 878—Grinsell v Wilcox, 98 A 977

Wis—State v Kern, 233 N W 629, 203 Wis 178—In re Stolen, 214 N. W 379, 193 Wis 602, 55 A L R 1355, affirmed 216 N W. 127, 193 Wis 602, 55 A L.R 1355.

57. Ill—In re Borchardt, 192 N E 383, 357 Ill 458

Or—State v Tarpley, 259 P. 783, 122 Or 479

S C—State v Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C. 263

6 C J p 612 note 53.

Judgment of disbarment suspended on condition that the attorney pay to the ward, whose estate was devastated by his conduct, a sum of money on the first of every month until further order of the court—State v Jennings, 159 S E 627, 161 S C. 263

58. In re Borchardt, 192 N E. 383, 357 Ill 458—6 C J p 613 note 54.

Municipal judge was censured for taking two hundred dollars from a colored woman in connection with his efforts to obtain a pardon for her, notwithstanding the judge believed that he had committed an injustice in sentencing her to prison—In re Harriss, 4 N E (2d) 387, 364 Ill 290.

Effect of restitution

(1) In a disbarment proceeding for unlawful retention of clients' money, restitution is not evidence of innocence, although such restitution may appear as a mitigating circumstance in the punishment—In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa. 362

(2) The weight to be given restitution by an attorney of a client's property is to be determined by the facts in each case.—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Lotterman, 187 N E 424, 353 Ill 399—People v Grusd, 148 N E 860, 318 Ill. 44.

59. Cal—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75

N Y—In re Westchester County Bar Ass'n, 276 N Y S 654, 243 App Div 621—In re Yochelson, 258 N.Y.S 724, 236 App Div 807.

S D—In re Meighen, 214 N.W. 848, 51 S D 459

Utah—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118

6 C J p 601 note 92.

Delay in instituting proceedings

Delay in instituting disbarment proceedings may be considered in mitigation of punishment—State v. Tarpley, 259 P 783, 122 Or. 479—State v. Parker, 252 P. 711, 120 Or 465

Frankness in disciplinary proceedings

An attorney's frankness in answering a charge in disciplinary proceedings bears on the extent of punishment to be imposed for professional misconduct—In re Porcella, 272 N. Y S 235, 241 App.Div 344—In re Blakesberg, 258 N Y S. 583, 236 App Div 227—In re Mulry, 255 N.Y.S 249, 234 App Div. 404.

Expression of regret

In a disbarment proceeding, an attorney's expression of regret that the petition filed by him charged that a certain court order was the result of hatred and vindictiveness of the judge could be considered in mitigation of offense—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Sherwin, 4 N.E (2d) 477, 364 Ill 350

Illness and straitened financial circumstances held insufficient to justify granting application of attorney disbarred for permitting an insurance adjuster to use his name as attorney for plaintiffs in fictitious court will often suspend, rather than disbar, the attorney, or will reduce the term of suspension.[60] If the misconduct is not sufficiently flagrant to justify disbarment or suspension, or mitigating circumstances are shown, a reprimand may be administered;[61] but, where there are no extenuating circumstances and the conduct shows that the attorney is morally unfit to continue in the profession, he will be disbarred.[62]

On the other hand, incriminating circumstances cases for suspension for a fixed term —In re Durst, 263 N.Y.S. 575, 237 App Div. 685

Previous good character not controlling

While previous good character may be considered in disbarment proceedings, where a gross breach of law and of the ethics of the profession is shown, it should not control the decision of the court as to whether the attorney should be disbarred or merely suspended—People ex rel. Chicago Bar Ass'n v. Chancellor, 192 N E 641, 358 Ill 112—People v. Donovan, 123 N E 513, 288 Ill 555.

60. U S—In re Paris, (D C.N Y) 4 F.Supp 878
Cal—Smukler v State Bar of California, 38 P.(2d) 777, 2 Cal (2d) 80—Recht v State Bar of California, 28 P.(2d) 273, 218 Cal 352—Bentson v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 512, 216 Cal. 58—Lantz v State Bar of California, 293 P 497, 212 Cal 213.
Colo—People v Ginsberg, 285 P 758, 87 Colo 115
Ill—People v Lally, 144 N E 329, 313 Ill 21
Iowa—In re De Caro, 262 N W 132, 220 Iowa 176
Minn—In re Smith, 237 N W 877, 184 Minn 87
Mont—Ex parte Burke, 176 P 421, 55 Mont. 303
N Y—In re Warrick, 278 N Y S 132, 244 App Div 48—In re Freda, 267 N Y S 292, 239 App Div 116—In re Siegel, 265 N Y S 497, 238 App Div 744—In re Treadwell, 260 N Y.S. 364, 236 App Div 562—In re Yochelson, 258 N Y S 724, 236 App Div. 807—In re Cramer, 258 N Y S 551, 236 App Div. 229—In re Halpern, 253 N Y S 618, 233 App Div 480—In re Katzka, 232 N Y S. 575, 225 App Div 250, modified on other ground 237 N Y S 808, 227 App Div 831—In re Eisenberg, 160 N Y S 143, 173 App Div 598—In re Newman, 158 N Y S 375, 172 App Div 172—In re Fallick, 286 N Y.S. 581
S D.—In re Kirby, 170 N W. 635, 41 S D 405.
Wis—State v Kern, 233 N W. 629, 208 Wis. 178.
Wyo.—State Board of Law Examiners v Strahan, 8 P (2d) 1090, 44 Wyo 156, rehearing denied 13 P (2d) 1083, 44 Wyo 487.
6 C J p 613 note 55

61. U S.—In re Baker, 56 S Ct. 377, 297 U.S 601, 80 L Ed 1413—Bartos v U S. Dist Court for Dist of Nebraska, (C C A Neb) 19 F (2d) 722, reversing (D C) In re Bartos, 13 F (2d) 138—In re Ades, (D C Md) 6 F Supp 467
Ariz—In re Myrland, 29 P (2d) 433
Cal—Remington v State Bar of California, 28 P (2d) 510, 218 Cal 446—Lupton v State Bar of California, 16 P (2d) 995, 217 Cal 56—Dudney v State Bar of California, 4 P (2d) 770, 214 Cal 238—D'Elia v. State Bar of California, 300 P 826, 212 Cal 770
Colo—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v ———, Attorney at Law, 9 P (2d) 611, 90 Colo 440—People v White, 1 P (2d) 577, 89 Colo 306—People v. Marshall, 297 P 998, 88 Colo 394—In re Nikkel, 279 P 565, 86 Colo 189
Ill—People ex rel Chicago Bar Ass'n v Sherwin, 4 N E (2d) 477, 361 Ill 350—People v McCallum, 173 N E 827, 341 Ill 578—People v Hickman, 138 N E 484, 294 Ill 471—People v Berezniak, 127 N E 36, 292 Ill 305
Minn—In re Otterness, 232 N W 318, 181 Minn 254, 73 A L R 1319—In re Dunn, 217 N W. 142, 173 Minn 274—In re McVeety, 211 N W 653, 170 Minn. 170
Mont—In re Hansen, 54 P (2d) 882
N M—In re Zinn, 42 P (2d) 776, 39 N M 161
N Y—In re Grill, 290 N Y S 729, 248 App Div 491—In re Phillips, 289 N Y S 56, 248 App Div 768—In re Berger, 286 N Y S 177, 246 App Div 892—In re Clowe, 283 N Y S 803, 245 App Div 596—In re Moller, 279 N Y S 779, 241 App Div 819—In re Wilcox, 276 N Y S 463, 243 App Div 103—In re McDougald, 276 N Y S 21, 242 App Div 578—In re Engel, 272 N Y S 696, 241 App Div 100—In re Britt, 267 N Y S 824, 239 App Div 430—In re Rolph, 264 N Y S. 171, 238 App Div 235—In re Mulry, 255 N Y S 249, 234 App Div 404—In re Burns, 254 N Y S. 131, 234 App Div 31—In re Steinberg, 252 N.Y S 755, 233 App Div 301—In re Carroll, 248 N Y S 363, 231 App Div 623—In re Batt, 246 N Y S 77, 230 App Div 656—In re Heimsoth, 243 N Y S 149, 229 App. Div 194, affirmed 175 N.E 112, 255 N Y. 409—In re Glucksman, 243 N Y S 1, 230 App Div. 135—In re Greenwald, 241 N Y S 703, 229 App Div 189—In re Kreindler, 240 N. Y S 604, 228 App Div 493—In re Cohen, 240 N Y S 350, 228 App Div. 465—In re Kreisvogel, 240 N Y.S. 314, 228 App Div 490—In re Flatow, 239 N Y.S 526, 228 App Div. 253—In re Bovard, 239 N Y S. 465, 228 App Div 263—In re Ziff, 239 N. Y.S. 388, 228 App Div 209—In re Klein, 239 N Y S 382, 228 App Div. 246—In re Uran, 238 N Y S 596, 227 App Div 496—In re Hyman, 235 N Y S 622, 226 App Div 468—In re Spigelgass, 233 N Y S 33, 225 App Div 297—In re Bullowa, 229 N Y S 145, 223 App Div 593—In re Oberstein, 222 N Y S 656, 221 App Div 60—In re Yardum, 218 N Y.S. 6, 218 App Div. 134—In re Zahm, 211 N Y S 144, 213 App Div 551—In re Bunker, 199 N Y S 435, 205 App Div 237—In re Tunnicliff, 195 N Y S 449, 202 App Div 69—In re Apfel, 195 N Y S 325, 202 App. Div 76—In re Thayer, 190 N Y S 392, 198 App Div 311—In re Bookman, 188 N Y S 271, 196 App Div 765—In re Penn, 188 N Y.S 193, 196 App Div 764—In re Becker, 187 N Y S 400, 196 App Div 914—In re Markewich, 182 N Y S 653, 192 App. Div. 242—In re Fisch, 177 N Y S. 338, 188 App Div 535—In re O'Reilly, 176 N Y S 781, 188 App Div 970—In re Hirsch, 171 N Y.S 534, 184 App Div. 147—In re Barondess, 162 N Y S 114, 176 App Div. 206—In re Schwarz, 161 N Y S 1079, 175 App Div 335—In re O'Neill, 161 N Y S. 899, 175 App Div. 973—In re Galland, 158 N.Y.S. 695, 172 App Div 611—In re Newman, 158 N Y S 375, 172 App Div 173—In re Pace, 156 N Y S. 641, 170 App Div 818—In re Carrao, 156 N. Y S 379, 170 App Div. 545—In re Lauterbach, 155 N Y S 478, 169 App Div 534—In re Napolis, 155 N. Y S. 416, 169 App Div. 469—In re Gray, 155 N Y S 407, 171 App Div. 894—In re Tepper, 154 N Y S 413, 170 App Div 889—In re Keesing, 283 N Y S. 319—In re Beachboard, 263 N Y S 492
Okl—In re Williams, 50 P (2d) 739—In re Green, 49 P (2d) 197—In re Hadwiger, 27 P (2d) 604, 167 Okl 307—In re Jeter, 20 P.(2d) 886, 163 Okl. 27—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183—In re Connell, 192 P. 564, 79 Okl 212
S D—In re Byrne, 262 N W 236—In re Bartlett, 197 N W 285, 47 S D 208—In re Wilmarth, 172 N.W 921, 42 S D 76.
Utah—In re Burton, 246 P. 188, 67 Utah 118
Vt—In re Wakefield, 177 A. 319, 107 Vt 180.
Wash—In re Disbarment of McCann, 42 P (2d) 437, 181 Wash 183.
Wis—State v Schnorenberg, 243 N. W 486, 208 Wis 595
6 C J. p 613 note 56

62. Ariz—In re Barth, 50 P (2d) 564—In re Langworthy, 8 P.(2d) 245, 39 Ariz 523.

such as the previous poor record of an accused, his years of practice, knowledge of wrongdoing, repeated misconduct, etc, may be considered in determining whether or not a more severe penalty should be imposed.[63]

Disbarment mandatory. Under statutes in some jurisdictions which have been held not invalid,[64] the court has no election, but must disbar an attorney convicted of a criminal offense involving moral turpitude where the conviction has become final and has not been set aside.[65]

Statutory punishment not exclusive. Where an attorney is guilty of professional misconduct, a proceeding under a statute limiting punishment for such misconduct to suspension from practice for twelve months is not exclusive, but such attorney may be disbarred in a common-law proceeding.[66]

Cal—Barton v State Bar of California, 40 P (2d) 502, 2 Cal (2d) 294—Mayer v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 206, 2 Cal (2d) 71—Laney v State Bar of California, 60 P (2d) 845—Mills v State Bar of California, 58 P (2d) 1273—Roark v. State Bar of California, 55 P. (2d) 839—McIntosh v State Bar of California, 294 P 1067, 211 Cal 261

Colo—People v. Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo 428.

Conn—Grievance Committee of Hartford County Bar v. Broder, 152 A 292, 112 Conn 263, 269

Ill—People v. Hansen, 185 N.E. 225, 352 Ill. 144—People v Gilmore, 177 N.E 710, 345 Ill 28—People v. Johnson, 176 N.E 278, 344 Ill 132

Ky—Rosenberg v Commonwealth ex rel Otte, 74 S.W (2d) 478, 255 Ky. 413.

La—In re Wolff, 115 So 809, 165 La 641.

Minn—In re Strand, 260 N.W. 499—In re Waters, 256 N.W 139, 192 Minn 262—In re Gerlich, 244 N.W 414, 187 Minn 88—In re Smith, 236 N.W. 324, 183 Minn 220—In re Fitz Gibbons, 234 N.W. 637, 182 Minn. 373

Mo.—In re Richards, 63 S.W.(2d) 672, 333 Mo 907.

Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v. Ireland, 251 N.W. 119, 125 Neb 570

N.M—In re Eaton, 281 P. 24, 34 N. M. 329.

N.Y—In re Kunstler, 289 N.Y.S 107, 248 App Div. 393—In re Mitnick, 288 N.Y.S. 913, 248 App Div 198—In re Ostergren, 283 N.Y.S 615, 246 App Div. 725—In re Feinstein, 280 N.Y.S. 267, 245 App Div 740—In re Klein, 275 N.Y.S. 703, 242 App Div 494—In re Williams, 272 N.Y.S 898, 242 App Div 151—In re Krissoff, 267 N.Y.S 887, 239 App. Div. 436—In re Needleman, 267 N.Y.S 785, 240 App Div 971—In re Schwartz, 267 N.Y.S. 343, 239 App Div. 127—In re Goldstein, 258 N.Y.S 548, 236 App.Div 233—In re Schwind, 253 N.Y.S 762, 233 App. Div. 468—In re Robson, 253 N.Y.S 713, 233 App Div 471—In re Malcolm, 253 N.Y.S. 602, 233 App Div 476—In re Cohen, 252 N.Y.S. 757, 233 App Div. 817—In re Silver, 252 N.Y.S. 749, 233 App Div. 803—In re Rosenbaum, 242 N.Y.S. 15, 229 App Div 199—In re Helfant, 210 N.Y.S 242, 228 App Div. 479—In re Durst, 239 N.Y.S 316, 228 App Div. 256—In re Flynn, 203 N.Y.S 29, 208 App. Div. 40—In re Makay, 203 N.Y.S. 15, 208 App Div 44—In re Montegriffo, 156 N.Y.S 512, 171 App Div. 933, rehearing denied 161 N.Y.S 1135—In re Riordan, 290 N.Y.S. 267—In re Dawson, 290 N.Y.S 262—In re Kushner, 283 N.Y.S 167—In re Reiburn, 283 N.Y.S 136—In re Ropiecki, 282 N.Y.S 947.

Okl—In re Osmond, 54 P (2d) 319, 174 Okl. 561—In re Kelley, 28 P (2d) 564, 167 Okl 142—State v Breckenridge, 258 P. 744, 126 Okl 86, 53 A.L.R 1239—In re Warren, 151 P 619, 49 Okl. 87.

Or—State ex rel. Seton v. McMenamin, 29 P.(2d) 520, 146 Or 60—State v. Mannix, 288 P 507, 133 Or 339, rehearing denied 290 P. 745, 133 Or 329—State v Tarpley, 259 P. 783, 122 Or 479

Pa—In re Goldberg, 184 A. 74, 321 Pa 109—In re Salus, 184 A. 70, 321 Pa. 106—In re Salus, 184 A. 69, 321 Pa 103—Klensin v. Board of Governance of Pennsylvania Bar, 168 A 474, 312 Pa 564—In re Law Ass'n of Philadelphia, 167 A 579, 312 Pa 555—In re Gangewer, 19 Pa Dist & Co 698.

S.D—In re Brown, 264 N.W. 521—In re Kaas, 162 N.W. 370, 39 S.D. 4

Utah—In re Hilton, 158 P 691, 48 Utah 172, Ann Cas.1918A 271.

Wash—In re Madigan, 300 P. 1119, 163 Wash 151—In re Mills, 176 P 556, 104 Wash 278.

Wis—State v. Sullivan, 249 N.W. 519, 212 Wis 314—State v. Andrews, 240 N.W 147, 206 Wis 615.

63. Cal—Marsh v State Bar of California, 39 P (2d) 403, 2 Cal (2d) 75—McCue v. State Bar of California, 47 P (2d) 268.

Colo—People v. Hillyer, 297 P. 1004, 88 Colo. 428.

Previous record

In considering the punishment to be imposed on an attorney for breach of trust in connection with the handling of his clients' funds, the previous record of the attorney who had been suspended from the practice of law for one year on another occasion could be considered—Mills v. State Bar of California, (Cal) 58 P.(2d) 1273.

Second offense

Previous suspension of an attorney for a similar offense justifies severer punishment than for a first offense—In re Sherin, 210 N.W. 507, 50 S.D 428.

64. In re Casebier, 284 P. 611, 129 Kan. 353

65. Cal—In re Herron, 19 P (2d) 4, 217 Cal. 400—In re O'Connell, 194 P 1010, 184 Cal 584—In re O'Connell, 189 P. 700, 182 Cal 786—In re Riccardi, 189 P 694, 182 Cal. 675—In re Beggs, 176 P. 165

Kan—In re Casebier, 284 P 611, 129 Kan 353—State v. Bieber, 247 P. 875, 121 Kan 536, 48 A.L.R 252

Mo—In re Wallace, 19 S.W.(2d) 625, 323 Mo 203

Wash—In re Lilopoulos, 27 P (2d) 691, 175 Wash 338—In re Finch, 287 P. 677, 156 Wash. 609.

"May" construed as mandatory

"May," as used in a statute relating to disbarment of an attorney convicted of any criminal offense involving moral turpitude, is mandatory—In re Wallace, 19 S.W.(2d) 625, 323 Mo. 203

Record of conviction conclusive

Under a statute providing that a lawyer "may" be disbarred for conviction involving moral turpitude and that the record shall be conclusive evidence, the supreme court must accept the record as conclusive, and must disbar—In re Finch, 287 P. 677, 156 Wash. 609.

Suspension pending further action in criminal case

An attorney, convicted of a felony involving moral turpitude, but placed on probation without the imposition of sentence, should be suspended pending further action in a criminal case—In re Jacobsen, 260 P. 294, 202 Cal. 289.

In Oklahoma it has been held that there is nothing in the statute which requires disbarment on conviction in the federal courts of a crime involving moral turpitude.—In re Green, 16 P (2d) 582, 161 Okl 1.

Conviction of felony operating ipso facto to disbar attorney see supra § 21

66. Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S. W. 555, 203 Ky. 452.

§ 39. —— Costs

Generally, in the absence of statutes providing therefor, costs cannot be recovered by either party.

While, under statutes in some jurisdictions, the court may adjudge, in its discretion, that the accused pay a part or all of the costs involved in the proceeding,[67] and although in some cases the courts have adjudged that accused should pay the costs or a part thereof, seemingly as a part of his punishment,[68] generally, in the absence of a statute giving costs in such cases, the rule is that none can be recovered by either party,[69] except perhaps where the court finds that the proceedings have been instituted in bad faith, when it may adjudge costs against the petitioner.[70]

Liability of state or county. Under statutes providing that a disbarment proceeding must be conducted in the name of the state and that, in all civil actions prosecuted in the name of the state by an officer duly authorized for that purpose, the state shall be liable for costs in the same cases and to the same extent as private parties, it has been held that the state, rather than the county, is liable for the costs of a disbarment proceeding.[71]

On appeal costs have been held to be governed by the appeal rules and statutes.[72]

67. S D—In re Wilmarth, 172 N W 921, 42 S D 76
Wis—State v Sodorberg, 255 N.W. 906, 215 Wis 571.
6 C J p 613 note 60.

Particular items

(1) Under a statute providing that the costs of a reference shall be paid by the county, etc, and that the court in its discretion may tax the costs for necessary disbursements against accused, it has been held that the fees of the referees, the per diem and mileage of the stenographer reporting and transcribing the testimony, and the charges of such stenographer for a transcript of the evidence are not chargeable against accused—In re Bartlett, 198 N W. 125, 47 S D 270—In re Egan, 160 N W 814, 38 S D 224, modifying 159 N.W. 393, 37 S D. 642—6 C J p 613 note 60 [c] (1).

(2) Carbon copies of the transcript of testimony to be furnished in disbarment proceedings are not necessary and not properly taxable against accused.—In re Egan, 159 N W. 393, 37 S D. 642, modified on other grounds 160 N W. 814, 38 S D 224

(3) Expenses of an insanity expert in disbarment proceedings when brought from without the state are properly chargeable against accused only to the amount of witness' fee and mileage from the state line—In re Egan, 159 N W. 393, 37 S D. 642, modified on other grounds 160 N.W. 814, 38 S D. 224

Effect of unnecessary payment by county

(1) The fact that the disbursements in such proceeding have been paid by the county has been held not to affect the right to tax them against accused, the county being clearly entitled to reimbursement—In re Egan, 160 N W 814, 38 S D. 224, modifying 159 N W. 393, 37 S D. 642.

(2) It is no objection that the judgment will be in favor of the state, as it will of necessity be for the benefit of the county—In re Egan, 159 N W. 393, 37 S D. 642, modified on other grounds 160 N.W. 814, 38 S D 224

Notice and opportunity to urge objections

An objection that it is sought to tax the costs against accused without notice to him and without giving him any opportunity to file and urge objections is without merit where such opportunity is given before the costs are taxed against him—In re Egan, 159 N W. 393, 37 S D 642, modified on other grounds 160 N W 814, 38 S D 224

In the Philippine Islands, in accordance with the statute, the accused attorney will be adjudged to pay whatever costs have been incurred by him in a disbarment proceeding—In re Adriatico, 7 Philippine 172, 5 Off Gaz 52

68. Mont—In re Hansen, 54 P (2d) 882
N M—In re Zinn, 42 P (2d) 776, 39 N M 161.
Okl—In re Connell, 192 P 564, 79 Okl. 212.
Utah—In re Hanson, 158 P. 778, 48 Utah 163.

Referee's and stenographer's fees and other court costs have been held chargeable against accused—In re Hanson, 158 P 778, 48 Utah 163

69. In re Marron & Wood, 165 P 216, 22 N M 501, granting motion In re Marron, 160 P 391, 22 N M 252, L R A 1917B 378—6 C J p 613 note 61

Applicability of general statute

(1) In at least one jurisdiction it has been held that a statute governing costs in all civil actions or proceedings is not applicable to disbarment proceedings—In re Marron & Wood, 165 P 216, 22 N M 501, granting motion In re Marron, 160 P. 391, 22 N M 252, L R A 1917B 378.

(2) In another jurisdiction it has been held that costs are taxable under a general statute authorizing courts to award and apportion costs in their discretion—In re Wilcox, 135 P 995, 90 Kan 646.
6 C J. p 614 note 64

Statute prohibiting costs not invalid

A statute which provides that in disbarment proceedings commenced of the court's own motion the court must direct some attorney to draw up the accusation, and that in such case no allowance of costs shall be made for the payment of attorney's fees, is not unconstitutional—Brown v Warren County, 135 N.W 4, 137 N W 474, 156 Iowa 20, 42 L R A. (N S) 527, Ann Cas 1915B 185

70. In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S D 76—In re Polley, 159 N W. 42, 37 S D 523—6 C J. p 613 note 61 [b], p 614 note 62

Where there is no finding of improper motive of the accuser in preferring the charges, accused cannot be awarded judgment for his necessary expenditures under a statute relating to the taxing of costs in such cases when it is determined that the charges were unfounded and that the accusation was made without probable cause and influenced by improper motives—In re Polley, 159 N.W. 42, 37 S D 523.

71. Committee on Grievances of North Carolina Bar Ass'n v Strickland, 161 S E 76, 201 N C 619
Liability of county for costs of investigating objections to admission of attorney from another jurisdiction see supra § 15

72. Houtchens v State, (Tex Com. App) 74 S W (2d) 976, granting motion 63 S W (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App) 47 S W.(2d) 679—6 C J p 614 note 65.

Attorneys signing complaint not liable

(1) Attorneys signing a complaint in disbarment proceeding did not make themselves parties to litigation or liable for costs on appeal on reversal of disbarment judgments by the commission of appeals.—Houtchens v State, (Tex Com App) 74 S W (2d) 976, granting motion 63 S W. (2d) 1011, reversing (Civ App.) 47 S. W (2d) 679.

(2) The minutes of the commission of appeals may be corrected after reversal of judgments disbarring an at-

§ 40. Operation and Effect

The effect of disbarment or suspension is governed by the law in force at the time, and generally the attorney loses every privilege to which his license entitled him while the order of disbarment or suspension is operative, and violation of such order constitutes contempt.

The law in force at the time of the judgment or order in disbarment proceedings governs the consequences thereof.[73] Generally, as regards the effect of disbarment the authorities are uniform that it deprives the party disbarred of every privilege to which his license had entitled him,[74] but suspension operates simply to deprive an attorney temporarily of the right to practice his profession and does not oust him from his office[75]

While, in some jurisdictions, an order of suspension or disbarment deprives the attorney not only of his privileges in the court making the order of suspension or disbarment, but also his privileges in all courts of the state,[76] it has been held in other jurisdictions that a disbarred attorney has the right to practice in inferior courts where admission to the bar is not required in order to practice therein,[77] and it has also been held that disbarment in one court will not affect the right to appear before an independent tribunal.[78] Thus disbarment in a state court does not ipso facto deprive an attorney of his right to appear in the federal courts,[79] although it seems that, where the highest court of a state has revoked an attorney's license to practice, his license to practice in the federal courts of that state should be revoked as a matter of course,[80] and the courts of other states, if aware of his disbarment, will generally refuse him permission to appear before them[81]

Appearing propria persona. An order of suspension or disbarment generally prevents an attorney's appearance in court only as an attorney for another,[82] and does not extend to prevent an appearance for himself on a cause of action in his own favor or on a cause that has been transferred to him in good faith[83]

torney to show taxation of costs against the state, as the commission intended, instead of attorneys signing the complaint in a disbarment proceeding—Houtchens v State, supra

73. Attorney General v Lane, 243 N W 6, 259 Mich 283, certiorari denied Lane v Voorhies, 53 S Ct 115, 287 U S 654, 77 L Ed 565

74. People v Humbert, 282 P 263, 86 Colo 426—6 C J p 614 note 66.

Power of attorney

While under the disability of such a decree the attorney cannot, as such, act under a power of attorney—Paul v Purcell, 1 Browne (Pa) 348

Disbarment as terminating relationship between attorney and client, or as terminating the contract of employment see infra § 111

75. Mo—State ex rel McAllister v. Sanderson, 217 S W. 60, 280 Mo 258

Tex—McBrayer v Cravens, Dargan & Roberts, (Com App) 265 S W. 694, reversing Cravens, Dargan & Roberts v McBrayer, (Civ App.) 255 S W 994

6 C J p 614 note 74

Not required to obtain new license

The effect of a judgment suspending an attorney for twelve months was to take away from him the benefit of his license during the period of his suspension, not to extinguish it, and at the expiration of the twelve months he is entitled to practice without procuring a new license.—State ex rel McAllister v. Sanderson, 217 S W. 60, 280 Mo. 258.

76. N M—State v Marron, 167 P 9, 22 N.M. 632, L R A.1918B 217.

Ohio—State v Brough, 15 Ohio Cir Ct (N S) 97

6 C J p 614 note 67.

Inferior courts not requiring admission

Under a statute defining the effect of suspension or disbarment to be to deprive the attorney of the right to appear in any of the courts of the state, it has been held that a suspended or disbarred attorney is precluded from practicing even in those courts where no order of admission to the practice of law is required—State v Marron, 167 P. 9, 22 N M 632, L R A 1918B 217.

77. Ex parte Hittson, 178 P. 149, 39 Cal App 91

78. Bradley v Fisher, (D C) 13 Wall (U S) 335, 20 L Ed 646—6 C J p 614 note 69

79. In re Thatcher, (C C & D C Ohio) 190 F 969, affirmed 212 F 801, 129 C C A 255—6 C J. p 614 note 70

80. In re Barton, (D C Cal) 54 F. (2d) 810—6 C J p 614 note 71.

Federal court will recognize judgment of state court, subject to exceptions

The federal courts will recognize the condition created by a judgment of disbarment or suspension of a state court, unless the attorney shows good cause to the contrary, as by showing that the state procedure was wanting in due process because of lack of notice or opportunity to be heard, or that there was such want of proof as to the facts found as to give rise to a clear conviction that the decision should not be followed, or that there existed some grave reason which convinces the court that it would be a violation of its duty to disbar or suspend on the basis of the state court's order—Selling v Radford, (Wash.) 37 S Ct 377, 243 U S 46, 61 L Ed 585, Ann Cas 1917D 569—In re Barton, (D C Cal) 54 F (2d) 810.

81. Danforth v Egan, 119 N W. 1021, 23 S D 43, 139 Am S R 1030, 20 Ann Cas 413—6 C J. p 614 note 68

82. Philbrook v San Francisco Super Ct, 43 P 402, 111 Cal. 31

83. Leonard v Toledo, St. L. & W R Co, (D C Or) 232 F. 281—6 C J. p 615 note 76

Assignment after entry of order of disbarment or suspension

(1) A statute prohibiting a disbarred attorney from prosecuting an action in propria persona where the subject of such action has been assigned to him subsequent to the entry of the judgment of disbarment has been held invalid where there was an outright assignment of the chose in action—O'Connell v. Judnich, 235 P. 664, 71 Cal App. 386

(2) But, where the assignment was for the purposes of collection only, such statute has been held not invalid—Koepple v. Morrison, 257 P. 590, 84 Cal App 137

Appearing for corporation where owning all capital stock

The right of a disbarred attorney as a party to a suit in court to appear in person therein does not entitle him to appear for a corporation, even if he owns all its capital stock—Cary & Co v. F. E. Satterlee & Co., 208 N W. 408, 166 Minn. 507

Contingent fee contract does not give the attorney such an interest in the case as to entitle him to appear therein after its removal to a

Rights of citizenship are not affected by disbarment.[84]

Offenses. An attorney who attempts to practice law, while an order of suspension or disbarment is in effect, is guilty of contempt,[85] and the common-law rule that a person cited for contempt may acquit himself by an oath denying the charge has been held not applicable to a charge of practicing law by a disbarred attorney, especially where the acts charged and established are not ambiguous.[86] A pardon granted to an attorney convicted of crime does not affect the court's authority in contempt proceedings for practicing law after disbarment, where such pardon was granted after the occurrence of the acts constituting the contempt.[87]

Conduct of a disbarred attorney in holding himself out as competent to draw all legal papers is a violation of a law forbidding persons, not members of the bar, from holding themselves out to the public as being entitled to practice law.[88]

§ 41. Reinstatement

a. In general
b. Procedure

a. In General

An order or judgment of disbarment is not final and conclusive in that a disbarred attorney may not be reinstated to the practice of the law under proper circumstances

While an order or judgment of disbarment is not necessarily final or conclusive for all time, and an attorney who has been disbarred may be reinstated, on motion or application, for reasons satisfactory to the court,[89] nevertheless on a petition for reinstatement, the court will not consider alleged errors in the disbarment proceeding,[90] nor will it consider federal court which had disbarred him—Leonard v Toledo, St L & W. R Co, (D C.Or) 232 F 281

84. U.S—Philbrook v Newman, (C C Cal.) 85 F 139
Ohio—In re Thatcher, 93 N E 895, 83 Ohio St. 246, Ann Cas 1912A 810

85. U S—Bowles v. U S, (C C A Md) 50 F (2d) 848, certiorari denied 52 S Ct 29, 284 U S 648, 76 L Ed 550
Colo—People v Humbert, 282 P 268, 86 Colo 426
N Y.—In re Koffler, 258 N Y S. 611, 236 App Div 240
S D—In re Sullivan, 265 N W 601
13 C J p 12 note 86

Conduct held to constitute contempt

(1) Holding himself out as an attorney by keeping open an office and displaying a sign indicating that it was a law office and by using stationery indicating that he was an attorney—State v Marron, 167 P. 9, 22 N M 632, L.R A 1918B 217—6 C J. p 614 note 74 [b]

(2) Remaining silent with knowledge that his name was appearing in directories as an attorney—People v. Humbert, 282 P 268, 86 Colo 426—People v. Norton, 104 P 605, 44 Colo 253.

(3) The drawing of pleadings and the preparing of a case for trial in the district court is practicing the legal profession therein, whether the attorney signs his own name or the name of some other attorney, and is a violation of duty by the attorney who had been suspended from practicing in the district court—State v. Fisher, 174 N W 320, 103 Neb 736.

Contempt of disbarring court

One holding himself out as a practicing attorney after disbarment is guilty of contempt of the disbarring court—Bowles v. U. S., (C C A.Md) 50 F (2d) 848, certiorari denied 52 S Ct 29, 284 U S 648, 76 L Ed. 550

Additional testimony unnecessary

In a contempt proceeding, there was no necessity for taking additional testimony, where respondent, in open court, represented himself to the judge as a practicing attorney, and the falsity of the representations was established by answer under oath, respondent being given an opportunity to produce evidence in explanation of the charges, if he so desired—Bowles v U S, (C C A Md) 50 F (2d) 848, certiorari denied 52 S Ct. 29, 284 U S 648, 76 L Ed 550

86. Bowles v Laws, 59 App D C 399, 45 F.(2d) 669, certiorari denied 51 S Ct 488, 283 U S 841, 75 L Ed 1452

87. Bowles v Laws, supra

88. Childs v Smeltzer, 18 Pa Dist & Co 39

89. Ala—Ex parte Peters, 70 So 648, 195 Ala. 67
Cal—In re Cate, 212 P 694, 60 Cal App 279—Bar Ass'n of San Francisco v Cantrell, 200 P 968, 53 Cal App 758.
Miss—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss. 523—Ex parte Redmond, 82 So 513, 120 Miss 536
N J—In re Harris, 95 A 761, 88 N J Law 18
Ohio—In re Sparks, 13 Ohio Cir Ct (N S.) 360
Okl—In re Snodgrass, 26 P.(2d) 756, 166 Okl 156
Pa—In re McKenna, 22 Pa Dist. & Co 485
Tex—Burns v State, (Civ App) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted
Wash—In re Bruener, 34 P (2d) 437, 178 Wash. 165
6 C J p 615 note 79

It is not the policy of the law that an attorney who has been disbarred for misconduct shall never be readmitted to practice—In re Nisbet, 246 P 120, 77 Cal App 260

Particular statute construed

Code (1906) § 323 (Hemingway Code § 200), providing that a disbarred attorney shall never afterward be permitted to act as attorney or counselor in any court of the state, does not preclude the circuit court from acting on the merits of a petition by a disbarred attorney for reinstatement, and it may restore such attorney to his privileges—Ex parte Redmond, 82 So 513, 120 Miss 536

Not a modification or vacation of judgment of disbarment

The reinstatement of a disbarred attorney is not a modification or vacation of the judgment of disbarment within the rule that judgments pass beyond the court's power and control after the lapse of the term at which they were rendered—Ex parte Peters, 70 So 648, 195 Ala 67—In re Fleming, 8 P (2d) 1063, 36 N. M 93

Judgment disbarring an attorney is not res judicata on an application for reinstatement—Burns v State, (Tex Civ App) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted—In re Bruener, 34 P (2d) 437, 178 Wash. 165.
Suspension judgment as not res judicata where court determines otherwise as to propriety of such order see supra § 36

Order denying reinstatement not res judicata

An order denying reinstatement to a disbarred attorney has been held not res judicata so as to preclude a consideration on the merits of a later application for reinstatement. —In re Bruener, 34 P (2d) 437, 178 Wash 165.

90. In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N Y. 422, reversing 211 N.Y.S.

the question whether disbarment was warranted[91] The effect of a judgment of disbarment will not be lightly set aside,[92] and a mere sentimental belief that the erring lawyer has been punished enough does not justify his reinstatement,[93] as the court, on a petition for reinstatement, has a solemn duty to the legal profession and to the public which must be performed without regard to feelings of sympathy.[94] Evidence of reformation is required before applicant is entitled to reinstatement,[95] notwithstanding the attorney has received a pardon following his conviction,[96] and the requirements for reinstatement have been held to be the same as for original admission to the bar,[97] except that the court may require a greater degree of proof than in an original admission (infra § 41 b).

An attorney who is no longer a bona fide resident of the state is not eligible for reinstatement,[98] nor is an attorney, voluntarily withdrawing his name from the roll and stipulating that he would not apply for reinstatement if the information for disbarment was dismissed, eligible for reinstatement,[99] and an attorney who refused to participate in proceedings for his disbarment has been held not entitled to seek reinstatement on the ground of newly discovered evidence.[1] Where an order admitting the petitioner to the bar was set aside for fraud, in legal effect the petitioner was never an attorney and cannot be reinstated,[2] and an intention not to enter the practice in the state if reinstated has been held not persuasive on consideration of a petition for reinstatement.[3] An application for reinstatement will be denied where applicant has practiced law, directly or indirectly,[4] and an application for reinstatement, the attorney having been suspended indefinitely, has been held to present a moot question where, pending such application, the court admitting him had revoked his license to practice.[5]

Effect of pardon. Ordinarily a pardon does not extend to disbarment proceedings or require a court to reinstate an attorney,[6] but does no more than open the door to an inquiry that would otherwise be barred,[7] although, in at least one jurisdiction, a full pardon has been held to absolve the attorney from all the consequences of an order of disbarment made under a statute providing that, on conviction of a felony, the court in which the attorney shall have

256, 213 App Div 555—In re Lindheim, 211 N Y S 261, 213 App Div. 560

91. Vaughan v. State Bar of California, 284 P 909, 208 Cal 740.

Petition based on alleged errors in disbarment proceeding

Where an attorney, having been disbarred, applied for reinstatement for alleged errors in the order for disbarment, the sole question was whether the order of disbarment was right in substance, and the objection that no hearing was granted was of no avail, where on the application for reinstatement there was a hearing, and the order was sustained—In re Shepard, 170 P. 442, 35 Cal App 492.

92. In re Cate, 212 P 694, 60 Cal. App. 279

Reinstatement should be difficult, rather than easy, to obtain—In re Morton, 243 P 32, 75 Cal App 497.

93. In re Morton, supra—In re O'Connell, 222 P. 625, 64 Cal.App 673—In re Cate, 212 P. 694, 60 Cal App. 279

94. In re O'Keefe, 205 P. 667, 62 Mont. 534.

Affidavits as to illness immaterial

Physicians' affidavits as to the illness of applicant for reinstatement as an attorney have been held immaterial—In re Egan, 218 N.W 1, 52 S D. 394

95. State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb. 241.

96. Cal—In re Lavine, 41 P.(2d) 161, 2 Cal (2d) 324, modified on other grounds and rehearing denied 42 P (2d) 511, 2 Cal (2d) 324
Fla—Branch v. State, 163 So. 48.

97. Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss 523

98. Mich—In re Salsbury, 186 N W. 404, 217 Mich 260
N M—In re Fleming, 8 P (2d) 1063, 36 N M. 93

Vacation of order of disbarment

Where a disbarred attorney, since his disbarment, has by a life of rectitude demonstrated that he is possessed of moral character sufficient again to be a member of the bar, but he has become a nonresident, he cannot be reinstated, residence being a necessary qualification, but the order of disbarment will be vacated—In re Salsbury, 186 N.W. 404, 217 Mich 260.

99. People v. Reed, 173 N E. 772, 341 Ill 573.

1. In re O'Brien, 113 A 527, 95 Vt 167, 14 A L R 859.

2. Cal—In re Lasley, 254 P 913, 81 Cal App 719.
Ky—Commonwealth v. Defever, 45 S.W.(2d) 439, 241 Ky. 834.

3. Iowa—State v. Maxey, 186 N.W 40.
S D—In re Egan, 161 N W. 1003, 38 S D 453, denying motion 157 N W. 310, 37 S D. 159.

4. Cal—In re McKelvey, 255 P. 834, 82 Cal App. 426

Wash—In re Gowan, 251 P. 773, 141 Wash 523.

Acts held not violation of disbarment order

Employment of a disbarred attorney as a law office clerk at a small salary, and giving advice to the employer's clients on small matters has been held not to prevent reinstatement—In re McKelvey, 255 P 834, 82 Cal App 426

5. In re Jacobsen, 289 P. 159, 209 Cal 539

6. Fla—Branch v. State, 163 So 48
Ga—Payne v. State, (App) 133 S E 633
6 C.J. p 615 note 79 [b].

Reason for rule

Where an attorney was guilty of misconduct for which he was both disbarred and criminally prosecuted and convicted, he did not forfeit his right to practice law because of the conviction of the crime, but because of the adjudication that he had been guilty of conduct which showed him to be a person unfit to engage in practicing law, and a pardon wiping out such conviction will not reinstate him as a practicing attorney—Branch v. State, (Fla.) 163 So. 48.

7. La—State v. Gowland, 140 So. 500, 174 La. 351
N Y—In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N Y. 423, reversing 211 N Y.S 256, 213 App Div. 555—In re Lindheim, 211 N.Y.S 261, 213 App Div. 560.

been convicted shall enter an order disbarring such convict.[8]

Statutes effecting reinstatement. A special statute purporting to reinstate a disbarred attorney is invalid,[9] and a pardon statute, in so far as purporting to reinstate or direct reinstatement of a disbarred attorney without a showing of moral rehabilitation, has been held invalid.[10]

The decisive questions on an application for reinstatement are whether applicant is of "good moral character" in the sense in which that phrase is used when applied to attorneys at law and is a fit and proper person to be intrusted with the privileges of the office of an attorney,[11] and whether his mental qualifications are such as to enable him to discharge efficiently his duty to the public,[12] and the moral attributes of the petitioner are to be regarded as separate and distinct from his mental qualifications.[13] However, the time between disbarment and reinstatement of an attorney is not necessarily an essence in an action to restore a disbarred attorney to the practice of the law.[14]

b. Procedure

(1) In general

(2) Reference

8. Ex parte Crisler, 132 So. 103, 159 Miss 247

9. Ohio—State v. Brough, 33 Ohio Cir.Ct 257.
Wis—State v. Cannon, 240 N.W. 441, 206 Wis. 374.

10. In re Lavine, 41 P.(2d) 161, 2 Cal (2d) 324, modified on other grounds and rehearing denied 42 P (2d) 311, 2 Cal (2d) 324

11. Cal.—Kepler v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal 52—Vaughan v. State Bar of California, 284 P 909, 208 Cal. 740—Petition of Morganstern, 259 P. 90, 85 Cal App. 113—In re La Motte, 247 P 524, 77 Cal App. 733—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal App 495—In re Morton, 243 P. 32, 75 Cal App 497—In re O'Connell, 223 P 625, 64 Cal App 673—In re Cate, 212 P. 694, 60 Cal App 279—In re Mash, 179 P 897, 39 Cal App. 548
Conn—In re Kone, 97 A. 307, 90 Conn 440
Fla—Branch v State, 163 So 48.
Miss—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss. 523.
Neb—State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb 241
S D—In re Egan, 218 N W. 1, 52 S D 394
Wash—In re Bruener, 34 P (2d) 437, 178 Wash 165.
W Va—In re Daugherty, 136 S E 402, 103 W Va. 7.
6 C J. p 615 note 81.

Court must use every legitimate channel open in seeking information as to the moral fitness of a disbarred attorney for reinstatement—In re Egan, 218 N.W. 1, 52 S D 394—Petition of Morrison, 186 N.W. 556, 45 S D. 122.

Conviction for a felony has been held not to prevent the court's inquiring into the attorney's fitness to practice on a petition for reinstatement after a reversal of the conviction or the granting of a pardon, and, after the granting of a pardon, the court is required to consider the fitness of applicant to practice when he petitions for reinstatement—In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N.Y 423, reversing 211 N Y S 256, 213 App Div 555—In re Kaufmann, 228 N Y S 349, 223 App Div 299—In re Lindheim, 211 N.Y.S. 261, 213 App Div. 560

Matters considered in determining moral fitness

(1) All circumstances bearing on question whether attorney was fit, notwithstanding judgment suspending him was indefinite and conditioned on his showing the court that he would not be guilty of such conduct as that involved in the disbarment proceedings—State v Cannon, 240 N W 441, 206 Wis. 374

(2) Applicant's character and standing in community in which he resided prior to disbarment, ethical standards which he observed in practice of law, character of charge for which he was disbarred, his conduct subsequent to disbarment, and time that has elapsed between disbarment and application for reinstatement—In re Bruener, 34 P.(2d) 437, 178 Wash 165.

(3) Conduct of applicant prior to disbarment—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss 523

(4) Events occurring before the disbarment of the petitioner and not then called to the court's attention—In re Riccardi, 251 P. 650, 80 Cal App 66

(5) Former record of disbarred attorney, admitting misconduct and asserting reformation on application for reinstatement, must be considered with conduct after disbarment—In re Egan, 218 N W. 1, 52 S D 394

(6) Where an attorney was disbarred because of his conviction in the federal court, the district court of appeal on application for reinstatement, opposed by the bar association on the ground that the record made on the trial shows him to be devoid of that fundamental moral perception and personal integrity required of attorneys, will examine the evidence adduced during his trial in the federal court—In re Stevens, 210 P 442, 59 Cal App 251.

(7) A suspended attorney could not be refused reinstatement merely because of publicly criticising courts during political campaign, although without foundation, and court will not inquire into his motive—State v. Cannon, 240 N W 441, 206 Wis 374

(8) Attorney's attitude in his campaigns for judicial office could be considered only in so far as reflecting his character, apart from his disposition to criticize courts—State v. Cannon, supra.

12. In re La Motte, 247 P 524, 77 Cal.App 733—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal App 495.

Procedure to be followed

(1) All applicants for readmission after disbarment are not required to submit to reexamination as to their mental qualifications, as required of original applicants by Code Civ Proc. §§ 276, 277, but the question of reexamination by the board of bar examiners should be left to the sound discretion of the court—In re Cate, 241 P 95, 197 Cal. 796—In re Stevens, 241 P 88, 197 Cal. 408

(2) Examination as to mental attributes of applicant for reinstatement as attorney may be of special character, depending upon exigencies of each particular case—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal App. 495

(3) Where examination as to mental attributes of applicant for reinstatement as attorney is found necessary, nature thereof will, in its entirety, be left for final determination of appellate court—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal App. 495

13. Petition of Morganstern, 259 P 90, 85 Cal App 113

14. In re Snodgrass, 26 P.(2d) 756, 166 Okl 156.

Insufficient time to prove reformation

Eleven months' residence in the state after disbarment has been held not sufficient time to prove reformation of gambling habits which caused improper acts resulting in disbarment—Petition of Morganstern, 259 P. 90, 85 Cal App 113.

(1) In General

The method of procedure to obtain reinstatement varies in the different jurisdictions, but the proof must be sufficient to overcome the court's former adverse judgment.

The application or petition for reinstatement is addressed to the sound discretion of the court[15] which will determine the matter on the particular facts of each case[16]

Court to which application made The court to which an application for reinstatement must be made is frequently dependent on constitutional and statutory provisions.[17] In some jurisdictions, the court disbarring an attorney has power to reinstate him,[18] and it has been held that, after an attorney has been disbarred, the judgment remaining unreversed, he cannot apply, as in the first instance, for readmission or to another court, but must apply to the court in which he was disbarred to be reinstated.[19] In other jurisdictions, however, it has been held that an application for reinstatement of an attorney disbarred by a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction must be treated as an application for admission to practice, and not as an application to vacate the order of disbarment,[20] and must be addressed to the court having jurisdiction to admit an attorney to practice[21]

Nature of form of application. The general procedure provided by the code for a new trial or rehearing of causes does not apply,[22] nor is the application otherwise to be restricted to a procedure in the nature of a bill of review, or governed by other equity or common-law rules,[23] and a petition to review the evidence in the disbarment proceeding is not the proper procedure to be followed in applying for reinstatement[24] While it has been held that the application may be made orally by motion,[25] general-

15. Cal—In re Nisbet, 246 P. 120, 77 Cal App 260.
Conn—In re Kone, 97 A. 307, 90 Conn. 440
Ga—Payne v. State, (App.) 182 S.E. 638
Me—Crawford v. Kegan, 134 A. 564, 125 Me 521.
Okl—State v. Ledbetter, 18 P.(2d) 1085, 162 Okl. 20.
Pa—Wilhelm's Case, 112 A. 560, 269 Pa 416
W Va—In re Daugherty, 136 S E 402, 103 W Va. 7

Not disturbed on appeal in absence of abuse

Application by a suspended attorney for reinstatement is addressed to the sound discretion of the court, whose determination thereon will not be disturbed unless applicant was deprived of an opportunity to be heard, a fair hearing and investigation, and a reasonable exercise of judicial discretion—In re Kone, 97 A 307, 90 Conn 440

16 In re Snodgrass, 26 P (2d) 756, 166 Okl 156

17. Supreme court has inherent power to reinstate an attorney—In re Wolff, 136 So 583, 173 La 257.

District court of appeals has inherent power to reinstate a disbarred attorney—In re Cate, (Cal App) 270 P 968, rehearing denied 271 P 356, and supplemented 273 P 617

Circuit courts and the supreme court each have jurisdiction and power to make a decree reinstating a disbarred attorney—Branch v State, (Fla) 163 So 48

Law court without jurisdiction

Report on an attorney's petition for reinstatement cannot be considered by a law court, it not being included in the enumeration of cases within the statute conferring jurisdiction—Crawford v. Kegan, 134 A. 564, 125 Me. 521.

18. Ala—Ex parte Peters, 70 So 648, 195 Ala 67.
Mich—In re Salsbury, 186 N W. 404, 217 Mich 260
Miss—Ex parte Redmond, 82 So. 513, 120 Miss. 536

19. Ala—Ex parte Peters, 70 So 648, 195 Ala 67
Mich—In re Salsbury, 186 N W 404, 217 Mich 260
Pa—In re Margolis, 124 A. 439, 280 Pa 296
6 C J p 615 note 85

Board of examiners without jurisdiction

The state board of law examiners, created by L (1916) c 107, has no jurisdiction as to the reinstatement of a disbarred attorney.—Ex parte Redmond, 82 So 513, 120 Miss 536

20. Cal—In re Lavine, 41 P (2d) 161, 2 Cal (2d) 324, modified on other grounds and rehearing denied 42 P (2d) 311, 2 Cal (2d) 324—In re Cate, (App) 270 P 968, rehearing denied 271 P. 356, and supplemented 273 P 617—In re Cate, 212 P. 694, 60 Cal App 279—Danford v Superior Court of California in and for City and County of San Francisco, 193 P 272, 49 Cal App 203—In re Mash, 179 P 897, 39 Cal. App 548
N M—In re Fleming, 8 P (2d) 1063, 36 N M 93

Application without benefit of presumptions

Application for reinstatement by a disbarred attorney, admitting misconduct and asserting reformation, is really an application for admission to the bar without benefit of presumptions as to character—In re Egan, 218 N W 1, 52 S D 394

21. Cal—In re Lavine, 41 P (2d) 161, 2 Cal (2d) 324, modified on other grounds and rehearing denied 42 P (2d) 311, 2 Cal (2d) 324—Danford v Superior Court of California in and for City and County of San Francisco, 193 P 272, 49 Cal App. 203—In re Mash, 179 P. 897, 39 Cal. App 548
Tex—Burns v. State, (Civ App.) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted

Supreme court or district court of appeal

Notwithstanding Code Civ Proc § 276, the supreme court, as well as the district courts of appeal, has original jurisdiction over applications for restoration to practice after disbarment, but the superior court is without such jurisdiction—In re Cate, 241 P 95, 197 Cal 796—In re Stevens, 241 P. 88, 197 Cal 408

Supreme court

(1) A statute providing that no license to practice law shall be issued by any court or authority except by the supreme court has been held not invalid as applied to a disbarred attorney who sought restoration of his license in the district court which disbarred him—Burns v State, (Tex Civ App) 76 S W (2d) 172, error granted.

(2) The word "revoke" within a statute providing that judgment on disbarment may revoke a license entirely has been held to mean "annul by taking back," and hence a license could be restored to a disbarred attorney only by the supreme court which issued the license originally.—Burns v. State, supra.

22. In re Evans, 130 P 217, 42 Utah 232

23. In re Evans, supra.

24. In re Meyer, 127 A 698, 3 N J Misc 168

25. Ex p. Walls, 73 Ind 95.

ly, the application is in the form of a petition and should be verified,[26] and should set forth not only the facts touching the proceedings in disbarment, with reasons why the petitioner should be reinstated,[27] but should also in all respects comply with the rules applicable to the admission of candidates to practice law in the first instance.[28]

Opposition to application. Any person may oppose the reinstatement of an attorney,[29] but adversary pleadings are not required.[30]

Evidence The burden is on applicant to show his qualifications for reinstatement[31] by positive proof,[32] although no resistance is made to his application.[33] While it has been held that the proper method of establishing character and trustworthiness is by recommendations and statements of those in a position to know and judge the petitioner,[34] and that the opinion of the public, when settled and deliberate, is the highest evidence of good moral character,[35] the mere formal proof of good character required on an original application is not enough,[36] and a petition by attorneys and others, stating that in their opinion applicant has been sufficiently punished and is of good moral character, has been held insufficient.[37] Although under some circumstances, it has been held that the attorney should not be subjected to the rigid character test applicable to original applicants,[38] the court may require a greater degree of proof than in an original admission,[39] and it has been held that the proof must be sufficient to overcome the court's former adverse judgment of applicant's character,[40] and mere present apparent good moral character of a petitioner is not sufficient for

Reinstatement on court's own motion

In a disbarment proceeding, the supreme court, on its own motion, ordered respondent reinstated as a member of the bar—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v Lindsey, 52 P.(2d) 663, 97 Colo 599

26. In re Newton, 70 P 510, 982, 27 Mont 182

27. Bar Association of San Francisco v. Cantrell, 200 P 968, 53 Cal App 758—6 C J p 615 note 89

28. In re Newton, 70 P 510, 982, 27 Mont 182

Reexamination as to moral and mental qualifications see supra § 41 a

29. Ex p Walls, 73 Ind. 95.

30. Ex p Walls, supra

31. Cal—In re Lavine, 41 P (2d) 161, 2 Cal (2d) 324, modified on other grounds and rehearing denied 42 P (2d) 311, 2 Cal (2d) 324—Kepler v. State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal 52—In re La Motte, 247 P 524, 77 Cal App 733—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal. App 495.

Fla—Branch v. State, 163 So 48.

Ga—Payne v State, (App) 183 S E 633.

Neb—State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb 241

N Y—In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N Y 423, reversing 211 N Y S 256, 213 App Div 555—In re Landheim, 211 N Y S 261, 213 App Div 560.

S D—In re Egan, 218 N W 1, 52 S D 394—Petition of Morrison, 186 N W 556, 45 S D 123

W Va—In re Daugherty, 136 S E 402, 103 W Va 7.

6 C J p 616 note 94

32. Kepler v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal. 52.

33. Ex p Walls, 73 Ind 95.

34. In re Snodgrass, 26 P.(2d) 756, 166 Okl. 156.

35. Ex parte Marshall, 147 So. 791, 165 Miss. 523.

Estimate of witnesses intimately acquainted with the attorney is admissible on the question of good moral character—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So. 791, 165 Miss 523

36. State v Priest, 242 N W. 433, 123 Neb 241—6 C J p 615 note 82

37. Cal—In re Cate, 212 P 694, 60 Cal App 279—In re Thompson, 174 P 86, 37 Cal App 344

N J—In re Harris, 95 A 761, 88 N J Law 18.

S D.—In re Egan, 218 N W. 1, 52 S D 394

6 C J p 615 note 83.

Far from being cogent evidence

"Personally solicited letters or mere signatures obtained to a petition, while plenary evidence of the unwillingness of such signers to deny a personal favor, is very far from being cogent evidence of any particular state of facts, especially if it relates to the moral character of the person who obtains the letters or circulates the petition"—In re Harris, 95 A 761, 763, 88 N J Law 18.

Duty of members of bar to court

Members of the supreme court bar are court officers owing a special duty thereto in petitioning for the reinstatement of a disbarred attorney—In re Egan, 218 N W 1, 52 S. D 394

Letters of same evidentiary value as unverified petition

Attorney's letter to the supreme court is of as much evidentiary value as his signature to an unverified petition for the reinstatement of a disbarred attorney—In re Egan, 218 N W 1, 52 S D. 394.

Reinstatement not warranted

(1) An attorneys' petition, signed by some to avoid embarrassment or because of misrepresentations, and by others with little knowledge of the details of the disbarred attorney's conduct, was held not to warrant his reinstatement—In re Egan, 218 N W 1, 52 S D. 394

(2) Unverified business men's petition, reciting that it was based on their personal knowledge of the disbarred attorney's character, etc, for twenty years, was held not to warrant reinstatement, in view of his history during such period—In re Egan, supra

38. State v Cannon, 240 N W. 441, 206 Wis 374

39. Ex parte Marshall, 147 So. 791, 165 Miss. 523

Stronger proof required than that on initial admission

It is only reasonable that the person seeking reinstatement, after disbarment, should be required to present stronger proof of his present honesty and integrity than one seeking admission for the first time whose character has never been in question—Kepler v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal 52

40. Cal—Kepler v State Bar of California, supra—In re Cate, 212 P 694, 60 Cal App. 279

Neb—State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb 241

S D—In re Egan, 161 N W 1003, 38 S D 458, denying motion 157 N W 310, 37 S D 159

6 C J. p 615 note 84.

Evidence held to justify reinstatement

Cal—Application of Cruickshank, 259 P. 67, 85 Cal App 209—In re Stevens, 257 P 218, 83 Cal.App. 745—In re McKelvey, 255 P. 834, 82 Cal App 426—In re Rheinschild, 254 P 931, 82 Cal App 16—In re La Motte, 247 P 524, 77 Cal App 733—In re Nisbet, 246 P 130, 77 Cal App 260—In re Morton, 243 P 32, 75 Cal App 497—In re Hahn, 206 P. 473, 56 Cal App. 702.

reinstatement where his attitude is unchanged as to the conduct for which he was disbarred[41]

Operation and effect. To reinstate a disbarred attorney means to invest him again with the right to practice,[42] but reinstatement of a disbarred attorney is not a surrender of the court's power to discipline such attorney on becoming false to his duties,[43] and it is not a revocation of the order of disbarment, nor does it relate back in point of time to the disbarment.[44] Moreover, the restoration may be provisional where the attorney's conduct after his dismissal has not been wholly free from blame,[45] and an attorney has been partially reinstated under some circumstances.[46]

Appeal. An amicus curiæ is not a party to a proceeding for reinstatement and has no right to

Miss—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss 523.
Mont—In re Doepker, 271 P 694, 83 Mont. 315
N.Y—In re Newell, 203 N.Y.S. 677, 208 App Div 496.
Okl—In re Snodgrass, 26 P (2d) 756, 166 Okl 156—State v Ledbetter, 18 P.(2d) 1085, 162 Okl 20
R I—In re Troy, 118 A. 869
Utah—In re Hilton, 218 P. 273, 62 Utah 216
Wash—In re Bruener, 34 P (2d) 437, 178 Wash 165
Wis—State v Cannon, 240 N.W. 441, 206 Wis 374
6 C.J. p 615 note 84 [d].

Evidence held to warrant denial of reinstatement

U.S—In re Chopak, 20 Cust & Pat App 124.
Cal—Kepler v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal 52—In re Kepler, 250 P. 701, 79 Cal App 639—In re Riccardi, 222 P 625, 64 Cal App 791—In re O'Connell, 222 P. 625, 64 Cal App 673—In re Stevens, 219 P 1014, 63 Cal App 682—In re Cate, 212 P 694, 60 Cal App 279—In re Stevens, 210 P 442, 59 Cal App 251—In re Cate, 201 P 964, 54 Cal App. 401—In re Shopard, 170 P. 442, 35 Cal App 492.
Colo—People ex rel Colorado Bar Ass'n v Lundsey, 23 P (2d) 118, 93 Colo 41.
Iowa—State v Maxey, 186 N.W 40
La—State v Gowland, 140 So. 500, 174 La 351.
Neb—State v. Priest, 242 N.W. 433, 123 Neb 241
N.Y.—In re Durst, 263 N.Y.S. 575, 237 App Div 685
S.D—In re Hosford, 265 N.W 593—Petition of Morrison, 186 N.W 556, 45 S.D. 123—In re Egan, 161 N.W 1003, 38 S.D 458, denying motion 157 N.W 310, 37 S.D. 159

False allegations or testimony

(1) False allegation in a petition for readmission as attorney at law after a judgment of disbarment has been held sufficient of itself to preclude reinstatement.—In re Kepler, 250 P. 701, 79 Cal App. 639.

(2) Where an attorney on a prior application for reinstatement testified falsely to a definite fact within his knowledge, he should not be reinstated.—In re Kone, 97 A. 307, 90 Conn. 440.

Recommendation of bar association

An attorney's application for reinstatement after disbarment will be granted, where recommended by the bar association and supported by evidence of good character—In re Harris, 95 A. 761, 88 N.J Law 18—In re Wendel, 128 A 243, 3 N.J.Misc 312—Petition of Romano, (R.I) 152 A 254—6 C.J p 615 note 84 [b].

Reinstatement denied where no error committed or injustice done

The court is not disposed to exercise its inherent power to reinstate a disbarred attorney, no matter how sympathetic the members of the court might be, unless, perhaps, it is convinced that an error was committed, or an injustice done, in rendering the decree of disbarment—In re Wolff, 136 So 583, 173 La 257

Restitution of money to clients

(1) The return of money to clients will not be given very much weight, as it might depend more on the attorney's financial ability or other favoring circumstances than on repentance or reformation—State v. Priest, 242 N.W 433, 123 Neb 241—In re Harris, 95 A. 761, 88 N.J Law 18—6 C.J p 615 note 84 [c]

(2) A disbarred attorney's failure to pay the balance due on a judgment against him has been held to justify the board of bar governors' denial of his petition for reinstatement—Kepler v State Bar of California, 13 P (2d) 509, 216 Cal. 52

Where disbarment was for acts involving high degree of moral turpitude, the attorney should be reinstated only on the most clear and convincing or overwhelming proof of reform—Petition of Morganstern, 259 P 90, 85 Cal App 113—In re Stevens, 210 P 442, 59 Cal App 251.

Withdrawal of charge of fraud in client's suit

An attorney disbarred for fraudulently appropriating a client's money was held not entitled to reinstatement, because, in the client's suit against the attorney to recover the money allegedly misappropriated, all the allegations in the complaint appertaining to fraud were stricken by consent of counsel, since the willingness of the immediate parties to withdraw the charge of wrongdoing, supported by the evidence in the disbarment proceedings, does not affect the discipline of the attorney.—In re Tansey, 180 A. 618, 13 N.J. Misc. 731.

Second reinstatement denied

(1) A disbarred attorney's apologies, regrets, and pledges, similar to those relied on in reinstating him after a former disbarment, were held not to warrant a second reinstatement—In re Egan, 218 N.W. 1, 52 S.D 394

(2) An attorney, who had pleaded guilty in a federal court, on an indictment, was sentenced to fifteen months in a federal prison, was pardoned after eight months' imprisonment, and who based a first application for reinstatement as attorney on an original guilt and subsequent expiation, was not entitled to reinstatement or to leave to appeal to the court of appeals, notwithstanding his present claim of innocence and that he had pleaded guilty on the understanding that the indictment against another would be dismissed—In re Nitsberg, 289 N.Y.S 334, 248 App Div. 232, denying reargument 288 N.Y.S. 1077.

41. In re O'Connell, 250 P. 390, 199 Cal 538, 48 A.L.R 1232.

Refusal to go into disbarment matter

The fact that a disbarred attorney, seeking reinstatement, refused to go into the matter involved in the disbarment trial has been held not an indication of insufficient repentance, where to do so would require an admission that he committed a criminal offense—Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss 523.

42. Cal—In re Cate, 270 P. 968, rehearing denied 271 P 356, and supplemented 273 P 617
Mich—In re Salsbury, 186 N.W 404, 217 Mich. 260

43. Ex parte Marshall, 147 So. 791, 165 Miss 523

44. In re Salsbury, 186 N.W. 404, 217 Mich 260

45. In re Davies, 16 Phila (Pa.) 65.

46. McGehee v State, 33 S.W.(2d) 368, 182 Ark. 1024.

Reinstatement to allow performance of duties of public office

An attorney suspended from practice for one year was reinstated so far as the suspension affected his duties as prosecuting attorney, to which office he was elected.—McGehee v State, 33 S.W.(2d) 368, 182 Ark. 1024.

appeal from a judgment adverse to his contentions.[47] On appeal from a judgment on a petition for reinstatement, trial is not de novo, but the review is on the record, with the right to require additional evidence if necessary,[48] but the court may review the findings of fact of the chancellor and is not bound by such findings on conflicting evidence.[49] The appellate court will not try the question of the petitioner's guilt of crime on an appeal from an order denying reinstatement made after the granting of a pardon,[50] the lower court having supervisory powers with respect to the conduct of attorneys and the right to summon witnesses to determine such attorney's right to reinstatement.[51]

(2) Reference

Under some statutes applications for reinstatement may be referred to designated boards for their consideration, hearing, and report.

While, as shown above, the court has inherent power with regard to hearing and deciding petitions for reinstatement, where statutes have been enacted providing a procedure before the board of governors of the state bar, applicant will be remitted to the procedure provided.[52] The power conferred upon the board of governors must be exercised in accordance with the provisions governing admissions,[53] and with orders of the court defining their powers and prescribing their duties.[54] The petitioner should be given the fullest opportunity to meet all derogatory evidence,[55] and the findings of fact should be made on all the evidence.[56] After hearing the evidence, the board reports the evidence together with its findings on the petitioner's moral qualifications, on whether an examination is necessary, and, if so, the character and extent of the examination to which applicant should be subjected.[57] Either applicant or respondent may take exceptions to any or all the findings of the board,[58] and the finding as to the mental qualifications of a disbarred attorney must be tested by determining where the preponderance of evidence lies.[59] Where the reference is special, with leave to except to the findings, the court will ascertain where lies the preponderance of the evidence and decide accordingly,[60] and where only one of three referees heard the testimony, the court will disregard the rule that he who hears and observes the witness is the best judge of the weight of the testimony,[61] but where the findings of the board are supported by the evidence, they should be affirmed.[62]

C. PRIVILEGES, DISABILITIES, AND LIABILITIES OF ATTORNEYS

§ 42. In General

An attorney is entitled to many privileges and exemptions which are allowed for the protection of his clients and the dignity of the court.

In his capacity as an officer of the court in which he practices, an attorney is entitled to many privileges and exemptions not enjoyed by private persons, these are allowed not so much for the benefit of the attorney himself as for the protection of his client's interests and of the dignity of the court.[63]

47. Jones v Cashin, 98 So. 98, 133 Miss. 585.

48. Ex parte Marshall, 147 So 791, 165 Miss 533

49. Ex parte Marshall, supra

50. In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N Y 423, reversing 211 N Y S 256, 213 App Div 555—In re Lindheim, 211 N Y S 261, 213 App Div. 560

51. In re Kaufmann, 157 N E 730, 245 N Y 423, reversing 211 N Y S 256, 213 App Div 555—In re Lindheim, 211 N Y S 261, 213 App Div. 560

52. In re Cate, (Cal App) 270 P 968, rehearing denied 271 P 356, and supplemented 273 P 617

Statute not invalid

(1) A statute giving the board of governors of a state bar the power to pass on petitions for reinstatement as attorneys did not divest the court of jurisdiction to determine a pending application—In re Cate, 279 P. 131, 207 Cal 443.

(2) Such statute applies only to proceedings thereafter initiated before the board—In re Cate, supra.

Board of examiners preferred

On an application for reinstatement as an attorney, where it is decided that examination of mental and moral attributes is necessary, such examination will be referred preferably to a board of bar examiners, in view of Code Civ Proc § 279—In re Cate, 247 P 231, 77 Cal App. 495.

53. In re Cate, (Cal App) 270 P 968, rehearing denied 271 P 356, and supplemented 273 P 617.

54. In re Stevens, 257 P. 218, 83 Cal. App 745

Limitation as to findings

Specific designation of the issues on reference, in proceedings for readmission to the bar, limited the powers of the referees to make findings—In re Stevens, 257 P. 218, 83 Cal App 745

55. In re Cate, 247 P. 231, 77 Cal. App. 495

56. In re Cate, supra.

57. In re Cate, supra.

Proposed findings not in response to any issue formed by the pleadings will be denied—In re Riccardi, 251 P. 650, 80 Cal App 66.

58. In re Cate, 247 P. 231, 77 Cal App. 495.

Not supported by evidence

A petitioner for reinstatement can avail himself of the alleged error in that the findings of the referees are not supported by the evidence, but only by a motion for a new trial—In re Riccardi, 251 P. 650, 80 Cal App. 66

59. Application of Cruickshank, 259 P 67, 85 Cal App. 209

60. In re Stevens, 257 P. 218, 83 Cal. App. 745

61. In re Stevens, supra.

62. In re Cate, 279 P. 131, 207 Cal 443

63. Lamb v. Schmitt, (Miss.) 52 S Ct 317, 285 U S 222, 76 L Ed 720, affirming (C C A) Schmitt v Lamb, 48 F.(2d) 533, reversing (D C) 43 F.(2d) 770, and certiorari granted Lamb v Schmitt, 52 S Ct 43, 284 U S 609, 76 L Ed 521—6 C.J. p 616 note 95.

As shown in the title Juries § 153 [35 C.J. p 255 note 90], an attorney is exempt from service as a juror. He also may be exempted from duty as a road overseer and in similar small offices,[64] but not from service in the militia unless specially made so by statute.[65]

A court has inherent authority to protect the rights of attorneys practicing before it.[66]

§ 43. Privilege as Party to Suit

Under modern practice, attorneys sue and are sued the same as other parties, but the practice was different at common law.

While under modern practice attorneys sue and are sued the same as other parties, at common law, an attorney had the right to bring suits in which he was plaintiff in the court of which he was an attorney and to be proceeded against as defendant by bill in the court in which he practiced,[67] the bill against him and all notices had to be served personally on the attorney or his agent;[68] he could not plead his privilege when he was sued jointly,[69] and his privilege ceased when he had not practiced for a year.[70]

§ 44. Privilege from Arrest or Service of Process

a. From arrest
b. From service of process not in arrest

a. From Arrest

An attorney is privileged from arrest while in attendance on court.

At common law, attorneys, as officers of the court whose duty it is to attend the court in their official capacity, are privileged from arrest on mesne process.[71] This privilege exists while on the way to court, while in attendance on court,[72] and while returning from court.[73] However, an attorney is not privileged from arrest while at home,[74] while attending a master, examiner, or judge out of court,[75] or when sued jointly with another,[76] nor does the privilege extend to an attorney who has ceased to practice for a year and has betaken himself to another business or profession.[77] The privilege has been restricted by statute in some states to cases where an attorney is in actual attendance in court,[78] and the ancient common-law rule has been declared not fully applicable to present-day conditions in this country.[79]

Waiver of privilege. It seems that the privilege of an attorney from arrest may be waived.[80]

b. From Service of Process Not in Arrest

The jurisdictions are not uniform as to the existence of the privilege of exemption from service of process not in arrest.

While in some states the exemption does not exist at all,[81] in a few states the courts have held that attorneys at law, while in attendance on court, are exempt from the service of summons or other process not in arrest.[82] Also, in some jurisdictions, the privilege of exemption from service of process of nonresident witnesses and suitors has been held to be applicable to nonresident attorneys.[83] However,

64. Respublica v Fisher, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 350

65. N.Y.—In re Bliss, 9 Johns. 347
Pa.—Respublica v Fisher, 1 Yeates 350
Disability of attorney of a party to instrument to receive such instrument in escrow see Escrows § 7 [21 C.J. p. 877 notes 26, 27]

66. In re Post's Estate, 279 N.Y.S. 408, 155 Misc. 389

67. Scott v Van Alstyne, 9 Johns. (N.Y.) 216—Emmet's Case, 2 Cai. (N.Y.) 386—6 C.J. p. 616 note 1.

68. Lawrence v Warner, 1 Cow. (N.Y.) 193—6 C.J. p. 616 note 2

69. Chenango Bank v. Root, 4 Cow. (N.Y.) 126—6 C.J. p. 616 note 4

70. Brooks v Patterson, 2 Johns. Cas. (N.Y.) 102.

71. Ogden v Hughes, 5 N.J.Law 840—6 C.J. p. 616 note 6.

72. Secor v Bell, 18 Johns. (N.Y.) 52.

73. Bennett v Ahrens, (C.C.A.Ill.) 57 F.(2d) 948.

74. Corey v. Russell, 4 Wend. (N.Y.) 204.

75. Cole v McClellan, 4 Hill (N.Y.) 59

76. Gay v. Rogers, 3 Cow. (N.Y.) 368

77. Brooks v Patterson, 2 Johns. Cas. (N.Y.) 102, Col. & C. Cas. 133.

Acting either as attorney or counselor

Where an attorney and counselor continues to act in either capacity, it is sufficient to retain the privilege of freedom from arrest.—Ogden v. Hughes, 5 N.J.Law 840.

78. Gibbs v. Loomis, 10 Johns. (N.Y.) 462—6 C.J. p. 616 note 16

79. Elam v Lewis, 19 Ga. 608—6 C.J. p. 616 note 17.

80. Bennett v. Ahrens, (C.C.A.Ill.) 57 F.(2d) 948—6 C.J. p. 617 note 18

81. Ark.—Paul v Stuckey, 189 S.W. 676, 126 Ark. 389, L.R.A.1917B 883
N.Y.—Kutner v Hodnett, 109 N.Y.S. 1068, 59 Misc. 21
6 C.J. p. 617 note 23.

82. Schmitt v Lamb, (D.C.Miss.) 43 F.(2d) 770, reversed on other grounds (C.C.A.) 48 F.(2d) 533, certiorari granted Lamb v. Schmitt, 52 S.Ct. 43, 284 U.S. 609, 76 L.Ed. 521, affirmed Lamb v Schmitt, 52 S.Ct. 317, 285 U.S. 222, 76 L.Ed. 720—6 C.J. p. 617 note 19.

83. U.S.—Durst v Tautges, Wilder & McDonald, (C.C.A.Wis.) 44 F.(2d) 507, 71 A.L.R. 1394—Schmitt v. Lamb, (D.C.Miss.) 43 F.(2d) 770, reversed on other grounds (C.C.A.) 48 F.(2d) 533, certiorari granted Lamb v Schmitt, 52 S.Ct. 43, 284 U.S. 609, 76 L.Ed. 521, affirmed Lamb v Schmitt, 52 S.Ct. 317, 285 U.S. 222, 76 L.Ed. 720
Kan.—Kansas Wheat Growers' Ass'n v Moffatt, 283 P. 634, 139 Kan. 537.
Pa.—Holmes v Nelson, 1 Phila. 217.
6 C.J. p. 617 note 22.

Acting as attorney, party, and witness

Nonresident attorney, while present to take depositions and acting as party, witness, and attorney in three local suits to prevent taking of depositions, is exempt from service of process.—Durst v Tautges, Wilder & McDonald, (C.C.A.Wis.) 44 F.(2d) 507, 71 A.L.R. 1394.

this exemption does not apply to a nonresident attorney who is not an attorney of record,[84] nor to a nonresident attorney coming into the state to take depositions to be used in the trial of an action in another state,[85] and a nonresident attorney is not privileged from service of process in a second suit brought in aid of the first, on which the attorney was in attendance when served.[86] The exemption exists, however, only while the attorney is in actual attendance on the court.[87]

Waiver. The privilege of exemption from service or process or summons may be waived.[88]

§ 45. Acting as Bail or Surety

Under statutes and rules of court in most jurisdictions, an attorney is disqualified from acting as bail or surety in judicial proceedings.

In the absence of a statute or rule of court, an attorney may be surety for his client on any bond or obligation which the proceedings in a case may render necessary.[89] There is no question, however, as to the power of the courts or of the legislature to make a rule or statute that attorneys shall not be taken as sureties on bonds of their clients or others in judicial proceedings,[90] and it is now generally prohibited in most jurisdictions, either by statute,[91] or by rule of court.[92] The rule disqualifying attorneys from becoming bail has been applied in a jurisdiction where it seems that there was neither a statute nor a rule of court to that effect, and an attorney of the court proposed as bail was rejected,[93] and under a statute which expressly prescribed the qualifications of bail without referring to what have always been held by the common law as disqualifications of persons who are proposed for bail, it was held that the common-law disqualification of practicing attorneys still obtained.[94] While in some jurisdictions this disqualification does not extend to cases where the attorney was not employed as counsel,[95] in others it extends to all cases pending in the courts,[96] as well justices' courts as courts of record.[97]

Effect of violation of prohibition. Unless the statute or rule of court is mandatory in terms and declares that a bond signed by an attorney as bail or security is absolutely void,[98] the regulation is clearly directory and for the government of attorneys as officers of court, and its violation does not

84. Tadge v. Byrnes, 176 P. 439, 179 Cal 275.

85. Minn—Nelson v McNulty, 160 N.W. 795, 135 Minn 317, L.R.A. 1917C 431.
Neb—Chicago, B & Q R Co v Davis, 197 N.W. 599, 111 Neb 737

86. Lamb v. Schmitt, (Miss.) 52 S Ct 317, 285 U.S. 222, 76 L.Ed. 720, affirming (C.C.A.) Schmitt v Lamb, 48 F.(2d) 533, reversing (D.C.) 43 F.(2d) 770, and certiorari granted Lamb v Schmitt, 52 S.Ct. 43, 284 U.S. 609, 76 L.Ed. 521.

87. Tyrone Bank v. Doty, 2 Pa.Dist. 558, 13 Pa.Co. 287—6 C.J. p. 617 note 20.

88. Simon v Solomon, 164 N.W. 820, 166 Wis. 177—Simon v De Gersdorff, 164 N.W. 818, 166 Wis. 170

Seeking relief from examination before trial
Nonresident attorney served with process in state while trying a case waives his privilege by seeking relief from an order for examination before trial.—Simon v Solomon, 164 N.W. 820, 166 Wis. 177—Simon v De Gersdorff, 164 N.W. 818, 166 Wis. 170

89. Ind—Abbott v. Zeigler, 9 Ind. 511
N.Y.—Walker v. Holmes, 22 Wend. 614
6 C.J. p. 617 note 24.

Rule disapproved
Attorneys should not be allowed to act as sureties or indemnitors for clients in legal proceedings—U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co v Sabath, 2 N.E.(2d) 330, 286 Ill.App. 320.

90. Ind.—Ohio, etc., R. Co v. Hardy, 64 Ind. 454—Abbott v. Zeigler, 9 Ind. 511
Ky.—Johnson v. Com., 2 Duv. 410

91. Okl.—Goodwin v State ex rel. Crandall, 31 P.(2d) 841, 168 Okl. 4
S.C.—Safran v Safran, 93 S.E. 140, 107 S.C. 452
6 C.J. p. 617 note 30.

Attorney for nonresident plaintiff
Attorneys of a nonresident plaintiff, required by Kirby's Dig. §§ 959–964 to give a bond for costs, may become sureties, the attorneys being liable for costs before the bond was given.—Kansas City Southern Ry. Co v Miller, 175 S.W. 1164, 117 Ark. 396

Civil or criminal action
(1) A bond given by a guardian is not given in a "civil action," within the provisions of a statute of the state in which the guardian was appointed forbidding an attorney to sign a bond in any civil or criminal action in which he is employed as counselor, since a "civil action" implies adversary parties and an issue, and is designed for the recovery or vindication of a civil right or the redress of some civil wrong.—Bopst v Williams, 229 S.W. 796, 287 Mo. 317

(2) Rev.L.(1910) § 256, prohibiting an attorney from signing a bond as surety in any civil or criminal action in which he is employed as counselor, have been held inapplicable to a common-law agreement or indemnity given to discharge a mechanic's lien.—Carr v Wewoka Oil & Gas Co. of Wewoka, 229 P. 434, 103 Okl. 139.

Signing as principal
Although defendant's attorney as signer of a bond was described as principal, he was, in fact, no more than surety for defendant, and as such was precluded by statute from executing the supersedeas bond.—Craig v Wilder, (Fla.) 169 So. 847.

92. Safran v Safran, 93 S.E. 140, 107 S.C. 452—6 C.J. p. 618 note 31

93. Scott v. Craig, 1 Wend. (N.Y.) 35—Coster v Watson, 15 Johns. (N.Y.) 535.

94. Miles v. Clarke, 15 N.Y.Super. 709, affirmed 17 N.Y.Super. 632—Wheeler v. Wilcox, 7 Abb.Pr. (N.Y.) 73

95. Goodwin v State ex rel. Crandall, 31 P.(2d) 841, 168 Okl. 4

96. S.D.—Towle v Bradley, 50 N.W. 1057, 2 S.D. 472
Wis.—Gilbank v Stephenson, 30 Wis. 155.
6 C.J. p. 618 note 34

97. Hudson v Smith, 82 N.W. 943, 111 Iowa 411—Valley Nat. Bank v. Garretson, 74 N.W. 11, 104 Iowa 655—6 C.J. p. 618 note 35

98. Goodwin v State ex rel. Crandall, 31 P.(2d) 841, 168 Okl. 4—6 C.J. p. 618 note 36.

Estoppel by misrepresentation as to employment as counsel
Attorney, who signs a criminal appearance bond as surety and represents that he is not and will not be employed as counsel in a case, which representation, although false, is properly relied on by an official who is thereby induced to approve the relieve the attorney from his liability as surety; he cannot thus take advantage of his own wrong when sued on his undertaking.[99] The obligation of the bond being binding on the attorney, notwithstanding the prohibition, the courts will not ordinarily dismiss the suit for want of a sufficient bond,[1] unless the rule or statute requires or authorizes a dismissal,[2] but will merely subject the attorney to punishment as for contempt.[3]

§ 46. Purchasing Demands for Suit

In the absence of a prohibitory statute, attorneys are not prohibited from buying demands for the purpose of bringing suit thereon, except as it might be a violation of the law against champerty and maintenance.

A statute expressly prohibiting attorneys from buying notes, demands, or other choses in action for the purpose of bringing suit on them is not invalid,[4] but, being penal, must be strictly construed.[5] In the absence of such a statute, there is no prohibition against the purchase by attorneys of notes or other choses in action for the purposes of suit, except in so far as such purchases may be a violation of the general law against champerty or maintenance.[6]

§ 47. Representing Adverse Interests

An attorney is by virtue of his office disqualified from representing interests which are adverse in the sense that they are hostile, antagonistic, or in conflict with each other.

The office of attorney incapacitates him from representing different interests which are adverse in the sense that they are hostile, antagonistic, or in conflict with each other,[7] and this disqualification pre-bond, may be estopped to deny the truth of the representation in an action to recover the penalty provided in the bond—Goodwin v. State ex rel Crandall, 31 P.(2d) 841, 168 Okl. 4

99. Mont—State v District Court of Lewis and Clark County, 19 P (2d) 326, 92 Mont 587
Tex—Lundy v. Little, (Civ App.) 227 S W 538
6 C J p 618 note 37.

1. De Jarnatt v Marquez, 60 P 45, 127 Cal 558, 78 Am S R 90—6 C J p 618 note 38

2. Fla—Love v Sheffelin, 7 Fla 40
Kan—Cook v Caraway, 29 Kan 41.
Wis—Gilbank v Stephenson, 30 Wis 155.

3. State v District Court of Lewis and Clark County, 19 P (2d) 326, 92 Mont 587—6 C J p 619 note 40.

4. People v. Walbridge, 6 Cow (N Y.) 512

Who is attorney within statute

One who never filed his certificate with the clerk of the court of appeals, and who only practiced for about a year after admission, is not an attorney within the statutory prohibition, and, on the purchase of a note for the purpose of bringing suit thereon he can recover in an action brought for him by another attorney—Thompson v. Stiles, 89 N.Y S 876, 44 Misc 334.

Agreement to conduct suit and pay plaintiff share of proceeds

An agreement by an attorney to commence and conduct and pay all the expenses of a suit, and give plaintiff a certain share of the proceeds, was held not invalid under the New York statute (2 Rev St. § 71), prohibiting an attorney from buying a chose in action for the purpose of bringing a suit thereon—Fogerty v. Jordan, 25 N Y.Super. 319.

Purchase of a senior judgment by a junior judgment creditor who is an attorney, made for the mere purpose of securing the younger debt, is not within the prohibition of the statute—Van Rensselaer v. Sheriff Onondaga County, 1 Cow (N Y) 443

Purchase of stock of a corporation is not within the prohibition of the statute—Ramsey v. Gould, 57 Barb (N Y) 398.

5. Ramsey v Gould, 57 Barb.(N Y) 398—6 C J. p 619 note 43.

6. Griffith v Anderson, 125 P. 218, 22 Idaho 323
Purchase by attorney of claim with intent to sue thereon as champertous see Champerty and Maintenance § 10 [11 C J. p 239 note 73—p 240 note 97].

7. Cal—Anderson v Eaton, 293 P 788, 211 Cal 113—Elberta Oil Co v Superior Court in and for Kings County, 291 P. 668, 108 Cal App 344
Hawaii—Christian v Waialua Agricultural Co, 30 Hawaii 533
Illinois—People v Hanson, 135 N E 268, 290 Ill 370—Olson v North, 276 Ill App 457 See Lindem v Sauerland, 206 Ill App 15
Ky.—Owsley v Cook, 1 Ky Op 518
Md—Derlin v. Derlin, 121 A 27, 142 Md 352
Neb—Federal Trust Co v Damron, 247 N W 589, 124 Neb 655
N.J—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v Rashkes, 183 A. 274, 119 N J Eq 443
N.Y—Loew v. Gillespie, 153 N Y S 830, 90 Misc. 616, affirmed 157 N.Y. S 1133
Okl—Steeley v. State, 187 P. 821, 17 Okl Cr 252
Pa—Pile v. Thompson, 62 Pa Super. 400.
S D—Tabor Realty Co v. Gannon, 207 N W 94, 49 S D 268.
Tex—Bryant v Lewis, (Civ App.) 27 S W (2d) 604—Payne v. Livingston, (Civ App) 253 S W 701
Utah—Gillette v. Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P. 776, 75 Utah 13.
Wash—Pacific Coast Cement Co v Metropolitan Casualty Ins Co of New York, 23 P.(2d) 890, 173 Wash 534.
Wis—Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N W 580, 202 Wis 552—Michel v McKenna, 237 N W 396, 199 Wis 603
6 C J. p 619 note 45

Reasons for, and other statements of, rule

(1) "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate one, and love the other, or he will cling to one, and slight the other Ye cannot serve God and mammon"—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v Rashkes, 183 A. 274, 277, 119 N J Eq 443

(2) "The unamendable mandate of both law and morals forbids an attorney, in the homely phrase of the field, 'to run with the rabbits and hark with the dogs'"—Gilliam v Saunders, 167 S E 799, 800, 204 N.C 206

(3) "A man should not be allowed to blow hot and cold—to affirm at one time and deny at another—making a claim on those he has deluded to their disadvantage, and founding that claim on the very matters of the delusion"—Broom Leg Max (9th ed) p 116, quoted in Federal Trust Co v Damron, (Neb) 247 N W. 589, 593

(4) "Justice and ethics both require that no attorney be permitted to receive fees from adversaries in any cause."—Logan v Logan, 180 N E 32, 34, 97 Ind App 209.

(5) The rule is designed not alone to prevent the dishonest practitioner from fraudulent conduct, but as well to preclude the honest practitioner from putting himself in a position where he may be required to choose between conflicting duties, or be led to an attempt to reconcile conflicting interests rather than to enforce, to their full extent, the rights of the interest which he should alone represent.

cludes him from undertaking employment whereby his own interests are brought into conflict with those of his client.[8] Moreover that an attorney undertakes to represent interests which are adverse may

Cal—Anderson v. Eaton, 293 P 788, 211 Cal 113
Md—Derlin v. Derlin, 121 A 27, 142 Md 352
Nev—Boyd v Second Judicial Dist. Court in and for Washoe County, 274 P 7, 51 Nev 264
Tex—Bryant v Lewis, (Civ App.) 27 S W (2d) 604.
Utah.—Gillette v Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P. 776, 75 Utah 13
Wis—Michel v. McKenna, 227 N W. 396, 199 Wis 608
6 C J. p 619 note 45 [a].

(6) It is a violation of an attorney's duty to be faithful to, and to protect his client in every possible way, for such attorney to assume a position adverse or antagonistic to his client without his free and intelligent consent given after full knowledge of all the facts and circumstances—Anderson v. Eaton, 293 P. 788, 211 Cal 113.

Honesty of motives and intentions

When he is once retained and has received the confidence of his client, he cannot enter the service of those whose interests are adverse to those of his client, no matter how honest his motives and intentions—Anderson v. Eaton, 293 P. 788, 211 Cal 113—People v. Hanson, 125 N E. 268, 290 Ill 370

Prejudice to one client for benefit to another

"An attorney . . . cannot prejudice one client for the benefit of another"—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v Rashkes, 183 A. 274, 277, 119 N J.Eq. 443.

Disability from time retainer fee agreed on

If retainer fee is definitely agreed on as to amount, an attorney must hold himself in readiness to represent his client according to scope of employment, even though no litigation is pending, and cannot take fee on the other side—Bright v. Turner, 265 S W. 627, 205 Ky. 188.

Uncontested matters

In uncontested matters, the conduct of an attorney who acts for opposing parties is open to most careful scrutiny—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v Rashkos, 183 A 274, 119 N J Eq. 443.

Public officer

An attorney who holds public office is prohibited, within the rule stated in the text, to represent an interest on behalf of a private individual which his duty as public officer requires that he oppose.—Stark County v. Mischel, 173 N W. 817, 42 N D 232, 6 A L R 174—In re Wakefield, 177 A 319, 107 Vt. 180.

Representations or interests adverse within rule

(1) Attorney for payee intervening in suit against maker and seeking recovery on a note could not at the same time represent the maker whose interests were adverse—Southwestern Flooring & Sales Co v White, (Tex Civ App.) 296 S W 916

(2) For an attorney who is in the general employ of a corporation to represent an individual client has been held to fall within the condemnation of the rule stated in the text—People v People's Trust Co, 167 N Y S 767, 180 App Div. 494, 36 N.Y Cr. 203

(3) Attorneys who appear in workmen's compensation proceedings on behalf of both the employer and his insurance carrier but undertake to cast liability if any on the employer, represent conflicting interests within the rule disqualifying an attorney from representing adverse interests—Szabo v Standard Commercial Body Corporation, 225 N Y S 332, 221 App Div 722—Hammele v McMahon, 221 N Y S 76, 220 App Div. 60

(4) For an attorney who was instructed by his client, a mortgagee to foreclose a mortgage, to enter into a contract with the mortgagor to postpone foreclosure was held to be an improper representation of conflicting interests—Pile v. Thompson, 62 Pa Super. 400

(5) Attorney representing two guilty corporate directors could not represent innocent stockholders in receivership proceedings because of conflicting interests—Rochester v. Gonterman, (Mo.) 49 S W (2d) 71

(6) Attorney appearing for an informant against an alleged incompetent in the first insanity proceeding was held to be disqualified from appearing for the alleged incompetent or waiving any of his rights in another like proceeding in the same court—State ex rel. Terry v. Holtkamp, 51 S W.(2d) 13, 330 Mo 608—State ex rel Townsend v. Mueller, 51 S W (2d) 8, 330 Mo 641.

(7) Attorney acting as legal adviser in school district organization and consolidation proceedings, to persons later becoming members of the board of education, cannot file information in quo warranto as state's attorney or otherwise against such members on the ground that organization of district was illegal—People v Hanson, 125 N.E 268, 290 Ill 370

(8) Where an attorney counseled with an aged woman of his own nationality who could talk but little English advising a sale, and his partner secured as purchaser of her property his friend, who relied upon such attorney's judgment as to advisability of purchase, the attorneys represented hostile interests.—Wachsmut v Miller, (Iowa) 168 N.W. 344.

(9) Attorneys representing a bank, which was primarily interested in an appeal from a receiver's report, were not proper attorneys to represent the receiver—Tabor Realty Co. v. Gannon, 207 N W. 94, 49 S D 268

(10) Contract by attorney of employer's compensation insurance carrier to represent deceased employee's mother in pressing a claim against a third party causing injuries, was held to be void as against public policy—Anderson v. Eaton, 293 P. 788, 211 Cal. 113.

(11) Attorney could not represent two heirs asserting interests in estate of intestate where recovery for one would reduce the other's recovery and increase the attorney's compensation, and the matter was unexplained to client adversely affected—Bryant v Lewis, (Tex Civ App.) 27 S W (2d) 604

8. N J—Morris v Glaser, 151 A 760, 106 N J Eq 570
Utah—Gillette v Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P 776, 75 Utah 13.
6 C J p 619 note 45.

Motive immaterial

"The practice . . . is emphatically disapproved irrespective of its motive or whether or not it was the result of design, ignorance, or negligence"—Morris v Glaser, 151 A. 760, 765, 106 N J Eq 570.

Duty of disclosure

"It is undoubtedly the duty of an attorney to disclose to his prospective client every adverse retainer and every prior retainer which may affect the discretion of the latter."—Hunter v Troup, 146 N E. 321, 324, 315 Ill 293

Right to presume absence of adverse interest

"When a client employs an attorney, he has a right to presume if the latter be silent on the point, that he has no engagements which interfere in any degree with his exclusive devotion to the cause confided to him, and that he has no interest which may betray his judgment or endangor his fidelity"—Hunter v. Troup, 146 N E 321, 315 Ill 293.

Based on public policy

'The rule that an attorney may not by his contract of employment place himself in a position where his own interests or the interests of another whom he represents conflict with the interests of his client is founded on principles of public policy"—Gillette v Newhouse Realty Co., 282 P. 776, 779, 75 Utah 13.

More cogent reasons

"An attorney cannot represent conflicting interests. For more cogent.

constitute ground for disbarment (supra § 23), or may render the attorney liable to one of the clients represented for loss resulting to him during the course of such representation (infra § 151).

However, it is not inconsistent with the status or office of attorney that he represent different interests which are not actually adverse in the sense that they conflict or are hostile.[9] Mere possibility that reasons an attorney may not, by a contract of employment with his client place himself in a position where his own interests are in conflict with those of his client."—Gillette v Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P 776, 779, 75 Utah 13

Acquiring interest adverse to client see infra § 126

9. Ill—Painter v. Merchants & Manufacturers Bank of Milwaukee, 277 Ill App 208 See Levy v Payne, 208 Ill App 141
Iowa—Trulin v Plested, 159 N W 633, 178 Iowa 220
N Y—Eisemann v. Hazard, 112 N E 722, 218 N Y 155, reversing 146 N Y S 685, 161 App Div. 703.
S C—Outlaw v National Council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, 92 S E 469, 107 S C. 225
Tex—Laybourne v Bray & Shifflett, (Civ App) 190 S W. 1159
6 C J p 621 note 52

Danger of conflicting duties

"Adverse interests, if they are to be adjusted, may be represented by the same counsel, though the cases in which this can be done are exceptional, and never entirely free from danger of conflicting duties"—Eisemann v Hazard, 112 N E 722, 218 N Y. 155, reversing 146 N.Y S 685, 161 App Div 703.

Interests varying only in degree

(1) Solicitor may represent two clients who desire same result, although their interests vary in degree—Busey v. Perkins, 176 A. 474, 168 Md 19

(2) For example, where two sisters were indebted to creditors in different degrees with one able to meet obligations but the other not, so that the creditors would have to resort for payment to property owned by the more deeply indebted sister as tenant in common with the other, the interests of the sisters in settlement of the debt was not so conflicting as to prevent one solicitor representing both sisters in working out a plan for the solution of their debt problems—Busey v Perkins, supra

Representations or interests not adverse within rule

(1) Where claims against a railroad, which plaintiff claimed were assigned to him to sue, were assigned to another who sued the railroad, which, with knowledge of plaintiff's claim, settled with the subsequent assignee, taking an indemnity bond holding it harmless against plaintiff's demands, the attorney for the subsequent assignee could appear for the railroad in the action against it by plaintiff where the trial chiefly involved the issue of whether plaintiff or such assignee had the better title—Broadbent v Denver & R G Ry Co, 160 P. 1185, 48 Utah 598.

(2) That an attorney representing an estate in administration proceedings also instituted suit for another against the estate to partition certain land included in such estate was held to be insufficient to show that the attorney was guilty of fraud or engaged in a conspiracy against the heir—Le Fors v Le Fors, (Tex Civ. App) 41 S W 2d 517.

(3) Representation of administratrix having no equity in certain property and of owner of worthless mortgage by same attorney, was held not improper, as involving conflict of interest—Hopkins v. National Bank of Norman, 242 P. 532, 115 Okl. 196

(4) Attorney for automobile owner in casualty company's suit to restrain action by such owner as insured on a policy may also appear for an injured person in a suit against the owner, though at the time the attorney was appearing, as such, for such owner in other litigation—Maryland Casualty Co v. Jackson, 119 N E 682, 230 Mass. 334.

(5) The interests of an infant daughter of testatrix, who would take more under the will than in case of intestacy, did not conflict with the interests of another beneficiary under the will so that it was not improper for counsel for the infant to enter their appearance also as counsel for the other beneficiary in probate proceedings—Morris v Foster, 51 App D C. 238, 278 F. 321, certiorari denied 42 S Ct 586, 259 U.S 582, 66 L Ed 1074

(6) The record in a particular case was held to show no conflict of interests to preclude an attorney who represented petitioner for a receiver from also acting as attorney for the receiver—J. C. Turner Lumber Co v Toomer, (C C A. Ga.) 275 F. 678.

(7) An attorney who was retained to adjust the affairs of a firm and was also employed to secure control for his client by involuntary proceeding in bankruptcy, was not guilty of improper conduct—Eisemann v Hazard, 112 N E 722, 218 N.Y. 155, reversing 146 N Y S 685, 161 App. Div 703

(8) An agreement by attorneys to represent a vendor in a suit to recover the land for fraud does not preclude them from representing a grantee of the purchaser, who claims to be an innocent purchaser, against the vendor—Trulin v Plested, 159 N W 633, 178 Iowa 220.

(9) In an action to set aside special assessments by property owners against contractors and a city, in which it was claimed that the assessments were void and that a reassessment was necessary under St (1921) § 75 56, because not made before the contract was entered into, as required by § 62 18 (9), but in which there was no issue as to the validity of the contract, it was held that there was no conflict between the interests of the city and the interests of the contractors, precluding the contractors' attorney from acting in a similar capacity for the city—Macleod v City of Washburn, 190 N W. 124, 178 Wis. 379.

(10) Where a stockholder of a dissolved corporation without creditors brings a bill to supplant the corporation directors acting as statutory trustees in winding it up, by a receiver, there was no impropriety in the solicitor for complainant also acting as counsel for the receiver—Cahall v. Lofland, 107 A. 769, 12 Del. Ch 125

(11) That an attorney rendering services to a bank prior to its insolvency was an officer of another corporation which was interested as a stockholder in the bank did not deprive him of right to accept employment by the bank as special counsel.—Penrose v. Page, 125 A. 549, 145 Md 1.

(12) That an attorney rendering services to a bank prior to its insolvency was guarantor of a mortgage loan by the bank did not warrant inference that in serving the bank as counsel, he was serving his own interest, for his obligation under the guaranty could not have been affected by the success or failure of the bank—Penrose v Page, supra

(13) Railway was not entitled to complain because plaintiff suing railway and automobile driver for decedent's death employed the same attorney as the driver employed in an action against railway—Masterson v Berlin St Ry, 139 A. 753, 83 N H 190

(14) An attorney for the executrix of a deceased partner was not guilty of improper conduct merely because his firm also organized a corporation to which the partnership assets were transferred.—Malden Trust Co. v. Brooks, (Mass.) 197 N E 100

(15) Court, in will contest, could permit counsel representing surviv-

different interests represented by an attorney might develop a conflict is not sufficient to disqualify him.[10] Nor is an attorney to be disqualified merely by reason of conduct with respect to a party not amounting to an impropriety under the circumstances of the particular case,[11] or where different parties represented by an attorney were actually benefited rather than adversely affected by the attorney's conduct.[12]

Criminal and civil proceedings arising out of same matter. Not only is an attorney who represents an individual in a civil matter disqualified from appearing as district or prosecuting attorney against the same individual on substantially the same facts, as stated in the title District and Prosecuting Attorneys § 12 [18 C.J. p 1313 notes 8-10], but conversely a prosecuting attorney who appears against accused in a criminal proceeding is disqualified from appearing in a civil case against the same individual.[13] This is so regardless of any question whether such attorney makes use of information gained in the criminal action to force a settlement in the civil action.[14]

Attorney and client relation; act as umpire. The objection that an attorney is disqualified by reason of his representing adverse interests is available only to those as to whom the attorney in question sustains, or has sustained, the relation of attorney and client.[15] Nor does the rule prohibit his acting for both parties in a transaction where his duty is merely that of an umpire and not that of counsel.[16]

Authority or consent by parties. An attorney may properly represent adverse interests where the persons represented expressly authorize him to do so,[17]

ing husband, as contestant, to represent husband as guardian ad litem for minor daughter—In re Novotny's Estate, 271 P. 923, 94 Cal App 782, rehearing denied 273 P. 58, 94 Cal App. 782.

10. Lessing v. Gibbons, (Cal App.) 45 P.(2d) 258.

Absence of actual or contemplated litigation

Attorney is not precluded from accepting employment by two persons merely because of possible conflict of their interests, in the absence of actual or contemplated litigation—Lessing v. Gibbons, (Cal.App.) 45 P (2d) 258.

When wife's interest does not disqualify

That an attorney represented a widow and aided her in the distribution of estate of her deceased husband was not ground for objection merely because such attorney's wife was an interested party as heir, so long as there was no conflict between the widow's interest and those of the attorney's wife and others similarly situated—Derlin v. Derlin, 121 A 27, 142 Md 352.

11. Talking over litigation

It is not unprofessional conduct for attorneys in the rural parts of the state, where local attorneys are usually well known, to talk over the litigation with defendants when acting as counsel for plaintiffs—Sullivan v Fidelity & Casualty Co of New York, 175 N W 397, 208 Mich 63, affirmed 178 N W. 39, 210 Mich 625.

12. Sugarman v Jayne, 198 N.W 903, 227 Mich 535

Holder of legal and of equitable title benefited

Where the holder of equitable title brought an action to remove a cloud from title against the holder of legal title after a decree had been obtained in other action against the holder of legal title to foreclose a land contract, the equitable owner's interests were not so adverse to those of the legal owner as to preclude the equitable owner's attorney from making a motion on behalf of the legal owner to set aside the decree in the foreclosure case, since both the equitable owner and the legal owner would be benefited by defeat or delay of the foreclosure proceedings—Sugarman v Jayne, 198 N W. 903, 227 Mich 535.

13. In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S D 76. See Cottam v National Mutual Church Ins Co, 209 Ill App. 404

14. In re Wilmarth, 172 N W. 921, 42 S D. 76.

15. Ala.—Lester v. Gay, 117 So 211, 217 Ala 585, 59 A L R 1561

Cal.—Hicks v. Drew, 49 P. 189, 117 Cal 305—Gaver v Early, 209 P. 390, 58 Cal App 725

Iowa—Van Veen v Van Veen, 236 N W 1, 213 Iowa 323, supplemented 238 N W 718, 213 Iowa 323—In re Champions Estate, 180 N W. 174, 190 Iowa 451

Wis.—Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N W 580, 202 Wis. 553—Michel v. McKenna, 227 N W. 396, 199 Wis 608 6 C J p 620 note 49.

No disqualification under particular circumstances

(1) The mere fact an attorney has had a conversation with the adverse party prior to litigation and solely for the purpose of fixing fees in connection with his offer to conduct the case for such party but his offer was rejected does not disqualify him from appearing under a subsequent retainer notwithstanding information as to the facts of the case which came to him in the conversation referred to—Hicks v Drew, 49 P. 189, 117 Cal 305

(2) A conference between an attorney and attorneys for will contestants, in which the contestants themselves did not participate, relative to the employment of such attorney to represent contestants on trial of contest, resulting in the rejection by contestants of the terms upon which the law firm of which such attorney was a member, were willing to accept employment, did not disqualify other member of such firm from appearing for the proponent of the will.—In re Champion's Estate, 180 N W 174, 190 Iowa 451

(3) That attorney, before his employment by defendant, had spoken with plaintiff's husband respecting the action, was held not to render his employment by defendant improper.—Lester v Gay, 117 So 211, 217 Ala. 585, 59 A L R 1561

(4) Plaintiff's attorney was not disqualified to act as such because shortly before bringing the action he was a clerk in the office of one defendant who was then an attorney for the other defendant—Gaver v. Early, 209 P 390, 58 Cal App 725

(5) That attorneys for a store had offered to sue a third person in name of store for purchases charged to the customer's account and had received payment from the customer to defray expenses was held not to prevent the attorneys from acting for the store in an action against the customer—Bloomingdale Bros v Hudson, 264 N. Y S 629, 147 Misc 759

16. Ill.—Strong v. International Bldg, Loan, etc, Union, 82 Ill App 426, affirmed 55 N E 675, 183 Ill 97, 47 L R A 793

Ohio—Sipes v Whitney, 30 Ohio St. 69, 76

6 C J. p 620 note 50

17. Hopkins v National Bank of Norman, 242 P 532, 115 Okl 196—6 C J p 620 note 46.

or where the parties consent to the representation,[18] or where notwithstanding the existence of conflicting interests the parties concerned on full disclosure of the facts by the attorney direct him to continue.[19]

Right to object and presentation thereof; waiver. Only a party who sustains a relation of client to an attorney who undertakes to represent conflicting interests may be entitled to object to such representation.[20] Moreover the objection that an attorney has represented adverse interests must be presented in the trial court particularly where it appears that no injury resulted from such representation.[21] The right to object that an attorney represents conflicting interests may be waived by the person entitled to assert such right.[22]

Prevention of, or relief from representation. Where the fact that an attorney is acting for the adversaries in a case is properly brought to the attention of the court before which the cause is pending the court is required to prevent the attorney from continuing to so act.[23] Moreover on a proper case made one of the parties represented may be granted appropriate equitable relief from the effects of an attorney's undertaking to represent conflicting interests.[24] At any rate an attorney may be prohibited by court order from proceeding as attorney for conflicting interests.[25]

§ 48. —— After Relation Terminated

The rule which disqualifies an attorney from representing adverse interests is applicable to a case wherein the relation of attorney and client as to one of such interests has terminated.

The incapacity of an attorney to represent adverse interests (supra § 47) also disqualifies him from representing interests which are in conflict with the interests of his former client, for the obligation of fidelity and loyalty still continues.[26] However, the interests of the former client must have been ad-

18. Hoidale v Cooley, 174 N W. 413, 143 Minn. 430—6 C J p 620 note 46 [a]

No substantial controversy

There is no impropriety in an attorney representing different parties between whom there is no substantial controversy so long as they are content—Hoidale v. Cooley, 174 N W 413, 143 Minn 430

19. Patent applications on common subject matter

In a suit for an injunction against patent infringement, that the same firm of attorneys prosecuted patent applications for plaintiff and defendant, containing a common subject matter, was held not to require dismissal of bill for want of equity, where the evidence established full disclosures of facts by attorneys and on their offer to withdraw as attorneys for both parties they declined to accept such offer but directed the attorneys to prosecute both applications—Cold Metal Process Co v United Engineering & Foundry Co, (D C Pa) 3 F Supp 130, appeal dismissed (C C A) United Engineering & Foundry Co v Cold Metal Process Co, 68 F (2d) 561, certiorari denied 54 S Ct. 530, 291 U S 675, 78 L Ed 1064

20. Van Veen v Van Veen, 236 N W. 1, 213 Iowa 323, supplemented 238 N W 718, 213 Iowa 323

One of two defendants in partition

Where attorneys appeared for one of defendants in a partition action and for plaintiff in a mortgage foreclosure action consolidated therewith, only such defendant could object—Van Veen v Van Veen, 236 N W. 1, 213 Iowa 323, supplemented 238 N W 718, 213 Iowa 323.

Hold-over tenant

Hold-over tenant appealing from judgment against it for lessor corporation and association contracting with lessor for use of leased warehouse was held not entitled to complain of representation of both association and lessor by same attorneys where conflicting interests were only apparent—Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Corporation v. Haymakers Warehousing Corporation, (Tex Civ App) 264 S W 326.

21. Attorney for receiver and for creditors

A receivership proceeding could not be invalidated on the ground that attorney for receiver was also attorney for some creditors and thus was representing antagonistic interests, where such matter was not brought to the attention of the trial court, and it was difficult to choose a disinterested attorney, and there was nothing in the record to indicate that the attorney for receiver neglected his duty as such to advantage of other parties represented by him—Home Mortg Co v Sitka Spruce Pulp & Paper Co, 36 P (2d) 1038, 143 Or 502.

22. Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N W 580, 202 Wis 553—Michel v McKenna, 227 N W. 396, 199 Wis 608

23. Logan v Logan, 180 N E 32, 97 Ind App 209.

Imperative duty

"Courts not only have the power to prevent such action when properly brought to their attention, and to bar, under such circumstances, an attorney from acting as such in a pending cause, but have an imperative duty to do so"—Logan v. Logan, 180 N E 32, 34, 97 Ind.App. 209

Depending on facts in each case

(1) "Whether or not an attorney has violated his professional duty and should be prohibited from acting in a particular case depends upon the facts in such case"—Logan v. Logan, 180 N E 32, 34, 97 Ind App. 209.

(2) Accordingly in a damage action by an heir in an administratrix' name, against a widow, as an individual, and coheirs, refusing to bar the administratrix' attorneys from acting for defendants in such cause could not be said to be a violation of the court's duty—Logan v. Logan, supra.

24. Avoidance of contract

Where an attorney by fraud induces a client to enter into a contract purporting to be a loan and mortgage as security for another contract, and the same attorney acted for the other contracting party, and the mortgagor obtained no part of certain money pretended to be loaned to him, it was held that the contract should be avoided except to operate as security as contemplated by the mortgagor—Naef v. Verges, 72 So 935, 140 La. 196

25. Order removing attorney not improper

In a minority stockholders' action against a corporation and others, an order removing an attorney representing both the corporation and a cross complainant was held not to be improper—Elberta Oil Co v Superior Court in and for Kings County, 291 P. 668, 108 Cal App. 344.

26. Cal—Wutchumna Water Co v Bailey, 15 P (2d) 505, 216 Cal 564.
D C—Brown v. Miller, 52 App D C 330, 286 F 994.
Ga.—Johnson v Morris, 108 S E 810, 27 Ga App 468
Iowa—Kluht v. Mitchell, 199 N W 294, 199 Iowa 1163.

verse in the sense that they are in conflict with, or hostile to, the interests subsequently represented.[27] Moreover an attorney may properly represent an interest which is actually adverse to a former client, but is based on matters arising subsequent to the termination of the prior relation and not connected therewith.[28] Further previous representation of a party in matters unrelated to pending litigation may not disqualify an attorney from representing the adversary of such party.[29]

Test. The test of inconsistency in cases of the character under consideration is not whether the attorney has ever appeared for the party against whom he proposes to appear, but whether his accepting the new retainer will require him, in forwarding the interests of his new client, to do anything which will injuriously affect his former client in any matter in which he formerly represented him, and whether he will be called upon, in his new relation, to use against his former client any knowledge or information acquired through their former connection.[30] Nor does the rule imposing disability on the attorney mean that he, having once been employed by a client, shall never thereafter appear in any matter against him but merely forbids the attorney's appearance or acting against the client where the at-

Neb—Baker v. Farnsworth, 221 N W. 17, 117 Neb 504
Okl—In re Jeter, 20 P.(2d) 886, 163 Okl 27
Wis—Harvey v Harvey, 231 N W 580, 202 Wis. 553—Michel v McKenna, 237 N W. 896, 199 Wis 608
6 C J p 620 note 47.

Public policy forbids attorney's representing party, over objection, where subjects are same or inseparably related, against adversary whom he previously served—Baker v Farnsworth, 221 N W. 17, 117 Neb 504—6 C J. p 621 note 55.

Two things forbidden

"An attorney is forbidden to do either of two things after severing his relationship with a former client He may not do anything which will injuriously affect his former client in any matter in which he formerly represented him, nor may he at any time use against his former client knowledge or information acquired by virtue of the previous relationship"—Wutchumna Water Co. v Bailey, 15 P (2d) 505, 509, 216 Cal 564

Nondisclosure of confidential nature

"The principle which forbids an attorney who has been engaged to represent a client from thereafter appearing on behalf of the client's opponent applies equally even though during the continuance of the employment nothing of a confidential nature was revealed to the attorney by the client"—Christian v. Waialua Agricultural Co, 30 Hawaii 533.

Public officers

(1) Lawyer having once held public office or having been in the public employ should not, after his retirement, accept employment in connection with any matter that he has investigated or passed upon in office or employ—In re Williams, (Okl) 50 P (2d) 729

(2) Accordingly officers of the federal government employing attorneys are entitled to avail themselves of the rule stated in the text when attorneys employed by such officers, after termination of the relation, attempt to represent interests in conflict with such officers—Gesellschaft Fur Drahtlose Telegraphie M B H v Brown, 64 App D C 357, 78 F (2d) 410, certiorari denied Brown v Gesellschaft Fur Drahtlose Telegraphie M. B H, 56 S Ct 139, 296 U S 618, 80 L Ed 439, rehearing denied 56 S Ct. 169, 296 U S 663, 80 L Ed 472—Brown v. Miller, 52 App D C. 330, 286 F 994

Claim adjuster

Attorney employed as claim adjuster is disqualified after severing relations with employer to bring action against it on behalf of a person whose claim he investigated—Hovel v Minneapolis & St L Ry Co, 206 N W 710, 165 Minn 449

Suing former client

Conduct of attorney for plaintiff in commencing an action against former clients concerning matters in which he appeared as their attorney and confidential adviser, was unprofessional—Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N W 580, 202 Wis 553

Associate not party to misconduct

Counsel retained after commencement of an action to assist in the trial did not make himself a party to misconduct of associate in bringing action against former client—Harvey v Harvey, 231 N W. 580, 202 Wis. 553.

Duty to raise question of misconduct

(1) Attorneys and court are under a duty to raise the point of an attorney's unprofessional conduct by bringing an action against a former client involving the use of confidential relation—Harvey v Harvey, 231 N.W. 580, 202 Wis. 553

(2) Nevertheless counsel was under no greater duty to raise the question of associate's misconduct than were attorneys for opposite parties or the court itself—Harvey v. Harvey, supra.

Relations held to disqualify attorney

Attorney drawing contract for plaintiff, and whom plaintiff consulted regarding matter being tried, was properly disqualified as attorney for defendant—Wingilia v. Ashman, 217 N W 909, 241 Mich 531.

Subsequent client not entitled to benefits

Litigant may not secure fruits of decree, obtained by attorney whom he knows previously represented his adversary, over the latter's objection, in the same subject-matter—Baker v Farnsworth, 221 N W. 17, 117 Neb 504

27. Mich—Gillett v Gillett, 257 N. W 719, 269 Mich 364
N.Y—In re Wilson, 170 N Y S 725

Representation held not improper

Where an owner contracted for erection of building, and gave mortgages to secure money, there was no impropriety in her attorney's acting as attorney for building contractors against a bank which advanced money for construction, after his relations with the owner, as her attorney, had ceased—All ance Trust Co v Hubbard, 171 P. 650, 87 Or 669

28. Murphy v. Riggs, 213 N W. 110, 238 Mich. 151.

Divorce

Solicitor who filed pleading for wife defending a divorce suit which was heard and dismissed properly appeared in her subsequent divorce suit, wherein he filed a pleading for defendant husband, where any confidential information imparted by wife to him would not be available in latter suit because facts of former suit were res judicata, and where facts in latter suit arose since termination of the solicitor's relation as solicitor for the wife—Wilber v. Wilber, 105 A. 664, 90 N J Eq 7.

29. Where no general employment

Attorney was not disqualified to represent plaintiff because he had represented defendants in previous unrelated matters, where attorney had no general employment with defendants—National Finance Co v. Abernathy, (Tex Civ App) 66 S W. (2d) 358, error dismissed

30. Wutchumna Water Co v. Bailey, 15 P (2d) 505, 216 Cal 564—6 C J. p 591 note 65, p 620 note 51.

torney can use, to the detriment of such client, the information and confidences acquired during the existence of their relation as attorney and client.[31]

Right to object; waiver. Only one who has been a client of the attorney may, however, complain of his conduct.[32] A former client's right to object, however, may be waived.[33]

Prevention of representation. An attorney may in a proper case be enjoined from representing an interest which is in conflict with that of a former client.[34] Moreover an attorney may on proper application be prohibited by court order from representing an interest in conflict with one to which he previously sustained the relation of attorney and client,[35] or other confidential relation.[36]

On the other hand in the absence of a showing that the supposed adverse interests are actually in conflict or hostile, an attorney may not be prevented from continuing to represent his client.[37] Nor does the

31. Cal.—Wutchumna Water Co. v. Bailey, 15 P.(2d) 505, 216 Cal. 564
N.J.—Wilber v. Wilber, 105 A. 664, 90 N.J.Eq. 7—6 C.J. p. 620 note 48

32. Mich.—Michel v. Michel, 227 N.W. 396, 199 Wis. 608

Party defendant who was not client

One of two defendants could not complain because plaintiff's attorney represented the other defendant in a previous action arising out of the same automobile collision.—Michel v. McKenna, 227 N.W. 396, 199 Wis. 608

33. Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N.W. 580, 202 Wis. 553

Waiver by defendant

Defendant who failed to object to appearance of attorney for plaintiff on the ground that attorney formerly represented defendant waived attorney's professional misconduct.—Harvey v. Harvey, 231 N.W. 580, 202 Wis. 553—Michel v. McKenna, 227 N.W. 396, 199 Wis. 608

34. Wutchumna Water Co. v. Bailey, 15 P.(2d) 505, 216 Cal. 564.

35. Brown v. Miller, 52 App.D.C. 330, 286 F. 994

Motion not too late

Where several months before trial one of defendant's counsel was informed that a motion would be made to require him to withdraw on the ground that he had previously represented plaintiff, such a motion made at the trial was held not too late.—Kluht v. Mitchell, 199 N.W. 294, 199 Iowa 1163

Discretion

(1) Excluding, on motion, an attorney from appearing against a former client in a suit arising from that in which he was its attorney was held to be in the court's sound discretion.—Boyd v. Second Judicial Dist. Court in and for Washoe County, 274 P. 7, 51 Nev. 264

(2) In an action for alienating affections of plaintiff's wife, denial of motion to require one of defendant's counsel to withdraw his appearance, based on affidavits that he had acted as plaintiff's counsel in a divorce suit and also in the present action, was held to be a prejudicial abuse of discretion.—Kluht v. Mitchell, 199 N.W. 294, 199 Iowa 1163.

Knowledge acquired in prior relation

(1) Where it appeared that an attorney, representing one party in litigation, had formerly represented the adverse party with respect to the same matter involved in the litigation, the court need not inquire as to how much knowledge the attorney acquired from his former client during that relationship, before refusing to permit the attorney to represent the adverse party.—Brown v. Miller, 52 App.D.C. 330, 286 F. 994.

(2) Accordingly an attorney employed by the alien property custodian was properly prohibited from continuing to represent a corporation which had been taken over by the custodian in a suit against him based on information acquired by the attorney while employed as such by the custodian.—Brown v. Miller, supra

Rules and statutes relating to disbarment

The rules of the court and the statutes relating to disbarment proceedings against an attorney do not deprive the court of its authority without such proceedings to order an attorney not to appear in a case against a client relating to matters which the attorney had handled for the client.—Brown v. Miller, 52 App.D.C. 330, 286 F. 994.

Inherent power

Court, to prevent injustice, has inherent power to prevent an attorney from appearing in a particular case against a former client.—Boyd v. Second Judicial Dist. Court in and for Washoe County, 274 P. 7, 51 Nev. 264

Court's power to prevent or strike appearance

A court can order an attorney to refrain from appearing for a party, or strike his appearance from the docket, where the attorney had previously represented the adverse party with respect to matters involved in the action.—Brown v. Miller, 52 App.D.C. 330, 286 F. 994.

Detailed ascertainment of certain facts

In order that a court may prevent an attorney from appearing against a former client it is unnecessary that the court ascertain in detail the extent to which the former client's affairs might have a bearing on the matters involved in the subsequent litigation nor the attorney's knowledge thereof.—Boyd v. Second Judicial Dist. Court in and for Washoe County, 274 P. 7, 51 Nev. 264.

Evidence warranting attorney's exclusion

Evidence warranted the court in excluding attorney from appearing against a former client in a case arising out of one in which he was its attorney.—Boyd v. Second Judicial Dist. Court in and for Washoe County, 274 P. 7, 51 Nev. 264.

36. Stay

Where by reason of one's employment as claim adjuster he gained information in the investigation of a particular case and after termination of employment undertook to represent his former employer's adversary in the prosecution of a claim involved in such case, it was held that the court on proper application might stay further prosecution of the action until plaintiff was represented by another attorney.—Havel v. Minneapolis & St. L. Ry. Co., 206 N.W. 710, 165 Minn. 449

37. Restraining acceptance of retainer

(1) "Where an attorney has, in the course of other business, or in conducting other suits, obtained a knowledge of matters connected with the suit in question, the courts will not, in general, simply on the fact of such knowledge, restrain an attorney from acting against the party through whose business he obtained such knowledge, especially where such party does not desire his services."—Price v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 18 Ind. 137, 141—6 C.J. p. 620 note 48 [a]

(2) Attorneys who have withdrawn from a case believing in good faith that the litigation is ended, will not, in case of its continuance, be enjoined from accepting a retainer from parties having an adverse interest to their former client, or from disclosing information acquired in their professional capacity from such client, for the court, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, will assume that such attorneys will observe all the obligations of honorable members of the bar.—Lalance, fact that an attorney undertakes to represent an interest hostile to a former client but based on matters arising subsequent to the prior relation present a case for equitable interference on behalf of the former client [38]

Moreover a defendant who complains that the attorney for plaintiff was formerly employed by defendant must raise the point by motion rather than by answer.[39]

§ 49. Acting in Different Capacities

An attorney may not act in any capacity or assume any duty inconsistent with his office of attorney.

The relation of attorney and client is of such an important nature that the courts will not allow an attorney to act in any capacity or assume any duty inconsistent with his office of attorney or his duty to his client; public policy also demands that an attorney shall not act in any other capacity where his duty would be incompatible with his duty as an attorney,[40] but where such duty is not incompatible with his duties as an attorney, he may act in both capacities.[41]

An attorney for a tax collector at the time tax proceedings are begun, but who was not attorney for such collector at the time of the tax sale, could become a purchaser.[42]

Statutes sometimes forbid the constable who serves process in an action from appearing as attorney at the trial,[43] and where the constable has appeared for plaintiff and proved his cause of action, a judgment in his favor cannot be allowed to stand, although there was no appearance by defendant or any one in his behalf.[44]

The competency of an attorney to be a witness see the title Witnesses § 71 [70 C.J. p 175 note 46–p 178 note 86], or to act as a trustee in bankruptcy see the title Bankruptcy § 157 [7 C.J. p 109 notes 85–87], or to act as an arbitrator see the title Arbitration and Award § 46.

§ 50. Liability for Costs

In the absence of misconduct or of a statute or rule of court providing otherwise, an attorney is not liable for the costs of a suit unless he has engaged to become liable.

In the absence of misconduct or of a statute or rule of court providing otherwise, an attorney is not liable for the costs of suit unless he has engaged to become liable.[45] Of course where the attorney is etc., Mfg Co. v Haberman, Mfg Co., (C.C.N.Y.) 93 F 197

Motion to disqualify properly denied

In a husband's divorce suit, where each party had been previously married but had obtained a divorce from former spouse, denial of wife's motion to disqualify husband's counsel because such counsel and his firm had represented wife in her previous divorce suit against former husband over eleven years before filing of present bill was held not to be error, since the suits were not related and there was no showing that husband's counsel could or did betray any confidence—Gillett v Gillett, 257 N.W. 719, 269 Mich. 364

38. Murphy v Riggs, 213 N.W. 110, 238 Mich 151.

Slander

Client was held not entitled to enjoin a former attorney from representing third party, suing client for slander on transactions arising after the professional relation ceased, notwithstanding threatened divulgence of knowledge obtained in professional capacity—Murphy v Riggs, 213 N.W. 110, 238 Mich 151

Disclosure as inducement to employment

Attorney offering as inducement to employment that he would divulge knowledge, acquired during employment by former client whom prospective client desired to sue, was held not subject to equitable interference —Murphy v. Riggs, 213 N.W. 110, 238 Mich 151

39. Reason for rule

"It must be raised by motion for it is plain that the improper conduct of plaintiff's attorney cannot be made the basis of a defense on the merits or a plea in abatement"—Havel v Minneapolis & St L Ry. Co, 206 N.W 710, 711, 165 Minn 419.

40. Ill—Harris v. Young, 215 Ill App 489.

Okl—Steeley v State, 187 P. 821, 17 Okl Cr 252.

6 C.J. p 621 note 55.

Special master subsequently appearing as solicitor

The special master in chancery, to whom a suit for an accounting is referred for the purpose of his taking the evidence and reporting the same together with his conclusions of fact, should not subsequently appear in the suit as a solicitor for one of the parties, such a course of practice is harmful and tends to bring courts into disrepute.—Harris v. Young, 215 Ill App 489.

Withdrawing from case so as to be witness

Attorney withdrawing from case before trial, when it appeared he might be a witness, is not subject to criticism—Allen v. Ross, 225 N.W. 831, 199 Wis 162, 64 A.L.R 180

Acting as detective

It is highly improper for an attorney to act as a private detective, and to testify as to facts so learned, in a case in which he is retained and has a pecuniary interest, and the court is required to weigh his testimony against that of other persons—Doremus v. Doremus, 102 A 659, 88 N.J.Eq 256—6 C.J. p 621 note 55 [c] (4).

Special surrogate as attorney for proponent of will

A special county judge and surrogate, having no power to act unless the regular surrogate is disqualified or there is a vacancy in the office, has been held not disqualified to act as an attorney for the proponent of a will in a proceeding before the surrogate—In re Locker's Estate, 279 N.Y.S 114, 154 Misc 685.

41. Hall v Brackett, 60 N.H 215—6 C.J. p 622 note 56.

Capacity of lawyer to become another's agent for purposes other than practice of law see Agency § 14

42. Walker v Mills, 109 S.W. 44, 210 Mo. 634

43. Wilkinson v. Vorce, 41 Barb (N.Y.) 370—6 C.J. p 622 note 57.

44. Ford v. Smith, 11 Wend (N.Y.) 73

45. U.S—U. S. v. Call, (C.C.A Fla.) 287 F 520

N.J—Caldwell Builders' Supply Co v. Goldblatt, 172 A. 901, 12 N.J Misc 457

6 C.J. p 622 note 59—15 C.J. p 97 note 64 [a] (2).

the real party interested he may be required to pay costs as in the case of any other litigant,[46] but a beneficial interest in a cause of action does not render an attorney liable for costs where such beneficial interest consists of a right to a portion of the sum or property recovered as compensation for his services in the action.[47]

Statutory provisions. In some jurisdictions, by virtue of statutory provisions, attorneys are liable for costs in appellate courts save where a pauper affidavit is filed in the clerk's office of the court below and a certified copy thereof transmitted to the appellate court with and as a part of the transcript of the record or bill of exceptions, and the attorneys will not be relieved from the payment of costs where the affidavit was not transmitted to the appellate court until some days after the transcript and bill of exceptions,[48] nor will the attorneys be relieved from the payment of costs because appointed by the court to represent an accused, the affidavit filed being insufficient,[49] and counsel appointed to defend an accused, not being under any duty to prosecute the case in the appellate court after accused became a fugitive from justice, cannot be relieved from their liability for costs.[50]

An attorney has sometimes, by statute, been held liable for costs on the indorsement of the writ, where plaintiff was unable to pay or was a nonresident.[51] However, the liability of an attorney for costs where plaintiff is a nonresident is purely statutory,[52] and is not discretionary with the court[53] and the attorney may relieve himself thereof by filing and procuring the allowance of an undertaking.[54] His liability will be enforced only where plaintiff is required to give security,[55] and if the right to such security is waived as to plaintiff the waiver inures to the benefit of the attorney.[56] Also, the attorney may be liable only where he has instituted a suit for a sole plaintiff who is a nonresident or for two or more plaintiffs all of whom are nonresidents,[57] and moreover, plaintiff must have been a nonresident at the commencement of the suit.[58]

Misconduct or negligence. The court has inherent power in the exercise of its discretion to impose costs on an attorney in order to punish him,[59] and where an attorney has been guilty of unauthorized or negligent acts or of general professional misconduct, he is often held liable for costs by the court as a punishment for such acts or misconduct.[60]

Liability must be pointed out with certainty

A client undertaking to place liability for costs on his attorney must show with certainty wherein the attorney has thus bound himself or point out clearly some law which so binds him.—Lazarus, Michel & Lazarus v. Veazey, 92 So 338, 151 La. 790.

Liability for excess costs collected

Where an attorney exacts a larger amount of costs than he is legally entitled to, the excess may be recovered back in an action against him.—One Hundred & Thirty-Fourth St Co. v. Wells, 140 N.Y.S. 1051, 80 Misc 215—Britton v Frank, How App Cas 4, 3 How Pr.(N.Y.) 101, 4 How Pr 144.

Criminal cross bill of exceptions

It has been held that, where there is no law by which the state can maintain a cross bill of exceptions in a criminal case, and no provision for taxing costs against the state, the costs will be taxed against the solicitor bringing the cross bill.—Mill v. State, 58 S.E. 673, 2 Ga.App. 398.

In Hawaii

The rule of the supreme court providing that attorneys shall be liable for costs incurred by their respective clients was held to be made for the protection of the court, and gives rise to no obligation in favor of a public litigant as against the attorney for the opposite party.—Holstein v. Benedict, 22 Hawaii 749.

—6 C.J. p. 622 note 61 [a]—15 C.J. p. 97 note 64 [d]

46. Kelly v New York City R. Co., 106 N.Y.S. 894, 122 App.Div. 467.

47. La.—Lazarus, Michel & Lazarus v. Veazey, 92 So. 338, 151 La. 790.
N.Y.—Hampton v Rosenheim, 155 N.Y.S. 361, 92 Misc. 207—Spence v Bode, 108 N.Y.S. 593, 57 Misc. 611.
Tenn.—Campbell v. Lee, 12 Tenn.App. 293.
6 C.J. p. 622 note 62.

Attorney alone authorized to compromise

Where an attorney brings an action under a contingent fee contract and informs the defendant that he is an assignee of the demand and alone authorized to compromise or settle the demand, it has been held that the attorney is liable for costs.—Voorhees v. McCartney, 51 N.Y. 387—Bliss v Otis, 1 Den.(N.Y.) 656.

48. Burke v Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co., 168 S.E. 90, 46 Ga.App. 488.

49. Summerour v. State, 158 S.E. 327, 172 Ga. 560.

50. James v. State, 132 S.E. 417, 162 Ga. 42, followed in 132 S.E. 418, 162 Ga. 44.

51. Mass.—Bird v Johnston, 119 N.E. 354, 230 Mass. 28.
N.H.—Miner v Smith, 6 N.H. 219.
6 C.J. p. 622 note 64.

52. Allen v. Fink, 207 N.Y.S. 428, 211 App.Div. 411, modified on other grounds 208 N.Y.S. 827, 213 App.Div. 845—6 C.J. p. 622 note 65.

53. Allen v. Fink, supra.

54. Allen v. Fink, supra.

55. Reed v. Benzine-ated Soap Co., 65 A. 1008, 72 N.J.Eq. 622.

56. Reed v. Benzine-ated Soap Co., supra.

57. Berrie v. Atkinson, 40 S.E. 708, 114 Ga. 708.

58. Long v. Hall, 5 N.Y.Super. 729.—6 C.J. p. 633 note 69.

59. Allen v Fink, 207 N.Y.S. 428, 211 App.Div. 411, modified on other grounds 208 N.Y.S. 827, 213 App.Div. 845.

Excessive zeal to circumvent adversary

Where actions were apparently meritorious, the fact that the plaintiff's attorney attempted with excessive zeal to circumvent his adversary and avoid immediate compliance with burdensome orders for security for costs has been held not a sufficient ground for punishing him by imposing costs.—Allen v. Fink, 207 N.Y.S. 428, 211 App.Div. 411, modified on other grounds 208 N.Y.S. 827, 213 App.Div. 845—6 C.J. p. 623 note 70 [g].

60. U. S. Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla. 433—6 C.J. p. 623 note 70—15 C.J. p. 98 note 68.

Attorney having interest adverse to client

If an attorney, after he has an interest adverse to his client, proceeds and obtains decrees adverse to the

An attorney who inserts in the pleadings impertinent or scandalous matter may be made personally liable to the adverse party for the costs of expunging such matter.[61]

Under the new federal equity rules costs may be imposed upon solicitors as well as parties for infraction of the rules designed to secure reduction of the record on appeal, and if any attorney in a federal court appears to have multiplied the proceedings in any cause before such court, so as to increase costs unreasonably and vexatiously, he will be required by order of the court to satisfy any excess of costs so increased.[62]

Enforcement of liability. The liability of an attorney for costs may be enforced by an application for an order requiring the attorney to pay costs.[63] While an attorney, not ordered to pay the costs, cannot be held in contempt because of his client's failure to pay them,[64] statutes in some jurisdictions authorize an attachment for contempt for nonpayment of costs by an attorney under some circumstances, as for example, in the case of misconduct of an attorney.[65]

In some jurisdictions, where the costs of a reference were allowed as an incident to a final judgment, an attorney cannot be held in contempt for the nonpayment of costs,[66] and their payment can be enforced only by those methods which the law designates for the enforcement of the decree or judgment itself.[67]

A writ of scire facias will sometimes issue against an attorney for the payment of costs.[68]

§ 51. Liability for Officers' Fees

Generally, an attorney is not liable for the fees of officers of the court in the absence of an express agreement to pay them.

At common law the attorney of record cannot be held personally responsible to clerks, sheriffs, or other officers for their fees for services rendered in behalf of his client in the progress of the cause unless there is proof of his express promise to pay them, or of some practice or course of dealing from which such personal promise can be implied,[69] on the principle that an attorney's negotiation for work to be done in a law suit is the act of an agent for a known principal, and for the expense of that service the attorney does not become personally responsible.[70]

Liability by statutes or rules of practice. In some jurisdictions, however, by reason of either statutory provisions or rules of practice, an attorney is held liable for all costs incurred on behalf of his client for the fees of officers or witnesses[71] client, and there is an appeal to the supreme court and other costs, in consequence of such action, a court of equity will tax such costs, including a reasonable attorney's fee, against such attorney—U S Savings Bank v. Pittman, 36 So. 567, 30 Fla 423.

Attorney appearing for himself

Where an attorney in the prosecution of an action conducted by him for himself and in his own behalf is guilty of such misconduct as would subject him to the payment of costs and to imprisonment for nonpayment in case the suit was being conducted by him for a third person, he is not exempt from the liability for such costs merely because he himself is the party litigant, but is held to the same degree of responsibility in the one case as in the other. —In re Kelly, 62 N.Y. 198.

61. Ill—McConnel v. Holobush, 11 Ill. 61
N.Y—Allen v. Fink, 207 N.Y.S. 428, 211 App.Div 411, modified on other grounds 208 N.Y.S. 827, 213 App Div. 845.
6 C.J. p 623 note 71.

62. Toledo Metal Wheel Co v Foyer Bros & Co, (Ohio) 223 F. 350, 138 C.C.A. 612—6 C.J. p 623 note 72

63. U.S.—Bogart v. Electrical Supply Co, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 27 F. 722, 23 Blatchf. 552.
N.Y—Struffman v Muller, 74 N.Y. 594
6 C.J. p 623 note 75

64. Rubber & Celluloid Products Co v. Sobel, 155 A. 134, 9 N.J.Misc 648

65. In re Kelly, 62 N.Y. 198—15 C.J. p 299 note 8.

66. Rubber & Celluloid Products Co v. Sobel, 155 A. 134, 9 N.J. Misc 648

67. Rubber & Celluloid Products Co v. Sobel, supra.

68. Bird v. Johnston, 119 N.E. 354, 230 Mass 28.

Record conclusive

A writ of scire facias is based on the record in the original suit, which is conclusive against the attorney in the scire facias proceedings, so that it is not open to him to show that the plaintiff in the original suit, described as a nonresident, was a resident—Bird v Johnston, 119 N.E. 354, 230 Mass. 28.

Evidence

(1) An officer's return on execution that he made diligent search for the goods, chattels, or lands of the judgment debtor, but could not find any within his precinct, is some evidence of the avoidance of costs, or of the inability to pay them, within the meaning of the statute making the indorser of the bill liable for costs as surety in such case—Bird v. Johnston, 119 N.E. 351, 230 Mass 28

(2) In an action of scire facias against the indorser of a bill in equity, where a witness testified that he had called at the home of the plaintiff in the original suit and had seen another woman, he is properly allowed to testify that such woman told him that plaintiff was not there and that she did not know where she was, to contradict such woman's testimony that at that time the plaintiff boarded at her house—Bird v. Johnston, supra.

(3) The liability of the indorser of the bill in equity for costs is established by a special finding of the jury, in an action of scire facias against him, that the judgment debtor was unable to pay the costs—Bird v. Johnston, supra.

69. Cowan v. Hulse & Allen, (Tex Civ App) 273 S.W. 663—6 C.J. p 623 note 76, p 624 note 79.

70. Cowan v Hulse & Allen, supra —6 C.J. p 623 note 76 [a], p 625 note 84.

71. N.J—Rubber & Celluloid Products Co. v. Sobel, 155 A. 134, 9 N.J.Misc 648.
N.Y—Myers v. Grove, 272 N.Y.S. 162, 242 App.Div. 637—Ruhloff v. Catts, 174 N.Y.S. 153.
6 C.J. p 624 note 80.

The attorney is liable, not on his own account, but for his client, his liability is that of a guarantor,[72] the liability sometimes arising from his indorsement of the original writ or from the promise implied upon his giving direction to the officer to perform certain acts in the course of the cause.[73] However, this rule being in opposition to the elementary principles of agency, it has been held that it should be strictly limited in its application and not extended to analogous cases, unless it appears that the reasons which originally led to its adoption apply,[74] and consequently it has been held that an attorney is not liable, in the absence of an express promise, for the fees of a referee[75]

§ 52. Liability to Adverse Party and to Third Persons

a. In contract in general
b In tort in general
c. To pay over or refund money collected

a. In Contract in General

In the absence of assumption of personal liability, an attorney is generally not liable for work done by third persons in connection with a law suit.

Generally, although there is authority to the contrary,[76] an attorney's negotiation for work to be done in a law suit is the act of an agent for a known principal, and the attorney is not personally liable,[77] as, for example, for the fees of witnesses,[78] stenographers,[79] or for the expenses of printing briefs, etc[80] In other words, an attorney cannot be held personally liable on such contracts, unless on an express promise to that effect, proof of circumstances from which such promise may be justly inferred, or notice to the third party of lack of authority in the attorney.[81] However, where an attorney fails to disclose that he was acting for clients he is personally liable,[82] and the mere fact that the third person knew the attorney was acting as attorney for his clients is not conclusive,[83] so that an attorney, ordering work to be done or services to be performed in connection with a case, is liable where he contracts on his personal responsibility or promises to pay therefor[84] Also, where the attorney is directly and personally interested jointly with others in the

Anomalous rule

"The rule is an anomalous one, when it is remembered that an attorney in issuing an execution is acting only as an agent for a disclosed principal, namely, his client The client, in my opinion, and not the attorney, should be held responsible to the sheriff However sound this criticism may be on principle, it is not the law"—Ruhloff v Catts, 174 N.Y S 139

Not enforceable by summary proceeding

An attorney's liability for officer's fees cannot be enforced by a summary proceeding under a statute providing that the court may make an order requiring the party at whose instance the attachment is issued to pay the same to the sheriff, the word party not including the attorney for the party—Myers v. Grove, 272 N. Y S 162, 242 App Div 637

72. Tarbell v Dickinson, 2 Cush. (Mass) 345.

73. Strout v Bradbury, 5 Me 312—6 C J p 624 note 82

74. Judson v Gray, 11 N Y 408.

75. Rubber & Celluloid Products Co v Sobel, 155 A 134, 9 N J Misc. 648—6 C J p 625 note 85

76. Judd & Detweiler v Gittings, 43 App D C 304

Rules of court as to filing and distribution of briefs

In an action by printers against attorneys to recover the price of printing briefs in two cases in which the defendants were counsel, the rules of court have little, if any, bearing upon the question of whether the plaintiffs had legal notice as to the filing and distribution of briefs in pending cases, especially where one set of the briefs in question was for use in a court in another jurisdiction—Judd & Detweiler v Gittings, 43 App D C 304

77. Colo—Elder v Eastwood, 216 P 542, 73 Colo 489
Mo—Inland Printing & Binding Co v Elam, (App) 240 S W 823
N Y.—Potter v Austin, 190 N Y S. 712—Willett v William J Burns International Detective Agency, 176 N Y S 722—Research Laboratories v Harrison, 166 N Y.S 706—Royal Indemnity Co. v. Corn, 162 N Y S 659

78. Potter v Austin, 190 N.Y S. 712—6 C J p 624 note 77.

79. Rubber & Celluloid Products Co v Sobel, 155 A 134, 9 N J.Misc 648—6 C J p 624 note 78.

80. Colo—Elder v. Eastwood, 216 P 542, 73 Colo 489
Mo—Inland Printing & Binding Co v Elam, (App) 240 S.W. 823.
6 C J p 625 note 86

81. Mo—Inland Printing & Binding Co v Elam, (App) 240 S W 823—Mendenhall v Sherman, 187 S W 271, 193 Mo App 684
Pa—Messenger Publishing Co v Walkinshaw, 157 A 18, 102 Pa.Super. 445—I F Huntzinger Co. v. Devlin, 83 Pa Super 63.
6 C J. p 658 note 9

The rule is well established that, when a person contracts as the agent of another and the fact of his agency is known to the person with whom he contracts, the principal alone, and not the agent, is responsible, this rule applies to the relationship of attorney and client.—Bonynge v. Field, 81 N Y 159, 160

Notice of attorney's responsibility

It is within the scope of the authority of an attorney to bind his client for the printing of paper books in appeal, but where, in an action by a printer against a client for the cost of printing such books, there is evidence that the printer had notice that the attorney was taking appeal on his own responsibility, and was liable for the costs of printing, the case is for the jury, and verdict for defendant will be sustained—I F Huntzinger Co v Devlin, 83 Pa Super 63

82. American Appraisal Co. v Pio, 246 Ill App 467.

Rebutting prima facie liability

The prima facie personal liability of an attorney to a third person on an agreement from the manner of execution in the attorney's name is rebuttable by proof negativing personal liability—Falsten Realty Co v Kirksey, 137 So. 267, 103 Fla 225

83. Right Printing Co. v. Stevens, 179 A. 209, 107 Vt 359.

84. Colo—Elder v Eastwood, 216 P. 542, 73 Colo. 489.
Kan—Martin v. Bell, 203 P. 691, 110 Kan 192.
N.J.—Car & General Ins. Corporation proceedings and it was not solely for his clients, the contract may be express or implied from the conduct of the parties, and the attorney, if he wishes to escape personal liability, must expressly contract to that effect,[85] and where not authorized to appeal, an attorney ordering a transcript of the evidence is liable for the expense thereof.[86]

Contract to settle case. An attorney contracting to settle a case for a certain sum is liable for the breach of such contract.[87]

b. In Tort in General

An attorney is personally liable to a third person sustaining injury in consequence of his wrongful acts or improper exercise of authority where he has been guilty of fraud or collusion, or of a malicious or tortious act.

While an attorney is not liable to a third person for acts performed in good faith,[88] and mere negligence on the part of an attorney is insufficient to give a right of action to a third party injured thereby,[89] an attorney is personally liable to a third party who sustains an injury in consequence of his wrongful act or improper exercise of authority where the attorney has been guilty of fraud or collusion, or of a malicious or tortious act,[90] and these rules, it seems, would apply where a licensed attorney gives free advice to a person

v. Davimos, 173 A 150, 12 N J Misc. 569, affirmed 176 A. 320, 114 N J Law 192

N Y—Riley v. Tull, 174 N.Y S 862, 186 App Div. 805, reversing 167 N Y S 918—Batavia Times Pub Co v. Hall, 221 N Y S 89, 129 Misc 197—Daniels v Hand, 161 N Y S 213, 97 Misc. 418—Title Guaranty & Trust Co v Maloney, 165 N Y S 280—Title Guarantee & Trust Co v. Rudershausen, 164 N Y S 15

Pa—Messenger Pub. Co v Walkinshaw, 157 A 18, 102 Pa Super 445

Vt—Right Printing Co v Stevens, 179 A 209, 107 Vt. 359

Wash.—J. D O'Malley & Co v Lewis, 28 P (2d) 283, 176 Wash 194

6 C J p 625 note 86 [a]

Evidence

(1) In an action by a physician against attorneys for services consisting of giving of testimony on a trial, the evidence was held not to show that the testimony of plaintiff was requested by defendant under an agreement to pay for the services—Potter v. Austin, 190 N Y S 712.

(2) Evidence was held to warrant the jury finding that attorney assumed liability for services rendered by detective in procuring evidence to be used in a divorce suit—Riley v. Tull, 174 N Y S 862, 186 App Div. 805, reversing 167 N.Y S 918.

Parol evidence not considered

Conversation between attorney ordering printing and printer long after work was delivered, will not be considered, where the original contract was clear—Batavia Times Pub Co v. Hall, 221 N Y S. 89, 129 Misc 197.

Question for jury

Affidavit of defense, in an action for cost of printing paper book used on appeal to supreme court, alleging that contract was made by defendant as attorney for client, made a case for the jury—Messenger Pub Co v. Walkinshaw, 157 A. 18, 102 Pa Super. 445.

Findings

(1) In an action for services rendered in procuring a signer to a bail bond at the request of an attorney on behalf of his client, a special finding that nothing was to be paid for furnishing the bond at the time was held not inconsistent with the general verdict for plaintiff—Martin v. Bell, 203 P. 691, 110 Kan 192

(2) In a printer's action to recover for printing of briefs in a case in which defendant was attorney, the trial court's refusal to find that defendant was attorney for a certain person and his wife and that the printer knew that defendant was the agent for such clients when order for printing briefs was given was held error, notwithstanding no reference was made in brief to the person's wife, where uncontradicted evidence showed that the printer knew that defendant was acting as attorney for husband and wife—Right Printing Co v. Stevens, 179 A. 209, 107 Vt 359

(3) A printer was held not entitled to recover from attorney for printing of briefs in a case in which attorney represented the clients, where the trial court, sitting without a jury, found that the printer understood that the attorney was personally liable for printing bill, but the court did not find that attorney understood that he was personally liable or that in the circumstances he knew or ought to have known that the printer understood that the attorney was personally liable—Right Printing Co. v Stevens, supra

85. Elder v Eastwood, 216 P. 542, 73 Colo 489

86. Morgan v. Krook, 283 P. 287, 36 Ariz 133

87. Car & General Ins Corporation v Davimos, 173 A 150, 12 N J Misc 569, affirmed 176 A 320, 114 N J Law 192

Breach not justifiable

Attorney, agreeing to settle case for less than amount of judgment, recovered by his client as administrator ad prosequendum in a death action, was not justified in declining to provide a release by decedent's general administrator, unless attorney for defendant's liability insurer paid the cost of administrator's bond—Car & General Ins Corporation v Davimos, 173 A 150, 12 N J Misc 569, affirmed 176 A 320, 114 N J Law 192

Evidence

Testimony of attorney for plaintiff in a death action that he acted only for himself in agreeing with attorney for defendant's insurer to settle the case for less than the amount of judgment against defendant was held sufficient, with remaining testimony, to support the trial court's finding in insurer's action against former attorney for breach of contract that he acted as principal—Car & General Ins Corporation v Davimos, 173 A 150, 12 N J Misc 569, affirmed 176 A 320, 114 N J Law 192

88. La—Hemenway Furniture Co v Juneau, (App) 142 So 333

Okl—Thomas Fruit Co v. Levergood, 274 P 471, 135 Okl. 105—Waugh v. Dibbens, 160 P. 589, 61 Okl 221, L R A 1917B 360

89 U S—District of Columbia Nat. Sav Bank v Ward, (D C.) 100 U. S. 195, 25 L Ed 621

N.Y.—In re Cushman, 160 N Y S 661, 95 Misc 9

6 C J p 625 note 88

90. Conn—First Nat Bank v. Broder, 141 A 861, 107 Conn 574

La—U. S Fidelity & Guaranty Co v Roberson, (App) 142 So 321

Mass—Anderson v. Rubin, 190 N E 544

N Y—In re Cushman, 160 N.Y S. 661, 95 Misc 9

Okl—Thomas Fruit Co v. Levergood, 274 P 471, 135 Okl 105

Pa—Haggerty v. Moyerman, 184 A. 654

6 C J p 625 note 89

See Treece v Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co, 197 Ill App 40.

Measure of damages

(1) The measure of administratrix' lawyer's liability for deceiving administratrix' surety was held the amount surety was forced to pay.—

not his client.[91] He is also liable where he institutes proceedings without authority from his client, where he and his client fraudulently conspire to do an illegal act, or where he acts dishonestly with some sinister view or for some improper purpose of his own which the law considers malicious.[92] In the case of a trespass or other active tort committed by an attorney as agent of his client both the attorney and the client are liable.[93] An attorney is not liable, however, where, in the institution or conduct of any suit or judicial proceeding, or in procuring the issuance of process, he acts merely as an attorney at the instance of his client and under his instructions.[94] The rule applies equally whether the process is an execution or attachment against the property or the person of the debtor.[95]

Causing illegal execution to issue. An attorney who causes an execution to issue illegally, knowing, or having reason to know, of its illegality, is liable for the damages resulting,[96] but he is not liable for damages resulting from the issuance or levy of process at the instance of his client unless he is shown to have acted dishonestly and with an improper purpose.[97]

Attorney appearing without authority. Any party who sustains an injury in consequence of an attorney's assuming to appear and act for him when he had no authority to do so may hold such attorney liable for the injury suffered.[98]

Acts of client. An attorney is not liable for the wrongful acts of his client[99] in accepting payment in settlement of a judgment lien after having assigned such lien[1]

c. To Pay Over or Refund Money Collected

While liable for funds received for the benefit of a third person, an attorney paying over to his client money received for him is not liable to the party paying such money to him although such party is entitled to have part or all of the money refunded.

An attorney receiving funds with knowledge that they belong to a third person has been held responsible for their payment to such person, even though there is no contractual relation between him and the person entitled thereto,[2] and the court has inherent power to order an attorney to pay over money, deposited with him for a specific purpose, to a third person entitled thereto.[3] However, the summary remedies provided for the recovery of money by a client which his attorney wrongfully withholds (infra § 159) are not available to third persons.[4]

U. S Fidelity & Guaranty Co v. Roberson, (La App) 142 So 321

(2) Damages of lessee of a pool hall for misrepresentation of lessor's attorney concerning title to personalty which attorney removed after lessee entered upon the lease, whereupon lessee gave up the lease which was later extinguished by foreclosure of a mortgage on the realty was held not to include lessee's prospective profits in the leased premises except so far as profitable uses to which the leasehold might be put were reflected in its value—Anderson v. Rubin, (Mass) 190 N E 544

(3) Damages of lessee of a pool hall for misrepresentation of lessor's attorney concerning title to personalty which attorney removed after lessee entered upon the lease, whereupon lessee gave up the lease which was later extinguished by foreclosure of a mortgage on the realty was held not to include amount expended by lessee for repairs under requirement of the lease.—Anderson v. Rubin, supra.

91. Within the territorial limits of his license, an attorney owes to a person not his client the duty of giving him honest and unselfish advice, if advice be given, though he is not required to give free advice.—Grudberg v. Midvale Realty Co, 196 N. Y S. 760, 119 Misc. 558

92. Okl—Thomas Fruit Co. v. Levergood, 274 P. 471, 135 Okl. 105.
Pa—Haggerty v Moyerman, 184 A 654
6 C J. p 625 note 90.

93. Williams v. Inman, 57 S E 1009, 1 Ga App 321.

94. Neb—Lee v Brown, 157 N W 633, 99 Neb 661.
N Y—Ford v. Williams, 13 N Y. 577, 67 Am D 83.
Tex—Citizens' Nat Bank of Cameron v. Morrison, (Civ.App) 50 S W (2d) 346
6 C.J. p 626 note 92.

95. U S—Campbell v Brown, (C C. Tex) 4 F Cas No.2,355, 2 Woods 349.
Ga—Hunt v. Printup, 28 Ga. 297
Iowa—Dawson v. Buford, 30 N W 35, 70 Iowa 127.
Minn—Farmer v. Crosby, 45 N W. 866, 43 Minn. 459.
6 C.J p 626 note 93.

96. Mass—Sullivan v. Jones, 2 Gray 570
N.Y—Allen v Froome, 38 N.E. 645, 195 N Y 404, reversing 124 App. Div 936, 109 N Y S. 1123.
Pa—Haggerty v. Moyerman, 184 A 654
6 C.J. p 626 note 94.

97. Neb.—Lee v. Brown, 157 N.W. 633, 99 Neb 661.
Tex—Citizens' Nat. Bank of Cameron v. Morrison, (Civ App) 50 S.W. (2d) 346
6 C.J. p 626 note 95.

98. U S—Field v Gibbs, (C C.N J) 9 F Cas No 4,766, 1 Pet C C 155
Md—Munnikuyson v. Dorsett, 2 Harr & G 374
Mass—Smith v. Bowditch, 7 Pick 137
N Y—People v Bradt, 7 Johns. 539
Vt—Coit v Sheldon, 1 Tyler 300

99. Abramson v. Ryall, 159 N Y S 772

1. Abramson v. Ryall, supra

2. Ashton v Skeen, 39 P (2d) 1073, 85 Utah 489, rehearing denied 44 P (2d) 688, 85 Utah 503

Paying to wife, money awarded husband

An attorney who has been lawfully employed by a wife to represent her husband in a partition suit against both of them could lawfully pay the money awarded to the husband to the wife, and is not liable to the husband therefor.—Buckhouse v Parsons, 198 P. 444, 60 Mont. 156.

3. Sherman v. Yankee Products Corporation, 194 N.Y S. 705, 201 App Div. 647.

4. Breen v. Phillips, 149 S E. 565, 169 Ga. 13.

Not liable for expense in bringing such proceedings

An attorney, sought to be compelled by rule to pay the balance of an amount due a receiver, has been held not liable for the payment of services rendered by the receiver's attorney in bringing such rule.—

While it has been held that where a master commissioner overpaid attorneys on a settlement of an estate before a judgment of distribution and although the attorneys had paid the amount over to their client, the court had jurisdiction to proceed against the attorneys by rule or otherwise to compel them to repay the overpayment as against an objection that it was the mistake of the commissioner,[5] in accordance with the general rule that the principal alone is liable for money paid to his agent, which the payer has a right to recall, but which he fails to recall until after it has been paid by the agent to his principal (Agency § 217), where an attorney, acting as such, without fraud collects money and pays it over to his client, although the party paying such money is entitled to have part or all of it refunded to him, the attorney is not personally liable for it; but in order to exonerate himself he must prove that he has paid it over to his client,[6] because in the absence of such proof it will be presumed that the excess remained in the attorney's hands, and he will be liable therefor.[7]

Receiving payment outside agency and through his own wrong. The rule is otherwise where the attorney receives the money outside of his agency and through his own wrong; in such a case the attorney himself is liable for the amount so received, even though he may have paid it over to his client.[8]

Payment dependent on contingency. An attorney receiving money for his client, subject to a ratification of a settlement, is liable to account to the third person making such payment on a failure to consummate the settlement.[9]

§ 53. Liability of Third Persons to Attorney

Third persons unlawfully interfering with the relationship of an attorney and his client or using an attorney's name without authority are liable for the damages thereby caused.

Third persons unlawfully interfering with the relationship of an attorney and his client,[10] or

Breen v. Phillips, 149 S E 565, 169 Ga. 13.

5. Oliver v Braswell, 235 S W. 724, 193 Ky 297.

6. Cal—Brown v Howard, 261 P. 732, 86 Cal App 532
Mass.—Bromfield v. Gould, 193 N E 796, 289 Mass. 80.
6 C.J. p 626 note 98

Payment to client not wrongful

Where jury could have found on evidence that money received by attorney for trustee in bankruptcy from plaintiff, against whom and two others the estate had a claim, was to be paid to the trustee to be applied on account if the balance of the proposed settlement was not paid, mere bringing of an action by attorney for the trustee against plaintiff and others did not make payment thereafter to trustee of the sum received by attorney from plaintiff wrongful—Bromfield v. Gould, 193 N. E. 796, 289 Mass. 80

Money obtained from court's registry

(1) An attorney is not personally liable to restore to the court's registry money obtained therefrom for his client's benefit under an erroneous order of the court and delivered to the client—Whitehurst v. Owens, 148 So 583, 110 Fla. 113—Holland v McGill, 145 So. 210, 107 Fla. 444, 87 A L R. 171.

(2) And this rule is applicable even though such error was induced by the attorney, provided no fraud or bad faith on his part is shown to have been practiced in connection therewith.—Holland v. McGill, supra.

Evidence insufficient as matter of law

(1) In an action to recover part payments made to attorney for trustee in bankruptcy under an agreed settlement of a claim held by bankruptcy estate, refusal to rule as matter of law that plaintiff was entitled to recover payments under an agreement binding attorney personally to repay to plaintiff money received from him if the balance of settlement was not paid was held not error, where the evidence was susceptible of a contrary finding as to the agreement—Bromfield v Gould, 193 N.E 796, 289 Mass. 80

(2) Where there was evidence that attorney for trustee in bankruptcy in an action brought against plaintiff and two others against whom bankruptcy estate had a claim had given plaintiff proper credit for payments made to attorney, refusal to rule as a matter of law that attorney was liable to plaintiff for the sum received by him because he had failed to give plaintiff proper credit in the action was held not error.—Bromfield v. Gould, supra

Liability of attorney to make restitution on reversal of judgment see Appeal and Error § 1982

7. Keithley v. Foster, 132 Ill App 299—6 C J. p 626 note 99

8. Fowler v. Shearer, 7 Mass. 14—6 C J. p 626 note 1.

9. Ambrose v. Graziani, 247 S W 953, 197 Ky 679.

Return of fee

An attorney who made a settlement on behalf of the next friend of an infant which he knew, or should have known, was not binding, and received the agreed amount, is not entitled, as against the person paying the settlement, to retain his fee for making the settlement after the infant repudiated it, as he had a right to do—Ambrose v. Graziani, 247 S.W. 953, 197 Ky 679

10. Lurie v New Amsterdam Casualty Co, 1 N E (2d) 472, 270 N Y 379, affirming 281 N Y S 988, 245 App Div 710—Gordon v Mankoff, 261 N Y S. 888, 146 Misc. 258

Contract not broken

Where a claim for personal injury has been assigned to an attorney under a contract for a division of the amount recovered, with a stipulation that any money received by the injured person in settlement of such claim should be held as agent for the attorney, an action for maliciously persuading such person to break the contract cannot be maintained against a personal injury adjuster who caused a settlement to be made, where it does not appear that he induced, or persuaded, or attempted to persuade, such person not to hold the money as agent for the attorney—Cameron v. Barancik, 173 Ill App 23

Mistake in rule of damages immaterial

Attorney suing insurance company whose agents wrongfully induced his client to breach contract of retainer has been held not precluded from recovering damages because attorney mistook the rule of damages and asked for an amount equal to the sum received by client by way of settlement, where attorney alleged and using an attorney's name without authority[11] are liable to the attorney for the damages caused thereby.

§ 54. Assignment as Counsel by Court

Attorney assigned to represent an indigent or absent person has a duty to act and to diligently protect all the rights of such person

Where an indigent or absent person is a party to a suit, the court will ordinarily assign counsel to represent him, and it is the duty of the attorney so assigned to act,[12] and to protect all the rights of the client as fully and to the same extent as if he were employed by the client,[13] generally even without compensation (infra § 172).

§ 55. License Fees and Taxes

A license fee or tax may be imposed on attorneys either as a regulatory measure or as a method of raising revenue.

The requirement of a license fee may be a regulatory measure where its purpose is to fix a standard of learning and character for those desiring to engage in the practice, and to raise funds for carrying out such purpose, with the idea of protecting the public against the consequences of a want of professional qualifications,[14] or it may be merely a method of raising revenue,[15] and all the members of a firm of lawyers must pay the tax.[16] While under some statutes, where an attorney fails to register and pay the fee within the proved damages, and the measure of damages need not be stated in the complaint when facts are alleged from which the damages can properly be inferred—Lurie v New Amsterdam Casualty Co, 1 N E (2d) 472, 270 N Y. 379, affirming 281 N Y S. 985, 245 App Div. 710.

11. Crane v Heine, 170 P. 433, 35 Cal App 466.

Nominal damages recoverable

Where defendant, without permission, used attorney's name and standing in endeavoring to effect collections by typewriting attorney's signature to collection letters and sending them to the debtors, there was an invasion of the attorney's rights from which the law will presume nominal damages at least, recoverable under Civ Code § 3360—Crane v Heine, 170 P. 433, 35 Cal App. 466

12. U S—Powell v. State of Alabama, 53 S Ct 55, 287 U.S 45, 77 L Ed 158, 84 A L R 527, reversing Powell v State, 141 So 201, 224 Ala 540, certiorari granted Powell v State of Alabama, 52 S Ct 648, 286 U S 540, 76 L Ed 1278, Patterson v State of Alabama, 53 S Ct 55, 287 U S. 45, 77 L Ed 158, 84 A L R 527, reversing Patterson v State, 141 So 195, 224 Ala 531, certiorari granted 52 S Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540, 76 L Ed 1278, Weems v State of Alabama, 53 S Ct. 55, 287 U S 45, 77 L Ed 158, 84 A.L R 527, reversing Weems v State, 141 So 215, 224 Ala 524, certiorari granted 52 S Ct. 648, 286 U.S. 540. 76 L Ed 1278.

Ga.—Weatherby v Pittman, 101 S E 131, 24 Ga App 452.

6 C J p 627 note 4—16 C J. p 822 note 37.

Appointment of counsel to defend indigent person charged with crime see Criminal Law § 982 [16 C.J p 822 note 35]

13. U S.—Downer v Dunaway, (C C.A.Ga.) 53 F.(2d) 536, conformed (D C) 1 F Supp 1001

Okl.—Noel v. State, 188 P. 688, 17 Okl.Cr. 308.

R I—State v Hudson, 179 A. 130.

Tex—Madero v Calzado, (Civ App) 281 S W 328 (second case)—Lopez v Calzado, (Civ App) 281 S W. 324.

Attorney for indigent is a quasi public official, since he is acting under court appointment, is charged with dual responsibility of faithful discharge of his duties to individual and to state, and he cannot indulge indigent's wishes or pervert a law intended for protection of indigent to his own personal advantage—State v Hudson, (R I) 179 A. 130

Continuance, change of venue, etc.

It is duty of counsel, appointed to represent accused too poor to employ counsel, to make necessary motions for continuance, change of venue, and new trial—Downer v. Dunaway, (C C.A Ga) 53 F (2d) 536, conformed (D C.) 1 F Supp. 1001.

General and special demurrers

Attorney representing an absent party has the duty to test the pleadings by general demurrer and special exceptions—Lopez v. Calzado, (Tex Civ App) 281 S W. 324

Appeal

The right of appeal being a constitutional right, the counsel appointed by the court to defend an indigent defendant fails in his duty when he neglects to take an appeal from a judgment and sentence of death in a homicide case, in view of Rev L (1910) §§ 5968, 6969—Noel v State, 188 P. 688, 17 Okl.Cr 308.

Court directing action

Where attorney appointed to represent an absent party, who had been served by publication, fails to test the pleadings by demurrer and exception, the court should direct his action—Lopez v Calzado, (Tex Civ. App) 281 S W 324

14. Cal—Carpenter v State Bar of California, 295 P. 23, 211 Cal 358
N M.—In re Gibson, 4 P (2d) 643, 35 N.M. 550
N D—Goer v Taylor, 200 N.W. 898, 51 N D. 792
Okl—Kelley v. State Bar of Oklahoma, 298 P 623, 148 Okl 282.
Or—Abraham v. Roseburg, 105 P. 401, 55 Or 359
6 C J p 571 note 57.

Liability as member of bar

State Bar Act has operative effect against practicing attorney as licensed member of bar, rather than as member of any bar association—In re Gibson, 4 P.(2d) 643, 35 N M 550

Statute not invalid as conferring unregulated discretion

State Bar Act is not subject to criticism as conferring unregulated discretion respecting fees and penalties on executive body—Carpenter v. State Bar of California, 295 P. 23, 211 Cal. 358

15. Cal—Ex parte Johnson, 190 P. 852, 47 Cal App. 465.
Nev—Ex parte Dixon, 183 P. 642, 43 Nev 196
Or—Abraham v. Roseburg, 105 P. 401, 55 Or 359
Wash—State v Holmes, 234 P. 275, 133 Wash 543
6 C.J p 571 note 58.

Minimum fee where not engaged in practice

Under an ordinance making it unlawful for any person to engage in any of certain businesses, including the practice of law, without first paying a license fee based on his gross annual income, every attorney must pay at least the minimum fee, although he did not practice during the previous year—Anderson v. City of Birmingham, 33 So. 900, 205 Ala. 604.

Nonresident attorney

Mere incidental practice of a nonresident attorney, in a city which imposed a tax on attorneys, has been held not to render such attorney subject to the tax—City of Texarkana v Taylor, 51 S W (2d) 856, 185 Ark. 1145

16. Blanchard v. State, 11 So 785, 30 Fla 223—6 C J. p 571 note 54 [a].

prescribed time, he loses his right to practice,[17] under other statutes the payment of such a tax is not a condition precedent to the right to practice law.[18]

§ 56. Partnership of Attorneys

a. In general
b. Compensation and division of profits

a. In General

A valid contract of partnership may be made between two or more duly qualified attorneys, and the general principles of the law of partnership are applicable thereto

A valid contract of partnership may be made between two or more duly qualified attorneys,[19] but not between an attorney and a person not admitted to practice.[20] A firm of law practitioners, as such, are regarded as a single entity[21] and the general principles of the law of partnership apply to lawyers with the same force that they do to partnerships engaged in other occupations or professions.[22]

In the absence of a special agreement, each member of the firm assumes the duty of giving to its business all of his time, skill, and ability, as far as reasonably necessary to the success of the common enterprise,[23] and, consequently, in the absence of an express agreement to the contrary any professional services rendered by a member of a firm of lawyers will be presumed to be for the benefit of the firm.[24] Nevertheless a member of a law firm has a right to attend to his individual interests which have no connection with the practice of his profession, and, unless such action so abstracts his attention or absorbs his time as to materially interfere with his professional duties, his partner cannot complain,[25] and fees received by a partner in his individual capacity, and not as an attorney, are not partnership property.[26] However, fees earned by one member under a firm contract belong to the firm,[27] and an award of counsel fees must be considered as being made to the firm.[28]

In an action for damages for the breach of a partnership contract, where the evidence is conflicting, the question as to whether a provision of the contract was breached is for the jury.[29]

The acts and admissions of one member of a firm, made in relation to and in the course of the regular business of the firm, are binding on the firm.[30] However, although there is authority to

17. Ga.—Williams v. Ivey, 169 S.E. 366, 177 Ga. 77
Wash.—Smith v. Kneisley, 49 P.(2d) 916, followed in 49 P.(2d) 918

18. Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Carlock, 75 S.W. 931, 33 Tex.Civ.App. 202.

19. Amey v. Vermont Products Co., 177 A. 197, 107 Vt. 178.

Absence of provision for sharing losses
An agreement between lawyers handling matters upon an equal division of profits constitutes a partnership notwithstanding the absence of a provision for sharing losses, such provision being implied in the absence of an intent to the contrary —Copeland v. King, 139 So. 221, 224 Ala. 160.

Special partnership
The relationship of attorneys engaged in a common enterprise for mutual benefit amounts to a special partnership.—Dingman v. Henry, 51 App.D.C. 339, 279 F. 795.

No partnership
Where one attorney associates another attorney with him and pays him a salary, pays all the office expenses, etc., it has been held that they were not partners, notwithstanding the letterheads and billheads and the sign on the door indicated that the business was that of a partnership.—Amey v. Vermont Products Co., 177 A. 197, 107 Vt. 178

20. Johnson v. Davidson, 202 P. 159, 54 Cal.App. 251—6 C.J. p. 627 note 8.

Employment of clerk on percentage basis
It is lawful for an attorney to employ a layman to take charge of the management of the work to be done in his office, to the extent of drawing pleadings and other papers, and to agree to pay such person for such services a fixed percentage of the receipts of the attorney from his clients; such an agreement not being one to become partners in the practice of law.—Johnson v. Davidson, 202 P. 159, 54 Cal.App. 251.

21. Henn v. Clifford J. Heath, Inc., 139 A. 406, 101 N.J.Eq. 347, affirmed 141 A. 769, 102 N.J.Eq. 596

22. Dennis v. Seattle First Nat. Bank, 73 P. 1125, 33 Wash. 161.

23. Gratwick v. Smith, 195 N.Y.S. 568, 202 App.Div. 600—6 C.J. p. 627 note 9.

24. Ky.—Charles v. Whitt, 218 S.W. 994, 187 Ky. 77.
N.Y.—Gratwick v. Smith, 195 N.Y.S. 568, 202 App.Div. 600
6 C.J. p. 627 note 10.

25. Rothrock v. Hamlin, 253 P. 1057, 81 Colo. 100—6 C.J. p. 627 note 11.

Burden of proof
(1) The burden of proving the inclusion of fees for nonlegal work by one partner as assets of the firm is on the one so claiming.—Rothrock v. Hamlin, 253 P. 1057, 81 Colo. 100

(2) The burden of proof to show that services were of a professional character and therefore on firm account rests upon the party asserting it.—Brown v. Cragg, 32 N.E. 569, 230 Ill. 299, reversing 129 Ill.App. 597.

26. Dempsey v. McGinnis, 219 S.W. 148, 203 Mo.App. 494.

Acting as receiver on appointment prior to partnership
An attorney who received compensation for services performed as a receiver, received in his individual capacity as a receiver, and not as a lawyer, was not required to divide the fee received with his partner, who became such subsequent to the appointment as receiver.—Dempsey v. McGinnis, 219 S.W. 148, 203 Mo.App. 494

27. Kleinschmidt v. White, 15 P.(2d) 127, 159 Okl. 234.

28. Henn v. Clifford J. Heath, Inc., 139 A. 406, 101 N.J.Eq. 347, affirmed 141 A. 769, 102 N.J.Eq. 596

29. McElroy v. Elledge, (Tex.Civ.App.) 69 S.W.(2d) 109

30. N.Y.—Title Guaranty & Trust Co. v. Maloney, 165 N.Y.S. 280.
Tex.—Robertson v. National Spiritualists' Ass'n of United States of America, (Civ.App.) 25 S.W.(2d) 389.
6 C.J. p. 627 note 13.

the contrary,[31] to work without compensation is not part of the partnership business and one member of the firm cannot bind the firm to do work without compensation.[32] Also, as such a partnership is not one in trade or commerce, one partner has no implied authority to become a party to, or a guarantor of, a negotiable instrument and bind the firm thereby.[33] Indorsees, a firm of attorneys, could not assert claim to a note after conducting suit thereon as attorneys for prior indorsee on the theory that he was the owner.[34]

Notice to one member is notice to all where it relates to the firm business.[35]

Dissolution. A law partnership is dissolved where one of the partners assumed the office of a judge, since thereafter he could not engage in the practice of law,[36] and in accordance with the general rule stated in the title Partnership § 271 [47 C.J. p. 1041 note 96], on the death of a partner the surviving partners become vested with the legal title to the assets of the partnership.[37] The relation of law partners continues, after dissolution of the partnership, as to cases pending at the dissolution.[38]

A payment by one attorney to another to induce the formation of a partnership, such payment to be returned if dissolution of the partnership occurred before a certain date, is recoverable by the first attorney on a termination of the partnership by mutual consent on the formation of a new partnership including another attorney.[39]

b. Compensation and Division of Profits

After payment of the debts of the partnership, each member is entitled to share in the profits; but after dissolution a member has no right to share in fees subsequently earned.

In accordance with the general rule applicable in all cases of partnership, stated in the title Partnership § 94 [47 C.J. p. 786 note 92], there is no implied obligation that, for performing the duty of devoting himself to the firm's business, a partner shall be paid more than his proportionate share of the gains,[40] and, conversely, as long as the firm continues there is usually no deduction because one partner has not been as active as the other.[41] After the payment of debts, for which each partner is liable for his share[42] a partner has the right to share in the profits of the partnership[43] in accordance with the partnership agreement.[44] How-

Acceptance of fee in full

Acceptance of fee by one attorney as compensation in full for attorneys jointly obligated to client was binding upon his associates—Robertson v. National Spiritualists' Ass'n of United States of America, (Tex.Civ.App.) 25 S.W.(2d) 889.

Representation by individual, not by firm

The law partner of attorney of record, who individually represented defendants in error, was not authorized to acknowledge the service of a bill of exceptions, and his acknowledgment did not satisfy the requirement for service upon defendants in error or their counsel of record—Davis v. Gillespie, 181 S.E. 167, 180 Ga. 850.

31. Stone v. Hart, 66 S.W. 191, 23 Ky.L. 1777.

32. Swanson v. Duffy, 269 P. 865, 126 Or. 309.

33. Swanson v. Duffy, supra—6 C.J. 6 p. 628 note 14.

34. First Trust & Savings Bank of Blanchard v. Johnson, 211 N.W. 373, 202 Iowa 799.

35. Wittenbrock v. Parker, 36 P. 374, 102 Cal. 93, 41 Am.S.R. 172, 24 L.R.A. 197—6 C.J. p. 628 note 15.

36. Stuart v. Murray, 202 P. 179, 70 Colo. 449.

37. Dingman v. Henry, 51 App.D.C. 339, 279 F. 795.

38. Creason v. Deatherage, 80 S.W.(2d) 1, 335 Mo. 661.

39. Cole v. Holton, 172 N.E. 858, 272 Mass. 565.

Interest from date of demand

Where partner, under terminated partnership agreement to practice law, was entitled to refund of three thousand dollars, interest was due from the date of demand, being a liquidated sum—Cole v. Holton, 172 N.E. 858, 272 Mass. 565.

Right not waived

That nothing was said, on formation of new partnership to practice law, concerning partner's right to return of sum provided for under previous agreement, did not show waiver thereof—Cole v. Holton, 172 N.E. 858, 272 Mass. 565.

40. U.S.—Consaul v. Cummings, (D.C.) 32 S.Ct. 82, 222 U.S. 262, 56 L.Ed. 192.
Iowa—Roth v. Boies, 115 N.W. 930, 139 Iowa 253.

41. Bettinger v. Goebel, 4 Ohio App. 362—6 C.J. p. 628 note 18.

Equalizing agreement

Where a law partnership was interrupted by the election of a partner to congress, and at the end of a year it was agreed that his absence should be equalized by charging him on the books with one-half of his salary for the year, but there was nothing said as to a continuance of the partnership, and thereafter it was terminated, the charge against him on the books was in settlement of partnership affairs up to that time, and he was not entitled to recover back this amount—Bettinger v. Goebel, 4 Ohio App. 362.

42. White v. Stratton, 3 La.App. 342.

43. Cole v. Holton, 172 N.E. 858, 272 Mass. 565.

Fee allowed copartner as offset for damages

A partner is entitled to his share of a fee allowed a copartner as an offset for damages in a suit in which the copartner was the defendant, notwithstanding such fee was never collected by the firm.—Ganoe v. Ohmart, 246 P. 348, 118 Or. 135.

44. D.C.—Williams v. Foster, 62 App.D.C. 14, 63 F.(2d) 893, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 692, 289 U.S. 749, 77 L.Ed. 1494.
La.—Quintero v. Caffery, 108 So. 87, 160 La. 1054.
W.Va.—Cunningham v. Madden, 175 S.E. 446.

Percentage of net fees

(1) Under an agreement giving the partners certain percentages of the receipts after the deduction of current expenses, such expenses should be deducted from the gross income and then the net income apportioned and such expenses should not be divided on the same percentages as the net income.—Cunningham v. Madden, (W.Va.) 175 S.E. 446.

(2) An attorney dividing a fee received for services, including the refinancing of a loan, with a lending association's officer who guaranteed repayment of the new loan, has been held accountable to his partner only ever, a partner who declares he has no faith in a client's claim and refuses to take part in the prosecution of the suit or to become liable for any expenses in connection therewith, waives and abandons his right to share in any fees recovered therein,[45] and is estopped to assert any interest in lands subsequently acquired by his copartner in payment of such fees,[46] and a partner, who testified against his firm's right to recover for legal services, has been held estopped to claim a share of the fees recovered.[47]

After dissolution of firm. While the general rule is that upon the dissolution of a firm each member is obliged to perform what work may be necessary for closing out the business without other compensation than his share of the profits,[48] even where the firm is dissolved by the death of a member,[49] there are, nevertheless, exceptions to this rule;[50] and, where the circumstances are such as to render it equitable, extra compensation in the nature of salary, or an increased apportionment of profits, may be awarded to one partner.[51] Thus where a law firm is dissolved with cases yet untried the active partner who undertakes to finish the work is entitled to extra compensation for his labor.[52]

Where one member of a law firm has withdrawn, a contract of employment of such firm is of a divisible nature, under which a recovery may be had for services of which the client has already had the benefit,[53] but, although there is authority to the contrary,[54] such withdrawing partner can have no interest in fees for services rendered by the remaining member of the firm after the dissolution in cases commenced either before[55] or for the portion of the fee actually retained by him—Clanton v Perry, 33 S W (2d) 364, 182 Ark 1184

Pooling arrangement of a partner with an outside attorney, associated with the firm in a particular case, for the division of fees of a particular case between them is not invalid as to the copartners having full knowledge thereof—Quintero v Caffery, 108 So 87, 160 La. 1054

Fee provision in agreement compromising case

Law partners, accepting compromise agreement and claiming interest in contingent fee, are bound to accept provision therein for special fee to member of firm and are not entitled to any interest therein—Quintero v. Caffery, 108 So. 87, 160 La. 1054.

45. Gillett v Hudspeth, (Tex Civ App.) 233 S W. 850, error refused

46. Gillett v. Hudspeth, supra.

Evidence of copartner's expenditures

In an action by an attorney against a former partner to recover an interest in lands acquired under a contract with a client for the payment of attorney's fees from moneys, goods, and other property recovered in a suit, evidence of expenditures incurred by defendant in prosecuting such suit was admissible; they being proper credits in case it was held the contract conveyed an interest in lands and that plaintiff was not estopped to assert his claim.—Gillett v. Hudspeth, (Tex Civ App) 233 S.W 850, error refused.

Authority to manage suit is question for jury

In an action by an attorney to recover from a former partner an interest in land acquired as fees under a contract with a client, the court did not err in submitting to the jury questions as to whether plaintiff authorized defendant to manage the litigation; they being material on the question of whether defendant's expenditures were properly chargeable against the partnership—Gillett v Hudspeth, (Tex Civ App) 233 S W 850, error refused

47. Houghton v Thomas, 221 N Y S 630, 220 App Div. 415, motion denied 159 N E 641, 246 N Y. 535, affirmed 162 N E 509, 248 N Y 523, motion denied 162 N E. 537, 248 N Y 591.

48. Cunningham v. Madden, (W.Va) 175 S E 446—6 C J p 628 note 19

49. Consaul v. Cummings, (D C) 32 S Ct 83, 222 U.S 262, 56 L Ed. 192—6 C J. p 628 note 20

50. Stuart v. Murray, 202 P 179, 70 Colo. 449—6 C J. p 628 note 21

Distinction as to professional partnerships

The reasons upon which is based the rule that the surviving partner must close the business of the firm without charge therefor cannot apply in a case where a member of a professional partnership voluntarily quits the firm. When he leaves the firm he withdraws from it all that he had therein, except as to accounts for past business of the firm This exception to the general rule is founded on reason, and is supported by the authorities—Stuart v. Murray, 202 P 179, 70 Colo. 449—6 C J. p 628 note 21 [a].

51. S C—Carrere v. Whaley, 17 S C. 595.
W Va—Cunningham v. Madden, 175 S E 446
6 C J. p 628 note 22.

52. Cunningham v Madden, supra—6 C J. p 628 note 23.

Reasonable worth

The partner who performs material personal services, not in mere winding up, but in carrying on the unfinished business of the firm, is entitled to receive the reasonable worth of those services—Cunningham v. Madden, (W Va) 175 S.E. 446.

53. Schulder v Ellis, 286 P 620, 75 Utah 432—Schulder v Dickson, 243 P 377, 66 Utah 418—6 C J. p 628 note 24.

Where fee contingent

While a partner's liability to a dissolved partnership, contingent on pending litigation, cannot be treated as a distributable asset, a decree in an action for an accounting should not prejudice the copartner's right therein—Cole v Holton, 172 N E 858, 272 Mass 565

54. Cunningham v Madden, (W.Va) 175 S E 446—47 C J. p 1165 note 55.

Fee, less value of services, as firm asset

While the partner who performs material personal services in carrying on the unfinished business of the firm is entitled to receive the reasonable worth of those services, the balance of the fee that the services yield are to be treated as partnership assets—Cunningham v. Madden, (W Va) 175 S.E 446.

55. Colo—Rothrock v. Hamlin, 253 P. 1057, 81 Colo 100.
Wis—Puffer v. Merton, 170 N.W. 368, 168 Wis. 366, 5 A.L.R. 1238.
6 C J. p 629 note 25.

Value to client, not to firm

Law partner, completing services begun before voluntary dissolution, may collect and retain their value to client, not merely their value to the firm.—Rothrock v. Hamlin, 253 P. 1057, 81 Colo. 100.

No recovery on basis not pleaded

Lawyer, praying recovery from former partner on the basis of pro-

after such dissolution,[56] in the absence of an agreement to the contrary.[57] Nor is the retiring partner chargeable, after the dissolution, with any of the expenses of the firm in prosecuting cases commenced before the partnership was dissolved,[58] and money afterward collected by him or paid to him by his former partner as his share of the fees earned after the dissolution of the partnership in cases commenced before the dissolution cannot be recovered by the partner in an action for an accounting.[59] While advances made to clients, plus fees collected, prior to the dissolution of the partnership, are partnership assets to which each partner is entitled proportionately,[60] and the obligation of a partner to a dissolved partnership for services rendered by the firm to him should be treated as an asset for which he should account,[61] a partner has no ascertainable interest in a partnership asset until there has been an accounting.[62] Although an attorney is entitled to share in fees received by his partner in connection with pending business, especially where the claimant continued to render services in such case,[63] a continuing partner, purchasing a claim pending on a contingent fee, need account to the retiring partner only for the agreed compensation on such claim and not for the profits thereon.[64] However, an attorney is not entitled to share in fees received by his former partner for services rendered under a new and distinct employment,[65] and the estate of a deceased partner is not entitled to share in the increased fee of the continuing partner obtained by him through an assignment by an associate counsel retiring from the case, the assignment not being made to the firm.[66]

Under an agreement providing that in case of dissolution of the firm, certain partners are to have no interest in the outstanding accounts, it has been held that the provision refers to a voluntary dissolution and not to one occurring by reason of the death of one of the partners.[67]

Agreement on dissolution. If a fair and reasonable agreement settling the rights of the partners has been made the courts will recognize and enforce it,[68] and one suing to set aside a settlement portion of services before and after dissolution, cannot recover a share of the profits exceeding the value of his services to the firm—Rothrock v Hamlin, 253 P 1057, 81 Colo 100

56. Isenhart v. Hazen, (Kan App) 63 P 451

57. Williams v Danson, 262 P 930, 146 Wash 358—Gray v Stern, 149 P 26, 85 Wash 645.

Accounting required

A continuing law partner cannot avoid accounting, under the dissolution contract, for fees in a case which the retiring partner was to conduct, on the theory that the brief written before dissolution by the retiring partner became the continuing partner's property—Gray v Stern, 149 P 26, 85 Wash. 645.

Not entitled to greater share of fees

Where an agreement of dissolution provided that the fees on unfinished business should be divided on the former ratio, the retiring partner is not entitled to a greater share of such fees because under the original partnership he was entitled to a certain allowance at stated intervals before any division of the earnings was made between the partners, his rights being dependent on the dissolution agreement which made no provision therefor—Williams v Danson, 262 P 930, 146 Wash 358

58. Isenhart v. Hazen, (Kan App) 63 P. 451.

59. Isenhart v Hazen, supra.

60. Levinson v Vanderveer, 13 P (2d) 448, 169 Wash. 254.

61. Cole v Holton, 172 N E 858, 272 Mass 565

62. In re Durant's Estate, 215 N W. 584, 194 Wis 275

Action to establish trust not maintainable

An attorney's petition to establish an equitable trust in the assets of his deceased former partner's estate will be dismissed where brought before an accounting of the partnership has been had—In re Durant's Estate, 215 N W. 584, 194 Wis. 275

63. Creason v. Deatherage, 30 S W. (2d) 1, 325 Mo 661

Fees increased after dissolution by agreement of client with other partner

Where law firm agreed to conduct cases on contingent fee, a partner who continued to work thereon was entitled to share in increased fees, although the agreement allowing increased fee was entered into solely with the other partner after dissolution—Creason v Deatherage, 30 S W (2d) 1, 325 Mo. 661.

Judgments collected after partner's death

Member of law firm conducting cases on a contingent fee had an equitable claim to his share of fees realized on judgments collected after partner's death—Creason v. Deatherage, 30 S W.(2d) 1, 325 Mo 661

64. Gray v Stern, 149 P. 26, 85 Wash 645.

65. Cal—Heer v Moran, 277 P 149, 93 Cal App 430
Utah—Schulder v Ellis, 243 P. 391, 66 Utah 453—Schulder v. Dickson, 243 P 377, 66 Utah 418.
W Va—Cunningham v. Madden, 175 S E 446.

Evidence of subsequent profits excluded

In a suit for an accounting under a partnership agreement to practice law, evidence of partner's profits subsequent to the termination of the partnership was held properly excluded—Cole v Holton, 172 N E 858, 272 Mass 565.

As commissioner in chancery

Fees earned by law partner as commissioner in chancery after dissolution of the partnership were held not partnership assets in an accounting proceeding—Cunningham v Madden, (W Va.) 175 S E 446.

Statement by one member not binding

A statement by one retiring partner to another that the latter would share in the fees paid for litigation then pending is not binding on the other members of the partnership—Schulder v. Dickson, 243 P. 377, 66 Utah 418.

66. Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S W. 744, 180 Ky. 773.

67. Puffer v. Merton, 170 N.W. 368, 168 Wis 366, 5 A.L R 1288

68. Cal—Heer v Moran, 277 P. 149, 93 Cal App 430
Wash—Gray v. Stern, 149 P. 26, 85 Wash 645
6 C J p 629 note 29.

Failure of consideration

(1) In attorney's action against another attorney on a contract pro-

has the burden to establish his right to an accounting,[69] and in a suit for discovery and accounting of fees under a legal partnership, the burden of proof is on the plaintiff.[70]

Illegal contracts. Equity will not decree an accounting between the partners of a law firm of fees realized on a contingent fee basis from cases obtained through the efforts of a layman employed by the firm to solicit personal injury cases, since the method by which the cases were obtained is contrary to legal ethics and public policy,[71] and a member of a firm, who became such by reason of helping to obtain the retainer of one of the members of the firm by a county and was promised a share of the profits, has been held not entitled to recover a share of the profits received by the firm after he severed his connection therewith, the securing of such contract not being a legal consideration for the promise to give him a share of the profits.[72]

§ 57. Attorneys' Clerks and Agents

An affidavit of the clerk of an attorney is insufficient as the foundation of a motion, no excuse being offered for its not being made by the attorney. A law clerk, suing for compensation, has the burden of establishing his right thereto.

It has been held that an affidavit of the clerk of an attorney is insufficient as the foundation of a motion, where no excuse is offered for its not being made by the attorney.[73]

Compensation. In an action to recover compensation for services as a law clerk, plaintiff must establish a contract, the performance of the services contemplated thereby, and nonpayment therefor;[74] and where some of the services were of a clerical nature and others constituted a practice of the law, the burden is on the clerk to segregate them.[75] While in accordance with the general rule (infra § 165), a law clerk is not entitled to recover additional salary for work done in connection with the deceased attorney's estate at the request of his representative where it constituted practice of the law,[76] the defense that the clerk was disqualified to perform some of the services rendered to the attorney's clients because not admitted to practice law is not available to the representative of the deceased attorney in an action by the clerk to recover extra compensation in accordance with his contract of employment.[77]

§ 58. Regulation of Professional Conduct

Attorneys are subject to the supervision and control of the courts, and it is within the power of the legislature to enact reasonable measures for the regulation of their professional activities.

An attorney is bound to conduct himself with integrity and professional decorum,[78] and as the practice of the law is affected with a public interest, it is the right and duty of the state to regulate and control it so that the public welfare will be served and promoted,[79] and the legislature viding that, if plaintiff did not return to China, defendant would pay to plaintiff six-tenths of profits accruing after certain date until certain sum should be paid and that entire law practice should then be defendant's, defendant could not claim lack of consideration where defendant admitted that plaintiff did not return to China and that defendant practiced under the firm name after such date and made profits.—Chalaire v Franklin, (C C A China) 81 F (2d) 105.

(2) In attorney's action against another attorney on a contract whereby defendant agreed to pay to plaintiff six-tenths of profits accruing from law practice after certain date until certain sum should be paid and that thereafter entire law practice should be defendant's, plaintiff's alleged failure to keep his promise to secure in the United States legal business and send it to defendant in China constituted only a partial failure of consideration, which was not a defense.—Chalaire v Franklin, supra.

69. Heer v Moran, 277 P. 149, 98 Cal App 430

Evidence

(1) Evidence sustained finding that settlement between law partners was entered into voluntarily and without fraud.—Heer v Moran, 277 P. 149, 98 Cal App 430.

(2) Finding that partners on dissolution of law partnership agreed to wind up the business and divide the fees in accordance with a partnership agreement, was sustained by the evidence.—Schulder v. Dickson, 243 P. 377, 66 Utah 418.

(3) Evidence was held not to establish a charge of fraud against the withdrawing law partner in concealing collection of large sums for legal services.—Houghton v. Thomas, 221 N.Y.S. 630, 220 App Div 415, motion denied 159 N.E. 641, 246 N.Y 535, affirmed 162 N.E. 509, 248 N.Y 523, motion denied 162 N.E. 537, 248 N.Y 591

(4) Evidence was held sufficient to support findings that there had been a full and complete accounting and settlement between the partners on all matters in which they were jointly interested.—Diesen v. Cox, 238 N W 785, 184 Minn 400.

70. Matson v. Rusch, 61 App.D C 184, 59 F (2d) 360

71. Thatcher v Meck, 195 N.E 254, 49 Ohio App 92.

72. Jamieson v. Iles, 219 Ill App 432

73. Chase v Edwards, 2 Wend (N Y) 283.—Jackson v Woodworth, 3 Cai (N Y) 136.—6 C J. p 629 note 39

74. Ferris v. Snively, 19 P (2d) 942, 172 Wash. 167, 90 A L R 278.

Construction of contract

Attorney's agreement to pay a law clerk part of probate fees collected in excess of a stated sum at the end of each year was held to contemplate payment thereof when computations, no matter when made, disclosed the fees received exceeding such sum in any year.—Ferris v. Snively, 19 P (2d) 942, 172 Wash. 167, 90 A L R. 278.

75. Ferris v. Snively, supra.

76. Ferris v. Snively, supra.

77. Ferris v. Snively, supra.

78. Youngentob v. Luongo, 249 N Y S 415, 139 Misc. 840.

79. Rhode Island Bar Ass'n v. Au-may enact reasonable measures for the regulation of the activities of the members of the legal profession.[80]

Also, attorneys are subject to the supervision and control of the courts[81] and the power of the court to make reasonable rules and regulations regarding the conduct of attorneys is not open to question.[82] It is the duty of the courts to see to it that attorneys live up to their high obligations,[83] and to see that the profession is confined to professional service, by professional means, and to lend no sanction to unprofessional service,[84] and it has been held the inherent duty of all courts to support the ethical standing of the bar by impressing upon its members the duty of holding sacred that confidence which should and must ever exist between attorney and client.[85]

The canons of ethics adopted by a bar association, while they do not have the effect of statutes,[86] are binding on attorneys.[87] The authority of the canons of ethics is derived, not from the fact that they are approved by the bar associations, but because they are statements of principles and rules accepted and acknowledged by reputable attorneys and are recognized and applied by the courts in proper cases.[88]

Particular conduct unethical. Various acts and conduct on the part of attorneys have been held to be unethical or improper.[89] tomobile Service Ass'n, (R.I.) 179 A. 139.

80. N.M.—In re Gibson, 4 P.(2d) 643, 35 N.M. 550.
Wis.—In re Maresh's Will, 187 N.W. 1009, 177 Wis. 194.
Statute held not invalid.—State Bar of California v. Jones, 280 P. 964, 208 Cal. 240.

81. U.S.—The Penn Fuel, (D.C.N.Y.) 36 F.(2d) 272.
Fla.—Gould v. State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla. 662, 69 A.L.R. 699.
Ill.—People v. People's Stock Yards State Bank, 176 N.E. 901, 344 Ill. 462.
Iowa.—In re Cloud, 250 N.W. 160, 217 Iowa 3.
N.Y.—In re Brooklyn Bar Ass'n, 227 N.Y.S. 666, 233 App.Div. 149.—In re Wellington's Estate, 289 N.Y.S. 1005, 160 Misc. 383, denying modification 276 N.Y.S. 946, 154 Misc. 271.
Okl.—In re Shoemake, 31 P.(2d) 928, 168 Okl. 77.
Pa.—Childs v. Smeltzer, 171 A. 883, 315 Pa. 9.
Wis.—In re Maresh's Will, 187 N.W. 1009, 177 Wis. 194.
Attorneys, by becoming members of the bar, submit themselves to the control of the court in so far as their professional activities are concerned.—The Penn Fuel, (D.C.N.Y.) 36 F.(2d) 272.
Advertising easy divorces.
Statute prohibiting lawyers from advertising facilities for procuring divorces, unless lawyers are licensed and sign full name to the advertisement, does not require such advertising, but recognizes the courts' power to regulate the professional conduct of the bar members and seeks to protect the courts and members.—Givens v. Tampa Bar Ass'n, (Fla.) 169 So. 744.

82. Barton v. State Bar of California, 289 P. 818, 209 Cal. 677.
Rules of conduct formulated by the board of governors of the state bar on approval of the supreme court thereby become the rules of that court.—Barton v. State Bar of California, 289 P. 818, 209 Cal. 677.

83. In re Strandburg's Estate, 247 N.Y.S. 194, 138 Misc. 733, modified on other grounds 248 N.Y.S. 164, 138 Misc. 859.
Sharp practices not tolerated.
Sharp practices whereby one attorney obtains an unfair advantage over another attorney should not be tolerated in the courts.—Corson v. Corson, 169 S.E. 567, 160 Va. 552.
Power of appellate court.
Appellate court has no way of punishing lawyers who do not properly take care of the interests of their clients, and who may fail to present proper bills of exception or to have statements of fact filed in time.—Taylor v. State, 31 S.W.(2d) 1072, 116 Tex.Cr. 641.

84. Rodenfels v. Stroemer, 248 N.W. 442, 211 Wis. 536.

85. In re Sirelow's Estate, 220 N.W. 251, 117 Neb. 168.

86. People v. Gilmore, 177 N.E. 710, 345 Ill. 28.

87. In re Opinion of the Justices, (Mass.) 194 N.E. 313.

88. Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W. 857, 185 Wis. 350.

89. Particular acts held unethical or improper.
(1) Accepting retainers through a legal aid department of a labor union.—In re Rule 28 of Cleveland Bar Ass'n, 29 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 291.

(2) Ambulance chasing.—Weinard v. Chicago, M. & St. P. Ry. Co., (D.C. Minn.) 298 F. 977.—Chunes v. Duluth, W. & P. Ry. Co., (D.C.Minn.) 298 F. 964.

(3) Asking prejudicial questions in expectation of an unfavorable answer.—Busch v. Louisville & N.R. Co., 17 S.W.(2d) 337, 322 Mo. 469, certiorari denied Louisville & N.R. Co. v. Busch, 50 S.Ct. 27, 280 U.S. 569, 74 L.Ed. 622.

(4) Assailing integrity of adverse party's attorney in a brief without justification.—Youngentob v. Luongo, 249 N.Y.S. 415, 139 Misc. 840.

(5) Champerty, maintenance, ambulance chasing, and solicitation of business by attorneys.—In re ———, 290 N.Y.S. 277.

(6) Commencing several actions on the same cause of action in different places.—Savarin v. Union Pac. R. Co., (D.C.Minn.) 292 F. 157.

(7) Conducting a collection agency in different states where he is not authorized to practice law and using a letter head calculated to create the impression that he maintains offices as an attorney in the places mentioned.—Application of J. W. Rowe Co., 181 N.Y.S. 87, 191 App.Div. 179.

(8) Extravagant statements by attorney to parties to action, whereby he secured retainer in a case already in the hands of reputable attorney, who was properly conducting the case, show indifference to established professional standards prescribed by the oath of attorney.—Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W. 857, 185 Wis. 350.

(9) Representing adverse interests is unethical.—Lubell v. Barend, 134 A. 358, 99 N.J.Eq. 631, reversed on other grounds Weanthal v. Barend, 141 A. 750, 102 N.J.Eq. 591.

(10) Stirring up litigation in which he has no interest except the possibility of fees.—Ellis v. Frawley, 161 N.W. 364, 165 Wis. 381.

(11) Attorneys seeking the revocation of a judge's admission to practice because of alleged fraud violate their duty of respect to the courts by failing to dismiss such petition on receipt of information indicating the right of such judge to practice.—In re Pearis, 252 P. 745, 80 Cal.App. 672.

(12) It is improper for an attorney for the defendant in an action for specific performance of a sale contract to take a conveyance of the realty before trial and after the lis pendens was filed.—Goldberg v. Levy,

§ 59. Offenses in Exercise of Professional Functions

While an attorney is not criminally responsible for honestly giving mistaken advice on doubtful questions, misconduct of an attorney is sometimes made a criminal offense by statute.

While an attorney is not criminally responsible for honestly giving mistaken advice on doubtful questions of law,[90] in some jurisdictions, by virtue of statutes, it is made a criminal offense for an attorney to advertise for divorce business, and such a statute is not invalid,[91] and may be violated without a direct offer to procure divorces or to act as attorney in a divorce suit.[92] Also, it has been made a criminal offense for an attorney to refuse to pay over money collected by him,[93] to agree to pay a witness a sum of money for his testimony provided the attorney wins his case,[94] or to be guilty of any deceit or collusion with intent to deceive the court or any party.[95] An attorney may also be guilty of blackmail in sending a threatening or abusive letter, and the fact that the letter is sent in an effort to collect an account does not make it privileged,[96] and an attorney who conspires with his client to commit a violation of the law, or advises and directs his client in such an act, is equally guilty with him.[97] The question as to an attorney being guilty of contempt because of continuing to practice after suspension or disbarment (supra § 40) or for acting as bail (supra § 45) is treated elsewhere in this title. Attorneys at law must maintain a high standard of honesty, but they are entitled to a fair trial when accused and cannot be convicted except according to the established rules of procedure and the law in such cases made and provided.[98] The principle that an attorney at law has the right to speak and act on information furnished by his client, and may claim immunity in the exercise of such right, applied in the title Libel and Slander § 104 [36 C.J. p 1256 notes 4-7, p 1257 notes 8-16], cannot be used as a shield against crime.[99] An attorney charged with a criminal offense must be proven guilty beyond reasonable doubt, regardless of the right of court to discipline him.[1]

§ 60. Bar Associations

A statute creating a state bar association is not invalid.

A statute creating a state bar has been held not invalid,[2] and to leave membership in the bar association optional with the individual attorney.[3] Statutory provisions relative to qualifications for membership in a state bar board of governors must be complied with.[4]

Judges of a court of record, during their continuance in office, have been held not subject to the jurisdiction, control, and processes conferred on a state bar association.[5]

134 A. 853, 99 N.J.Eq. 634, affirmed 137 A. 917, 101 N.J.Eq. 293.

(13) It is unethical for an attorney holding a license to practice in a lower court to give advice on matters that cannot arise in such court without disclosing his professional limitations.—In re Trask, 30 Hawaii 736.

(14) Where adverse interest exists between accounting party and rights of infant, attempt of attorney for the accounting party to accelerate the nomination of a special guardian is unethical and in derogation of the infant's rights, and the conduct of an attorney, who accepts the recommendation of the accounting or other adverse party, or his attorney, and seeks to obtain the appointment as special guardian, is unethical.—In re Wechsler's Estate, 273 N.Y.S. 968, 152 Misc. 564.

Improper division of fees

(1) It is unethical for an attorney licensed to practice in all courts to divide with a lower court practitioner fees from clients brought by the latter.—In re Trask, 30 Hawaii 736.

(2) It is unethical for the lower court practitioner to accept such a division of fees.—In re Trask, supra.

Whether counsel may or should furnish security for costs in a pending action is a matter of ethics and not of law.—In re Cleveland Discount Co., (D.C.Ohio) 9 F.(2d) 97.

90. People v. Kresel, 277 N.Y.S. 168, 243 App.Div. 127.

91. State v. Giantvalley, 143 N.W. 730, 123 Minn. 227.

92. State v. Giantvalley, supra.—6 C.J. p. 629 note 44.

93. Hall v. Eary, 170 S.E. 904, 114 W.Va. 82.—6 C.J. p. 629 note 45.

94. State v. Clopton, 15 Mo.App. 539.

95. People v. Oishei, 45 N.Y.S. 49, 20 Misc. 163, 12 N.Y.Cr. 362.

96. Ala.—Peters v. State, 51 So. 953, 166 Ala. 35.
N.Y.—People v. Wickes, 93 N.Y.S. 163, 112 App.Div. 39, 20 N.Y.Cr. 9.

97. Goodenough v. Spencer, 2 Thomps. & C. (N.Y.) 503, 15 Abb.Pr. (N.S.) 243, 46 How.Pr. 347.

98. People v. Ehle, 112 N.E. 970, 273 Ill. 424.

99. People v. Donahoe, 198 Ill.App. 1, affirmed 117 N.E. 105, 279 Ill. 411.

1. Abrams v. State, 170 N.E. 188, 34 Ohio App. 13.

2. State Bar of California v. Jones, 280 P. 964, 208 Cal. 240.

3. In re Gibson, 4 P.(2d) 643, 35 N.M. 550.

4. Solon v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 770, 218 Cal. 752.

Place where office maintained

Statute was held to require that newly elected member of the state bar board of governors maintain a law office outside the city in which a holdover member, representing the same district, maintained an office.—Solon v. State Bar of California, 24 P.(2d) 770, 218 Cal. 752.

5. State Bar of California v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 278 P. 432, 207 Cal. 323.

III. RETAINER AND AUTHORITY

A. RETAINER

§ 61. Definition and Nature

"Retainer" is the act of a client by which he employs an attorney to manage for him a cause to which he is a party, or otherwise to advise him as counsel

"Retainer" has been defined as the act of a client by which he engages an attorney to manage for him a cause in which he is a party, or otherwise generally to advise him as counsel,[6] and as the securing of an attorney at law to perform professional services in the business of another, in such manner that he cannot engage himself to, or perform any service in the employment in the interest of, the opposing party, or in any manner do anything in the business prejudicial to the party employing him.[7] The word is also used to denote the fee which the client pays his attorney when he retains him,[8] that is, the retaining fee.[9]

General retainers have for their object the securing beforehand of the services of a particular attorney or counselor for any emergency that may afterward arise, they have no reference to any particular service, but take in the whole range of possible future contention which may render attorneyship necessary or desirable; counsel thus retained is not at liberty to accept employment or render service adversary to the interest of the client retaining him.[10]

A special retainer has reference to a particular case, or to a particular service; it, however, imposes obligations, pro hac vice, equally binding with those enjoined by a general retainer; it forbids the acceptance of adversary employment, or the performance of adversary services.[11]

§ 62. Necessity of Retainer

a. In general
b. Community of interest and joint parties

a. In General

In general, an attorney may not appear for a person until he is in fact employed by, or retained for, such person.

Every attorney regularly licensed and duly admitted to practice possesses a general license to appear in court for any suitors who may retain him, but his license is not of itself an authority to appear for any particular person[12] until he is in fact employed by, or retained for, such person.[13] In other words, the relation of attorney and client commences from the date of the employment of the attorney; that is, from the time when the agreement or contract by which the attorney is retained is consummated.[14]

b. Community of Interest and Joint Parties

While the fact that a community of interest exists does not of itself authorize an attorney to act for a person who is not his client, yet where there are joint parties, an attorney who appears for one is sometimes regarded as acting for all.

While an attorney has no right to act as attorney for a person who is not his client, even though there may be a community of interest,[15] where there are several joint defendants, and an attorney appears in the case, he is usually supposed to act for all,[16] except when one of the joint defendants has not been served with process.[17] Furthermore, where plaintiff in a cause has authority to join

6. Saulsbury v American Vulcanized Fibre Co, 91 A 536, 541, 5 Boyce (Del) 182

Similar definitions
Ala.—Agnew v Walden, 4 So. 672, 673, 84 Ala 502
Cal.—Knight v Russ, 19 P 698, 699, 77 Cal 410
Ga.—Pickens Co v Thomas, 111 S.E 27, 152 Ga 648, 21 A.L.R 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S E 739, 28 Ga.App 434
Kan.—Blackman v. Webb, 17 P. 464, 38 Kan 668
Ky.—Bright v Turner, 265 S W 627, 205 Ky. 188
Mass.—Blair v. Columbian Fireproofing Co, 77 N E 762, 763, 191 Mass 333.
6 C J p 630 note 50.

7. Kelley v Richardson, 37 N.W. 514, 528, 69 Mich. 430.

8. Ga.—Pickens Co v Thomas, 111 S E 27, 152 Ga 648, 21 A L R 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S E 739, 28 Ga App 434.
Ill.—Union Safety, etc, Co v. Tenney, 65 N E 688, 690, 200 Ill. 349.

9. Bouvier L D.
Considered as compensation see infra § 162.

10. Agnew v. Walden, 4 So 672, 673, 84 Ala. 502.

11. Agnew v. Walden, supra.

12. Batesville Bank v Maxey, 88 S. W. 968, 76 Ark. 472—6 C J. p 630 note 53

13. U S.—Starrett Corporation v. Fifth Ave. & Twenty-Ninth St. Corporation, (D C N Y) 1 F.Supp. 868.
Ill.—Scharlau v. Lombard State Bank, 278 Ill App 504.
Miss.—Hirsch Bros & Co v. R E. Kennington Co, 124 So 344, 155 Miss 242, 88 A.L.R. 1
6 C.J. p 630 note 54.

14. Dentzel v City, etc, R Co, 45 A 201, 90 Md. 434—6 C J. p 630 note 55.

15. Silverman v. Greaser, 27 W Va. 550—6 C J. p 630 note 56

Life tenant and tenant in common
In a proceeding for the condemnation of land, the attorney for the life tenant had no authority to bind the owner of the "fee-simple estate"—Arnold v. Fort Worth & D S. P. Ry. Co, (Tex Civ.App) 8 S W.(2d) 298.

16. Phelps v. Brewer, 9 Cush. (Mass.) 390, 57 Am D. 56—6 C.J. p 630 note 57.

17. Tex.—Miller v. Alexander, 8 Tex. 36.
Vt.—Whitney v. Silver, 22 Vt. 634.

another person as coplaintiff, no authority to counsel to represent such person need be shown [18]

§ 63. —— Right of Litigant to Act in Person or by Attorney

A party to an action is entitled either to act as his own attorney or to have as his representative an attorney of his own choice or selection.

A party to an action may appear either in person or by an attorney, as explained in § 2 of the title Appearances, and he may act as his own attorney,[19] that is, he may manage, prosecute, or defend in person a suit to which he is a party,[20] even though, as explained above in § 16, he has not been admitted to practice law. Where a statute permits a party to appear either by himself or by attorney, it is not permissible to deny such party the right to prosecute an action in person and to compel him to employ counsel.[21]

The rule that a person who is a party to a suit may act as his own attorney does not authorize a person who owns all the capital stock of a corporation to act as attorney for such corporation in a suit to which it is a party, since the corporation is a distinct legal entity.[22] Furthermore, there is authority for the view that an executor, administrator, or guardian, as such, has no right to conduct proceedings in a probate court, except as to matters personal to himself as representative [23]

In general, a litigant is entitled to be represented by an attorney[24] of his own choice or selection.[25] The denial of the right of an attorney selected by a party to appear generally and to represent such party, on the ground that such right had been lost by undertaking to appear specially and to remove the cause to the federal court, has been regarded as a denial of such party's right to be heard through counsel of his own choice,[26] and in such case the court has no authority to appoint counsel not of such party's own choice to represent such party, under a statute authorizing the appointment of attorneys for nonresidents and others who are unrepresented.[27] The right of a so-called warning order attorney, appointed for a nonresident defendant on an original petition, pursuant to statute, to represent such defendant in connection with a cross-petition against such defendant by a codefendant has been denied in the absence of such attorney's appointment as attorney on the cross-petition [28] The right of a party who has appeared in propria persona subsequently to associate with himself an attorney in the conduct of the case has been recognized [29]

Questions as to the representation of accused by counsel, and as to the assignment of counsel, in a criminal case are considered in §§ 978–982 of the title Criminal Law [16 C.J. p 820 note 11–p 823 note 48].

A contract whereby one not licensed to practice law undertakes for a pecuniary consideration to perform services which, properly and legally, may be performed by a licensed attorney is illegal and 18. Union Naval Stores Co. v. Pugh, 47 So. 48, 156 Ala. 369.

19. Cal.—Culley v. Cochran, 290 P. 484, 107 Cal.App. 525
N.Y.—People v. James, 269 N.Y.S. 626, 150 Misc. 390.
N.C.—Abernethy v. Burns, 173 S.E. 899, 206 N.C. 370.
Wash.—Americus v. McGinnis, 221 P. 987, 128 Wash. 28.

Intervening party

A person who had been notified by defendant in an action of the bringing of the action, had been authorized by defendant to conduct the defense, had been authorized by an order of court to intervene, and would be bound by any judgment in the action, was the real party in interest and was entitled to conduct the defense in person where he had filed a pleading in intervention.—Culley v. Cochran, 290 P. 484, 107 Cal.App. 525.

Status of party acting as own attorney

A layman with resources who insists on exercising his privilege of representing himself must expect and receive the same treatment as if he were represented by an attorney.—Ackerman v. Southern Arizona Bank & Trust Co., 7 P.(2d) 944, 39 Ariz. 484

20. Cal.—Philbrook v. Superior Court of City and County of San Francisco, 43 P. 402, 111 Cal. 31
Iowa.—Arthaud v. Griffin, 210 N.W. 540, 202 Iowa 462
Mass.—In re Opinion of the Justices, 194 N.E. 313.

Right of client to act in person after attorney has been employed see infra § 80.

21. Abernethy v. Burns, 173 S.E. 899, 206 N.C. 370.

22. Cary & Co. v. F. E. Satterlee & Co., 208 N.W. 408, 166 Minn. 507

Person no longer attorney at law

In reaching the above conclusion the court pointed out that the person who sought to act as attorney for the corporation was no longer an attorney at law.—Cary & Co. v. F. E. Satterlee & Co., 208 N.W. 408, 166 Minn. 507.

23. In re Otterness, 232 N.W. 313, 181 Minn. 254, 73 A.L.R. 1319.

24. Wheatland v. Maloney, 294 P. 499, 110 Cal.App. 288.

Not bound to appear and prosecute case

Plaintiff is not legally bound to appear and prosecute his case, but has the right to prosecute it by attorney, and to produce such witnesses as are deemed necessary to establish his cause of action.—Baldauf v. Nathan Russell, Inc., 96 A. 96, 88 N.J.Law 303, Ann.Cas.1917D 1191

Particular persons who may employ attorneys see Descriptive-Word Index.

25. Cal.—Warden v. Lamb, 277 P. 867, 93 Cal.App. 738
N.J.—Marshall v. Romano, 153 A. 751, 10 N.J.Misc. 113.
Tex.—Swartz v. Swartz, (Civ.App.) 76 S.W.(2d) 1071.—Arnold v. Fort Worth & D. S. R. Ry. Co., (Civ. App.) 8 S.W.(2d) 293.

26. Roberts v. Anderson, (C.C.A. Okl.) 66 F.(2d) 874

27. Roberts v. Anderson, supra.

28. Carter v. Capshaw, 60 S.W.(2d) 959, 249 Ky. 483.

29. Warden v. Lamb, 277 P. 867, 93 Cal.App. 738.

void where a statute forbids the practice of law by one not duly admitted or licensed.[30] A contract by the terms of which an attorney, in consideration of the payment to him of a fixed amount per week, agrees to assist in the collection and prosecution of claims of clients and customers of the other party to the contract, who is not a lawyer, and to pay over to such other all fees for services is illegal and void.[31]

It has been stated broadly that congress has the power to prescribe conditions on which attorneys will be allowed to represent litigants before any of the courts of the government, within certain reasonable limitations, if done by general laws applicable to all alike, and in advance of services rendered in such courts.[32]

Constitutional provisions. The right to be heard by counsel, given by some constitutional provisions, is restricted to criminal prosecutions.[33] A provision of a workmen's compensation act which makes fees of attorneys and physicians subject to the approval of the industrial accident board is not violative of a constitutional provision that any suitor in any court in the state shall have the right to prosecute or defend a suit either in his own proper person or by an attorney or agent of his choice.[34] The appointment by a judge of an attorney for defendant, charged with contempt, who did not object to services rendered by the attorney, was not erroneous as a denial of his constitutional right to present his own case.[35]

Attorney of record. While a party litigant may have a number of counsel to advise him and actually to participate in a trial as his representatives,[36] in some jurisdictions at least, he may have only one attorney or solicitor of record.[37] The attorney or solicitor of record may be an individual practitioner,[38] or, under some statutes, a firm of practitioners, who, as such, are regarded as a single entity.[39]

§ 64. —— Effect of Unauthorized Action

The bringing of an action by an attorney without authority from plaintiff is not binding on the latter.

Where suits are brought by an attorney without authority from plaintiff, the rule seems established that the bringing of suit does not bind the involuntary plaintiff,[40] unless plaintiff ratifies the act of the attorney (infra § 71), and there is authority for the view that in such case the proceedings are void.[41]

The propriety of a motion to dismiss the action when the attorney's lack of authority to institute the action is established has been recognized, as shown in section 57 of the title Dismissal and Nonsuit [18 C.J. p 1182 note 69]. Furthermore, where it clearly appears that the attorney has no authority to institute the action, it may be proper

30. Crawford v McConnell, (Okl.) 49 P.(2d) 551 See also supra § 16.

31. Jenkins v. Ross, 17 Pa.Dist & Co 406.

Reason for rule

"The effect of the verbal agreement between Freeston and the defendant [attorney] was to permit Freeston to practice law through the medium of the defendant Such an agreement is utterly void under the statute law and common law of our Commonwealth The Act of April 17, 1913, P. L. 80, makes it unlawful for any person to practice law or hold himself out as a lawyer, or maintain a law office of any kind for the practice of law, without having first been duly and regularly admitted to practice law in a court of record of any county in the state That the agreement in this case violates both the letter and spirit of this act is too plain to require discussion If any individual or corporation can hire a lawyer to represent their clients in court, while they direct the litigation, fix and collect the fees, then the Act of 1913 is not worth the paper it is written on. Quite aside from the statute, the agreement is illegal and void at common law as against public policy"—Jenkins, Trustee v. Ross, 17 Pa.Dist. & Co. 406, 407.

32. Moyers v City of Memphis, 186 S.W. 105, 135 Tenn. 263.

33. Rosen v Seidenberg, 170 A. 351, 111 Pa.Super 534

34. May v. Charles Hoertz & Son, 170 N.W. 305, 204 Mich 432—Mackin v Detroit-Timkin Axle Co., 153 N.W. 49, 187 Mich. 8.

Reason for rule

"The Industrial Accident Board is not, in contemplation of law, a court, and a claimant before it for damages resulting from personal injuries is not strictly a 'suitor in any court,' but the right of a claimant to select and employ an attorney or agent to represent him in the matter is recognised by the provision referred to These restrictions in the act, as applied to those who submit to its provisions by election, certainly cannot be held unconstitutional."—Mackin v. Detroit-Timkin Axle Co., 153 N.W. 49, 55, 187 Mich 8.

35. Knapp v. Knapp, 272 P. 512, 73 Utah 268.

36. In re Stewart, 95 A. 739, 85 N.J.Eq. 3.

37. In re Stewart, supra.

Reason for rule

"No party litigant can have two solicitors or attorneys of record. The reason is that the adverse party shall not be put to an election upon which of the two to serve notices, or with whom, of the two, to treat concerning the litigation. He certainly cannot be required to serve duplicate notices, or seek an interview with another after having consulted one. Further, how is the clerk of the court to tell to which one of the solicitors' accounts he is to charge the papers that are to be filed? He certainly has no right to make an election, nor has he any right to divide the charges between them. If a party could have two solicitors of record, why not three, four, five, or six, or any other number And what an embarrassment to the adverse party this would make"—In re Stewart, 95 A. 739, 85 N.J.Eq. 3.

38. In re Stewart, supra.

39. In re Stewart, supra.

40. Ga.—Anderson v Crawford, 94 S.E. 574, 147 Ga. 455, L.R.A.1918B 894.

Miss.—Hirsch Bros. & Co. v. R. E. Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1.

6 C.J. p 631 note 72.

41. McDowell v. Gregory, 14 N.W. 899, 14 Neb. 33.

to stay the proceeding and arrest its further prosecution.[42]

§ 65. What Constitutes Retainer

a. In general
b. Payment of fees
c. Subject matter of employment

a. In General

In general, the relation of attorney and client is a matter of contract, and general rules as to the making of a contract govern in determining whether or not the relation has been created.

Generally speaking, the relation of attorney and client is a matter of contract,[43] but such contract has certain special and unique features.[44] The relation is created by the employment by a client, capable of entering into contractual relations, of an attorney possessing authority to practice his profession,[45] and, where the necessary elements of a contract exist, the creation of the relation is not prevented merely by the fact that a blood relationship exists between the attorney and client.[46] Such relation cannot be created by the attorney alone[47] or by the attorney and a third person who has no authority to act.[48]

A valid offer and acceptance will constitute the relation of attorney and client.[49] Thus, the contract of employment, in general, consists of an offer or request by the client and an acceptance or assent by the attorney,[50] or of an offer by the attorney and acceptance of the offer by the client.[51]

Formality is not an essential element of the employment of an attorney.[52] The contract may be express[53] or implied,[54] and it is sufficient that the advice and assistance of the attorney is sought and received, in matters pertinent to his profession.[55] An acceptance of the relation is implied on the part of the attorney from his acting in be-

42. Rosenthal v. Forman, 115 N.Y.S. 282—Hudson River West Shore R Co. v. Kay, (N.Y.) 14 Abb.Pr (N. S.) 191.

43. Cal.—Wheatland v. Hart, 294 P. 501, 110 Cal.App. 762—Wheatland v. Baker, 294 P. 501, 110 Cal.App. 761—Wheatland v Maloney, 294 P. 499, 110 Cal.App. 288.
Iowa.—Healy v Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.
Mo.—Ex parte Schneider, (App.) 294 S.W. 736.
N.Y.—Kellogg v. Kellogg, 166 N.Y. S. 417, affirmed 171 N.Y.S. 39, 183 App.Div. 236.
Tex.—Houston Land & Trust Co. v. Sheldon, (Civ.App.) 69 S.W.(2d) 796, error dismissed.
Va.—Dunlop v McGehee's Ex'r, 124 S.E. 199, 139 Va. 643.

Substitution of name of attorney for that of another attorney on printed form of such other

A contract for which a printed form of one attorney was used was not a contract with such attorney but was a contract with another attorney, where the name of the first-mentioned attorney was eliminated in the preparation of the contract and the name of such other attorney was substituted in writing, notwithstanding the attorney whose name was eliminated was interested in the contract and performed part of the services in connection with the matter involved.—Berkos v. Ætna Life Ins. Co., 279 Ill.App. 243.

Circumstances sufficient to show employment or existence of relationship.—Magee v. Brenneman, 206 P. 37, 188 Cal. 562—In re Tyler, 12 P. 289, 13 P. 169, 71 Cal. 358—Pilant v. Davis, 2 Ky.Op. 40—Kennedy v Morris, 1 Ky.Op. 421—6 C.J. p 630 note 60 [c].

Circumstances insufficient to show employment or relation.—Bailey, Oot & Ryan v. Butcher, Tanner & Foster, 148 N.E. 587, 240 N.Y. 328, reversing 205 N.Y.S. 910, 210 App.Div. 812—Ewing v. Haas, 111 S.E. 255, 132 Va. 215—6 C.J. p 630 note 60 [d].

44. Martin v Camp, 114 N.E. 46, 219 N.Y. 170—Kellogg v. Kellogg, 166 N.Y.S. 417, affirmed 171 N.Y.S. 39, 183 App.Div. 236.

45. Ex parte Schneider, (Mo.App.) 294 S.W. 736.

46. Ex parte Schneider, supra.

47. Scharlan v. Lombard State Bank, 278 Ill.App. 504.

48. Scharlan v. Lombard State Bank, supra.

49. State of Ohio, ex rel. Shroder & Darby, v. Shay, 3 Ohio N.P.(N. S.) 657.

50. Hirsch Bros. & Co v. R. E. Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 68 A.L.R. 1—6 C.J. p 630 note 60.

51. Everett, Clarke & Benedict v. Alpha Portland Cement Co., (N.Y.) 225 F. 931, 141 C.C.A. 55

52. U.S.—Rodgers v Bromberg, (C.C.A.Tex.) 53 F.(2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 314, 285 U.S. 542, 76 L.Ed. 934.
Iowa.—Anderson v. Lundt, 206 N.W. 657, 200 Iowa 1265—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.

53. Dunlop v McGhees, Ex'r, 124 S.E. 199, 139 Va. 643.

Exact amount of compensation not stated

That the exact amount of compensation to be paid an attorney for services was not stated did not prevent the contract from being express, client's obligation being to pay a reasonable fee.—Moore v Stanfill, 31 S.W.(2d) 610, 235 Ky. 372.

54. Iowa.—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111
Va.—Dunlop v. McGhee's Ex'r, 124 S.E. 199, 139 Va. 643
W.Va.—Keenan v Scott, 61 S.E. 806, 64 W.Va. 137.

Implied from conduct

The contract may be implied from the conduct of the parties.—Healy v Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111

Attorney not formally attorney of record

Where an attorney who was not plaintiffs' attorney of record joined in a stipulation on behalf of plaintiffs, tried the case for plaintiffs in the presence of and without objection from them, appeared for plaintiffs in opposition to a motion for a new trial without objection, acted for plaintiffs in every subsequent step taken in their behalf, and had been specifically described by plaintiffs in writing as their attorney, the court and defendants were entitled to assume that such attorney was attorney for plaintiffs and authorized to act in their behalf at the hearing on the motion for a new trial.—Anderson v City Ry. Co., 48 P.(2d) 969, 9 Cal.App.(2d) 205.

55. Anderson v. Lundt, 206 N.W. 657, 200 Iowa 1265.

Relation held to exist

The relation of attorney and client existed between the assignee and maker of a note executed on the former's advice when consulted by the latter, whom he represented as an attorney in several cases, concerning the payee's account, even though the assignee was also in the business of discounting notes, and there was no litigation concerning the account nor any dispute as to the amount or justness thereof.—Addison v. Cope, 243 S.W. 212, 210 Mo.App. 569.

half of his client in pursuance of a request by the latter.[56]

While it has been said that the relation of attorney or client must be created by contract or by law,[57] in general there must be a contract, express or implied.[58] The mere fact that one has acted as attorney for another does not, alone and of itself, create the relation,[59] although it may afford a presumption of its creation or existence, as shown infra § 73.

Correspondence between attorneys for different clients which is evidently conducted solely for the purpose of cooperation between such attorneys, who have a common interest in certain litigation, does not constitute the employment of one of such attorneys by the other.[60]

Where one who is retained as an attorney, or who undertakes to perform an act which requires an attorney, himself engages an attorney to perform the act, the latter is but a subagent, and the relation of attorney and client does not subsist between him and the original employer.[61]

A retainer of one member of a firm of attorneys is a retainer of the firm, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary.[62] Any member may attend to the business intrusted to a firm of attorneys, for the act of each is the act of all, and such a general contract does not give the client the right to demand that any particular member of the firm shall render the services or conduct the litigation.[63] A party may, however, personally contract with one member of the firm for his legal services, and where such contract is proved it will be sustained.[64]

b. Payment of Fees

The payment of fees is not a necessary element of the relation of attorney and client.

The relation of attorney and client is not dependent on the payment of fees.[65] The relation may exist even though a third person pays or is to pay for the attorney's services,[66] or even though such services are rendered by the attorney gratuitously.[67]

c. Subject Matter of Employment

In order to render the relation that of attorney and client, the matter involved must be of a legal nature.

In general, in order to constitute the relation a professional one and not merely one of principal and agent, the attorney must be employed either to give advice on a legal question, to prosecute or defend an action in a court of justice, or to prepare and draft, in legal form, such papers as deeds, wills, contracts, and the like.[68]

The question as to what services are contemplated by the contract of employment depends on the terms of the contract duly construed.[69] A contract for employment with respect to matters other than for which the attorney was expressly employed may be implied from the circumstances.[70]

56. Hirsch Bros & Co. v. R. E Kennington Co., 124 So 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R 1

57. Hirsch Bros & Co. v. R. E. Kennington Co., supra.

58. Ewing v Haas, 111 S E. 255, 132 Va 215—6 C J. p 631 note 62

59. Hirsch Bros & Co. v. R E. Kennington Co., 124 So 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A L.R. 1—6 C J. p 631 note 62

60. Bailey, Oot & Ryan v. Butcher, Tanner & Foster, 148 N E. 537, 240 N Y. 323, reversing Bailey v Butcher, 205 N Y S 910, 210 App. Div 812.

61. Ackley v Prime, 278 P 932, 99 Cal.App. 534—6 C.J. p 631 note 66

62. Cal.—Williams v. More, 63 Cal 50.
Okl.—Kleinschmidt v. White, 15 P. (2d) 127, 159 Okl 234
W Va —Garden v. Riley, 133 S E. 46.
6 C J. p 629 note 31.

63. La —Simon v. Brashear, 9 Rob. 59, 41 Am.D. 321.
Miss.—Clifton v. Clark, 36 So. 251, 83 Miss 446, 102 Am S R 458, 66 L R A 821, 1 Ann Cas 396
Wash —Dennis v Seattle First Nat Bank, 73 P. 1125, 33 Wash. 161.
W Va —Tomlinson v. Polsley, 5 S.E. 457, 31 W.Va 108

64. Ostrander v Capitol Inv., etc., Assoc, 89 N W 964, 130 Mich. 312

65. Iowa —Healy v Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.
Mo —Ex parte Schneider, (App) 294 S W. 736
Okl —Pyeatt v Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl. 160, 4 A L R 1570
Tex —Anderson v. State, 266 S.W. 159, 98 Tex Cr. 449.
6 C J. p 631, note 67, 68

66. U S —Everett, Clarke & Benedict v Alpha Portland Cement Co., (N. Y) 225 F 931, 141 C C.A. 55.
Cal —Wittenbrock v. Parker, 36 P. 374, 102 Cal 93, 41 Am S R. 172, 24 L R A 197
N Y —Arnold v. Robertson, 3 Daly 298.
W Va —Keenan v. Scott, 61 S E 806, 64 W Va 137, 142.

Purchaser intrusting examination of title to attorney for loan company

Where the purchaser of land from purchasers at a guardian's sale intrusted the examination and approval of the title to an attorney for the loan company, who examined the title for the purpose of making a loan to the purchaser and who performed such services for the purchaser without additional charge, the relation of attorney and client existed between such attorney and the purchaser —Pyeatt v. Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl 160, 4 A L R 1570.

67. Packard v. Delfel, 38 P. 208, 9 Wash 562.

68. Hirsch Bros & Co. v R E. Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A L R 1—6 C J. p 631 notes 69, 70

69. Macpherson v Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S W 744, 180 Ky 773

Defense of suits then pending or thereafter instituted

A contract between a county and attorneys, whereby the attorneys were employed to defend the county in certain enumerated suits on county bonds and any other suits that might be brought against the county on account of bonds issued, was sufficiently broad to embrace any suit on bonds, whether then pending or thereafter to be instituted —Macpherson v Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky 773.

70. Healy v. Gray, 168 N W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.

B. GENERAL INCIDENTS OF RELATION

§ 66. In General

There is authority for the view that the relation of attorney and client is that of servant and master in a limited sense. An attorney is not a party to an action in which he has been retained.

As explained above in section 65, the relation of attorney and client is a matter of contract. The relation is one of agency (infra § 67), is fiduciary, and one of special trust and confidence (infra § 125 et seq.). There is also authority for the view that the relation is that of master and servant in a limited and dignified sense.[71]

An attorney in a law court or a solicitor in chancery is not a party to the action or suit in which he has been retained.[72] An attorney representing one of the litigants is not a party to the suit, nor does he have any title or interest therein, so as to permit the rights of the client to be adjudicated by proceedings against the attorney in the latter's name.[73]

An attorney of record may not deny that the relation of attorney and client exists between himself and one for whom he appears and conducts litigation.[74]

§ 67. Rules of Agency Applied

The relation of attorney and client is one of agency, and the general rules of law that apply to agencies apply.

The relation of attorney and client is one of agency,[75] that is, the attorney is the agent of the client,[76] and, while the view has been expressed that the authority of an attorney to act for his principal is different from that of a general agent, and, in many respects, more extensive[77] and exactive,[78] usually the general rules of law which apply to agencies apply to the relation of attorney and client.[79] Thus, the client is bound, according to the ordinary rules of agency, by the acts of the attorney within the scope of the latter's authority.[80]

71. Fla.—In re Clifton, 155 So 324, 115 Fla 168
N.Y.—In re Co-operative Law Co., 92 N E 15, 198 N Y. 479.
N.C—Chatham Lumber Co. v. Parsons, Lumber Co, 90 S E. 241, 172 N C. 320.

72. Mass.—Conley v. Fenelon, 165 N E 382, 266 Mass 340.
N J.—Kaufman v. Jurczak, 139 A. 716, 102 N J Eq 66.

73. G. A. Wiegand & Co v Villemeur, 136 So 105, 17 La App. 457

74. In re Newman, 153 N.Y S. 375, 172 App.Div. 173.

75. Iowa—Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 199 N W 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A. L R 814
Mo.—Henderson v Cape Trading Co, 289 S W 332, 316 Mo 384.
Mont—Caterpillar Tractor Co v. Johnson, 43 P (2d) 670, 99 Mont. 269
Or—Lehman v. Knott, 187 P 1109, 100 Or 240
Tex.—Reynolds v. Volunteer State Life Ins Co., (Civ App) 80 S.W. (2d) 1037, error refused.
6 C J p 637 note 50.

76. Ala.—Nyhoff v. Palmer, 116 So. 520, 217 Ala. 432.
Cal—atkinson v. Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal.App. 149.
Ky—Douthitt v Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 31 S W.(2d) 377, 235 Ky. 328—Lisanby v. Illinois Cent R Co, 272 S W. 753, 209 Ky. 325.
Mont—Hansen v. Johnson, 4 P.(2d) 1033, 90 Mont 597—Bury v. Bury, 223 P. 502, 69 Mont 570.
R I—McLyman v Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R I. 374.
6 C J p 637 note 50.

Agent or representative

An attorney in a law court or a solicitor in chancery is the mere agent or representative of a party.—Kaufman v Jurczak, 139 A. 716, 102 N J Eq 66.

Agent to manage case

An attorney is an agent employed by a party to a case to manage it for him—McLyman v. Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R.I. 374.

Preparation and trial of case

In the preparation and trial of a lawsuit, the attorney acts as agent of his client—Lisanby v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 272 S W. 753, 209 Ky 325.

Attorney of prospective purchaser

Attorney employed by prospective purchaser of land to examine and pass on title, cause survey and map to be made, work out other details of transaction for absent client, and prepare or approve deeds and other documents to close transaction, becomes agent as well as attorney for client—Nyhoff v. Palmer, 116 So. 520, 217 Ala 432.

Capacity of lawyer to become another's agent for purposes other than the practice of his profession see Agency § 14.

77. W. P. Hamblin, Inc., v. Newark Fire Ins. Co, 139 A. 212, 48 R.I. 473.

78. Herfurth v. Horine, 93 S.W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19.

Essentials stated

To constitute the relation a professional one and not merely one of principal and agent, the attorney must be employed either to give advice on a legal point, to prosecute or defend an action in a court of justice, or to prepare and draft, in legal form, such papers as deeds, wills, contracts, and the like—Spier v. Thomas, (Neb) 269 N W 61.

Special agent

An attorney at law is a special agent limited in duty and authority to the vigilant prosecution or defense of the rights of his client.—State v. Goldstein, 220 P. 565, 109 Or. 497.

79. Ark.—White & Black Rivers Bridge Co. v. Vaughan, 36 S W (2d) 672, 183 Ark. 450
Mich—Detroit v. Whittemore, 27 Mich 281.
Mo—Henderson v Cape Trading Co, 289 S W. 332, 316 Mo. 384.
Mont—Caterpillar Tractor Co v. Johnson, 43 P (2d) 670, 99 Mont 269—Bury v. Bury, 223 P. 502, 69 Mont. 570
6 C J. p 637 note 50.

80. Fla.—Griffith v. Investment Co., 110 So. 271, 92 Fla. 781.
Iowa—State v Dangelo, 166 N.W. 587, 182 Iowa 1253
Ky—Dewberry v. Commonwealth, 44 S W (2d) 1076, 241 Ky. 726—Trevillian v. Boswell, 43 S.W.(2d) 715, 241 Ky. 237—Sayre v. Commonwealth, 233 S.W. 737, 194 Ky 338, 24 A L R 1017—Hughes v. Commonwealth, 80 S.W. 197, 25 Ky.L. 2153.

In general, whatever is done in the progess of the cause by such attorney is considered as done by the party, and is binding on him,[81] even, in respect of certain matters, where the attorney is employed only to conduct the trial.[82]

The attorney's authority does not necessarily commence with the institution of a suit; where he is employed in anticipation of a suit, he has as much power to bind his client before the suit is begun as he has afterward.[83]

In general, the omissions, as well as commissions, of an attorney are to be regarded as the acts of the client whom he represents, and his neglect is equivalent to the neglect of the client himself.[84]

Mass.—Stevens v Thissell, 134 N.E 398, 240 Mass 541.
Mont—Bury v. Bury, 223 P. 502, 69 Mont 570.
N Y—Daley v. Dennis, 242 N Y S 408, 133 Misc. 1.
N.D—State v Keller, 223 N W. 698, 57 N D 645, 64 A L R 434
R I—McLyman v. Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R I. 374.
6 C J p 637 note 50.

Client's lack of knowledge of attorney's act does not prevent the application of the rule—Daley v. Dennis, 242 N.Y S 408, 137 Misc. 1.

Representations

(1) The representations of counsel retained by a corporation and its treasurer, and through whose efforts a mortgage claimed to have been obtained by duress was procured, were binding on the company and the treasurer—Stevens v. Thissell, 134 N E. 398, 240 Mass. 541.

(2) Action of a judgment debtor's attorney in informing those present at an execution sale that the sale was illegal because the debtor had no title to the property was binding on the debtor, notwithstanding the attorney's testimony that he had no direct authority from the debtor to make the statement, where he apparently acted in her interest—Taylor v. Bailey, 185 A. 699, 323 Pa 278.

Solution of difficulties

Where sisters left the solution of their difficulties with creditors to solicitor, the solicitor's solution of the problem was their solution, without reference to whether it was provident or wise, provided he acted with an adequate degree of competency in the exercise of his best judgment and with the highest degree of fidelity to his clients' interests—Busey v. Perkins, 176 A. 474, 168 Md 12.

81. Ariz.—Avery v. Calumet & Jerome Copper Co., 284 P. 159, 36 Ariz 239.
Fla—Small v. Colonial Inv Co., 109 So. 433, 92 Fla. 503.
Kan—Overlander v. Overlander, 284 P 614, 129 Kan 709.
Ky—Lusanby v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 272 S W 753, 209 Ky. 325
Neb.—Georgen v. Department of Public Works of Nebraska, 243 N. W. 886, 128 Neb 648.
6 C J. p 638 note 51.

Service of writ

Plaintiff is bound by directions as to the service of the writ given by plaintiff's attorney to the officer to whom the writ is delivered for service—Morgan v. Joyce, 27 A. 225, 66 N.H. 538

Approval of decree and acceptance of benefits

Approval of a decree and acceptance of benefits under such decree by counsel for both defendants estopped defendant on whom a summons had not been served from attacking the decree, in the absence of any claim of fraudulent conduct on the part of the attorney who had assumed to act for such defendant—Burk v. Amos, 247 N.W. 197, 262 Mich 332.

82. Devlin v New York, 15 Abb Pr N.S (N Y) 31—6 C J p 638 note 52

83. State v Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—6 C J. p 638 note 53.

84. Ariz—Avery v. Calumet & Jerome Copper Co, 284 P 159, 36 Ariz 239—Irvin v. Dwight B. Heard Inv Co, 281 P. 213, 35 Ariz. 528
Ark.—Merchants' & Planters' Bank & Trust Co v Ussery, 38 S.W.(2d) 1087, 183 Ark. 838—Blackstad Mercantile Co v. Bond, 148 S.W. 262, 104 Ark 45.
Fla—Abney v Hurner, 121 So. 883, 97 Fla 240, denying rehearing 120 So. 825, 97 Fla 240—Griffith v. Investment Co, 110 So 271, 92 Fla. 781—Small v. Colonial Inv. Co., 109 So 433, 92 Fla. 503.
Ill.—Hillenbrand v Hillenbrand, 211 Ill App 624.
Iowa.—State v. Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840
Ky—Douthitt v Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 31 S.W.(2d) 277, 235 Ky 328—Davidson v. Richardson, 245 S W 1, 196 Ky 553—Sayre v Commonwealth, 238 S W. 737, 194 Ky. 338, 24 A L R 1017
Me—Leviston v. Standard Historical Soc, 173 A. 810, 133 Me. 77—Harmon v Fagan, 154 A 267, 130 Me. 171—Ellis v Emerson, 147 A. 761, 128 Me 378—Beale v. Swasey, 75 A 134, 106 Me. 35, 20 Ann.Cas. 396.
Mass.—Linehan v. Linehan, 111 N E 901, 223 Mass. 297.
Mo—Welch v Mastin, 71 S W. 1090, 98 Mo App. 273
Okl.—Vincent v. Kelly, 249 P. 942, 121 Okl 302—Wagner v. Lucas, 193 P. 421, 79 Okl. 231.
S D—Bran v Bruner, 244 N W. 537, 60 S.D. 397—Smith v. Wordeman, 240 N W. 325, 59 S D 368—Sayer v. Lee, 166 N W. 635, 40 S D 170.
Tex—Reynolds v. Volunteer State Life Ins. Co, (Civ App) 80 S W (2d) 1087, error refused
Vt.—Barrows v Wilson, 121 A. 440, 97 Vt 26—Babcock v. Brown, 25 Vt. 550, 60 Am Dec. 290.
Va.—Carpenter v Ingram, 146 S E 193, 152 Va 27.
Wyo—McDaniel v. Hoblit, 245 P. 295, 34 Wyo. 509
6 C J p 638 note 54, p 672 note 51.

Delay in segregating tax liens

Where a real estate transaction was held up due to the delay of an attorney in segregating tax liens, such delay is imputable to the attorney's principal—Beckett v. Kornegay, 143 S E 296, 150 Va. 636.

Failure to reveal facts on application for title insurance

The failure of the attorney for an applicant for a policy of title insurance to reveal to the title company certain facts known to the attorney which rendered the title defective, as well as the personal failure of the applicant to reveal such facts, relieved the company from liability in respect of such defects, under a condition of the policy—Vernon v. Title Guarantee & Trust Co, (Cal App) 46 P.(2d) 191.

Negligence of attorney

(1) It is the clear weight of authority that the negligence of an attorney is imputable to his client, and that the client cannot be relieved from a judgment taken against him because of the neglect of his attorney unless he shows that the neglect of the attorney was excusable or, in the alternative, assumes the burden of clear affirmative proof that he himself (the client) was in no manner negligent—Armstrong v. Hartford Fire Ins. Co., 195 P. 301, 33 Idaho 303—Smith v. Wordeman, 240 N W. 325, 59 S D 368—Kelly v. Hidam, 231 P. 678, 32 Wyo 271.

(2) When a party employs an attorney at law to defend his suit in the courts of the country, he presents him to the court as his accredited agent, and, as such, he must be concluded by any acts or omissions where no fraud or unfairness is made to appear—Merchants & Planters Bank & Trust Co v Ussery, 38 S.W. (2d) 1087, 183 Ark 838.

Negligence, mistake, or misconduct of counsel as ground for vacating judgment see Judgments § 280 [34

There is authority for the view, however, that this rule does not apply where the attorney acts in bad faith or intentionally neglects his client's business;[85] it has been held that the rule is subject to the peculiar circumstances of each case.[86] Furthermore, the matter in respect of which an attorney fails to act must be one which is within the scope of the attorney's employment in order that the failure to act may be imputed to the client.[87]

The general rule that a client is bound by the acts of his attorney does not hold good when the acts of the attorney were done in pursuance of a fraudulent confederation of the attorney with the party who seeks to maintain such acts of the attorney.[88]

Unauthorised acts. A client is not bound by an act of his attorney, where such act is entirely unauthorized and outside the scope and course of his employment.[89] Of course, a person is not bound by the acts of an attorney whom such person has not employed and has not authorized to act for him.[90]

§ 68. Liability of Client for Attorney's Acts

In general, a client is liable for an injury to a third person resulting from an act of the attorney which is within the scope of the attorney's authority.

A client is liable to a third person injured by an act of the attorney done in the execution of matters within his authority.[91] When the attorney conducts the case in such a way as to be liable himself in an action for trespass, his client is also liable.[92] The client is not liable, however, for acts of the attorney which are outside the scope of the attorney's authority.[93] Thus, a client is not responsible for any illegal action taken or directed by his attorney which the client did not advise, consent to, or participate in, and which was not justified by any authority that he had given.[94]

Fraudulent or dishonest acts of attorney. The

C.J. p 307 note 80–p 312 note 10, p 313 notes 13–21].

85. Sayer v. Lee, 166 N.W. 635, 40 S.D. 170.

86. City of Auburndale v. State, 137 So. 286, 103 Fla. 393.

Granting relief after attorney's negligence

Where, because of the negligence of his attorney, a client has been deprived of an opportunity to be heard on the merits, and makes prompt application for redress, it would not be an abuse of discretion for the trial judge to grant the relief if it could be done without prejudice to the rights of the other party.—McDaniel v. Hoblit, 245 P. 295, 34 Wyo. 509.

Where defendant is public corporation

Where defendant is a public corporation, the general rule that counsel's negligence in the matter of filing a pleading is equivalent to the neglect of the client does not apply with equal force.—City of Auburndale v. State, 137 So. 286, 103 Fla. 393.

87. Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Clark, (Tex.Civ.App.) 23 S.W.(2d) 405.

Failure to give notice and file claim under Workmen's Compensation Act

Where the wife of an injured employee employed attorneys to bring an action for damages for injuries to such employee on the theory that the employer did not carry compensation insurance, the failure of such attorneys to give notice and file a claim under the Workmen's Compensation Act was not imputable to the employee, especially in view of the fact that the employee had been incapacitated and, therefore, relieved of the duty to give notice and file a claim.—Texas Employers' Ins. Ass'n v. Clark, (Tex.Civ.App.) 23 S.W.(2d) 405.

88. Roller v. McGraw, 60 S.E. 410, 63 W.Va. 462.

89. U.S.—Horseshoe Mining Co. v. Miners' Ore Sampling Co., (Colo.) 147 F. 517, 77 C.C.A. 213.
Ark.—Foster v. Pitts, 38 S.W. 1114, 63 Ark. 337.
Or.—Kelsay v. Taylor, 107 P. 609, 56 Or. 13.

Fraud of attorney

A client was not bound by the act of its attorney in assisting in perpetrating a fraud on a third person, because in so acting the attorney was acting outside the scope of his employment.—J. M. Robinson & Co. v. Bank of Pikeville, 142 S.W. 1065, 146 Ky. 538.

90. Brewer v. New England Mortg. Sec. Co., 87 S.E. 657, 144 Ga. 548.

91. N.Y.—Penna. v. Atlantic Macaroni, Co., 161 N.Y.S. 191, 174 App. Div. 436.
Pa.—Steehler v. Volk, 167 A. 424, 109 Pa.Super. 190.
6 C.J. p 671 note 42
See Treece v. Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co., 197 Ill.App. 40.

Wrongful entry of judgment

Where the attorney for plaintiff, on payment of the amount due, promised defendant that no judgment would be entered against him, but nevertheless took judgment, his client would be liable for any damages occasioned thereby.—Penna. v. Atlantic Macaroni Co., 161 N.Y.S. 191, 174 App. Div. 436.

Liability of client:
For defamatory communication made by his attorney see Libel and Slander § 150 [37 C.J. p 14 notes 4–7].
For illegal arrest caused by the attorney see False Imprisonment § 40 [6 C.J. p 672 notes 49, 50, 25 C.J. p 511 note 94–p 512 note 2].
For malicious prosecution for malicious acts of his counsel see Malicious Prosecution § 66 [38 C.J. p 456 note 41]
For wrongful execution directed by his attorney see Executions § 456 [23 C.J. p 974 notes 65–68]
For wrongful seizure of property of third person in attachment proceeding under direction of his attorney see Attachment § 396
Liability of attorney to client for negligent acts see infra §§ 140–146

92. N.Y.—Poucher v. Blanchard, 86 N.Y. 256
Pa.—Gillingham v. Clark, 1 Phila. 51.
6 C.J. p 671 note 45
Joint liability of attorney and client for trespass committed by an attorney as agent of his client see supra § 52.

93. B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. v. Holland, 131 So. 882, 159 Miss. 346.
See Treece v. Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co., 197 Ill.App. 40.

94. Ill.—Golden v. Cervenka, 216 Ill. App. 397
N.Y.—Rossi v. City of Schenectady, 233 N.Y.S. 512, 133 Misc. 792.
6 C.J. p 671 note 46.

client may be chargeable with a fraud perpetrated by his attorney,[95] and, since an attorney who has obtained judgment for his client continues to be his agent in the collection of the money, fraud in the management of the business affects the client as if it were his own act.[96] The rule is otherwise, however, as to a fraud practiced outside the scope of the attorney's employment,[97] and in a case in which it was held that the client was not liable for a loss sustained by third persons through the theft of property by the attorney, the view was expressed that a client has the right to assume that his business will be transacted honestly and efficiently by the attorney.[98]

Damages. A client is liable for actual damages only, unless, with full knowledge, he ratifies the attorney's act.[99]

§ 69. Notice to Attorney

a. In general
b. Knowledge or notice affecting real property
c. Knowledge or notice affecting personal property
d. Matters involved in legal or administrative proceedings

a. In General

Subject to certain limitations and qualifications notice to, or knowledge of, an attorney is notice to, or knowledge of, his client.

In view of the rule that an attorney is an agent of his client and that general rules as to agencies apply to the relation of attorney and client (supra § 67), and in accordance with the general rule stated in § 262 of the title Agency, and subject to qualifications and limitations stated below, notice to an attorney is notice to the client who employs him,[1] and knowledge of an attorney is knowledge of, or is imputed to, his client.[2] This is true whether the notice of the attorney is actual or

95. Ky—Commonwealth v Smith, 46 S W (2d) 474, 213 Ky 365
N J—Clawans v Ordway Building & Loan Ass'n, 164 A. 267, 112 N J. Eq 280

Fraud in negotiating loan and giving mortgage

Imprudence of a mortgagee in employing an attorney who, according to the mortgagee's information, was the equitable owner, could be considered in determining whether fraud perpetrated by the attorney should be visited on the mortgagee or on the actual equitable owner who later became the record owner of the property involved—Clawans v Ordway Building & Loan Ass'n, 164 A. 267, 112 N J Eq 280.

96. McDonald v Todd, 1 Grant (Pa.) 17.

97. Fidelity Trust Co v. Baker, 47 A 6, 60 N J Eq 170

98. In re Smith's Estate, 266 N Y S 666, 148 Misc 585, affirmed 282 N Y S 845, 246 App Div 563

99. Foster v Pitts, 38 S W 1114, 63 Ark. 337

1. U S—U S v. Gower, (C C A Okl) 71 F (2d) 366—The Tompkins, (C C A N Y) 13 F (2d) 552—In re Locust Bldg Co, (C.C A N Y) 299 F 756, certiorari denied Keighley v American Trust Co, 44 S Ct 635, 265 U S 590, 68 L Ed 1195
Ala—John Silvey & Co. v. Cook, 68 So 37, 191 Ala 228
Cal—Watson v Sutro, 24 P 172, 25 P 64, 86 Cal 500—Gaver v Early, 209 P 390, 58 Cal App 725—Fletcher v Allen, 197 P 952, 51 Cal App 774—Atkinson v Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal App 149
Ga.—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v. Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S E 219, 160 Ga 109—Fluellen v. Campbell Coal Co, (App) 188 S E 54
Ill—Hollan v Kepner, 130 N E 699, 297 Ill 332.
Iowa—Perpetual Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Van Atten, 233 N W 746, 211 Iowa 435—Stevens v. People's Sav Bank, 171 N W 130, 185 Iowa 619.
Ky—Barnes v Commonwealth, 201 S W 318, 179 Ky. 725
Mass—Goldston v Randolph, 199 N. E 896.
Mich—Security Trust Co v. Tuller, 220 N W. 795, 243 Mich. 570
Mont—Caterpillar Tractor Co v. Johnson, 43 P (2d) 670, 99 Mont 269—Hansen v Johnson, 4 P.(2d) 1088, 90 Mont. 597—Davenport v. Davenport, 222 P. 422, 69 Mont. 405
N Y.—Howell v Mills, 53 N.Y. 322—Polhamus v Hines, 218 N Y.S. 401, 128 Misc. 299—U S v. Sumner, 217 N Y S 645, 127 Misc 907
Ohio—American Export & Inland Coal Corporation v Matthew Addy Co, 147 N E 89, 112 Ohio St. 186.
Okl—Pyeatt v Estus, 179 P 42, 72 Okl 160, 4 A L R 1570—Lambert v Smith, 157 P. 909, 53 Okl. 606, 18 A L R. L
Tex—Dixon v U S Fidelity & Guaranty Co, (Civ App.) 293 S.W. 291.
6 C J. p 638 note 58

2. U S.—Weicker v. Bromfield, (C.C A Colo) 34 F (2d) 277.
Ala—John Silvey & Co. v. Cook, 68 So 37, 191 Ala 228.
Cal—Rogart v. George K. Porter Co, 223 P. 959, 193 Cal. 197, 31 A L R. 1045—Rauer v. Hertwick, 165 P 946, 175 Cal 278—Otis v. Zeiss, 165 P. 524, 175 Cal 192—Laukkare v. Abramson, 50 P (2d) 478, 9 Cal. App (2d) 447.
Colo—Herrick v Woodrow-Shindler Co, 226 P 137, 75 Colo 362.
Del—Chadwick v. Parkhill Corporation, 141 A. 823, 16 Del Ch 105.
Ga—Bean v Barron, 168 S E. 259, 176 Ga 285—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S E 219, 160 Ga. 109.
Ill—Hodes v. Foster, 155 N E 762, 324 Ill 615—Cessna v Hulce, 153 N E. 679, 322 Ill 589—Hollan v. Kepner, 130 N E 699, 297 Ill 332.
Ind—Campion v State, 154 N E 802, 199 Ind. 129.
Iowa—Farnsworth v Hazelett, 199 N W 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A L R 814.
Kan—Overlander v Overlander, 284 P 614, 129 Kan 709
Ky—Lusanby v Illinois Cent R Co, 272 S W. 752, 209 Ky. 325—Barnes v Commonwealth, 201 S.W 318, 179 Ky 725
La—Allen v Frank Janes Co., 78 So 115, 142 La 1056
Md—Miller v Mitnick, 161 A. 157, 163 Md 113
Mont—Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. Johnson, 43 P (2d) 670, 99 Mont 269.
Neb—Marshall v. Rowe, 254 N W. 480, 126 Neb. 817—Goergen v Department of Public Works of Nebraska, 243 N W. 886, 123 Neb 643
N.Y—Howell v. Mills, 53 N Y. 322—U. S. v Sumner, 217 N.Y.S 645, 127 Misc. 907
N.C—Bryant Mfg Co v. Hester, 98 S E 721, 177 N.C 609
Okl—Pyeatt v Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl 160, 4 A.L R 1570.
Or—Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.
Tenn—Goodbar v Union & Planters' Bank & Trust Co, 67 S.W.(2d) 562, constructive.[3] The rule applies in a criminal as well as in a civil case.[4]

The fact that the attorney has not actually communicated his knowledge to the client is immaterial,[5] the facts constituting knowledge, or want of it, on the part of an attorney, are proper subjects of proof, and are to be ascertained by testimony as in other cases; but, when ascertained, the constructive notice thereof to the client is conclusive, and cannot be rebutted by showing that the attorney did not in fact impart the information so acquired.[6]

The rule that the client is affected by notice to, or knowledge of, his attorney is sometimes considered from the standpoint of presumptions; thus, the view has been expressed that notice to an attorney in respect of matters as to which he is employed is presumed to be notice to the client,[7] that there is a presumption that the attorney has performed his duty to communicate to his client whatever information the attorney acquires in relation to the subject matter involved in the transaction.[8]

The rule that notice to the attorney is notice to the client applies when an attorney or counsel is acting for another in a particular matter or generally in the affairs of such other,[9] and generally speaking, knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney is the equivalent of knowledge of, or notice to, the client where the knowledge or notice is obtained by, or given to, the attorney while he is acting for, or is engaged in the business of, his client.[10]

There are statements or holdings in many cases which tend to confine to rather narrow limits the application of the rule that notice to, or knowledge of, an attorney is imputed to his client; thus, it has been held or recognized that usually, at least, in order to render the rule applicable, notice or knowledge must be received or obtained by the attorney while he is acting for his client,[11] that 17 Tenn.App 355—Bank of Blount Co. v. Dunn et al., 10 Tenn.App. 95.

Tex.—Fort Worth & D. C. Ry. Co. v. Greathouse, (Civ.App.) 41 S.W. (2d) 413, reversed on other grounds Greathouse v. Fort Worth & Denver City Ry. Co., (Com.App.) 65 S.W.(2d) 762—Dixon v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., (Civ.App.) 293 S.W. 291—Bradford v. Malone, 130 S.W. 1013, 49 Tex.Civ.App. 440

Wash.—In re Waters of Doan Creek in Walla Walla County, 299 P. 383, 162 Wash. 695.

6 C.J. p. 639 note 59.

Knowledge of attorney for creditor of bankrupt concerning preference see Bankruptcy § 215 [7 C.J. p. 154 note 94]

3. Shartzer v. Mountain Lake Park Assoc., 37 A. 786, 86 Md. 335.

4. Barnes v. Commonwealth, 201 S.W. 318, 179 Ky. 725

5. Cal.—Watson v. Sutro, 24 P. 172, 25 P. 64, 86 Cal. 500

Iowa.—Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 199 N.W. 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A.L.R. 814.

6. Cal.—Wittenbrock v. Parker, 36 P. 874, 103 Cal. 93, 41 Am.S.R. 172, 24 L.R.A. 197.

Ky.—Lisanby v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 272 S.W. 753, 209 Ky. 325

7. Smith v. Thomsen, 48 P.(2d) 102, 8 Cal.App.(2d) 603.

8. Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.

Conclusive presumption

(1) It is conclusively presumed that an attorney performed the duty to communicate to his client whatever information the attorney acquired in relation to the subject matter of his employment—U. S. v. Sumner, 217 N.Y.S. 645, 127 Misc. 907.

(2) However, it has been said that the general rule that knowledge of the attorney is chargeable to the client is sometimes spoken of as a conclusive presumption of law, but this is a mere matter of terminology. A conclusive presumption is a substantive rule of law, and when the basic facts are before a court the rule, like any other legal principle, finds application.—Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 199 N.W. 410, 197 Iowa 1367.

9. Atkinson v. Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal.App. 149

10. Ala.—John Silvey, & Co. v. Cook, 68 So. 27, 191 Ala. 228.

Colo.—Bunnell v. Holmes, 171 P. 365, 64 Colo. 345.

Ga.—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v. Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S.E. 219, 160 Ga. 109.

Ill.—Cessna v. Hulce, 153 N.E. 679, 322 Ill. 589

Iowa.—Perpetual Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Van Atten, 233 N.W. 746, 211 Iowa 435—Shoemaker v. Smith, 45 N.W. 744, 80 Iowa 655

Ky.—Combs v. Roberts, 35 S.W.(2d) 293, 237 Ky. 299

Neb.—Marshall v. Rowe, 254 N.W. 480, 136 Neb. 817

N.Y.—U. S. v. Sumner, 217 N.Y.S. 645, 127 Misc. 907.

Okl.—Lambert v. Smith, 157 P. 909, 53 Okl. 606, 18 A.L.R. 1

Pa.—Bell v. Scranton Trust Co., 128 A. 494, 282 Pa. 562

Tex.—Hexter v. Pratt, (Com.App.) 10 S.W.(2d) 692, affirming (Civ.App.) 283 S.W. 653

6 C.J. p. 638 note 58, p. 639 note 59.

Affecting admission of evidence

Relative to the admission in evidence, in an action against a guardian and her attorney for receipts which they retained and omitted from their account, of a passbook which had been in the attorney's possession, showing the receipt by them of a stock dividend from a bank, it is immaterial that the guardian had never known of it, she being charged with notice of whatever her attorney, who was her agent, had notice of, and ought, in good faith and in the exercise of ordinary care and diligence, to have communicated to her.—Gaver v. Early, 209 P. 390, 58 Cal.App. 725.

Application of insurance moneys to redemption of bonds

Holders of bonds issued under a second trust mortgage were charged with knowledge, acquired by their attorneys in a proceeding for the foreclosure of such mortgage, of the trustee's application of the proceeds of money received under an insurance policy for the mortgaged property, which was destroyed by fire, to the redemption of outstanding first mortgage bonds and part of second mortgage bonds.—Bell v. Scranton Trust Co., 128 A. 494, 282 Pa. 562.

11. Iowa.—Perpetual Savings & Loan Ass'n v. Van Atten, 233 N.W. 746, 211 Iowa 435—Andrew v. Rivers, 223 N.W. 102, 207 Iowa 343

N.J.—Centreville Building and Loan Ass'n v. Gollin, 176 A. 356, 117 N.J.Eq. 412.

N.Y.—Vital v. Jandorf, 212 N.Y.S. 548, 126 Misc. 124.

Pa.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

the notice must be in respect of matters as to which the relation of attorney and client exists,[12] and that to charge the client with notice it is necessary that the knowledge of the attorney shall be gained in the course of the particular transaction in which he is employed by his client,[13] and during the existence of the relation.[14] There is also authority for the view that the transaction in which the knowledge of the attorney is obtained must be one within the scope of his employment,[15] and that the knowledge or notice must refer to a matter within the scope of the attorney's employment, authority, or agency.[16] Where the attorney acts contrary to his authority, the knowledge of the attorney of his own act in that regard is not imputed to the client.[17] Furthermore, it has been held or recognized that a client is not affected with notice because of knowledge obtained by his attorney from outside sources, and not in the course of his employment,[18] as, for example, where the knowledge is acquired by the attorney in the performance of professional services for another,[19] and that the client is not affected by knowledge acquired, or notice received, by his attorney before the commencement of the relation[20] and while acting for other persons.[21] In some jurisdictions, including jurisdictions in which the immediately foregoing statements are regarded as expressions of limitations ordinarily applicable, a broader application of the rule as to notice and knowledge has been recognized under certain circumstances; thus, there is authority for the view that a client is affected by, or chargeable with, notice or knowledge of matters of which his attorney acquired knowledge previously to, and independently of, his employment, where such knowledge is in the mind of the attorney while acting pursuant to his employment.[22] So, also, it has been held or recognized that the client is so affected or chargeable in respect of knowledge acquired by the attorney in a prior transaction, where such knowledge is so precise and definite,[23] or was acquired so shortly before the relation between such attorney and client arose,[24] that it is or must be present to the mind and memory of the attorney during a later transaction within the scope of the attorney's employment, even though his knowledge was acquired before the relation of attorney and client arose,[25] or was acquired in the course of employment by a different client.[26] In other words, knowledge acquired

Tex.—Ives v. Culton, (Civ App.) 197 S.W. 619, affirmed (Com App.) 229 S.W. 331.

12. Florence v De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565—6 C.J. p. 640 note 64.

13. Cal.—Otis v. Zeiss, 165 P. 524, 175 Cal. 192.
Ga.—Lang v. Aldred, 179 S.E. 567, 51 Ga. App. 91.
Ky.—Drury v. Franke, 57 S.W.(2d) 969, 247 Ky. 758, 88 A.L.R. 917.
N.J.—Centreville Building & Loan Ass'n v. Gollin, 176 A. 356, 117 N.J. Eq. 412.
6 C.J. p. 639 note 63.

14. Wittenbrock v. Parker, 36 P. 374, 102 Cal. 93, 41 Am.S.R. 172, 24 L.R.A. 197—6 C.J. p. 640 note 65.

15. American Export & Inland Coal Corporation v. Matthew Addy Co., 147 N.E. 89, 112 Ohio St. 186.

16. Ga.—Lang v. Aldred, 179 S.E. 567, 51 Ga. App. 91.
Iowa.—Andrew v. Rivers, 223 N.W. 102, 207 Iowa 342.
Minn.—Larson v. Johnson, 221 N.W. 871, 175 Minn. 502.
N.Y.—Vital v. Jandorf, 212 N.Y.S. 548, 126 Misc. 124.
Wash.—Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565.

Matters within authority of special agent

(1) An attorney, employed for the special purpose of bringing suit, is not bound to disclose to his client knowledge of facts beyond the scope of such employment and known to be within the authority of independent agents.—Foorman v. Meyers, 37 P.(2d) 469, 1 Cal. App. 719.

(2) Notice of unsanitary conditions on leased premises to lessor's attorney by counsel for tenants, who knew that certain real estate agents were lessor's agents in all other matters relating to the leasing of the premises and that the attorney notified was lessor's agent only for the purpose of suing for rent, was not notice to the lessor as to the unsanitary conditions.—Foorman v. Myers, supra.

Knowledge gained in drawing contract

Knowledge obtained by an attorney in drawing a contract was not chargeable to the client where the knowledge was not gained in the exercise of the attorney's employment by such client, had no reference thereto, and was not within the scope of his employment.—Andrew v. Rivers, 223 N.W. 102, 207 Iowa 342.

17. Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 622, 107 Cal.App. 291.

18. Neilson v. Weber, 64 S.W. 20, 107 Tenn. 161.

19. Ill.—Cessna v. Hulce, 152 N.E. 679, 322 Ill. 589.
Ky.—Drury v. Franke, 57 S.W.(2d) 969, 247 Ky. 758, 88 A.L.R. 917.
Minn.—Larson v. Johnson, 221 N.W. 871, 175 Minn. 502.
Mo.—Ford v. French, 72 Mo. 250.
Mont.—Hansen v. Johnson, 4 P.(2d) 1088, 90 Mont. 597.
Pa.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

20. Ala.—Marshall v. Lister, 71 So. 411, 195 Ala. 591.
Ky.—Drury v. Franke, 57 S.W.(2d) 969, 247 Ky. 758, 88 A.L.R. 917.
Mont.—Hansen v. Johnson, 4 P.(2d) 1088, 90 Mont. 597.
Tex.—Ives v. Culton, (Com App.) 229 S.W. 331, affirming (Civ App.) 197 S.W. 619.
6 C.J. p. 640 notes 65, 67.

21. Cal.—Otis v. Zeiss, 165 P. 524, 175 Cal. 192.
Ga.—Lang v. Aldred, 179 S.E. 567, 51 Ga. App. 91.
6 C.J. p. 640 note 63.

22. Ga.—Bean v. Barron, 168 S.E. 259, 176 Ga. 285.
Or.—Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.

23. Deering v. Holcomb, 67 P. 240, 561, 26 Wash. 533—6 C.J. p. 640 note 69.

24. Melms v. Pabst, 64 N.W. 518, 93 Wis. 153, 57 Am.S.R. 899—6 C.J. p. 640 note 69.

25. Bogart v. George K. Porter Co., 223 P. 959, 193 Cal. 197, 31 A.L.R. 1045—6 C.J. p. 640 note 69.

26. Hess v. Conway, 142 P. 253, 93 Kan. 787, rehearing denied 144 P. 205, 93 Kan. 246—6 C.J. p. 640 note 69.

by an attorney prior to the existence of the relation of attorney and client ordinarily will be chargeable to the client where such knowledge was acquired so recently, or under such circumstances, that it will be presumed to have been in the mind of the attorney at the time of the transaction in question.[27] There is authority for the view, however, that the burden is on the person who relies on the existence of such knowledge to show that it was present in the mind of the attorney when he acted for his client,[28] and that clear and satisfactory proof that the knowledge of the former transaction was present in the mind and memory of the attorney when acting for his client is necessary in order to charge the client by constructive notice of the prior information to the attorney.[29]

Since the whole doctrine of imputed notice to a client rests on the ground that the attorney has knowledge of something material to the particular transaction which it is his duty to communicate to his principal,[30] notice will not be imputed to a client where it would be a breach of professional confidence to make the communication.[31] Furthermore, the client is not affected with notice where the circumstances are such as to render it certain or probable that the attorney will not perform his duty to communicate material facts to his client,[32] where his interest in, or relation to, a previous transaction was such as would induce him to withhold the information,[33] or where the attorney engages in a transaction in his own interest under circumstances which will induce him not to communicate his knowledge to his client,[34] as, for example, where the attorney has a personal interest adverse to the interest of his client.[35] So, in general, the client will not be chargeable with the knowledge of the attorney where the latter was acting fraudulently,[36] and will not be charged with notice of a fraud or wrong to which his attorney was a party while employed by another, and which it is quite certain he would conceal.[37]

Knowledge of, and notice to, the attorney for one party to a transaction do not charge the other party with like knowledge and notice where the attorney does not act for such other party.[38] There is authority for the view that, even where an attorney acts for both parties to a transaction, the circumstances surrounding the dual relationship may be such as to prevent his knowledge acquired while acting for one client in the matter involved from affecting the other client.[39] Notice to an attorney who undertakes to act for a party to an action, without authority, is not notice to such party.[40]

In order to render applicable the rule that notice to, or knowledge of, the attorney is chargeable to the client, it must appear that the attorney actually had, or could have had, notice or knowledge of the fact in question.[41]

Where an attorney acts in his own behalf, he is chargeable with knowledge even though he acquired his information while acting in his professional capacity in behalf of a client.[42]

Attorney acting for collection agency. Where an attorney is employed by a firm of collecting agents who have received the claim to be collected from its

27. Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.

28. Mathews v. Damainville, 91 N.Y.S. 524, 100 App.Div. 311, 15 N.Y.Ann.Cas. 436, reversing 89 N.Y.S. 493, 43 Misc. 546.

29. Cal.—Otis v. Zeiss, 165 P. 524, 175 Cal. 192—Wittenbrock v. Parker, 86 P. 374, 102 Cal. 93, 103, 41 Am.S.R. 172, 24 L.R.A. 197.
N.Y.—Slattery v. Schwannecke, 23 N.E. 922, 118 N.Y. 543—Constant v. Rochester University, 19 N.E. 631, 111 N.Y. 604, 7 Am.S.R. 769, 2 L.R.A. 734.

30. U.S.—In re Locust Bldg. Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 299 F. 756, certiorari denied Keighley v. American Trust Co., 44 S.Ct. 635, 265 U.S. 590, 68 L.Ed. 1195.
Wis.—Melms v. Pabst Brewing Co., 66 N.W. 244, 93 Wis. 140

31. U.S.—In re Locust Bldg. Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 299 F. 756, certiorari denied Keighley v. American Trust Co., 44 S.Ct. 635, 265 U.S. 590, 68 L.Ed. 1195.
Iowa.—Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 199 N.E. 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A.L.R. 814.
6 C.J. p. 640 note 73.

32. Pa.—Lovell v. Renwel, 13 Pa.Co. 608.
Tex.—Fordtran v. Cunningham, (Civ.App.) 177 S.W. 212
Wash.—Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565.

33. Scotch Lumber Co. v. Sage, 32 So. 607, 132 Ala. 593, 90 Am.S.R. 932—6 C.J. p. 640 note 74.

34. American Export & Inland Coal Corporation v. Matthew, Addy Co., 147 N.E. 89, 112 Ohio St. 186.

35. Iowa.—Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 194 N.W. 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A.L.R. 814.
Mich.—Valley Jitney Jungle Co. v. Hamady, 249 N.W. 888, 264 Mich. 354

36. Farnsworth v. Hazelett, 199 N.W. 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A.L.R. 814.

37. Tex.—Rogers v. Driscoll, (Civ.App.) 125 S.W. 599.
Wash.—Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565
Wis.—Melms v. Pabst Brewing Co., 66 N.W. 244, 93 Wis. 140

38. Mich.—Minto v. Davie, 215 N.W. 360, 240 Mich. 406
S.C.—Caughman v. Smith, 5 S.E. 362, 28 S.C. 605
Tex.—Schlottmann v. Wiese, (Civ.App.) 86 S.W.(2d) 44.

39. Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

40. Jacobson v. Ashkinaze, 168 N.E. 647, 337 Ill. 141, reversing 249 Ill.App. 479.

41. U.S.—In re Locust Bldg. Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 299 F. 756, certiorari denied Keighley v. American Trust Co., 44 S.Ct. 635, 265 U.S. 590, 68 L.Ed. 1195
Ill.—Haines v. Doss, 259 Ill.App. 179.
Pa.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405

42. Singfield v. Vogler, 192 S.W. 906, 127 Ark. 618—6 C.J. p. 641 note 76.

owners, his knowledge is not that of the owners of the claim but only that of the collecting agency.[43]

Knowledge of attorney as notice to his firm. Knowledge acquired by one member of a law firm is constructive notice to the firm as to such knowledge.[44]

After termination of relation. The presumption of law being that the relation between an attorney and his client ceases with the termination of the litigation for which the attorney was retained (infra § 108), ordinarily, no notice to him after final judgment is binding on his client.[45] The fact that there has been a change of attorneys pending the completion of the matter for which the first attorney was employed does not, however, prevent the imputation to the client of knowledge acquired by such attorney prior to the change of attorneys, where the change was made solely because of the illness of the first attorney.[46]

b. Knowledge or Notice Affecting Real Property

(1) In general

(2) Claims and rights of third persons

(1) In General

A person who has dealings which involve real property, including a purchaser, is usually chargeable with knowledge of, or notice to, his attorney concerning matters affecting title to, or rights or interests in, such property, acquired or obtained in the course of the attorney's employment in connection with such property.

In accordance with general rules and subject to applicable qualifications and limitations (supra § 69 a), a client is affected with notice of matters affecting title to, or interests in, real property, where knowledge of such matters is acquired by his attorney in connection with the client's business respecting such property.[47] Thus, usually a purchaser of real property is chargeable with notice to, or knowledge of, his attorney, in respect of matters affecting title, received or obtained by the attorney while acting for the purchaser in connection with the acquisition of the property.[48] A like rule applies to knowledge of the attorney for the purchaser in respect of the dimensions of the property involved.[49] There is even authority for the view that a purchaser is chargeable with knowledge of matters affecting the title which was acquired by the attorney in a trans-

43. Hoover v Wise, 91 U S 308, 23 L Ed. 392, affirming 61 N.Y. 305—6 C J. p 641 note 78

44. Wittenbrock v Parker, 36 P. 374, 102 Cal 93, 41 Am S R 172, 24 L R. A. 197

45. Ill.—Cummer v. Cummer, 283 Ill App 220
Tex.—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ. App.) 225 S.W. 69.
6 C.J. p 640 note 70.

46. Farnsworth v Hazelett, 199 N W. 410, 197 Iowa 1367, 38 A.L.R. 314.

47. Md.—Miller v. Mitnick, 161 A. 157, 163 Md 113.
Tenn.—Goodbar v. Union & Planters' Bank & Trust Co, 67 S.W.(2d) 562, 17 Tenn App. 355

Examination for title insurance

As affecting the liability of a bank and trust company in respect of the application and investment of the proceeds of the sale of certain real property which came into its possession, such bank and trust company was chargeable with the knowledge of an attorney in its title department, of limitations contained in deeds in the chain of title where such knowledge was acquired by the attorney in the examination of title, made for the purpose of determining whether or not the bank and trust company would issue a title guaranty policy.—Goodbar v Union & Planters' Bank & Trust Co., 67 S W (2d) 562, 17 Tenn App. 355.

Mortgage given under duress

Knowledge of an attorney who procured the execution of a mortgage that the mortgagor acted under duress in giving the mortgage is binding on a corporation for whose benefit the mortgage was taken and also on a purchaser on foreclosure of the mortgage, where the attorney acted in the various transactions as attorney for the corporation and for the purchaser.—Stevens v. Thissell, 134 N E 393, 240 Mass. 541.

Redeemable or irredeemable ground rents

Attorney for the purchaser at a foreclosure sale of certain leasehold lots must be charged with knowledge of what the record disclosed as to whether ground rents were redeemable or irredeemable, which knowledge was attributable to the purchaser.—Miller v. Mitnick, 161 A. 157, 163 Md. 113.

Validity of waiver, release, and disclaimer

Knowledge of the attorney for certain heirs of the fraudulent character of a sale by the administratrix of certain real property was imputed to such heirs in determining the validity of an instrument of waiver, release, and disclaimer, which was executed by such heirs and which was held to apply to a claim under statute for liquidated damages for the fraudulent sale.—Nelson v. Nelson, 20 P (2d) 995, 131 Cal App. 126

48. Ill.—Pearson v. Johnson, 130 N E. 742, 297 Ill. 417
Wash.—Stubbe v. Stangler, 283 P. 916, 157 Wash. 283.

Existence of restrictive covenants

The rule applies to the attorneys knowledge of the existence of restrictive covenants.—Isaacs v Schmuck, 213 N.Y S 563, 218 App Div. 516, answering certified questions 219 N Y.S. 337, 219 App Div. 734, and reversed on other grounds 156 N.E. 621, 245 N.Y. 77, 51 A L R 1454.

Property conveyed through attorney

Where the purchaser's attorney was merely interposed for the purchaser in making the purchase, the purchaser was charged with knowledge of defects in title, in view of the fact that the act of sale to the attorney by an agent for the vendor showed limitations on such agent's authority which were disregarded by him in making the sale.—Aucoin v. Engeron, 115 So. 576, 165 La. 319.

Sole ownership by married woman

(1) The rule applied where the negotiations for the sale of the property were carried on between the purchaser and the husband of the person who, as an examination of the title disclosed, was the sole owner.—Pearson v. Johnson, 130 N E. 742, 297 Ill. 417.

(2) A creditor of the husband, who was to obtain a benefit from the sale, was also chargeable with notice that the wife was the sole owner, where such notice was acquired by the attorney who acted both for the purchaser and for the creditor.—Pearson v Johnson, supra.

49. Donigan v. Policek, (Tex.Civ. App.) 34 S.W.(2d) 375.

action in which the attorney was acting for another client, where such transaction was closely connected with the subsequent purchase.[50]

The assignee of a mortgagee may be charged with knowledge of facts constituting a defense to a suit to foreclose such mortgage where the attorney of the assignee possessed such knowledge.[51]

A purchaser is not chargeable with his attorney's knowledge of matters affecting title and involving a fraudulent misrepresentation by the vendor, where the circumstances are such as to induce the attorney not to communicate his knowledge to the purchaser.[52] A mortgagee is not affected with his attorney's knowledge of the latter's intention to apply money received under the mortgage to a wrongful purpose, where the mortgage is executed by the attorney himself on real property which he has transferred as executor to himself as an individual.[53]

A purchaser may not be charged with the alleged knowledge of an attorney, in order to prevent cancellation or rescission of the contract of purchase on the ground of mistake as to the identity of the property involved, in the absence of any showing that the attorney had knowledge of the preliminary negotiations between the parties or that the property described in the abstract which the attorney examined was property other than that which the purchaser believed that he purchased.[54]

Representative character of attorney. In general, an attorney employed by a prospective purchaser of real property to represent such purchaser in the transaction is such a representative of the purchaser that the latter is affected with notice to, or knowledge of, the attorney,[55] as, for example, knowledge obtained by the attorney in examining or passing on title pursuant to the attorney's employment.[56] Likewise, the attorney for a mortgagee or grantee in a deed given as security is the representative of the mortgagee or grantee in respect of knowledge acquired by the attorney on an examination of title as a preliminary to the execution of the mortgage or deed.[57] There is authority for the view, however, that an attorney employed only to draw the deed does not become a representative of the prospective purchaser to the extent that the latter is bound by the attorney's knowledge of facts not disclosed to the purchaser.[58] Knowledge of, and notice to, the attorney for the vendor do not charge the purchaser with like knowledge and notice where the attorney does not act for the purchaser,[59] and a like rule applies so as to prevent charging a mortgagee or beneficiary of a deed given as security with knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for the mortgagor or grantor, where the attorney does not act for the mortgagee or beneficiary.[60] Similarly, the vendor is not chargeable with knowledge acquired by the at-

Map and dimensions

Knowledge acquired by the attorney for a purchaser in passing on title, concerning a map referred to in the deed and the dimensions of the lots involved, became the knowledge of the purchaser—Donigan v. Pollcek, (Tex Civ.App.) 34 S.W.(2d) 375

50. Vernon v. Title Guarantee & Trust Co, (Cal.App.) 46 P.(2d) 191.

Defects in procedure preceding sale under execution

Where an attorney, acting on behalf of a client, brought an action against an incompetent without having a guardian ad litem appointed, and without having the summons and complaint served on the general guardian of the incompetent, who was appointed after the action was commenced, and the attorney entered a default judgment before the expiration of the time to answer, which was granted by such attorney to the attorney for defendant incompetent, and real property of the incompetent was sold under execution to a person for whom the attorney for plaintiff in the first action was acting at the time of the sale, the attorney's knowledge of the defects affecting title was chargeable to the purchaser, in respect of a concealment of such defects by the attorney when he applied to a title company, on behalf of the purchaser, for a title policy, so that, under the terms of the policy, the title company was relieved from liability in respect of such defects—Vernon v. Title Guarantee & Trust Co., (Cal.App.) 46 P.(2d) 191.

51. Woodrow v. Frederick, 131 S.E. 598, 133 S.C. 431.

Mortgage assigned by mortgagee who was assignee's attorney

The assignee, by constituting the mortgagee and assignor, who was an attorney, and such mortgagee's law firm, the assignee's agent for the collection of the interest, and by accepting the interest from the mortgagee without payment by the mortgagor, was affected by knowledge obtained by the mortgagee and his firm that there was nothing due on the bond and mortgage—Woodrow v. Frederick, 131 S.E. 598, 133 S.C. 431.

52. Fordtran v. Cunningham, (Tex Civ.App.) 177 S.W. 212.

Promise to vendor not to reveal flaw in title

That the purchaser's attorney knew of a flaw in the title, and agreed with the vendor not to reveal it, did not make his act binding on the purchaser.—Fordtran v. Cunningham, (Tex. Civ.App.) 177 S.W. 212.

53. Goodell v. Taylor, (N.J.Ch.) 97 A. 569

54. Nelson v. Pedersen, 137 N.E. 486, 305 Ill. 606

55. Ill.—Hodes v. Foster, 155 N.E. 762, 324 Ill. 615
Mass.—Lincoln v. Sauer, 137 N.E. 642, 243 Mass. 201

56. Ill.—Pearson v. Johnson, 130 N.E. 742, 297 Ill. 417.
Mass.—Ratshesky v. Piscopo, 131 N.E. 449, 239 Mass. 180
Okl.—Pyeatt v. Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl. 160, 4 A.L.R. 1570
Wash.—Stubbs v. Stangler, 233 P. 916, 137 Wash. 233

57. Ga.—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v. Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S.E. 219, 160 Ga. 109.
Ky.—Drinkard v. George, 36 S.W. (2d) 56, 237 Ky. 560
Tex.—Hexter v. Pratt. (Com.App.) 10 S.W.(2d) 693, affirming (Civ. App.) 283 S.W. 653

58. Webb-Crawford Co. v. Boseman, 173 S.E. 144, 178 Ga. 328

59. Minto v. Davis, 215 N.W. 360, 240 Mich. 406.

60. S.C.—Caughman v. Smith, 5 S.E. 362, 28 S.C. 605
Tex.—Scholottmann v. Wiese, (Civ. App.) 36 S.W.(2d) 44
6 C.J. p. 640 note 64 [a] (3).

torney for the purchaser while the attorney was acting on behalf of the purchaser.[61]

(2) Claims and Rights of Third Persons

(a) In general

(b) Person claiming under mortgage

(a) In General

In general, notice to, or knowledge of, an attorney, who acts for the purchaser of real property in connection with the purchase, of outstanding rights or claims of third persons is imputed to the purchaser.

In general, notice to, or knowledge of, an attorney, who acts in connection with the purchase of real property as attorney for the purchaser, of outstanding rights or claims of third persons is equivalent to notice to, or knowledge of, the purchaser.[62] This rule applies in determining whether or not the purchaser is a bona fide purchaser without notice of the outstanding rights or claims,[63] and in determining questions as to priority between the rights of the purchaser and those of the third persons.[64]

There is authority for the view that the purchaser may be chargeable with knowledge of outstanding rights or claims, acquired by his attorney prior to the existence between them of the relation of attorney and client, where such knowledge was acquired by the attorney under circumstances which raise a presumption that the knowledge is in the mind of the attorney when he is acting for the purchaser.[65] According to some cases, however, in order that knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney of a person who claims to have acquired an interest

61. Magnus Beck Brewing Co v. Setel, 225 N Y S 41, 130 Misc. 705

Extension of mortgage

Where the attorney for the vendor, after the execution of the contract and in the course of closing the sale, acted on behalf of the purchaser and without authorization from the vendor, in obtaining an extension of a mortgage on the property involved, the knowledge of the attorney in that regard was not imputable to the vendor, so as to prevent his successfully claiming that he had been released from personal liability on the bond and mortgage because of the extension agreement.—Magnus Beck Brewing Co v Setel, 225 N.Y.S. 41, 130 Misc. 705.

Limited employment of vendor's attorney by purchaser

Knowledge of an attorney, who was only acting for plaintiff in passing on the sufficiency of title to several properties, that a purchaser of land from plaintiff through defendant, a broker, had made a certain offer for the land, and that some of the properties received by plaintiff in part payment for her land actually belonged to defendant, did not charge plaintiff with constructive knowledge, where such attorney in every other detail was attorney for the purchaser.—Puffer v. Badley, 181 P. 1, 92 Or. 360, 4 A.L.R. 1561.

62. Allen v. Frank Janes Co., 73 So. 115, 142 La. 1056.

Outstanding lease

Where a purchaser's counsel was furnished a copy of vendor's lease to a third person and information as to subletting by such third person and had examined the title, the counsel's knowledge of the lease and subletting was the purchaser's knowledge. —Lincoln v. Sauer, 127 N.E. 642, 243 Mass. 201.

63. Cal.—Watson v Sutro, 24 P. 172, 25 P. 64, 86 Cal. 500.

Ill—Hodes v. Foster, 155 N.E. 762, 324 Ill 615

Mass.—Ratshesky v. Piscopo, 131 N E 449, 239 Mass 180.

N J—Goldberg v. Levy, 134 A. 353, 99 N J Eq 634, affirmed 137 A. 917, 101 N.J Eq 293.

N Y—Polhamus v. Hines, 218 N.Y.S 401, 128 Misc 299

Okl—Pyeatt v Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl 160, 4 A.L.R 1570.

66 C J p 1181 note 93.

Outstanding contract of sale

(1) The above rule applies where the outstanding right or claim is based on a prior contract of sale—Hodes v Foster, 155 N E 762, 324 Ill. 615—Goldberg v. Levy, 134 A. 353, 99 N J Eq 634, affirmed 137 A. 917, 101 N J.Eq 293.

(2) Purchasers of land were bound by knowledge of their counsel, who has been informed of a prior contract by the vendor to sell to a third person and of the vendor's attempt to register the title in order to perform such prior contract, but who made no inquiries of the prior purchaser or of his counsel—Ratshesky v. Piscopo, 131 N.E. 449, 239 Mass. 180.

Notice acquired in examining and passing on title

Where the purchaser of land from persons who had purchased such land at a guardian's sale elected to rely on the investigation and opinion of the attorney for a loan company, who examined the title for the purpose of making a loan to the purchaser, the purchaser was bound by such notice or knowledge of outstanding equities as was received or acquired by such attorney in examining and passing on the title—Pyeatt v Estus, 179 P. 42, 72 Okl. 160, 4 A.L.R. 1570.

Character of notice to attorney

Where the question involved was as to whether or not the lessee of certain oil lands, to whom the transferee of the lessor had transferred the right, title, and interest of such transferee, was chargeable with knowledge of the rights of a third person which arose prior to such transfer by the transferee, while the view was expressed that knowledge by notice to an attorney or counsel, acquired during the negotiations for a purchase, is notice to the principal, it was recognized that the notice must be of a character which would put a prudent man on such inquiry that, if prosecuted with reasonable diligence, it would lead to actual knowledge of the true facts with reference to the subject of the transaction—Fletcher v. Allen, 197 P. 953, 51 Cal App 774.

64. Iowa—Shoemaker v Smith, 45 N W 744, 80 Iowa 655

Me—Bunker v. Gordon, 16 A. 341, 81 Me 66.

Or—Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.

Purchaser at sale under execution

Where certain papers, which were withdrawn from the files of the court by plaintiff's attorney with the consent of the court, disclosed the existence of a vendor's lien, such attorney presumably acquired actual notice of the existence of such lien, which must be imputed to plaintiff who purchased the real property on a sale under execution, and the vendor's lien was superior to the rights of plaintiff.—John Silvey & Co. v. Cook, 68 So. 37, 191 Ala. 228.

65. Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or 251.

Attachment and sale on execution

The rule was applied where the attorney for plaintiff, in an action in which real property was attached and plaintiff subsequently purchased the property at a sale under execution, had acquired knowledge, prior to the attachment, that defendant in such action had sold the property to another—Bailey v. Hickey, 195 P. 372, 99 Or. 251.

in, or title to, real property may constitute notice to such person, the knowledge must have been acquired by the attorney after the commencement of the relation of attorney and client,[66] and notice must have been received by the attorney while he was acting in the line of his duty and while he was engaged in a service for his client to which the notice relates.[67] Thus, it has been held or recognized that a purchaser is not chargeable with knowledge or notice of outstanding rights or claims where knowledge of such rights or claims was acquired by the attorney while the latter was acting for another client and not for the purchaser.[68] So, knowledge of the outstanding claim of a third person, acquired by the attorney for a grantee, is not notice to the grantee, where such knowledge was acquired by the attorney when he was previously acting as attorney for the grantor in a different transaction, since the interest of the grantor and the interest of the grantee are antagonistic.[69] In any event, the purchaser is not chargeable with notice of outstanding rights of third persons, on the ground that his attorney in the transaction for the purchase had knowledge of the facts, where the knowledge of the attorney, if any, was acquired before the relation of attorney and client arose, and there is no evidence that such knowledge was present in the mind and memory of the attorney while acting pursuant to such relation.[70] A like rule applies in respect of knowledge of a prior unrecorded conveyance, acquired by the attorney for a judgment creditor of the grantor before the creation of the relation of attorney and client, where such knowledge was not present in the mind of the attorney while transacting the business of the judgment creditor.[71]

Under the rules here considered, a purchaser is affected with notice of outstanding rights and claims only to the extent that such matters are fairly within the knowledge of his attorney, and the purchaser is not affected with knowledge unless the attorney has, or could have had in the performance of his duty, the knowledge with which it is sought to charge the purchaser.[72]

Knowledge of, and notice to, the vendor's attorney, of outstanding claims or rights of third persons do not charge the purchaser with like knowledge or notice where the attorney does not act for the purchaser.[73] Knowledge of the purchaser's attorney of outstanding rights of a third person, which arose after the making of the contract of sale but

66. Marshall v. Lister, 71 So. 411, 195 Ala. 591.

Attorney for execution creditor

The above rule was applied where it was claimed that a judgment and execution debtor had informed the attorney for the judgment and execution creditor, before the entry of the judgment, that the wife of the judgment debtor owned the property in question, but it did not appear that the information was given after the relation of attorney and client had commenced.—Marshall v. Lister, 71 So. 411, 195 Ala. 591.

Fraud

The purchaser of real property was not chargeable with knowledge of frauds which were attempted or committed by his attorney, or which were within the attorney's knowledge, prior to the commencement of the relation of attorney and client.—Goerz v. Barstow, (Ga.) 148 F. 562, 78 C.C.A. 248, reversing (C.C.) 122 F. 140.

67. Wiggins v. Stewart, 109 So. 101, 215 Ala. 9.

Not employed for particular transaction

(1) Knowledge of an attorney, who is employed generally by a purchaser, of outstanding or adverse interests, is not imputed to the purchaser, where such attorney did not act for the purchaser when the purchase was made.—Wheat v. Baer & Thayer Hardwood Co., 131 So. 307, 15 La. App. 306.

(2) This rule was recognized in holding that the knowledge of the attorney should not be imputed to the purchaser for the purpose of showing that possession of the purchaser was in bad faith as affecting its claim of title by prescription.—Wheat v. Baer & Thayer Hardwood Co., supra.

Unrecorded deed

The above rule was laid down in a case in which the question involved was as to whether a person who claimed under judgment, execution, levy, sale, and a sheriff's deed in due form had notice of a prior unrecorded deed to a third person.—Wiggins v. Stewart Bros., 109 So. 101, 215 Ala. 9.

68. Ala.—Mundine v. Pitts' Adm'r, 14 Ala. 84.
Mo.—Ford v. French, 72 Mo. 250.
Pa.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

Loan and mortgage

Where a purchaser in possession under an unrecorded contract of sale and purchaser, who had not paid the full purchase price, employed an attorney to obtain a loan for the purchaser on the security of a mortgage on the property, the attorney's knowledge of the existence of mortgages given by the vendor and holder of the legal title, after the contract of sale and purchase was executed, was not chargeable to the purchaser in so far as subsequent payments on the purchase price were concerned, where such knowledge, if acquired by the attorney, was acquired by him in examining the title, because, in examining the title, the attorney was, under the circumstances, acting for the person who contemplated making the loan to the purchaser, and not for the purchaser.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

69. Morris v. Curtin, 152 N.E. 210, 321 Ill. 462.

70. Otis v. Zeiss, 165 P. 524, 175 Cal. 192.

71. Ives v. Culton, (Tex.Civ.App.) 197 S.W. 619, affirmed (Com.App.) 229 S.W. 321.

72. Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

Subsequent payments by purchaser

The above rule was applied in holding that a purchaser could not be charged with notice of mortgages given by the vendor and holder of legal title after the contract of sale was made, in so far as subsequent payments on the purchase price were concerned.—Kinch v. Fluke, 166 A. 905, 311 Pa. 405.

73. Minto v. Davis, 215 N.W. 360, 240 Mich. 406.

Prior contract of sale

The rule applied where the question involved was as to a prior contract by the vendor for the sale of the property to third persons.—Minto v. Davis, 215 N.W. 360, 240 Mich. 406.

before its consummation, may not be imputed to the vendor, where such knowledge was acquired by the attorney while he was acting as the attorney for the purchaser in a matter independent of his employment by the vendor.[74] There is authority for the view that knowledge of an attorney, who is consulted by a prospective purchaser or grantee with regard to the title, is not imputable to such purchaser or grantee, where the attorney was not employed to negotiate the purchase or to acquire title.[75]

The mere fact that an attorney, under his contract of employment, has an equitable interest in a fund, resulting from a recovery by his client, does not constitute notice to the attorney of a prior unrecorded conveyance of real property, which becomes subject to the lien of the judgment in favor of the client as judgment creditor of the grantor, notice to the client.[76]

A person to whom real property is conveyed as trustee, under a recorded declaration of trust by him in favor of a named beneficiary, is chargeable with knowledge of an attorney who is the real purchaser, acquired in the examination of the title, of a prior recorded mortgage given by the grantor.[77]

Fraudulent conveyance or transfer. The grantee of real property is bound by knowledge acquired by his attorney in the course of the transaction leading to the conveyance, tending to show that the conveyance is intended to defeat the claims of third persons.[78] A party to a transaction which involved the fraudulent conveyance by a beneficiary of a trust of real property of such beneficiary's interest, for the purpose of defeating the claim of a judgment creditor of such beneficiary, is chargeable with knowledge of such party's attorney as to the purpose of the conveyance.[79]

There is authority for the view that knowledge of an attorney, employed only to draw the deed, of facts indicating a fraudulent purpose on the part of the vendor is not chargeable to the prospective purchaser,[80] and that knowledge of the attorney for a purchaser, who was employed merely to examine and report on the title and not to negotiate the purchase, of the purpose of the vendor to defraud his creditors is not imputable to the purchaser.[81]

Attorney as bona fide purchaser. An attorney may not successfully claim to be a bona fide purchaser, where he has purchased from his client and has acquired knowledge of the rights of others while acting for his client in the prior purchase of the property by such client.[82] An attorney who purchases real property from his client pending an action in which the attorney represents such client and in which title to, or rights in, such property are at issue, may not successfully claim the status of a bona fide purchaser where he purchased with full knowledge of the existence of a mortgage on the property.[83] So, also, an attorney who purchases real property at a judicial sale in a suit in which his client is a party, and who has obtained a decree awarding him an interest in such property, is affected with knowledge of defects in service of process in such suit on a party who has an interest in the property.[84] An attorney who acted for a mortgagee in connection with the execution of the mortgage, and who is the purchaser at the foreclosure sale under the mortgage, purchases subject to outstanding equities, where the attorney has knowledge of such equities when he acts in connection with the execution of the mortgage.[85]

(b) Person Claiming under Mortgage

Knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for a mortgagee, or grantee or beneficiary of a deed given as security, of outstanding rights or claims of third persons is, in general, imputable to the mortgagee, beneficiary, or grantee.

Knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for a mortgagee, or grantee or beneficiary of a deed given as security, of outstanding rights or claims of third persons is, in general, equivalent to knowledge of, or notice to, the mortgagee, beneficiary, or grantee.[86]

74. Larson v. Johnson, 221 N.W. 871, 175 Minn. 502.

Assignment of contract by purchaser as security

The above rule was applied where, after the making of the contract, the purchaser assigned such contract to a third person as security, the attorney drew the assignment, and the vendor had no actual knowledge of the assignment until after he obtained from the purchaser a quitclaim terminating such purchaser's interest in the contract and premises—Larson v Johnson, 221 N.W. 871, 175 Minn. 502

75. Arrington v. Arrington, 19 S.E. 851, 114 N.C. 151—6 C.J. p. 640 note 64 [a] (4)

76. Ives v. Culton, (Tex.Civ.App.) 197 S.W. 619, affirmed (Com.App.) 229 S.W. 321

77. Kaufman v. Federal Nat. Bank, 191 N.E. 422, 287 Mass. 97.

78. Combs v. Roberts, 35 S.W.(2d) 293, 227 Ky. 299.

79. Schaefer v. Fisher, 242 N.Y.S. 308, 137 Misc. 420.

80. Webb-Crawford Co. v. Boseman, 173 S.E. 144, 178 Ga. 328.

81. Weil v. Reiss, 66 S.W. 946, 167 Mo. 125.

82. Singfield v. Vogler, 192 S.W. 906, 127 Ark. 618.

83. Gay v. Parpart, (Ill.) 1 S.Ct. 456, 106 U.S. 679, 27 L.Ed. 256.

84. Galpin v. Page, (D.C.) 18 Wall. (U.S.) 350, 21 L.Ed. 959.

85. Howell v. Mills, 53 N.Y. 322.

86. Ky.—Drinkard v. George, 36 S.W.(2d) 56, 227 Ky. 560.
N.Y.—Howell v. Mills, 53 N.Y. 322.
Tex.—Hexter v. Pratt, (Com.App.) 10 S.W.(2d) 692, affirming (Civ.App.) 283 S.W. 653.

Deed as security

Where an attorney, employed by a bank to examine the title of devisees

The rule applies in determining whether or not the mortgagee, grantee, or beneficiary is an innocent purchaser without notice,[87] and in determining priority between the mortgage and a prior conveyance of, or encumbrance on, the property.[88] Likewise, knowledge of the attorney for the purchaser of a deed of trust given as security, of the prior rights of a third person, is notice to such purchaser.[89] There is authority for the view that knowledge of the mortgagee's attorney is not imputable to the mortgagee, where the knowledge of the attorney is not obtained in the course of his employment in connection with the mortgage,[90] and that knowledge acquired by an attorney before he became the attorney for the grantee of a trust deed given as security is not chargeable to such grantee.[91] In any event, in order that knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for the mortgagee of the existence of a prior conveyance or encumbrance may be chargeable to the mortgagee, where such knowledge or notice was acquired in a prior transaction in which the attorney was not acting for the mortgagee, there must be clear proof that such knowledge or notice was present in the attorney's mind when he was acting for the mortgagee in connection with the execution of the mortgage.[92]

Knowledge of the attorney for the mortgagor of outstanding rights or claims is not chargeable to the mortgagee where the attorney does not act for the mortgagee.[93] Similarly, knowledge of the attorney for the grantor, in a trust deed given as security, that other like deeds of the same land were executed simultaneously with such trust deed is not imputed to the beneficiary of such deed.[94] Knowledge of an under a will, for the purpose of making to such devisees a loan to be secured by a deed of the property, such devisees being the executors of the will, was notified by a creditor of the testator that such executors had administered to themselves the property devised to them under the will, without paying the debt of the testator to such creditor, such notice to the attorney was notice to the bank, and the title of the bank to such property given to secure such loan must yield to the lien of a judgment de bonis testatoris obtained on such debt of the testator in a suit commenced after such administration of such property and after the bank had so acquired title thereto as security.—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v. Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S.E. 219, 160 Ga. 109.

Knowledge acquired in the examination of title

(1) The rule applies where the knowledge is acquired in the examination of title as a preliminary to taking a mortgage or deed as security.—Citizens' Bank of Vidalia v. Citizens' & Southern Bank, 127 S.E. 219, 160 Ga. 109.—Drinkard v. George, 36 S.W.(2d) 56, 237 Ky. 560.

(2) The grantee in a deed of trust given as security is chargeable with notice of the claim of title of a third person, where the attorney of the grantee in examining abstracts of title discovered the existence of facts which, if investigated, would have led to a discovery of the claim of the third person, whether or not the investigation was made.—Hexter v. Pratt, (Tex.Civ.App.) 283 S.W. 653, affirmed (Com.App.) 10 S.W.(2d) 692.

Mortgage of timber

Knowledge and opportunity of an attorney for a prospective mortgagee of timber to know of a prior mortgage on the same timber was imputable to such prospective mortgagee.—Bryant Mfg. Co. v. Hester, 98 S.E. 721, 177 N.C. 609.

87. Hexter v. Pratt, (Tex.Com.App.) 10 S.W.(2d) 692, affirming (Civ. App.) 283 S.W. 653.

88. Westervelt v. Haff, 2 Sandf.Ch. (N.Y.) 98.

89. Atkinson v. Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal.App. 149.

Evidence as to attorney's recollection of facts

On an examination of the circumstances prior to, and connected with, the purchase of the trust deed, the conclusion was reached that the attorney retained knowledge of the prior rights of third persons, and had such knowledge present in his mind, when the purchase was made.—Atkinson v. Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal. App. 149.

Effect of knowledge

While the knowledge of the attorney of the purchaser of the trust deed was regarded as only constructive notice to the purchaser in a general sense, it was held that it was sufficient to prevent such purchaser from claiming priority as to advances made under the trust deed after such knowledge was obtained by the attorney and after the purchase, notwithstanding the rule in the jurisdiction in which the question arose that actual notice was required in order to prevent a prior mortgagee from claiming protection as to subsequent advances made by him.—Atkinson v. Foote, 186 P. 831, 44 Cal. App. 149.

90. In New Jersey

(1) The above view was taken in the court of errors and appeals.—Centreville Building & Loan Ass'n v. Gollin, 176 A. 356, 117 N.J.Eq. 412.

(2) In an earlier case in the court of chancery, after a review of the cases as to the effect of knowledge of, or notice to, an agent, including cases in the court of errors and appeals, the court adopted and applied the rule that knowledge of an agent is chargeable to his principal, even though not obtained while he was concerned for the principal or in the course of the same transaction, provided the principal, if acting for himself or through another agent, would have acquired the same knowledge, and held that the knowledge of the attorney for a mortgagee of the existence of a prior unrecorded mortgage on the premises in question was chargeable to the second mortgagee, so as to give the prior unrecorded mortgage priority, notwithstanding such knowledge was acquired by the attorney prior to, and independently of, his employment by such second mortgagee.—Reiners v. Hawthorne, 156 A. 370, 109 N.J.Eq. 60.

91. Dowdy v. Furtner, (Tex.Civ. App.) 198 S.W. 647.

92. Slattery v. Schwannecke, 23 N.E. 922, 118 N.Y. 543.—Constant v. Rochester University, 19 N.E. 631, 111 N.Y. 604, 7 Am.St.R. 769, 2 L.R.A. 734.

93. N.Y.—Flanders v. Rosoff, 97 N.Y.S. 514, 111 App.Div. 1, affirmed 81 N.E. 1164, 188 N.Y. 616.
S.C.—Caughman v. Smith, 5 S.E. 362, 28 S.C. 605.

Prior unrecorded mortgage

Knowledge of the attorney for the mortgagor of a prior unrecorded mortgage is not imputed to a subsequent mortgagee, where the attorney does not act for the mortgagee.—Caughman v. Smith, 5 S.E. 362, 28 S.C. 605.

94. Schlottmann v. Wiese, (Tex.Civ. App.) 36 S.W.(2d) 44, error dismissed.

attorney for a prior mortgagee, whose duties are confined to an examination of the abstract of title and to writing opinions as to the condition of the title, of provisions of a subordinate mortgage, executed simultaneously with the prior mortgage, is not imputed to the prior mortgagee.[95]

Fraudulent foreclosure sale. Knowledge of the fraudulent character of a foreclosure sale under a deed of trust given as security, as to the grantor and the beneficiaries, acquired by the attorney for the trustee, who conducted the sale, is not imputable to a beneficiary of a subsequent deed of trust of the same property, given as security, so as to defeat such beneficiary's status as a bona fide purchaser, notwithstanding such attorney acted for the beneficiary of the subsequent deed of trust when such deed was given.[96]

c. Knowledge or Notice Affecting Personal Property

(1) In general

(2) Bills and notes

(1) In General

In general, knowledge of, or notice to, an attorney in respect of matters affecting or involving transfers of personal property is imputed to his client.

The general rule that notice to, or knowledge of, an attorney is imputable to his client (supra § 69 a) applies to knowledge of matters affecting or involving the transfer of personal property.[97] In general, however, a mortgagee under a chattel mortgage is not chargeable with knowledge of facts acquired by his attorney which if known to the mortgagee would invalidate the mortgage, where knowledge of the attorney is in respect of matters which are not within the scope of the attorney's employment or authority,[98] or where the circumstances are such as to prevent the operation of the presumption that the attorney will communicate to his client matters material to the client's protection and interest.[99]

Outstanding claims or rights of third persons. Knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for the purchaser of, or other person who claims the ac-

95. Perpetual Savings & Loan Ass'n v Van Atten, 233 N.W. 746, 211 Iowa 435

96. Wood v. North Carolina Trust Co, 156 S.E. 523, 200 N.C. 105.

Nonpayment of bid and failure to pay bonds secured by deed of trust

The fraud alleged in respect of the prior foreclosure sale was the failure of the purchaser to pay the amount of his bid to the trustee named in the deed of trust and the failure of the trustee to apply the amount of such bid to the payment of the bonds secured by such deed — Wood v. North Carolina Trust Co., 156 S.E. 523, 200 N.C. 105.

97. Assignment of interest in payments due or to become due

(1) Knowledge of an attorney for a person who has funds in his possession which he is obligated to pay to another, of the assignment by such other of the latter's interest in payments from such funds, due or to become due, is binding on the person so obligated to make payments — Manfredi v. O'Brien, 185 N.E. 365, 282 Mass. 458.

(2) The rule was applied in a suit by a person, who had contracted with the owner of land to furnish labor for the construction of a building, to compel a corporation, which was the mortgagee in a construction mortgage executed by the owner, to apply moneys due under the mortgage in satisfaction of a debt due plaintiff from the owner, based on work and labor furnished by plaintiff pursuant to his contract with the owner; and it was held that, where the mortgagor had assigned his interest in payments due, and to become due, under the construction mortgage, the assignee in turn had assigned such interest, and defendant mortgagee had made payments to the mortgagor in violation of a stipulation made by the mortgagee, the trial court properly disregarded a suggestion by the mortgagee, made at the time of entry of a final decree in favor of plaintiff, that the last assignee should be made a party defendant for the benefit of the mortgagee, in view of the facts that the attorney for the mortgagee had knowledge of the assignments at the time they were made and that plaintiff did not learn of such assignments until the hearings before a master were in progress.—Manfredi v. O'Brien, supra.

Bill of sale to secure a debt

A corporation is chargeable with knowledge of a bill of sale to secure a debt executed in the name of the corporation by its president, without the authority required by its by-laws, where the same is witnessed by the attorney of the corporation, who represented it in the litigation to compromise and settle which the bill of sale was executed — People's Credit Clothing Co. v. Old Colony Ins. Co. of Boston, 171 S.E. 587, 47 Ga.App. 819.

Purpose of transfer of bank deposit

(1) Notice to an attorney of the purpose of a transfer of a bank deposit by the owner may be notice to the attorney's client — Goldston v. Randolph, (Mass.) 199 N.E. 896

(2) Notice to the attorneys for the executors of donor's estate that the transfer of donee's interest in a bank account to the estate was made because the donee thought it necessary on the advice of the executors' attorneys constituted notice to the executors of the reason for such transfer.—Goldston v. Randolph, supra.

98. Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565.

Limited employment of attorney

Where an attorney was the agent of a prospective mortgagee of personal property merely for the purpose of advising the mortgagee as to the existence and value of the property, knowledge of the attorney that the property had been transferred to the prospective mortgagor for the purpose of defrauding the creditors of the transferor was not imputable to the prospective mortgagee, notwithstanding the attorney prepared the chattel mortgage, where the mortgagee paid no fee to the attorney and the latter was in fact the attorney for the original transferor and for the mortgagor — Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 340, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565

99. Florence v. De Beaumont, supra.

Scheme to defraud creditors

The knowledge of an attorney that property covered by a chattel mortgage had been transferred to the mortgagor for the purpose of defrauding the creditors of the transferor was not imputable to the mortgagee, where such knowledge had willfully been concealed by the attorney who, while acting in certain respects for the mortgagee, was acquisition of an interest in, personal property, of outstanding claims to, or rights in, such property of third persons ordinarily is equivalent to knowledge of, or notice to, the client, where such knowledge or notice was acquired or received in the course of the attorney's employment.[1] This rule applies to notice to the attorney of the existence of a chattel mortgage on the property,[2] notwithstanding the mortgagee is in default at the time of the purchase for failure to file the renewal affidavit in connection with such mortgage.[3]

The knowledge of the attorney for an attachment creditor of the existence of a prior mortgage on the property involved is not imputable to such creditor, so as to prevent the attachment creditor from claiming the rights of an encumbrancer in good faith, where the knowledge of the attorney was acquired prior to the creation of the relation of attorney and client and while the attorney was acting for another client.[4] In order to charge a person with notice of a claim of title to personal property in the possession of one other than the owner because of the alleged knowledge of the attorney of such person, it must appear that the attorney had actually acquired such knowledge.[5]

(2) Bills and Notes

Knowledge concerning defects, defenses, and the like, which affect a note, acquired by the attorney for the transferee or holder while the attorney is acting in the course of his employment, is in general chargeable to the transferee or holder.

Knowledge of an attorney, who represents the indorsee of a promissory note in the transaction in which the transfer is made, of an infirmity in the note is imputed to the indorsee.[6] Likewise, the transferee of a note is chargeable with knowledge of his attorney of the conditions attached to the giving of the note,[7] and of an offer by the transferee of the property of the maker of the note to assume the liabilities of the maker, in determining whether or not the transferee of the note had accepted such offer within a reasonable time.[8]

Knowledge of the attorney for the holder of a note of facts constituting a defense is not necessarily imputable to such holder, where such knowledge was acquired by the attorney in transactions with other persons which occurred before the transaction in which the note was given.[9] Likewise, knowledge of the attorney of the transferee of the payee of a note is not imputable to the transferee, so as to tually the agent and attorney for the original transferor and for the mortgagor—Florence v. De Beaumont, 172 P. 840, 101 Wash. 356, 4 A.L.R. 1565.

1. Iowa—Frick v. Fritz, 88 N.W 961, 115 Iowa 438, 91 Am S R 165 Mich—Security Trust Co. v. Tuller, 220 N.W. 795, 243 Mich. 570.

Purchase of vessel

Knowledge of the attorney of the purchaser of a vessel of the existence of a prior unrecorded conveyance of the vessel to a third person was notice to the purchaser, within the meaning of the federal statute providing that no bill of sale, conveyance, or the like, of a vessel of the United States shall be valid against any person other than the grantor or mortgagor, his heirs or devisees, and any person having actual notice, until such bill of sale, conveyance, or the like, is recorded as provided in the statute—The Tompkins, (C.C.A. N.Y.) 13 F.(2d) 552

2. Security Trust Co. v. Tuller, 220 N W. 795, 243 Mich. 570—11 C.J. p 523 note 69

Mortgage covering real and personal property

Notice to the attorney for the purchaser, resulting from an examination of an abstract of title, that a certain prior trust mortgage covered both real and personal property was notice to the purchaser—Security Trust Co v. Tuller, 220 N.W. 795, 243 Mich. 570.

3. Security Trust Co v. Tuller, supra.

4. Hansen v. Johnson, 4 P (2d) 1088, 90 Mont. 597.

5. Haines v. Doss, 269 Ill App. 179.

Erroneous information

The fact that the attorney for a judgment creditor was erroneously informed, prior to the levy of execution on an automobile in the hands of the judgment debtor, that a third person had a mortgage on the automobile was not notice to the judgment creditor that such third person claimed the automobile by virtue of a conditional sales contract—Haines v. Doss, 269 Ill.App 179.

6. Lambert v. Smith, 157 P. 909, 53 Okl. 606, 13 A.L.R 1.

7. Weicker v. Bromfield, (C C.A. Colo.) 34 F.(2d) 377.

Notes given pursuant to agreement for merger of banks

The knowledge of the attorney for a bank that notes, executed and transferred to the bank by the directors and stockholders of another bank, were given pursuant to an agreement which contemplated a merger of the banks and which contained a provision for the receipt, by the makers of the notes, of certain securities of the bank of which such makers were stockholders and directors, which had been criticized by a bank examiner, was the knowledge of the bank for which the attorney acted—Weicker v Bromfield, (C C A Colo) 34 F (2d) 377

Attorney for a bank was held the special agent of the bank in obtaining a note and security deed from a wife so as to impute to the bank attorney's knowledge the fact that the note was to secure the husband's debts—Carlton v. Moultrie Banking Co, 152 S E 215, 170 Ga 185

8. Bogart v. George K. Porter Co, 223 P. 959, 193 Cal. 197, 31 A.L.R. 1045.

Assumption of debts by corporate transferee of property

Knowledge of the attorney for the assignee of the payee of a note that a corporation, to which the maker had transferred his assets after giving the note, had assumed the payment of the outstanding indebtedness of the maker was chargeable to the assignee, precluding such assignee from bringing an action against the corporation's trustees after dissolution, and eleven years after the corporation's assumption agreement, even though the assumption agreement should be regarded as a mere offer to assume the indebtedness and the attorney had in the meantime been an officer of the corporation—Bogart v. George K Porter Co, 223 P. 959, 193 Cal. 197, 31 A.L.R. 1045.

9. Lang v. Aldred, 179 S E. 567, 51 Ga.App. 91.

Note secured by deed

The above rule was applied where prevent the transferee, from being a holder in due course, where the interest of the attorney is adverse to that of the transferee,[10] or, it seems, where the attorney of the transferee in other matters had acquired the knowledge in question while acting as the attorney for the payee in the transaction in which the note was given.[11]

Where the provisions of an indenture of trust, executed in connection with the creation of a so-called Massachusetts realty trust, in terms exempt the trustee from personal liability for any obligation or liability incurred in response to his trust, knowledge of the attorney for the vendor of real property of such provisions is chargeable to the vendor, so as to relieve the trustee of personal liability to the vendor on notes executed by the trustee as maker and given for the purchase price of such real property.[12] A like rule applies in respect of a promissory note given by trustees to a mortgagee, where such note is secured by a mortgage on the trust property, and the attorney for the mortgagee, in examining the title, acquired knowledge of the provisions of the declaration of trust exempting the trustees from personal liability.[13]

d. Matters Involved in Legal or Administrative Proceedings

Knowledge of, or notice to, an attorney for a litigant or party to an action, concerning matters involved in the litigation or action, is in general imputable to such litigant or party.

Knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for a litigant or party to a legal proceeding, of matters arising in the course of the litigation or proceeding, is ordinarily imputable to such litigant or party.[14] The rule applies in a criminal as well as in a civil proceeding.[15] This rule has been applied or recognized where the attorney had knowledge or notice as to the pendency of an action,[16] orders of the court relating to the trial of the cause,[17] the assignment or setting of a cause for trial,[18] the method of selecting a special judge in a criminal prosecution,[19] the separation of jurors in a criminal case,[20] the existence of a cross action,[21] the claim, in a former action, of a codefendant of a party,[22] the a deed was given to secure the note on which the action was brought, in which action the maker set up the defense that the debt represented by the note was the debt of her husband, and the attorney who had been employed by plaintiff to examine the title to the property conveyed as security may have acquired knowledge that the debt represented by the note was the debt of defendant's husband in previous transactions with other persons—Lang v. Aldred, 179 S.E. 567, 51 Ga.App. 91.

10. Valley Jitney Jungle Co. v. Hamady, 249 N.W. 888, 264 Mich. 354.

Attorney who is officer of payee

The rule stated in the text was applied where the attorney was an officer of the payee corporation—Valley Jitney Jungle Co. v. Hamady, 249 N.W. 888, 264 Mich. 354—Lovell v. Renwel, 13 Pa.Co. 608.

11. Lynch v. Holbrook, 193 P. 505, 49 Cal.App. 380.

12. Brown v. Smith, (C.C.A.Conn.) 73 F.(2d) 524.

Evidence

In an action against the trustee on notes covering the purchase price of realty conveyed to trust, the notes being executed by the trustee as such, evidence showing that plaintiff vendor had no knowledge of the provisions of the declaration of trust absolving the trustee and shareholders from personal liability was inadmissible as not tending to contradict proof that the vendor, through his attorney, who drew up the declaration of trust, had knowledge of its provisions—Brown v. Smith, (C.C.A. Conn.) 73 F.(2d) 524.

13. Baker v. James, 181 N.E. 861, 280 Mass. 43.

14. Kan.—Overlander v. Overlander, 284 P. 614, 129 Kan. 709.
Neb.—Goergen v. Department of Public Works of Nebraska, 243 N.W. 886, 123 Neb. 648.
Ohio—Roma v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 119 N.E. 461, 97 Ohio St. 247.

Attorney of record

In pending judicial proceedings ordinarily, notice to an attorney of record is notice to his client—Roma v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 119 N.E. 461, 97 Ohio St. 247.

15. Barnes v. Commonwealth, 201 S.W. 318, 179 Ky. 725.

16. Bunnell v. Holmes, 171 P. 365, 64 Colo. 345.

Motion to set aside default judgment

Knowledge of the attorney of defendant of the pendency of the action against the latter is imputed to defendant, so as to warrant the denial of a motion to set aside a default judgment, made on the ground that defendant did not have knowledge or notice of the pendency of the action—Bunnell v. Holmes, 171 P. 365, 64 Colo. 345.

Notice to surety of action against principal

A surety had notice of an action against the principal, where the attorneys who appeared for the principal were acting on behalf of the surety—Keating v. Equitable Surety Co. of New York, 235 N.Y.S. 231, 134 Misc. 491.

17. Dillon v. Hawkins, 227 S.W. 753, 147 Ark. 1.

Failure of attorney to communicate information does not, of course, prevent the application of the above rule—Dillon v. Hawkins, 227 S.W. 753, 147 Ark. 1.

18. Mont.—Davenport v. Davenport, 222 P. 422, 69 Mont. 405.
Okl.—Bigsby v. Eppstein, 135 P. 934, 39 Okl. 466.

19. Campion v. State, 154 N.E. 802, 199 Ind. 129.

Knowledge of attorney for accused.—Campion v. State, 154 N.E. 802, 199 Ind. 129.

20. Barnes v. Commonwealth, 201 S.W. 318, 179 Ky. 725.

21. Davis v. Cox, (Tex.Civ.App.) 4 S.W.(2d) 1008.

Notice to plaintiffs' attorneys

Notice of cross action, given to plaintiffs' attorneys of record, who were still representing them, so far as the trial court and defendants knew, when such attorneys stated that they declined to prosecute the action further and took a bill of exceptions to the court's action in trying the case after refusing a motion for a nonsuit, must be taken as notice to plaintiffs.—Davis v. Cox, (Tex.Civ.App.) 4 S.W.(2d) 1008.

22. Herrick v. Woodrow-Shindler Co., 226 P. 137, 75 Colo. 363.

Same property involved in both actions

Plaintiff herein, defendant in a former action in which the same property was involved, was charged with knowledge which his attorney steps taken in respect of attached property,[23] the rendition or entry of a judgment against the client,[24] the existence of a judgment dismissing an action on application of plaintiff's attorney,[25] the provisions of a judgment,[26] and the continuance in force of an injunction.[27]

The question as to the effect of knowledge of, or notice to, the attorney for a party has arisen in determining whether or not there has been a waiver of objections in respect of matters arising in the course of the proceedings, and it has been held or recognized that there was an imputation of knowledge, sufficient as a basis for a waiver, where the attorney had knowledge of facts which disqualify a juror for the trial of a cause,[28] of the concealment of facts by a juror on his voir dire examination,[29] and of the fact that an order for the appointment of a receiver did not require a bond.[30] In this connection, while the view has been taken that usually at least knowledge of an attorney, acquired prior to the creation of the relation of attorney and client with a party to an action and while the attorney was acting in a different matter, is not imputed to such party in respect of concealment of facts by a juror on his voir dire examination,[31] there is authority for the view that an attorney's knowledge of facts which disqualify a juror is imputed to such attorney's client, notwithstanding such knowledge was acquired prior to, and independently of, the employment, provided such knowledge was present in the mind of the attorney at the time of the trial or before the verdict was rendered.[32]

Where, under the applicable statute, the running of a statute of limitations is suspended for the period between the presentation of the claim and the denial of such claim, even if the suspension continues until claimant is notified of the denial of the claim, notice of such denial to the attorney for claimant is notice to claimant.[33]

In order that a notice to an attorney in the course of a legal proceeding may be regarded as notice to a party to the proceeding, it must appear that such attorney is authorized to represent such party.[34]

Effect of termination of relation. Ordinarily, notice to an attorney in respect of proceedings, given after termination of the relation of attorney and client, is not notice to the client.[35] Thus, in the absence of a showing that the attorney has authority to represent the client after judgment, or of a statutory provision giving such authority, notice to the attorney is not notice to the client, in respect of a motion to amend or modify a final decree,[36] or of a had concerning the claims of his co-defendant in the former action—Herrick v Woodrow-Shindler Co, 226 P 137, 75 Colo. 363.

23. Putnam v. Handy, 142 N.E. 77, 247 Mass. 406.

24. Cal.—Rauer v. Hertweck, 165 P 946, 175 Cal 278
Okl.—Bigsby v Eppstein, 135 P. 934, 39 Okl 466
Tex.—Bradford v. Malone, 130 S.W. 1013, 49 Tex.Civ.App 440.

Motion for new trial
The rule was applied in upholding the denial of a motion by defendant for a new trial, made on the ground of surprise and irregularities in the procurement of the judgment—Bigsby v. Eppstein, 135 P. 934, 39 Okl 466.

25. Braa v Bruner, 244 N.W. 537, 60 S.D. 397

26. In re Waters of Doan Creek in Walla Walla County, 299 P. 383, 162 Wash. 695.

27. U. S v. Sumner, 217 N.Y.S. 645, 127 Misc. 907.

28. Bean v. Barron, 168 S.E. 259, 176 Ga. 285—35 C.J. p 865 note 2

29. Gackstetter v Market St. Ry. Co, (Cal.App.) 52 P.(2d) 998.

30. Williams v. New York Zinc Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 29 F.(2d) 167.

Objection to receiver's sale because of want of bond
The rule applied in a case in which the party at whose instance a receiver was appointed objected to a sale by the receiver on the ground that the receiver had not filed a bond—Williams v New York, Zinc Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 29 F.(2d) 167.

31. Drury v. Franke, 57 S.W.(2d) 969, 247 Ky 758, 88 A.L.R. 917

32. Bean v. Barron, 168 S.E. 259, 176 Ga 285

Motion for new trial
In determining the propriety of the denial of a motion by defendant for a new trial, based on the claim that jurors who participated in rendering a verdict for plaintiff were disqualified because they were related to plaintiff's attorney, it was held that the evidence was sufficient to support a finding that knowledge of the existence of such relationship, acquired by defendant's attorney previously to, and independently of, such attorney's employment by defendant, was present in the mind of defendant's attorney at the time of the trial and, therefore, was imputable to defendant at the time of selecting the jury or before the verdict was rendered, so as to warrant the conclusion that there was a waiver of the disqualification—Bean v. Barron, 168 S.E. 259, 176 Ga. 285.

33. U. S. v. Gower, (C.C.A.Okl.) 71 F.(2d) 366.

Government war risk insurance
Notification received by insured's attorney, that a claim under a yearly renewable term war risk policy was disallowed, was notification to insured, with respect to the question when the one-year limitation period for filing suit after July 3, 1930, suspended during the pendency of the claim in the veterans' bureau by the act of July 3, 1930 (38 U.S.C.A. § 445), began to run again—U. S. v. Gower, (C.C.A.Okl.) 71 F.(2d) 366.

34. Jacobson v. Ashkinaze, 168 N.E. 647, 337 Ill. 141, reversing 249 Ill. App. 479.

Motion to vacate order striking case from docket and to reinstate cause
A notice to an attorney of a motion by plaintiff to vacate an order striking the cause from the docket and to reinstate the cause was not notice to defendant, where such attorney was not authorized to represent defendant—Jacobson v. Ashkinaze, 168 N.E. 647, 337 Ill. 144, reversing 249 Ill. App. 479.

35. Ill.—Cummer v. Cummer, 283 Ill.App 220
Tex.—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ. App.) 225 S.W 69

36. Swift v. Allen, 55 Ill. 302—Cummer v. Cummer, 283 Ill.App. 220.

Divorce
The rule applies in respect of a motion to modify a final decree of divorce—Cummer v. Cummer, 283 Ill. App. 220.

motion to enter judgment nunc pro tunc correcting the judgment already entered.[37]

Patent cases. Under the provision of the federal statute [Rev.St. § 4894; 35 U.S.C.A. § 37] that, on failure of applicant for a patent to prosecute his application within one year after any action therein, of which notice shall have been given to applicant, the application shall be regarded as abandoned unless it is shown that the delay was unavoidable, the requirement as to notice to applicant is satisfied by notice to his attorney.[38] There is, however, authority for the view that, under such statute, notice to the attorney for applicant, is not notice to the personal representative of applicant where such attorney never became the attorney of such representative.[39]

Proceedings under Workmen's Compensation Act. Notice to the attorney, who has been duly designated by applicant for compensation under a Workmen's Compensation Act as the person on whom notices of proceedings are to be served, of the rejection of the claim is sufficient under some acts, in the absence of a notice to the industrial commission of a change by applicant of the person who is to receive notices.[40] So, also, under some acts, notice to the attorney for insurer of the making of an award is notice to insurer, notwithstanding the adjuster or paying officer of insurer did not receive notice mailed by the industrial accident board.[41] It has been held, however, that notice to the attorney of record for claimant of the rejection of the claim is not notice to claimant, where the attorney did not communicate to claimant the fact of rejection, and, at or about the time the claim was rejected, the attorney withdrew from the case.[42]

§ 70. Notice to Client

Knowledge acquired by a party to a suit, affecting the interests of the parties, may be regarded as the knowledge of such party's attorney.

While notice is not imputable to an attorney in all his personal, professional, and official connections from the fact that one of his clients has notice,[43] a party's knowledge of matters affecting the interests of the parties to a suit is the knowledge of such party's attorney.[44]

§ 71. Ratification by Client of Attorney's Acts

a. In general
b. What constitutes ratification
c. Procedural questions in determining ratification

a. In General

In general, a client may ratify an unauthorized act of his attorney, and a person for whom an attorney has appeared or commenced an action without authority may ratify the act of the attorney in that regard.

In general, a client may ratify unauthorized acts of his attorney,[45] and, a subsequent ratification of 37. Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Tex.Civ.App.) 225 S.W. 69, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

38. Rosenberg v. Carr Fastener Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 51 F.(2d) 1014, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 32, 284 U.S. 652, 76 L.Ed. 553.

39. In re Mattullath, 38 App.D.C. 497.

40. Strebing v. Industrial Commission, 184 N.E. 886, 351 Ill. 627.

Facts not constituting notice of change

The fact that an attorney other than the one originally designated to receive notices examined applicant's witnesses before the industrial commission did not charge the commission with notice of a change.—Strebing v. Industrial Commission, 184 N.E. 886, 351 Ill. 627.

41. Dixon v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., (Tex.Civ.App.) 293 S.W. 291.

42. Roma v. Industrial Commission of Ohio, 119 N.E. 461, 97 Ohio St. 247.

43. Wardlaw v. Troy Oil Mill, 54 S.E. 658, 74 S.C. 368, 114 Am.S.R. 1004.

Attorney for corporation who was also president of bank

A bank which made a loan to a corporation to which personal property had been furnished under a contract, in the nature of a chattel mortgage, providing that title should remain in the seller until the purchase price was paid, which contract was not recorded when the loan was made, was not chargeable with notice of the existence of such contract merely because the president of the bank was the attorney for the corporation to which the loan was made, where the attorney had no knowledge of the contract under which the property was purchased.—Wardlaw v. Troy Oil Mill, 54 S.E. 658, 74 S.C. 368, 114 Am.S.R. 1004.

44. Ill.—McNemar v. McNemar, 143 Ill.App. 134.
Mich.—Faber v. Eastman, Dillon & Co., 259 N.W. 880, 271 Mich. 142.

45. Iowa.—Story County Trust & Savings Bank v. Youts's Estate, 200 N.W. 700, 199 Iowa 444.
Okl.—Holiday Oil Co. v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 19 P.(2d) 335, 162 Okl. 192.
Utah.—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601.
6 C.J. p. 669 note 33.

Acceptance of service of claim against decedent's estate

An administratrix who ratified by her acts and conduct her attorney's unauthorized acceptance of service of notice, under Code § 3338, of filing and hearing of claims against the estate, was bound thereby.—Story County Trust & Savings Bank v. Youts's Estate, 200 N.W. 700, 199 Iowa 444.

Arbitration

If the act of an attorney in submitting his client's cause to arbitration is ratified and adopted by his client, the award, if otherwise valid, may be enforced.—Jenkins v. Weeks, 2 Ky.Op. 118.

Assignment of judgment

A client may ratify the assignment by his attorney of a judgment recovered for the client by the attorney, notwithstanding want of authority of the attorney to make such assignment.—Holiday Oil Co. v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 19 P.(2d) 335, 162 Okl. 192.

Compromise and settlement

(1) In view of the rule generally the acts of an attorney is equivalent to a special authority previously granted to do those acts.[46]

Ratification is based on knowledge,[47] and ratification is not effected and the client is not bound unless he acted with full knowledge of all the facts and circumstances,[48] or, at least, with knowledge of all the material facts or circumstances.[49] Furthermore, there is authority for the view that, in order recognized that a compromise of the client's cause of action is not within the scope of an attorney's general authority (infra § 105), the binding effect of a compromise entered into by an attorney without express authority depends on the client's ratification—National Bread Co. v. Bird, 145 So. 462, 226 Ala. 40—Dawson v. Hotchkiss, 169 S.E. 564, 160 Va. 577.

(2) A client may ratify the act of his attorney in negotiating or attempting a compromise and settlement—Johnson v. Star Piano Co., 108 S.E. 811, 27 Ga.App. 425—Combs' Adm'r v. Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., 32 S.W.(2d) 649, 236 Ky. 524—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601—6 C.J. p. 669 note 33 [b].

(3) Defendant, who has ratified acts of its attorney in compromising an action, will not be heard to complain—McGinley v. Maryland Casualty Co. of Baltimore, 277 P. 414, 85 Mont. 1.

Matters involved in organization of corporation

"Where the attorney charged with the organization of a corporation had the stock actually paid for in cash, and had bonds issued to the stockholders in an amount equal to their stock, as a bonus, the stockholders, all of whom had full knowledge of the purpose and the means taken to effectuate it, were bound by his acts, [even] though the purpose would better have been accomplished by paying for the bonds and having the stock issued as a bonus"—Williamson v. Collins, (Ohio) 243 F. 835, 836, 156 C.C.A. 347.

Receiving notes and securities

(1) The act of an attorney in receiving notes or securities from the judgment debtor, to be collected and applied to the judgment, may be ratified by his client where the attorney assumes to act for his client—Wilkinson v. Holloway, 7 Leigh (34 Va.) 277, 294.

(2) Such an agreement by an attorney in his own name, however, has been held incapable of ratification—Black v. Drake, 2 Colo. 330.

Rescission of contract

The acts of an attorney for vendors of real property under an installment contract containing no time essence or other provision for forfeiture, nor any provision making all payments due on default in one or more payments, in demanding possession after the purchaser filed a suit to rescind the contract, and in accepting an instrument authorizing him to take possession in compliance with such demand, and "to effectuate the cancellation of the contract," did not amount, together with the purchaser's acts, to a rescission of the contract, in the absence of evidence that vendors, who were not present when such acts took place, authorized or ratified their attorney's conduct.—Barton v. Tombari, 207 P. 239, 120 Wash. 331.

Effect of ratification

(1) A statement or admission made by an attorney in one case is binding on his client in another, when the client has ratified it after it has been made—Berry v. Littlefield, Alvord & Co., 54 App.D.C. 195, 296 F. 285.

(2) A mortgagee who ratified collections by his attorney of installments of principal of the mortgage could not, under the circumstances, deny the authority of the attorney subsequently to collect other installments of principal which were not paid over to the mortgagee by the attorney—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207.

Ratification of illegal arrest see False Imprisonment § 40 [25 C.J. p. 512 note 3].

46. La.—Zibilich v. Rittenberg, 139 So. 309, 18 La.App. 628.
N.C.—Gallup & Co. v. Rozier, 90 S.E. 209, 172 N.C. 283.
Okl.—St. Louis & S. F. R. Co. v. Leger Mill Co., 155 P. 599, 53 Okl. 127.
6 C.J. p. 669 note 33, p. 670 note 33 [d].

Relation back of ratification

An administratrix's ratification of her attorney's unauthorized acceptance of service of notice of a claim against the estate was effective and bound the administratrix as of date of such acceptance—Story County Trust & Savings Bank v. Youtz's Estate, 200 N.W. 700, 199 Iowa 444.

47. Cal.—Central California Creditors' Ass'n v. Seeley, 267 P. 138, 91 Cal.App. 327—Cormac v. Murphy, 208 P. 360, 58 Cal.App. 366.
Mass.—See v. Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass. 345.
Pa.—McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A. 79, 290 Pa. 74.

Knowledge of unauthorized act

(1) The client must have knowledge of the unauthorized act of his attorney in order that there may be a ratification—See v. Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass. 345—Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141—McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A. 79, 290 Pa. 74.

(2) The client must also know that the act in question was that of his attorney—Central California Creditors' Ass'n v. Seeley, 267 P. 138, 91 Cal.App. 327.

Assignment of judgment

(1) Ratification of attorney's unauthorized assignment of judgment by nonresident client, to whom the transaction was reported as a collection merely, could not be inferred or presumed—McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216.

(2) Where a client has no occasion to further concern himself about a judgment, and nothing to put him on inquiry, knowledge of the assignment as a basis of ratification cannot well be imputed to him.—McFry v. Stewart, supra.

Facts not constituting notice

The mere fact that a client had knowledge that a third person was furnishing information to such client's attorneys would not be notice that plaintiff was doing it with expectation that he would be paid by defendants—Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.

48. Cal.—Broecker v. Moxley, 28 P.(2d) 409, 136 Cal.App. 248.
Iowa.—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.
Mich.—People's State Bank for Savings v. Bloch, 237 N.W. 773, 249 Mich. 99.
N.Y.—Babcock v. Warner Bros. Theatres, 270 N.Y.S. 765, 240 App.Div. 466—Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App.Div. 642.
6 C.J. p. 669 note 35.

Settlement

The rule applies in respect of an alleged settlement by the attorney—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.

Knowledge by one party plaintiff that the attorney has compromised the suit is notice to all parties plaintiff—Loughridge v. Burkhart, 144 S.W. 65, 147 Ky. 457.

Fraud on court and client

An attempt to satisfy a judgment in respect of certain defendants, in advance of the rendition of judgment, was a fraud on the court and on plaintiff, and constituted an additional reason why plaintiff could not be regarded as having ratified an attempted settlement by his attorney, especially until such time as plaintiff acquired knowledge of all the facts.—Broecker v. Moxley, 28 P.(2d) 409, 136 Cal.App. 248.

49. Idaho.—Storey v. United States to effect ratification and to bind the client, it is necessary that the client have knowledge of his legal or equitable rights,[50] and of possible defects in the act to be ratified.[51]

The act which it is sought to ratify must have been done by the attorney as attorney for the client,[52] and it must be ratified as a whole; it cannot be ratified in part and repudiated in part.[53]

While there is apparently authority for the view that a person who represents a party to litigation in all transactions in connection therewith may ratify, on behalf of such party, unauthorized acts of the attorney for such party,[54] it has been held or recognized that the ratification must be that of the client himself and not that of his agent,[55] and a person who is a stranger to a transaction between an attorney and another may not ratify the action and conduct of the attorney.[56] Of course, the acts of the attorney himself cannot be relied on to establish a ratification on the part of the client where the action of the attorney in the first instance was unauthorized.[57]

A contract entered into by an attorney cannot be ratified by the client if the execution and performance of the contract accomplishes a crime.[58]

Questions as to ratification by the client of his attorney's employment of assisting counsel are considered below in § 107.

Unauthorized appearance and bringing action. An unauthorized appearance by an attorney may be cured by ratification by the party for whom the attorney appeared.[59]

A person in whose name an action or proceedings is brought without authority from him may ratify the unauthorized act of the attorney in this regard.[60]

Defendant in an action may ratify the act of an attorney in making application to open a default judgment against defendant, even though the attorney was not originally authorized to represent defendant.[61]

Appeal. A party may ratify the unauthorized act of his attorney in taking an appeal[62] and in executing an appeal bond.[63]

Fidelity & Guaranty Co of Baltimore, Md, 183 P 990, 32 Idaho 383
Md.—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md 666

Compromise and settlement

The rule applies in respect of an unauthorized compromise and settlement—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co of Baltimore, Md, 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 383

50. Babcock v. Warner Bros. Theatres, 270 N Y S. 765, 240 App Div 466.

Understanding of effect of act on rights

In order to bind the client, it is necessary that he shall have a proper understanding of the effect of the act, which, it is claimed has been ratified, on the client's rights—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.

51. Babcock v. Warner Bros. Theatres, 270 N Y S. 765, 240 App Div 466

52. Black v. Drake, 2 Colo. 330

53. Ala.—McFry v. Stewart, 121 So 517, 219 Ala. 216.
Pa.—Netter v Logan, 169 A. 245, 111 Pa Super. 143.
Vt.—Nason v. Addison County Trust Co, 157 A 821, 104 Vt. 183
6 C J. p 669 note 37.

Assignment of judgment

Judgment creditor cannot ratify in part attorney's unauthorized assignment of judgment, so as to hold both judgment and money received.—McFry v Stewart, 121 So 517, 219 Ala 216

54. Rotberg v Hebron, 157 N Y.S. 738, 94 Misc 225

55. Glade Spring Bank v. McElwen, 76 S E 222, 160 N C 414, Ann Cas 1914C 542—Moye v Cogdell, 69 N. C 93

56. Watkins v. Clemmer, 19 P.(2d) 303, 129 Cal App 567.

Creation of account stated

Where a divorced wife's lawyer had a telephone conversation with her former husband, in which the husband promised to pay their son's doctor bill, the doctor could not ratify the lawyer's act so that there would be an account stated between the doctor and the husband—Watkins v. Clemmer, 19 P.(2d) 303, 129 Cal App. 567

57. McCaffrey v. Mitchell, (Colo.) 56 P (2d) 926

58. Babcock v. Warner Bros. Theatres, 270 N Y.S. 765, 240 App Div. 466

Provision for payments to attorney

A secret contract between the prospective lessee of premises and the lessor's attorney, providing for annual payments to the attorney during the period of the lease, if illegal as corruptly influencing attorney, could not be ratified by the lessor.—Babcock v Warner Bros Theatres, 270 N Y S 765, 240 App Div. 466

59. U S.—Rodgers v Bromberg, (C. C.A Tex.) 53 F (2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S Ct. 314, 285 U S. 542, 76 L Ed. 934.

Mich.—August v. Collins, 251 N W 565, 265 Mich 389
Or.—Louth v Woodard, 236 P. 480, 114 Or 603
6 C J p 670 note 33 [c]

60. U S.—Rodgers v. Bromberg, (C. C.A Tex.) 53 F.(2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S Ct. 314, 285 U S. 542, 76 L Ed 934
Colo.—Thomas v Mahin, 230 P. 793, 76 Colo 200
Ga.—Anderson v. Crawford, 94 S E 574, 147 Ga. 455, L R A 1918B 894.
Ky.—Botto v Botto, 13 Ky Op 315
Minn.—Northern Pac Ry Co v. Pioneer Fuel Co, 181 N.W. 341, 148 Minn 214.
6 C J. p 669 note 33 [a].

61. Young v. Martin, 153 P. 542, 96 Kan. 748

Presence of defendant

Where, on the hearing on the application to open the default judgment, defendant was present in the court room, presumably advising with his counsel, he ratified all his counsel had already done in his behalf, regardless of whether such counsel had been authorized prior thereto to represent him—Young v. Martin, 153 P. 542, 96 Kan. 748

62. Mich.—August v. Collins, 251 N W 565, 265 Mich. 389.
N C.—Gallup & Co. v. Rosner, 90 S. E 209, 172 N C. 283.

63. Ga.—Nisbet v. Lawson, 1 Ga. 275.
Mich.—August v. Collins, 251 N W. 565, 265 Mich. 389.

b. What Constitutes Ratification

Ratification may be express or implied and may consist of a failure to disaffirm, acceptance of benefits, or the performance of affirmative acts.

Ratification may be express, or it may be implied from circumstances;[64] whether or not the circumstances warrant the implication of ratification must, of course, depend on the facts of each particular case.[65]

Silence and inaction on the part of the client after acquiring knowledge of the facts may constitute ratification as a matter of law,[66] and, as a general rule, any failure on the part of a client to object to, or disaffirm, an unauthorized act promptly or within a reasonable time after he becomes aware of such act, will be regarded as a ratification,[67] as will also the acceptance by the client of benefits resulting from an attorney's acts.[68] A client may by acquiescence in, and adoption of an unauthorized act of his attorney ratify such act.[69] So, a ratification may be

64. Ky.—Combs' Adm'r v. Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., 33 S.W (2d) 649, 236 Ky 524
S C—Foxworth v Murchison Nat Bank, 134 S.E 428, 136 S C. 458.
6 C J p 670 note 38

65. Wood v Bangs, 48 A. 189, 13 Del. 435—6 C J. p 670 note 38.

66. McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216.

67. Ala.—Etheridge v. Caffey, 90 So 286, 206 Ala. 474
Idaho—Evans v Power County, 1 P (2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690.
Iowa—Story County Trust & Savings Bank v. Youts's Estate, 200 N.W 700, 199 Iowa 444
Ky—Combs' Adm'r v Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Co., 33 S W (2d) 649, 236 Ky 524.
Okl—Cook v Fisher, 204 P. 927, 85 Okl 109
S C—Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank 134 S.E. 428, 136 S C 458.
Utah.—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co, 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601.
6 C.J. p 670 note 39.

Failure to disavow promptly

(1) The rule that, without previous special authority, or subsequent ratification, an attorney cannot compromise a judgment and satisfy the same on payment of a part thereof, does not apply where plaintiff took no step to set aside the satisfaction until ten years after the satisfaction was entered, and seven years after the death of the attorney, that he made no claim against the estate of the attorney at any time, and that the judgment still remained unsatisfied as to four of the original codefendants.—Summerville v. Galey, 45 Pa.Super. 62.

(2) A stipulation between attorneys is presumed to have been authorized by a client where he recognizes its validity by acting under it or acquiescing in an action under it for nearly four years.—Clemens v. Gregg, 167 P. 294, 34 Cal.App 245

(3) Where the act of an attorney in submitting a controversy to arbitration is not promptly repudiated by his client, it is very generally held that the act of the attorney, even if not valid at the outset, is made valid by the acquiescence of his client—Bivans v Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co, 174 P 1126, 53 Utah 601

Promise of attorney not repudiated

Where a promise relied on by plaintiff was shown to have been made by the attorney for defendant, the attorney's authority was not repudiated by defendant, where defendant admitted owing part of the debt covered thereby, and pleaded a tender to that extent—Battle v Daniel, 89 S E. 196, 145 Ga. 331

68. U S—Maryland Casualty Co v. Beebe, (C C A Utah) 54 F (2d) 743
Cal—Faulkner v Brooks, (App) 13 P (2d) 748
Ga—Johnson v. Star Piano Co., 108 S E 811, 27 Ga App. 425.
La—Simon v. Barnett, 125 So 743, 169 La 612.
N Y—Rotberg v Hebron, 157 N Y S 788, 94 Misc 225
Pa—Commonwealth v Stephens, 173 A 869, 114 Pa Super. 126, appeal dismissed Stephens v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 55 S Ct. 353, 294 U S 691, 79 L Ed 1231
S C—Foxworth v Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S E 428, 136 S C 458.
Tex—Kreis v Kreis, (Civ App) 57 S.W (2d) 1107
Vt—Nason v Addison County Trust Co., 157 A 821, 104 Vt. 183
6 C J. p 670 note 40.
See Smith v. McBowe, 206 Ill App. 632.

Denial of authority not permitted

A party will not be permitted to deny the authority of an attorney to act for him, and at the same time take advantage of the benefits secured by the unauthorized acts of such attorney—Bush v Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 224 P. 331, 98 Okl 110

Acceptance of deed in payment of debt

A grantee, by accepting a deed of real property in payment of a debt due from the grantor, ratified the acts of an attorney for a collection agency with which the grantee had placed its claim for collection, notwithstanding such attorney had exceeded his authority and the grantee was not advised of a fraud which had been perpetrated on him, where the grantee was advised of all the facts known to such attorney and of all of such attorney's acts respecting the matter—Anglo-American Mill Co v Kentucky Bank & Trust Co, 47 S W (2d) 951, 243 Ky. 124.

Acceptance of personal property

Persons who received chattels with knowledge of a mortgage thereon and of a bill of sale thereof to their attorney for the amount of the unpaid mortgage debt could not retain the property without paying such amount—Speer v Campbell, 9 P.(2d) 1100, 167 Wash 544.

Receipt of payments out of proceeds of insurance policy, under claim against insured's estate

Where, at the insistance of the insurance company, insured had changed the beneficiary of an accident policy from a named beneficiary to the estate of insured, the beneficiary originally named, by accepting the net proceeds of the policy under a claim made by such beneficiary against the estate of insured, ratified the acts of the attorney of such beneficiary in collecting the policy in the name of the administrator of the estate of insured, who had been appointed in a proceeding conducted by the attorney, and the beneficiary could not retain such benefits and also bring an action against the insurance company on the policy.—Maryland Casualty Co v. Beebe, (C. C.A.Utah) 54 F.(2d) 743.

69. State ex inf. Talbott ex rel. Waples v. Mississippi & Fox River Drainage Dist., 238 S W. 446, 292 Mo 696

Signing amended articles of association in proceeding to establish drainage district

Even if there was a question as to the authority of attorneys for petitioning landowners in a proceeding to establish a drainage district to sign the amended articles of association for such landowners, their signatures were ratified and confirmed by the acquiescence and adoption thereof by all parties except those as to whom the proceedings were subsequently dismissed—State ex inf Talbott ex rel. Waples v Mississippi & Fox River Drainage Dist, 238 S.W. 446, 292 Mo. 696.

effected by the client's taking affirmative action in accordance with an agreement made by the attorney which was not authorized when the agreement was made.[70]

The fact that a client does not expressly disavow an act of his attorney is not, under all circumstances, conclusive of ratification.[71]

In view of the rule that knowledge of the facts is a necessary element of ratification, in the absence of knowledge on the part of the client, of the unauthorized act of his attorney, there is no duty of disaffirmance,[72] and, in general, there is not a ratification or implied assent on the part of the client where, on obtaining knowledge of the unauthorized act of the attorney, the client promptly repudiates such act.[73] Affirmative acts on the part of the client may not be given the effect of ratification, where at the time of such acts the client did not know of the unauthorized act of the attorney,[74] and the fact that the client has by his conduct apparently approved or acquiesced in the act of another does not constitute a ratification, where at the time the client gave such apparent approval he did not know that the act in question was that of his attorney, which was unauthorized.[75]

The view has been expressed that, to amount to

70. Ky.—Roberts v. Combs, 10 S.W. (2d) 608, 226 Ky. 97.
La.—Zibilich v. Rittenberg, 139 So. 309, 18 La.App. 628.
Utah—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water, and Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601.

Dismissal of suit

The above rule was recognized where the client dismissed a suit in accordance with a compromise agreement made by his attorney.—Zibilich v. Rittenberg, 139 So. 309, 18 La.App. 628.

Submission to arbitration

Where parties whose attorneys had signed an agreement for submission to arbitration appeared before the arbitrators accompanied by the attorneys and testified under oath as witnesses, the facts were sufficient to show ratification.—Blakely v. Graham, 111 Mass. 8—6 C.J. p. 670 note 38 [d].

Consent decree

When counsel employed to try a case agrees with the opposite counsel to the entry of a consent decree, which is taken and is partially performed by the client, in the absence of fraud, accident, or mistake, the decree is binding.—Wilbanks v. Wilbanks, 125 S.E. 202, 159 Ga. 196.

Compromise

The facts that a deed was prepared by an attorney, that it was executed and acknowledged by the client, and that it was delivered, accepted, and put on record constituted ratification by such client of the agreement pursuant to which the deed was given.—Roberts v. Combs, 10 S.W. (2d) 608, 226 Ky. 97.

71. Ark.—Young v. Fowler, 200 S.W. 813, 132 Ark. 145.
Ind.—Hammond v. Evans, 55 N.E. 784, 23 Ind.App. 501.
6 C.J. p. 670 note 39 [b].

Failure formally to repudiate settlement

Defendant's failure formally to notify plaintiff of defendant's repudiation of a settlement does not constitute ratification, where it is evident to plaintiff immediately after the settlement that defendant does not intend to comply therewith and, therefore, plaintiff is not prejudiced.—Sherman & Sons Co. v. Princess Shirt Waist Mfg. Co., 210 N.Y.S. 100, 213 App.Div. 140.

72. See v. Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass. 345.

Client not prevented from asserting attorney's lack of authority

Where the attorney for defendant in a suit to enjoin foreclosure of a mortgage on real property entered into a stipulation that defendant would bid at the foreclosure sale an amount equal to the amount due under the mortgage plus an amount equal to the amount of plaintiff's claim under a mechanic's lien, the facts that an ad interim injunction was dissolved in accordance with the stipulation and that plaintiff could not be restored to his rights under the injunction did not prevent defendant from asserting lack of authority of his attorney to make an agreement to pay the claim of plaintiff when the latter's lien was established, in view of the fact that defendant had no knowledge of his attorney's agreement for the payment of plaintiff's claim before an action to enforce the mechanic's lien was commenced by plaintiff.—See v. Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass. 345.

73. Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.

Compromise and settlement

The rule was applied where the attorney, who was authorized to compromise his client's case, entered into a stipulation for a compromise which violated express limitations on the attorney's authority in that regard, imposed by the client.—Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.

Partial satisfaction of judgment

Client who promptly discharged an attorney after knowing all the facts as to the attorney's acts in signing a partial satisfaction of judgment did not ratify the attorney's acts because of not making an earlier protest to the court, where the client had not been shown the paper in question and even the court and counsel could not understand what had been done without a hearing.—Broecker v. Moxley, 28 P.(2d) 409, 136 Cal.App. 248.

74. Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App.Div. 642.

Acceptance of benefits

The mere fact that a client accepted money recovered by his attorney would not amount to ratification of a void contract made by the attorney with another for obtaining evidence, in the absence of a showing that the client knew that the attorney had assumed to act for the client in employing such other.—Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.

Alimony

The acceptance by a client of payments of alimony in less amounts than was provided for in an order of court entered on a stipulation did not constitute a ratification by the client of a later unauthorized stipulation entered into by her attorney, which provided for the payment of less amounts than those fixed in the original stipulation, where the payments were received by the client without knowledge of the existence of the second stipulation.—Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App.Div. 642.

75. Central California Creditors' Ass'n v. Seeley, 267 P. 138, 91 Cal.App. 327.

Motion to amend complaint

A motion by plaintiff in attachment, made in an action by him on a bond to discharge the attachment, to amend the complaint to conform to the proof by striking from the description, in the complaint, of the obligation of the bond a promise to redeliver the attached property, which motion was granted but apparently no amendment was actually made, did not constitute a ratification of the act of plaintiff's attorney in mutilating the bond by scratching through with a lead pencil the provian implied ratification, the act of the client must be inconsistent with any reasonable hypothesis other than that of approval of the acts of the attorney.[76]

Ratification of appearance or bringing action. In general, failure of a party, for whom an attorney has appeared promptly, to disavow and disaffirm the act of the attorney in that regard, on receiving knowledge of such act, constitutes a ratification of the appearance.[77] So, an unauthorized appearance may be ratified by affirmative acts of the party for whom the appearance was made, in approval or recognition of such appearance.[78]

There is authority for the view that where a person has been joined as a party plaintiff in an action without authority from him, silence on his part, or a total failure to disclaim the authority of an attorney to bring the action on such person's behalf, after the latter has received notice of the action, constitutes a ratification.[79] Such person's failure to appear and move to have his name stricken does not, however, in all circumstances, as a matter of law, amount to a ratification;[80] a prompt disclaimer of any interest in, or connection with, the action, communicated to defendant may be sufficient to prevent charging such person on the theory of ratification.[81] A person in whose name an action or proceeding is commenced by an attorney may ratify the act of the attorney in this regard by taking steps in support or recognition of the action or proceeding.[82]

Appeal. Subsequent participation by a party who is in court on service of process and who is represented by an authorized attorney, in proceedings after appeal, constitutes ratification by such party of the unauthorized act of the attorney in taking an appeal and executing an appeal bond.[83]

Other illustrations of ratification by failure to disaffirm or acceptance of benefits. Other acts of an attorney which may be ratified by his client's failure to object to, or disaffirm, the act of the attorney promptly or within a reasonable time, are a compromise and settlement,[84] the submission of a claim sion as to redelivery, where the fact that it was the attorney who had so mutilated the bond was not known to plaintiff when the motion to amend was made and such knowledge was acquired by the client only when the attorney testified in the action after such motion was made —Central California Creditors' Ass'n v. Seeley, 267 P. 138, 91 Cal App 227.

76. Batesville Bank v. Maxey, 88 S. W. 968, 76 Ark. 472—6 C.J. p 671 note 41.

Making claim against deceased attorney's estate

The fact that a mortgagee filed a claim against the estate of his deceased attorney for the amount of the principal of the mortgage, which such attorney had collected without authority and had not paid over to the mortgagee, did not prevent the mortgagee from asserting the mortgagor's continued liability for the principal—Workman v Eyler, 121 A. 515, 94 N J Eq 526—Steadman v. Foster, 92 A. 353, 83 N J Eq 641.

Acceptance of payments which are due

There is authority for the view that the receipt of payments from another, which such other admits to be due, does not constitute ratification, by the person receiving payment, of an agreement of his attorney to forbear bringing suit against such other.—Bank of Franklin v. Trotter, 177 S E. 325, 207 N.C. 442

77. Mich.—August v. Collins, 251 N. W. 565, 265 Mich 389.
Or—Louth v. Woodard, 236 P. 480, 114 Or. 603.

Appearance for defendant not served with process

Where one of several defendants had apparent authority to authorize an attorney to appear for all defendants and conduct the case and an attorney did appear for all, failure of defendant who had not been served with process promptly to disavow the authority of the attorney to appear after acquiring knowledge of such appearance was a ratification of the appearance—Louth v. Woodard, 236 P 480, 114 Or. 603.

Permitting action to go to judgment

Where defendant, with knowledge of the pendency of an action against him in which he has not been served with process, permits the action to go to judgment against him, he thereby ratifies an attorney's appearance for him in the action.—Louth v. Woodard, 236 P 480, 114 Or. 603.

78. Robb v Vos, (Ohio) 15 S Ct. 4, 155 U S. 13, 39 L Ed. 52—6 C.J. p 670 note 38 [c].

79. Anderson v. Crawford, 94 S.E. 574, 147 Ga. 455, L R.A.1918B 894

80. Anderson v. Crawford, supra.

81. Anderson v. Crawford, supra.

82. Settlement with attorney

A plaintiff, in whose name an action was begun by an attorney without plaintiff's authorization, ratified the act of the attorney in this regard by making a settlement with the attorney and conveying his interest in the subject matter involved to a third person pursuant to the settlement.—Thomas v. Mahin, 230 P. 793, 76 Colo 200.

Taking possession of property involved

A railroad company, by taking possession of land acquired as a result of condemnation proceedings, after the bond for taking possession was filed and the tracks were laid, ratified the act of attorneys in filing the petition for condemnation—Northern Pac Ry. Co v. Pioneer Fuel Co., 181 N.W. 341, 148 Minn. 214.

Petition for appointment of substituted trustee

A person interested in a trust estate, by signing an agreement approving a trust account filed by executors of the trustee and requesting that the balance should be paid to a named corporation as substituted trustee, ratified the action of counsel in signing as her attorney a petition for the appointment of such corporation as substituted trustee—In re Large's Estate, 181 A. 859, 120 Pa Super 45.

83. August v. Collins, 251 N.W. 565, 265 Mich. 389.

Liability on bond

The rule was applied in holding appellant liable on the appeal bond—August v. Collins, 251 N.W. 565, 265 Mich 389.

84. Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co, 151 S E 818, 41 Ga App. 94.
Iowa—Fernac v. Italian Importing Co, 179 N.W. 823.
Ky—Combs' Adm'r v. Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co, 33 S.W.(2d) 649, 236 Ky. 524—Mason v. Cook, 218 S W. 740, 187 Ky. 260.
Mont.—McGinley v. Maryland Casualty Co. of Baltimore, 277 P. 414, 85 Mont. 1.

to arbitration,[85] the act of the attorney for a judgment debtor in giving directions in respect of a sale under execution,[86] a motion for a directed verdict,[87] the assignment of judgment,[88] and bidding at a foreclosure sale.[89]

Other acts of an attorney which may be ratified by his client's acceptance of benefits with knowledge of the facts, are the compromise or settlement of the client's claim,[90] an agreement for the extension of time for payment of mortgage notes,[91] attorney's indorsing check in the name of his client and cashing such check,[92] an assignment of life insurance,[93] waiver of a trial by jury,[94] and a stipulation by the attorney for the entry of judgment against his client.[95]

c. Procedural Questions in Determining Ratification

In general, the burden of proving ratification is on the party who relies on ratification as part of his case. General rules as to admissibility, weight, and sufficiency of evidence apply in determining questions as to ratification.

The burden of proof rests on the person who relies on ratification by the client,[96] including the burden of showing that plaintiff had full knowledge of all material circumstances.[97] Where a transaction which involves the assignment of a judgment by the attorney for plaintiff in the judgment is wholly in the interest of the latter, equity often presumes acceptance on the part of such plaintiff.[98]

In the determination of a question as to ratification, general rules as to the relevancy, materiality, and competency of evidence apply,[99] as do also the

NC—Chavis v. Brown, 93 S.E. 471, 174 N.C. 122
Okl—Walker v. Gulf Pipe Line Co., 226 P. 1046, 102 Okl. 7—Cook v. Fisher, 204 P. 927, 85 Okl. 109
Utah—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601
6 C.J. p. 661 notes 48, 49.

Claim for goods sold
The seller of personal property was not entitled to recover on instruments evidencing the purchase price, where the attorney for the seller had made a settlement with the buyer and the seller collected the amount of the check given pursuant to the compromise and made no objection to the settlement for several years.—Brenard Mfg. Co. v. Ferguson, 118 So. 444, 151 Miss. 602.

Executory agreement for compromise
If the only thing involved is an executory agreement to compromise or settle, which has not been acted on or completed, the client's acquiescence therein does not constitute a ratification.—Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.

85. Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601.

86. Evans v. Power County, 1 P.(2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690

87. Katzenberg v. Sats, 221 N.Y.S. 105, 129 Misc. 218.

Party present when motion made
Where a motion for a directed verdict was made by the attorney for a party in the presence and hearing of such party and such party did not dissent or disapprove, it was presumed that he consented to such motion and that he authorized in fact what his attorney did, and he could not subsequently disaffirm the act of his attorney.—Katzenberg v. Sats, 221 N.Y.S. 105, 129 Misc. 218.

88. McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216.

89. Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S.E. 428, 136 S.C. 458.

90. Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 318, 41 Ga.App. 94—Johnson v. Star Piano Co., 108 S.E. 811, 27 Ga.App. 425.
Ky.—Roberts v. Combs, 10 S.W.(2d) 603, 226 Ky. 97.
Okl.—Bush v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 224 P. 331, 98 Okl. 110
Tex.—Kreis v. Kreis, (Civ.App.) 57 S.W.(2d) 1107.

Accepting deed and claiming ownership
The facts that a deed was accepted by the grantee and put on record and that the grantee was claiming ownership of the property covered by the deed constituted ratification by the grantee of the agreement of his attorney pursuant to which the deed was given.—Roberts v. Combs, 10 S.W.(2d) 603, 226 Ky. 97.

Immediate return of proceeds
If the client returns the proceeds of the settlement immediately upon his receipt thereof he is in no way estopped from asserting the attorney's lack of authority.—Phillips-Jones Corporation v. Caskey, 128 So. 553, 14 La.App. 26, denying rehearing 127 So. 46, 13 La.App. 675

91. Simon v. Barnett, 125 So. 743, 169 La. 642.

Acceptance of better security
The holder of mortgage notes who made no objection to an agreement by his attorney for the extension of the time for payment of such notes and who accepted the benefit of better security authorized and approved the agreement, even though the making of the agreement was not originally authorized.—Simon v. Barnett, 125 So. 743, 169 La. 642.

92. Nason v. Addison County Trust Co., 157 A. 821, 104 Vt. 183.

Acceptance of attorney's personal check for part of sum
Client's retention of the proceeds of an attorney's personal check, with the knowledge that the attorney had indorsed the client's signature on a larger check payable to the client and cashed such check, constituted ratification, and the client could not recover from the trust company which cashed the check the difference between the amount of the check cashed and the amount received by the client from his attorney.—Nason v. Addison County Trust Co., 157 A. 821, 104 Vt. 183.

93. Bush v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 224 P. 331, 98 Okl. 110.

94. Crysup v. Crockett Automobile Co., (Tex.Civ.App.) 18 S.W.(2d) 715.

95. Faulkner v. Brooks, 13 P.(2d) 743, 125 Cal.App. 137.

96. Rickert v. Craddock, 157 P. 401, 98 Kan. 143.

Compromise or settlement
(1) The burden of proof rests on a party who seeks to establish the fact that a client ratified an attempted compromise or settlement of the client's claim by his attorney for less than the amount due.—Rickert v. Craddock, 157 P. 401, 98 Kan. 143.

(2) This rule has apparently been recognized in another case.—High v. Hollis, 132 S.E. 260, 35 Ga.App. 195

97. Forest Hill Permanent Bldg. Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666.

98. McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216.

99. Evidence held admissible
On an issue as to whether a landowner ratified an agreement between his attorney and the commonwealth to pay rent to the commonwealth for land taken by condemnation until the owner moved from the land, evidence general rules as to the weight and sufficiency of evidence.[1] Slight evidence of acquiescence on a client's part will be deemed a ratification of the acts of his attorney in making a compromise.[2]

Where the evidence as to ratification is conflicting, the question is one of fact for the jury.[3] In the absence both of proof of authority of plaintiff's attorney to release plaintiff's claim against defendant and of proof of ratification of an alleged release by his attorney, a request for a binding instruction for defendant, based on such alleged release, is necessarily refused.[4]

Pleading. Where in an action to recover on a claim as originally presented to defendant, plaintiff places no reliance on defendant's payment, without plaintiff's indorsement, of a voucher check given to plaintiff's attorney in settlement of the claim, defendant in pleading settlement need not plead plaintiff's ratification of the settlement which was made by plaintiff's attorney.[5]

C. PROOF OF AUTHORITY

§ 72. In General

In general an attorney is not required in the ordinary case to show his authority, in the absence of demand therefor by the court or party entitled to make demand or of a statutory requirement of written evidence of authority.

Although it is necessary that an attorney be specially authorized to act for a client as explained above in section 62, in general, in view of the presumption that an attorney is authorized to represent, or appear for, a party whom such attorney professes to represent or appear for, as shown below in section 73, the attorney's position as an officer of the court makes it unnecessary for him, in the ordinary case, to show his authority in any way,[6] unless the

as to the rental value of the land was admissible to show that the agreement was reasonable and advantageous to the landowner—Commonwealth v. Stephens, 173 A. 869, 114 Pa.Super 126, appeal dismissed Stephens v Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 55 S.Ct. 353, 294 U.S. 691, 79 L.Ed 1231

1. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To show ratification—Faulkner v Brooks, (Cal.App.) 13 P.(2d) 748—Story County Trust & Savings Bank v Youts's Estate, 200 N.W. 700, 199 Iowa 444—Hamilton v Coster, 144 N.E. 226, 249 Mass. 391—Blakely v Graham, 111 Mass. 8—6 C.J. p. 670 note 38 [a].

(2) To authorize submission to jury of question as to ratification—Darden v Baker, 137 S.E. 146, 193 N.C. 386

(3) To authorize finding that the client had ratified a settlement by his attorney for less than the full amount of the client's claim—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94

(4) To show ratification by plaintiff, in a suit to foreclose a mortgage, of a stipulation entered into by his attorney, which was actually a contract, providing for payment from the proceeds of the sale of a specified amount to a defendant in the suit, for fixtures sold by such defendant under a conditional sales contract—Rotberg v. Hebron, 157 N.Y.S. 788, 94 Misc. 225.

(5) To warrant a finding that a landowner ratified an agreement between his attorney and the commonwealth to pay rent to the commonwealth until the owner moved from his condemned land and to remit future interest on the condemnation award—Commonwealth v Stephens, 173 A. 869, 114 Pa.Super 126, appeal dismissed Stephens v. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 55 S.Ct. 353, 294 U.S. 691, 79 L.Ed 1231.

(6) To show the ratification of the act of an attorney in filing a petition for condemnation.—Northern Pac Ry Co. v Pioneer Fuel Co., 181 N.W. 341, 148 Minn. 214

(7) To support a finding, in a proceeding to vacate a judgment and to quash execution, that appearance by filing an answer in the original action was ratified—West v Muse Mercantile Co., 277 S.W. 21, 169 Ark 1212

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To show ratification—Rickert v Craddock, 157 P. 401, 98 Kan 143—6 C.J. p. 670 note 38 [b].

(2) To show, as a matter of law, that an attorney was authorized to act for a certain person, by subsequent ratification—Ryder v. Ellis, 134 N.E. 692, 241 Mass 50.

(3) To show ratification of an attempted settlement by the attorney.—Rickert v. Craddock, supra.

(4) To show that the client acted with full knowledge of all the material circumstances—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666.

(5) To show that a client was aware that his attorney had assumed to employ, or contract with, another, on the client's account, to obtain evidence to enable the client to establish a claim, so as to authorize such other to recover from the client for services in obtaining evidence—Davis v Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.

(6) Testimony of a client that he was satisfied with what the attorney did in the case did not warrant a finding of ratification by the client of the act of attorney in drawing release of cause of action—De Santis v Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N.E. 136, 289 Mass 315

2. McGinley v Maryland Casualty Co. of Baltimore, 277 P. 414, 85 Mont. 1

3. Waters v. Blackmon, 153 So. 739, 228 Ala. 462.

4. McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A. 79, 290 Pa. 74.

5. Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94.

6. Iowa.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co v Long, 257 N.W. 815, 219 Iowa 444.

Miss.—Hirsch Bros. & Co. v. R. E. Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1

Mo.—Stiles v. Cooter Gin Co., (App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 1092.

6 C.J. p. 631 note 76.

Charter provision

An attorney who appeared for defendant in an action in the city court of the city of Auburn was not required to prove his authority, under Auburn City Charter § 140—Daly v. Dennis, 242 N.Y.S. 408, 137 Misc. 1.

Proof of authority held not necessary

(1) In a partition action by the administrator and children of an intestate who owned an undivided half in realty, a motion of defendant who owned the other undivided half requiring proof of the attorneys' authority to appear for the intestate's son, was properly overruled, where the only evidence of want of authority was that of affidavit of defendant and her attorney, who did not attorney is duly called on to show his authority by the court or a party entitled to demand such showing (infra § 74) or there is a statutory requirement that the authority of the attorney shall be evidenced by writing (infra § 77). This rule applies to an attorney who appears for a corporation.[7]

There is authority for the view that it should be made to appear by the record that an attorney has authority to continue to represent his client on an application by the adverse party to enter a judgment nunc pro tunc where a judgment dismissing the action was entered several years before and such attorney's client has removed from the state.[8]

It has broadly been stated that only the attorney of record is entitled to recognition by the court.[9]

Under a statute providing that a party in any proceeding may appear, plead, prosecute, or defend, in his proper person, or by any citizen of good character, if the authority of a person other than an attorney at law is questioned, he must produce it and file it with the court,[10] and, even if not questioned, the court will ordinarily compel him to file his authority before he will be permitted to appear.[11]

§ 73. Presumption of Authority

a. In general
b. Scope of authority in general
c. Continuance of relation or authority; acts after judgment
d. Appeal

a. In General

There is a presumption that an attorney at law as an officer of the court is, in general, duly authorized to act for a client whom he professes to represent.

There is a well recognized presumption in favor of an attorney's authority, as an officer of the court, to act for any client whom he professes to represent[12] unless there has been fraud or imposiclaim that the attorneys for the son did not have authority but only that defendant and her attorney did not know where the son was—Bleakley v. Long, (Iowa) 268 N.W. 152

(2) An order to counsel for plaintiffs to file a warrant of attorney for each plaintiff, which stayed all proceedings meanwhile, did not prevent counsel for plaintiffs from taking action on plaintiffs' behalf, without establishing authority to act for plaintiffs, in proceedings on the rule to strike the name of one of the plaintiffs as a party because he was joined without his consent—Gliwa v. U. S Steel Corporation, 185 A 584, 322 Pa. 225, certiorari denied 57 S Ct. 117.

7. Manchester Bank v. Fellows, 28 N H. 302—6 C J. p 631 note 76, p 633 note 88.

8. Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Tex Civ App.) 225 S W. 69

9. Drummond v. West, 300 P. 323, 212 Cal. 766.

Attorney without standing before court

Where an action was commenced by stockholders and trustees of a corporation in the corporation itself in which it was sought to compel defendants to deliver to plaintiffs property of the corporation, and the prosecuting officer, apparently acting under Remington Rev St. § 1044, filed a petition, entitled in the pending action, for the appointment of successors in trust to take charge of the corporate property, an attorney who acted with the prosecuting attorney in filing the above petition and who was referred to in the preface of such petition as appearing for a number of stockholders of the corporation, had no standing before the court where no one represented by such attorney appeared in the action and none of the stockholders represented by him was named—State ex rel. Gardner v Superior Court for King County, (Wash.) 56 P (2d) 1315.

The mischief that might follow from holding that the acts of an unauthorized attorney are conclusive upon the person for whom he appears would induce the court to hesitate long before establishing such a rule, it would, in some degree, subject the property of every individual in the community to the mistake or malice of a particular class of men—Critchfield v Porter, 3 Ohio 519.

10. Stevens v. Fuller, 55 N.H 443.

11. Stevens v. Fuller, supra.

12. U S—In re Illinois Fireworks Co, (D C Ill.) 4 F.Suppl 200.
Ala.—Kemp v. Donovan, 94 So. 168, 208 Ala 289
Ariz—Gila Valley Electric, Gas & Water Co v. Arizona Trust & Savings Bank, 215 P. 159, 25 Ariz 177
Cal—Voinich v Rolleri, 264 P. 240, 203 Cal. 379—Miller v. Murphy, 248 P. 934, 78 Cal.App. 751.
Ga.—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S E. 63, 29 Ga.App. 107.
Ill—De St. Aubin v. King, 209 Ill App 419—Keithley v. Clark County, 206 Ill App 500—Brown v. Saathoff, 205 Ill App. 194.
Iowa—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. v. Long, 257 N W. 815, 219 Iowa 444.
Ky.—Botto v. Botto, 13 Ky Op 315—Boyd v Wilson, 11 Ky Op 547
Me—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A 382, 126 Me 537
Mich—August v. Collins, 251 N W. 565, 265 Mich 389
Miss.—Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co v. Majure, 168 So 468—Gulf Coast Motor Express Co. v. Lott, 157 So 469, 171 Miss 221—Hirsch Bros. & Co. v. R E Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss 242, 88 A.L.R. 1.
Mo—Cooper v. Armour & Co, 15 S. W (2d) 946, 222 Mo App. 1176—McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (App.) 237 S W. 1044.
Mont—In re Miller's Estate, 229 P 851, 71 Mont 330—Davenport v. Davenport, 223 P 422, 69 Mont 405—Missoula Belt Line Ry Co v. Smith, 193 P 529, 58 Mont. 432
N Y—Carpenter v. New York Trust Co, 161 N.Y S 267, 174 App.Div 378, affirmed 117 N.E. 1063, 221 N. Y. 614
N C—People's Bank of Burnsville v Penland, 173 S.E. 345, 206 N C 328
Okl—Phelan v Stockyards Bank, 32 P (2d) 270, 168 Okl. 232
Pa.—Daron v Prudential Insurance Co. of America, 26 Pa Dist 691
Tex—Hildalgo County Drainage Dist No 1 v. Magnolia Petroleum Co, (Civ.App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 875.
6 C J. p 631 note 76.

Acts binding client

When an attorney makes an appearance in a case in his client's behalf, the authority of the attorney to so act for his client is presumed, and his acts bind his client, unless it is clearly shown that such acts of the attorney were unauthorized—Overlander v Overlander, 284 P. 614, 129 Kan 709.

Appearing and filing pleading

Where an attorney appears in a tion,[13] or unless the party has objected to the use of his name.[14] Thus there is a presumption that an attorney who appears for a party in an action or litigation has authority to do so unless the contrary is shown,[15] and that an attorney who brings an action has authority to do so unless the contrary is cause and files an answer or other pleading, being an officer of the court, it is presumed that he has authority, and that what he does with relation thereto has been done with authority duly conferred.—Lawrence v. Montgomery Gas Co, 106 S E 890, 88 W. Va. 352.

Motion to vacate default judgment

On a motion to vacate a default judgment made by attorneys, the presumption is that they represented the judgment debtor—Gila Valley Electric, Gas & Water Co v Arizona Trust & Savings Bank, 215 P 159, 25 Ariz 177.

Representation before industrial commission

Where an attorney has executed and filed an application with the industrial commission for a rehearing, within thirty days after denial of a claim for compensation by the commission, the attorney signing claimant's name thereto by himself as attorney, the signing and filing of such application furnish presumptive evidence of the attorney's authority to so act in claimant's behalf—State ex rel Juergens v Industrial Commission of Ohio, 189 N E. 445, 127 Ohio St. 524.

Representation of substituted party

(1) It is presumed that an attorney who appeared in court and defended an action as representing the administratrix of the original defendant, after the administratrix had been substituted as party defendant on revival, had authority to represent the administratrix.—Nelson v. Ziegler, 220 N W. 194, 196 Wis 426

(2) In an action against a railroad company for injuries sustained during the period of federal control, where the railroad company's answer denied negligence on the part of the director general, his agents or employees, and, after substitution of the director general, the counsel filing the answer assisted in impaneling the jury and stated the substituted defendant's case to the jury, and on behalf of such defendant objected to introduction of any evidence, the court was warranted in presuming that such counsel represented the director general, especially where there was no claim to the contrary—Hines v. Smith, (C C.A Ohio) 270 F 132, certiorari denied Payne v Smith, 41 S Ct. 448, 255 U S. 576, 65 L Ed 794.

Signing answer authorizing appointment of receiver

Where receivers were appointed on a bill by a simple contract debtor and an answer, signed by an attorney, admitting that plaintiff was entitled to the relief prayed, it was presumed that the attorney was authorized to sign, the sufficiency of the answer not having been questioned during the three years it was on file—Merchants' Bank & Trust Co v. Pflug, (C.C.A.Wis) 6 F (2d) 385, certiorari denied 46 S Ct. 101, 269 U.S 572, 70 L Ed 413.

Mere lapse of time intervening after an appearance and acceptance of service by an attorney raises a presumption of authority so to act, or at least of the knowledge and acquiescence of the party therein.—Lytle v. Forest, 4 Pa Dist 292.

13. Hirsch Bros. & Co v R E Kennington Co, 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1—6 C.J. p 632 note 77

14. Md—Kelso v. Stigar, 24 A. 18, 75 Md 376
Miss—Hirsch Bros & Co v. R E. Kennington Co, 124 So 344, 155 Miss 242, 88 A L R 1.

15. U S—Feldman Inv. Co v. Connecticut General Life Ins Co, (C C A Okl) 78 F (2d) 838—Drew v Burley, (D C Or) 287 F. 916—Cooper v. Jewett, (S D) 233 F 618, 147 C C A. 426—In re Illinois Fireworks & Display Co, (D C Ill) 4 F Suppl 200.
Ala—Pallilla v. Galilee Baptist Church, 112 So 134, 215 Ala 667.
Cal—Voinich v Rolleri, 264 P 240, 203 Cal 379—Tornquist v Johnson, 13 P.(2d) 405, 124 Cal App 634—Associated Oil Co v Mullin, 294 P 421, 110 Cal App. 385—Jones v Baxter, 197 P 361, 51 Cal App 589—Walberg v. Underwood, 180 P. 55, 39 Cal App 748—Thomas v Furman, 178 P 870, 39 Cal.App. 278
D C—Pueblo of Santa Rosa v. Fall, 56 App D C. 259, 12 F (2d) 332, certiorari granted 47 S Ct. 106, 273 U S 678, 71 L Ed 836, and reversed on other grounds 47 S Ct. 361, 273 U S. 315, 71 L Ed 658.
Ga—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S E 63, 29 Ga App 107.
Iowa—Sloan v. Jepson, 252 N W. 535, 217 Iowa 1082—Fuehr v. Ehwert & Richter Express & Storage Co, 163 N.W 347, 180 Iowa 518.
Ky—King Const Co v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S W. 799, 194 Ky. 435
Miss—Hirsch Bros & Co. v R. E Kennington Co, 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A L R 1.
Mo—Stiles v. Coster Gin Co., (App) 74 S W (2d) 1092
Mont—Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v. Penwell, 42 P (2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255—Missoula Belt Line Ry Co v. Smith, 193 P. 529, 58 Mont 432.
Neb—Jordan v. Evans, 157 N W. 620, 99 Neb. 666
Okl.—Phelan v. Stockyards Bank, 32 P (2d) 270, 168 Okl 232
Pa—Taylor v. Siers, 63 Pa.Super. 564—Shure v Goodinate Co, Inc., 14 Pa Dist & Co 209—Daron v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 26 Pa Dist 691
Tex—Hidalgo County Drainage Dist. No 1 v Magnolia Petroleum Co, (Civ App) 47 S W (2d) 875.
W Va—Lawrence v. Montgomery Gas Co, 106 S E 890, 88 W Va 352
Wis—Reinkey v Wilkins, 179 N.W 751, 172 Wis 515
Wyo—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1038, 36 Wyo 53
6 C J p 631 note 76

Authority not in writing

The court may assume that an attorney entering appearance for a party is authorized to do so, although his authority is not in writing—Jacobson v Ashkinaze, 168 N E 647, 337 Ill 141, reversing 249 Ill App 479

Collateral proceedings

(1) It has been held or recognized that the above rule applies where there is a collateral attack on a judgment or decree—Louth v Woodard, 236 P 480, 114 Or. 603—34 C J. p 541 note 85

(2) Thus the rule applies where the collateral attack is made by the party against whom the decree was entered, on the ground that the attorney who appeared for such party was not authorized to appear—Louth v. Woodard, supra—34 C J p 541 note 85

(3) So, where a regular attorney at law has appeared in the case, and such appearance amounts to a submission to the court's jurisdiction, although process has not been served, it will be presumed in a collateral proceeding that such appearance was with authority from the client—Johnson v. Baumhoff, 18 S W (2d) 13, 322 Mo 1017—State ex rel Compagnie Générale Transatlantique v. Falkenhainer, 274 S W. 758, 309 Mo 224—State v. Muench, 130 S W 282, 230 Mo. 236.

One defendant appearing in action in proper person

Even though one defendant appeared in the action in proper person, where, on the hearing on demurrer, an attorney appeared for both defendants, it must be presumed, in the absence of any showing to the contrary, that his appearance was authorized, as every intendment is to be indulged in support of the judg-shown.[16] The possession by an attorney of the instrument on which the action is brought creates a presumption of such attorney's right to bring the action.[17]

The presumption in favor of the authority of the attorney is not conclusive and may be rebutted,[18] and, in general, the party for whom the attorney appeared may thereafter show that the attorney appeared without authority.[19] In general, however, in the absence of countervailing evidence, the presumption becomes conclusive.[20] As sometimes stated, the presumption that an attorney who appears for a party is duly authorized prevails until it is conclusively shown that the attorney was not authorized so to appear.[21] In other words, the authority assumed by an attorney at law to act for a party in court is valid until disproved; not void until proved.[22]

The presumption that an attorney, as an officer of court, has authority to act for a person whom he professes to represent does not arise where an attorney professes to represent a person in a transaction in which any person might act as agent.[23]

Appearance of, and action by, corporation. The general rule that there is a presumption in favor of the authority of an attorney applies as well to the appearance of a corporation by attorney as to that of a natural person.[24] Thus there is a presumption that an attorney who brings an action in the name of a corporation has authority to do so.[25]

ment and an attorney is an officer of the court and occupies a position of trust and confidence respecting the administration of justice, and it must be presumed that he will not violate his obligation by making an unauthorized appearance.—Jones v Baxter, 197 P 361, 51 Cal App 589

Recital in judgment record

Where a judgment record recites that an attorney appeared for a party, it is presumed that such appearance was authorized by such party. —Fuehr v Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co, 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 518

16. Ark.—Jones v Bank of Commerce of Fort Smith, 199 S.W. 103, 131 Ark 362—Voss v Arthurs, 195 S.W. 680, 139 Ark. 143.
Iowa.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co v. Long, 257 N.W. 815, 219 Iowa 444.
Mo.—Stiles v Cooter Gin Co, (App.) 74 S.W.(2d) 1092
Tex.—Rychener v McGuire, (Civ App.) 66 S.W.(2d) 413
W.Va.—Lawrence v Montgomery Gas Co, 106 S.E. 890, 88 W.Va. 352 —County Court of Tyler County v. Duty, 87 S.E. 256, 77 W.Va. 17
Wis.—[illegible] v Wilkins, 179 N.W. 751, 172 Wis. 515.

Bringing and continuing action

A regularly practicing attorney, as an officer of the court, is presumed to have full authority to bring and continue an action prosecuted by the party represented by him unless the contrary is shown.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co v Long, 257 N.W. 815, 219 Iowa 444

Action to recover taxes

Authority of an attorney under Acts (1921) p 676, reenacting Rev. St.(1919) § 12944, to bring an action to collect taxes on personal property, will be presumed after judgment, where it was not appropriately challenged previously, since the superior court will presume that the trial court knew that such attorney was a duly licensed attorney.—State ex rel Hawkin v. Edwards, 286 S.W. 25, 315 Mo. 209

Contest of will

Complaint of an attorney contesting a will as attorney for certain heirs, under Rev.Codes (1921) § 10029, need not allege that he is their attorney, this being presumed, without allegation or proof.—In re Miller's Estate, 229 P. 851, 71 Mont. 330.

Replevin

An attorney who enters a replevin writ is presumed to have authority to do so.—Edgecomb v. Lawlis, 140 A. 182, 126 Me. 550.

17. Reed v. Curry, 35 Ill. 536.—6 C.J. p 631 note 76 [c].

18. Cal.—Sullivan v. Dunne, 244 P. 343, 198 Cal 183
Ga.—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S.E. 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S.E. 63, 29 Ga.App. 107.
Me.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537
Miss.—Hirsch Bros. & Co. v. R. E. Kennington Co., 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1.
Mont.—Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont 255
Neb.—Kaufmann v. Drexel, 76 N.W. 559, 56 Neb. 229
6 C.J. p 633 note 80.

19. Cal.—People v Western Meat Co, 110 P. 338, 13 Cal.App. 539.
Miss.—Hirsch Bros. & Co v. R. E. Kennington Co, 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1.

20. U.S.—In re Illinois Fireworks & Display Co., (D.C.Ill.) 4 F.Supp. 200.
Miss.—Hirsch Bros. & Co v. R. E. Kennington Co, 124 So. 344, 155 Miss. 242, 88 A.L.R. 1.
6 C.J. p 633 note 79.

Collateral attack

On a collateral attack on a separation decree the authority of an attorney to appear for the person whom he assumes to represent as recited in the decree is conclusively presumed in some jurisdictions.—Barber v. Barber, 222 P. 284, 47 Nev. 377, 39 A.L.R. 706.

21. Hidalgo County Drainage Dist. No. 1 v Magnolia Petroleum Co, (Tex.Civ.App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 875

22. U.S.—Brown v Arnold, (Mo.) 131 F. 723, 67 C.C.A. 125.
Or.—Louth v Woodard, 236 P. 480, 114 Or. 603.
6 C.J. p 633 notes 83–86

23. Doeller v Mortgage Guarantee Co, 171 A. 356, 166 Md. 500

24. U.S.—Kynerd v. McCarthy, (C.C.A.Tex.) 3 F.(2d) 32.—Drew v. Burley, (D.C.Or.) 287 F. 916
Mich.—Norberg v. Heineman, 26 N.W. 481, 59 Mich. 210.
N.Y.—Attorney General v Guardian Mut. L. Ins. Co, 77 N.Y. 272.
W.Va.—Lawrence v. Montgomery Gas Co, 106 S.E. 890, 88 W.Va. 352
Wis.—Shroudenbeck v. The Phoenix Fire Ins. Co, 15 Wis. 632.
6 C.J. p 633 note 88.

Appearance for taking depositions outside state

In an action for personal injuries against a foreign corporation, appearance by regular attorney at law of a state other than the state of the forum for the purpose of taking depositions outside the state of the forum, constituting a submission to jurisdiction of the court, would be presumed to be by authority of the corporation in prohibition proceedings to prevent the court from proceeding further in the cause, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction.—State ex rel Compagnie Générale Transatlantique v. Falkenhainer, 274 S.W. 758, 309 Mo. 224.

25. Ala.—Gaines v. Tombeckbee Bank, Minor 51.
Ark.—Jones v Bank of Commerce of Fort Smith, 199 S.W. 103, 131 Ark. 362.
Iowa.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. v. Long, 257 N.W. 815, 219 Iowa 444.

Such a presumption may, however, be rebutted.[26]

Appearance of, and action by, public or political entity. The rule that there is a presumption that an attorney who appears for a party is duly authorized applies where an attorney appears for a county[27] or a drainage district.[28] So, in the case of an action brought in the name of a county, municipality, or like entity as plaintiff, the presumption has been indulged that an attorney was authorized to represent the named plaintiff or to institute the action where such attorney has signed the pleadings[29] or has instituted the action,[30] but the presumption is rebuttable.[31] In the case of an action brought in the name of the state as plaintiff, there is no presumption that the attorney, other than the attorney general or his representative, who appears as attorney for the state has authority to institute the action, to appear, and to conduct the trial of the case, where, under the governing statute, only the attorney general has authority to institute the action in question.[32]

b. Scope of Authority in General

In general there is a presumption that an attorney is authorized to act for his client in all matters involved in the action, at least in so far as his acts affect the remedy.

The authority of the leading counsel in a case to control and direct the proceedings therein is presumed,[33] and broadly speaking, there is a presumption that an attorney is authorized to do all such acts as are within the apparent scope of his authority, for his client in the institution and conduct of an action,[34] and, in the absence of a pleading questioning the attorney's acts on the ground of fraud or otherwise, such presumption is conclusive.[35] As sometimes stated, in the absence of a showing to the contrary, an attorney is presumed to have authority to perform, on behalf of his client, all acts, in or out of court, necessary or incidental to the prosecution and management of the suit, which affect the remedy only.[36] So it has been held or recognized that there is a presumption that an attorney or counsel employed in connection with certain litigation has authority to acknowledge service of summons or to waive it[37] or to enter the appearance of his client to any pleading or proceeding in the case,[38] to give notice to a public officer to release

Me.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537.

Wis.—Shroudenbeck v. The Phoenix Fire Insurance Co., 15 Wis. 700.

6 C.J. p. 633 note 88

Attorney also officer and stockholder

An attorney who verified pleadings for plaintiff corporation and who was the secretary and a stockholder of such corporation and its attorney for general purposes was presumed to have authority to maintain the suit in question.—Inter City Auto Stage Co. v. Bothell Bus Co., 247 P. 1040, 139 Wash. 674.

Bringing, filing, and signing bill

The rule that where a bill in equity is brought, signed, and filed by solicitors, the authority of the solicitors to represent plaintiff is prima facie presumed applies where a corporation is plaintiff.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537.

28. Gidwitz v. Cohn, 238 Ill.App. 227

Plaintiff corporation

(1) The presumption that an attorney who enters an appearance for a plaintiff corporation was retained by the corporation may be rebutted. —Gidwitz v. Cohn, 238 Ill.App. 227.

(2) A like rule applies to the presumption that an attorney who brings an action on behalf of a corporation was authorized to represent the corporation.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537.

27. Hidalgo County Drainage Dist. No. 1 v. Magnolia Petroleum Co., (Tex.Civ.App.) 47 S.W.(2d) 875

28. Hidalgo County Drainage Dist. No. 1 v. Magnolia Petroleum Co., supra

29. Me.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537

Tex.—Brite v. Atascosa County, (Civ. App.) 247 S.W. 878.

Bill in equity brought, signed, and filed by solicitors

In the case of a suit in equity brought in the name of a municipal corporation as plaintiff, where the bill was brought, signed, and filed by solicitors who are officers of the court, authority to represent plaintiff was prima facie presumed.—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537.

Presumption as to authority of city attorney to bring an action for, or defend an action against, city see Municipal Corporations § 2206 [44 C.J. p. 1477 notes 88–91].

30. County Court of Tyler County v. Duty, 87 S.E. 256, 77 W.Va. 17.

31. Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A. 382, 126 Me. 537

32. State v. Gattavara, (Wash.) 47 P.(2d) 18.

Action to recover premiums and penalties for benefit of compensation fund

In an action by the state on behalf of the department of labor and industries to collect premiums and penalties for the compensation fund, instituted by attorneys employed by the department, a presumption that the attorney appearing in the case had authority to do so was not available, since only the attorney general could institute such action. —State v. Gattavara, (Wash.) 47 P.(2d) 18.

33. Stoker v. Stoker, (Tex.Civ.App.) 260 S.W. 1076, construing opinion 254 S.W. 398

34. National Bond & Investment Co. v. McCoy, (Tex.Civ.App.) 263 S.W. 1089

35. National Bond & Investment Co. v. McCoy, supra.

36. Mass.—James v. James, 156 N.E. 745, 260 Mass. 19.

Miss.—Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. v. Majure, 168 So. 468

Making client party to proceeding

In a proceeding in the probate court for the appointment of a trustee, a corporation became a party to the proceeding where its name was subscribed to the petition, by its attorney, as a party interested, in the absence of a showing of lack of authority of the attorney.—James v. James, 156 N.E. 745, 260 Mass. 19.

37. McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (Mo.App.) 237 S.W. 1044—6 C.J. p. 645 note 18.

38. King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky. 435.

property attached at the instance of the client,[39] and to enter into stipulations incidental to the litigation in connection with which the attorney is employed.[40]

While ordinarily the power of an attorney to act for his client in an action is to be considered sufficient until disproved, not void or insufficient until proved,[41] the assumption by an attorney at law, even if generally retained, of authority to act for his principal outside the due and orderly prosecution, defense, or conduct of litigation or proceedings in courts does not create any presumption of actual authority so to act,[42] and where an attorney assumes so to act, his acts must be shown to be within the scope of his authority in order to bind his client.[43]

Any presumption in favor of the authority of an attorney to bind his client ceases if the court and the other parties are notified of a lack of authority before the matter is consummated.[44]

Pleading. While the pleading of formal allegations by an attorney may be presumed to be done without special instructions from his client,[45] in respect of setting out a specific cause of action or defense the attorney is presumed to act under special authorization of his client.[46]

Appointment of other counsel. There is a presumption that the nonresident attorney of a person named as a party to a proceeding has authority to appoint a resident attorney to accept service of notice of the proceedings involved.[47]

Compromise, settlement, and release. While there is authority for the view that, even where an attorney is not authorized, by virtue of his employment merely, to make a compromise, it is not necessarily to be presumed that, if he assumes the right to exercise such power, and does exercise it, he acted without lawful authority,[48] there is, in general, no presumption that an attorney who agrees to the settlement, for less than the amount due of a claim which was placed in his hands for collection, has authority to make such settlement.[49] Where, however, a compromise made by attorneys who represent the respective parties has formally been embodied in a judgment, it is presumed that the judgment was rightfully entered until the contrary is made to appear.[50]

There is authority for the view that there is a presumption that attorneys of record have authority to enter into a stipulation which amounts to an agree-

39. Bronough v. Jones, (Okl) 49 P (2d) 715

Justification for release

Notice from plaintiff's attorney of record to a public officer to release property attached at the instance of plaintiff is presumed to be given with plaintiff's authority and is as effective to justify the officer in releasing the property as though given by plaintiff himself—Bronough v. Jones, (Okl) 49 P (2d) 715.

40. Armstrong v. Brown, (Cal App) 54 P (2d) 1118.

Presumption in supplementary proceeding constituting collateral attack on judgment of authority of attorney to stipulate for change of venue see Judgments § 425 [34 C.J. p 541 note 87].

41. In re Jones' Estate, 195 N.W. 930, 111 Neb 166.

Claims or prospective claims against estate

It was said, after a statement of the above rule, that this applies to the power of an attorney in dealing with claims or prospective claims against an estate which he is actually engaged in settling—In re Jones' Estate, 195 N.W. 930, 111 Neb. 166.

42. U.S.—Horseshoe Mining Co v. Miners' Ore Sampling Co, (C.C.A. Colo) 147 F. 517

Miss—B F. Goodrich Rubber Co v. Holland, 131 So. 882, 159 Miss 346.

43. U S—Horseshoe Mining Co. v. Miners' Ore Sampling Co, (C C A. Colo) 147 F 517

Miss—B F Goodrich Rubber Co. v Holland, 131 So 882, 159 Miss 346

44. Broecker v. Morley, 28 P.(2d) 409, 136 Cal App 248.

45. Clarke v Taylor, 168 N E. 806, 269 Mass 335

46. Clarke v. Taylor, supra.

Presumption of preparation under plaintiff's instruction

Declaration drawn by attorney might be presumed to have been prepared under instructions—Peck v New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., 114 N E. 674, 225 Mass. 464.

47. Rivkin v. Niles, (Minn) 263 N. W. 920

Proceedings to extend time to redeem from foreclosure sale

The rule was applied where an attorney who acted as attorney for the mortgagee in foreclosing a mortgage subsequently became a nonresident and thereafter appointed a resident attorney to accept service of papers in a proceeding by the mortgagor to extend the time to redeem from the foreclosure sale.—Rivkin v. Niles, (Minn) 263 N.W. 920.

48. Okl—St Louis & S F R. Co. v. Leger Mill Co, 155 P. 599, 53 Okl. 127.

Tex—East Line & R R R. Co. v. Scott, 10 S W. 99, 72 Tex. 70, 13 Am.S.R. 753.

49. Cal—Jones v. Noble, 39 P (2d) 436, 3 Cal App (2d) 316

Ga—Evans v Atlanta Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, Fla., 95 S E 219, 147 Ga. 621.

Ill—Brooks v. Kearns, 86 Ill. 547

Mich—People's State Bank for Savings v Bloch, 227 N W. 778, 249 Mich 99.

Okl—Hamberger v. White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl. 736—Scott v. Moore, 152 P. 823, 52 Okl. 200.

Acceptance of payments

Even if an attorney accepted the principal, interest, and costs on a fieri facias based on a judgment on a note, and agreed with the maker not to collect attorney's fees provided for therein, such agreement would raise no presumption that the attorney was authorized by his client to make such settlement—Evans v Atlantic Nat. Bank of Jacksonville, Fla., 95 S.E 219, 147 Ga. 621

50. Cal.—Nielsen v. Emerson, 6 P. (2d) 281, 119 Cal App 214

N C—Chavis v. Brown, 93 S E. 471, 174 N.C. 122.

Tenn—Memphis Cotton Press & Storage Co. v. Hanson, 4 Tenn.App. 293.

Tex—Dunlap v. Villareal, (Civ App.) 91 S.W.(2d) 1124.

Presumption as against collateral attack of judgment of authority of attorney to compromise suit see Judgments § 425 [34 C.J. p 541 note 86].

ment for the final disposition of the case;[51] and it has even been held that an attorney who has appeared and entered into a stipulation for a party will be presumed to have authority to do so although he is not the attorney who instituted the action for the party.[52]

Where an attorney represents several fire insurance companies in connection with the settlement of a loss resulting from the same fire and such companies do not have identical interests, there is no inference that everything done by such attorney was done by him for each of the companies.[53]

There is no presumption that an attorney has authority to enter into a stipulation by which the amount of alimony payable under a court order to his client as plaintiff in a separation action is reduced.[54]

Consent to, confession of, or offer of, judgment. There is a presumption that an attorney of record has authority to make an offer to the adverse party to take judgment against such attorney's client,[55] and that an attorney who consents to a judgment against his client is authorized to give such consent.[56] The rule applies on a motion by the party against whom the judgment was entered with his attorney's consent, to set aside such judgment.[57]

On a motion by defendant to set aside a judgment by confession against him entered after proceedings in open court, there is a presumption that the attorney who confessed judgment on behalf of defendant, was an attorney of some court of record.[58]

c. Continuance of Relation or Authority; Acts after Judgment

Subject to certain limitations, there is a presumption of the continuance of the relation of attorney and client and of the authority of such attorney where such relation is shown once to have existed.

Where the relation of attorney and client is shown to have existed in a particular case or litigation, there is a presumption of the continuation of such relation, in the absence of a showing that the relation has been terminated or discontinued.[59] While, according to some cases, there is a presumption that the retainer does not extend to proceedings taken after the entry of the decree, for its enforcement,[60] under some conditions at least the rule that there is a presumption of the continuance of the relation and of the authority of the attorney has been applied or recognized in respect of continuance after judgment.[61] In any event, there is not a presumption in every case that the relation of attorney and client ceases after entry of judgment.[62]

There is authority for the view that the fact that an attorney appeared for a party and obtained the vacation of an order for the examination of such

51. State v. Superior Court in and for Clallam County, 276 P. 98, 151 Wash. 413.

Stipulation as to settlement and dismissal

(1) There is a presumption that an attorney had the consent of his client in signing a stipulation which agreed to a dismissal of the action and which recited that the subject matter had been adjusted and settled by the parties—Hill v. Wilson, 250 P. 340, 119 Or. 636.

(2) Such presumption is disputable and may be overcome by proof in a direct proceeding to set aside the unauthorized act, brought promptly on the discovery of such act.—Hill v. Wilson, supra.

52. Nielsen v. Emerson, 6 P.(2d) 281, 119 Cal.App. 214

53. Kitch v. Northwestern Nat. Ins Co., 207 N.W. 716, 189 Wis 378.

54. Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App.Div. 642.

55. Parr v. Chicago, B & Q. R Co., 184 S.W. 1169, 194 Mo.App. 416.

Presumption of attorney's authority to confess judgment in a justice of the peace court see Justices of the Peace § 106 [6 C.J. p 646 note 33].

56. Miss—Hurst v. Gulf States Creosoting Co, 141 So. 346, 163 Miss. 512—Cocke v. Wilson, 134 So 686, 161 Miss 1.

Mo—Parr v. Chicago B & Q R Co, 184 S.W. 1169, 194 Mo App 416

N C—Southern Chemical Co v. Bass, 95 S E 766, 175 N C 426—Gardner v. May, 89 S.E. 955, 172 N C 192.

Tex.—Dyer v. Johnson, (Civ.App.) 19 S.W.(2d) 421.

6 C.J. p 646 note 32.

Judgment against plaintiff

The rule applies where a judgment is entered against plaintiff with the consent of plaintiff's attorney—Hurst v. Gulf States Creosoting Co., 141 So. 346, 163 Miss. 512.

Judgment against defendant

The rule applies where a judgment is entered against defendant with the consent of his attorney—Southern Chemical Co v. Bass, 95 S.E. 766, 175 N.C. 426—Gardner v. May, 89 S.E. 955, 172 N.C. 192

Presumption as to good faith

The attorney is presumed to have acted in good faith and not to have betrayed the confidence, or sacrificed the rights, of his client—Gardner v. May, 89 S.E. 955, 172 N.C. 192.

Entry of judgment on consent of attorneys for municipal corporation

The presumption in favor of the authority of the attorney has been indulged in upholding the validity of a judgment entered on consent of attorneys who appeared for a municipal corporation in the absence of a showing of fraud or want of authority—Strand Imp Co. v. City of Long Beach, 161 P. 975, 173 Cal. 765.

57. Miss—Hurst v. Gulf States Creosoting Co, 141 So. 346, 163 Miss 512

N C—Southern Chemical Co. v Bass, 95 S E 766, 175 N C 426—Gardner v. May, 89 S.E. 955, 172 N.C. 192

58. Bowman v. Powell, 127 Ill.App. 114.

59. Cal—Dodd v. Tibbetts, 244 P. 1081, 198 Cal 333

Md—Harris v. Harris, 152 A. 359, 159 Md 624

Mo—Southard v. Nelson, 43 Mo App 210

Va—Lockard v. Whitenack, 144 S.E. 606, 151 Va. 143.

60. Ransom v. Sutherland, 9 N.W. 530, 46 Mich. 489—6 C.J. p 672 note 60

61. Cal—Dodd v. Tebbetts, 244 P. 1081, 198 Cal. 333.

Md—Harris v. Harris, 152 A. 359, 159 Md. 624.

62. People ex rel. Lax v. Ehler, 187 N.E. 630, 353 Ill. 595.

party in supplementary proceedings does not necessarily warrant a presumption that the attorney is representing such party several months later.[63]

Release and satisfaction of judgment. Under certain circumstances at least, there is a presumption that an attorney who entered satisfaction of a judgment, on receipt of the full amount of the judgment, acted by authority.[64] It has been held, however, that there is no presumption that plaintiff's attorney has authority to release and satisfy a judgment against defendant by consenting to the release and discharge of defendant from custody under a writ of capias ad satisfaciendum.[65]

Reopening or vacating judgment. There is authority for the view that the court may assume the authority of an attorney to act for his client in consenting to the reopening of a judgment, in the absence of any objection on the part of the client,[66] and that there is not necessarily a presumption that the relation of attorney and client had ceased on entry of judgment so as to render improper service on the attorney of notice of a petition to vacate the judgment.[67]

d. Appeal

Various presumptions in favor of the authority of an attorney who acts in connection with an appeal have been indulged.

There is authority for the view that there is a presumption that an attorney of record for a party in the lower court has authority to take an appeal,[68] and this presumption will prevail in the absence of a sufficient showing that such authority is lacking.[69] So also certain presumptions have been indulged in favor of the authority of the attorney to do certain acts in perfecting an appeal.[70]

The right of an attorney to sign a waiver of service of a writ of error may be presumed in the absence of a showing to the contrary.[71]

It may be presumed that an attorney who briefed an appeal for appellee had authority to do so, in the absence of a showing to the contrary.[72]

In considering the authority of an attorney to move to dismiss an appeal, the court gave effect to the presumption that an attorney is presumed to have authority in the absence of a showing to the contrary.[73]

§ 74. Objections to Authority and Demand of Proof

a. In general

b. Method of raising objection

63. McBrien v. Miller, 166 N Y S 445

64. Miller v Preston, 25 A. 1041, 154 Pa 63—Netter v Logan, 111 Pa Super 143—Summerville v. Galey, 45 Pa Super. 62—Trostle v. Harbaugh, 16 Pa.Dist & Co 13—6 C.J. p 655 notes 66, 67.

65. Seitovits v. London, 229 N.W 590, 249 Mich. 567

66. Hookey v. Greenstein, 104 N Y S. 621, 119 App Div. 209

67. People ex rel Lax v. Ehler, 187 N E 630, 353 Ill. 595.

68. Cal.—United States of Mexico v Rask, 293 P 108, 109 Cal App 497 Wyo.—Heyer v Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo 53.

Appeal by one of several defendants

Where two defendants appeared by the same attorney, the court assumed that, in respect of acts done by the attorney in connection with an appeal by one defendant from a judgment against both, the attorney continued as the attorney of record of both defendants, including the defendant who did not appeal, and held that the acts of the attorney were binding on both defendants.—Dodd v. Tebbetts, 244 P. 1081, 198 Cal. 333

69. Cal.—United States of Mexico v Rask, 293 P. 108, 109 Cal App 497. Wyo.—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo 53.

Presumption cannot be overthrown by a mere absence of evidence as to the attorney's actual authority in the premises.—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P 1028, 36 Wyo 53.

70. Huntsinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa Super 187

Notice of appeal

(1) Some cases hold that, where a notice of appeal is signed by an attorney, the presumption is that he had authority to take such action.—Title Ins. & Trust Co. v. California Development Co, 143 P 728, 168 Cal 397—United States of Mexico v Rask, 293 P 108, 109 Cal App 497—Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont 255—Ruhle v Caffrey, 174 A 204, 113 N J Law 240, reversed on other grounds 180 A 834, 115 N J Law 517—Heyer v Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo 53—6 C J p 653 note 46

(2) Such presumption can be overcome only by clear proof.—United States of Mexico v. Rask, supra.—Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, supra.—Heyer v. Hines, supra.—6 C J. p 653 note 47.

(3) And especially is this true if supported by the affidavit of the attorney himself.—Ring v Chas. Vogel Paint, etc, Co, 46 Mo App. 374.

Printing of paper books

When an attorney has been acting for defendant up to judgment, and defendant acts with the attorney in the taking of an appeal, and the attorney orders the printing of the paper books required by the rules of the appellate court, there is a presumption that the attorney is acting under authority of his client.—Huntsinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa Super. 187

Signing bond for sureties

As against objection to the sufficiency of a bond, given in connection with an appeal from an award of commissioners in condemnation proceedings, attorneys by whom names of sureties were signed thereto are presumed to be authorized to do so.—Dysart v. Wichita Falls, R & Ft W. Ry. Co., (Tex Civ.App.) 220 S.W. 277.

Stipulation for deposit of certificate of deposit in lieu of undertaking

There was a presumption that the attorney for appellant had authority to enter into a stipulation for the deposit of a certificate of deposit in lieu of a stay bond.—Armstrong v. Brown, (Cal App.) 54 P (2d) 1118.

71. Brann v. Pool, 272 S.W 691, 303 Mo 309

72. Alsmeier v. Adams, 109 N E 58, 62 Ind App 219, denying rehearing 105 N E 1033, 62 Ind App 219.

73. Interdiction of Erichson, 90 So. 235, 149 La. 895.

Attorney who withdrew from case in lower court

The above rule was applied notwithstanding the attorney who made the motion to dismiss on behalf of appellants had withdrawn from the

a. In General

On due and timely objection made in the proper court as to want of authority and demand for proof, a showing of an attorney's authority may be required.

In general, an attorney will not be required to show his authority unless it is properly called in question by a party to the proceeding or by the court,[74] and it has been said that an attorney who appears in a court of record as representative of a party litigant may not, in general, be required to prove his authority, except at the instance of the court and his client.[75] A mere request to show authority is not ordinarily sufficient for this purpose, attorneys not being bound to gratify the opposite party with a sight of their authority on slight or frivolous grounds,[76] and a rule on an attorney to show his authority will not be granted on a mere suggestion[77]

Notwithstanding the presumption in favor of an attorney's authority (supra § 73), it is necessary that the authority of the attorney shall be shown when it is properly questioned,[78] and there is a well recognized discretion in the court to call for proof of such authority when it sees fit.[79] So, in general, either party to a suit may question an attorney's right to represent his alleged client.[80] Thus, defendant may question the authority of the attorney for plaintiff to institute or prosecute the action.[81] The party for whom the attorney professes to act may, of course, question the authority of the attorney and require a determination as to such authority.[82]

While under certain circumstances a stranger to the record cannot make such an objection,[83] there is authority for the view that the court has inherent authority to call for proof of an attorney's authority, even though the information which raises the question as to such authority comes from a stranger.[84]

Persons who deal with an attorney in a transaction in which the attorney represents that he acts for another may demand evidence of the attorney's authority, where the transaction is one in which any person might act as agent.[85]

Scope of authority. The right of a third person to assert the lack of authority of an attorney in respect of certain acts by him connected with the affairs of his client has been denied,[86] especially where the client has ratified the act of his attorney.[87]

Appeal The appellate court may in a proper case permit the questioning of the authority of an attorney to take an appeal,[88] and in general the respondent or appellee may question such authority.[89] case in the lower court, as attorney for one of the appellants—Interdiction of Erichson, 90 So. 235, 149 La. 895.

74. Miller v Continental Assur. Co., 134 S.W. 1003, 233 Mo 91, Ann Cas 1912C 102—6 C J p 633 note 83

75. Stiles v Cooter Gin Co., (Mo. App.) 74 S W (2d) 1092.

76. Danville, etc, R Co v Rhodes, 36 A. 648, 180 Pa 157—6 C J. p 633 note 84.

77. Williams v Uncompahgre Canal Co., 22 P 806, 13 Colo 469

78. Gulf Coast Motor Express Co v. Lott, 157 So 469, 171 Miss 221

An attorney may be required to show his authority when it is properly challenged—Gulf Coast Motor Express Co. v Lott, 157 So. 469, 171 Miss. 221

Showing express authority

When an attorney's authority to represent a client is properly questioned, express authority must be shown for such right of representation—McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (Mo App.) 237 S W. 1044.

Proof indicating lack of authority

Where the proof indicates that an attorney may not be authorized to represent a party, the court should require evidence of authorization or strike his appearance and papers served by him—O. G. Orr & Co v Firemen's Fund Ins Co, 253 N Y S 2, 141 Misc 330, reversed on other grounds 256 N.Y.S. 79, 235 App Div 1.

79. McPike Drug Co. v Wilson, (Mo App.) 237 S W. 1044—6 C J. p 634 note 96

Authority questioned by adverse party or stranger

Where the court obtains information, either from an adverse party or from a stranger, which raises a doubt as to the authority of an attorney to act for a party, the view has been expressed that it is largely a matter of discretion with the court as to making any inquiry—McPike Drug Co v Wilson, (Mo.App.) 237 S.W 1044—Munhall v. Mitchell, 163 S.W. 912, 178 Mo App 494.

Proof in record

The requirement that an attorney file proof of his authority becomes academic, where such proof is contained in the record—First Nat Bank v. Plumpton, 203 N.Y S 102

80. U S—In re Retail Chemists Corporation, (C C A.Conn.) 66 F (2d) 605.

Mont.—Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v Penwell, 42 P (2d) 457, 99 Mont 255

Wis—Peplinsky v Billings, 252 N. W 342, 213 Wis 651.

6 C J. p 634 note 7.

81. Ky—Commonwealth v. Roberts Coal Co., 216 S W. 584, 186 Ky 394.

Wis.—Peplinsky v. Billings, 252 N. W 342, 213 Wis 651.

6 C J. p 634 note 96.

82. McPike Drug Co v. Wilson, (Mo App.) 237 S.W 1044—Munhall v Mitchell, 163 S W. 912, 178 Mo App 494

83. Bryans v. Taylor, Wright, 245—6 C J p 635 note 8.

84. McPike Drug Co v. Wilson, (Mo. App.) 237 S W 1044—Munhall v. Mitchell, 163 S W. 912, 178 Mo App 494.

85. Doeller v. Mortgage Guarantee Co, 171 A. 856, 166 Md 500.

Reliance on attorney's representations

In such case persons dealing with the attorney are not entitled to rely on his representations as to his authority—Doeller v Mortgage Guarantee Co, 171 A 856, 166 Md. 500.

86. Ala.—Pond v. Lockwood, 8 Ala 669

Ga.—Hirsch v. Fleming, 31 S.E 9, 77 Ga 594.

Assignment of judgment

The assignment of a judgment by an attorney was valid as to the judgment debtors and their terre-tenants, the assignor being the only one who could object—Hay v. Hillegass, 119 A. 588, 275 Pa 497, certiorari denied Hillegass v Rohm, 43 S Ct. 705, 262 U.S. 758, 67 L.Ed 1218.

87. Pond v. Lockwood, 8 Ala 669

88. In re Foust's Guardianship, (Minn.) 262 N.W. 875.

89. United States of Mexico v. Rask, 293 P. 108, 109 Cal App. 497.

The right of respondent to deny the authority of an attorney to take an appeal for the adverse party has been denied, where respondent asserts the authority of the attorney to file the action below, in order to support the judgment appealed from, in favor of respondent who was defendant below, in the absence of a showing of change of authority after the entry of judgment.[90] The right of certain appellants to assert the lack of authority of an attorney to represent another named appellant has been denied, where such appellants have no personal interest in the appeal in view of the fact that no judgment was rendered against such appellants in the lower court, from which an appeal would lie.[91]

Prosecuting claim under Workmen's Compensation Act. The view has been taken that an industrial board may properly require an attorney to make proof of his authority to prosecute a claim for compensation under a workmen's compensation act, where the application for compensation is made on behalf of a person who is not a resident of the United States and who is not present when the application is filed or at the hearing.[92]

Loss of right to object. The circumstances may be such as to prevent a party's taking the position that the attorney who entered his appearance for such party had no authority to represent him and that such attorney was not the attorney of record.[93] The fact that the attorney for defendant enters into a stipulation with the attorney who appears for plaintiff relating to the preparation of, and the practice in, the action may constitute a waiver by defendant of the objection as to the authority of plaintiff's attorney to bring and maintain the action.[94]

Time of making objection or demand. Ordinarily, an objection based on want of authority of an attorney should be made promptly[95] or at the earliest opportunity,[96] preferably at the term at which appearance is first made;[97] otherwise, according to some authorities, the adverse party waives the want of authority and consents to the appearance of the attorney.[98] Furthermore, a party may lose his right to question the appearance for him of an attorney by failure to dissent and to raise the objection with due diligence.[99] In respect of the power of the court to require a showing of authority, however, the view has been taken that the trial court, or the appellate court has power, at any stage of the case, to require an attorney to show his authority to appear.[1]

The application for plaintiff's attorney to show authority should, ordinarily be made before a plea has been filed.[2] Defendant's attorney may, however, be required to show his authority, even after he has filed a plea at plaintiff's demand.[3]

The authority of an attorney to represent his alleged client cannot ordinarily be questioned at the 90. United States of Mexico v. Rask, supra.

91. Miller v. Continental Assur. Co. of America, 134 S.W. 1003, 233 Mo. 91, Ann.Cas.1912C 102—6 C.J. p. 635 note 3 [a].

92. Kuratnik v. Illinois Steel Co., 159 N.E. 693, 87 Ind.App. 357.

93. Madden v. Madden, 192 N.W. 665, 222 Mich. 404.

Secret agreement between party and attorney

A litigant having no way of knowing who represents the adverse party except by the record, any secret or private agreement between such adverse party and his attorney would not be binding on such litigant, and, in the absence of any stipulation or order of substitution, such adverse party should not be permitted to say that his attorney of record does not have authority to represent him.—Madden v. Madden, 192 N.W. 665, 222 Mich. 404.

94. Arrington v. Sizemore, 43 S.W. (2d) 699, 241 Ky. 171.

95. Colo.—Williams v. Uncompahgre Canal Co., 22 P. 806, 13 Colo. 469. Pa.—Kissick v. Hunter, 39 A. 83, 184 Pa. 174.
6 C.J. p. 635 note 11.

96. In re Miller's Estate, 229 P. 851, 71 Mont. 330—Missoula Belt Line Ry. Co. v. Smith, 193 P. 529, 58 Mont. 432.

97. Mitchell v. Church of Christ at Mt. Olive, 122 So. 341, 219 Ala. 322—6 C.J. p. 635 note 12.

98. In re Miller's Estate, 229 P. 851, 71 Mont. 330—Missoula Belt Line Ry. Co. v. Smith, 193 P. 529, 58 Mont. 432—6 C.J. p. 635 note 13.

Raising question collaterally after three years

Where receivers were appointed on a bill by a simple contract creditor and defendant's answer admitting that plaintiff was entitled to the relief prayed, one not a party to the bill could not avoid the effect of the answer, in giving the court jurisdiction to appoint a receiver, by claiming for the first time and collaterally, three years after the answer was filed, that it was not verified, and was signed by the attorney.—Merchants' Bank & Trust Co. v. Pflug, (C.C.A. Wis.) 6 F.(2d) 385, certiorari denied 46 S.Ct. 101, 269 U.S. 572, 70 L.Ed. 413.

99. Bogardus v. Livingston, 2 Hilt. (N.Y.) 236.

1. Pueblo of Santa Rosa v. Fall, 47 S.Ct. 361, 273 U.S. 315, 71 L.Ed. 658, reversing 56 App.D.C. 259, 12 F.(2d) 332, certiorari granted 47 S.Ct. 106, 273 U.S. 673, 71 L.Ed. 836.

Authority of plaintiff's counsel

(1) It has been said that the general rule seems to be that at any stage of the proceedings, when it is properly suggested to the court that a party plaintiff is represented by unauthorized counsel, the court may call on such counsel to show his authority.—Walker v. Sutherland, 299 P. 335, 136 Or. 355, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 30, 284 U.S. 649, 76 L.Ed. 551.

(2) The authority of an attorney appearing for the alien property custodian to maintain suit may be questioned at any stage of the case and the attorney required to show his authority.—Sutherland v. International Ins. Co. of New York, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 43 F.(2d) 969, certiorari denied 51 S.Ct. 103, 282 U.S. 890, 75 L.Ed. 785.—Sutherland v. International Ins. Co. of New York, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 43 F.(2d) 972, certiorari denied 51 S.Ct. 103, 282 U.S. 890, 75 L.Ed. 785.

2. Doe v. Abbott, 44 So. 637, 152 Ala. 243, 126 Am.S.R. 30—6 C.J. p. 635 note 14.

3. Westbrook v. Blood, 15 N.W. 544, 50 Mich. 443.

trial.[4] It has been held, however, that it is within the discretion of the trial court to postpone a decision as to the authority of an attorney to bring an action as attorney for the named plaintiff until final hearing on the merits.[5]

After final judgment, only the party who was not properly represented can take advantage of an unauthorized appearance by an attorney;[6] the judgment debtor who has properly been represented cannot object to the judgment on the ground that the judgment creditor was not represented by an attorney who was authorized to represent such creditor.[7]

Taking, or representation on, appeal. An objection to an attorney's authority to take an appeal must be made by respondent at the earliest possible moment; otherwise the objection is waived.[8] Since, however, respondent is entitled to rely on the presumption that the taking of the appeal was authorized (supra § 73) until advised to the contrary,[9] an objection is timely and there is no waiver where such objection is made promptly after respondent acquires knowledge of the want of authority.[10]

An appellant, on whose behalf an appeal has been taken by an attorney, must urge the attorney's lack of authority promptly on learning that the appeal has been taken, and, if he does not, he is estopped from objecting to the attorney's lack of authority after judgment has gone against him in the appellate court.[11]

Jurisdiction to determine. The court where the wrongful appearance was entered or the unauthorized suit brought is the proper tribunal to pass on the question of authority.[12]

Where an attorney acknowledges service on a bill of exceptions for a party without being employed by such party, the appellate court does not have jurisdiction to try the issue as to whether or not such acknowledgment was authorized.[13]

b. Method of Raising Objection

In general, the proper method to raise an objection based on want of authority of an attorney to appear is by a proper motion or petition directly raising the question.

In general, the rule seems to be that the authority for an attorney to appear may not be called into question except by a motion or petition made directly for that purpose.[14] In any event, a proper method of raising the question as to the authority of the attorney is a motion,[15] as, for example, a motion to 4. Doe v. Abbott, 44 So. 637, 152 Ala. 243, 126 Am S R 30.

Reason for rule

It is the proper practice to raise the question as to an attorney's authority to bring an action by motion (infra b herein) and not at the trial, because the question is one of practice and is not an issue in the action—O G Orr & Co v Fireman's Fund Ins Co, 253 N Y S. 2, 141 Misc 330, reversed on other grounds 256 N.Y.S 79, 235 App Div. 1.

5. Pueblo of Santa Rosa v Fall, 47 S Ct. 361, 273 U S. 315, 71 L Ed 658, reversing 56 App D C. 259, 12 F (2d) 332, certiorari granted 47 S Ct 106, 273 U S 678, 71 L Ed 836

6. Walker v. Sutherland, 299 P 335, 136 Or 355, certiorari denied 52 S Ct 30, 284 U S 649, 76 L Ed 551.

7. Walker v Sutherland, supra

8. Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v. Penwell, 42 P (2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255

9. Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, supra.

10. Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, supra

11. Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co v. Majure, (Miss.) 168 So. 468.

12. Iowa—Krause v. Hampton, 11 Iowa 457.
Mich—Dehn v Dehn, 136 N W. 453, 170 Mich 407
Mo—Miller v Continental Assur Co, 134 S.W. 1003, 233 Mo. 91, 98, Ann. Cas 1912C 102—Clark v. Holliday, 9 Mo. 711.

Trial court

Determination of the actual existence of the presumed authority of an attorney attempting to act for an insane client rests with the trial court—Sullivan v. Dunne, 244 P. 343, 198 Cal 133

13. Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S.E. 63, 29 Ga App. 107.

Remedies available

The right of the party aggrieved is an action in damages against the attorney for any loss or injury sustained by reason of such attorney's unauthorized appearance, or by a petition in equity in the superior court to set aside any judgment against such party in the higher court in consequence of such unauthorized acknowledgment of service—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S E. 63, 29 Ga.App 107.

14. N.Y.—Institute of Educational Travel v. Binkerd, 153 N Y.S 427, 90 Misc. 325
Pa—Daron v. Prudential Ins. Co. of America, 26 Pa Dist. 691.
6 C J. p 635 note 18.

Reason for rule

It is the proper practice to raise the question as to an attorney's authority to bring an action by motion, because the question is one of practice and is not an issue in the action—O. G. Orr & Co v. Fireman's Fund Ins Co, 253 N Y S 2, 141 Misc 330, reversed on other grounds 256 N.Y S 79, 235 App Div. 1.

Authority to commence action

(1) The proper procedure for defendant to question the authority of counsel representing plaintiff to institute or prosecute the action is by a motion supported by affidavit—Chesapeake & O Ry Co v Commonwealth, 225 S W. 145, 189 Ky 465.

(2) The authority of an attorney, appearing for a corporation in an action brought in the name of the corporation as plaintiff must be questioned by motion—Institute of Educational Travel v Binkerd, 153 N Y.S 427, 90 Misc 325.

Statutory provisions

Where an attorney signed the pleadings on behalf of a county in a suit brought in the name of a county as plaintiff, no attack could be made on such attorney's authority to represent the county, in the absence of a motion under Vernon's Sayles' Civ St Annot (1914) art 335, in writing under oath stating that defendant believed that such suit was instituted against defendant without authority on the part of plaintiff's attorney—Brite v. Atascosa County, (Tex Civ App) 247 S W. 878.

15. Mitchell v. Church of Christ at Mt. Olive, 122 So. 341, 219 Ala. 322—6 C J. p 635 note 18.

vacate the appearance[16] or to dismiss the action,[17] or for an order requiring that authority be shown.[18]

The question as to an attorney's authority to represent an alleged client may not, as a general rule, be raised by demurrer[19] or by motion to strike the pleading filed by such attorney.[20] While there is authority for the view that the question as to an attorney's authority to bring an action for another may, under certain circumstances, be raised by plea,[21] usually the question as to an attorney's authority may not be raised by plea or answer.[22]

Questions as to the right to open or vacate a judgment on the ground of invalidity because of the unauthorized appearance of an attorney are considered in section 267 of the title Judgments [34 C.J. p 272 note 72–p 274 note 78], questions as to the right to assert, on a collateral attack on a judgment, the want of authority of an attorney to appear for, or to represent, an alleged client in the action in which the judgment was rendered are considered in section 424 of the title Judgments [34 C.J. p 537 notes 68–70].

Affidavits. There is authority for the view that a motion or petition to require a showing of the authority of an attorney to appear should be supported by an affidavit[23] showing, in the first instance, prima facie a want of authority (infra § 76 c). In some jurisdictions, however, the view has been expressed that the showing of reasonable cause in support of the motion must be by affidavit or otherwise,[24] and, therefore, it has been held that an affidavit is not absolutely essential; something short of an affidavit may constitute a sufficient showing to justify the granting of an order requiring an attorney to produce and prove his authority.[25]

The affidavits should state facts showing why the motion should be granted,[26] and it is not enough to allege generally, on information and belief, that the attorney acts without authority.[27]

Notice. There should be notice of the motion, and an ex parte request for a rule for an attorney to show his authority has been held bad.[28]

§ 75. Disclosure of Client's Name, Residence, and Address

The court may compel an attorney to disclose the name and residence of his client, in a pending action or proceeding.

The court has a right to compel an attorney to disclose the name and residence of his alleged client,[29] where such disclosure is necessary in the Authority of plaintiff's attorney

Defendant in any action has the right to question by motion, supported by affidavit, the authority of counsel representing plaintiff to institute or prosecute the action.—Commonwealth v Roberts Coal Co, 216 S. W 584, 186 Ky 394

16. Connifield v Thorp, (Alaska) 71 F 924, appeal dismissed 83 F 1022, 27 C C A 686.

17. Bonnifield v Thorp, supra.

Motion to dismiss as proper method to question authority of attorney to bring suit see Dismissal and Nonsuit § 57 [18 C J p 1182 note 69].

18. U S—Bonnifield v Thorp, supra.

Mont—Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255.

19. Ark.—State v. Baxter, 38 Ark 462.

Miss—Gulf Coast Motor Express Co v Lott, 157 So 469, 171 Miss 221—Gibson v State, 59 Miss. 341.

Authority to bring suit

(1) The power of counsel to bring a suit may not be questioned by demurrer.—People ex rel. Courtney v. Ashton, 192 N.E 320, 358 Ill. 146.

(2) The view has been taken that a bill is not subject to demurrer for failure to state that plaintiff religious society authorized the legal procedure.—Mitchell v. Church of Christ at Mt Olive, 122 So. 341, 219 Ala. 322.

(3) Authorization of a village to solicitors to bring suit to enjoin the violation of an ordinance may not be raised by demurrer, at least, not by general demurrer—Inhabitants of York Harbor Village Corporation v. Libby, 140 A 382, 126 Me 537.

20. Gulf Coast Motor Express Co. v. Lott, 157 So. 469, 171 Miss 221.

21. Mitchell v Church of Christ at Mt Olive, 122 So 341, 219 Ala 322

22. Institute of Educational Travel, 153 N Y S 427, 90 Misc 325—6 C J p 636 note 25

Action in name of corporation

The authority of an attorney who appeared for a corporation in an action brought in the name of the corporation as plaintiff could not be questioned by answer—Institute of Educational Travel v. Binkerd, 153 N Y S. 427, 90 Misc. 325

23. U S.—Bonnifield v Thorp, (Alaska) 71 F. 924, appeal dismissed 83 F 1022, 27 C C A. 686

Ky—Chesapeake & O Ry. Co. v Commonwealth, 225 S.W. 145, 189 Ky 465.

6 C.J. p 635 note 18.

24. Missoula Belt Line Ry. Co. v. Smith, 193 P 529, 58 Mont 432.

25. Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255.

Statements in letters

Statements in letters of statutory trustees for liquidation of a defunct corporation that they never authorized their cotrustee, who was an attorney, to prosecute an appeal from an order appointing a receiver were sufficient to justify an order requiring the cotrustee to produce and prove his authority to appear for the other trustees on appeal—Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v Penwell, 42 P (2d) 457, 99 Mont 255

26. Daron v. Prudential Ins Co. of America, 26 Pa.Dist 691—6 C J p 636 note 26.

27. People v. Mariposa Co, 39 Cal. 683—6 C J p 636 note 26

28. Minn—Farrington v. Wright, 1 Minn 241.

N.H—Beckley v. Newcomb, 24 N H 359

Pa—Com v. Serfass, 5 Pa Co. 133, 3 Del Co 418.

29. McBrien v. Miller, 166 N Y S. 445—Ninety-Nine Plaintiffs v. Vanderbilt, 11 N Y Super 632, 1 Abb. Pr 193, 10 How Pr. 324—6 C J. p 634 note 98.

Duty to disclose name of client

An attorney at law who filed an answer, appearing for Richard Roe, owed the duty to the trial court to disclose the real name of his client, whether it was himself or some other person—Geary v. Stafford, 275 P. 865, 98 Cal App. 84.

interest of justice, in order to protect the rights of the adverse party to the action.[30] This power to compel disclosure, however, is confined to the action or proceeding in which the attorney purports to represent his client,[31] and it must be exercised during the pendency of the action and while the relation of attorney and client actually exists.[32] In an action gone to judgment an attorney cannot be compelled to disclose his former client's residence, so that he may be pursued in subsequent litigations.[33] Furthermore, there is authority for the view that whether or not the court will compel an attorney to disclose the names of persons whom such attorney represents in a particular proceeding is within the discretion of the court.[34]

The penalty of refusing the information is visited on the client by staying his action, or, if a defendant, by striking out his plea.[35] No punishment is, however, inflicted on the attorney who is the mere confidential agent of his client and is supposed to be acting by his command,[36] unless he has been guilty of deceit,[37] in which case he may be charged with the costs of a reference to determine the client's residence.[38]

§ 76. Evidence of Authority

a. Burden of proof
b. Admissibility
c. Weight and sufficiency

a. Burden of Proof

(1) In general
(2) Scope of authority

(1) In General

In general, the burden is on the party who denies the authority of an attorney to represent, or appear for, another to prove want of authority.

While it has been broadly stated that, where the authority of an attorney to appear on behalf of defendant is questioned, the burden is cast on the party asserting the authority to prove the same, since such party is in possession of the facts,[39] in view of the presumption in favor of the authority of an attorney who professes to represent, or who appears for, a client or party (supra § 73), in general the burden of proof is on the side denying an attorney's authority.[40] Thus, a party who questions the authority of an attorney to appear for the opposite party has the burden of proving want of authority.[41]

30. Matter of Trainor, 130 N Y S 682, 146 App.Div. 117—6 C J. p 634 note 99.

31. Hyman v Corgil Realty Co., 149 N.Y.S. 493, 164 App Div. 140—Matter of Malcom, 113 N.Y.S 666, 129 App Div. 226

Attorney representing party in different action

An attorney who does not appear for any party to an action should not be required to disclose the addresses of certain persons who are named as parties, in order that process may be served on such persons, notwithstanding the attorney has acted as attorney for such persons in another action—Brooklyn Sav. Bank v Park Slope Realty Corporation, 260 N.Y.S. 503, 146 Misc. 4

Motion to require attorney to reveal address of administrator

(1) Where there was no proceeding in the surrogate's court as to an estate, and it did not appear that an attorney was the attorney for the administrator in any proceeding therein pending, such attorney could not, on petition by claimant, be required to reveal the administrator's address—In re Schroeder's Estate, 157 N Y S 142, 93 Misc 404, 16 Mills Surr. 188.

(2) The facts that the moving papers on an application for an order directing an attorney at law to disclose the address of the administrator of a decedent's estate were served on such attorney and that, immediately under his signature acknowledging such service, there appear the words "Attorney for" the administrator, in the handwriting of a person other than such attorney, do not constitute an acknowledgment by the attorney that he is attorney for the administrator on the application to compel disclosure of the administrator's address—In re Schroeder's Estate, 157 N.Y S 142, 93 Misc 404, 16 Mills Surr. 188

32. Matter of Trainor, 130 N Y S 682, 146 App.Div. 117—Matter of Malcom, 113 N Y S 666, 129 App Div 226

After relation of attorney and client has ceased, the attorney cannot be compelled to disclose the residence of the client—McBrien v Miller, 166 N.Y S. 445

33. Hyman v. Corgil Realty Co., 149 N.Y.S 493, 164 App Div. 140—6 C. J. p 634 note 3.

34. State v American University of Sanipractic, 250 P. 52, 140 Wash 625

Private counsel associated with attorney general

Denial of a motion to require counsel, associated with the attorney general in quo warranto proceeding against a corporation conducting a school for drugless healing, to disclose the names of persons whom such counsel represented was within the discretion of the trial court—State v. American University of Sanipractic, 250 P. 52, 140 Wash. 625

35. McBrien v. Miller, 166 N.Y.S. 445—6 C J. p 634 note 4.

36. McBrien v Miller, supra—Walton v Fairchild, 4 N Y S. 552

37. McBrien v. Miller, 166 N Y S. 445.

38. Baur v. Betz, 1 How Pr (N S) 344, affirmed 99 N Y. 672.

39. Gaston & Co v All Russian Zemsky Union, 224 N Y S 522, 221 App.Div. 732.

40. U S.—Feldman Inv Co. v. Connecticut General Life Ins. Co., (C. C A Okl.) 78 F (2d) 838.
Ala.—Pallilla v Galilee Baptist Church, 113 So 134, 215 Ala. 667
Neb.—Jordan v Evans, 157 N W 620, 99 Neb 666
6 C J p 636 note 29.

Motion to dissolve attachment

In an action wherein defendant sought dissolution and dismissal of an attachment on the ground that attorneys had no authority to represent plaintiff, the burden was on defendant to prove lack of attorneys' authority.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. v Long, 257 N W 815, 219 Iowa 444

41. Iowa.—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. v. Long, supra.
Mo.—Stiles v Cooter Gin Co., (App.) 74 S W.(2d) 1092
Mont.—Union Bank & Trust Co of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255
Pa.—Daron v Prudential Ins Co. of America, 26 Pa Dist 691
Wis.—Peplinsky v. Billings, 252 N. W 342, 213 Wis 651—Reinkey v. Wilkins, 179 N.W. 751, 172 Wis. 515.

There is authority for the view that the burden is on a person who claims that an appearance for him by an attorney was not authorized, to show want of authority of the attorney,[42] but according to some cases, after the party whom an attorney professes to represent has denied his authority, the burden of showing authority is on the attorney.[43]

Where the attorney shows his authority, it devolves on the party who challenges such authority to show that it is invalid and insufficient.[44]

There is authority for the view that, where an attorney at law denies that he represented a certain person in a particular transaction, the burden is on the party who relies on the alleged fact that the attorney did represent such person, as a basis for such party's right to recover, to prove such alleged representation.[45]

Attack on judgment. In general, where want of authority to appear for a party, against whom judgment has been rendered, is alleged, to invalidate the judgment, the burden of proving such want of authority is on the party who asserts such want.[46] Thus, defendant in an action must show want of authority of an attorney, where defendant seeks to have a decree against him, which was entered on the consent of an attorney, set aside on the ground that the appearance of such attorney for defendant was not authorized and, therefore, that the court did not have jurisdiction to enter the judgment.[47]

(2) Scope of Authority

A party who relies on the act of an attorney for the other party to avoid liability may, under certain circumstances, have the burden to establish that the act was within the scope of the authority of such attorney. In respect of certain acts of an attorney performed in the course of litigation, the burden to show want of authority is on the party who asserts such want of authority.

Where defendant relies on an act of plaintiff's attorney as a defense to the action it has been held or recognized that defendant has the burden of proving that the act was within the authority of the agent,[48] at least where the act relied on is not one which is ordinarily within the scope of an attorney's employment, as for example, a compromise or settlement for less than the amount due, entered into by plaintiff's attorney,[49] or the alleged release by plaintiff's attorney of defendant's liability.[50] So, according to some cases, where a mortgagor relies on the alleged agency of an attorney at law to receive payments of principal for the mortgagee, the burden of proving such agency rests on the mortgagor.[51] Where, however, a compromise made by the attorneys for the respective parties as formally embodied in a judgment, the view has been taken that the party who assails such judgment has the burden to show

Wyo.—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53.
6 C.J. p. 636 note 29.

42. U.S.—Cooper v. Jewett, (S.D.) 233 F. 618, 147 C.C.A. 426.
Pa.—Taylor v. Siers, 68 Pa. Super. 564.

After an appearance in a trial on the merits, plaintiff ought not to be deprived of the result on the theory that defendant was not regularly in court, without some evidence from the latter that the attorney assuming to represent him was not authorized so to do.—Taylor v. Siers, 63 Pa. Super. 564.

43. Riley v. O'Kelly, 157 S.W. 566, 250 Mo. 647.—6 C.J. p. 636 note 30.

44. Gulf Coast Motor Express Co. v. Lott, 157 So. 469, 171 Miss. 221.

45. Planters' Mfg. Co. v. Greenwood Agency Co., 152 So. 476, 168 Miss. 892.

46. Connell v. Gallagher, 55 N.W. 229, 36 Neb. 749.

Suit to set aside judgment

A party who filed a petition in equity to set aside a judgment, and who admitted that an attorney had appeared for him, had the burden to establish that such appearance was not authorized.—Bond v. Epley, 48 Iowa 600.

Collateral attack

In the case of a collateral attack on a decree by the party against whom the decree was entered, on the ground that the attorney who appeared for such party had no authority to appear, such party has the burden to prove want of authority of the attorney.—Louth v. Woodard, 236 P. 480, 114 Or. 602.

47. Feldman Inv. Co. v. Connecticut General Life Ins. Co., (C.C.A. Okl.) 78 F.(2d) 838.

48. Forest Hill Permanent Bldg. Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666.

Endorsement of check

Where a building association delivered a check for a loan to the borrower's attorney, and directed the bank to pay it on the attorney's indorsement, and was sued by the borrower, the burden rested on such association to prove the attorney's authority to indorse the check.—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg. Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666.

49. Ga.—High v. Hollis, 132 S.E. 260, 35 Ga. App. 195.

Kan.—Rickert v. Craddock, 157 P. 401, 98 Kan. 143.

Defendant assuming burden of proof

Where defendant contended that he settled plaintiff's claim by paying plaintiff's attorney less than the full amount thereof, the burden was on defendant to show affirmatively the attorney's special authority to make settlement, especially where defendant admitted a prima facie case for plaintiff and assumed the burden of proof.—High v. Hollis, 132 S.E. 260, 35 Ga. App. 195.

50. J. D. Halstead Lumber Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., 298 P. 925, 38 Ariz. 228.

Release of indemnitor

In an action by an indemnitee against an indemnitor, who had given a bond of indemnity to enforce the liability of the indemnitor, the latter has the burden to prove that the indemnitee's attorney had authority to execute a release of the liability of the indemnitor, which the latter set up as a defense.—J. D. Halstead Lumber Co. v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., 298 P. 925, 38 Ariz. 228.

51. Brientnall v. Peters, 176 A. 240, 317 Pa. 356.—Judith v. Di Cola, 176 A. 238, 317 Pa. 353.—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa. Super. 262.

want of authority of his attorney to make such compromise.[52]

A party who relies on a statement which, it is alleged, was made by an attorney at law, as a basis for recovery by such party, has the burden to prove that the making of such alleged statement was within the scope of such attorney's alleged agency for another.[53]

In respect of certain matters arising in the course of litigation, the view has been taken that the burden of showing want of authority of the attorney is on the party who relies on, or asserts, such want of authority; thus, there is authority for the view that the burden of showing want of authority is on a party who seeks to be relieved from a stipulation entered into by the attorneys of record, which amounts to an agreement for a final disposition of the case.[54] So, where a client denies the authority of an attorney whom such client has employed in particular litigation, to enter an appearance for the client to any pleading or proceeding in the case, the client has the burden of proving want of authority.[55]

Consent judgment and offer of judgment. On a motion by defendant to set aside a judgment against him entered by consent of his attorney, defendant has the burden of proving that he did not consent, and that his attorney did not have authority to consent, to the judgment.[56] So, in a suit to set aside a judgment entered pursuant to an agreement between the attorneys, on the ground that the attorneys who signed the agreement acted without authority, plaintiff has the burden of proving the facts on which they rely.[57]

There is authority for the view that the burden of showing want of authority of an attorney of record to make an offer to the adverse party to take judgment against such attorney's client is on the party who questions such authority, unless such authority is denied by the attorney's client.[58]

Appeal. The burden is on the party who denies the authority of an attorney, who represented a party in the lower court, to appeal, to establish want of authority;[59] but on a prima facie showing by respondent that the attorney who took an appeal had no authority from appellant to do so, it devolves on the attorney to show that he was authorized to prosecute the appeal.[60]

b. Admissibility

In general, any competent and relevant evidence is admissible to show the authority of an attorney to act for another and, also, the scope of his authority.

Proof of retainer and authority may be made in the same way that any other fact is proved. Thus, a written recognition of an attorney's authority is always admissible,[61] as is proof of conduct constituting an estoppel[62] or other circumstance constituting legal evidence.[63] The appearance of an attorney for a party is received as evidence of his authority to represent such party.[64]

There is authority for the view that where, on an application to reopen a default judgment against defendant, no issue is squarely raised as to the right of an attorney to appear for defendant, it is not error to exclude evidence to show want of authority of the attorney.[65]

52. Chavis v. Brown, 93 S.E. 471, 174 N.C. 122.

53. Miss.—Planters' Mfg. Co. v. Greenwood Agency Co., 152 So. 476, 168 Miss. 892.
Okl.—Calloway v. State, 246 P. 873, 117 Okl. 43.

54. State v. Superior Court in and for Clallam County, 276 P. 98, 151 Wash. 413.

55. King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky. 435.

56. People's Bank of Burnsville v. Penland, 173 S.E. 345, 206 N.C. 323.—Southern Chemical Co. v. Bass, 95 S.E. 766, 175 N.C. 426.—Gardner v. May, 89 S.E. 955, 172 N.C. 192.

57. Pierce v. Foreign Mission Board of Southern Baptist Convention, (Tex.Civ.App.) 218 S.W. 140, reversed on other grounds (Com.App.) 235 S.W. 552.

58. Parr v. Chicago, B. & Q. Co., 184 S.W. 1169, 194 Mo.App. 416.

59. Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53.

60. Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255.

61. Stream v. Lloyd, 21 N.E. 533, 128 Ill. 492.—6 C.J. p. 636 note 31

62. Cal.—Kelly v. Ning Yung Benev. Assoc., 84 P. 321, 2 Cal.App. 460
W.Va.—Teter v. Irwin, 71 S.E. 115, 69 W.Va. 200, Ann.Cas.1913A. 707.

63. Ga.—Glover v. Summerour, 141 S.E. 211, 165 Ga. 513.
Mass.—Massachusetts Northeastern St. Ry. Co. v. Plum Island Beach Co., 151 N.E. 84, 255 Mass. 104.
6 C.J. p. 636 note 33.

Preparation of instrument in name of others

Where, in an action by a husband and wife to recover a statutory penalty for failure of defendant, after demand, to satisfy a mortgage of record, which plaintiffs had given, it appeared that the demand was prepared by plaintiffs' attorney and signed in the names of plaintiffs, evidence of the husband as to conversations with his wife in respect of employing an attorney and making request to satisfy the mortgage of record was admissible.—Bank of Odenville v. Hannah, 101 So. 589, 211 Ala. 648.

Representation after termination of original suit

Notwithstanding a solicitor's disavowal of authority to represent client in proceedings following the termination of the original suit, the solicitor's conduct in pleading and continuing to appear could be considered.—Harris v. Harris, 152 A. 359, 159 Md. 624.

64. U.S.—Osborn v. U. S. Bank, (Ohio) 9 Wheat. 738, 6 L.Ed. 204.
Ind.—State Bank of Indiana v. Bell, 5 Blackf. 127.
Me.—Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me. 224, 14 Am.D. 656.
Vt.—Addison v. Bishop, 2 Vt. 231.

65. Young v. Martin, 153 P. 542, 96 Kan. 748.

Competent and relevant evidence to show the limits of the attorney's authority is admissible.[66] As against the client or alleged client, the declarations of an attorney are not, as a rule, admissible to show the existence of the relation of attorney and client[67] or the scope of the attorney's employment.[68] Where, however, there is evidence other than the attorney's declarations, which is sufficient prima facie to show the attorney's authority, the declarations of the attorney are admissible in corroboration, if they were part of the res gestæ and were made at the time of the transaction in question.[69]

As bearing on the claim that the relation of attorney and client does not exist between a certain attorney and plaintiff in an action, notwithstanding the name of such attorney appears on plaintiff's petition, it is proper to receive testimony to the effect that the name of such attorney appeared on the petition through mistake and that he has no connection with the case, both from the person who is plaintiff's attorney[70] and also from the attorney whose relation to plaintiff is in question.[71]

c. Weight and Sufficiency

(1) In general

(2) Scope of authority

(1) In General

In general, want of authority of an attorney who appears for, or professes to represent, another must be established by clear and satisfactory evidence.

A rule on an attorney to show his authority will not be granted on a mere suggestion (supra § 74); in the case of a rule or motion, there must, in the first instance, be a prima facie showing of a want of authority,[72] and, on hearing, such want must be established by clear and positive proofs.[73]

The evidence of authority produced in favor of an attorney must be satisfactory;[74] yet that may be regarded as satisfactory evidence which would be insufficient evidence of such authority if it was a fact in issue in the suit.[75] A rule of court, providing that in all cases of divorce the attorneys appearing for a defendant who has not been personally served shall by affidavit show their authority to act for such defendant, requires such showing where the summons was served on defendant by registered mail, as service by registered mail is not personal service.[76]

In favor of the alleged client and against a third person, the appearance of an attorney for such client is sufficient to show that such attorney was authorized to represent such client, in the absence of evidence to the contrary.[77] Even against the alleged client, the appearance of an attorney for him in a suit or action is prima facie evidence of the attorney's authority,[78] and clear and satisfactory proof is necessary to overcome the presumption, considered above in § 73, that an attorney is authorized to appear for the client whom the attorney professes to represent.[79] So, the appearance of an attorney at

66. To show authority to put contract in acceptable form, not to make contract
Evidence that an attorney to whom a broker was directed to submit a proposed contract for the sale of real property represented the owner only for putting the contract in acceptable form, not as an agent empowered to make a contract, was properly admitted—Webb v. Watson, 130 So. 211, 221 Ala. 595

67. McFarland's Adm'r v McFarland, 30 S.W.(2d) 958, 235 Ky. 283

68. West v A. F. Messick Grocery Co., 50 S.E. 565, 138 N.C. 166.
Compromise or release
Authority of an attorney to compromise or release a claim cannot be established by the declarations of the attorney—J. D. Halstead Lumber Co. v Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., 298 P. 925, 38 Ariz. 228.

69. Ferguson v Lewis, (Tex.Civ. App.) 290 S.W. 858.

70. Johnson v. Morris, 108 S.E. 810, 27 Ga.App. 463

71. Johnson v. Morris, supra.

72. Williams v. Uncompahgre Canal Co., 22 P. 806, 13 Colo. 469—6 C.J. p. 637 note 37.

73. Bonnifield v Thorp, (D.C.Alaska) 71 F. 924, appeal dismissed 33 F. 1022, 27 C.C.A. 686—6 C.J. p. 637 note 38

74. Low v. Settle, 22 W.Va. 387—6 C.J. p. 637 note 39
Representation before industrial board in compensation case
Alien claimant's power of attorney to a foreign consul as attorney in fact and the consul's certificate of employment of an attorney at law constituted sufficient proof of the authority of the attorney at law to represent claimant in a compensation proceeding before the industrial board—Kuratnik v Illinois Steel Co., 159 N.E. 693, 87 Ind.App. 357.

75. Low v. Settle, 22 W.Va. 387.

76. Cubbison v Cubbison, (Ariz.) 40 P.(2d) 86.

77. Ala.—Kemp v Donovan, 94 So. 168, 208 Ala. 289.
Or.—State ex rel. Estes, 51 P. 77, 34 Or. 196.
See De St. Aubin v. King, 209 Ill. App. 419.
Evidence held insufficient to justify dissolution of attachment on the ground that the attorney for plaintiff had no authority to prosecute and continue the litigation—Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. v. Long, 257 N.W. 815, 219 Iowa 444.

78. U.S.—In re Illinois Fireworks & Display Co., (D.C.Ill.) 4 F.Supp. 200
Ind.—Neff v City of Indianapolis, 198 N.E. 828.
Or.—Louth v Woodard, 236 P. 480, 114 Or. 603
Record showing an appearance by an attorney for a party is only prima facie evidence of authority of the attorney, as against such party—Simonson v. Typer, (C.C.A.Wyo.) 235 F. 240—Blyth v. Swenson, 49 P. 1037, 15 Utah 345.

79. Iowa.—Walsh v. Doran, 123 N.W. 999, 145 Iowa 110.
Neb.—Jordan v. Evans, 157 N.W. 620, 99 Neb. 666
Pa.—Lyttle v Forest, 4 Pa.Dist. 292.
Suit to set aside or cancel judgment
The above rule has been recognized in a suit in equity to cancel or set aside a judgment, where plaintiff in such suit alleged that the attorney who appeared for him in the action in which the judgment was rendered was not authorized to appear.—Sloan v Jepson, 252 N.W. 535, 217 Iowa 1082—Walsh v. Doran, 123 N.W. 999, 145 Iowa 110—Turner v. Turner, 74 P. 55, 33 Wash. 118.

law for a corporation is, in the first instance, at least, sufficient evidence of his authority.[80] There is even authority for the view that a declaration by an attorney that he is employed by, or authorized to represent, a party is sufficient evidence of his authority in the case of an individual or corporate party.[81]

An affidavit by a named plaintiff to the effect that the action is being prosecuted without his knowledge or consent and that he has no claim against the named defendant is prima facie sufficient to show want of authority of the attorney to prosecute the action.[82]

The fact that an attorney possesses authority to represent a client in one case is not evidence of the attorney's authority to represent such client in another and distinct proceeding,[83] and employment of an attorney to conduct a suit does not of itself tend to show his employment to conduct other suits, even though the same transaction or occurrence may be the occasion for all of them.[84]

Where the attorney shows his authority, the party who challenges such authority must show by positive proof that it is invalid and insufficient.[85]

In the notes are cited cases in which the sufficiency of evidence has been considered in determining whether or not an attorney was employed by, or was authorized to represent, a particular client, or whether or not the relation of attorney and client between them was created.[86]

Lack of authority, knowledge, and acquiescence

Where defendant sought to open a judgment on the ground that the attorney who accepted service and appeared did so without authority, the clear proof on defendant's part must extend not only to lack of authority but also, under some circumstances at least, to lack of knowledge and acquiescence—Lyttle v. Forest, 4 Pa. Dist 292

Evidence held sufficient

(1) To overcome the presumption of the authority of an attorney to act for the party whom the attorney professed to represent—Cooper v Armour, 15 S.W.(2d) 946, 222 Mo App. 1176

(2) To support a finding that an attorney had no authority to appear for a particular defendant—Simonson v. Typer, (C C A.Wyo.) 285 F. 240—Park, Grant & Morris v Shannon & Mott Co., 167 N.W. 285, 140 Minn. 60—People's Bank of Burnsville v. Penland, 178 S E 345, 206 N C. 823—6 C J. p 637 note 38 [a].

(3) To show that attorney had authority to represent party for whom he appeared—August v. Collins, 251 N.W. 565, 265 Mich 389.

(4) To show that an attorney had authority to enter his appearance as solicitor for defendant in an action for divorce rather than merely to assist another attorney.—Madden v. Madden, 192 N W 665, 232 Mich. 404.

Evidence held insufficient to overcome the presumption of authority—Sloan v. Jepson, 252 N.W. 535, 217 Iowa 1082—Walsh v. Doran, 123 N W. 999, 145 Iowa 110—6 C J. p 637 note 38 [c].

80. U S—Osborn v. U. S Bank, (Ohio) 9 Wheat. 738, 6 L Ed 204. Me—Penobscot Boom Corp. v. Lamson, 16 Me 224, 14 Am.D. 656.

81. Me—Bridgton v. Bennett, 23 Me. 420—Penobscot Boom Corp v Lamson, 16 Me 224, 14 Am.D 658. N H—Manchester Bank v. Fellows, 28 N H 302

82. Bell v Farwell, 89 Ill App 638, affirmed 59 N E. 955, 189 Ill 414

83. Sullivan v. Dunne, 244 P. 348, 198 Cal. 183.

84. Gibbs v. Lumbermen's Mut Casualty Co, 173 A. 372, 87 N H 19.

85. Gulf Coast Motor Express Co. v Lott, 157 So. 469, 171 Miss 221.

86. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To show employment—Anderson v Lundt, 206 N W 657, 200 Iowa 1265. See Benko v. Lenard, 191 Ill App 600—Burns v. Illinois Cent R Co, 190 Ill App. 191.

(2) To permit an inference of the existence of the relation of attorney and client.—Waters v. Blackmon, 153 So 739, 228 Ala. 462.

(3) To support a finding that an attorney was authorized to act for another in a certain matter—Etheridge v Caffey, 90 So. 286, 206 Ala 474—Myers v Kirk, 135 S E. 788, 192 N.C. 700

(4) To support a finding that an attorney was the attorney for a party to a transaction, notwithstanding such party's denial—Texas Bridge Co v. Brown-Crummer Inv. Co, 231 P. 1042, 117 Kan 359.

(5) To support a finding that an attorney was authorized to appear or act for a certain corporation.—Feldman Inv. Co. v. Connecticut General Life Ins. Co., (C C.A.Okl.) 78 F (2d) 888.

(6) To support a finding that defendant corporation had employed a certain attorney with authority to enter its appearance in an action—Heinemann Dry Goods Co v Schiff, 268 S W. 596, 167 Ark. 422.

(7) To show that an attorney was employed by a creditor to collect a debt—Austin v. Bullitt, 3 Ky.Op. 47.

(8) To support a trial court's finding that an attorney negotiating a loan for a client and overseeing the application of its proceeds was the client's agent—Haedge v. Gaver, 217 N W 109, 173 Minn 207.

(9) To show in a proceeding by certiorari to review assessment of relator's realty, that the attorney who sued out the writ was employed by a corporation, which relator had employed to secure a reduction of assessment.—People ex rel Trojan Realty Co v. Purdy, 162 N.Y S. 56, 174 App Div. 702.

(10) To show that the attorney for the guarantor of a note had no authority to represent the holder of the note in making a joint bid at a foreclosure sale, on behalf of the guarantor and the holder—J D Halstead Lumber Co v Security Title Insurance & Guarantee Co, 3 P (2d) 52, 116 Cal App 679.

(11) To show that the relation of attorney and client had never existed between plaintiff in the action at bar and a certain attorney, so as to render inapplicable the rule that an attorney who acquires knowledge of the affairs of another pending the relationship of attorney and client between them cannot use such knowledge afterward to the detriment of his former client—Johnson v Morris, 108 S E. 810, 27 Ga App 463.

(12) To show, in a suit to prevent the enforcement of a judgment, that an attorney who appeared for the party against whom the judgment was given was not authorized to appear—Handley v Jackson, 50 P. 915, 31 Or. 552, 65 Am S R. 839.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To show that the relation of attorney and client existed—McFarland's Adm'r v. McFarland, 30 S W. (2d) 958, 235 Ky. 282.

(2) To show that an attorney was the agent of, or represented, another, in the particular matter involved.—

(2) Scope of Authority

The authority of an attorney to perform certain acts for his client may be inferred from circumstances. Proof to overcome a presumption in favor of an attorney's authority must be clear. Clear and satisfactory evidence showing that the attorney of record in the lower court is without authority to take an appeal is necessary in order to overcome a presumption of his authority to take an appeal.

The authority of an attorney to perform certain acts on behalf of his client may be inferred from circumstances.[87] Where there is a presumption of the authority of an attorney for a party to litigation to perform a certain act, the proof to establish lack of authority should be clear.[88]

In an action on a compromise agreement, entered into by defendant's attorney, for breach of performance, there must be evidence showing the giving of authority to the attorney to compromise, or showing consent to, or ratification of, the agreement, where such authority is challenged and want of authority is put in issue,[89] but the view has been expressed that slight evidence may be sufficient to authorize the belief that an attorney was clothed with the authority to compromise, which he undertook to exercise,[90] or to take the case to the jury on the issue as to such authority.[91]

In the notes will be found illustrations of cases in which the sufficiency of evidence as to the scope of an attorney's authority was involved, as, for example, as to his authority to sign a written instrument on behalf of his client,[92] to enter into a contract,[93] to complete negotiations as to the amendment of a lease, or as to the waiver of its terms,[94] to give a license for the use of a patent,[95] to make a com-

Purnell v Union Trust Co. of Maryland, 173 A. 1, 167 Md 85—Planters' Mfg. Co. v. Greenwood Agency Co, 152 So 476, 168 Miss 892

(3) To show as a matter of law that an attorney was acting for a specified person in the transaction involved—Ryder v. Ellis, 134 N E 692, 241 Mass. 50

(4) To show that attorneys had authority to institute actions—Chunes v. Duluth, W. & P. Ry. Co, (D C Minn) 298 F. 964.

Preparation of mortgage

The mere fact that an attorney draws notes and mortgages is not sufficient to show that he acted as attorney for the mortgagee, inasmuch as an attorney often performs such services for the mortgagor—McFarland's Adm'r v McFarland, 80 S W. (2d) 958, 235 Ky 283

Inquiry as to whether attorney available

A letter in substance asking an attorney whether he is in a position to handle an action is insufficient to show authority to appear generally.—American Sardine Co. v. Olsen, 102 A. 797, 117 Me 26.

Action in name of dissolved corporation

Affirmative acts of one director of a dissolved corporation in authorizing an attorney to bring an action, and the silent acquiescence by the other surviving directors with knowledge thereof, were sufficient authority for bringing the action—O G. Orr & Co v. Fireman's Fund Ins Co, 256 N Y.S. 79, 235 App Div. 1, reversing 253 N.Y S 2, 141 Misc. 330

Authority to make motion to vacate default judgment

Striking a motion to vacate a default judgment because of counsel's want of authority to represent defendant was error in the absence of anything on the face of the record showing want of authority, where the motion was filed by attorneys admitted to practice and purported to be on behalf of defendant corporation only, and was verified by one of the attorneys filing it, who under oath stated that he was the attorney for defendant and had full authority to represent it—Gulf Coast Motor Express Co v. Lott, 157 So. 469, 171 Miss. 221.

Service of summons signed by attorney

Plaintiff showing service of summons, properly signed by attorneys, on defendants in personal injury suit, established prima facie such attorneys' authority to appear for plaintiff—Peplinsky v Billings, 252 N W. 342, 213 Wis. 651.

87. Ala—McFry v. Stewart, 121 So 517, 219 Ala 216
Mass—Barnes v Boardman, 21 N E 308, 149 Mass 106, 3 L R A 785
S C—Foxworth v Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S E 428, 136 S C 458.
6 C J. p 653 note 43.

88. Hill v. Wilson, 250 P 840, 119 Or 636.

Stipulation

The rule applies where there is a presumption that an attorney has authority to enter into a stipulation—Hill v. Wilson, 250 P. 840, 119 Or. 636.

89. Jones v Noble, 39 P.(2d) 486, 3 Cal App (2d) 316.

90. East Line & R R R. Co v. Scott, 10 S W. 99, 72 Tex. 70, 13 Am S R. 758

91. St Louis & S F. R Co v. Leger Mill Co, 155 P. 599, 53 Okl. 127.

92. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To show that the attorney for the purchaser of real property had authority to sign the contract of purchase—Hamilton v. Coster, 144 N E. 226, 249 Mass 391.

(2) To warrant a finding by the jury that a client authorized his signature to a demand for satisfaction of a mortgage of record, or that he ratified such signature before delivery to the mortgagee—Bank of Odenville v. Hannah, 101 So. 589, 211 Ala. 643

93. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To show that a mortgagee either authorized or ratified the making of a stipulation which amounted to a contract providing for the payment, out of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged premises, of a certain amount to persons who had installed certain property on the premises under a conditional sales contract—Rotberg v Hebron, 157 N.Y. S 783, 94 Misc 225

(2) To support a finding that an attorney to whom a claim had been turned over for collection by a credit and collection corporation was an agent of such corporation and authorized to enter into a contract for towing, storing, and repairing an automobile, the assignment of which had been directed as a result of supplementary proceedings in connection with the enforcement of the claim—Hill v. Creditors' Nat Clearing House, 194 N E 138, 289 Mass. 437.

(3) To show that a judgment debtor and judgment creditor were responsible for acts of their attorneys during negotiations preceding a sheriff's sale.—Stockwell v McAlvay, (Cal App) 57 P (2d) 957.

94. Evidence held insufficient to show that the attorney for lessors had authority to complete negotiations as to amendment or waiver or to draw a deed of trust involved—Lake Shore Country Club v. Brand, 171 N E. 494, 339 Ill. 504

95. Evidence held sufficient to show promise or settlement,[96] to enter into an agreement to release an adverse party from liability,[97] to collect a debt,[98] to pay a debt or obligation,[99] to assign a mortgage,[1] to obtain possession of certain property for the purpose of sale or delivery to a third person,[2] to receive notice from insured under a liability policy of claim against insured and to conduct the defense,[3] to dismiss a cross complaint and that the equitable owner of a patent did not authorize an attorney to bind it in negotiations for licensing defendant—Hilditch v. American Bumper Corporation, (D C N.Y.) 15 F (2d) 451.

96. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To sustain a finding that the client authorized his attorney to make a settlement—Sette v. Sette, 295 P. 1096, 132 Kan. 375.

(2) To establish that an attorney was employed by defendant and directed to negotiate for the settlement of a claim against defendant which resulted in the stating of the account on which suit was brought—Fleschler v. Strauss, (Cal App.) 60 P. (2d) 193.

(3) To sustain a finding that a party had knowledge of, and approved, a settlement—La Marche v Schoenrock, 247 N.W. 852, 211 Wis 300.

(4) To sustain a finding that the settlement made was the one authorized by the client and that such settlement was not inequitable—Sette v. Sette, 295 P. 1096, 132 Kan 375.

(5) To show that counsel was authorized to make settlement of a copyright infringement suit on the terms named in the agreement—Baldwin Law Pub Co. v. Mog, (C C A. Ohio) 10 F (2d) 269.

(6) To support a finding that the attorney for certain heirs in a suit to partition decedent's property had no authority to make a final settlement agreement—Dawson v. Hotchkiss, 169 S E. 564, 160 Va 577.

Evidence held insufficient to show, on a motion of plaintiff to set aside a judgment entered pursuant to a compromise, that plaintiff's attorney did not have authority to make the compromise—Chavis v. Brown, 93 S E 471, 174 N C 122

97. Evidence held sufficient to raise the issue as to attorney's authority to enter into an agreement to release adverse party from liability—Ferguson v. Lewis, (Tex Civ.App.) 290 S W. 858.

Authority not shown

Evidence that an attorney represented an indemnitee in regard to fidelity and surety claims was insufficient to establish attorney's authority to release indemnitor from liability.—J D Halstead Lumber Co, v. Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co, 293 P. 925, 38 Ariz 228.

98. Evidence held sufficient to show the authority of the attorney for a mortgagee to collect the amount of a mortgage and to deliver the mortgage to the mortgagor—Downing v Coffey, 166 So 414, 231 Ala. 678.

Evidence held insufficient

(1) To show that the attorney for a mortgagee had authority to receive payments of the principal—Brientnall v. Peters, 176 A 240, 317 Pa 356—Judith v. Di Cola, 176 A. 238, 317 Pa 353—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa Super. 263.

(2) To show that an attorney for a mortgagee had authority to receive payment of the principal of the mortgage and to cancel the mortgage—Workman v. Eyler, 121 A. 515, 94 N J.Eq 526.

(3) To show that a mortgagee held out his attorney as an agent authorized to receive payments of the mortgage principal—Zimmer to Use of Hammer v. Zsigmond, 167 A. 405, 109 Pa Super. 322.

Acquiescence in similar acts

(1) Evidence that "in some cases" the attorney for a mortgagee had collected, and the mortgagee had accepted, payments of principal on mortgage loans which the attorney had made to certain mortgagors on behalf of the mortgagee did not establish authority of the attorney to collect the principal of another mortgage, for the same mortgagee, where the placing of mortgages and the collection of interest by the attorney extended over a period of twelve years—Brientnall v. Peters, 176 A. 240, 317 Pa 356.

(2) Evidence that, "in some instances," an attorney had collected payments of the principal on mortgage loans made to mortgagors, on the mortgagee's behalf, eleven years and more before the mortgage under consideration, running to the same mortgagee, was executed did not establish the attorney's authority, on the theory of the principal's acquiescence in a series of similar acts by his agent, to collect the principal on the mortgage under consideration—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa Super. 263.

(3) Evidence that in two instances the mortgagee received payment of the principal on mortgages through an attorney is not of itself sufficient to permit an inference that the attorney was authorized to collect the principal for such mortgagee in other cases—Borland v. Wible, 94 Pa Super. 41.

99. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To show that an attorney was authorized to use part of a loan to his client to satisfy an existing mortgage—Etheridge v. Caffey, 90 So. 286, 206 Ala. 474.

(2) To show that an attorney, employed by a mortgagor to procure a loan and also acting for the mortgagee in obtaining the mortgage, became the mortgagor's agent when the mortgagor left checks she indorsed to tax collectors in the attorney's possession for the payment of taxes, thus requiring the mortgagor to bear the loss due to the attorney's failure to pay the taxes—Steehler v Volk, 167 A. 424, 109 Pa. Super. 190.

1. Evidence held insufficient to show any agency on the part of an attorney to assign a bond and mortgage, which he obtained from the mortgagee by fraudulent representations, or to show an estoppel of the mortgagee to assert a claim of ownership as against one to whom the attorney had transferred the mortgage as security for a loan—Noland v. Law, 170 S E. 439, 170 S C 345.

2. Evidence held sufficient to show that the attorney for the administrator of an estate was not authorized to obtain possession of certain negotiable instruments, which were part of the estate, for the purpose of sale or delivery to a third person—Wilkinson v. Zumwalt, 297 P. 94, 112 Cal. App 416.

3. Evidence held insufficient to permit a finding, in assumpsit on a policy insuring plaintiff's automobile liability, of attorneys' actual or implied authority from insurer to receive notice, and conduct defense, of the action against insured—Gibbs v. Lumbermen's Mut Casualty Co., 173 A. 372, 87 N.H 19.

Apparent authority

An automobile liability insurer's direction that one claiming damages from insured refer any claim to insurer's claim agent and the employment of attorneys to defend previous suits arising out of the same accident did not authorize a finding of such attorneys' apparent authority to receive notice of and defend later suit by claimant—Gibbs v. Lumbermen's Mut. Casualty Co., 173 A. 372, 87 N.H. 19.

to withdraw an answer,[4] to sign a consent judgment,[5] to enter a satisfaction of judgment,[6] and to subscribe for corporate stock.[7]

Authority with respect to appeals. Where the authority of an attorney of record, in the lower court, of the named appellant to take an appeal is questioned by respondent, the presumption, recognized in some jurisdictions at least, that such attorney has authority to take the appeal (supra § 73) will prevail, in the absence of clear and satisfactory evidence showing that such authority is lacking.[8] The presumption that an attorney for a party in the lower court has authority to take an appeal is not overcome by a mere absence of evidence of such attorney's actual authority.[9] Where, however, there is a sufficient showing to put the attorney on his proof of authority to prosecute the appeal, evidence that the attorney had authority to represent the named appellant on prior occasions and in the lower court in the present case is not sufficient to show his authority to prosecute the appeal.[10]

The presumption of an attorney's right to sign as attorney of record a waiver of service of a writ of error is overcome, where the record fails to show that the attorney was the attorney of record of a particular appellee for whom the attorney signed the waiver.[11]

The fact that an attorney had withdrawn in the lower court as attorney for one of two appellants is no evidence that he does not represent the other appellant, so as to have authority to move to dismiss the appeal.[12]

§ 77. Written Authority

Usually a warrant of attorney is not required under the present practice.

In early practice a warrant of attorney to sue or defend was a special warrant from the crown, authorizing a party to appoint an attorney to sue or defend for him.[13] Later, when the parties themselves had the right to authorize their attorneys, it was defined as a special authority, given by a party to his attorney, to commence a suit, or to appear and defend a suit, in his behalf.[14]

While some statutes provide for the exhibition of written authorization under certain conditions,[15]

4. Evidence showing want of authority

The presentation by plaintiff, who had consented to the entry of judgment on a cross complaint filed by one of the defendants, of a communication from such defendant to plaintiff to the effect that no one was authorized to withdraw the cross complaint and answer of such defendant, was sufficient to support the denial of a motion by the attorney of record of such defendant to dismiss the cross complaint and to withdraw the answer—Red Bud Realty Co v. South, 241 S.W. 21, 153 Ark 330

5. Evidence held sufficient

(1) To support a finding, on plaintiff's motion to set aside a judgment entered by consent, that plaintiff's attorney had authority to sign the consent judgment.—Alston v Southern Ry Co, 176 S.E 292, 207 N C 114.

(2) To support a finding, on defendant's motion to set aside a judgment by consent, that the attorney who signed the consent judgment had not been authorized—People's Bank of Burnsville v Penland, 178 S E 345, 206 N C 323

6. Evidence held sufficient to sustain a finding that a party had knowledge of, and approved, a satisfaction of judgment—La Marche v. Schoenrock, 247 N.W 852, 211 Wis 300.

Evidence held insufficient to overcome the presumption that an attorney was authorized to enter a satisfaction of judgment—Trostle v. Harbaugh, 16 Pa Dist & Co 18.

7. Evidence held sufficient to show that an attorney was authorized to subscribe for stock on behalf of defendants sued for unpaid subscription—Teiser v. Swirsky, 2 P (2d) 920, 137 Or 595, rehearing denied 4 P (2d) 322, 137 Or. 595.

8. United States of Mexico v. Rask, 293 P 108, 109 Cal.App 497

Change of authority

Respondent, who relies on the existence of the authority of the attorney for the opposite party to commence the action, in order to support the judgment appealed from, which is in favor of respondent as defendant in the lower court, may not successfully deny the authority of such attorney to take an appeal, in the absence of a clear and satisfactory showing that a change in authority occurred after the entry of judgment.—United States of Mexico v. Rask, 293 P 108, 109 Cal App 497.

Evidence held insufficient to overcome the presumption that an attorney of record in the lower court had authority to take an appeal—United States of Mexico v. Rask, 293 P 108, 109 Cal App 497

9. Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1023, 36 Wyo 53.

10. Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255.

11. Brann v. Pool, 272 S.W. 691, 308 Mo 309.

12. Interdiction of Erichson, 90 So 235, 149 La. 895.

13. Cyclopedic L D., quoted in First Nat Bank of Kansas City v. White, 120 S W 36, 39, 220 Mo. 717, 132 Am S R 612, 16 Ann Cas. 889.

Early common law

"At common law the plaintiff and defendant must, in general, have appeared in person and could not have appeared by attorney, without the king's special warrant, by writ or letters patent"—1 Tidd Pr., quoted in First Nat Bank of Kansas City v. White, 120 S W 36, 39, 220 Mo. 717, 132 Am S R 612, 16 Ann Cas. 889.

14. Cyclopedic L D, quoted in First Nat Bank of Kansas City v. White, 120 S W 36, 220 Mo 717, 132 Am. S R 612, 16 Ann Cas 889

"Even when the parties began appointing attorneys, it was done by parol in open court, but later by writing denominated 'warrants of attorney.'"—1 Tidd Pr., quoted in First Nat. Bank of Kansas City v. White, 120 S W 36, 39, 220 Mo 717, 132 Am. S R 612, 16 Ann Cas 889

These warrants are now in disuse, although formal entries of them on the record were long retained in practice—Cyclopedic L D, quoted in First Nat Bank Kansas City v. White, 120 S W 36, 39, 220 Mo 717, 132 Am.S.R 612, 16 Ann Cas. 889.

15. In Montana an heir who, as the records of an estate in the course of administration showed, was a non-resident of the United States, whose rights must be determined un-as a general rule, it is no longer necessary, in the case either of an individual or of a corporation, for an attorney to have a warrant of attorney,[16] authority by parol being sufficient.[17] There is, however, no objection to a written warrant, and in case one is given an attorney is bound to produce it when properly called on to do so.[18]

On an application in a surrogate's court, brought in the name of a nonresident to compel the judicial settlement of an account, the court has denied the right to file the petition until the attorney for the named applicant should present an authorization from such applicant empowering the attorney to appear, initiate, and prosecute the proceeding.[19]

§ 78. Determination and Order or Rule

a. In general
b. Order or rule

a. In General

When the issue as to an attorney's authority is duly submitted to the court, it may in general determine the matter in a summary way. Where the question as to an der Rev Codes § 7673, as amended by L (1913) c 54, prior to distribution, was not required, on appearing in advance of a decree of distribution, to file written evidence of her attorney's authority, as in proceedings to determine heirship—State v. District Court of Thirteenth Judicial Dist. in and for Yellowstone County, 203 P. 360, 62 Mont. 60.

In New York

(1) By virtue of statute [now embodied in Civ Pract Rules, rule 55], written evidence of the authority of the attorney for plaintiff to commence an action of ejectment might be required—Stewart v Butler, 59 N Y S 573, 27 Misc. 708—Stewart v. Hilton, 58 N.Y.S. 415, 27 Misc 239—6 C J. p 633 note 92 [a]

(2) A verification of the complaint by plaintiff was sufficient evidence of authority under this statute—Graham v Andrews, 32 N.Y S 795, 11 Misc 649, 24 N Y Civ Proc. 263.

In North Carolina

(1) In a suit by a wife, pursuant to L (1919) c 24, to have allotted and paid a reasonable subsistence from the estate of her husband, who was a nonresident and a fugitive from justice, the trial court should have required counsel for the husband to file written authority, as required by Revisal (1905) § 213, to appear specially for such husband to move to dismiss the wife's attachment of his land.—Walton v. Walton, 100 S E. 176, 178 N C. 73

(2) The propriety of an order requiring all counsel appearing in the case to file written powers of attorney has been recognized—Irwin v. City of Charlotte, 136 S E. 368, 193 N C. 109

In Pennsylvania

(1) Under the act of April 14, 1834, P L p 354 (17 Pub St § 1632), providing that the attorney for plaintiff in every action, shall, if required, file his warrant of attorney in the office of the prothonotary or clerk of the court in which such action shall be depending, it has long been settled that the court has the undoubted right to require the attorney to present his warrant of attorney where it has reason to question his right to appear—Gliwa v. U S Steel Corporation, 185 A 584, 322 Pa. 225, certiorari denied 57 S Ct 117—Moore v Steinman Hardware Company, 21 Pa Dist. & Co 441—Daron v Prudential Insurance Co of America, 26 Pa Dist. 691—6 C J p 633 note 92 [b], 93 [b]

(2) Although it has been said that the order to compel the attorney to file his warrant of attorney is customarily granted on cause shown by affidavit and on motion of opposing counsel, such affidavit is not essential and the court may act on any proper request or showing—Gliwa v. U. S Steel Corporation, supra

(3) A sworn statement by plaintiff in a petition for a rule to strike his name as party plaintiff, on the ground that the attorney had no authority to represent him, is sufficient to authorize the court to require the attorney to file a warrant of attorney—Gliwa v. U. S. Steel Corporation, supra.

(4) The statutory requirement is not met by proof that the action was originally brought with the consent of plaintiff The act requires a specific form of proof to be filed in order that the right may be clearly and indisputably shown, and this requirement cannot be dispensed with—Fisler v Reach, 51 A 599, 202 Pa. 74—6 C J. p 633 note 92 [b]

(5) There was a sufficient compliance with the statute where, in an action brought in the name of two executors, a warrant of attorney executed by one executor was filed—Moore v Steinman Hardware Company, 21 Pa Dist & Co 441.

(6) The act was intended to prevent fraud and imposition and to shield suitors from the unauthorized conduct of unscrupulous attorneys, but not to prevent the bringing of an action on behalf of one who, by reason of the injuries sought to be redressed, was rendered incapable of acting for himself—Qualey v. Scott, 28 Pa Dist 605.

(7) Where a person, in whose name an action was brought, died as the result of the injuries for which the action was brought, without having been able to execute a warrant of attorney, a warrant executed by such person's administratrix, who had been substituted as plaintiff was sufficient, where the petition to require the attorneys for plaintiff to file their warrant of attorney was not presented until after the death of the original plaintiff, and the warrant, executed by the administratrix ratified and confirmed the bringing of the action, spoke, in so far as the right of the administratrix to maintain the action was concerned, as of the date at which plaintiff's attorneys were first required, under the statute, to show their authority, and the warrant was otherwise sufficient—Qualey v. Scott, supra.

Warrant of attorney to confess judgment see Judgments §§ 152–157 [34 C.J. p 104 note 82–p 114 note 58]

16. U S—Rodgers v. Bromberg, (C. C.A Tex) 53 F (2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S Ct. 314, 285 U S. 542, 76 L Ed 934
Ga.—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga 776
Mich—Hempel v. Bay Circuit Judge, 193 N W 281, 222 Mich. 553
6 C J. p 633 note 93.

Trial or appellate court

No warrant of attorney is required to entitle an attorney to appear for a litigant either in the trial or appellate court.—Edwards v. Wall, 113 S E 190, 153 Ga 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S E. 63, 29 Ga.App. 107.

Corporation

Attorney at law need not have a formal warrant of attorney, even from a corporation, in order to file a legal proceeding.—Rodgers v. Bromberg, (C C A Tex.) 53 F (2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S.Ct. 314, 285 U S. 542, 76 L Ed 934.

17. Wessel v. Bishop, 107 N.W. 220, 76 Neb 74—6 C.J. p 634 note 94.

18. State v Tilghman, 6 Iowa 496.

19. In re Ford's Estate, 163 N Y S. 960, 93 Misc 100.

Mere verification of the petition was not sufficient evidence of authority in such case—In re Ford's Estate, 163 N.Y.S. 960, 93 Misc. 100.

attorney's employment and authority is a material and contested issue in a case tried before a jury, the question is usually one of fact for the jury.

The rule to show his authority having been granted, the attorney is at liberty to show cause against the same by answer and evidence as the court shall direct; and, on such showing and evidence pro and con, the court may determine the controversy in a summary way.[20] The issue on such question takes precedence of other proceedings and should be determined before a trial either on the issues of law or of fact.[21] Ordinarily, it is a question to be decided by the court.[22] Where, however, the question as to whether an attorney was authorized to appear for, or was employed by, another becomes a material and contested question of fact on the trial of an action before a jury, the question is in general one for the jury.[23]

An instruction to the jury in a case in which the authority of an attorney is involved, substantially to the effect that a person may be bound by acts of an attorney whom such person has not employed and has not authorized to act for him, is erroneous.[24]

Continued representation. Where, in proceedings after the original suit, a solicitor denies that he continued to represent the party for whom he appeared in such suit, the question as to such solicitor's authority is a question of fact, which is to be determined by the court.[25]

Scope of authority. Where a question as to the scope or extent of the authority of an attorney for a particular person becomes a material and contested issue of fact on the trial of an action before a jury, the question is in general one for the jury.[26] A request for a binding instruction for defendant, based on an alleged release of defendant executed by plaintiff's attorney, is properly refused where there is no proof of authority of the attorney to execute such release, or of ratification of his act.[27]

Continuance of relation. Under certain circumstances the question as to whether the relation of attorney and client continues after entry of judgment in the action in which the attorney was employed is one of fact.[28]

Relief. If it is shown that an attorney whose authority to represent a party has duly been questioned has no authority to represent such party, the attorney will not be permitted to act further for such party.[29] It is only in extreme cases and to prevent injustice, as where it is shown to the court that the attorney appearing for plaintiff or for defendant is not doing so in good faith and in the interest of such party, that the court will strike out the pleading on the ground that the attorney appearing for such party has no right or authority to do so.[30]

b. Order or Rule

The court may issue an order or rule requiring an attorney to show his authority, where the question is duly presented. An order or rule to produce authority should be specific.

20. Williams v. Uncompahgre Canal Co, 22 P 806, 13 Colo 469.

21. Williams v. Uncompahgre Canal Co, supra

22. Ark.—Beardon v St Louis, etc, R. Co, 146 S W 861, 103 Ark 341
Iowa.—Savery v. Savery, 3 Iowa 271
Pa.—Newhart v. Wolfe, 2 Pennyp 395

Issue to be determined

On issue of estoppel, whether or not an attorney represented the holder of a tax certificate during negotiations with a delinquent taxpayer was for the court trying issues.—Quilling v. Waggoner, 246 N.W. 564, 210 Wis. 507

23. Ala.—Hoover v. Miller, 73 So. 817, 198 Ala. 499
N J.—Black & White Operating Co v. Grosbart, 145 A. 105, 7 N J.Misc 233
N Y.—Howard v. Smith, 28 N Y.Super 124—Kahn v. Lesser, 16 N.Y.S 154, 28 Abb N Cas. 77.

Attorney as agent for lender

In a proceeding involving an issue as to whether an attorney was the agent of a lender who made a loan on certain security, the question as to such agency was for the jury.—Glover v. Summerour, 141 S E. 211, 165 Ga 513.

24. Brewer v New England Mortg. Sec Co, 87 S E. 657, 144 Ga. 548.

25. Harris v. Harris, 152 A. 359, 159 Md 624.

26. Ala.—Waters v Blackmon, 153 So 739, 228 Ala 462
Ark.—Laird v. Byrd, 9 S W (2d) 571, 177 Ark. 1114
Md.—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg. Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A 164, 140 Md 666

Authority to extend time for payment

Whether or not an attorney, whose testimony and letter to a defaulting debtor indicated authority to collect the balance of the purchase price of personalty or to institute suit for the property itself, had authority to extend the time of payment for a short period in order to collect the balance, was for the jury, such action not depriving his client of any material right, but relating merely to the attorney's control of the remedy.—Laird v Byrd, 9 S.W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark 1114

27. McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A. 79, 290 Pa. 74

28. People ex rel Lax v. Ehler, 187 N E 630, 353 Ill 595

Service of notice to vacate judgment

Under the circumstances of the case under consideration, the question as to whether the relation of attorney and client continued after judgment in respect of the propriety of serving on the attorney a notice of a petition to vacate the judgment was one of fact.—People ex rel Lax v Ehler, 187 N E. 630, 353 Ill. 595.

29. Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255

30. Lambert v. Lambert, (Mo.) 208 S W 118.

Answer erroneously stricken

It seems that it was error to strike out defendant's answer in an attachment proceeding merely because in his absence the attorneys filing the answer did so at the instance of defendant's adopted child, in possession of the property attached and charged with its care and maintenance.—Lambert v. Lambert, (Mo.App.) 208 S W. 118.

The court may, where the matter is properly presented, issue a rule against an attorney who has brought an action to show by what authority, if any, such attorney has acted.[31] An order or rule on an attorney to produce his authority should be specific.[32] A defective order is void and may be disregarded.[33]

A rule to file a warrant of attorney acts as a stay of proceedings;[34] but it has been held that an order staying "all proceedings" until an attorney proves his authority is bad; it should stay all proceedings by that attorney.[35] Also, it has been held that, if an attorney in response to a rule, or on a motion, requiring him to show authority, fails to show sufficient authority for instituting the action, the court may dismiss the action.[36]

D. SCOPE OF AUTHORITY

§ 79. In General

An attorney has express authority to do all those acts which he has been expressly authorized to do by the client; and, in addition, he has, by virtue of the retainer or employment alone, the general implied authority to do on behalf of the client, in or out of court, all acts necessary or incidental to the prosecution or management of the suit, or the accomplishment of the purpose, for which he was retained, and apparent authority to exercise those powers which the client has held him out to third persons as possessing.

Although an attorney has no authority to bind a person as his client until he has been retained or employed by him (supra § 62), thereafter the attorney acts as the agent of the client and, under the general rules of agency, the client is bound by all acts or omissions of the attorney within the scope of the latter's authority, express implied, or apparent (supra §§ 67–68).

Notwithstanding a statutory enumeration of attorneys' power, which is not regarded as exclusive,[37] an attorney generally has express authority to bind his client by all acts which are expressly authorized by the contract of employment;[38] and, in addition, he has, merely by virtue of the retainer or employment alone, the general implied authority to do on behalf of his client all acts, in or out of court, necessary or incidental to the prosecution or management of the suit or defense (see infra § 80), or the accomplishment of the purpose for which he was retained.[39] Moreover, in so far as the attorney's dealings with courts and third persons are concerned, if the client places the attorney in a position where he appears with reasonable certainty to be acting for the client, or without interference suffers the attorney to assume such a position and thereby justifies those dealing with the attorney in believing that he is acting within his authority, the attorney thereby acquires apparent authority to bind the client by all acts and omissions coming within the scope of the powers which the client has caused or permitted the attorney to seem to possess.[40] The apparent au-

31. Commonwealth v. Roberts Coal Co, 216 S.W. 584, 186 Ky 394

32. Turner v. Davis, 2 Den (N.Y.) 187, 2 How Pr. 86—6 C.J. p 637 note 45

33. Farrington v. Wright, 1 Minn 241.

34. Pa.—Meyer v Littell, 2 Pa. 177—Dunn v. Stone Co, 11 Wkly N C 95—Reese v. Church of Messiah, 1 Wkly N C. 416

35. Farrington v. Wright, 1 Minn. 241

36. Chunes v Duluth, W & P. Ry. Co., (D C Minn) 293 F. 964.
Without prejudice
The court may, on failure of the attorney to make a sufficient showing of his authority to bring the action, dismiss without prejudice.—Commonwealth v Roberts Coal Co, 216 S W 584, 186 Ky 394.

37. State v. Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840.

38. Ledwith v. Rosalsky, 155 N E. 688, 244 N Y 406, reversing 216 N Y S 411, 217 App Div. 749, motion denied 157 N.E 858, 245 N.Y. 563—Wertheimer v. New York Rys. Co, 164 N Y.S. 260, 177 App Div. 443.

39. Cal.—Coonan v Loewenthal, 61 P. 940, 129 Cal 197—Johnson v. Johnson, 3 P.(2d) 587, 117 Cal App 145

Ga.—Rooke v. Day, 167 S E. 762, 46 Ga App. 379.

Hawaii.—Anderson v. Rawley Co, 27 Hawaii 60.

Idaho—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md, 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388

Ind.—Evansville Improvement Co. of Vanderburgh County v Gardner, 128 N E 471, 75 Ind App. 401.

Iowa.—Shores Co v. Iowa Chemical Co, 263 N W. 581—State v Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W 222, 184 Iowa 111.

Ky.—Herfurth v. Horine, 93 S.W. (2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19—Anglo-American Mill Co v. Phillips, 32 S W (2d) 994, 236 Ky 245—Kammerer v. Brown, 27 S.W.(2d) 959, 224 Ky. 199.

Mich.—Hightower v. Detroit Edison Co, 247 N.W. 97, 262 Mich. 1, 86 A. L R 509.

Mo.—Hemphill Lumber Co v Arcadia Timber Co., (App) 52 S W.(2d) 750—Krug v. Roberts Cone Mfg Co., 250 S W. 621, 213 Mo App. 628

Mont.—State v. Turlok, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont 549.

N.Y.—Humphries v Shapiro, 175 N.Y S 426, 187 App Div. 96—People v. People's Trust Co., 167 N Y S 767, 180 App Div. 494, 36 N Y Cr 203—Clinton v. N Y C & N. H R R Co, 131 N Y Supp 881, 147 App Div 470—Katzenberg v. Sais, 221 N Y S 105, 129 Misc. 218—In re Callahan, 174 N Y.S. 268, 106 Misc 202

Pa.—Cole v. National Casket Co, 101 Pa Super. 207.

Porto Rico—Bank of San Juan v District Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774.

Tex.—McMillan v. McMillan, (Civ App) 72 S W.(2d) 611.

Vt.—Brammall v. La Rose, 165 A. 916, 105 Vt 345, followed in 165 A 918, 105 Vt. 352

6 C.J. p 641 note 84, p 643 note 4

40. Ariz.—Irvin v. Dwight B Heard Inv. Co., 281 P. 213, 35 Ariz 528.

Fla.—Griffith v. Investment Co., 110 So. 271, 92 Fla. 781.

Ill.—Caesna v. Lietuva Loan & Savings Ass'n, 252 Ill App 612.

Ky.—Herfurth v. Horine, 93 S W (2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19—Johnson v. Holt's thority of an attorney is an absolute one in that it may exist wholly irrespective of the client's consent in fact;[41] and after such authority has been exercised the client cannot avoid or repudiate it by asserting the absence of an intention to confer any power of the character exercised,[42] nor by showing that the attorney's authority was limited by uncommunicated or secret instructions or limitations which are not binding on persons dealing with the attorney in good faith.[43] It has been said, however, that an attorney is such a special agent that the rule which requires the principal to give notice of any limitation of his general agent, or any agent who has apparent authority, does not apply;[44] and, as to matters not coming within an attorney's apparent authority, it may merely be presumed that the attorney is acting in accordance with the client's instructions, so that while the attorney's acts are prima facie authorized they may, nevertheless, be disaffirmed by the client within a reasonable time.[45]

Nevertheless, the authority of an attorney generally extends only to those acts of commission or omission for which the client has given express, implied, or apparent authority.[46]

An employment or retainer for one purpose gives the attorney no authority with respect to wholly independent and collateral matters having no relation to the employment or the accomplishment of its objective,[47] nor does an attorney have authority to represent or act for a person or persons other than the one or ones by or for whom he was employed.[48] In other words, as an attorney is a special agent when his employment is in connection with a particular matter or transaction, his powers are confined to such as are necessary for the accomplishment of the specific purpose for which he was employed.[49]

The implied authority of an attorney ordinarily does not extend to the doing of acts which will result in the surrender or giving up any substantial right of the client,[50] or the imposition of new liabilities upon him;[51] and usually the retainer gives no implied authority for the attorney to do illegal or

Adm'r, 31 S W (2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518—Sayre v Commonwealth, 238 S.W. 737, 194 Ky. 338, 24 A.L R 1017
N.J —Fuld v Adams, 156 A. 333, 108 N J Law 373.
Tex —Callihan v Montrief, (Civ App) 71 S.W (2d) 564.
Va.—Singer Sewing Mach Co v Ferrell, 132 S E 312, 144 Va 395.
Wash —Wood v. Miller, 265 P. 727, 147 Wash. 251
6 C J. p 638 note 56.

41. Ky —Johnson v Holt's Adm'r, 31 S W (2d) 895, 235 Ky 518.
Mont —State v. Turlok, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont 549
6 C J. p 641 note 80.

42. Irvin v. Dwight B. Heard Inv. Co , 281 P. 213, 35 Ariz 528.

43. Ky.—Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S. W (2d) 21, 266 Ky 19—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S W.(2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518
Va —Singer Sewing Mach. Co. v. Ferrell, 132 S E. 312, 144 Va. 395.
6 C J p 638 note 56.

44. Bourland v Huffhines, (Tex Civ. App) 269 S W 184, affirmed Huffhines v Bourland, (Com App.) 280 S W. 561.

45. Krug v. Roberts Cone Mfg. Co , 250 S W. 621, 213 Mo App. 628—6 C J. p 641 note 81.

46. Conn —Gagner v. Petrauskas, 152 A. 145, 112 Conn. 307.
Mo —Krug v Roberts Cone Mfg. Co., 250 S W. 621, 213 Mo.App 628.
Mont —State v. Dow, 229 P. 402, 71 Mont. 291.
N M —Dacus v Maryland Casualty Co., 55 P (2d) 663
Okl —Freeman v. State, 203 P 1052, 20 Okl Cr 443
Pa —In re Quest's Estate, 188 A. 137, 324 Pa 230

47. Ill —Lanski v Chicago Title & Trust Co , 155 N E 296, 324 Ill 367.
Md —Forest Hill Permanent Bldg Ass'n of Harford County v Fisher, 118 A 164, 140 Md 666
Miss —B F Goodrich Rubber Co v Holland, 131 So 832, 159 Miss 346
Mo —National Union Fire Ins Co v Vermillion, (App) 19 S W.(2d) 776
Porto Rico —Bank of San Juan v. District Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774.
Tex —Donoho v Lewis, (Com.App) 12 S W (2d) 983, affirming (Civ. App) 1 S W.(2d) 481.
Wash —Barton v. Tombari, 207 P. 239, 120 Wash 331.
6 C J. p 642 notes 1, 2.

48. La.—Powell v. Larence, 155 So 13, 179 La 751.
Mass —Hanzes v. Flavio, 125 N E 612, 234 Mass. 320.
N.C —Town of Greenville v. Munford, 131 S.E 740, 191 N C. 373
Okl —Griffin v Galbraith, 247 P. 339, 114 Okl 208.
6 C J. p 642 note 3 [a].

Partnership attorney has no authority to act for members who have previously retired from the partnership —Hanzes v. Flavio, 125 N E 612, 234 Mass 320

49. N M —Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co , 55 P.(2d) 663.
Pa.—Pore v. Duke, 154 A. 797, 303 Pa. 528.
Tex —Bourland v. Huffhines, (Civ App) 269 S W 184, affirmed Huffhines v Bourland, (Com App) 280 S.W. 561.

50. U S —Glover v. Bradley, (S C.) 233 F 721, 147 C C A. 487, Ann Cas 1917A 921.
Ill —Village of Dolton v. S. Ellen Dolton Estate, 162 N E 214, 331 Ill. 88.
Ky —Lawson v. Wright, 3 Ky Op. 352
Mo —Krug v. Roberts Cone Mfg. Co , 250 S W 621, 213 Mo.App. 628
N J —Phillips v. Pullen, 14 A 222, 50 N J Law 439—In re Koehler's Estate, 140 A. 15, 102 N J Eq. 132—Trenton Street Ry Co. v. Lawlor, 74 A. 668, 71 A. 234, 74 N J Eq. 828.
N C —Deitz v. Boloh, 133 S E 284, 209 N C 202—Bissell v Auto & Tire Equipment Co., 108 S E 439, 182 N C. 98—Bank of Glade Spring v McElwen, 76 S E 222, 160 N C 414, Ann.Cas 1914C 542
Pa —In re Quest's Estate, 188 A. 137, 324 Pa 230—In re Berberich's Estate, 101 A. 461, 257 Pa 181
Tenn —Holt v. State, 24 S.W.(2d) 886, 160 Tenn 366
Tex.—Butler v. Fechner, (Civ App.) 200 S W. 1126—Jacobs v. State, 213 S.W. 628, 85 Tex.Cr 505
Wash —Barton v. Tombari, 207 P. 239, 120 Wash. 331.
6 C J p 642 note 94, p 647 note 57
Rights which may be waived by attorney see infra § 100

51. U S —Robert R Sizer & Co. v. Chiarello Bros , (D C N Y.) 32 F. (2d) 333.
Iowa —Bibler v. Bibler, 216 N.W. 99, 205 Iowa 639
6 C J p 642 note 95.

unlawful acts,[52] or to act as to matters in which he has interests antagonistic to those of the client.[53]

A determination of what powers come within an attorney's apparent authority is generally dependent upon what powers persons of reasonable prudence might reasonably believe the attorney to possess on the basis of the client's conduct.[54] An attorney ordinarily has apparent authority to exercise those powers which are commonly exercised by attorneys at law in like cases or circumstances and which third persons have no notice that the attorney does not in fact possess.[55] On the other hand, the apparent authority of an attorney cannot comprehend powers which, to the knowledge of the person asserting such authority, have not in fact been conferred by the client;[56] nor powers which the ordinary attorney and client relationship, for the purposes for which it is known to exist, would not induce a third person to believe that the attorney had the authority to exercise,[57] for all persons dealing with an attorney, as such, are charged with notice of his usual and ordinary powers, and they cannot set up ignorance to avoid the consequences of their conduct.[58] Moreover, the basis of the rule as to apparent authority is an estoppel,[59] and hence it may be held inapplicable whenever the circumstances are such as to preclude the raising of an estoppel against the client.[60] A client who does not hold out an attorney as having authority beyond that in fact given is not required to protect himself by giving notice of the limits of the authority.[61]

An attorney for a court official representing an estate, who can act only by and with the consent and approval of the court, has no power, unless it has been expressly granted, to bind the client or the estate he represents.[62]

Joint attorneys. Where several attorneys are employed under a joint contract, each has authority to bind the other attorney or attorneys by his acts, as well as the client.[63]

§ 80. Conduct and Control of Litigation in General

a. In general
b. Exclusion of control by client

a. In General

The employment or retainer of an attorney for the purpose of prosecuting or defending litigation gives him implied power to take all steps necessary or incidental to the prosecution or management of the case or defense, and apparent authority as to the courts and opposing parties or their counsel to take all steps and exercise all powers that are ordinarily taken by, or conferred upon, attorneys in similar causes, in so far as they relate to or affect procedural or remedial matters but not the subject matter of the litigation.

The general employment of an attorney to prosecute or defend a cause or proceeding ordinarily vests in a plaintiff's attorney the implied authority to take all steps or do all acts necessary or incidental to the regular and orderly prosecution or management of the suit,[64] and in a defendant's attorney the power to take such steps as he deems necessary to defend

52. Freeman v. State, 203 P. 1052, 20 Okl.Cr. 443—6 C.J. p 642 note 96.

53. U.S.—Barnett v. Kunkel, (Okl.) 259 F. 394, 170 C.C.A. 370
Ky.—Montgomery Coal Corporation v. Allais, 3 S.W.(2d) 180, 223 Ky. 107—King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky. 435
6 C.J. p 642 note 97

54. Ky.—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S.W.(2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518
Md.—Milkton v. French, 150 A. 28, 159 Md. 126.

55. Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S.W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19

56. Md.—Milkton v. French, 150 A. 28, 159 Md. 126
Tex.—Bourland v. Huffhines, (Civ. App.) 269 S.W. 184, affirmed Huffhines v. Bourland, (Com.App.) 280 S.W. 561.

57. Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258.
Md.—Milkton v. French, 150 A. 28, 159 Md. 126.
Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305.

58. Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, supra
N.J.—Strauss v. Rabe, 130 A. 920, 98 N.J.Eq. 700, affirming 127 A. 188, 97 N.J.Eq. 208
Or.—Union Central Life Ins. Co. v. Toliver, 52 P.(2d) 1129.
6 C.J. p 638 note 55.

59. Czesna v. Lietuva Loan & Savings Ass'n, 252 Ill.App. 612

60. Czesna v. Lietuva Loan & Savings Ass'n, supra.

61. Gibbs v. Lumbermen's Mut. Casualty Co., 178 A. 372, 87 N.H. 19

62. Iowa.—In re Carpenter's Estate, 231 N.W. 376, 210 Iowa 553.
Pa.—In re Berberich's Estate, 101 A. 461, 257 Pa. 181
Tex.—Butler v. Fechner, (Civ.App.) 200 S.W. 1126

63. Lake v. Wilson, 38 S.W.(2d) 25, 183 Ark. 180—Lake v. Wilson, 35 S.W.(2d) 597, 183 Ark. 180.

64. Fla.—Griffith v. Investment Co., 110 So. 271, 92 Fla. 781—Small v. Colonial Inv. Co., 109 So. 433, 92 Fla. 503
Idaho.—Evans v. Power County, 1 P.(2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690.
Ky.—Anglo-American Mill Co. v. Phillips, 32 S.W.(2d) 994, 236 Ky. 245
Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305—Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592—Hahn v. Loker, 118 N.E. 661, 229 Mass. 363, L.R.A.1918D 807.
Mich.—Hightower v. Detroit Edison Co., 247 N.W. 97, 262 Mich. 1, 86 A.L.R. 509
Miss.—B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. v. Holland, 131 So. 882, 159 Miss. 346
Mont.—State v. Turlok, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont. 549
N.Y.—Katzenberg v. Satz, 221 N.Y.S. 105, 129 Misc. 218
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
Okl.—Neil v. Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116.
Pa.—Swartz v. Morgan & Co., 29 A. 974, 163 Pa. 195
Vt.—Brammall v. La Rose, 165 A. 916, 105 Vt. 345.
6 C.J. p 641 note 84.

Acts pertaining to remedy

The attorney "is, by his general employment, authorized to do all acts necessary or incidental to the prosecution or defense which pertain the suit and protect the interests of defendant,[65] in so far as they affect only the remedy. By virtue of such employment the attorney also acquires, as to the courts and other parties or their counsel, the apparent authority to bind the client by taking all steps or exercising all powers that are ordinarily taken by, or conferred upon, attorneys in similar actions or causes.[66] In proceedings before a court of record this apparent authority of an attorney is so broad, so far as the court and opposing parties are concerned, as to have been characterized as plenary in nature;[67] and, in the absence of fraud or collusion, almost any act or omission in litigation which affects only the remedy or procedure will be treated as coming within his authority to bind his client,[68] for the courts must deal with the parties as though they were actually present and acting in the persons of their attorneys.[69] Otherwise stated, the authority of an attorney extends to the management of the case in all the exigencies which arise during its progress,[70] and his broad authority in this connection cannot be questioned by the client because of the want of specific authority to do the act done or consented to,[71] or because the attorney has in fact exceeded or violated instructions or limitations not communicated to the court or opposing parties or their counsel.[72]

The broad implied or apparent powers of an attorney with respect to the conduct or control of litigation are, however, limited to matters which relate only to the procedure or remedy.[73] The employment of itself confers upon the attorney no to the remedy pursued The choice of proceedings, the manner of trial, and the like, are all within the sphere of his general authority, and, as to these matters, his client is bound by his action"—Ohlquest v. Farwell, 32 N W 277, 279, 71 Iowa 231

65. Hawaii—Anderson v. Rawley Co, 27 Hawaii 60.
Iowa—Shores Co v. Iowa Chemical Co, 268 N.W 581—State v Froah, 263 N W 525, 220 Iowa 840.
Ky—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S W (2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518—Sayre v. Commonwealth, 238 S W 737, 194 Ky. 338, 24 A L R 1017
N C—Chatham Lumber Co v. Parsons Lumber Co, 90 S E. 241, 172 N C 320
R I—McLyman v. Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R I 374
Tex—McMillan v McMillan, (Civ App) 72 S W.(2d) 611
Vt—Barrows v Wilson, 121 A. 440, 97 Vt 26
6 C J p 642 note 93

Defense attorney in a criminal case is generally held to have such powers to bind his client.
Ga—Abney v State, 169 S E. 539, 47 Ga App 40
Iowa—State v Froah, 263 N W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—State v Dangelo, 166 N.W. 587, 182 Iowa 1253
Ky—Dewberry v. Commonwealth, 44 S W (2d) 1076, 241 Ky 726—James v Commonwealth, 247 S W 945, 197 Ky. 577—Sayre v. Commonwealth, 238 S W. 737, 194 Ky. 338, 24 A L R 1017—Bonar v Commonwealth, 202 S W. 676, 180 Ky. 338.
Mont—State v. Turlock, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont. 549
N D—State v. Keller, 223 N.W. 698, 57 N D. 645, 64 A.L R. 434.
Okl.—Freeman v. State, 203 P. 1052, 20 Okl Cr 443.
Tex—Ex parte Wood, (Cr.) 37 S.W. (2d) 487—Ex parte Maple, 33 S.W. (2d) 734, 116 Tex.Cr. 382—Jacobs v State, 213 S.W. 628, 85 Tex.Cr. 505.

66. U S—In re Level Club, (D C N. Y.) 46 F (2d) 1002
Ky.—Herfurth v Horine, 98 S W (2d) 21, 266 Ky 19—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S W (2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518
N M—Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co, 55 P (2d) 663, 40 N M 110.

67. In re Level Club, (D C N Y) 46 F (2d) 1002, 1003
"The apparent authority of attorneys in any proceeding before the court is plenary so far as the court and the opposing parties are concerned, for necessarily it must be adequate to all the exigencies of litigation. To be agents with such authority is one of the reasons for the existence of the Bar."—In re Level Club, supra

68. U S—In re Level Club, supra.
Ariz—Irvin v Dwight B Heard Inv. Co, 281 P. 213, 35 Ariz 528
Fla—Henderson v State, 113 So. 689, 94 Fla 318
Ill—Village of Dolton v. Dolton Estate, 162 N E 214, 331 Ill. 88
Iowa—Shores Co v. Iowa Chemical Co, 268 N W 581
Ky—Herfurth v Horine, 98 S W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19
Mass.—Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592.
Mont.—Davenport v. Davenport, 222 P 422, 69 Mont 405
N.J—Kaufman v. Jurczak, 139 A 716, 102 N J Eq 66
N Y—In re Callahan, 174 N Y.S. 268, 106 Misc 202, affirmed 175 N.Y S 896, 188 App Div 944
Okl—Neil v Union Nat Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl 116
Tex.—Richardson v McCloskey, (Civ. App.) 228 S.W. 323, dismissed for want of jurisdiction
6 C.J. p 641 notes 82, 89.

Reasons for rule
(1) "Having voluntarily reposed confidence in such counsel and held him out to the court and opposing counsel as his representative, he cannot repudiate his action or inaction in the conduct of the suit, so far as such repudiation might affect the action of the court, past or prospective, or the rights of his opponent, except perhaps when a denial of such right would be in effect perpetrate a fraud against him"—Irvin v. Dwight B. Heard Inv Co, 281 P. 213, 214, 35 Ariz 528.

(2) "It is manifest that no tribunal, where parties appear by attorney at law, could proceed safely or conveniently under any practice which permitted the party to disavow what had been done in his behalf in open court The attorney may be liable to his client if he has acted to his prejudice without authority, but the orders of the court and the rights of the other parties cannot be affected"—Hale v Wheeler, 163 N E. 178, 179, 264 Mass 592

69. Chadwick v Parkhill Corporation, 141 A 823, 16 Del Ch. 105

70. In re Callahan, 174 N Y.S 268, 106 Misc. 202, affirmed 175 N Y S. 896, 188 App Div 944

71. U S—In re Level Club, (D.C.N. Y) 46 F.(2d) 1002
Iowa—Shores Co v. Iowa Chemical Co, 268 N W 581
N Y—In re Callahan, 174 N Y S 268, 106 Misc. 202, affirmed 175 N Y S 896, 188 App Div 944.

72. Ga—Rooke v Day, 167 S E. 762, 46 Ga App 379.
Ky—Herfurth v Horine, 98 S W (2d) 21, 266 Ky 19—Johnson v Holt's Adm'r, 31 S.W.(2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518.
N Y—Tatum v. Maloney, 234 N Y S. 614, 226 App.Div 62
N C—Hendricks v. Town of Cherryville, 153 S E. 113, 198 N.C. 659.

73. Mass—De Santis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N E 136, 289 Mass 315.
N.D—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.

implied or apparent power or authority over the subject matter of the cause of action or defense;[74] and, unless the attorney has expressly been granted authority with respect thereto, the power to deal with or surrender these matters is regarded as remaining exclusively in the client.[75]

If the client has not held the attorney out as possessing greater powers, the apparent authority of the attorney does not comprehend other or greater powers than an attorney authorized to take charge of litigation commonly has;[76] and an attorney has no implied authority to take steps which are not necessary to the due and orderly prosecution of the case, but are collateral thereto.[77]

Moreover, a retainer or employment for a particular cause or proceeding does not of itself give the attorney authority to act for the party in a different cause or proceeding not essentially a part of the cause for which the attorney was employed, although the other proceeding may involve the same matters concerned in the original litigation;[78] and a general retainer does not authorize the attorney to act in any particular suit or proceeding,[79] but an attorney employed with respect to one issue has authority to act with respect to another issue inseparably connected with it,[80] and an employment for a particular cause gives the attorney authority to act in all proceedings which are but a part or continuation of the original employment and required to be prosecuted or defended in order to accomplish the purpose for which the attorney was retained.[81]

Similarly, an attorney has no authority to represent or act for a party or parties to litigation other than the one or ones by whom he has been employed or whom he has been legally appointed to represent.[82]

An employment of an attorney to conduct a proceeding before an administrative board or body, not a court of record, has been held not to vest the attorney with the broad implied or apparent powers ordinarily resulting from the client's allowing an attorney to appear upon the records of a court of record as his attorney,[83] but there is other authority to the contrary,[84] and the general rules with reference to implied powers have been ap-

74. U S—U. S. v. Beebe, (Ala.) 21 S.Ct. 371, 180 U.S. 343, 45 L.Ed. 563
Ala.—National Bread Co. v. Bird, 145 So. 462, 226 Ala. 40—Indemnity Co. of America v. Bollas, 135 So. 174, 223 Ala. 239—Craft v. Standard Accident Ins. Co., 123 So. 271, 220 Ala. 6—Blackwood v. Maryland Casualty Co., 137 So. 467, 24 Ala. App. 527.
Ark.—Laird v. Byrd, 9 S.W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark. 1114.
Idaho—Evans v. Power County, 1 P. (2d) 614, 50 Idaho 69—Storey v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388.
Ill.—Village of Dolton v. Dolton Estate, 162 N.E. 214, 331 Ill. 88.
Ky.—Lawson v. Wright, 3 Ky. Op. 352
Me.—Pomeroy v. Prescott, 76 A. 898, 106 Me. 401, 138 Am.S.R. 347, 21 Ann.Cas. 574.
Mass.—De Santis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N.E. 136, 289 Mass. 315—Friedberg v. Jablon, 192 N.E. 49, 287 Mass. 510—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305—Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592—Hahn v. Loker, 118 N.E. 661, 229 Mass. 363
Mont.—State v. Turlock, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont. 549.
N.Y.—In re Rahm, 161 N.Y.S. 1038, 175 App.Div. 330, reargument denied 163 N.Y.S. 1128—In re Zweig's Will, 261 N.Y.S. 400, 145 Misc. 839
N.C.—Deitz v. Bolch, 183 S.E. 384, 209 N.C. 202—Bissell v. Auto & Tire Equipment Co., 108 S.E. 439, 182 N.C. 98—Bank of Glade Spring v. McEwen, 76 S.E. 222, 160 N.C. 414, Ann.Cas.1914C 542
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
Okl.—Neil v. Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116
Tex.—McMillan v. McMillan, (Civ.App.) 72 S.W.(2d) 611—Lane v. Mitchell, (Civ.App.) 289 S.W. 195
Vt.—Brammall v. LaRose, 165 A. 916, 105 Vt. 345, followed in 165 A. 918, 105 Vt. 352—Granger v. Batchelder, 54 Vt. 248, 41 Am.R. 846.
6 C.J. p. 641 note 85, p. 643 note 5.

"It is settled law that while an attorney, by virtue of his employment, has broad powers with reference to the prosecution and management of actions and suits, these powers do not extend to matters affecting the cause of action"—De Santis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N.E. 136, 139, 289 Mass. 315

75. Cal.—Woerner v. Woerner, 152 P. 919, 171 Cal. 298
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
Wash.—Barton v. Tombari, 207 P. 239, 120 Wash. 331.
6 C.J. p. 643 note 5
Admissions, stipulations, or waivers which affect cause of action or defense see infra § 100.
Power of attorney to make settlement, compromise, or release see infra § 105.

76. Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305

77. Goodrich Rubber Co. v. Holland, 131 So. 882, 159 Miss. 346

78. Ill.—Hollan v. Kepner, 130 N.E. 699, 297 Ill. 332—Caesna v. Lietuva Loan & Savings Ass'n, 252 Ill.App. 612
Mo.—National Union Fire Ins. Co. v. Vermillion, (App.) 19 S.W.(2d) 776
6 C.J. p. 642 note 2

79. King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky. 435.

80. Davidson v. Richmond, 245 S.W. 1, 196 Ky. 553.

81. Anderson v. W. G. Rawley Co., 27 Hawaii 60.

82. U S—Harkin v. Brundage, (C.C.A.Ill.) 13 F.(2d) 617, certiorari granted 47 S.Ct. 237, 273 U.S. 682, 71 L.Ed. 833, and reversed on other grounds 48 S.Ct. 268, 276 U.S. 36, 72 L.Ed. 457
La.—Powell v. Larance, 155 So. 13, 179 La. 751
Okl.—Griffin v. Galbraith, 247 P. 339, 114 Okl. 208
Tex.—Underwood v. Pigman, (Com.App.) 32 S.W.(2d) 1102, reversing (Civ.App.) 21 S.W.(2d) 703, judgment modified on other grounds (Com.App.) 36 S.W.(2d) 1114

Retired members of partnership client
Where a partnership has been dissolved, an attorney employed by the partnership has no authority to act in a suit against them for partners who have retired from the partnership—Hanzes v. Flavio, 125 N.E. 612, 234 Mass. 320.

83. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., (N.M.) 55 P.(2d) 663.

84. Ill.—Heinze v. Industrial Commission, 123 N.E. 598, 288 Ill. 342.

plied to an attorney employed to obtain a building permit from a building inspector.[85]

As an attorney acting purely in a professional capacity is not a party himself, but is merely an agent or representative of the party by whom he is employed or retained (supra §§ 66 and 67); he has power to act in litigation and assert the rights of a party only in the latter's name.[86]

b. Exclusion of Control by Client

The right of a client, who is represented by an undischarged attorney of record, to conduct or control the litigation personally, without acting through his attorney or without regard to the latter's knowledge or consent, or to control the attorney in his handling of procedural matters, has been both affirmed and denied.

In view of the broad powers with which he is vested with respect to litigation, his training and position as an officer of the court, and the necessity for an orderly conduct of causes in court, it has frequently been said that an attorney of record in a cause has the exclusive power and control over the litigation for which he was employed with respect to procedural and remedial matters;[87] and that the courts, in cases where the parties are represented by counsel, deal only with the counsel and not with the litigants.[88] Accordingly, although the client might, in the first instance, have elected to appear or act in person (supra §§ 16 and 63), after an attorney has been employed or retained, it has been held that the only way the client can control the proceedings is by exercizing his power to discharge or change his attorney (infra §§ 109 and 119), and that, as long as the attorney has not been discharged, the client cannot control him in the due and orderly conduct of the suit.[89] Also, it has been held, particularly where there is a statute providing that a party who has appeared by attorney cannot act in person except by order of the court,[90] that, if a party has appeared in a court proceeding by attorney, and has an attorney of record, the court cannot recognize any other as having management or control of the action, and the party can act only through his attorney.[91] Under these holdings, an attempt by the client to stipulate or act with reference to the conduct or disposal of the proceedings will not be recognized or entertained by the court unless the same is signed or assented to by the attorney of record,[92] although the client himself may not be permitted to repudiate his own acts in this connection to the injury of the adverse party.[93]

Other cases, however, by stressing the fact that an attorney is but a mere agent or representative whose authority is revocable at the pleasure of the party by whom he is employed, have concluded that the conduct of the suit belongs to the party,[94] who is the dominus litis;[95] and that the attorney has no right to take proceedings or act against the orders or will of his client.[96] Moreover, many cases

Mo—Cully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S W (2d) 784, 227 Mo App 775.

85. Anderson v W. G. Rawley Co., 27 Hawaii 60

86. Mass—Conley v Fenelon, 165 N E 382, 266 Mass 340
N J—Kaufman v Jurcsak, 139 A. 716, 102 N J Eq 66

87. Cal—Electric Utilities Co v. Smallpage, 31 P.(2d) 412, 137 Cal. App 640
Iowa—Shores Co v. Iowa Chemical Co, 268 N W 581.
Mich—Hightower v Detroit Edison Co, 247 N W 97, 262 Mich 1
Miss—De Armond v. Fine, 72 So. 145, 111 Miss 737.
N C—Deitz v. Bolch, 133 S E. 384, 209 N C 202.
6 C J. p 643 note 6—60 C J. p 47 note 23

Reasons for rule

"When one hires an attorney to represent him in litigation, that attorney has full charge of the case as far as procedure and remedy are concerned He is trained and skilled in the law. A client has no knowledge of procedure and intrusts this to the attorney he employs"—Shores Co v Iowa Chemical Co., (Iowa) 268 N.W. 581, 582.

88. Irvin v Dwight B Heard Inv. Co, 281 P 213, 35 Ariz 528

89. Nightingale v Oregon Cent Ry Co, (C C Or.) 18 F Cas No.10,264, 2 Sawy 338.

90. Johnson v Antonopoulos, 210 N Y.S 589, 213 App Div. 324

91. Sieck v Hall, 34 P (2d) 844, 139 Cal App 279—Electric Utilities Co v Smallpage, 31 P.(2d) 412, 137 Cal App 640—Anglo California Trust Co. v Kelly, 272 P 1080, 95 Cal App 390—McMunn v Lehrke, 155 P 473, 29 Cal App 298—Carter v Holt, 154 P 37, 28 Cal App. 796—6 C J p 643 note 7.

Client cannot assume control

"While a party to an action may appear in his own proper person or by attorney, he cannot do both If he appears through an attorney, such attorney has the management and control of the action If the party becomes dissatisfied with his attorney he may make a change. Until this has been done, the client cannot assume control of the case . . . This rule is indispensable to the orderly conduct of the case"—Anglo California Trust Co v Kelly, 272 P 1080, 1081, 95 Cal App 390.

92. Cal—Anglo California Trust Co. v Kelly, supra
N Y—Johnson v. Antonopoulos, 210 N Y S 589, 213 App Div 324
6 C J p 643 notes 7–11.

93. McBratney v. Rome, etc., R Co, 87 N Y 467—6 C J. p 643 note 12.

94. Kaufman v. Jurcsak, 139 A. 716, 102 N J.Eq 66.

95. Erickson v Foote, 153 A 853, 112 Conn. 662.

96. Conn—Erickson v. Foote, supra
Minn—Nelson v Nelson, 126 N W. 731, 111 Minn 183, 31 L R.A (N S) 523, 137 Am S R 549

"An attorney has no exclusive control over litigation committed to his charge. Absolute control thereof rests with his client. Of course, an attorney may do many things in the course of the action without consulting, and which bind, his client; but the latter's directions and orders, when given, are supreme. Any other rule would elevate the agent above the principal, and in fact reverse the relation between them, the agent becoming the principal, and the principal the agent"—Nelson v. Nelson, 126 N W 731, 735, 111 Minn 183, 31 L R A.(N S) 523, 137 Am S.R. 549.

have recognized the right of the client, by appearing or acting in person, to have the cause terminated or disposed of as he sees fit without regard to the consent or wishes of his attorney of record who has not been discharged;[97] and it has been said that, as the law favors the settlement or termination of litigation, any agreement which deprives a litigant of the right to control his case, before it is finally determined, is void as against public policy.[98] Partially because of these views, and the fact that the subject matter of the litigation is generally regarded as remaining within the exclusive control of the client, it is widely held, as will be seen later, that a client may dismiss or discontinue an action (infra § 87), or settle or compromise his litigation or claims (infra § 105), over his attorney's objections or without his knowledge or consent, notwithstanding the existence of an agreement or contract which attempts to deprive the client of this right.

§ 81. Proceedings before Judgment

All steps or proceedings ordinarily taken in order to defend or enforce the remedy or bring the claim or cause of action to hearing, trial, determination, and judgment are within the general authority and control of an attorney who has been employed for purposes of litigation.

Under the general rules stated in the preceding section, practically all procedural matters or proceedings or steps in court necessary to defend or to enforce the remedy or to bring the claim, demand, cause of action, or subject matter of the suit to hearing, trial, determination, and judgment are within the general authority and control of an attorney who has been employed for purposes of litigation.[99]

Accordingly, although the attorney cannot bring or commence a suit or proceeding which the client expressly directs him not to bring,[1] or has not authorized,[2] nor file a pleading or amendment which the client openly repudiates,[3] in the absence of some such specific limitations or restrictions, the general implied or apparent authority of an attorney who has been employed for purposes of litigation or suit extends to the determination or selection of the forum,[4] and the type or form of the proceedings or remedy,[5] the drawing and filing of pleadings and papers;[6] the preparation of the case for trial by searching for evidence or interviewing, handling, or obtaining witnesses;[7] the

97. Colo.—Gooding v. Lyon, 166 P. 564, 63 Colo. 328
Miss.—Zerkowsky v. Zerkowsky, 131 So. 647, 160 Miss. 278
N.J.—Sternberg v. Vineland Trust Co., 152 A. 370, 107 N.J.Eq. 255—Du Bois v. Woodward, 151 A. 366, 367, 8 N.J.Misc. 645.
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
Tex.—Ex parte Wood, (Cr.) 87 S.W. (2d) 437
6 C.J. p. 643 note 13.

"We are thus confronted with a rather unusual development. The effort of a party to discontinue a proceeding that he has initiated is combated by his attorney in that proceeding . . . We fail to grasp the theory upon which the attitude of relator's attorney may be justified. The very word 'attorney' implies the function of acting for another—in the present case, the relator. The relator having clearly manifested his desire to terminate the proceedings, there is no moving party."—Du Bois v. Woodward, supra.

98. Nichols v. Orr, 166 P. 561, 63 Colo. 333, 2 A.L.R. 449—6 C.J. p. 739 note 44
Validity of contracts depriving client of right to dismiss or settle case see infra § 105.

99. Cal.—Boca, etc., R. R. Co. v. Superior Court, 88 P. 718, 150 Cal. 153—Electric Utilities Co. v. Smallpage, 31 P.(2d) 412, 137 Cal.App. 640—Anglo California Trust Co. v. Kelly, 272 P. 1080, 95 Cal.App. 390.
D.C.—Olney v. Butte Creek Consol. Dredging Co., 51 App.D.C. 8, 273 F. 736
Hawaii.—Anderson v. Rawley Co., 27 Hawaii 60
Iowa.—Shores Co. v. Iowa Chemical Co., 268 N.W. 581—State v. Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—Rhutasel v. Rule, 65 N.W. 1013, 97 Iowa 20
Mass.—De Santis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N.E. 136, 289 Mass. 315—Friedberg v. Jablon, 192 N.E. 49, 287 Mass. 510.
Mich.—Hightower v. Detroit Edison Co., 247 N.W. 97, 262 Mich. 1, 86 A.L.R. 509.
N.Y.—Clinton v. N. Y. C. & N. H. R. R. Co., 131 N.Y.S. 881, 147 App.Div. 470—Katzenberg v. Satz, 221 N.Y.S. 105, 129 Misc. 213
N.C.—Deitz v. Bolch, 183 S.E. 384, 209 N.C. 202—Southern Chemical Co. v. Bass, 95 S.E. 766, 175 N.C. 426
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104
Pa.—Cole v. National Casket Co., 101 Pa.Super. 207.
Vt.—Brammall v. LaRose, 165 A. 916, 105 Vt. 345.
6 C.J. p. 641 note 89—p. 643 note 6.

1. N.J.—Sternberg v. Vineland Trust Co., 152 A. 370, 107 N.J.Eq. 255.
N.Y.—In re Rahm, 161 N.Y.S. 1023, 175 App.Div. 330.

2. Peplinsky v. Billings, 252 N.W. 342, 213 Wis. 651.

3. Strahan v. Haynes, 262 P. 995, 33 Ariz. 128

4. McGeorge v. Bigstone Gap Impr. Co., (C.C.Va.) 88 F. 599—6 C.J. p. 641 note 87.

5. Iowa.—State v. Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—Rhutasel v. Rule, 65 N.W. 1013, 97 Iowa 20—Ohlquest v. Farwell & Co., 82 N.W. 277, 71 Iowa 231.
Ky.—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S.W.(2d) 895, 235 Ky. 513
Mont.—State v. Turlok, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont. 549
6 C.J. p. 641 note 86.

6. Levy v. Nelson, 279 S.W. 620, 212 Ky. 444.
Must be in client's name
All pleadings and papers must be filed in the name of the party rather than in the name of the attorney himself.—Conley v. Fenelon, 165 N.E. 382, 266 Mass. 340—Kaufman v. Jurczak, 139 A. 716, 102 N.J.Eq. 66.
Authority of attorney to verify petition in involuntary bankruptcy proceeding see Bankruptcy § 116 [7 C.J. p. 78 notes 47, 48].

7. N.Y.—Wertheimer v. New York Rys. Co., 164 N.Y.S. 260, 177 App.Div. 443.
Wash.—Wood v. Miller, 265 P. 727, 147 Wash. 251.
Attempts to bribe or corrupt witnesses
(1) Even the dishonest and fraud-determination and fixing of the manner[8] and time[9] of trial, and the conduct and management thereof,[10] including the examination or cross-examination of witnesses,[11] the making of arguments to the court or jury,[12] and the making or failure to make requests for instructions[13] or objections to instructions given,[14] and the making of a motion for a directed verdict,[15] or the verdict or findings themselves[16]

Moreover, where an attorney's management and control of proceedings in court is regarded as exclusive (supra § 80 b), the client himself cannot seek to conduct or manage the trial of the case,[17] as by having the cause set for trial,[18] demanding a jury trial,[19] or cross-examining witnesses.[20] Also, all legal proceedings in the cause must be signed or inaugurated by the attorney of record alone[21]

Where several attorneys are engaged in the trial of a cause on behalf of the client one of the attorneys has the authority to bind the others by his action in court if they do not openly dissent thereto.[22]

The apparent authority of an attorney extends, however, only to the use of ordinary court procedure,[23] and an attorney's attempt to induce others to join with his client in a proposed pending litigation, by means other than the ordinary court process for obtaining a joinder of parties, is collateral to, but not a part of, the procedure in the case and is not within the scope of the attorney's apparent authority.[24]

§ 82. —— Appearance

Although an attorney cannot appear for a party who has not employed or authorized him to act in the cause, an attorney has authority to appear where he has been expressly authorized to do so, and his employment or retainer for the purposes of particular litigation gives him general implied or apparent authority to appear in that cause.

Although an attorney purporting to appear or act for a party or person in a cause is presumed to ulent acts of an attorney in seeking to corrupt witnesses and influence their testimony has been held within the scope of his authority to interview witnesses and search for evidence—Wertheimer v New York Rys. Co., 164 N.Y.S. 260, 177 App Div. 448.

(2) Also, where the client refused to have anything to do with the matter but told the attorney to use his own judgment, it was held that the client could not object that the attorney's attempts to bribe a witness were without authority—Wood v. Miller, 265 P. 727, 147 Wash 251.

(3) On the other hand, an attorney representing defendant in a criminal prosecution has been held to have no implied power to suppress evidence or to seek to induce witnesses to absent themselves—Freeman v State, 203 P. 1052, 1054, 20 Okl.Cr 443

(4) The reasons given for this latter holding were that "there can be no implied power given to an attorney by his client to violate the penal laws of the state Section 2258, R.L. 1910, makes the suppressing of evidence a misdemeanor"—Freeman v State, supra.

8. Fla.—Henderson v. State, 113 So 689, 94 Fla 318.
Iowa.—Shores Co v Iowa Chemical Co., 268 N.W. 581—State v Froah, 236 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840—Rhutasel v Rule, 65 N.W. 1013, 97 Iowa 20—Ohlquest v. Farwell & Co., 32 N.W. 277, 71 Iowa 231.
Mass.—Hale v Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592.
N.Y.—Tatum v. Maloney, 234 N.Y.S. 614, 226 App.Div. 62.

Okl.—Neil v Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116
R.I.—McLyman v Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R.I. 374
S.C.—Peterson v Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 98 S.E. 848, 112 S.C. 89.
6 C.J. p. 641 note 88

Determination of whether trial shall be by jury or not is within scope of attorney's authority.
Iowa.—Shores Co v Iowa Chemical Co., 268 N.W. 581
Mass.—Hale v Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592
Okl.—Neil v Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116
R.I.—McLyman v. Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R.I. 374.
S.C.—Peterson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 98 S.E. 848, 112 S.C. 89

9. Cal.—Anglo California Trust Co v Kelly, 272 P. 1080, 95 Cal.App. 390
Okl.—Neil v. Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116.

10. Cal.—Johnson v. Johnson, 3 P. (2d) 587, 117 Cal.App. 145
Ill.—Gaines v Chicago Rys. Co., 255 Ill.App. 90
Ky.—Trevillian v Boswell, 43 S.W. (2d) 715, 241 Ky. 237—Sayre v Commonwealth, 238 S.W. 737, 194 Ky. 338, 24 A.L.R. 1017
Mass.—Bennett v Thomson, 126 N.E. 795, 235 Mass. 463
N.Y.—Humphries v. Shapiro, 175 N.Y.S. 426, 187 App.Div. 96

11. Cal.—Carter v. Holt, 154 P. 37, 28 Cal.App. 796

Ky.—Trevillian v. Boswell, 43 S.W. (2d) 715, 241 Ky. 237.

12. Fla.—Henderson v. State, 113 So 689, 94 Fla. 318.

Ky.—Trevillian v Boswell, 43 S.W. (2d) 715, 241 Ky 237—Kentucky & West Virginia Power Co v Saulsbury, 22 S.W.(2d) 281, 231 Ky 788.

Improper argument
In making his arguments to the jury, whether proper or improper, the attorney is acting within the scope of his apparent authority so as to bind the client.—Henderson v. State, 113 So 689, 94 Fla 318—Kentucky & West Virginia Power Co v. Saulsbury, 22 S.W.(2d) 281, 231 Ky. 788

13. James v Commonwealth, 247 S.W. 945, 197 Ky 577

14. Jacobs v. State, 213 S.W. 628, 85 Tex.Cr. 505.

15. Katzenberg v. Sats, 221 N.Y.S. 105, 129 Misc. 213.

16. Cal.—Johnson v Johnson, 3 P. (2d) 587, 117 Cal.App. 145
Mass.—Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592

17. Carter v. Holt, 154 P. 37, 28 Cal. App. 796.

18. Anglo California Trust Co. v Kelly, 272 P. 1080, 95 Cal.App. 390

19. Anglo California Trust Co v. Kelly, supra

20. Carter v. Holt, 154 P. 37, 28 Cal. App. 796

21. Harris v Minnesota Inv. Co., 265 P. 306, 89 Cal.App. 396

22. O'Malley v. Carrick, 212 P. 45, 60 Cal.App. 48.

23. Goodrich Rubber Co v Holland, 131 So. 882, 159 Miss. 346

24. Goodrich Rubber Co. v. Holland, supra.

have authority to do so (supra § 73), he does not in fact have the power or authority to bind by his appearance a party or person who has not actually employed him or authorized him to act in the cause,[25] and such a party or person is not concluded by the appearance but may dispute or rebut the presumption of authority by showing that the appearance was without authority in fact (see supra § 73), and is, therefore, void and of no effect as to him under the rules stated in the title Appearances § 25.

On the other hand, an attorney who has been specifically authorized and requested to enter an appearance for a party has authority to do so,[26] and it is well settled that the employment or retainer of an attorney to prosecute or defend litigation gives him the general implied or apparent authority to bind the client or party by or for whom he was employed by the entry of a general appearance in the cause;[27] no specific authority to enter a general appearance is necessary;[28] and a client may be bound as if a general appearance were authorized, although the authority actually granted was to make only a special appearance,[29] or the attorney was, by uncommunicated instructions, told to defend only if the client was brought before the court by legal process.[30]

The authority of an attorney, however, to make an appearance must be based on an employment in the particular suit or matter in which the appearance is entered.[31] A general retainer confers on the attorney no authority to enter an appearance in any particular suit or proceeding;[32] and an employment for one suit or proceeding gives the attorney no authority to appear in other litigation totally disconnected therewith.[33] Moreover, an employment merely to settle a pending suit gives the attorney no authority to enter an appearance therein,[34] and after defendant and his attorney have settled the action with the understanding that it will be dismissed, the attorney has no authority to appear in a subsequent proceeding attempted by plaintiff to obtain a judgment against defendant.[35]

An attorney has no implied authority to enter an appearance in a suit in which he has an interest antagonistic to that of the client.[36]

An attorney appointed by the court to represent certain interests can thereby acquire no authority to enter a personal appearance for parties over whom the court has no jurisdiction.[37]

25. U S.—Hatfield v. King, (W.Va.) 22 S Ct 477, 184 U S. 162, 46 L Ed. 481.
Ark.—Stewart v. Budd, 275 S W. 748, 169 Ark 363.
Fla.—St. Lucie Estates v. Palm Beach Plumbing Supply Co., 133 So. 841, 101 Fla 205—Tidwill v. Witherspoon, 18 Fla. 282.
Iowa.—Fuehr v Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N W. 347, 180 Iowa 518
Mass.—Haynes v. Flavio, 125 N E. 612, 234 Mass. 320.
N Y.—Howard v. Smith, 35 N.Y.Super. 131
Okl.—Griffin v Galbraith, 247 P. 339, 114 Okl 208—Hatfield v. Lewis, 236 P 611, 110 Okl. 98.
Tex.—Watson Co., Builders v. Bleeker, (Civ App.) 285 S W. 637—Hurd v Inglehart, (Civ App.) 140 S W 119
Voidability of judgment because of attorney's unauthorized appearance see Judgments § 26 [33 C.J. p 1096 note 95].

Defendants by whom no authority given.
An attorney employed by some of several defendants has no authority to appear for other defendants.—Hanzes v. Flavio, 125 N.E. 612, 234 Mass. 320

28. N.Y.—Ledwith v. Rosalsky, 155 N E. 688, 244 N Y. 406, reversing 216 N.Y S. 411, 217 App Div. 749, motion denied 157 N.E. 858, 245 N Y 563.
Okl.—Phelan v Stockyards Bank, 32 P.(2d) 270, 168 Okl. 232.

Authorization by duly authorized agent of party sufficient.—Phelan v. Stockyards Bank, 32 P.(2d) 270, 168 Okl 232.

27. D C.—Olney v. Butte Creek Consol. Dredging Co., 51 App D.C. 8, 273 F 736.
Iowa.—Hoskins v. Hotel Randolph Co., 211 N.W. 423, 203 Iowa 1152, 65 A L R 1135, certiorari denied Otis Elevator Co v Hoskins, 48 S Ct 122, 275 U S 566, 72 L Ed 429—Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 518
Ky.—Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, 31 S. W (2d) 895, 235 Ky. 518—King Const. Co v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S W 799, 194 Ky 435.
Mo.—National Union Fire Ins Co v. Nevils, 274 S.W. 503, 217 Mo App. 630
N Y.—People ex rel. Bellanca v. Moran, 257 N Y S 9, 235 App Div. 317—Tatum v. Maloney, 234 N Y S. 614, 226 App Div 62—Daley v. Dennis, 242 N.Y.S 408, 137 Misc 1.
Tex.—Sparks v. Summers, (Civ.App.) 239 S W. 714.
Va.—Lockard v. Whitenack, 144 S.E. 606, 151 Va. 143.

Either before or after process
"To appear in court, either after or before service of process on defendant, is within the scope of an attorney's employment as such."—Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N W. 347, 349, 180 Iowa 518
Appearance of married woman by attorney see Husband and Wife § 428 [30 C J. p 998 note 60—p 999 note 68].

29. Union Guardian Trust Co. v. Grevnin, 249 N.W. 889, 264 Mich. 358
29. Nev.—Rahn v. Searchlight Mercantile Co., 49 P.(2d) 353.
N.Y.—Tatum v Maloney, 234 N.Y S. 614, 226 App.Div. 62
30. Johnson v. Holt's Admnr., 31 S W (2d) 895, 235 Ky 518.
31. King Const Co. v Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky. 435
32. Ky.—King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, supra
Mo.—McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (App.) 237 S W. 1044.
33. Hatfield v. King, (W.Va.) 22 S. Ct. 477, 184 U S 162, 46 L Ed. 481.
34. Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 518.
35. Stewart v. Budd, 275 S.W. 748, 169 Ark. 363.
36. King Const. Co. v. Mary Helen Coal Corporation, 239 S.W. 799, 194 Ky 435
37. Traders' Trust Co. v. Davidson, 178 N.W. 735, 146 Minn. 224.

Amicus curiæ appearance. Although, as noted in the title Amicus Curiæ § 3 c, the activities of an amicus curiæ who has been properly authorized to act as such by the court cannot be treated as an appearance by a party, a purported amicus curiæ appearance by an attorney without permission of the court will be treated as within the authority granted by the party whom he represents and binding on the latter.[38]

§ 83. —— Process, Notices, and Service

a. Power to receive, accept, or waive
b. Power to issue or serve

a. Power to Receive, Accept, or Waive

Although there appears to be some difference of opinion as to whether an employment to defend of itself gives the attorney authority to act in this respect, it is well settled that, before the attorney has appeared as attorney of record and jurisdiction has been acquired over his client, the attorney has no power to receive, accept, or waive the original process or notice by which personal jurisdiction is acquired, unless he has in some manner been sufficiently authorized to do so; but, thereafter, as the attorney of record, he ordinarily has authority to receive and accept all papers and notices required to be served during the subsequent progress of the cause

If he has not, in some manner, been authorized to act for the party in this respect, an attorney has no power to accept, acknowledge, or waive service of a process or notice by which the court acquires jurisdiction over a party in a suit or proceeding against him,[39] and, although it has been held otherwise, where there is a statute giving an attorney authority to bind his client in any of the proceedings in an action or suit by his agreement filed with the clerk or entered on the journal of the court,[40] a general retainer is ordinarily held to give an attorney no authority in this connection.[41] Moreover, many cases are to be found which express the view that an attorney has no authority to receive, accept, acknowledge, or waive, service of the original process or notice by which jurisdiction is obtained over his client, unless such power has been specifically and specially conferred.[42] There is other authority, however, to the effect that the apparent authority which an attorney acquires to take such steps as he deems proper in his clients, by reason of his employment or retainer to defend a particular suit, includes the power to accept or waive service of process or notice for that suit, so as to confer personal jurisdiction over his client,[43] although the client has by uncommunicated instructions sought to limit the attorney's authority by giving him power to represent the client only in event that the latter was brought before the court by a valid service of process.[44]

At any rate, an attorney has no authority to accept service of process for his client in a suit other than that for which he is employed,[45] and an attorney employed for the specific and limited purpose of enjoining a foreclosure by advertisement has no authority to accept service of process in a subsequent court proceeding for foreclosure.[46]

Where he does not appear as attorney of record in pending litigation at the time, an attorney has no authority to receive notices or demands relating to matters with respect to which he has not been employed.[47] Hence, a demand for arbitration, required by the contract subsequently sued on to be made as a condition precedent to suit, cannot be made by service thereof on the attorney of the opposite party, who has no general authority to act but has been employed merely for the purpose of seeking a settlement of the differences between the parties.[48]

Unless by statute or rule of court such notices are required to be given to the party himself,[49] after jurisdiction of the client's person has been acquired, and an attorney has appeared in court on his behalf so as to become his attorney of rec-

38. Thomas v. Driver, (Tex.Civ. App.) 55 S.W.(2d) 137—Flinn v Krotz, (Tex.Civ.App.) 293 S.W. 625—Olcott v Reese, (Tex.Civ.App.) 291 S.W. 261.

39. Colo.—Goodrich v Union Oil Co of California, 274 P. 935.
Ga.—Rooke v. Day, 167 S.E. 762, 46 Ga.App. 379
Hawaii—Aki v. Aki, 20 Hawaii 623
Iowa.—Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 518
Ky.—Carter v Capshaw, 60 S.W.(2d) 959, 249 Ky. 483.
La.—Powell v. Larance, 155 So. 13, 179 La. 751.
Mass.—Hanses v. Flavio, 125 N.E. 612, 234 Mass. 320.
N.H.—Dolber v. Young, 123 A. 218, 81 N.H. 157
N.D.—Taylor v. Oulie, 212 N.W. 931, 55 N.D. 253.

40. Multnomah Lumber Co. v. Weston Basket Co., 99 P. 1046, 102 P. 1, 54 Or. 22, 27.

41. McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (Mo. App.) 237 S.W. 1044—6 C.J. p. 644 note 17.

General retainer to conduct business of client before institution of suit gives the attorney no authority to accept or waive service of process in that suit, although it relates to and concerns the subject matter of the attorney's general employment.—

McPike Drug Co. v. Wilson, (Mo. App.) 237 S.W. 1044.

42. Taylor v. Oulie, 212 N.W. 931, 55 N.D. 253—6 C.J. p. 644 note 17.

43. Johnson v Holt's Adm'r, 31 S.W.(2d) 895, 235 Ky. 513.

44. Johnson v. Holt's Adm'r, supra.

45. Aki v. Aki, 20 Hawaii 623.

46. Taylor v Oulie, 212 N.W. 931, 55 N.D. 253.

47. Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Benton, 22 P. 698, 42 Kan. 698.

48. McNeff v. Capistran, 208 P. 41, 120 Wash. 498

49. Nash v. Gilkeson, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 352.

ord, the attorney has the authority, as long as he continues to appear and act as the attorney of record, to receive, accept, and waive service of all subsequent papers, notices, and processes required to be served during the progress of the cause, either on the party or his attorney,[50] notwithstanding that he has been discharged in fact,[51] or there is some secret agreement between his client and himself limiting his authority.[52] The only attorney on whom such notices or papers can be served under this rule is the client's attorney of record.[53] An attorney who has merely engaged in the trial of the case, but is not the party's attorney of record, has no implied authority to accept or waive service of notice,[54] and an attorney who has appeared only specially to object to the court's jurisdiction has no authority to accept service of papers relating to the merits of the case.[55] If the counsel of record be deceased, the service cannot be made on his partner or his personal representative;[56] but where one partner removes from the state, service of notice on the remaining partner is good.[57]

A statute, requiring notices to be given during the course of legal proceedings to be served on the party rather than his attorney, applies only to notices during the pendency of the proceedings and does not prevent a notice of dismissal from being served on defendant rather than his attorney.[58]

b. Power to Issue or Serve

An attorney, ordinarily, has the authority to issue or give any notice or process that is necessary to the accomplishment of the purpose of his employment, unless the notice or process is required by law to be issued, served, or given by some other person or officer.

An attorney employed to prosecute or commence a legal proceeding ordinarily has the power to issue and sign a process or writ by which the proceeding is inaugurated,[59] if, under the law of the particular jurisdiction, it may be issued and signed by plaintiff or his attorney, as shown in the title Process §§ 6, 19 [50 C.J. p 450 note 74, p 461 note 25–p 462 note 26]; and where the attorney of record is regarded as having exclusive control over the conduct of legal proceedings (supra § 80 b), it has been held that if an attorney has been retained to represent a party litigant, all statutory notices required to be directed to the adverse party must be signed or inaugurated by the attorney of record alone.[60] However, an attorney having no authority to commence an action cannot affect the rights of his client by causing the issuance of a summons therefor;[61] and the attorney himself should not serve a notice which is required by law to be served by some other person or officer.[62]

A duly authorized attorney may ordinarily, give any notice affecting the substantial rights of his client that his client himself can give, in so far as the same is necessary to accomplish the purpose of the attorney's employment, and those affected by the notice must take notice thereof.[63] It has been held, however, that authority to give notice to an adverse party of the termination of his agency for another, at least before the commencement of an action, is not among the express or implied powers of an attorney, as such notice must come from the principal and not from an employee, unless he is specially authorized for that purpose.[64]

50. Ga.—Black v. Black, 104 S.E. 775, 150 Ga. 672—Rooke v. Day, 167 S.E. 762, 46 Ga.App. 379.
Iowa—State v. Froah, 263 N.W. 525, 220 Iowa 840.
Ky.—Kammerer v. Brown, 27 S.W. (2d) 959, 234 Ky. 199.
Mass.—Kalbritan v. Padover, 161 N.E. 893, 264 Mass. 26.
Mont.—Caterpillar Tractor Co. v. Johnson, 43 P.(2d) 670, 99 Mont. 269.
N.Y.—Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N.Y.S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N.Y.S. 1039, 238 App.Div. 766, affirmed 183 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696.
Pa.—Goodell v. Ehresman, 11 Pa.Co. 400—Dunkin v. Calbraith, 1 Browne 18.
6 C.J. p 645 note 19.

Notice of motion for contribution from joint tort-feasor

Under a statute giving one joint tort-feasor, who has been compelled to pay the entire judgment, the right to obtain contribution from his co-defendant where they have both appeared in the action by motion on notice, the notice of the motion for contribution may be served on co-defendant's attorney of record in the action, who has authority to receive the same, although after the judgment co-defendant discharged him and removed from the state.—Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N.Y.S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N.Y.S. 1039, 238 App.Div. 766, affirmed 183 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696.

51. Ga.—Rooke v. Day, 167 S.E. 762, 46 Ga.App. 379.
Ky.—Kammerer v. Brown, 27 S.W. (2d) 959, 234 Ky. 199.
N.Y.—Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N.Y.S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N.Y.S. 1039, 238 App.Div. 766, affirmed 183 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696.
6 C.J. p 645 note 22.
52. Rooke v. Day, 167 S.E. 762, 46 Ga.App. 379.
53. Kalbritan v. Padover, 161 N.E. 893, 264 Mass. 26—6 C.J. p 645 note 22.
54. Kalbritan v. Padover, supra.
55. Melvin v. Scowley, 104 So. 817, 213 Ala. 414.
56. Bacon v. Hart, 1 Black (U.S.) 38, 17 L.Ed. 52.
57. De Vall v. De Vall, 109 P. 755, 110 P. 705, 57 Or. 128.
58. Gibson v. Nelson, 126 N.W. 731, 111 Minn. 183, 137 Am.S.R. 549, 31 L.R.A.(N.S.) 523—6 C.J. p 645 note 25.
59. Chadwick v. Upton, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 442—6 C.J. p 647 note 47.
60. McMahon v. Thomas, 46 P. 732, 114 Cal. 588—Harris v. Minnesota Inv. Co., 265 P. 306, 89 Cal.App. 396—Jansson v. National Steamship Co., 168 P. 151, 34 Cal.App. 483.
61. Peplinsky v. Billings, 252 N.W. 342, 213 Wis. 651.
62. Phillips v. Phillips, 26 Pa.Dist. 1102.
63. Rohling v. Thole, 100 N.E. 138, 256 Ill. 425—6 C.J. p 652 note 21.
64. Tingley v. Parshall, 9 N.W. 571, 11 Neb. 443.

§ 84. Interlocutory Proceedings in General

By reason of his general implied or apparent authority over procedural and remedial matters, an attorney employed for purposes of litigation usually has the power to take such steps with respect to interlocutory matters or proceedings as do not affect the subject matter of the litigation.

By reason of his general implied or apparent authority to conduct and control the litigation (supra § 80), and to take and handle all ordinarily procedural steps or legal proceedings before judgment (supra § 81), an attorney employed for purposes of litigation is usually regarded as having the authority to take such steps as he deems proper with respect to interlocutory matters or proceedings which do not affect the cause of action or subject matter of the litigation.[65]

§ 85. —— Change of Venue

An attorney employed to prosecute or defend an action has implied authority to change the venue

The implied or apparent authority of an attorney over interlocutory proceedings or matters (supra § 84) gives him the power, without any special authority, to change the venue of an action[66] or to agree not to take a change of venue (infra § 100), since that is a right affecting the remedy, and not the cause, of action.

§ 86. —— Confession of or Consent to Judgment

An attorney of record, employed to represent a party in litigation, may confess, or consent to, judgment for or against his client if he has been expressly authorized to do so; and, although there are some decisions to the contrary, it is generally held that the attorney has implied or apparent authority to take such action, if he acts in good faith and without fraud or collusion.

Although some sufficient grant of authority is essential,[67] an attorney employed to represent a party in litigation may usually confess, or consent to, judgment against his client if he has been expressly authorized to do so;[68] and, according to many decisions, he has, merely by reason of his employment, the implied or apparent authority to take such action if he acts in good faith and without fraud or collusion,[69] even in inferior courts not courts of record,[70] and even though the judgment is based on, or is in effect, a compromise or settlement of the client's rights or cause of action,[71] unless there is fraud or a violation of the express instructions or wishes of the client to the knowledge of the adverse party or his counsel.[72] Likewise, it has

65. Ky—De Charette v St Matthews Bank & Trust Co, 283 S W. 410, 214 Ky 400, 50 A L R 34
N Y.—American Rattan & Reed Mfg Co v. Handel-Maatschappij Moraux & Co, 185 N Y S 480, 194 App Div 90.

66. Shaft v Phoenix Mut. L Ins Co, 67 N Y 544, 23 Am R 138—6 C J. p 645 note 26
Execution by attorney of affidavit for change of venue see Venue § 176 [67 C J. p 181 note 13–p 182 note 17]
Necessity that attorney of record make demand for change of venue see Venue § 154 [67 C J p 168 note 25]
Sufficiency of verification of application for change of venue when signed by counsel see Venue § 171 [67 C J. p 178 note 29]

67. Deits v Bolch, 183 S E 384, 209 N.C. 202.

68. U S—Utah Power & Light Co. v U S, (Ct.Cl) 42 F (2d) 304
Ariz—Smith v Washburn & Condon, 297 P. 879, 38 Ariz. 149.
N C.—Alston v. Southern Ry Co, 176 S E 292, 207 N C. 114—Southern Chemical Co v. Bass, 95 S E. 766, 175 N C 426
Pa—Finance & Guaranty Co. v. Mittleman, 93 Pa Super. 277.
34 C J p 132 note 10
Confession of judgment under warrant or power of attorney see Judgments §§ 152–157 [34 C.J. p 104 note 82–p 114 note 58].

69. U S—In re Level Club, (D C N Y) 46 F (2d) 1002—Glover v Bradley, (S C) 233 F 721, 147 C C.A 487, Ann Cas 1917A 921—U. S v. Zucca & Co, 11 Cust App 167.
Ark—Wood v Wood, 27 S W 641, 59 Ark 441, 28 L R A 157
Ga—Brannan v. Mobley, 150 S E 76, 169 Ga 243—Childs v State Bank of Chicago, 121 S E 254, 31 Ga App 533—Coweta Fertilizer Co v Johnson, 106 S E 610, 26 Ga App 528
Ill—Chicago & Vicinity Hungarian Benev Soc v. Chicago & Suburb Hungarian Aid Soc., 118 N E 1012, 283 Ill 99.
Ky—De Charette v St. Matthews Bank & Trust Co, 283 S W. 410, 214 Ky 400, 50 A L R. 34.
Miss—Hurst v Gulf States Creosoting Co, 141 So 346, 163 Miss. 346
Mo—Parr v Chicago, B & Q R. Co., 184 S W. 1169, 194 Mo App 416.
Tex—Dunlap v. Villareal, (Civ App) 91 S W.(2d) 1124.
6 C J p 645 note 30.

Offer of judgment to avoid costs

Defendant's attorney has implied authority to make a written offer to allow judgment in a certain sum in order to avoid costs, as such an instrument is not a release or compromise of a claim or cause of action which counsel has no implied authority to make—Parr v. Chicago, B & Q. R. Co, 184 S W. 1169, 194 Mo App 416.

70. Lowellville Coal Min. Co. v. Zappio, 89 N E 97, 80 Ohio St 458—6 C J p 646 note 33

71. Ga—Brannan v Mobley, 150 S. E. 76, 169 Ga 243
N H—Belliveau v Amoskeag Manufacturing Co, 40 A 734, 68 N H 225, 44 L R A 167, 73 Am S R 577.

Compromise verdict and judgment

(1) "Where an attorney at law consents to the taking of a compromise verdict and judgment in a case in which he is employed, such verdict and judgment are binding on his client, if there was no fraud and no violation of express direction given by the client to the attorney and known to the adverse party or his attorney"—Brannan v Mobley, 150 S E 76, 77, 169 Ga 243

(2) In accordance with this, it has been held, notwithstanding a statute providing that an attorney cannot receive anything in discharge of his client's claim but the full amount in cash unless specially authorized, that, where a settlement of a suit is made by an attorney accepting less than the full amount of the claim in cash, the agreement binds the client, if the settlement is carried out by a consent verdict and judgment and the settlement was made without fraud on the part of the attorney or without any instruction of the client to the contrary—Coweta Fertilizer Co. v. Johnson, 106 S E. 610, 26 Ga App 528.

72. Evans v Brooke, (Ga) 184 S E 800—Patterson v. Georgia Gravel been held that an attorney has authority to accept a confession of judgment by the opposing party.[73]

Other cases, however, have held that there is no implied authority to confess, or consent to, judgment and that such authority exists only when expressly granted,[74] at least, where the judgment is sought to be based on a compromise or settlement which has not been expressly authorized by the client and impairs his substantial right,[75] or the consent judgment is in its scope outside of any matter set out in the pleadings.[76] Moreover, an attorney has no implied or apparent authority to consent to judgment against his client, where he represents antagonistic interests which will be benefited thereby,[77] or after his authority has been terminated by his withdrawal from the case by agreement with his client[78] and an attorney appointed by the court in a proceeding in rem to defend the interests of a nonresident defendant, over whom no personal jurisdiction has been acquired, has no authority to consent to judgment against defendant.[79] In any event, an attorney has no power to consent to a judgment which is not in conformity with the law, but in violation of it.[80]

If, under the rule above stated, the attorney has apparent authority to confess, or consent to, judgment, it is ordinarily binding and conclusive on the client, notwithstanding an actual lack of authority unknown to the court or the opposing party, the sole remedy of the client in such a case being against the attorney,[81] unless the circumstances are such that the lack of authority furnishes grounds for opening or vacating the judgment under the rules stated in the title Judgment §§ 323, 330 [34 C.J. p 410 note 19, p 420 note 81].

Where the attorney's management and control of litigation is regarded as exclusive (supra § 80 b), it has been held that the client himself has no power to stipulate for judgment against him if he is represented in court by his attorney of record.[82]

§ 87. —— Dismissal, Discontinuance or Nonsuit

a. By attorney
b. By client

a. By Attorney

In the absence of statute, an attorney can enter a dismissal, discontinuance, or retraxit, which terminates the case on its merits, only where he has been expressly authorized to do so; but it is generally held that an attorney has implied authority to enter or take a dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit, which does not bar the bringing of another suit on the same cause of action.

Unless such power has been conferred by statute[83] an attorney employed for purposes of litigation can dismiss or discontinue the case on its mer-

Co., 108 S.E. 237, 151 Ga. 813—Davis v. First National Bank of Blakely, 78 S.E. 190, 139 Ga. 702, 46 L.R.A.(N.S.) 750.

73. Brannan v Mobley, 150 S.E. 76, 169 Ga. 243—Adkins v Bryant, 66 S.E. 21, 132 Ga. 465, 134 Am.S.R. 211—Coweta Fertilizer Co v Johnson, 106 S.E. 610, 26 Ga.App. 528—6 C.J. p 646 note 38.

74. Nothem v Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43—6 C.J. p 645 note 29.

75. Ala.—National Bread Co v. Bird, 145 So. 462, 226 Ala. 40.
Ariz.—Smith v. Washburn & Condon, 297 P. 879, 38 Ariz. 149
Colo.—Lewis v Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.
Ill.—Village of Dolton v. S. Ellen Dolton Estate, 162 N.E. 214, 331 Ill. 88.
Iowa.—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.
Mass.—Precious v O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305—Dalton v West End St. Ry., 34 N.E. 261, 159 Mass. 221, 38 Am.S.R. 410.
Minn.—Seifert v. Gallet, 198 N.W. 664, 159 Minn. 131.
N.Y.—Sherman & Sons Co v Princess Shirt Waist Mfg. Co., 210 N.Y.S. 100, 213 App.Div. 140.
N.C.—Deitz v Bolch, 183 S.E. 384, 209 N.C. 202—Bissell v. Auto & Tire Equipment Co., 108 S.E. 439, 182 N.C. 98—Bank of Glade Spring v McElwen, 76 S.E. 222, 160 N.C. 411, Ann.Cas.1914C 542
6 C.J. p 646 note 31, p 660 note 43 [a], p 661 note 50.

Consent to, or approval of, form of decree, where no settlement or compromise of the client's rights is involved, is within the scope of the attorney's implied authority.—Vaughan v. District Court of Jasper County, (Iowa) 226 N.W. 49.

Mistaken belief of attorney

Where an attorney employed to defend a contest of a will entered into a stipulation of settlement under the mistaken belief that his client had agreed to the settlement, the stipulation was a constructive fraud on the court, and vitiated a judgment entered thereon.—Nothem v Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.

Lack of implied authority to compromise or settle client's cause of action see infra § 105

76. Hoell v White, 86 S.E. 569, 570, 169 N.C. 640
"While courts go far to sustain judgments taken in ordinary course with the assent of counsel, there cannot be a consent judgment entered by counsel without the knowledge or consent of the client which in its scope is outside of any matter set out in the pleadings."—Hoell v. White, supra.

77. Glover v. Bradley, (S.C.) 233 F. 721, 147 C.C.A. 487, Ann.Cas.1917A 921.

78. Emerson-Brantingham Implement Co v. Olson, 227 N.W. 567, 56 S.D. 132.

79. Lepp v. Ward County Water Improvement Dist. No. 2, (Tex.Civ.App.) 257 S.W. 916.

80. Tuppery v. Hertung, 46 Mo. 135—6 C.J. p 646 note 34.

81. U.S.—In re Level Club, (D.C.N.Y.) 46 F.(2d) 1002.
Ill.—Chicago & Vicinity Hungarian Benev. Soc. v. Chicago & Suburb Hungarian Aid Soc., 118 N.E. 1012, 283 Ill. 99.
Miss.—Hurst v. Gulf States Creosoting Co., 141 So. 346, 163 Miss. 512—Cocke v. Wilson, 134 So. 686, 161 Miss. 1.
6 C.J. p 646 notes 35, 36.

82. Crescent Canal Co. v. Montgomery, 56 P. 797, 124 Cal. 134.

83. Bogardus v. O'Dea, 287 P. 149, 105 Cal.App. 189—Lamb v. Herndon, 275 P. 503, 97 Cal.App. 397.

its only where his client has specially authorized him to do so;[84] and an attorney who has not in any way been employed or retained with reference to a suit has no authority to dismiss the same.[85] Also, it has been stated generally that the general employment of an attorney to prosecute an action gives him no authority to dismiss it without his client's consent,[86] or at least, over his objection,[87] but usually it is held that an employment for purposes of the litigation gives the attorney of record the implied authority to enter or take a dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit, which does not prejudice the client's substantial rights nor bar the bringing of another suit on the same cause of action,[88] or to discontinue against one of several defendants.[89] After appeal by defendant from a justice's judgment against him, plaintiff's attorney has authority to dismiss the action, on payment of the amount due on the judgment, for the same result could be accomplished without plaintiff's consent by a formal dismissal of the appeal.[90] However, a discontinuance which affects the client's substantial rights, because of the running of the statute of limitations, has been held not binding on him.[91]

Retraxit. The entry of a retraxit, which operates as a perpetual bar to the cause of action, must, ordinarily, be made by plaintiff in person, as stated in the title Dismissal and Nonsuit § 5 [18 C.J. p 1148 notes 38-42], and his attorney has no implied or apparent authority to take such action but can do so only where he has been specially authorized by his client,[92] unless there is a statute vesting a party's attorney of record with such power.[93]

Reinstatement after dismissal. In the absence of permission from his client, counsel cannot consent to reinstatement of a cause after dismissal.[94]

b. By Client

Although it has been held otherwise where the attorney of record is regarded as having exclusive control of the case, it is generally held that the client has full power to dismiss or discontinue his case, as he desires, without the knowledge or consent of the attorney, or over the latter's objection.

Where an attorney of record is regarded as having exclusive control over the management of the litigation (supra § 80 b), it has been held that the client has no power to dismiss or discontinue the action without the assent of the attorney,[95] even on the merits.[96] It is generally held, however, that the client has full power to dismiss or discontinue the action as he sees fit without his attorney's knowledge or consent or over his objections,[97] or without first discharging the attorney,[98] and that the court will carry out the party's wishes in this

84. Seymour State Bank v. Rettler, 160 N.W. 1084, 164 Wis. 619

85. Southern Grocery Stores v Cain, 173 S.E. 256, 48 Ga.App. 557

86. Iowa—Nothem v Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43
La.—Rogers v Blitz, (App.) 161 So. 613
6 C.J. p 646 note 40.

87. Steinkamp v Gaebel, 95 N.W. 634, 1 Neb.(Unoff.) 430

88. Ga.—Lovelace v Lovelace, 177 S.E. 685, 179 Ga. 822—Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Ass'n v Smith, 153 S.E. 209, 170 Ga. 515.
Ind.—Cory v Howard, 164 N.E. 639, 88 Ind.App. 503.
N.Y.—Burmester v. De Lucia, 261 N.Y.S. 203, 237 App.Div. 149, motion denied Burmester v Maryland Casualty Co., 188 N.E. 99, 262 N.Y. 637, and reversed on other grounds in part Burmester v. De Lucia, 189 N.E. 231, 263 N.Y. 315.
N.D.—Bacon v. Mitchell, 106 N.W. 129, 14 N.D. 454, 4 L.R.A.(N.S.) 244.
Tex.—Dyer v. Johnson, (Civ.App.) 19 S.W.(2d) 421.
6 C.J. p 646 note 42.

89. Fling v Trafton, 13 Me. 295—6 C.J. p 647 note 43.

90. Wilmott v Koller, 158 N.W. 257, 34 N.D. 306

91. Martin v Lehigh Valley R. Co., 176 A. 665, 114 N.J.Law 243

92. U.S.—Glover v. Bradley, (S.C.) 233 F. 721, 147 C.C.A. 487, Ann.Cas. 1917A. 921.
Ariz.—Smith v Washburn & Condon, 297 P. 879, 38 Ariz. 149
Ga.—Lovelace v Lovelace, 177 S.E. 685, 179 Ga. 822—Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association v. Smith, 153 S.E. 209, 170 Ga. 515.
N.Y.—Kellogg v. Gilbert, 10 Johns. 220, 6 Am.D. 335
Or.—Hill v. Wilson, 250 P. 840, 119 Or. 636
Wis.—Seymour State Bank v Rettler, 160 N.W. 1084, 164 Wis. 619.
6 C.J. p 647 notes 44, 45.

93. Cal.—Chase v. Van Camp Sea Food Co., 292 P. 179, 109 Cal.App. 32—Bogardus v O'Dea, 287 P. 149, 105 Cal.App. 189—Lamb v. Herndon, 275 P. 503, 97 Cal.App. 397.
Ind.—Bernard v Daggett, 68 Ind. 305

94. Owens v. Cocroft, 80 S.E. 906, 14 Ga.App. 322.

95. Johnson v. Antonopoulos, 210 N.Y.S. 589, 213 App.Div. 324—6 C.J. p 643 note 7.

96. Bogardus v O'Dea, 287 P. 149, 105 Cal.App. 189

97. Ala.—Bell v. Bell, 108 So. 375, 214 Ala. 572, 45 A.L.R. 935.
Ark.—Purvis v. Walls, 44 S.W.(2d) 353, 184 Ark. 887.
Md.—Boyd v Johnson, 125 A. 697, 145 Md. 385
Miss.—Zerkowsky v. Zerkowsky, 131 So. 647, 160 Miss. 278
N.J.—Sternberg v. Vineland Trust Co., 152 A. 370, 107 N.J.Eq. 255.
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
Wash.—Sacajawea Lumber & Shingle Co. v. Skookum Lumber Co., 198 P. 1114, 116 Wash. 699—Sacajawea Lumber & Shingle Co. v. Skookum Lumber Co., 198 P. 1112, 116 Wash. 75
6 C.J. p 643 note 13.

Client agent for others

This rule has been applied even in proceedings for the recall of certain public officers, where the client, as relator, was acting as agent for a specified number of petitioning electors.—Du Bois v. Woodward, 151 A. 366, 8 N.J.Misc. 645.

98. Zerkowsky v. Zerkowsky, 131 So. 647, 648, 160 Miss. 278
"The appellant is seeking, over the objection of his attorneys, not to proceed with the trial of his case, but to dismiss it, and to require him to first discharge his attorneys before he can do this would be a useless formality."—Zerkowsky v. Zerkowsky, supra.
In an earlier Mississippi case, how-respect without the intervention or presence of the attorney,[99] although it may, under some circumstances, grant the dismissal or discontinuance only on payment of costs incurred by the attorney.[1]

§ 88. —— Attachment

The general employment of an attorney to prosecute a suit for the collection of a claim gives him implied authority to issue an attachment and to control and manage such proceedings.

The general employment of an attorney to prosecute or manage a suit for the collection of a claim vests him with the implied authority to issue or take out an attachment for its enforcement;[2] execute an attachment bond (infra § 103); control and manage the minor details of such proceeding;[3] direct a stay of the attachment;[4] consent to the use of the attached property,[5] or its sale if perishable;[6] and to release the attachment (see infra § 105 b). Plaintiff's attorney, however, has no authority to alter a bond which has been given by defendant to obtain a release of the attached property.[7]

§ 89. —— Affidavits

An attorney ordinarily has the implied authority to make affidavits necessary to the conduct of the proceedings or the accomplishment of the purpose for which he was employed.

An attorney usually has the implied authority to make such affidavits as are necessary to the conduct of the proceedings or the accomplishment of the purpose for which he was employed, provided, of course, he has the necessary information to enable him to make them.[8]

§ 90. —— Reviving Suit

An attorney has implied authority to consent to a revival where it is merely a matter of procedure.

Where revival is merely a matter of procedure, an attorney has implied authority to consent to a revival, as after the death of a party,[9] or after a nonsuit.[10]

§ 91. —— Arbitration

Unless such power has been expressly conferred, an attorney has no general authority to submit his client's affairs to arbitration; but it is often held that an attorney employed to prosecute or defend a case has the implied authority to submit the pending cause to arbitration, provided it is by a formal submission in open court which is made a rule of court and entered of record.

Unless there is a statute or express restriction otherwise,[11] it is often held that an attorney employed to bring or defend a cause has the implied power to submit a pending suit to arbitration or reference[12] with the understanding that the findings or award will be final and conclusive,[13] provided the client's title to real estate will not thereby be affected.[14] A retainer or employment in an action, however, gives an attorney no general authority to submit his client's affairs to arbitration.[15] The ever, it was said: "An attorney of record is entitled to the highest consideration at the hands of the court. He is something more than an agent. He is a sworn officer of the court and has the entire management and control of the pending case so long as the relationship of attorney and client exists, and his rights should not be ignored and a case dismissed over his protest until he has withdrawn from it or until the court, upon petition of the party, has removed him, or has terminated the relation of attorney and client"—De Armond v. Fine, 72 So. 145, 146, 111 Miss. 737.

99. Ala.—Johnson v. Gerald, 113 So. 447, 216 Ala. 581, 59 A.L.R. 348.
Colo.—Gooding v. Lyon, 166 P. 564, 63 Colo. 328.
N.J.—Du Bois v. Woodward, 151 A. 366, 8 N.J.Misc. 645.
N.D.—Hauser v. Security Credit Co., 266 N.W. 104.
W.Va.—State v. Ryan, 96 S.E. 791, 793, 82 W.Va. 490.

1. Pilger v. Gou, 21 How.Pr.(N.Y.) 155.

2. American Rattan & Reed Mfg. Co. v. Handel-Maatschappij Moraux & Co., 185 N.Y.S. 480, 194 App.Div. 90—6 C.J. p. 647 note 48, p. 671 note 43.
Liability of client for wrongful attachment see supra § 68.

3. N.Y.—American Rattan & Reed Mfg. Co. v. Handel-Maatschappij Moraux & Co., supra.
Tex.—Callihan v. Montrief, (Civ.App.) 71 S.W.(2d) 564, error refused.
6 C.J. p. 647 note 50.

4. Ward v. George, 6 Ky.Op. 263.

5. Callihan v. Montrief, (Tex.Civ.App.) 71 S.W.(2d) 564, error refused.

6. Luce v. Foster, 60 N.W. 1027, 42 Neb. 813—6 C.J. p. 642 note 90.

7. Central California Creditors' Ass'n v. Seeley, 267 P. 138, 91 Cal.App. 327.

8. Wright v. Parks, 10 Iowa 342—6 C.J. p. 647 note 51.
Right of authorized attorney to make affidavits generally see Affidavits § 6.

9. Clark v. Parish, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 547—6 C.J. p. 647 note 52.

10. Reinholdt v. Alberti, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 469.

11. King v. King, 29 So. 205, 104 La. 420—6 C.J. p. 650 note 6.

12. Mass.—Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592.
Or.—Maroulas v. State Industrial Accident Commission, 244 P. 317, 117 Or. 406.
Utah.—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601.
6 C.J. p. 651 notes 7, 15, 16.
Reasons for rule.
"An attorney in a pending case, because of the nature of his relations to party, court, and subject-matter, and because arbitration is a recognised method of fair and lawful trial, is held by many respectable decisions to have authority, by virtue of his general employment to conduct the case, to submit the matter to arbitration"—Bivans v. Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co., 174 P. 1126, 1131, 53 Utah 601.

13. Hale v. Wheeler, 163 N.E. 178, 264 Mass. 592—6 C.J. p. 651 note 10.

14. Naglee v. Ingersoll, 7 Pa. 185—6 C.J. p. 651 note 8.
Submissibility of controversies with respect to real property see Arbitration and Award § 11.

15. Ky.—Jenkins v. Weeks, 2 Ky. Op. 118.
N.Y.—Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis implied authority can exist only with reference to a pending suit which the attorney has been employed to manage,[16] and extends only to matters which are involved in that suit and could properly be determined therein.[17] Even if there is a pending cause, the only implied authority is to make a formal submission in open court,[18] which is made a rule of court and placed of record, so that the arbitration is an accepted method of trying issues and a part of the proceedings which may result in a judgment in the cause.[19] There is no implied authority to make a submission in pais with which the court has nothing to do,[20] a statutory submission which is required to be made by a formal instrument in writing executed and acknowledged like a deed,[21] or a common-law submission which will not justify the entry of judgment on the award,[22] although authority to enter into such a submission may be expressly granted.[23]

Since he cannot make a submission in pais, after a cause has been submitted by him, an attorney cannot by act in pais materially alter or change the terms of the submission without express authority.[24]

Attorneys for corporations may have express or implied authority to bind them by submissions to arbitration, although no special authority has been granted by instrument under seal.[25]

§ 92. —— Submission of Controversy without Action

Under authority, express or implied, an attorney may submit a controversy without action.

While it may not be within the general scope of an attorney's authority to submit a controversy which is not in action,[26] he may agree to such a submission under authority, express or implied, to do so.[27]

§ 93. Judgment and Proceedings Thereafter in General

a. In general
b. Alteration or modification of judgment
c. Assignment or disposition of judgment

a. In General

On the termination of the litigation for which an attorney was employed, by the rendition or entry of judgment, the general implied powers of the attorney cease, and his only authority, if greater powers have not been expressly conferred, is to take such steps or proceedings as are necessary to make it fully effective or to sustain or enforce it or to relieve his client from its effect if it is adverse.

As noted in section 116 infra, while there are many authorities which state broadly that the rendition and entry of final judgment in the controversy or litigation for which an attorney was employed terminates the employment and the relation of attorney and client, so that in the absence of a new or other employment the authority of the attorney to act for his client ceases, this rule has been subjected to many modifications and exceptions. From the sections immediately following it will be seen that the courts have often held, although with some difference of opinion, that an attorney retains the implied authority to act with reference to such Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

6 C.J. p. 651 note 13.

16. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480—6 C.J. p. 651 note 13.

17. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

18. O. J. Morrison Stores Co. v. Duncan, 158 S.E. 174, 110 W.Va. 289—6 C.J. p. 651 note 17.

19. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480—6 C.J. p. 651 note 14.

"In retaining an attorney to prosecute or defend an action, a client may hardly be presumed to have intended to vest the attorney with authority to remove the controversy from the courts into a forum of his own creation."—Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 769, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

Recital in award signed by attorneys.

The fact that an award which recites that there has been a submission has been signed by the attorneys of both parties is not enough, if the submission does not formally appear of record.—King v. King, 29 So. 205, 104 La. 420.

20. O. J. Morrison Stores Co. v. Duncan, 158 S.E. 174, 110 W.Va. 289.

"An attorney at law, as such, has no authority before or after the institution of a suit to make an agreement in pais, to submit his clients' cause to arbitrators."—O. J. Morrison Stores Co. v. Duncan, supra.

21. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

22. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

23. Louis Michel, Inc. v. Whitecourt Const. Co., 189 N.E. 767, 264 N.Y. 23, reversing In re Louis Michel, Inc., 265 N.Y.S. 165, 238 App.Div. 480.

24. O. J. Morrison Stores Co. v. Duncan, 158 S.E. 174, 110 W.Va. 289—6 C.J. p. 651 note 12.

25. Alexandria Canal Co. v. Swann, (D.C.) 5 How.(U.S.) 83, 12 L.Ed. 60—6 C.J. p. 652 note 13.

26. Steinerville & B. Stone Co. v. White, 54 N.Y.S. 577, 25 Misc. 314.

27. Steinerville & B. Stone Co. v. White, supra—60 C.J. p. 680 note 43.

Amicable action.—Cook v. Gilbert, 3 Serg. & R.(Pa.) 567—60 C.J. p. 680 note 43.

proceedings and steps as are usually and ordinarily taken for the purpose of sustaining or enforcing the judgment, or seeking to have it set aside or reversed. Usually, however, if no further powers have been expressly conferred, this is regarded as the extent of an attorney's authority after the rendition and entry of final judgment in the cause, for his general, broad implied powers are thereby divested.[28]

b. Alteration or Modification of Judgment

An attorney, employed in litigation in which final judgment is rendered, has no implied authority to alter or modify it in a material particular or to appear and act in proceedings brought for that purpose.

After a final judgment has been rendered for or against his client, an attorney, who has been employed merely for purposes of the litigation, has no implied authority to alter or modify the judgment in a material particular,[29] or to act or appear in proceedings which have been brought to obtain such an alteration or modification,[30] even though the alteration appears to be beneficial to his client, where the legal effect would be to destroy the judgment in the latter's favor.[31] It has been held, however, that he may assent to the correction of a clerical error in a judgment or decree, although such a correction may materially reduce the amount to be recovered by his client.[32]

c. Assignment or Disposition of Judgment

In the absence of special authority an attorney ordinarily has no power to assign, sell, or otherwise dispose of, a judgment in favor of his client.

An attorney has no implied authority to assign, sell, or otherwise dispose of, a judgment in favor of his client, and, in the absence of special authority, cannot validly do so,[33] unless the transfer is a proper method of accomplishing the purpose for which the attorney was retained and the full amount of the judgment is paid,[34] but equity will treat an assignee for full value as the lawful owner of the judgment as against everyone but the client, who is the only one that can question the attorney's lack of authority to make the assignment.[35]

§ 94. Opening and Vacating Judgment

Except with respect to default judgments, an attorney has no implied authority to vacate, open, or set aside, a final judgment which has been rendered in favor of the client in the cause in which the attorney was employed.

An attorney may open a default which has been taken, whether properly or improperly, against the opposite party, and may vacate the judgment entirely, even against the instructions of his client.[36] Apart from this, however, it is generally held that, in the absence of express authority, an attorney has no power to open, vacate, or set aside, a final judgment rendered in favor of the client in the cause in which the attorney was employed,[37] although notice of a motion to vacate may sometimes be served on him, as stated in the title Judgments § 294 [34 C.J. p 352 notes 41–45].

§ 95. Appeal or Other Proceeding for Review

An attorney for the defeated party ordinarily has the power to conduct appellate proceedings only where such authority has been expressly conferred or its exercise is necessary to carry out the purposes of his employment; but the attorney for the successful party may, without a new grant of authority, oppose, and act with reference to, such proceedings as are taken within a reasonable time to reverse the judgment in favor of his client.

An attorney may bring proceedings to review a judgment against his client where he has been expressly authorized to do so,[38] or where the terms of the employment or retainer are so broad as to indicate an intention on the part of the client to permit the attorney to conduct appellate proceedings

28. Cal.—Spencer v. Barnes, 43 P. (2d) 847, 6 Cal.App.(2d) 35.
Iowa.—Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co., 239 N.W. 697, 218 Iowa 751—Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740
Tex.—Rupert v. Brook Mays & Co., (Civ.App.) 299 S.W. 474—McCarthy v. Houston Oil Co., of Texas, (Civ.App.) 221 S.W. 307, reversed on other grounds (Com.App.) 245 S.W. 651.
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.
6 C.J. p 672 note 60.

29. Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740—6 C.J. p 652 note 36.

30. Iowa.—Scott v. Scott, supra
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.

31. David v. Claude First Nat. Bank, (Tex.Civ.App.) 172 S.W. 579.

32. Hill v. Bowyer, 18 Gratt. (59 Va.) 864—6 C.J. p 653 note 38.

33. Ala.—McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216.
Iowa.—Swanson Automobile Co. v. Stone, 174 N.W. 247, 187 Iowa 309
Okl.—Holiday Oil Co. v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 19 P. (2d) 335, 162 Okl. 192
Pa.—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207—Bosler v. Searight, 24 A. 303, 149 Pa. 241.
S.C.—Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S.E. 428, 136 S.C. 458.
6 C.J. p 653 note 40.

34. Painter v. Gibson, 55 N.W. 84, 88 Iowa 120—6 C.J. p 653 notes 41, 42.

35. McFry v. Stewart, 121 So. 517, 219 Ala. 216

36. Read v. French, 28 N.Y. 285—6 C.J. p 654 note 56

37. Ky.—Lawson v. Wright, 3 Ky. Op. 352.
R.I.—Stratton v. Mancini, 95 A. 1050, 38 R.I. 368.
Tex.—Rupert v. Brook Mays & Co., (Civ.App.) 299 S.W. 474.
6 C.J. p 654 notes 57–59.

38. Wis.—Hegel v. George, 259 N.W. 862, 218 Wis. 327, rehearing denied and mandate amended 261 N.W. 14, 218 Wis. 327.
Wyo.—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53.

should they prove necessary to procure a favorable determination of the controversy[39] but, although there may be a presumption in favor of the attorney's authority to take such action (supra § 73), and the contrary has been held with respect to a counsel assigned by the court under statute to defend the accused in a criminal case,[40] a mere employment or retainer to prosecute or defend an action in the trial court generally gives the attorney no implied authority to conduct a proceeding for appellate review of a judgment rendered against his client.[41] Moreover, an attorney, who has been so employed, cannot prosecute an appellate proceeding against the wishes or consent of his client;[42] and, of course, an attorney who has no authority whatsoever to represent a party in a cause has no power to seek an appellate review of the judgment therein.[43]

It has been suggested, however, that a distinction should be taken between the authority of an attorney who has been employed to try a litigated issue and one who has been employed to collect a debt, in that the latter has the implied authority to prosecute an appellate proceeding from a judgment adverse to his client without a new retainer.[44] Also, the attorney of the party in whose favor the judgment is rendered in the lower court has been regarded as having the authority to admit or waive service of notice or citation for the appellate proceedings,[45] and to oppose any steps that might be taken within a reasonable time by the defeated party to reverse the judgment;[46] but he cannot, without special authority, permit the latter to take appellate proceedings which could not otherwise be taken because of lapse of time.[47]

A corresponding attorney, appointed by the court to defend the interests of nonresident defendants in a proceeding in rem, has been held to have no authority to prosecute an appeal in their behalf, in view of statutory provisions providing that no act of such an attorney shall constitute an appearance of such defendants and giving them a considerable length of time in which to have the case retried;[48] but an attorney appointed to represent unknown heirs has been held to have the right to appeal from the decision of the trial court,[49] or to move for a new trial.[50]

An attorney authorized to take appellate proceedings cannot abandon or withdraw the same after they have been taken,[51] but he has general implied power to grant extensions of time,[52] and to manage and take care of the various details of the proceedings;[53] and it has been held that, in

39. Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773
N.Y.—Lowrey v. Bates, 56 N.Y.S. 197, 26 Misc. 407.

Intention to appeal presumed
Where attorneys are employed by a county to defend certain enumerated suits on county bonds and any other suit that might be brought against the county thereon, the attorneys to receive a percentage on any amount of bonds which they might save to the county, or which might be controlled and settled by decisions rendered in enumerated cases, the authority of the attorneys does not terminate when the decision is rendered by trial court, but continues on appeal.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773.

40. People v. Price, 187 N.E. 298, 262 N.Y. 410.

41. Ariz.—Morgan v. Krook, 283 P. 287, 36 Ariz. 133.
Ky.—Massingale v. Parker, 230 S.W. 932, 191 Ky. 515.
Mo.—Crews v. Bogy, (App.) 285 S.W. 549.
Mont.—Union Bank & Trust Co. of Helena v. Penwell, 42 P.(2d) 457, 99 Mont. 255
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 621
Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N.W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L.R. 832.
6 C.J. p. 653 note 44.
Power to bind client for expenses of appellate proceedings see infra § 103
Right of attorney to maintain appeal in own name see Appeal and Error § 184

42. Iowa.—Tetsloff v. May, 172 N.W. 446, 186 Iowa 520
La.—Planters' Lumber Co. v. Sugar Cane By-Products Co., 110 So. 172, 162 La. 123
Tex.—Ex parte Wood, (Cr.) 87 S.W. (2d) 487.—Ex parte Maple, 33 S.W. (2d) 734, 116 Tex.Cr. 383
Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N.W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L.R. 832

43. In re Sullivan, 244 P. 347, 198 Cal. 195.—Sullivan v. Dunne, 244 P. 343, 198 Cal. 183.

44. Tobler v. Nevitt, 100 P. 416, 45 Colo. 231, 132 Am.S.R. 142, 23 L.R.A.(N.S.) 702, 16 Ann.Cas. 925

45. Vance v. Davis, 140 N.E. 588, 107 Ohio St. 577.—6 C.J. p. 652 note 34.

46. Brown v. Arnold, (Mo.) 131 F. 723, 67 C.C.A. 125

47. Stratton v. Mancini, 95 A. 1050, 38 R.I. 368

48. Massingale v. Parker, 230 S.W. 932, 191 Ky. 515.

49. Russell v. Randolph, 11 Tex. 460, 462

50. McCarthy v. Houston Oil Co. of Texas, (Tex.Com.App.) 245 S.W. 651, reversing (Civ.App.) 221 S.W. 307.

51. N.J.—In re Koehler's Estate, 140 A. 15, 102 N.J.Eq. 133.
Tex.—Ex parte Maple, 33 S.W.(2d) 734, 116 Tex.Cr. 784.
6 C.J. p. 654 note 51.
Waiver of right to appeal by attorney see infra § 100

52. Hoffenberth v. Muller, 12 Abb.Pr.N.S.(N.Y.) 221.—6 C.J. p. 654 note 52.

53. Cal.—Armstrong v. Brown, (App.) 54 P.(2d) 1118.
Iowa.—Wehrman v. Moore, 159 N.W. 213, 177 Iowa 542.
Wyo.—Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53.
6 C.J. p. 654 note 53
Authority to execute appeal or stay bond see infra § 103.

Stay bond
An attorney authorized to act in appellate proceedings has the authority to issue instructions with reference to a stay bond without the specific sanction of his client, as the stay bond is a mere matter of procedure incident to the appellate proceedings.—Armstrong v. Brown, (Cal.App.) 54 P.(2d) 1118.

the absence of fraud or collusion, counsel may dismiss or withdraw a motion for a new trial[54]

Where an attorney's control is regarded as exclusive (see supra § 80 b), if appellant is represented by an attorney of record, he has no legal authority to appear and file points and authorities or control the proceedings on appeal in his own behalf,[55] but elsewhere appellant has been held entitled to appear in person and dismiss the appeal over the objections of his attorney and without first discharging him[56]

§ 96. Proceedings for Collection

After judgment has been rendered in an action, the attorney for the successful party has the implied authority to take such proceedings as are usually necessary and proper to enforce the judgment, and the attorney for the defeated party has similar authority to defend such proceedings.

Although he cannot take such proceedings against the wishes or consent of his client,[57] an attorney for the successful party may, after judgment, ordinarily take such steps or proceedings as are usually necessary and proper to secure the enforcement of the judgment or its payment and satisfaction,[58] and the attorney for the defeated party has, in some cases, been regarded as having the implied authority to defend against such proceedings.[59] However, after the usual legal proceedings for enforcing a judgment have been exhausted, the attorney for the judgment creditor has no implied authority to bring other actions or proceedings in an effort to reach other property of the debtor or enforce his liability,[60] and after satisfaction of a judgment against him defendant's attorney has no implied authority to receive service of notice of a motion to set aside the satisfaction and issue execution.[61]

An attorney, with whom a judgment has been placed for collection, is not authorized on his own motion to commence affirmative proceedings to keep the judgment alive.[62]

§ 97. —— Execution and Sale

An attorney for a plaintiff who has recovered judgment in a cause has implied authority to issue execution, give direction with respect thereto, and receive payment thereon.

While he cannot do so against the wishes of his client,[63] an attorney for a party who has recovered a judgment in a cause ordinarily has the implied power to issue execution on the judgment,[64] and bind his client by his receipt of payment thereon[65] He cannot, however, discharge an execution on payment of less than the full amount;[66] and if a client receives the execution into his own hands, and pays his attorney his costs, the power of the attorney is at an end, and he will no longer be authorized to receive the money due on the execution[67]

Also, it is ordinarily within the scope of the general authority of an attorney for a judgment cred-

54. Abney v State, 169 S E 539, 47 Ga App 40

55. Electric Utilities Co v Smallpage, 31 P (2d) 412, 137 Cal App 640.

56. Zerkowsky v Zerkowsky, 131 So 647, 160 Miss 278

57. Erickson v Foote, 153 A 853, 112 Conn 662

58. Ark—Lake v Wilson, 38 S W. (2d) 25, 183 Ark 180—Lake v Wilson, 35 S W (2d) 597, 183 Ark 180
Cal.—Spencer v. Barnes, 43 P.(2d) 847, 6 Cal App (2d) 35.
N Y—Larkin v Frazier, 121 N E 105, 224 N Y 421, reversing 156 N Y S 1130, 172 App Div. 912—Shuler v. Maxwell, 38 Hun 240.
Pa.—Netter v Logan, 169 A. 245, 111 Pa Super. 143
S C—Foxworth v Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S E. 428, 136 S C 458
Tex—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ. App.) 235 S.W 69, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.
6 C J p 655 notes 72, 73 [a].

The true rule is that for all purposes of collecting the judgment . . . the power of the attorney of record continues with the presumed assent of his client until some affirmative steps are taken by the client to dismiss him from the case—Lusk v Hastings, 1 Hill (N Y) 656

Supplemental proceedings

An attorney is authorized to institute proceedings supplemental to execution on the judgment—Larkin v. Frazier, 121 N E 105, 224 N.Y. 421, reversing 156 N.Y S 1130, 172 App Div 912

59. Ohlquist v Nordstrom, 257 N.Y S 711, 143 Misc 502, affirmed 261 N Y S 1039, 238 App Div 766, affirmed 188 N E. 125, 262 N Y. 696.

Attorney for joint defendant has been held to have authority to defend against proceedings by motion in the cause brought by the other joint judgment defendant to obtain contribution and to receive notice of such proceedings.—Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N Y S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N Y S 1039, 238 App Div. 766, affirmed 188 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696.

60. Lamb v. Wilson, 97 N.W. 325, 3 Neb (Unoff) 505, rehearing denied 98 N.W. 37, 70 Neb. 739—6 C.J. p 655 note 73.

61. Spencer v Barnes, 43 P (2d) 847, 6 Cal App.(2d) 35

62. Cullison v. Lindsay, 78 N.W. 347, 103 Iowa 124.

63. Erickson v Foote, 153 A. 853, 112 Conn. 662

64. N Y—Larkin v. Frazier, 121 N E 105, 224 N Y. 421, reversing 156 N Y S 1130, 172 App Div 913
La—Durbridge v. Wentzel, 17 La. Ann 20.
Tex—Richardson v Jankofsky, (Civ App) 23 S W 815.
6 C J p 671 note 47
Liability of client for wrongful execution directed by his attorney see Executions § 456 [23 C J. p 974 notes 65–68].

65. N Y—Larkin v. Frazier, 121 N. E 105, 224 N Y. 421, reversing 156 N Y S 1130, 172 App Div 913
Pa.—Loudon v Borough, 12 Pa.Dist & Co 266.
6 C.J p 655 note 74.

66. Cowgill & Son v. Boseman, 79 So. 305, 202 Ala 7—6 C J. p 656 note 75.

67. Parker v. Downing, 13 Mass. 465.

itor to give directions with respect to the service of, and the time and manner of enforcing, an execution,[68] and the return thereof;[69] but it has been held that, in the absence of express authority, the attorney has no power to bind his client by giving directions as to the particular property or goods which shall be seized or levied on.[70]

It seems that an attorney has no power to release property which has been levied on (infra § 105), to appoint an appraiser,[71] or to agree that the proceeds of an execution be paid to a surety.[72] It has further been held that an attorney cannot grant a stay of execution, unless authority therefor has been expressly granted,[73] but there is other authority holding the grant of a moderate stay of execution to be within an attorney's general powers.[74]

§ 98. —— Judicial Sale

An attorney having authority to cause a judicial sale or represent a party with respect to the same may give directions and make stipulations concerning the sale and receive the proceeds thereof; but he cannot bid in the property at the sale, unless he has been expressly authorized to do so.

An attorney who has authority to cause a judicial sale to enforce his client's judgment, or to represent the interests of the judgment debtor, under the rules stated in sections 96-97, has the power to procure an order of sale,[75] give binding directions as to the manner and conduct of the sale,[76] and enter into reasonable agreements or stipulations regarding the same;[77] but improper arrangements regarding the manner of sale will not be binding on a client.[78]

The proceeds of a judicial sale, in so far as is necessary to satisfy the judgment, may, without express authority, be paid to the attorney for the judgment creditor, who has recovered the judgment and caused the sale to be had.[79] It has also been held that any surplus remaining after satisfaction of the creditor's claim may be paid to the attorney who represented the defendant in the action in which the judgment was recovered,[80] and that the attorney for the execution debtor has authority to stipulate that the amount realized from the execution sale in excess of the sum needed to satisfy the execution should be allocated to other designated judgments, in order to save the expense of levying execution thereon,[81] but, in other cases, the attorney for defendant, after the suit has been lost, has been held to have no authority to receive from the sheriff the proceeds of the execution sale remaining after the satisfaction of plaintiff's demand.[82]

Although it has been suggested that a different rule might apply with respect to mortgage foreclosure sales,[83] it is generally held that, unless he has been expressly empowered to take such action,[84] an attorney at law has no authority to purchase for his client the latter's property sold under execution in the proceedings in which the attorney is employed.[85] The attorney for the judgment creditor may properly purchase the property for his client, where he has been authorized to do so,[86] but it has been held that the attorney cannot buy for only one where he represents several joint parties.[87]

§ 99. Payment or Satisfaction of Judgment

An attorney who has recovered judgment generally has the authority to bind his client by receiving payment of the judgment and satisfying it, unless the defendant has notice or knowledge of the lack of such authority.

Unless the judgment or decree is by its terms

68. Erwin v. Blake, (Tenn.) 8 Pet. (U.S.) 18, 8 L.Ed. 852—6 C.J. p. 656 note 77, p. 671 note 47.

69. McClure v. Colclough, 5 Ala. 65—6 C.J. p. 656 note 78.

70. Goebel v. Clark, 275 N.Y.S. 43, 242 App.Div. 408—6 C.J. p. 671 note 48.

71. Dodge v. Prince, 4 Vt. 191.

72. Luce v. Foster, 60 N.W. 1027, 42 Neb. 818.

73. Doe v. Ingersoll, 19 Miss. 249, 49 Am.D. 57—6 C.J. p. 656 note 82.

74. Wieland v. White, 109 Mass. 392—6 C.J. p. 656 note 83.

75. Vaughn v. Fisher, 32 Mo.App. 29.

76. Evans v. Power County, 1 P.(2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690—6 C.J. p. 656 note 84.

77. Evans v. Power County, supra—6 C.J. p. 656 note 86.

Statute requiring trial agreements to be filed or entered on minutes.

A statute, requiring that stipulations or agreements of an attorney, as to steps in an action or proceeding, be filed with the clerk or entered on the minutes of the court in order to be binding on the client, has no application to an agreement with respect to a sale under execution, since it is not a step in the action.—Evans v. Power County, 1 P.(2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690.

78. Philadelphia Fire Assoc. v. Ruby, 79 N.W. 723, 58 Neb. 730—6 C.J. p. 656 note 87.

79. Ill.—Monacelli v. Traeger, 239 Ill.App. 30.
Mo.—Clelland v. Clelland, 235 S.W. 816, 291 Mo. 312.

Payment by check to order of client delivered to attorney held good.—Monacelli v. Traeger, 239 Ill.App. 30.

80. Bury v. Bury, 223 P. 502, 69 Mont. 570.

81. Evans v. Power County, 1 P.(2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690.

82. Germaine v. Mallerich, 31 La.Ann. 371—6 C.J. p. 642 note 99.

83. Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S.E. 428, 136 S.C. 458.

84. Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank, supra.

85. Savery v. Sypher, (Iowa) 6 Wall. (U.S.) 157, 18 L.Ed. 822—6 C.J. p. 656 note 88.

86. Fabel v. Boykin, 55 Ala. 383—6 C.J. p. 656 note 89.

87. Leisenring v. Black, 5 Watts (Pa.) 303, 30 Am.D. 323.

expressly made payable to plaintiff by name,[88] or defendant has notice or knowledge that the attorney lacks such authority in fact,[89] an attorney who has recovered a judgment for his client has, merely by virtue of his employment or retainer in the action, the general implied or apparent authority to receive payment of the money due on the judgment and thereupon satisfy or discharge it;[90] and, until defendant has notice of a revocation of such authority, he will be entitled to credit for all payments made to such attorney,[91] for the revocation of an attorney's authority after judgment has been rendered, but before payment or an assignment of the judgment, will not affect the debtor who pays to the attorney in good faith, relying on his authority to receive the payment, unless it appears that the debtor had notice of the revocation or was chargeable with such notice.[92]

Where two attorneys have been employed jointly, either has the authority to receive payment and enter satisfaction.[93]

It is always open to the client to enjoin or prevent the attorney's collection of a judgment,[94] and an assignment of the judgment terminates the attorney's authority in this respect.[95]

The implied or apparent authority of an attorney gives him no power to accept or enter satisfaction of the judgment without payment,[96] or on payment of less than the full amount of the judgment (infra § 106); nor does he have the authority to accept anything but money in payment of a judgment,[97] except where the judgment is for the possession of chattels or other property.[98]

Where a guardian ad litem or next friend, who has recovered judgment on behalf of an infant plaintiff, has no authority to receive the amount due or satisfy the judgment, as will be shown in the title Infants § 124 [31 C.J. p 1174 note 89–p 1175 notes 90, 92], the attorney of record of such guardian or next friend has no authority to do so,[99] except in so far as the payment is in satisfaction of the attorney's interest in the judgment for his fees,[1] but if the guardian or next friend has such authority, as will appear in the title Infants § 124

88. Roland v. Roland, 78 S.E. 249, 139 Ga. 825.

89. Ky.—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486
Wash.—Nuessler v. Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash. 297.

After notice of substitution of attorneys has been given, a payment to plaintiff's first attorney, who recovered the judgment, cannot operate as a valid payment on the judgment.—Nuessler v. Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash. 297—6 C.J. p 666 note 90 [c].

90. Ark.—Lake v. Wilson, 38 S.W. (2d) 25, 183 Ark. 180—Lake v. Wilson, 35 S.W. (2d) 597, 183 Ark. 180
Ga.—Roland v. Roland, 78 S.E. 249, 139 Ga. 825
Iowa.—Hough v. First Nat. Bank, 155 N.W. 163, 173 Iowa 48.
Ky.—Combs' Adm'r v. Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., 33 S.W. (2d) 649, 236 Ky. 521—Davis v. Gott, 113 S.W. 826, 130 Ky. 486
La.—Succession of Czarnowski, 105 So. 76, 158 La. 1093.
Mo.—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W. (2d) 784, 227 Mo. App. 775.
N.Y.—Larkin v. Frazier, 121 N.E. 105, 224 N.Y. 421, reversing 156 N.Y.S. 1130, 172 App.Div. 912.
Okl.—Vance v. Jones, 219 P. 375, 106 Okl. 110
Or.—Geanakapulas v. Zographos, 208 P. 585, 104 Or. 430—Davidhizar v. Elgin Forwarding Co., 173 P. 893, 89 Or. 89.
Pa.—In re Lancaster Trust Co., 186 A. 367, 323 Pa. 107—Netter v. Logan, 169 A. 245, 111 Pa. Super. 143—Zephus' Estate, 18 Pa. Dist. & Co. 168.
Wis.—La Marche v. Schoenrock, 247 N.W. 852, 211 Wis. 300
6 C.J. p 654 note 61
Authority to receive payment on execution or proceeds of judicial sale see supra §§ 97, 98.

91. Ky.—Combs' Adm'r v. Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., 33 S.W. (2d) 649, 236 Ky. 524.
Mo.—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W. (2d) 784, 227 Mo. App. 775
6 C.J. p 655 note 62.

92. Pa.—Loudon v. Borough, 12 Pa. Dist. & Co. 266.
Wash.—Nuessler v. Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash. 297.
6 C.J. p 666 note 90

93. Lake v. Wilson, 38 S.W. (2d) 25, 183 Ark. 180—Lake v. Wilson, 35 S.W. (2d) 597, 183 Ark. 180

94. O'Neal v. Spalding, 66 S.W. 11, 23 Ky.L. 1729

95. Ely v. Lamb, 10 Pa. Co. 209—6 C.J. p 655 note 63, p 673 note 67.
Termination of relation by assignment or transfer of subject matter generally see infra § 109.

96. Seitovitz v. London, 229 N.W. 590, 249 Mich. 567—6 C.J. p 655 note 65.

97. Mo.—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W. (2d) 784, 227 Mo. App. 775—Ladd v. McColl, (App.) 209 S.W. 578
Pa.—Huston v. Mitchell, 14 Serg. & R. 307, 16 Am.R. 506
6 C.J. p 655 note 70, p 660 note 41.

Acceptance and collection of check
(1) In the absence of any authority to that effect, the acceptance by plaintiff's attorney of a check does not amount to a payment of a judgment by a judgment debtor; but the attorney has implied authority to indorse a check, when received, for the purpose of collecting the same, and when the check has thus been collected and paid to the attorney, that constitutes a payment on the judgment binding on the client.—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W. (2d) 784, 227 Mo. App. 775.
(2) Power to transfer or indorse negotiable paper generally see infra § 104.

Attorney's acceptance of land in satisfaction of judgment is beyond the scope of his authority, in the absence of express authorization.—Ladd v. McColl, (Mo.App.) 209 S.W. 578—6 C.J. p 660 note 41.
Mode or form of payment to attorney generally see infra § 106

98. Ely v. Luscomb, 140 P. 1086, 24 Cal.App. 224.

99. U.S.—Southern Ry. Co. v. McKinney, (C.C.A.Ala.) 276 F. 772.
Ga.—Betts v. Hancock, 107 S.E. 377, 27 Ga.App. 63.
Ill.—Paskewis v. East St. L. & S. Ry. Co., 117 N.E. 1035, 281 Ill. 385, L.R.A.1918C 52, reversing 206 Ill.App. 131.
N.Y.—Greenburg v. New York Cent. R. Co., 104 N.E. 931, 210 N.Y. 505
6 C.J. p 654 note 61 [a] (3)—31 C.J. p 1175 note 91.
L. U.S.—Southern Ry. Co. v. McKinney, (C.C.A.Ala.) 276 F. 772.
Tenn.—Oody v. Roane Iron Co., 58 S.W. 850, 105 Tenn. 515, affirming 53 S.W. 1002.

[31 C.J. p 1175 note 97], his attorney of record is likewise vested with that power, in accordance with the general rule above stated [2]

There is no implied or apparent authority to receive payment and satisfy a judgment in favor of an attorney who has not been employed or retained to represent the creditor in securing the judgment;[3] and, of course, an attorney for the judgment debtor cannot receive payment or make satisfaction for the creditor unless he has been expressly authorized to do so.[4]

It has been held that the implied power of an attorney to receive payment of, and satisfy, a judgment exists only where it has been recovered in legal proceedings in a court of record, and that an attorney who has obtained an award before a workmen's compensation commission or board has no implied authority to receive payment of the award;[5] but there is other authority to the contrary.[6]

§ 100. Admissions, Stipulations and Waivers

a. Stipulations and agreements
b. Statements and admissions
c. Waiver

a. Stipulations and Agreements

(1) In general
(2) Particular stipulations or agreements

(1) In General

Stipulations or agreements with respect to remedial or procedural matters are generally within the implied or apparent authority of an attorney who has been employed or retained for purposes of litigation.

Although an attorney has no power to bind his client by an agreement or stipulation which he has not been expressly, impliedly, or apparently, authorized to make,[7] it is generally held, particularly where there is a statutory provision to that effect,[8] that an attorney employed for purposes of litigation has, by virtue of his broad powers over the conduct and control thereof (supra § 80), the general implied or apparent authority to enter into or make such agreements or stipulations, with respect to procedural or remedial matters, as appear, in the progress of the cause, to be necessary or expedient for the advancement of his client's interests or to accomplishment of the purpose for which the attorney was employed,[9] without regard to the client's actual knowledge or con-

2. State v Ballinger, 82 P. 1018, 41 Wash 23, 3 L R A (N S) 72—6 C J p 654 note 61 [a] (1), (2)—31 C J p 1175 note 98.

3. Pa—Goll v. Ziegler, 61 Pa Super 616.
Tex—Morrison v. Hammack, (Civ. App) 152 S W 494

4. Minn—First State Bank of Mountain Lake v C E Stevens Land Co, 143 N W 355, 123 Minn. 218
Pa—Goll v. Ziegler, 61 Pa Super. 616

5. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., 55 P (2d) 663, 40 N M 110

6. Mo—McCully v Kelley-Dempsey Co, 57 S W (2d) 784, 227 Mo App 775
Okl—Washita County Gin Co. v. Colbert, 54 P (2d) 640

7. Krug v. Roberts Cone Mfg. Co, 250 S W 621, 213 Mo App 628

8. Cal—People v. Garvey, 269 P. 702, 93 Cal.App 497—Clemens v Gregg, 167 P. 294, 34 Cal App 245
Idaho—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co of Baltimore, Md, 133 P 990, 32 Idaho 388
6 C J. p 648 note 60.

Statute applicable only when suit pending

Comp L § 3998 subd 1, authorizing an attorney to bind his client by his agreement filed with the clerk or entered upon the minutes of the court refers to stipulations and agreements as to conduct of an action pending when the stipulation is made.—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co of Baltimore, Md, 133 P 990, 32 Idaho 388

9. U S—Equitable Trust Co of New York v Washington-Idaho Water, Light & Power Co, (D C Wash) 300 F 601—Christy v. Atchison, T. & S F Ry Co, (Colo) 233 F 255, 147 C C A 261, affirming (D C.) 214 F 1016—U S v. Zucca & Co, 11 Cust App 167.
Ala—Blackwood v Maryland Casualty Co, 150 So. 130, 227 Ala. 343
Ill—American Car & Foundry Co v. Industrial Commission, 167 N E 80, 335 Ill 322—Lyman v Kaul, 113 N E 944, 275 Ill 11—Heinze v Industrial Commission, 123 N E 598, 228 Ill 342—Keithley v Clark County, 206 Ill App 500
Ind—Ft Wayne Checker Cab Co v Davis, 168 N E 41, 90 Ind App 30, denying rehearing 165 N E 764, 90 Ind App 30—Cory v. Howard, 164 N E 639, 88 Ind App 503
Iowa—Hefferman v. Burt, 7 Iowa 320, 71 Am D 445
Ky.—Kammerer v Brown, 27 S W (2d) 959, 234 Ky 199—De Charette v St Matthews Bank & Trust Co, 233 S W. 410, 214 Ky 400, 50 A L R. 84—Conrad's Executor v. Conrad, 160 S W 937, 156 Ky. 231.
Mass—See v Norris, 125 N E. 619, 234 Mass 345.
Mich.—Madden v. Madden, 192 N.W. 665, 222 Mich. 404
Miss—Noxubee County v. Long, 106 So 83, 141 Miss. 72.
Mo—National Union Fire Ins. Co v. Nevils, 274 S W 503, 217 Mo.App. 630—Krug v. Roberts Cone Mfg. Co, 250 S W. 621, 213 Mo App. 628
Mont—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co v Bourdeau, 208 P. 917, 64 Mont 60
N J—Hygrade Cut Fabric Co. v. U. S Stores Corporation, 144 A. 605, 105 N J.Law 324—Olympic Silk Mills v Washington Piece Dyeing & Finishing Co, 147 A. 47, 7 N J. Misc 680
N.Y—Humphries v Shapiro, 175 N.Y S 426, 187 App Div 96—Daley v. Donnis, 242 N Y.S 408, 137 Misc 1—Federal Fuel Co v. Macy, 223 N Y S 710, 130 Misc. 192—In re Callahan, 174 N Y.S 268, 106 Misc 202, affirmed 175 N Y S 896, 188 App Div 944—Szunyog v. Kiss, 182 N Y.S 893.
N C—Deitz v Bolch, 183 S E 334, 209 N C 202—Bissell v. Auto Tire & Equipment Co, 108 S E 439, 182 N C 98
Ohio—Industrial Commission of Ohio v. Kauffman, 164 N E 510, 119 Ohio St 494—Gottschalk v Brown, 19 Ohio Cir Ct (N.S) 15.
Okl—Voightlander v State ex rel. Barnett, 52 P (2d) 60—Home State Bank of Arcadia v Haynes, 290 P 338, 144 Okl 190
Pa—Cole v National Casket Co, 101 Pa.Super 207
S C—Poore v Poore, 89 S.E. 569, 105 S C 206.
S D—In re Fleming's Estate, 173 N. W. 836, 42 S.D. 193.

sent.[10] Moreover where an attorney's control of procedural matters is regarded as exclusive (supra § 80 b), it is often held that the power of the attorney to make stipulations and agreements with respect to the management of purely procedural matters in a pending cause is exclusive and the client himself cannot do so without the attorney's consent,[11] unless the validity of such a stipulation is recognized by statute or rule of court.[12]

An attorney employed in anticipation of suit may enter into a stipulation with reference thereto prior to the commencement of the action,[13] but after an action is pending no attorney other than the party's attorney of record has the implied or apparent authority to bind him by a stipulation or agreement with reference to the conduct of the cause,[14] although it may be presumed that another attorney who has purported to sign a stipulation for a party has authority to do so (see supra § 73). An attorney who has not entered his appearance as his client's attorney of record has the power to bind his client by a stipulation made in open court if he has been expressly authorized to do so by the client and has been engaged to act by the attorney of record.[15]

Where a suit is brought on the relation of a private party, so that he is a coplaintiff with the state, and they have joint control over the litigation, an attorney for the private party has the authority to make a stipulation binding on the state without the concurrence or consent of the state's attorney.[16]

The lack of implied or apparent authority over the substantial rights of the client (supra § 79), or the subject matter of the cause of action or defense (supra § 80), precludes the attorney from having the power, in the absence of express authority, to make stipulations or agreements which result in a waiver of the client's substantial legal rights (subsection c infra), a compromise or settlement of the client's cause of action (infra § 105), or the imposition of a new substantive contractual liability on the client (infra § 103). If, however, the stipulation or agreement relates to a matter which is regarded as being remedial or procedural in its essence it may be within the implied or apparent authority of the attorney although the rights of the client are thereby materially affected;[17] and the fact that a stipulation deals in part with matters which are nonprocedural in nature does not prevent the stipulation from being binding with respect to the other matters which are procedural.[18]

The implied or apparent power of an attorney extends only to such stipulations or agreements as are ordinarily made by attorneys with respect to procedural matters,[19] and he cannot stipulate with reference to matters which are collateral to, or not necessary to the conduct of, the cause or purpose for which he was employed,[20] unless his client has expressly authorized him to do so.[21] Nor can an attorney make stipulations which his client cannot

Tenn—Fuller v. Jackson, 62 S.W 274—Utley v. Railroad, 61 S W 84, 106 Tenn 242—Hammon v. Miller, 13 Tenn App 458—Brady & Edmondson v Lambert, 7 Tenn App 494.
Tex—Commonwealth Bonding & Casualty Ins Co v. Brannin, (Civ App) 186 S W. 862, error refused—Commonwealth Bonding & Casualty Ins Co v Beavers, (Civ App.) 186 S W 859
W Va—Board of Commissioners of Ohio County v Clemens, 100 S E. 680, 85 W Va. 11, 7 A L R 373.
6 C J p 647 note 58

10. McConkey v McConkey, (Tex Civ App) 187 S W 1100, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

11. Cal—Sieck v. Hall, 84 P (2d) 844, 139 Cal App 279
Ohio—Rogers v State, 14 Ohio Cir Ct (N S) 177.
6 C J p 643 notes 10, 11, p 648 note 59—60 C J. p 47 note 23.

Stipulations of client denied recognition

(1) A stipulation granting time to file a statement on a motion for a new trial—Mott v. Foster, 45 Cal 72

(2) A stipulation extending the time within which to answer.—Bonnifield v Thorp, (D C Alaska) 71 F 924, appeal dismissed 83 F 1022, 27 C C A. 686—6 C J p 648 note 10

(3) A stipulation for a continuance.—Nighungale v Oregon Cent R Co, (C C Or) 18 F Cas No 10,264, 2 Sawy 338

12. Braisted v. Johnson, 7 N Y Super 671—60 C J p 47 note 24

13. Hefferman v. Burt, 7 Iowa 320, 71 Am D. 445

14. Ill—American Car & Foundry Co v Industrial Commission, 167 N.E 80, 335 Ill 322.
S D—Carlton v Saville, 213 N.W. 509, 51 S D 282
6 C J. p 648 note 62

Defendant's attorney cannot bind intervener

Where a defendant and intervener in a cause have different attorneys of record the attorney for defendant cannot bind the intervener or his attorney by making stipulations as to a particular matter on the supposition that he might be asked to act for the intervener with respect thereto because of the intervener's attorney being resident at a distance—Carlton v. Saville, 213 N W. 509, 51 S D. 282.

15. Dutrowska v. Landolfo, 238 N. W. 207, 255 Mich 377.

16. State v. Mart, 283 P. 23, 295 P. 459, 135 Or. 603

17. Kissick v Hunter, 39 A 83, 184 Pa 174—Reinholdt v Alberti, 1 Binn (Pa) 469—6 C J. p 641 note 82

18. Equitable Trust Co of New York v Washington-Idaho Water, Light & Power Co, (D C Wash) 300 F 601.

19. Rothberg v Hebron, 157 N.Y S 788, 94 Misc 225
Contracts creating new substantive rights against client see infra § 103.

20. Mass—See v Norris, 125 N E. 619, 234 Mass 345
Mo—Krug v Roberts Cone Mfg Co, 250 S W. 621, 213 Mo App 628
N Y—Hallow v Hallow, 193 N.Y S. 460, 200 App Div. 642
6 C J p 649 notes 88, 92

21. Cal.—Clemens v Gregg, 167 P. 294, 34 Cal App 245
Mass—See v Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass 345.
Minn—National Council of Knights and Ladies of Security v Scheiber, 169 N.W. 272, 141 Minn. 41.

make,[22] or which interfere with the legitimate powers of the court;[23] but, if when a stipulation is filed the parties have the power through their attorneys to make it, it is immaterial that the power did not exist when the stipulation was tentatively formulated and agreed to.[24]

Setting aside or vacating stipulation or agreement. Under the rules stated in the title Stipulations §§ 34–37 [60 C.J. p 94 note 34–p 100 note 14], stipulations and agreements made by attorneys concerning the conduct of a cause are not legal contracts, but are under the discretion and control of the court, and may be denied enforcement or vacated and set aside if entered into as a result of fraud or collusion or without authority.

(2) Particular Stipulations or Agreements

The general rule that an attorney has implied authority to stipulate or agree with reference to procedural or remedial matters has been applied to a wide variety of stipulations and agreements, including those to abide event of another suit involving the same issues and questions and in which the attorney is also employed.

Within the attorney's implied or apparent authority, under the foregoing general rule, are stipulations or agreements relating to the conduct of the trial generally,[25] the pleadings,[26] and amendments thereof;[27] the evidence;[28] the venue or place of trial;[29] the time,[30] manner,[31] and scope,[32] of trial; the examination of witnesses,[33] and the mode of taking their testimony and the effect thereof.[34]

Accordingly an attorney may usually make arrangements for continuances,[35] or for extending[36] or limiting[37] the time within which to file pleadings, the time for giving instructions,[38] or for rendering judgment,[39] and he may enter into an agreement for an amicable action,[40] or stipulate that the decision of a demurrer shall be final.[41]

Likewise it is within an attorney's general authority to stipulate that one judge may give the decision of the court,[42] or that the presiding judge who is disqualified, shall call in another designated judge to try the case.[43]

A stipulation by the insured's attorney, that an insurer by assisting in the defense of a suit against the insured would not thereby waive its right to rely upon lack of cooperation as a defense to liability on the policy, has been held within the scope of the attorney's authority.[44]

Stipulation of facts. A general employment or retainer in a cause is usually regarded as giving to an attorney the implied authority to bind his client by a stipulation as to the ultimate facts in the N Y—Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App Div 642.

6 C J p 649 note 89.

22. In re Carpenter's Estate, 231 N W. 376, 210 Iowa 553—6 C J. p 649 note 90.

23. In re Hansen's Estate, 184 P 197, 55 Utah 23—6 C J. p 649 note 91.

24. People v Spring Lake Drain, etc, Dist., 97 N E. 1042, 253 Ill 479

25. Humphries v. Shapiro, 175 N Y. S. 426, 187 App Div 96.

26. O'Brien v. Lashar, (C C A Conn) 273 F. 520—6 C J. p 649 note 75.

27. Cal—Coonan v Loewenthal, 61 P 940, 129 Cal. 197
Mich—Madden v Madden, 192 N.W. 665, 222 Mich 404
6 C J. p 649 note 76.

Amendment of prayer to ask divorce rather than separate maintenance
An attorney as solicitor for defendant in a divorce action, where the prayer was for separate maintenance, has been held empowered to stipulate that the petition might be amended to contain a prayer for absolute divorce rather than separate maintenance—Madden v. Madden, 192 N.W. 665, 222 Mich. 404.

28. N Y.—In re Roos' Estate, 230 N. Y S. 330, 132 Misc. 749.
Ohio.—Industrial Commission of Ohio v Kauffman, 164 N E 510, 119 Ohio St 494
6 C.J p 648 note 74.

Inadmissible evidence
An attorney may stipulate for the admission of evidence which would otherwise be inadmissible—Industrial Commission of Ohio v. Kauffman, 164 N E 510, 119 Ohio St 494

Time evidence regarded as taken
Attorney appearing in accounting proceeding for adults could stipulate that evidence taken should be considered as though taken after his appearance—In re Roos' Estate, 230 N Y S 330, 132 Misc 749

29. Terre Haute Brewing Co v. Ward, 102 N E 395, 56 Ind App. 155.
Authority of attorney to bind client by stipulation for change of venue see Venue § 137 [67 C J p 146 note 72]
Sufficiency of stipulation for change of venue signed by attorneys only see Venue § 137 [67 C.J p 146 note 71]

30. Mont—Davenport v Davenport, 222 P 422, 69 Mont 405.
Okl—Neil v. Union Nat. Bank of Chandler, 178 P 659, 72 Okl. 116.

31. N Y—Federal Fuel Co. v. Macy, 223 N Y.S 710, 130 Misc. 192
Okl.—Voightlander v. State, 52 P (2d) 60

32. Hammon v Miller, 13 Tenn.App. 453—6 C J. p 649 note 79.

33. Conrad v Conrad, 160 S.W. 937, 156 Ky. 231.

34. Conrad v. Conrad, supra.

35. Mont—State v. Turlok, 248 P. 169, 76 Mont. 549
W Va—Board of Com'rs of Ohio County v Clemens, 100 S E. 680, 85 W Va 11, 7 A L R. 373
6 C J p 648 note 73.

36. U S—O'Brien v Lashar, (C C A Conn) 273 F 520
Nev—Rahn v Searchlight Mercantile Co, 49 P (2d) 353.
6 C J p 648 note 66

37. Wadsworth v. Montgomery First Nat Bank, 27 So 460, 134 Ala. 440.

38. Jacobs v. State, 213 S W 628, 85 Tex Cr 505.

39. Beardsley v. Pope, 34 N Y S 816, 88 Hun 560, reversing 32 N.Y S 936, 11 Misc 117—6 C J p 648 note 68.

40. Kissick v Hunter, 39 A 83, 184 Pa 174—6 C J p 649 note 77.

41. Monk v. R Co., 150 S W. 1083, 166 Mo App. 692—6 C.J. p 649 note 81.

42. Walker v. Rogan, 1 Wis. 597.

43. Washoe Copper Co v. Hickey, 128 P. 584, 46 Mont. 362.

44. Blackwood v. Maryland Casualty Co., 150 So. 180, 227 Ala. 343, denying certiorari 150 So. 179, 25 Ala. App. 303.

case,[45] although the facts so stipulated may control the result of the suit,[46] but an attorney for defendant cannot himself bind plaintiff by stipulating the essential fact upon which defendant relies for a defense.[47]

To abide event of another suit. An attorney employed in several different suits by or against the same or different parties, but all involving the same issues, and the interest of his client being of the same character in all, may stipulate that the trial and decision in one shall be determinative of the issues in all the others;[48] and such agreements by counsel are favored by the courts as they ordinarily tend to prevent multiplicity of trials, long drawn out and costly litigation, and hasten the dispatch of the court's business.[49] In order for the attorney to have implied authority to make such a stipulation, however, the other suit or suits must be actually pending, and not merely in contemplation;[50] the issues must be precisely alike,[51] and the attorney must also be employed in the case in which the determinative decision is to be rendered, as he has no implied authority to agree to let his client's case abide the decision in another case in which he is not employed.[52]

Stipulations as to fees. An attorney employed in litigation has the implied power to bind his client by stipulations in regard to the fees to be paid to a commissioner to take evidence,[53] or to a referee[54] or receiver,[55] or in regard to attorney's fees.[56]

b. Statements and Admissions

Statements or admissions of fact made by an attorney, while taking some step or proceeding on behalf of his client properly designed to accomplish the purpose of his employment, and having some relevant relation to the subject-matter thereof, are generally within the implied or apparent authority of the attorney to bind his client.

Statements[57] or admissions[58] of fact, made by an attorney while taking some step or proceeding properly designed to accomplish the purpose of his employment, and having some relevant relation to the subject-matter thereof, are often regarded as within the attorney's implied authority to bind his client, and may be admissible in evidence against the latter in accordance with the rules stated in Evidence § 361 [22 C.J. p 393 note 2–p 396 note 49].

45. U S—Christy v. Atchison, T. & S F. Ry Co, (Colo) 233 F. 255, 147 C C A 261, affirming (D C.) 214 F. 1016—Pacific Trading Co. v. U. S., 19 Cust. & Pat.App. 361
Ill—Heinze v. Industrial Commission, 123 N E. 598, 288 Ill. 342
Tex—Richmond v. Sangster, (Civ App) 217 S W. 723, error refused
6 C.J p 649 note 78
Stipulations as to facts generally see Stipulations §§ 10, 25 [60 C J p 58 note 72–p 59 note 84, p 83 note 62–p 86 note 3].

46. Christy v Atchison, T. & S. F Ry Co, (Colo) 233 F 255, 147 C C A. 261, affirming (D C.) 214 F. 1016.

47. Chapman v. Farris, 242 S W. 359, 195 Ky. 362.

48. U S.—Stone v. Bank of Commerce, (Ky) 19 S Ct 747, 174 U. S. 412, 43 L Ed 1028.
Ga—Bryant v. Elberton & E Ry Co, 93 S E. 219, 20 Ga App 586
Minn—National Council of Knights and Ladies of Security v. Scheiber, 169 N.W 272, 141 Minn 41—Rodgers v. U S & D Life Ins Co, 149 N W 671, 127 Minn. 435—Lieberknecht v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 126 N.W. 71, 110 Minn. 457.
Ohio.—Rogers v. State, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct.(N.S) 177.
Tex—State Life Ins. Co. v. Duke, (Civ App.) 69 S W.(2d) 791, error refused—Savage v. Dorn, (Civ App) 60 S.W (2d) 312, error refused—Commonwealth Bonding & Casualty Ins Co v. Beavers, (Civ App) 186 S W. 359.
6 C J p 648 note 63.
Decision on appeal in similar case
A stipulation made by attorney of record of insurer to have insurer abide by decision on appeal in another similar case in which such attorney represented another insurer is binding upon insurer—State Life Ins. Co v Duke, (Tex Civ App.) 69 S W (2d) 791, error refused.
Validity of such stipulations generally see Stipulations § 19 [60 C.J. p 51 note 75].

49. Savage v. Dorn, (Tex Civ App) 60 S W.(2d) 312, error refused

50. Stone v. Bank of Commerce, (Ky) 19 S Ct. 747, 174 U.S. 412, 43 L.Ed 1028.

51. National Council of Knights and Ladies of Security v. Scheiber, 169 N W. 272, 141 Minn. 41—6 C J. p 648 note 65

52. State Life Ins. Co v. Duke, (Tex Civ App.) 69 S W (2d) 791, error refused.

53. Fairchild v Michigan Cent R Co, 8 Ill App. 591.

54. Bottome v. Neeley, 104 N.Y S. 429, 54 Misc. 258—Keeler v. Bell, 95 N Y S 841, 48 Misc 427—6 C.J. p 649 note 85.

55. Matter of Maxwell, 21 N.Y.S. 209, 66 Hun 151.

56. Callahan v. Callahan, 192 P. 600, 33 Idaho 241—6 C J. p 649 note 87.
Allowance of fees on attorney's statement alone
Counsel in a divorce action may stipulate that trial court shall fix amount of fees and suit money to be allowed the wife, without expert testimony as to value of attorney's services in her behalf, and without evidence as to amount of suit money expended or for what purpose, other than a statement filed by her attorney—Callahan v. Callahan, 192 P. 600, 33 Idaho 241.

57. Idaho—Quirk v. Bedal, 248 P. 447, 42 Idaho 567.
Minn.—Independent School Dist No. 22, Winona County v. School Dist No 19, Winona County, 153 N.W. 113, 130 Minn. 19
Mo—McNatt v. Wabash Ry Co, 74 S W.(2d) 625, 335 Mo. 999—Cole v St Louis-San Francisco Ry Co, 61 S.W (2d) 344, 332 Mo 999—Eaton v. Curtis, 4 S W (2d) 819, 319 Mo 660—Hampe v. Versen, 32 S W (2d) 793, 224 Mo App 1144
Or—Oregon-Washington R. & Nav. Co v. Reed, 169 P 342, 87 Or 398, rehearing denied 170 P. 300, 87 Or. 398
S C—Moore v. Atlantic Coast Line R Co, 135 S E 473, 137 S C 319

58. D C—Berry v Littlefield, Alvord & Co, 54 App D.C. 195, 296 F. 235.
N C—Reynolds v Reynolds, 182 S. E 341, 208 N C. 578
Married woman bound by the admissions of her attorney see Husband and Wife § 428 [30 C.J. p 999 note 69].

An attorney employed to prosecute or defend a particular cause is usually held to have the implied power to bind his client by statements and admissions in the pleadings,[59] or in the opening statement;[60] or by any admission or statement of fact deliberately made in good faith in open court during the progress of the case for the purpose of dispensing with testimony or facilitating the trial of the cause,[61] unless the admission or statement is one which is expressly required by statute to be made or signed by the client personally.[62]

Without regard to the pendency of a suit an attorney may have implied authority to make statements or admissions which properly or apparently tend to accomplish the purposes of his employment and relate to the subject matter thereof.[63] Other cases, however, have indicated that apart from pending proceedings an attorney has no implied or apparent authority to make admissions binding on his client;[64] and, at any rate, statements or admissions having no proper tendency to accomplish the purpose of the attorney's employment,[65] or not relating to the subject matter thereof,[66] are not within the scope of an attorney's implied authority. An attorney has no power to bind his client by statements or admissions to strangers with respect to matters with which the client has no dealings with the attorney.[67] An attorney for collection has implied authority to state to the debtor what the claim is,[68] but not to make admissions as to the facts on which the claim is founded.[69]

During the pendency of a cause the implied power of an attorney ordinarily extends only to admissions or statements which are distinctly and formally made in open court for the purpose of dispensing with formal proof of a fact at the trial,[70] and are relevant to the issues involved in the particular cause in which the attorney is employed.[71]

59. U S —Kungllg Jarnvagsstyrelsen v Dexter & Carpenter, (C C A N.Y.) 32 F.(2d) 195, certiorari denied 50 S Ct. 32, 280 U S 579, 74 L Ed 629.
Ill —Smith v. Fidelity Trust Co, 231 Ill.App. 488.
Iowa.—Gilmore v Shearer, 197 N W. 631, 197 Iowa 506, 32 A L.R. 733.
Mass —Butter v. Sovrensky, 175 N. E 173, 275 Mass 88.
N Y —Standard Oil Co. of New York v Siraco, 235 N Y.S 1, 226 App. Div. 266.

60. McNatt v. Wabash Ry. Co., 74 S W.(2d) 625, 335 Mo. 999—McGuire v. Springfield Traction Co, (Mo App) 30 S W (2d) 794—64 C. J. p 238 notes 90, 91.

61. U S.—Shanley v. Bowers, (C.C. A N Y) 31 F.(2d) 13
Ill.—Deffler v. Loudenback, 241 Ill. App. 214. See Midland Oil Co v. Packers Motor Transport, 277 Ill. App. 451—Hughes v. Eldorado Coal & Mining Co, 197 Ill App. 259.
Iowa —Gilmore v Shearer, 197 N W. 631, 197 Iowa 506, 32 A.L.R. 733.
Kan —In re Hoover's Estate, 180 P. 275, 104 Kan. 635.
Ky —Bell County Board of Education v. Howard, 59 S W (2d) 932, 248 Ky. 766—National Life & Accident Ins Co v. Braswell, 272 S W. 413, 209 Ky. 165.
La —Kinchen v Ligamari, 130 So. 228, 14 La App. 497.
Mass —Brocklesby v. City of Newton, 200 N E. 351—Mercier v. Union Street Railway Co, 119 N E 764, 230 Mass. 397—McMahon v. Lynn & Boston R R. Co., 77 N E 826, 191 Mass. 295—Boston Electric Co v. Cambridge, 39 N E. 737, 163 Mass 64—Loomis v. New York, etc, Railroad Co, 34 N E 82, 159 Mass 39—Savage v. Blanchard, 19 N E. 396, 148 Mass. 348.
Minn —Independent School Dist. No. 22, Winona County, v. School Dist. No 19, Winona County, 153 N W. 113, 130 Minn 19.
Miss.—Noxubee County v. Long, 106 So. 33, 141 Miss. 72.
Mo —Cantrell v Knight, (App.) 72 S W (2d) 196—Mannion v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins Co of Boston, Mass (App) 273 S W. 201—Illinois Glass Co. v Ingraham, 264 S W 43, 215 Mo App 12—Robertson v Johnson, 243 S.W. 215, 210 Mo App 585—Probst v St Louis Basket & Box Co, 207 S W. 391, 200 Mo App 568.
N Y —Standard Oil Co of New York v Siraco, 235 N.Y.S 1, 226 App Div. 266
Okl —Mid-Co. Gasoline Co. v. Back, 217 P. 1041, 95 Okl 29.
Or —Oregon-Washington R & Nav. Co. v Reed, 169 P. 342, 87 Or 398, rehearing denied 170 P 300, 87 Or. 398—Metzler-Hegsted Lumber Co v Farmers' Union Warehouse & Mercantile Co, 153 P 56, 78 Or 551.
Pa —Bechtold, to Use of Heating Service Co, v Murray Ohio Mfg Co, 184 A. 49—Collins v Rosenberg, 161 A. 530, 106 Pa.Super 269
R I —McLyman v Miller, 161 A 111, 52 R I 374—Scotti v. District Court of Tenth Judicial Dist., 109 A. 207, 42 R I 556.
S C —Hall v. Benefit Ass'n of Ry Employees, 161 S E. 867, 164 S C 80—Southern Ry Co v. Swift & Co., 155 S E 429, 158 S C. 307
Tenn —Howard v. Bishop, 7 Tenn App 347
Tex.—Republic Ins Co. v. O'Donnell Motor Co, (Civ App) 289 S W. 1064.
6 C J p 649 note 96

62. Crowinshield Shipbuilding Co. v. Jackson, 186 N E. 87, 283 Mass. 21—Butter v. Sovrensky, 175 N.E. 173, 275 Mass 88.

63. Brown v. Hebb, 175 A. 602, 167 Md 535, 97 A.L R. 366—6 C.J. p 650 notes 97, 99 [a].

64. N.Y.—In re Larney's Estate, 266 N.Y S 564, 148 Misc. 871.
Or.—Welch v. Johnson, 184 P. 280, 93 Or 591, denying rehearing 183 P 776, 93 Or 591.
S C —Hall v. Benefit Ass'n of Ry. Employees, 161 S E. 867, 164 S C. 80.

65. Md —Milkton v. French, 150 A. 28, 159 Md. 126
Mass —Goldstein v. Tucker, 119 N. E 693, 230 Mass. 259.
6 C J. p 650 note 99.

66. In re Larney's Estate, 266 N Y. S. 564, 148 Misc 871.

67. Goldstein v Tucker, 119 N.E. 693, 230 Mass 259.

68. James v Boston El. R Co., 87 N E. 474, 201 Mass. 263—6 C.J. p 650 note 99 [a].

69. Hall v. Benefit Ass'n of Ry. Employees, 161 S E. 867, 164 S C. 80

70. Cal —Morrell v. Caldow, 278 P 247, 99 Cal App 159—Adelstein v. Greenberg, 247 P. 520, 77 Cal.App 548.
Iowa —Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co, 239 N W. 697, 213 Iowa 751.
La —Stevens v. Gaude, 130 So 79, 9 La App 664.
Mo —Robertson v. Johnson, 243 S W 215, 210 Mo.App 585.
Okl —Mid-Co Gasoline Co. v. Back, 217 P 1041, 95 Okl 29
Pa —Plummer v Hillside Coal & Iron Co, 96 Pa Super. 130.
6 C.J. p 650 note 98.

71. U.S —Catalin Corporation of America v. Catalasuli Mfg. Co., (C

Improvident or erroneous statements or admissions resulting from unguarded expressions or mistake,[72] or mere casual remarks, statements, or conversations,[73] are not usually treated as coming within the scope of the attorney's authority, nor are statements made in the course of negotiating or bargaining for a settlement,[74] unless the attorney has been expressly authorized to enter into such negotiations.[75]

Whether he is acting in or out of court an attorney generally has no implied or apparent authority to make an admission or statement which would directly surrender or conclude the substantial legal rights of the client,[76] unless such an admission is clearly a proper step in accomplishing the purpose for which the attorney was employed.[77]

Obviously, an attorney has no authority to make admissions or statements which will bind a party or person by whom he has not been employed, or whom he does not represent at the time the statements or admissions are made;[78] and an attorney for two persons in separate suits has no right to make a statement in one suit which will bind his client in the other.[79]

Only statements or admissions of fact are within the authority of an attorney, and neither his client nor the court are bound by his statements or admissions as to matters of law or legal conclusions.[80]

c. Waiver

The employment or retainer of an attorney ordinarily gives him the implied or apparent authority to waive mere informalities and technicalities, and procedural and remedial matters, but not the substantial legal rights of the client.

As he acquires no implied power with respect thereto (see supra §§ 79, 80), in the absence of express authority, an attorney generally has no power, by stipulation, agreement, or otherwise, to waive or surrender the substantial legal rights of his client;[81] but merely by virtue of his retainer or employment, he acquires the authority to waive

C A N Y) 79 F (2d) 593, affirming (D C) 11 F Supp 603

Ky—Bell County Board of Education v Howard, 59 S.W (2d) 982, 248 Ky 766—National Life & Accident Ins Co v. Braswell, 272 S W 412, 209 Ky 165—Talbot v. McGee, 4 T B Mon. 375.

Md—Brown v. Hebb, 175 A. 602, 167 Md 535, 97 A L R. 366

72. Cal—Merced Irr. Dist. v. San Joaquin Light & Power Corporation, 281 P 415, 101 Cal App 153

La—Federal Land Bank of New Orleans v Succession of Lacour, (App) 157 So 792.

N J—Elmora West End Building & Loan Ass'n v. Strede, (Ch.) 100 A. 344

N Y.—Willat Film Corporation v. Central Union Trust Co of New York, 222 N Y S 671, 221 App Div. 180, reversing 217 N Y S 409, 127 Misc 534

S C—Moore v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co, 135 S.E. 473, 137 S C. 319

6 C J p 650 note 2

73. D C—Berry v Littlefield, Alvord & Co, 54 App D C 195, 296 F. 285.

Iowa—Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co., 239 N W 697, 213 Iowa 751

Pa—Plummer v Hillside Coal & Iron Co, 96 Pa Super. 180.

6 C J p 650 note 98

74. Vogt Instant Freezers v. New York Eskimo Pie Corporation, (D C N Y) 59 F (2d) 99, affirmed (C C.A) 69 F.(2d) 84.

75. Ill—Bond v. Duntley Mfg Co, 195 Ill App 576

Md—Brown v Hebb, 175 A. 602, 167 Md 535, 97 A L R 366.

76. Robert R Sizer & Co. v. Chiarello Bros, (D C N Y) 32 F (2d) 333.

Admission against interest of estate.—In re Larney's Estate, 266 N Y S 564, 148 Misc 871—Witt v Carlton Dress Goods Co, 156 N Y S. 693—Welch v. Johnson, 184 P. 280, 93 Or 591, denying rehearing 183 P. 776, 93 Or 591—6 C J. p 650 note 99

Admission of no cause of action in favor of plaintiff is not within the scope of the implied or apparent authority of his attorney.—Lytle v. Crawford, 74 N Y S 660, 69 App Div. 273—Welch v. Johnson, 184 P. 280, 93 Or 591, denying rehearing 183 P 776, 93 Or 591

Admission of liability on part of defendant is not within scope of his attorney's authority in the absence of express authorization—Witt v Carlton Dress Goods Co., 156 N.Y S. 693.

77. Brown v Hebb, 175 A. 602, 167 Md 535, 97 A L R 366.

Admission of liability in compromise negotiations which attorney was employed to conduct for defendant held within the scope of attorney's authority—Brown v. Hebb, 175 A 602, 167 Md 535, 97 A L R 366.

78. Conn—Farley-Harvey Co v. Madden, 136 A. 586, 105 Conn 679—Hillhouse v. Duca, 125 A. 367, 101 Conn 92.

Miss—Planters' Mfg Co v. Greenwood Agency Co, 152 So. 476, 168 Miss 892

N Y.—Yonkers Builders' Supply Co. v. Petro Luciano & Son, 199 N E 45, 269 N Y. 171, reversing 277 N.Y S 648, 243 App Div 783.

However, where both counsel for joint defendants admitted there was negligence on the part of one of defendants but each disclaimed liability on the part of his client, it was held that both defendants were bound by the concession that there was negligence on the part of one of them—Mettie v De Baghian, (N J.) 134 A 738, reversing 126 A 419, 2 N.J Misc 990

Limitation of issues by counsel for one party

Counsel for one party cannot by his own statement not concurred in by counsel for the other party limit the issues as raised by the pleadings of both parties—McCloskey v. Toledo Pressed Steel Co, (C.C.A. Ohio) 30 F (2d) 12, certiorari denied 50 S Ct. 16, 280 U S 536, 74 L. Ed 612.

79. U S—Delaware County Commissioners v. Diebold, (Ind) 10 S Ct. 399, 133 U S 473, 33 L Ed 674.

D C—Berry v Littlefield, Alvord & Co, 54 App D C 195, 296 F 285

6 C J p 650 note 4

80. Cal—Adelstein v Greenberg, 247 P. 520, 77 Cal App 518

Conn—Farley-Harvey Co. v Madden, 136 A 586, 105 Conn 679

Minn—Haydsy v Hammermill Paper Co, 237 N W. 600, 184 Minn 8.

N J—Bankers' Trust Co. of New York v Lobdell, 173 A. 918, 116 N. J Eq 368.

Tex—Reynolds v. McMan Oil & Gas Co, (Com App) 11 S W (2d) 778, reversing (Civ App) 279 S W 939, and rehearing denied (Com App) 14 S.W.(2d) 819.

Utah—In re Hansen's Estate, 184 P 197, 55 Utah 23.

6 C J. p 650 note 2 [b].

81. Ala—Indemnity Co of America v. Bollas, 135 So 174, 223 Ala. 239—Blackwood v Maryland Casualty Co, 137 So 467, 24 Ala App 527.

Cal—Hasman v Canman, 28 P.(2d) 372, 136 Cal App. 91.

mere informalities, technicalities, or irregularities in practice,[82] such as a verification,[83] formal notice of proceedings in a case,[84] the taking of oath by arbitrators,[85] a change of venue,[86] objections to evidence or the manner of taking it,[87] the giving of particular instructions,[88] the making of findings,[89] or an undertaking on appeal.[90] It has also been held that an attorney may waive all but one of several defenses,[91] or some of several grounds of a motion for a new trial,[92] or agree that a certain point shall not be raised at the trial.[93]

The right to a trial by jury in civil cases is usually regarded as a procedural or remedial right which an attorney has the authority to waive under his general employment,[94] unless his client expressly and openly objects to such waiver.[95]

Likewise, it has been held that an attorney has implied authority to waive the right of appeal,[96] but there is other authority to the effect that an attorney has no power to surrender a right of his client so substantial as the right to appeal, unless authority to do so has been expressly conferred,[97] and that he cannot waive errors committed by the court to the prejudice of his client.[98]

§ 101. Matters Not Immediately Connected with Litigation

An employment for matters not immediately connected with litigation gives an attorney only those powers expressly conferred or necessary to the accomplishment of the particular purpose for which he was employed.

Where an attorney is employed for a special or particular purpose, apart from litigation in court, his implied powers are limited to those necessary for the accomplishment of the particular purpose, and are not nearly so broad as those implied from a general retainer to commence, prosecute, and control, a cause until judgment is rendered.[99] Hence the employment of an attorney at law to advise a client in regard to questions of law which may arise in a business transaction, or to handle legal matters, gives the attorney no authority to transact the business of the client generally, or his business in the particular transaction, except as the attorney is specifically authorized to act.[1] An attor-

Ga—National Finance Corporation v Eicholz, 142 S E 134, 165 Ga 799
Ill—Lyman v. Kaul, 113 N.E 944, 275 Ill 11.
Ky—Chapman v. Farris, 242 S W. 359, 195 Ky. 362.
Mo—Krug v Roberts Cone Mfg Co., 250 S W 621, 213 Mo App 628.
N J—Klein v. Boylan, 179 A. 688, 115 N J Law 295—Martin v. Lehigh Valley R Co, 176 A. 665, 114 N J Law 242—Hygrade Cut Fabric Co v U S Stores Corporation, 144 A 605, 105 N.J Law 324—Strauss v Rabe, 127 A 188, 97 N J Eq 208, affirmed 130 A 920, 98 N J Eq 700.
N Y—Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App Div. 642—Bills v. Baker, 165 N Y S. 171, 178 App Div 480—In re Callahan, 174 N.Y.S. 268, 106 Misc. 202, affirmed 175 N Y.S 896, 188 App Div 944.
N.C—Bizzell v. Auto Tire & Equipment Co, 108 S E 439, 182 N.C. 98
Pa—In re Quest's Estate, 188 A. 137, 324 Pa. 230
Porto Rico.—Bank of San Juan v. Dist Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774
Tex—Reynolds v. McMan Oil & Gas Co, (Com App.) 11 S.W (2d) 778, reversing (Civ App) 279 S W 939, and rehearing denied (Com.App) 14 S W (2d) 819—Bourland v. Huffhines, (Civ.App) 269 S.W. 184—Sullivan v. State, 204 S.W. 1169, 83 Tex Cr. 477.
Wash—Wagner v. Peshastin Lumber Co, 270 P 1032, 149 Wash. 328
6 C.J. p 647 note 57, p 652 note 29.

82. U.S—Equitable Trust Co. of New York v. Washington-Idaho Water, Light & Power Co, (D C. Wash) 300 F 601.
Ind—Evansville Improvement Co of Vanderburgh County v. Gardner, 128 N E 471, 75 Ind App. 401.
Ky—James v Commonwealth, 247 S.W 945, 197 Ky 577
Ohio—Industrial Commission of Ohio v Kauffman, 164 N.E 510, 119 Ohio St 494
Tex—Jacobs v. State, 213 S.W 628, 85 Tex Cr. 505
6 C J p 641 note 82, p 648 note 69, p 652 note 23

83. Smith v. Mulliken, 2 Minn. 319—6 C J p 648 note 70

84. Kalbritan v Padover, 161 N E 898, 264 Mass 26—6 C J p 652 note 25.

85. Bridgeman v. Gondek, 256 N.Y S 491, 235 App.Div. 129.

86. Terre Haute Brewing Co. v. Ward, 102 N E 395, 56 Ind App 155.

87. Industrial Commission of Ohio v. Kauffman, 164 N E 510, 119 Ohio St. 494—6 C J. p 652 note 26

88. James v. Commonwealth, 247 S. W. 945, 197 Ky 577

89. Johnson v Johnson, 3 P.(2d) 537, 117 Cal App 145

90. Hoffman v. Owens, 103 P. 414, 104 P 241, 31 Nev 481, Ann Cas 1912A 603, overruling Marx v. Lewis, 53 P. 600, 24 Nev 306

91. Bennett v. Thomson, 126 N E. 795, 235 Mass. 462—6 C J. p 652 note 27.

92. O'Malley v. Carrick, 212 P. 45, 60 Cal App. 48.

93. Hammon v. Miller, 13 Tenn.App. 458—6 C J p 649 note 79.

94. Iowa—Shores Co. v Iowa Chemical Co, 268 N W 581
N.Y.—Federal Fuel Co. v. Macy, 223 N Y S. 710, 130 Misc 193
Okl—Voightlander v State ex rel Barnett, 52 P (2d) 60—Neil v. Union Nat Bank of Chandler, 178 P. 659, 72 Okl. 116.
R I—McLyman v. Miller, 161 A. 111, 52 R I 374.
S C—Peterson v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co, 98 S E 848, 112 S C 89
6 C J. p 648 note 71, p 652 note 28

95. Lyman v. Kaul, 113 N E. 944, 275 Ill 11

96. Cal—Clemens v Gregg, 167 P. 294, 34 Cal App 245.
N Y—In re Brown, 165 N Y S. 736, 178 App Div. 558.
6 C J. p 654 note 54

97. Keoughan v. Equitable Oil Co, 41 So 88, 116 La. 772—6 C J p 654 note 55

98. U S v. Newman, (D C Wash.) 25 F (2d) 337, reversed on other grounds Caldwell v. U. S, (C C A) 28 F.(2d) 634

99. U S—United States v. Sloat, (D. C.N J.) 56 F (2d) 434.
N J—Strauss v Rabe, 130 A. 920, 98 N J Eq 700, affirming 127 A. 188, 97 N J Eq. 208.
N M—Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., 55 P (2d) 663
Tex—Bourland v. Huffhines, (Civ App) 269 S W. 184, affirmed Huffhines v Bourland, (Com App) 280 S.W. 561

1. Ill—Lanski v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 155 N E 296, 324 Ill. 367.

ney employed to advise the vendor in a real estate transaction has no implied or apparent authority to receive the purchase money, accept a deed or mortgage, waive any condition or requirement of the contract, or do any other thing to affect the interest of the client,[2] and an attorney employed by the purchaser to examine abstracts and express his opinion as to the title or to draw a bond and mortgage has no implied authority to waive a stipulation in the contract for merchantable title,[3] or its tender or transfer on a certain date,[4] or to prepare or pass on the sufficiency of a deed,[5] or consent to the inclusion in the deed of a clause whereby his client assumes the payment of an outstanding mortgage.[6]

The relationship of attorney and client for the purpose of having the attorney prepare a contract for the sale of the client's property does not give rise to apparent authority in the attorney to make representations to the purchaser as to the condition of the property to be sold;[7] but he acts within his apparent authority in reporting to the purchaser statements purported to have been made by the client with reference to the premises in a telephone conversation with the attorney.[8]

§ 102. —— Acknowledging Client's Indebtedness

Generally, an attorney has no implied or apparent authority to acknowledge the existence of an indebtedness on the part of his client.

In accordance with the general rule that an attorney has no implied or apparent authority to do acts which will fix a new liability on his client (supra § 79), or to make admissions conceding the latter's liability (supra § 100 b), it is usually held that an attorney has no implied power to bind his client by acknowledging a debt,[9] or the present existence of an indebtedness so as to take a case out of the statute of limitations,[10] or to permit the maintenance of an action on a debt previously discharged in insolvency or bankruptcy.[11] However, an attorney employed to conduct negotiations for a compromise has been held to have the power in such negotiations to acknowledge the existence of the indebtedness so as to avoid the bar of the statute of limitations.[12]

§ 103. —— Binding Client by Contract

An attorney has no implied or apparent authority to enter into a contract imposing a new substantive liability or obligation on his client, except in so far as the contract is necessary, and one ordinarily made by attorneys, to accomplish the purpose of the employment.

Although an attorney of record may make proper stipulations and agreements with respect to procedural matters in the conduct of the suit (supra § 100), the general employment of an attorney for litigation or ordinary legal matters usually gives him no implied or apparent authority to bind his client by a contract imposing a new substantive liability or obligation on the client,[13] except in so far as the contract is reasonably necessary to accom-

Mich—Raridan v. Bick, 242 N.W. 886, 259 Mich. 200.

2. Ill—Lanski v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 155 N.E. 296, 324 Ill. 367
Md—Stern v. Shapiro, 114 A. 587, 138 Md. 615—Abrams v. Eckenrode, 110 A. 468, 136 Md. 244.
N.J—Strauss v. Rabe, 130 A. 920, 98 N.J.Eq. 700, affirming 127 A. 138, 97 N.J.Eq. 208

3. Bourland v. Huffhines, (Tex.Civ. App.) 269 S.W. 184, affirmed Huffhines v. Bourland, (Com.App.) 280 S.W. 561.

4. Ga.—National Finance Corporation v. Eicholz, 142 S.E. 134, 165 Ga. 799.
N.J.—Rapps v. Tulenko, 140 A. 244, 102 N.J.Eq. 207.
N.Y.—Nichtern v. Johnston, 192 N.Y.S. 784, 200 App.Div. 185.

5. Bourland v. Huffhines, (Tex.Civ. App.) 244 S.W. 347.

6. Stead v. Sampson, (Iowa) 155 N.W. 978.

7. Milkton v. French, 150 A. 28, 159 Md. 126

8. Milkton v. French, supra.

9. U.S.—Robert R. Sizer & Co. v. Chiarello Bros., (D.C.N.Y.) 32 F.(2d) 333
N.D.—McLain v. Nurnberg, 112 N.W. 243, 16 N.D. 144
S.D.—Fulford v. Cleveland, 226 N.W. 789, 55 S.D. 509
6 C.J. p. 656 note 91

10. Butler v. Fechner, (Tex.Civ. App.) 200 S.W. 1126—6 C.J. p. 657 note 92.

11. Houghton v. Ellis, 73 P. 752, 19 Colo.App. 125.

12. Brown v. Hebb, 175 A. 602, 167 Md. 535, 97 A.L.R. 366

13. U.S.—Northern Pacific Ry. Co. v. Clarke, (Wash.) 106 F. 794, 45 C.C.A. 635
Cal.—Davis v. Mackay, 194 P. 738, 50 Cal.App. 251.
Conn.—Gagner v. Petrauskas, 152 A. 145, 112 Conn. 307.
Del.—Pyle v. Yarowsky, 146 A. 296, 16 Del.Ch. 280
Ill.—Looker v. Buente, 156 N.E. 385, 325 Ill. 402—Makarewicz v. Hoyt Metal Co., 262 Ill.App. 327
Mass.—See v. Norris, 125 N.E. 619, 234 Mass. 345—Smith v. Abbott, 109 N.E. 190, 221 Mass. 326.
Mich.—Raridan v. Bick, 242 N.W. 886, 259 Mich. 200
Nev.—Moore v. De Bernardi, 213 P. 1041, 47 Nev. 33, rehearing denied 220 P. 544, 47 Nev. 33
N.J.—Bentley v. Fidelity & Deposit Co., 69 A. 202, 75 N.J.Law 328, 127 Am.S.R. 837, 15 Ann.Cas. 1178—Callaway v. Equitable Trust Co., 50 A. 900, 67 N.J.Law 44—Falkenstein v. Gibson, 154 A. 876, 108 N.J.Eq. 251, 76 A.L.R. 1457
N.Y.—Rotberg v. Hebron, 157 N.Y.S. 788, 94 Misc. 235
Pa.—Gravle v. Snyder, 159 A. 74, 104 Pa.Super. 253.
Porto Rico—Bank of San Juan v. Dist. Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774
S.D.—Fulford v. Cleveland, 226 N.W. 739, 55 S.D. 509
Tex.—Anderson v. Oldham, 13 S.W. 557, 82 Tex. 228—Lynch v. Johnson, (Civ.App.) 59 S.W.(2d) 256—Commercial Credit Co. v. Crone, (Civ.App.) 270 S.W. 209—Price v. Logue, (Civ.App.) 164 S.W. 1049—Taylor v. Evans, (Civ.App.) 29 S.W. 172
Wash.—Wagner v. Peshastin Lumber Co., 270 P. 1032, 149 Wash. 328.
6 C.J. p. 657 note 94.

plish the purpose of the employment;[14] and he, of course, has no implied power to bind his client by an agreement collateral to and independent of the subject-matter of his employment.[15] Nor may an attorney, without express authority, alter, modify, or supplement, a contract which has been entered into by the client,[16] although the attorney has been employed to prepare the contract or attend to its fulfillment,[17] unless the client has by his acts or conduct vested the attorney with apparent authority to take such action.[18]

Except where he has been employed for that purpose or has been expressly authorized to do so,[19] an attorney has no authority to bid or contract to purchase property for his client,[20] and employment or authorization to purchase property from a certain person gives the attorney no authority to negotiate for a purchase from another.[21]

Similarly, special authority is generally necessary to entitle the attorney to make contracts or agreements with relation to the client's property,[22] although he has been employed in litigation with respect thereto.[23] In the absence of such authority he cannot sell or contract to sell his client's land,[24] make a lease of the same,[25] or employ a broker to make a sale;[26] but he may agree that, if a foreclosure sale is had pending an appeal, the proceeds shall be deposited in court subject to the final determination of the case.[27]

On the other hand, the employment or retainer of itself gives the attorney the implied or apparent authority to bind the client for the payment of such expenses and services as are properly and reasonably incurred by the attorney in conducting the case or accomplishing the purpose of his employment, although he has not been expressly authorized to charge his client with the amount thereof.[28] In accordance with this, an attorney has been held empowered to bind his client for the payment of the expenses or services of referees,[29] stenographers

Acceptance of deed with assumption clause

A client's instruction to an attorney to draw a deed to property to the client, without specifying the terms which shall be included does not authorize the attorney to draw and accept the execution and delivery to the client of a deed in which the client assumes and agrees to pay an outstanding mortgage on the property—Gagner v Petrauskas, 152 A. 145, 112 Conn. 307.

14. Cal.—Dewing v Chow, 19 P (2d) 12, 129 Cal.App. 441.
Ky—Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S W (2d) 21, 266 Ky 19—Anglo-American Mill Co v Phillips, 32 S W. (2d) 994, 236 Ky 245.
N J—Remington v Lauter Co, 177 A. 359, 13 N J.Misc 209

15. Moore v. De Bernardi, 213 P 1041, 47 Nev 33, rehearing denied 220 P. 544, 47 Nev. 33

16. Iowa—Stead v. Sampson, 155 N.W 973.
Md—Stern v. Shapiro, 114 A. 537, 133 Md 615.
N J—Falkenstein v. Gibson, 154 A 876, 108 N J Eq. 251, 76 A L R. 1457
Tex—Bourland v Huffhines, (Civ App) 269 S W. 134, affirmed Huffhines v Bourland, (Com.App) 280 S.W 561
Wash—Wagner v. Peshastin Lumber Co, 270 P. 1032, 149 Wash. 328

17. Abrams v. Eckenrode, 110 A. 468, 136 Md 244.

18. Fuld v Adams, 156 A. 833, 108 N J.Law 373.

19. Blanton v. Jonesboro Bldg. & Loan Ass'n, 3 S W (2d) 964, 176 Ark 315.

20. N J—Wechsler v. Clarke, 146 A. 786, 7 N J Misc 627.
N Y—McNeill v. Fradus, 157 N Y S 59
6 C.J. p 657 note 95
Authority to bid at judicial sale see supra § 93.

21. McNeill v. Fradus, 157 N Y S 59.

22. Cal—Woerner v Woerner, 152 P. 919, 171 Cal. 298.
Del.—Pyle v Yarowsky, 146 A. 296, 16 Del Ch. 280
Md—Brown v Hogan, 113 A 756, 133 Md 257—Abrams v Eckenrode, 110 A 468, 136 Md 244—Lyon v. Hires, 46 A 935, 91 Md 411.
Neb—Carter v. Miller, 260 N W. 393, 128 Neb 853.
N J.—Rapps v. Tulenko, 140 A. 244, 102 N J Eq. 207.
N.Y—Nichtern v. Johnson, 192 N Y.S. 784, 200 App.Div. 185
Or—Neilson v. Title Guaranty & Surety Co, 199 P. 948, 101 Or. 262
Pa—Irwin Savings & Trust Co v. Sanner, 185 A 876, 123 Pa Super. 70
6 C.J. p 657 note 96.

23. Clark v. Deupree, 7 S.W.(2d) 1, 177 Ark 384

24. Ark—Clark v. Deupree, 7 S.W. (2d) 1, 177 Ark 384.
Cal.—Woerner v. Woerner, 152 P. 919, 171 Cal 298
La—Blythe v. Hall, 126 So. 679, 169 La. 1120
Md—Brown v. Hogan, 113 A. 756, 133 Md 257
Nev—Moore v. De Bernardi, 213 P. 1041, 47 Nev 33, rehearing denied 220 P 544, 47 Nev. 33
Or.—Bliss v. Miller, 250 P 218, 119 Or. 573, rehearing denied 250 P. 763, 119 Or. 573.

Pa—Zellner v Murdoch, 148 A. 109, 298 Pa 208
6 C J p 657 note 97

Attorney to collect rents for landowner, does not have apparent authority to contract to convey her property—Bliss v Miller, 250 P 218, 119 Or. 573, rehearing denied 250 P. 763, 119 Or. 573

25. Carter v. Miller, 260 N.W. 393, 128 Neb 853

26. Gross v. Kincaid, 33 Pa.Super. 514.

27. Halliday v Stuart, (Ark) 14 S. Ct 302, 151 U S 229, 38 L.Ed. 141—6 C.J p 642 note 92

28. Ga—Brady v. Sappington, 151 S E 525, 40 Ga App 781.
Ky—Herfurth v Horine, 98 S W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19—Anglo-American Mill Co v Phillips, 32 S W.(2d) 994, 236 Ky 245.
N J—Klein v. Boyland, 179 A 638, 115 N.J Law 295—Remington v. Lauter Co, 177 A. 359, 13 N.J.Misc. 209.
Pa—Messenger Pub. Co. v. Walkinshaw, 157 A. 13, 102 Pa Super 445—Moxey v. Goldstein, 156 A. 589, 102 Pa Super. 168—Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa Super 187.
S D.—Fox v William Deering & Co., 64 N W 520, 7 S D 443
Tex—Kersee v Aultman, (Civ.App) 291 S.W 293—McConkey v McConkey, (Civ App) 187 S W 1100, dismissed for want of jurisdiction
Wyo—Kimball Co. v. Payne, 64 P. 673, 9 Wyo 441.
6 C.J. p 642 note 91, p 657 note 99, p 658 note 6.
Personal liability of attorney for expenses see supra § 52.

29. Huntzinger v Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187—6 C.J. p 657 note 1.

or reporters,[30] expert witnesses,[31] an accountant,[32] or bookkeeper,[33] the printing of briefs,[34] although not required by rule of court,[35] and the expenses of storing[36] or removing[37] replevied property. The expenses of an authorized appeal are also included within this power of an attorney,[38] but if appellate proceedings have not been expressly authorized, an attorney employed to try a case in the trial court has no power to bind his client to defray the expenses of such proceedings,[39] as he has no authority to maintain them (supra § 95). Moreover a contract for the employment of a private detective has been held beyond the authority of an attorney of record,[40] and the attorney for the petitioner in a proceeding to establish a drainage district has been held to have no implied authority to employ an engineer.[41]

As between the parties the authority of an attorney to bind his client for expenses may be limited by an express contract or agreement providing that they shall be paid by the attorney;[42] but secret limitations do not restrict the attorney's authority as to third persons who furnish services or property in reliance on the attorney's apparent authority to bind his client therefor.[43]

Contracts of indemnity. It has been held that, where a client resides at a distance, an attorney employed to collect debts has implied authority to indemnify an officer.[44] However, it has been held that there is no implied authority to make an indemnity contract, at least where it is practicable for an attorney to consult his client and obtain special directions;[45] and an attorney employed to eject a lessee has no implied authority to agree that the lessee will be indemnified against liability to subtenants if he surrenders the lease.[46]

Bonds. Particularly where there is a statute vesting him with such power,[47] an attorney has often been held to have the implied or apparent authority to bind his client by signing or executing such bonds as the law requires or authorizes in the court of the proceedings which the attorney has been employed to conduct or manage.[48] Accordingly, one empowered to collect a debt has been held to have implied power to execute an attachment bond,[49] and employment to conduct appellate proceedings has been held to give the attorney implied or apparent authority to execute, sign and file a supersedeas or appeal bond.[50]

Other cases, however, have held that the execution of bonds does not fall within the scope of an attorney's implied or apparent authority to bind his client.[51] Hence, unless he has been given express authority to do so by an instrument of equal rank with the bond,[52] an attorney has been held

30. Cal.—Dewing v. Chow, 19 P.(2d) 12, 129 Cal.App. 441
N.J.—Klein v. Boylan, 179 A. 638, 115 N.J.Law 295
Pa.—Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187
6 C.J. p. 657 note 2.

31. Ga.—Brady v. Sappington, 151 S.E. 525, 40 Ga.App. 781
Ky.—Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S.W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19
N.J.—Klein v. Boylan, 179 A. 638, 115 N.J.Law 295—Klein v. Boylan, 184 A. 736, 14 N.J.Misc. 323.
Pa.—Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187
6 C.J. p. 657 note 2.

Medical witness in will contest
An attorney employed to conduct a will contest on the ground of lack of mental capacity has apparent authority to employ medical witnesses as such witnesses are usually employed in such cases.—Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S.W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19.

32. Moxey v. Goldstein, 156 A. 539, 102 Pa.Super. 168.

33. Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187—6 C.J. p. 657 note 4.

34. Mo.—Inland Printing & Binding Co. v. Elam, (App.) 240 S.W. 822—Mendenhall v. Sherman, 187 S.W. 271, 193 Mo.App. 684.
Pa.—Messenger Publishing Co. v. Walkinshaw, 157 A. 18, 102 Pa.Super. 415—Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187
6 C.J. p. 657 note 5.

35. N.J.—Klein v. Boylan, 179 A. 638, 115 N.J.Law 295
Pa.—Huntzinger v. Devlin, 80 Pa.Super. 187
6 C.J. p. 657 note 5.

36. Anglo-American Mill Co. v. Phillips, 32 S.W.(2d) 994, 236 Ky. 245.

37. Fox v. William Deering & Co., 64 N.W. 520, 7 S.D. 443.

38. Granier v. Louisiana Western R. Co., 8 So. 614, 42 La.Ann. 880.

39. Morgan v. Krook, 283 P. 287, 36 Ariz. 133—6 C.J. p. 653 note 45.

Fees for preparation of transcript
Under the rule of the text, the attorney cannot bind his client to pay stenographer's or reporter's fees for services rendered at the instance of the attorney in preparing a transcript to be used in the appellate court.—Morgan v. Krook, 283 P. 287, 36 Ariz. 133—6 C.J. p. 653 note 45.

40. Davis v. Mackay, 194 P. 738, 50 Cal.App. 251.

41. Looker v. Buente, 156 N.E. 385, 325 Ill. 402.

42. Forbes v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 129 N.W. 810, 150 Iowa 177, Ann.Cas.1912D 311.

43. Ga.—Brady v. Sappington, 151 S.E. 525, 40 Ga.App. 781
Ky.—Herfurth v. Horine, 98 S.W.(2d) 21, 266 Ky. 19.

44. Schoregge v. Gordon, 13 N.W. 194, 29 Minn. 367—6 C.J. p. 658 note 11.

45. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Burden, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 30 F.(2d) 610, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 19, 280 U.S. 562, 74 L.Ed. 616—6 C.J. p. 658 note 12.

46. Smith v. Abbott, 109 N.E. 190, 221 Mass. 326.

47. Ramsay v. Tacoma Land Co., 71 P. 1024, 31 Wash. 351—6 C.J. p. 658 note 25.

48. Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53.

49. Fornes v. Wright, 59 N.W. 51, 91 Iowa 392—6 C.J. p. 169 note 30, p. 658 note 23.

50. Heyer v. Hines, 252 P. 1028, 36 Wyo. 53—6 C.J. p. 658 note 14.

51. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Burden, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 30 F.(2d) 610, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 19, 280 U.S. 562, 74 L.Ed. 616—6 C.J. p. 169 note 31 [b], p. 658 note 15.

52. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Etten-to lack the authority to sign or execute on behalf of his client a replevin,[53] injunction,[54] stay,[55] indemnity,[56] or appeal or supersedeas,[57] bond.

§ 104. —— Disposition of Client's Money or Other Property

Without express authority an attorney generally has no power to dispose of, or transfer, his client's money or other property.

Unless he has been specially authorized or employed to make some other disposition of it,[58] an attorney generally has no authority to dispose of his client's money in any other way than by turning it over to the client.[59] Nor has he any implied authority to assign a judgment (supra § 93), or to transfer or dispose of other property or rights of the client;[60] and express authority to transfer or dispose of the client's property gives him no power to do so except upon receipt of the full purchase price or consideration to be given therefor.[61]

Accordingly, it is usually held that an attorney having charge of a claim, obligation, or security, of his client, for purposes of collection or enforcement has no power to sell, transfer, or assign, it to another,[62] whether for a consideration received for the benefit of the client,[63] or in payment of the attorney's own personal debt,[64] although, as noted elsewhere, he may receive payment on the claim or obligation (infra § 106) or on a judgment which has been recovered thereon (supra § 99). Moreover, a power of attorney giving an attorney authority to bring suit on a note, execute a cost bond in the name of the client, and do other acts necessary, gives the attorney no authority to sell the note to a third person at a discount.[65]

An assignment of the client's property for the benefit of creditors may be made by the attorney where he has been expressly authorized to do so,[66] unless the statute under which the assignment is made requires it to be done by the debtor personally.[67]

An exchange of securities held by the client for other securities is not within the implied or apparent authority of an attorney employed to collect or enforce the debt secured.[68] heimer, 99 N.W. 652, 70 Neb. 147, 113 Am.S.R. 783—6 C.J. p. 169 note 31 [d] (2), p. 658 note 17.

53. Narragaugus v. Wentworth, 36 Me. 339.

54. Gauthier v. Gardenal, 11 So. 463, 44 La.Ann. 884—6 C.J. p. 658 note 20.

55. Anderson v. Hendrickson, 95 N.W. 844, 1 Neb.(Unoff.) 610.

56. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Burden, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 30 F.(2d) 610, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 19, 280 U.S. 562, 74 L.Ed. 616—6 C.J. p. 658 note 22.

57. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Burden, supra—6 C.J. p. 658 note 16.

58. Mass.—Inhabitants of Town of Wayland v. Child, 157 N.E. 615, 260 Mass. 469.

N.Y.—Adams v. Garsillo, 279 N.Y.S. 398, 155 Misc. 358.

59. Gordon v. Harrison, 161 A. 608, 105 Pa.Super. 513—6 C.J. p. 658 note 26.

Duty of attorney to account for moneys received and to pay such moneys see infra § 133.

Liability of attorney for commingling or depositing funds collected but not paid over see infra § 139.

60. Cal.—Woerner v. Woerner, 152 P. 919, 171 Cal. 398—Wilkinson v. Zumwalt, 297 P. 94, 112 Cal.App. 416.

La.—G. A. Wiegand & Co. v. Villemeur, 136 So. 105, 17 La.App. 457.

Md.—Shirk v. Cornell, 111 A. 217, 136 Md. 390.

N.Y.—Elmhorst v. Mazuroff, 157 N.Y.S. 578, 93 Misc. 656, reversed 161 N.Y.S. 1029, 176 App.Div. 145.

Or.—Neilson v. Title Guaranty & Surety Co., 199 P. 948, 101 Or. 262

Pa.—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207—In re Berberich's Estate, 101 A. 461, 257 Pa. 181—Harvey v. Schuylkill Ins., etc., Co., 24 Pa.Co. 593.

6 C.J. p. 657 note 98—p. 658 note 28.

Bond and mortgage obtained by fraud

An attorney has no authority to sell a bond and mortgage which he has obtained from his client by fraudulent representations, even to an innocent purchaser.—Elmhorst v. Mazuroff, 157 N.Y.S. 578, 93 Misc. 656, reversed 161 N.Y.S. 1029, 176 App. Div. 145.

Power to contract for sale of client's property see supra § 103.

61. Ky.—Harding v. Kentucky River Hardwood Co., 265 S.W. 429, 205 Ky. 1.

R.I.—Hale v. McGauley, 147 A. 389.

Delivering deeds without payment

An attorney in whose hands have been placed the sale of real estate and the management of the proceeds of such sale has no authority to deliver deeds to said real estate without receipt of the full purchase price therefor.—Hale v. McGauley, (R.I.) 147 A. 389.

Sale of note at greater discount than expressly authorized is without the scope of the attorney's authority.—Harding v. Kentucky River Hardwood Co., 265 S.W. 429, 205 Ky. 1.

62. Ky.—Harding v. Kentucky River Hardwood Co., supra.

Md.—Shirk v. Cornell, 111 A. 217, 136 Md. 390.

N.J.—Leithoff v. Dennis, 98 A. 242, 86 N.J.Eq. 316—Brewster v. Entz, 97 A. 156, 85 N.J.Eq. 469, affirmed 98 A. 1084, 86 N.J.Eq. 342.

Pa.—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207.

6 C.J. p. 657 note 98, p. 658 note 29.

Bonds and mortgages.—Leithoff v. Dennis, 98 A. 242, 86 N.J.Eq. 316—Brewster v. Entz, 97 A. 156, 85 N.J.Eq. 469, affirmed 98 A. 1084, 86 N.J.Eq. 342—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207.

Leaving papers or securities in hands of attorney as negligence estopping client from asserting lack of authority as against transferee see Estoppel § 106 [21 C.J. p. 1178 note 17 [b] (4)].

63. McClintock v. Helberg, 48 N.E. 145, 168 Ill. 384, affirming 64 Ill.App. 190—6 C.J. p. 658 note 29.

64. Craig v. Ely, 5 Stew. & P.(Ala.) 354—6 C.J. p. 659 note 30.

65. Harding v. Kentucky River Hardwood Co., 265 S.W. 429, 205 Ky. 1.

66. Lowenstein v. Flauraud, 82 N.Y. 494—5 C.J. p. 1050 note 45.

67. Minneapolis Trust Co. v. School Dist. No. 5, 71 N.W. 679, 68 Minn. 414.

68. Commercial Credit Co. v. Crone, (Tex.Civ.App.) 270 S.W. 209—6 C.J. p. 659 note 36.

Indorsement of negotiable instruments. As a general rule an attorney can indorse his client's name to negotiable instruments payable to the order of his client only when he has been expressly authorized to do so.[69] Under this rule, it has even been held that the authority of an attorney to collect or receive payment on a claim or judgment gives him no implied power to indorse and cash a check received from the debtor and payable to the order of the client,[70] although the attorney is a joint payee of the check,[71] or he has the right to retain his commissions or fees from the proceeds of the check,[72] and, of course, an attorney has no implied authority to indorse a check payable to the order of his client which has been given in payment of a debt or obligation the attorney has no authority to collect.[73] In some cases, however, the power to make an indorsement has been implied where it is a mere matter of form to enable the attorney to effect the purpose for which he was employed by the client;[74] and, where an attorney having authority to obtain payment of a claim or judgment receives from the debtor a check payable to the order of the client, which the attorney has no authority to accept in payment of the debt (infra § 106), it is frequently held that the attorney has implied authority to indorse the check in order to collect the same and thereby obtain an ultimate payment in cash which is within his authority and will bind the client.[75]

If an attorney has authority to indorse a check payable to his client he has apparent authority to deposit the proceeds thereof either in his individual account or his account as attorney.[76]

§ 105. —— Settlement, Compromise and Release

a. Compromise or settlement
b. Release

a. Compromise or Settlement

Although the client himself may practically always do so, ordinarily an attorney can settle or compromise his client's rights, claims, or cause of action, only when he has been expressly authorized, unless the client by acts or conduct beyond the mere employment or retainer has conferred apparent authority upon the attorney, or a case of emergency is presented in which prompt action is necessary to protect the interests of the client.

As the implied or apparent authority of an attorney ordinarily does not extend to the client's substantial rights or the subject matter of the cause of action (supra §§ 79, 80), it is a well settled general rule that the ordinary employment or retainer of an attorney to represent a client with respect to litigation or other matters does not of itself give the attorney the implied or apparent authority to bind his client by a settlement or compromise of the cause of action, claim, or other matter or right, with respect to which he was employed, and that in the absence of express authority he cannot do so.[77] Originally, however, there was some doubt

69. U.S—U. S. v. Sloat, (D C N J.) 56 F (2d) 434.
Ill—Crahe v Mercantile Trust & Savings Bank, 129 N E 120, 295 Ill. 375, 12 A L R 92.
Md—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666
Minn—Rosacker v. Commercial State Bank, 254 N W. 824, 91 Minn. 553, 94 A L R. 551.
Vt—Nason v Addison County Trust Co, 157 A. 821, 104 Vt. 183.
6 C.J. p 659 note 32.

Authority to indorse draft in payment of compensation award expressly conferred.—Washita County Gin Co v. Colbert, (Okl) 54 P.(2d) 640.

Check given for loan

An attorney authorized to obtain a loan has no implied authority to indorse and collect a check drawn to the client's order for the loan—Forest Hill Permanent Bldg. Ass'n of Harford County v. Fisher, 118 A. 164, 140 Md. 666.

70. Ill.—Crahe v. Mercantile Trust & Savings Bank, 129 N.E. 120, 295 Ill. 375, 12 A.L.R. 92.
Minn.—Rosacker v. Commercial State Bank, 254 N W. 824, 91 Minn. 553, 94 A.L.R. 551.
Vt—Nason v. Addison County Trust Co., 157 A. 821, 104 Vt. 183.

Express authority always necessary

"In the past some attorneys have acted upon the assumption that the general employment of an attorney in a particular matter authorises him to indorse his client's signature on checks made payable to the order of the client which are received by him in the course of his client's business, and to cash the same. This assumption is not warranted. . . . His general employment does not authorize him to indorse his client's signature on checks which are so received, that is an act which requires special authorization"—Nason v Addison County Trust Co., 157 A. 821, 823, 104 Vt 183.

71. Crahe v. Mercantile Trust & Savings Bank, 129 N.E. 120, 295 Ill. 375, 12 A.L.R. 92.

72. Ill.—Crahe v. Mercantile Trust & Savings Bank, supra
Minn.—Rosacker v. Commercial State Bank, 254 N W. 824, 91 Minn. 553, 94 A.L.R 551.
Vt—Nason v. Addison County Trust Co., 157 A. 821, 104 Vt. 183.

73. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., (N M.) 55 P.(2d) 663.

74. Ill—North End Paper Co. v. State Bank of Chicago, 198 Ill App 242
Ind.—Brown v. Grimes, 129 N E 483, 74 Ind App. 655.
Mo—McCully v Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S W (2d) 784, 227 Mo.App 775
6 C J. p 659 note 34.

75. U S—Bailey v. U. S, (C C A Ariz) 13 F (2d) 825, 827.
Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co, 151 S E. 818, 41 Ga App. 94
Ind.—Brown v Grimes, 129 N E 483, 74 Ind App. 655.
Mo—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co, 57 S.W.(2d) 784, 227 Mo.App 775.
6 C J p 659 note 34.

"The plaintiff in error was employed as an attorney to collect certain claims against the government; he had undoubted authority to receive payment in cash or money, and, having received instead a check payable to his client, under the great weight of authority he had implied authority to indorse and cash the check."—Bailey v. U. S, supra.

76. Charleston Paint Co. v. Exchange Banking & Trust Co., (S C.) 123 S E. 830, 129 S.E. 290.

77. U S.—U. S. v. Beebe, (Ala.) 21 S.Ct. 371, 180 U.S. 343, 45 L.Ed. 563,

as to this rule in a few jurisdictions,[78] and, as shown in § 86 supra, there still is some difference of opinion as to the power of the attorney to bind his client where a compromise or settlement made without express authority in the conduct of legal proceedings has resulted in an order or judgment of the court.

The attorney's lack of authority to make a compromise or settlement even more clearly and affirmatively appears where the client has expressly denied him such authority and the court or the adverse party has notice or knowledge of that fact;[79] or where the attempted compromise or settlement relates to a suit or matter which is col-

132 Am S R 163 note, 76 Am D 261 note—Hilditch v American Bumper Corporation, (D C N Y) 15 F (2d) 451—Farmers Bank & Trust Co v Public Service Co of Indiana, (D C Ky) 13 F Supp 548—Barber-Colman Co. v. Magnano Corporation, (C C A Mass) 299 F 401—General Electric Co. v Brite-Lite Lamp Co, (D C R I) 290 F. 967.

Ala.—National Bread Co. v Bird, 145 So 462, 226 Ala 40—Craft v. Standard Accident Ins Co, 123 So 271, 220 Ala 6, granting certiorari 123 So 265, 23 Ala App 246—Cowgill & Son v. Bozeman, 79 So 305, 202 Ala 7—Lockhart v. Wyatt, 10 Ala. 231, 44 Am D 481.

Ariz.—Smith v. Washburn & Condon, 297 P. 879, 38 Ariz 149—Southern Surety Co v. City of Prescott, 221 P 834, 26 Ariz 66

Cal.—Woerner v Woerner, 153 P 919, 171 Cal 298—Jones v Noble, 39 P (2d) 486, 3 Cal.App (2d) 316—Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal App 291.

Colo.—Lewis v. Vache, 20 P (2d) 554, 92 Colo 358.

Idaho.—Evans v Power County, 1 P (2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co of Baltimore, Md, 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388.

Ill.—Village of Dolton v S Ellen Dolton Estate, 162 N E 214, 331 Ill 88—Allinson v. Pierson, 120 N. E 779, 285 Ill 387—Treece v Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co, 197 Ill App 40

Iowa.—Vaughan v. District Court of Jasper County, 226 N.W. 49—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N W 967, 189 Iowa 43

Ky.—Jenkins v City of Bowling Green, 88 S W.(2d) 692, 261 Ky 679—Louisville & N R. Co v. King, 288 S.W. 733, 216 Ky. 736—Mason v. Cook, 218 S W. 740, 187 Ky. 260—Sowards v. Hereford, 7 Ky.Op 475—Lawson v. Wright, 3 Ky Op. 352

La.—Milburn v. Wemple, 101 So. 132, 156 La 759—Rogers v. Blitz, (App) 161 So. 613—Van Vleet Mansfield Drug Co v. Anders, (App.) 157 So 166—Phillips-Jones Corporation v. Caskey, 128 So 553, 14 La App 26—Phillips-Jones Corp v Caskey, 127 So. 46, 13 La App. 675—Hotard v. Perrilloux, 8 La. App. 476.

Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N. E. 110, 270 Mass. 305.

Mich.—People's State Bank for Savings v Bloch, 227 N.W. 778, 249 Mich 99

Minn.—Hernlund v Town & Country Motors, 198 N.W 662, 159 Minn. 125—Matteson v Blaisdell, 182 N. W. 442, 148 Minn 352

Mo.—Shank v St. Louis-San Francisco Ry Co, (App) 11 S W (2d) 1063—Parr v Chicago, B & Q R Co., 184 S W 1169, 194 Mo App. 416

N J.—Hygrade Cut Fabric Co v U. S Stores Corporation, 141 A 605, 105 N J Law 334—Superior Finance Corporation v John A McCrane Motors, 168 A. 774, 11 N J Misc 857, affirmed 174 A 891, 113 N.J Law 514

N Y.—Appleton v Greenfield, 278 N. Y S 367, 244 App Div 732—Countryman v Breen, 271 N Y S. 744, 241 App Div 892, reversing 268 N Y S 609, 147 Misc 246, affirmed 198 N E 536, 268 N Y 643—Schneider v Abrams, 238 N Y S 351, 228 App. Div 1—Sherman & Sons Co v Princess Shirt Waist Mfg Co, 210 N Y S 100, 213 App Div 140—City of Syracuse v Standard Accident Ins Co of Detroit, Mich, 205 N.Y. S 437, 210 App Div 165—In re Strandburg's Estate, 247 N.Y S 194, 138 Misc 732, modified on other grounds 248 N Y S 164, 138 Misc 870—Curran v F & M Schaefer Brewing Co, 154 N Y S 199, 91 Misc 29

N C.—Deitz v Bolch, 183 S E 884, 209 N C 202—Bissell v Auto Tire & Equipment Co, 108 S E. 439, 182 N C 98—Chemical Co v Bass, 95 S E 766, 175 N C. 426—Chavis v. Brown, 93 S E 471, 147 N C 122

N D.—Business Service Collection Bureau v Yegen, 269 N W 46

Okl.—Walker v Gulf Pipe Line Co, 226 P. 1046, 102 Okl 7—Bush v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 224 P. 331, 98 Okl 110—Incorporated Town of Wainwright v. Eureka Fire Hose Mfg Co, 218 P. 306, 92 Okl. 75—Vinson v Davis, 183 P. 902, 76 Okl 43—Massachusetts Bonding & Ins Co v. Vance, 180 P. 693, 74 Okl 261, 15 A L R 981—First State Bank of Indiahoma v. Carr, 180 P 856, 72 Okl 262—Hamberger v White, 154 P 576, 54 Okl. 736—Scott v Moore, 152 P 823, 52 Okl 200.

Or.—Hill v Wilson, 250 P. 340, 119 Or. 636—Seaweard v. De Armond, 198 P. 916, 101 Or. 30.

Pa.—In re Quest's Estate, 188 A. 137, 324 Pa 230—McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A 79, 290 Pa 74—Ramsdell Packing Co. v. Cohen, 14 Pa. Dist & Co. 791.

S C.—Hall v. Benefit Ass'n of Ry. Employees, 161 S.E 867, 164 S C. 80

Tex.—Dunlap v Villareal, (Civ App) 91 S W.(2d) 1124—McMillan v. McMillan, (Civ App) 72 S W (2d) 611—State Life Ins Co v. Duke, (Civ. App.) 69 S W (2d) 791, error refused—Kreis v Kreis, (Civ.App) 57 S W (2d) 1107.

Utah.—Bivans v Utah Lake Land, Water & Power Co, 174 P. 1126, 53 Utah 601

Va.—Dawson v Hotchkiss, 169 S E 564, 160 Va. 577—Singer Sewing Mach Co v Ferrell, 132 S E. 312, 144 Va. 395.

Wash.—Barton v Tombari, 207 P 239, 120 Wash. 331

W Va.—Dwight v. Haslett, 147 S E 877, 107 W Va 192, 66 A L R 102

Wyo.—State v Young, 7 P (2d) 216, 44 Wyo 6, 81 A L R 114

1 C J p 539 notes 69, 70—6 C J. p 643 note 5, p 659 note 40, p 660 note 41.

"The great weight of authority throughout the United States is to the effect that an attorney cannot settle a suit and conclude his client in relation to the subject in litigation without the client's consent"—U. S. v Beebe, (Ala) 21 S.Ct. 371, 180 U S 343, 345, 352, 45 L Ed 563, 132 Am. S R 163 note, 76 Am D 261 note

Acceptance of less than full amount or something other than money in full satisfaction of debt see infra § 106

Authority of city attorney or corporation counsel to compromise a pending action see Municipal Corporations § 2197 [44 C J p 1460 notes 35, 36].

78. Brewer v. Casey, 82 N E. 45, 196 Mass 334—6 C J. p 659 note 39

79. Cal.—Broecker v. Moxley, 28 P (2d) 409, 136 Cal App. 248—Burns v McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal App 291.

Ga.—Evans v. Brooke, 184 S.E 800—Patterson v Georgia Gravel Co, 108 S E 237, 151 Ga. 813—Davis v First National Bank of Blakely, 78 S E. 190, 139 Ga. 702, 46 L.R.A. (N S.) 750.

Tex.—McMillan v. McMillan, (Civ. App) 72 S W (2d) 611—Lane v. Mitchell, (Civ.App) 289 S.W. 195

lateral to, or not within the scope of, the attorney's employment.[80]

If the attorney has attempted to make a compromise or settlement without express authority the client may usually ignore the same, in so far as the client's claim has not actually been paid in full by payment to the attorney thereunder, and proceed as if it had never been made,[81] or else have the same set aside in proper proceedings,[82] unless he has ratified the attorney's unauthorized act or acquiesced therein for an undue length of time, as noted in § 71 supra.

No authority for an attorney to make a compromise or settlement is to be derived from the fact that it is the wisest or most expedient course to pursue,[83] or that the failure to compromise will entail considerable expense to the client;[84] and it is in no way incumbent upon the client to show that the settlement was improvident.[85]

In emergency. Notwithstanding the general rule above stated, a number of cases have recognized an exception thereto which permits an attorney to compromise or settle without express authority when he is confronted by an emergency, which requires prompt action to protect the interests of the client, and the situation is such that consultation with the latter is impossible.[86] This exception, however, cannot be availed of to vest the attorney with power to compromise or settle where no emergency exists in fact,[87] where the client has given the attorney express instructions not to compromise,[88] where the settlement is not necessary for the protection of the client's interests,[89] or where there is time and opportunity to consult with the client.[90]

Executory agreements to compromise a case fall within the general rule that an attorney cannot bind his client by contract or a compromise or settlement without express authority.[91]

80. U.S.—Barber-Colman Co. v. Magnano Corporation, (C.C.A.Mass.) 299 F. 401—Miocene Ditch Co. v. Moore, (Alaska) 150 F. 433, 80 C.C.A. 301.
Idaho—Storey v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388.
Ill.—Allinson v. Pierson, 120 N.E. 779, 285 Ill. 387.
6 C.J. p. 660 note 44.

81. Cal.—Jones v. Noble, 39 P.(2d) 486, 3 Cal.App.(2d) 316.
Iowa.—Nothem v. Vonderhaar, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.
La.—Phillips-Jones Corporation v. Caskey, 128 So. 553, 14 La.App. 26, denying rehearing 127 So. 46, 13 La.App. 675.
N.Y.—Sherman & Sons Co. v. Princess Shirt Waist Mfg. Co., 210 N.Y.S. 100, 213 App.Div. 140.
Okl.—Incorporated Town of Wainwright v. Eureka Fire Hose Mfg. Co., 218 P. 306, 92 Okl. 75—Hamberger v. White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl. 736.
Or.—Seaweard v. De Armond, 198 P. 916, 101 Or. 30.
Va.—Dawson v. Hotchkiss, 169 S.E. 564, 160 Va. 577.
Wyo.—State v. Young, 7 P.(2d) 216, 44 Wyo. 6, 81 A.L.R. 114.
6 C.J. p. 660 note 42.

82. Ala.—National Bread Co. v. Bird, 145 So. 462, 226 Ala. 40.
Cal.—Jones v. Noble, 39 P.(2d) 486, 3 Cal.App.(2d) 316—Faias v. Superior Court, 24 P.(2d) 567, 133 Cal.App. 525.
Colo.—Lewis v. Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.
Ga.—Patterson v. Georgia Gravel Co., 103 S.E. 237, 151 Ga. 813.
Ky.—Melton v. Kemp, 273 S.W. 488, 209 Ky. 672.
Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305.
Minn.—Seifert v. Gallet, 198 N.W. 664, 159 Minn. 131—Hernlund v. Town & Country Motors, Inc., 198 N.W. 662, 159 Minn. 125.
Mont.—McGinley v. Maryland Casualty Co. of Baltimore, 277 P. 414, 85 Mont. 1.
N.J.—Hygrade Cut Fabric Co. v. U.S. Stores Corporation, 144 A. 605, 105 N.J.Law 324.
N.Y.—Schneider v. Abrams, 238 N.Y.S. 351, 228 App.Div. 1—In re Strandburg's Estate, 247 N.Y.S. 194, 138 Misc. 732, modified on other grounds 248 N.Y.S. 164, 138 Misc. 859.
N.C.—Bissell v. Auto & Tire Equipment Co., 108 S.E. 439, 182 N.C. 93.
Okl.—Walker v. Gulf Pipe Line Co., 226 P. 1046, 103 Okl. 7—Turner v. Fleming, 130 P. 551, 37 Okl. 75, 45 L.R.A.(N.S.) 265, Ann.Cas.1915B 831.
Tenn.—Memphis Cotton Press & Storage Co. v. Hanson, 4 Tenn.App. 293.
Tex.—McMillan v. McMillan, (Civ.App.) 72 S.W.(2d) 611.
Va.—Dawson v. Hotchkiss, 169 S.E. 564, 160 Va. 577.
W.Va.—Dwight v. Haslett, 147 S.E. 877, 107 W.Va. 192, 66 A.L.R. 102.
6 C.J. p. 660 note 43.
Setting aside of consent judgment based on unauthorized compromise of attorney see Judgments § 330 [34 C.J. p. 420 note 81].

83. Seifert v. Gallet, 198 N.W. 664, 159 Minn. 131.

84. Lewis v. Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.

85. Seifert v. Gallet, 198 N.W. 664, 159 Minn. 131.

86. Colo.—Lewis v. Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.
Ky.—Jenkins v. City of Bowling Green, 88 S.W.(2d) 692, 261 Ky. 679.
Minn.—Matteson v. Blaisdell, 182 N.W. 442, 148 Minn. 352.
6 C.J. p. 660 note 46.

87. Colo.—Lewis v. Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.
Ky.—Jenkins v. City of Bowling Green, 88 S.W.(2d) 692, 261 Ky. 679.
Court's abuse of discretion in denying continuance to which client is justly entitled does not present an emergency entitling the attorney to compromise without express authority.—Lewis v. Vache, 20 P.(2d) 554, 92 Colo. 358.

88. Lewis v. Vache, supra.

89. Gibson v. Nelson, 126 N.W. 731, 111 Minn. 183, 137 Am.S.R. 549, 31 L.R.A.(N.S.) 533—6 C.J. p. 660 note 46 [a].

90. Union Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Buchanan, 100 Ind. 63—6 C.J. p. 660 note 46 [b].

91. Cal.—Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.
Ky.—Melton v. Kamp, 273 S.W. 488, 209 Ky. 672.
Va.—Dawson v. Hotchkiss, 169 S.E. 564, 160 Va. 577.
6 C.J. p. 660 note 45.
Specific performance of compromise agreements generally see Specific Performance § 88 [12 C.J. p. 861 note 80—p. 862 note 85].

The giving of consent to an assignment for benefit of creditors, when it is in the nature of a compromise, is ordinarily not within the authority of a creditor's attorney,[92] unless he has been expressly authorized to take such action.[93]

An employment for the purpose of adjusting or settling the affairs of the client in its nature gives the attorney the implied authority to enter into a compromise or settlement binding upon his client.[94]

Apparent authority. If there has been nothing beyond a mere employment or retainer of the attorney to represent the client in a cause the attorney, as noted above, thereby acquires no apparent authority to make a compromise or settlement, and if the attorney seeks to do so it is incumbent upon the opposing party to ascertain at his peril whether actual authority to take such action has been conferred upon the attorney.[95] In other words, if the client has not held his attorney out to the opposing party as having any other or greater power than an attorney authorized to take charge of litigation for a client commonly has, such other party is charged with knowledge that agreements of compromise or settlement do not come within the implied authority of the attorney;[96] and it is open to the client to show any restrictions or limitations that may have been placed on the attorney's authority to compromise.[97] Nevertheless, if the client has, by acts or conduct beyond an ordinary employment or retainer, held his attorney as having the power to compromise or settle the attorney thereby acquires the apparent authority to bind the client by any compromise or settlement which is not fraudulent or intrinsically unfair;[98] and this, although the attorney has in fact exceeded limitations or restrictions upon his authority which were not communicated or made known to the opposing party or his attorney,[99] unless the compromise is still an uncompleted executory agreement which has not been acted on by the opposing party so that he will in no way be prejudiced by the assertion of the secret limitation.[1]

Special or express authority. An attorney who has been expressly authorized to take such action has the power to bind his client by a compromise or settlement if it is not fraudulent or grossly unfair;[2] and even fraud of the attorney does not lessen his authority to bind the client if it is unknown to the adverse party.[3]

However, the intent to permit the attorney to enter into a compromise or settlement must be clearly apparent from the terms of the authority granted,[4] and any limitations or restrictions which have expressly been placed upon the power to compromise or settle are operative and must be observed,[5] unless, as previously noted above, the restrictions or limitations are secret ones and the client has vested the attorney with apparent au-

92. Doyle v. Barnes, 4 Gill (Md.) 1—6 C.J. p 659 note 40 [b] (1).

93. Hewitt v. Darlington Phosphate Co., 20 S.E. 804, 43 S.C. 5—5 C.J. p 1064 note 17—6 C.J. p 659 note 40 [b] (2).

94. Waterproof Paper & Board Co. v. Van Buren, 197 N.W. 338, 182 Wis. 640—6 C.J. p 661 note 47.

95. Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305.
Minn.—Gibson v. Nelson, 126 N.W. 731, 111 Minn. 183, 137 Am.S.R. 519, 31 L.R.A.(N.S.) 523.
Okl.—Hamberger v. White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl. 736.
Tex.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Crone, (Civ.App.) 270 S.W. 209.

96. Mass.—Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N.E. 110, 270 Mass. 305.
N.Y.—City of Syracuse v. Standard Accident Ins. Co. of Detroit, Mich., 205 N.Y.S. 437, 210 App.Div. 165.

97. Cal.—Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.
N.Y.—City of Syracuse v. Standard Accident Ins. Co. of Detroit, Mich., 205 N.Y.S. 437, 210 App.Div. 165.
Okl.—Hamberger v. White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl. 736.

98. Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94.
Va.—Singer Sewing Mach. Co. v. Ferrell, 132 S.E. 312, 144 Va. 395—Lysle Milling Co. v. Holt & Co., 95 S.E. 414, 122 Va. 565.
6 C.J. p 661 note 49—p 662 note 52.

99. N.Y.—Curran v. F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., 154 N.Y.S. 199, 91 Misc. 29.
Va.—Singer Sewing Machine Co. v. Ferrell, 132 S.E. 312, 144 Va. 395.
6 C.J. p 662 note 52.

1. Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.

2. U.S.—Utah Power & Light Co. v. U. S., (C.C.A.) 42 F.(2d) 304.
Ariz.—Smith v. Washburn & Condon, 297 P. 879, 38 Ariz. 149.
Cal.—Jones v. Noble, 39 P.(2d) 486, 3 Cal.App.(2d) 316.
Fla.—Johnston v. Cox, 154 So. 208, 114 Fla. 248.
Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94.
Ind.—Loeser v. Loeser, 183 N.E. 540, 98 Ind.App. 150.
Iowa—Ft. Dodge Lumber Co. v. Rogusch, 187 N.W. 189, 178 Iowa 475.
Mich.—Butrowska v. Landolfo, 238 N.W. 207, 255 Mich. 377.
Mo.—Allen v. Fewel, 87 S.W.(2d) 142—Shultz v. Jones, 9 S.W.(2d) 248, 223 Mo.App. 142.
Tex.—Edge v. Business Men's Assur. Co. of America, (Civ.App.) 15 S.W.(2d) 44—Republic Ins. Co. v. O'Donnell Motor Co., (Civ.App.) 289 S.W. 1064.
Utah.—Hinkins v. U. S. Fuel Co., 199 P. 150, 58 Utah 327.
W.Va.—Rust Engineering Co. v. Randolph Smokeless Coal Co., 141 S.E. 518, 105 W.Va. 111.
Wis.—Marche v. Schoenrock, 247 N.W. 852, 211 Wis. 300—Waterproof Paper & Board Co. v. Van Buren, 197 N.W. 338, 182 Wis. 640.
Wyo.—State v. Young, 7 P.(2d) 216, 44 Wyo. 6, 81 A.L.R. 114.
6 C.J. p 661 note 51.

3. Curran v. F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Co., 154 N.Y.S. 199, 91 Misc. 29.

4. Southern Surety Co. v. City of Prescott, 281 P. 834, 36 Ariz. 66.

Authority to compromise held not granted

A grant of authority to an attorney to leave certain disputed bonds of a defendant city with the latter until the dispute should be judicially determined gives no authority to effect a compromise by relinquishing all claim to the bonds.—Southern Surety Co. v. City of Prescott, 281 P. 834, 36 Ariz. 66.

5. Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal.App. 291.

thority in excess thereof. A grant of authority to compromise and settle, conditioned upon the happening of a certain contingency, is sufficient if the contingency has happened,[6] but not otherwise;[7] and where authority is expressly given to compromise certain claims, it is to be construed as confined strictly to those claims, and does not include other claims in the attorney's hands, or claims which he may afterward receive.[8]

An express grant of authority to an attorney to enter into a compromise or settlement is revocable by the client at will at any time before it has been executed,[9] but not thereafter.[10]

By client. While the employment of an attorney of record is sometimes held to exclude the right of the client to interfere with the control of legal proceedings (supra § 80 b), it is well settled that, so long as the attorney has acquired no vested interest in the subject matter of the cause, the client may settle or compromise his litigation or claims with the opposing party at any stage of the suit without the knowledge or consent of the attorney or, even over the latter's objections,[11] and such settlements are favored and encouraged where there is no intention to take advantage of the attorneys, but they are honestly made for the simple purpose of ending the litigation,[12] although under proper circumstances the attorney may be entitled to have his right to compensation or a lien therefor protected (infra § 231).

So strongly favored is the client's right to compromise or settle, that a contract of employment or retainer which seeks to exclude it by providing that the client shall not settle or dismiss the proceedings prior to the rendition of a judgment or a decree therein is often regarded against public policy and therefore void.[13]

b. Release

Express authority is generally essential to give an attorney the power to release the client's cause of action or substantial rights other than upon full payment of the indebtedness or the amount claimed.

In accordance with the general rule that an attorney cannot surrender or waive his client's substantial rights without express authority (supra § 100), it is usually held that an attorney has no implied or apparent authority to release or discharge his client's cause of action or substantial rights other than upon a full payment of the indebtedness or the amount claimed, which he is authorized to receive under the rules stated in § 106 infra,[14] although the object of the release is to ben-

6. Smith v Washburn & Condon, 297 P 879, 38 Ariz 149

7. Burns v. McCain, 290 P. 623, 107 Cal App 291.

8. Melcher v Exchange Bank, 85 Mo 362—6 C.J. p 662 note 54.

9. Wimberly v Tanner, 129 S E. 306, 34 Ga App 313—6 C J p 662 note 55.

10 Foot v. Smythe, 78 P. 619, 20 Colo.App. 320.

11 U S—The Golden Star, (C C A. Cal) 82 F (2d) 687, affirming (D C) 9 F Supp 172
Ark—Purvis v. Walls, 44 S W (2d) 353, 184 Ark 887
La—Russ v. Union Oil Co, 36 So 937, 113 La 196—Smith v. Vicksburg, S & P. Ry. Co., 36 So. 826, 112 La 985.
Md—Boyd v Johnson, 125 A. 697, 145 Md 385.
Mass—Herbits v. Constitution Indemnity Co of Philadelphia, 181 N E. 723, 279 Mass. 539
Minn.—Wildung v. Security Mortgage Co. of America, 173 N W 429, 143 Minn. 251—Southworth v Rosendahl, 158 N.W. 717, 133 Minn. 447—Boogren v. St Paul City Ry. Co., 106 N.W. 104, 97 Minn 51, 114 Am. S R. 691, 8 L R.A (N S) 379.
Miss—Zerkowsky v Zerkowsky, 131 So 647, 160 Miss 278
N.Y.—Lurie v. New Amsterdam Casualty Co, 1 N E (2d) 472, 270 N Y 379
N D—Hauser v. Security Credit Co, 266 N W 104—Paulson v Lyson, 97 N W. 533, 12 N D 354, 1 Ann Cas 245
Or—Snow v Beard, 162 P 258, 82 Or 518.
Wash—Sacajawea Lumber & Shingle Co v Skookum Lumber Co, 198 P 1112, 116 Wash 75, Id. 198 P. 1114, 116 Wash 699
6 C J p 643 note 13
"The great weight of authority sustains the right of a client, at any time before judgment, if acting in good faith, to compromise, settle, or dismiss his cause of action, without his attorney's intervention, knowledge, or consent The attorney in such case, under mere contract of employment, acquires no vested interest in the suit, and his authority is revocable at the will of the client"—Boyd v Johnson, 125 A. 697, 698, 699, 145 Md. 385
This rule applies in tort cases in admiralty.—The Golden Star, (C C A Cal) 82 F (2d) 687, affirming (D C) 9 F Supp 172.
Dismissal of proceedings by client see supra § 87.

12. Gooding v. Lyon, 166 P 564, 63 Colo. 328—Nichols v Orr, 166 P 561, 63 Colo. 333, 2 A L.R. 449—6 C J. p 789 note 43.

13. Nichols v. Orr, supra—6 C J. p 789 note 44

14. U S—McFarland v Curtin, (W. Va) 233 F 738, 147 C C A. 494—Glover v Bradley, (C C A S C) 233 F 721.
Ark—Laird v Byrd, 9 S W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark 1114
Idaho—Evans v Power County, 1 P. (2d) 614, 50 Idaho 690—Storey v. U S Fidelity, etc, Co, 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388.
Iowa—In re Carpenter's Estate, 231 N.W 376, 210 Iowa 553
Mass—De Santis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co, 194 N E. 136, 289 Mass 315—Friedberg v Jablon, 192 N E. 49, 287 Mass 510
Mich—People's State Bank for Savings v Bloch, 227 N.W. 778, 249 Mich 99.
Mo—Parr v. Chicago, B. & Q. R. Co., 184 S W. 1169, 194 Mo App. 416.
Mont—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co v. Bourdeau, 208 P. 947, 64 Mont 60.
N C.—Bank of Franklin v. Trotter, 177 S E. 825, 207 N.C. 412
Or—Union Central Life Ins. Co. v. Toliver, 52 P.(2d) 1129.
Pa—McLaughlin v. Monaghan, 138 A. 79, 290 Pa 74
Porto Rico.—Bank of San Juan v. Dist. Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774.
S C.—Virginia-Carolina Chemical Cor-efit the client by rendering the debtor competent to testify as a witness.[15] The client himself may ordinarily release or waive the fruits of litigation without regard to the wishes or consent of the attorney.[16]

Discharge or release from arrest Where a debtor has been arrested on body execution the plaintiff's attorney cannot, without express authority, do any act which will discharge the debtor so as to satisfy the debt or judgment without its having been paid in full.[17]

Extension of time. An attorney employed to collect a debt has no general implied power to partially release the debtor from his obligations or impair the rights of his client by granting an extension of time.[18]

Injunction bond An attorney who has recovered judgment on a claim given him for collection may release an injunction bond given in a subsequent injunction suit brought by a garnishee to have the judgment set aside as to him, as in releasing the bond the attorney neither diminishes the original claim or extinguishes any security which has accrued to his client in the litigation with the debtor.[19]

Liens. As a general rule, an attorney cannot without express authority release a contractual lien existing in favor of his client,[20] particularly where the contract, on its face, denies him authority in this respect,[21] nor may he release the property of a judgment debtor from the lien of an execution or judgment or from any similar lien securing his client's claim, except upon such security or conditions as the client may himself approve.[22] A distinction, however, is taken between a judgment lien or lien which belongs to the original demand and the lien of an attachment or other ancillary mesne process, it being held that the attorney's general power over procedural matters gives him the implied authority to release a lien of the latter character whenever it may appear advisable for the interests of his client.[23]

Release of surety, guarantor, or indemnitor. An attorney has no implied or apparent authority to do any act which will release a person under obligation to his client as a surety,[24] guarantor,[25] or indemnitor.[26]

Reduction or remission of judgment or verdict. Ordinarily an attorney cannot release his client's substantial rights by consenting to the reduction of a judgment which has been recovered in the latter's favor;[27] but an attorney employed in litigation has implied authority to consent to a remittitur which the trial judge has adjudged essential in order to obtain or sustain an excessive verdict or judgment in favor of the attorney's client.[28]

The client himself may consent to the reduction poration v. Tweed-Lumber Co., 178 S.E. 131, 174 S.C. 497.

6 C.J. p 663 note 66

Authority to take care of case not sufficient.—De Fantis v. Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co., 194 N.E. 136, 289 Mass. 315.

15. Hall v. State Bank, 8 Ala. 590, 42 Am.D. 649- 6 C.J. p 664 note 70.

16. Erickson v. Foote, 153 A. 853, 112 Conn. 662.

17. Mc Pomeroy v. Prescott, 76 A. 898, 106 Me. 491, 138 Am.S.R. 317, 21 Ann.Cas. 574.
Mass.—Hahn v. Loker, 118 N.E. 661, 229 Mass. 363, L.R.A.1918D 807.
Mich.—Schlovitz v. London, 229 N.W. 590, 249 Mich. 567—McGill v. Coleman, 182 N.W. 76, 214 Mich. 60
6 C.J. p 663 note 68.

Inducing debtor to go beyond bail limits

Where a judgment debtor had been arrested and released on bail, the act of plaintiff's attorney in inducing the debtor to go beyond the limits of his bail if not authorized by or known to plaintiff, does not establish assent by plaintiff to the debtor's escape so as to discharge him, since the attorney general's authority does not extend to discharging a debtor without receiving payment.—McGill v. Coleman, 182 N.W. 76, 214 Mich. 60

18. Ark.—Laird v. Byrd, 9 S.W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark. 1114.
Md.—Stern v. Shapiro, 114 A. 537, 138 Md. 615.
N.C.—Bank of Franklin v. Trotter, 177 S.E. 325, 207 N.C. 442.
6 C.J. p 659 note 34.

19. Levy v. Brown, 56 Miss. 83.

20. Knoche v. Whiteman, 86 Mo. App. 568.

21. Union Central Life Ins. Co. v. Tolliver, (Or.) 52 P.(2d) 1129.

22. Burton v. Burton Mfg. Co., 79 So. 664, 202 Ala. 180—Cowgill & Son v. Boseman, 79 So. 805, 202 Ala. 7—6 C.J. p 656 note 75 p 663 note 67.

Taking unauthorized security

A special grant of authority to release an execution levy upon the receipt of security of a prescribed character gives the attorney no power to take security with different characteristics.—Roberts v. Rumley, 12 N.W. 323, 58 Iowa 301

23. Mass.—Hahn v. Loker, 118 N.E. 661, 229 Mass. 363, L.R.A.1918D 807.
N.Y.—American Rattan & Reed Mfg. Co. v. Handel-Maatschappij Moraux & Co., 185 N.Y.S. 480, 194 App.Div. 90
6 C.J. p 664 notes 71–73.

24. Ark.—Laird v. Byrd, 9 S.W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark. 114.
Idaho.—Storey v. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. of Baltimore, Md., 183 P. 990, 32 Idaho 388.
N.C.—Bank of Franklin v. Trotter, 177 S.E. 325, 207 N.C. 442.
6 C.J. p 664 note 69.

Extension of time

An attorney employed to collect a debt has no authority to make an extension of time which will release the sureties thereon.—Laird v. Byrd, 9 S.W.(2d) 571, 177 Ark 114- Bank of Franklin v. Trotter, 177 S.E. 325, 207 N.C. 442—6 C.J. p 659 note 38, p 664 note 69 [a].

25. Superior Finance Corporation v. John A. McCrane Motors, 168 A. 774, 11 N.J.Misc. 857, affirmed 174 A. 891, 113 N.J.Law 514.

26. U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co. v. Bourdeau, 208 P. 947, 64 Mont. 60.

27. Hallow v. Hallow, 193 N.Y.S. 460, 200 App.Div 642.

28. Morris v. Standard Oil Co., 219 P. 998, 192 Cal. 343, 30 A.L.R. 1103—6 C.J. p 655 note 69.

of a judgment in his favor without the knowledge and consent of the attorney notwithstanding the latter's power to enforce the judgment (supra § 96) or receive payment thereon (supra § 99).[29]

§ 106. —— Receiving and Making Payments

a. In general
b. Acceptance of partial or compromise payment
c. Mode or form of payment

a. In General

An attorney employed to collect or enforce a money claim or demand has the general implied or apparent authority to receive payment thereon; but an attorney employed for some other special or limited purpose has no such authority; and, after money has been collected, the only authority of the attorney is to turn it over to the client unless he has been directed otherwise.

Especially where there is a statutory provision to that effect,[30] an attorney who has been employed or retained to collect or enforce a money claim or demand has the general implied or apparent authority to receive payment thereon so that a payment[31] or tender[32] to the attorney is equally effective as payment or tender to the client, unless there are special circumstances which make it essential that the payment or tender be made to the client personally;[33] and, as noted in § 99 supra, if the attorney has prosecuted the claim to judgment he may receive payment and make satisfaction of the same until notice of revocation of his authority has been given defendant. Such authority permits the attorney not only to receive payment from the debtor but also to receive money paid to a clerk of court in behalf of his client,[34] and no order of court is necessary.[35]

Likewise, an attorney employed to sell property for his client has been held authorized to receive the purchase price thereof;[36] but an attorney having no authority to sell his client's property cannot bind the latter by receiving the purchase price therefor from a person to whom the attorney has attempted to make a sale.[37]

However, the employment or authorization of an attorney to collect the interest on a debt gives him no power or authority to receive payment of the principal thereof.[38]

Furthermore an attorney employed for a special or limited purpose not involving the collection of money as necessary for its accomplishment has no authority to receive money in payment of his client's rights,[39] and a debtor dealing with such an attorney is bound to take notice of the extent of his author-

29. Homans v. Tyng, 67 N.Y.S. 792, 56 App.Div. 383.

30. Washita County Gin Co v. Colbert, (Okl.) 54 P.(2d) 640—Baker v. Vadder, 200 P 994, 83 Okl 140—6 C.J. p 665 note 77.

31. U S—Escanaba Traction Co. v. Burns, (Mich.) 257 F. 898, 169 C C A. 48.
Ga.—Patterson v Southern Ry. Co, 151 S E 818, 41 Ga App. 94.
Ill—Allinson v Pierson, 130 N E 779, 285 Ill 387—Ruckman v. Alwood, 44 Ill 183
Ky—Combs' Adm'r v Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co, 33 S.W (2d) 649, 236 Ky. 524.
La—Liquidators of Joseph David Co. v Berthelot Bros, 42 So 971, 118 La. 383—Mayor v. Hennen, 18 La. 430—Spengler v Drouet, 6 La. App. 624—McGloughry v. Habans, 9 La.App.(Orleans) 225.
Me—Wilson v Russ, 20 Me. 421.
Mich.—City of Wakefield v. Tuttle, 221 N W. 185, 244 Mich 237
Miss.—Pace v. Reid, 130 So. 294, 158 Miss 145.
N.M.—Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co, 55 P (2d) 663.
Pa—Williams v Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa 207—Hopkins v. Ketterer, 85 A. 421, 237 Pa. 285, Ann Cas. 1914B 558—Netter v. Logan, 169 A. 245, 111 Pa Super. 143—Loudon v. Borough, 12 Pa.Dist. & Co. 268.
Va—Smith v. Lamberts, 7 Gratt (48 Va.) 138.
6 C J. p 664 note 75.

Implication of authority from dependency of compensation on amount recovered

An agreement that the attorney's compensation shall depend on the amount recovered through his services impliedly authorizes him to collect any sum adjudged by court—Combs' Adm'r v Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Co., 33 S.W.(2d) 649, 236 Ky 524

Joint attorneys

Where several attorneys have been employed to act jointly either may receive payment—Lake v Wilson, 33 S W.(2d) 25, 183 Ark 180—Lake v. Wilson, 35 S W.(2d) 597, 183 Ark. 180.

Payment to attorney of administrator is binding on the client under the rule of the text and he is liable to the estate although the attorney does not actually turn over the payment received—Pace v. Reid, 130 So. 294, 158 Miss. 145.

32. Gustin v. Barney, 250 Ill.App. 209—6 C J. p 665 note 76.

33. Stratton v. Graham, 149 N.Y.S 662, 164 App.Div. 348, affirming 140 N Y S. 869.

34. Baker v Vadder, 200 P. 994, 83 Okl. 140—6 C J. p 665 note 80.

35. Cauthen v. Cauthen, 56 S.E. 978, 76 S C 226.

36. City of Wakefield v. Tuttle, 221 N W. 185, 244 Mich. 237.

37. Wilkinson v. Zumwalt, 297 P. 94, 112 Cal.App. 416.

38. N J—Dorman v. West Jersey Title & Guar. Co, 105 A. 195, 92 N J Law 487—Workman v. Eyler, 121 A. 515, 94 N J Eq. 526.
Pa—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207—Browne v. Hockstra, 123 A 861, 279 Pa. 413—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa Super. 263—Zimmer, to Use of Hammer v. Zaigmond, 167 A. 405, 109 Pa. Super. 322—Plunkett v. Raniszewski, (Super) 165 A. 529—Borland v. Wible, 94 Pa.Super. 41—Mynick v. Bickings, 30 Pa.Super. 401.
6 C J. p 666 note 92 [b].

"The position of an investor would be most precarious if the fact that he employs an attorney from time to time when making loans and authorizes him to make collections of interest, and in special cases of the principal due on securities, is sufficient to warrant a finding of authority generally to collect the principal of all his client's mortgages and that, too, when the latter keeps possession of his obligations."—Mynick v. Bickings, 30 Pa.Super. 401.

39. Ill—Lanski v. Chicago Title & Trust Co., 155 N.E. 296, 324 Ill.

ity,[40] and any payment made to such an attorney is made at the debtor's peril.[41] Hence an attorney who has merely been employed to negotiate or handle a loan for the creditor thereby acquires no authority to receive payment of the debt when it comes due,[42] and this although the instrument given for the debt specifies the office of the attorney as the place of payment,[43] unless, as noted subsequently, the attorney has been permitted to retain possession of the evidence of, or security for, the debt so as to acquire apparent authority.

According to some authority, the employment of an attorney to present or prosecute a workmen's compensation claim before an administrative board or commission gives the attorney no implied or apparent authority to receive payment of the claim as he would have were he conducting proceedings in a court of record,[44] but there is other authority to the contrary;[45] and a workmen's compensation claim may be paid to the employee's attorney where he has been given express authority to receive payment, although it is provided by statute that "compensation benefits shall be paid only to employees."[46]

The grant to an attorney of authority to collect an investment or loan he has made for his client gives him no power to modify the terms of the contract and collect payment of the obligation before it is due;[47] and after the client has acquired fixed rights under a contract by reason of the debtor's failure to make payment within the time required the attorney has no implied authority to waive the creditor's rights by subsequently accepting payment.[48]

Of course, an attorney who has in no way been employed or retained by the payee ordinarily has no power or authority to bind the latter by a receipt of payment.[49] The payee may, however, by his acts or conduct create an apparent agency in favor of the attorney,[50] and an attorney representing both the insured and the insurer in an action against the former on a liability for which the latter is liable has power to bind the insured by receiving payment on the policy where he has been expressly authorized and acts for the insured in so doing.[51]

Possession of evidence or security for debt. In accordance with the general rules stated in the title Agency § 317 c, it is often held that an attorney's possession of the written evidence of, or security for, a debt owing to the client creates a sufficient presumption of the attorney's authority to warrant payment to him.[52] Moreover, it has been held, although there is some authority to the contrary,[53] that, if a creditor who has negotiated a loan through an attorney permits the latter to retain possession of the written evidence of, or security for, the debt, the attorney thereby acquires the apparent authority, so long as he retains such possession, to bind the client by a payment made to the attorney by the debtor with knowledge of such possession and in reliance on the apparent authority thus afforded.[54] Apparent authority can be thus created only in favor of the attorney who originally negotiated the loan for the creditor;[55] and there can be no presumed or apparent authority in this connection after the attorney has ceased to have possession of the written evidence or security,[56] and if they are not in his possession when a payment is received he cannot bind the client thereby unless actual authority has been conferred regardless of such possession.[57]

887—Allinson v. Pierson, 120 N.E. 779, 285 Ill. 387.
Iowa.—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N. W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.
N.M.—Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., 55 P.(2d) 662.

Will contest

The employment of an attorney to represent parties to a will contest gives him no authority to accept money for his client's rights and interests.—Allinson v. Pierson, 120 N. E. 779, 285 Ill. 387—Nothem v. Vonderharr, 175 N.W. 967, 189 Iowa 43.

40. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., (N.M.) 55 P.(2d) 662—6 C.J. p 666 note 91.

41. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., supra—6 C.J. p 666 note 92.

42. Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa.Super. 263—Zimmer, to Use of Hammer v. Zaigmond, 167 A. 405, 109 Pa.Super. 322.

43. Zimmer, to Use of Hammer v. Zaigmond, supra.

44. Dacus v. Maryland Casualty Co., (N.M.) 55 P.(2d) 662.

45. McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W.(2d) 784, 227 Mo.App. 775.

46. Washita County Gin Co. v. Colbert, (Okl.) 54 P.(2d) 640.

47. Smith v. Kidd, 68 N.Y. 130, 23 Am.R. 157—6 C.J. p 665 note 82.

48. Stern v. Shapiro, 114 A. 587, 138 Md. 615—6 C.J. p 665 note 83.

49. Va.—Willis v. Correll, 47 S.E. 826, 102 Va. 746—Wooding v. Bradley, 76 Va. 614.
Wis.—Pikey v. City of Seymour, 172 N.W. 138, 169 Wis. 223.
6 C.J. p 666 note 93.

50. Baurhenn v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, 176 A. 137, 114 N.J.Law 99.

51. Murphy v. Belt Automobile Indemnity Ass'n, 145 A. 127, 295 Pa. 244.

52. Green v. Johnson, 167 A. 142, 53 R.I. 432—6 C.J. p 665 note 84.

53. Workman v. Eyler, 121 A. 515, 94 N.J.Eq. 526.

54. N.Y.—Crane v. Gruenewald, 120 N.Y. 274, 24 N.E. 456, 17 Am.S.R. 643.
Pa.—Williams v. Cook, 137 A. 232, 289 Pa. 207.

55. Central Trust Co. v. Folsom, 49 N.Y.S. 670, 26 App.Div. 40, 45—6 C.J. p 665 note 85.

56. Pore v. Duke, 154 A. 797, 303 Pa. 538—Browne v. Hockstra, 123 A. 861, 279 Pa. 418—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa.Super. 263—Zimmer, to Use of Hammer v. Zaigmond, 167 A. 405, 109 Pa.Super. 322—6 C.J. p 665 note 86.

Debtor's failure to insist on production of documents throws the risk of the payment on him rather than on the client.—Burkhart v. Falco, 176 A. 844, 116 Pa.Super. 263.

57. Orient Ins. Co. v. Hayes, 55 N. W. 57, 61 Neb. 173.

The intrusting of an attorney with a signed receipt may, under proper circumstances, be regarded as conferring apparent authority to receive payment of the debt for which the receipt is to be given.[58]

Secret limitations or restrictions on the general apparent authority of an attorney who has been employed to collect or prosecute a claim are ineffective to prevent the client from being bound by payment to the attorney, unless it is shown that the debtor had knowledge or notice thereof before he made the payment.[59]

Revocation of the authority of an attorney who has general apparent authority to receive payment of a claim will not affect the debtor paying to the attorney in good faith, relying on his authority to receive the payment, unless it appears that the debtor had notice of the revocation or was chargeable with such notice.[60]

Authority to demand payment. Authority to receive payment implies authority to demand it, so that a demand by an attorney on a debtor, or on an officer in charge of an execution, is equivalent to a demand by the creditor himself.[61]

Payment or disposition. As noted in § 104 supra, an attorney ordinarily has no authority to make any other disposition of money that he has collected or received for his client than to turn it over to the latter, unless he has received express instructions otherwise. Where, however, an attorney, having the claims of several creditors against the same debtor for collection, receives from the debtor a sum of money without any directions as to which claim the money shall be applied, the attorney may in his discretion apply the money to either of the claims before he has received notice otherwise from the debtor.[62]

b. Acceptance of Partial or Compromise Payment

An attorney having authority to receive payment of a debt or claim also has the implied or apparent power to accept partial payments in pro tanto satisfaction thereof; but, without express authority, he cannot take in full satisfaction and discharge any sum less than the full amount due on the face of the claim.

The authority or power of an attorney to receive payment of a debt or a claim generally includes the power to accept or receive partial payments in pro tanto satisfaction thereof.[63] The rule against an attorney's power to compromise (supra § 105), however, prohibits his taking, in full satisfaction and discharge, any sum less than the full amount due on the face of a claim,[64] or his accepting in satisfaction of a judgment or decree secured by him for his client any sum less than the full amount of such judgment or decree,[65] unless the

58. Baurhenn v. Fidelity & Deposit Co of Maryland, 176 A. 137, 114 N. J Law 99.

59. State v Hawkins, 28 Mo. 366—6 C J p 666 note 89.

60. Pa.—Loudon v. Borough, 12 Pa. Dist & Co. 266.
Wash.—Nuessler v Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash 297.
6 C J. p 666 note 90.

61. Heard v Lodge, 20 Pick (Mass) 53, 32 Am.D 197—6 C J p 666 note 96

62. N H.—Carpenter v. Goin, 19 N H. 479.
S C.—Marshall v. Nagel, 17 S.C L 308.

63. Ga.—Crouch v. Fisher, 159 S E. 746, 43 Ga.App. 484.
Minn.—Hernlund v. Town & County Motors, Inc., 198 N W. 662, 159 Minn 125.
Pa.—Loudon v. Juniata Borough, 12 Pa Dist. & Co. 266
6 C J. p 665 notes 78, 79.

64. U S.—Glover v Bradley, (S C.) 233 F. 721, 147 C C A. 487, Ann.Cas 1917A 921.
Ala.—Craft v. Standard Accident Ins. Co., 123 So 271, 220 Ala. 6, granting certiorari 123 So. 265, 23 Ala. App 246—Barton v. Burton Mfg. Co., 79 So. 664, 202 Ala. 180.
Cal.—Broecker v. Moxley, 28 P.(2d) 409, 136 Cal App 240
Ill.—Danziger v. Pittsfield Shoe Co., 68 N E 534, 204 Ill 145—Lochenmeyer v. Fogarty, 112 Ill. 572—Treece v Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co., 197 Ill App. 40.
Ind.—Jennings v. South Whitley Hoop Co., (App) 98 N E 194
La.—Van Vleet Mansfield Drug Co v Anders, (App) 157 So 166—Phillips-Jones Corporation v. Caskey, 127 So 46, 13 La App 675, rehearing denied 128 So. 553, 14 La.App 26.
Mass.—Vaughn v. Robbins, 149 N.E. 677, 254 Mass 35, 41 A.L R 1488
Mich.—People's State Bank for Savings v. Bloch, 227 N.W. 778, 249 Mich 99
N J.—Hygrade Cut Fabric Co. v. U. S. Stores Corporation, 144 A. 605, 105 N J Law 224.
Okl.—Massachusetts Bonding & Ins Co v. Vance, 180 P. 693, 74 Okl 261, 15 A L R. 981—Hamberger v White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl. 736
S C.—Gilliland v. Gasque, 6 S C 406
1 C J. p 539 notes 69, 70—6 C.J. p 662 note 58.

Tender of less sum conditioned on its being full payment and satisfaction

It has been held, however, without specific discussion of the attorney's authority, that where the amount due is in dispute and the debtor tenders the attorney for plaintiff a sum less than the face of the claim on condition that it be accepted in full payment, the attorney's acceptance and retention of the money works an accord and satisfaction as the payment to the attorney was a payment to the client.—Northern Bank & Trust Co. v. Harmon, 217 P. 8, 126 Wash. 25.

Under statute in Georgia an attorney cannot, without special authority, receive anything, in discharge of his client's claim, but the full amount in cash.—Evans v. Atlantic Nat Bank of Jacksonville, Fla., 95 S E. 219, 147 Ga. 621—High v Hollis, 132 S.E. 260, 35 Ga 195—Burnett v. Johnston, 165 S E. 857, 45 Ga App 667—Crouch v. Fisher, 159 S E 746, 43 Ga App. 484—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S E 813, 41 Ga App 94—Rawls v. Heath, 136 S E 322, 36 Ga App 372—Johnson v Star Piano Co., 108 S.E. 811, 27 Ga App. 425—6 C J p 662 note 58 [a].

65. Ga.—Betts v. Hancock, 107 S.E. 377, 27 Ga App. 63
Mass.—Hahn v Loker, 113 N.E. 661, 229 Mass 363, L R A 1918D 807—Shattuck v. Bill, 7 N.E. 39, 142 Mass. 56.

client has expressly authorized the attorney to take such action,[66] and even then any special instructions must be followed.[67]

If an attorney has attempted, without authority, to completely satisfy or discharge a claim or judgment for less than its full amount, the client may treat the payment as a nullity for that purpose and recover from the debtor such amount as still remains due upon the whole demand, for the latter is chargeable with notice of the limitations upon the attorney's authority.[68] In case the consideration or amount paid to the attorney has not actually been received by the client, some authorities go even further and hold the debtor chargeable for the full amount without deduction or credit for the sum or sums paid the attorney on the ground that, as the debtor must be held to know that the compromise or settlement is not within the attorney's powers, he must be regarded as having made the payment on the chance that it might appear later that the client was not bound by the settlement.[69] Generally, however, it is held that as the attorney would have power to accept the partial payment in pro tanto satisfaction of the claim the debtor is entitled to credit for any payment he has actually made to the attorney in good faith pursuant to an invalid attempt to satisfy the claim for less than its full amount.[70]

c. Mode or Form of Payment

Unless expressly authorized, an attorney has no right or power to accept anything other than cash or money in payment of a debt or claim which he has been employed to collect or enforce.

An attorney having authority to collect, or receive payment of, a debt or claim has no right or power to accept anything other than cash or money in payment thereof,[71] unless he has been expressly authorized to do so,[72] as such action would amount to a compromise or settlement for which express authority is generally necessary under the rules stated in § 105 supra. The client, however, is the only person who can object on account of the fact that the attorney has received something other than money in payment.[73]

In accordance with the foregoing, an attorney has been held without authority to receive payment

N D —Business Service Collection Bureau v Yegen, 269 N W 46
Okl —Hamberger v. White, 154 P 576, 54 Okl 736
Or —Seaweard v. De Armond, 198 P 916, 101 Or. 30
Tex —Kreis v Kreis, (Civ App) 57 S W (2d) 1107.
6 C J p 662 note 59

Judgment assigned attorney as security

Even where an attorney holds a judgment by assignment as security for debts due from his client, his satisfaction without full payment is good for only the amount of his interest therein —Beers v. Hendrickson, 45 N Y. 665

Statute authorizing satisfaction by attorney

A statute authorizing an attorney of record to satisfy a judgment presupposes that he will receive full payment for his client of the debt represented by the judgment, and does not authorize him to satisfy a judgment for less than is due thereon without the consent of his client. —Business Service Collection Bureau v. Yegen, (N D) 269 N.W. 46
Authority of attorney to make satisfaction of judgment upon payment in full see supra § 99.

66. Ill —Central Trust Co. of Illinois v. Hagen, 249 Ill App 507, reversed on other grounds 171 N E 531, 339 Ill 384
Utah —Hinkins v. U. S. Fuel Co, 199 P. 150, 58 Utah 327.
Wis —La Marche v. Schoenrock, 247 N W. 852, 211 Wis. 309.
1 C J. p 539 note 70 [a]—6 C J p 663 note 62

67. Harrow v. Farrow, 7 B Mon (Ky) 126, 45 Am D. 60

68. Ga —Patterson v Georgia Gravel Co, 108 S E. 237, 151 Ga 813—Evans v Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville, Fla, 95 S E 219, 147 Ga 621—Kaiser v. Hancock, 32 S E 123, 106 Ga. 217—Burnett v. Johnson, 165 S E. 857, 45 Ga App 667—Johnson v. Starr Piano Co, 108 S E 811, 27 Ga App. 425
N J —Hygrade Cut Fabric Co. v U S Stores Corporation, 144 A. 605, 105 N J Law 324.
Okl —Hamburger v. White, 154 P 576, 54 Okl 736
Or —Seaweard v De Armond, 198 P. 916, 101 Or 30.
6 C J. p 663 note 61.

69. Precious v. O'Rourke, 170 N E 110, 270 Mass 305.

70. Ala —Cowgill & Son v. Boseman, 79 So 305, 202 Ala 7.
Ga.—Burnett v Johnson, 165 S E 857, 45 Ga App. 667—Crouch v Fisher, 159 N E 746, 43 Ga App 484—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co, 151 S. E. 818, 41 Ga App 94
Mich.—People's State Bank for Savings v Bloch, 227 N.W. 778, 249 Mich 99.
Minn —Seifert v. Gallet, 198 N W. 664, 159 Minn 131—Hernlund v. Town & County Motors Inc, 198 N. W. 662, 159 Minn 125.
Okl —Incorporated Town of Wainwright v Eureka Fire Hose Mfg Co., 218 P. 306, 92 Okl 75—Hamborger v. White, 154 P. 576, 54 Okl 736
Or —Hill v Wilson, 250 P. 840, 119 Or 636—Seaweard v. De Armond, 198 P 916, 101 Or 30.
6 C J. p 663 note 65.

71. Ala —Hoover v. Miller, 73 So. 817, 198 Ala 499
Colo —McCaffrey v Mitchell, 56 P (2d) 926—Garrison v. Kansas City Life Ins Co., 46 P.(2d) 902, 97 Colo. 149—Richardson Drug Co v Dunagan, 46 P 227, 8 Colo App 308
Ga —Lynchburg Shoe Co. v. Gladney 90 S E. 1044, 19 Ga App. 96
Ill.—Treece v Reinhart-Smith Grocer Co, 197 Ill App 40
Ind —Brown v. Grimes, 129 N.E. 488, 74 Ind App 655.
La —Williams v. Bank, 3 La App (Orleans) 471.
Mo —McCully v Kelley-Dempsey Co. 57 S W (2d) 784, 327 Mo.App 775
Tex —Scott v. Atchinson, 38 Tex 334 —Portis v Ennis, 27 Tex. 575—Commercial Credit Co. v Crone, (Civ App) 270 S.W. 209—Cook v Greenberg, (Civ App) 34 S W. 687
Va —Willis v. Gorrell, 47 S E 826, 103 Va. 746
6 C.J. p 666 note 97.

Receipt of Confederate money by an attorney in payment of his client's claim does not extinguish the debt —Scott v Atchinson, 38 Tex. 334—6 C J p 666 note 97 [b].

72. Washita County Gin Co v. Colbert, (Okl.) 54 P.(2d) 640

73. Hirsch v. Fleming, 3 S E. 9, 77 Ga. 594.

in the form of property,[74] such as, land;[75] or in the form of choses in action,[76] such as, accounts receivable,[77] notes,[78] bonds,[79] warrants,[80] due bills,[81] bills of sale,[82] or acknowledgments of indebtedness.[83] Nor can an attorney by attempted arrangements with the debtor substitute his personal debt for that of the debtor to the client,[84] except to the extent that the attorney has an interest in the claim for his fees.[85]

A check or draft cannot be accepted in payment,[86] unless it has been certified,[87] or the attorney has been expressly authorized to take payment in this form;[88] but where an attorney, after receiving a check which he has no authority to accept in payment, proceeds to collect the same, and obtains the cash thereon, an authorized payment in money is thereby effected.[89]

Without express authority, the attorney cannot accept collateral securities held by the debtor in payment of the client's claim,[90] nor can he bind his client by an agreement on his part to take notes, bonds, or other securities which the debtor holds against third persons, to collect them, and to pay over the proceeds to the creditor, his client.[91] It has been held, however, that where an attorney receives the money upon any of the securities so held by him, the sum he receives operates pro tanto to extinguish the debt, since the attorney is authorized to receive payment in money, and the money, when received, is by the agreement applied eo instanti to the debt. A payment to the attorney is thus a valid payment by the debtor, although the money never reaches the creditor.[92] On the other hand, it has been held that the creditor is not bound to recognize such payment as made to him, in the absence at least of a specific application by the attorney or the debtor of the money received to the satisfaction of the judgment, and that amounts collected by the attorney, but not paid over, do not operate as payment.[93] Of course, where the money from the securities is collected by the attorney and is paid over to his client who receives it without objection, this is a satisfaction.[94]

If a debtor pays to the creditor's attorney a part of the debt in money and the remainder in securities running to the attorney, the creditor may accept the cash in payment pro tanto, and may repudiate the other alleged payment and recover the balance due by suit.[95]

Where the attorney has been directed to obtain security for the debt rather than making an immediate collection, and no particular security has been specified, the security to be taken is left to the attorney's discretion and the client is bound thereby.[96]

§ 107. Delegation of Authority and Employment of Assistants

Ordinarily, an attorney cannot delegate his authority or employ assistants so as to bind the client, unless the client has consented thereto or acquiesced therein.

As an attorney is chosen with particular reference to his fitness and capacity, and the employment involves the reposing of a personal trust and confidence, it is generally held, in accordance with the well established agency maxim, Delegatus non potest delegare, that an attorney has no power to delegate the authority which has been conferred upon him without the consent of his client.[97] This

74. Ladd v. McColl, (Mo.App.) 209 S.W. 578

75. Ladd v. McColl, supra—6 C.J. p 660 note 41, p 667 note 6
Acceptance of land in satisfaction of judgment see supra § 99.

76. Ala.—Hoover v. Miller, 72 So. 817, 198 Ala. 499.
Colo.—McCaffrey v. Mitchell, 56 P. (2d) 926
Tex.—Commercial Credit Co. v. Crone, (Civ.App.) 270 S.W. 209.

77. Hoover v. Miller, 72 So. 817, 198 Ala. 499.

78. Willis v. Gorrell, 47 S.E. 826, 102 Va. 746—Smith's Ex'r v. Powell, 26 S.E. 522, 93 Va. 431—6 C.J. p 667 note 99.

79. Smock v. Dade, 5 Rand (26 Va.) 639, 16 Am.D. 780—6 C.J. p 667 note 1.

80. Herriman v. Shomon, 24 Kan. 387, 36 Am.R. 261.

81. Biddle v. Bogert, 10 Kulp (Pa.) 434.

82. Hartman Steel Co. v. Hoag, 73 N.W. 611, 104 Iowa 269.

83. McCaffrey v. Mitchell, (Colo.) 56 P.(2d) 926—6 C.J. p 667 note 5.

84. Lynchburg Shoe Co. v. Gladney, 90 S.E. 1044, 19 Ga.App. 96—6 C.J. p 667 note 7.

85. Williams v. Bank, 3 La.App.(Orleans) 471.

86. McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W.(2d) 784, 227 Mo.App. 775—6 C.J. p 667 note 8.

87. Lesher v. Radel, (C.C.R.I.) 170 F. 723.

88. Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94.
Okl.—Washita County Gin Co. v. Colbert, 54 P.(2d) 640.

89. Ga.—Patterson v. Southern Ry. Co., 151 S.E. 818, 41 Ga.App. 94
Ind.—Brown v. Grimes, 129 N.E. 483, 74 Ind.App. 655
Mo.—McCully v. Kelley-Dempsey Co., 57 S.W.(2d) 784, 227 Mo.App. 775.
Authority of attorney to indorse and collect check payable to client see supra § 104

90. Wiley v. Mahood, 10 W.Va. 206—6 C.J. p 659 note 35

91. Black v. Drake, 2 Colo. 330—6 C.J. p 667 note 10

92. Black v. Drake, supra—6 C.J. p 667 note 11.

93. Jewett v. Wadleigh, 32 Me. 110—6 C.J. p 667 note 12.

94. Baldwin v. Merrill, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 132.

95. Lesher v. Radel, (C.C.R.I.) 170 F. 723—6 C.J. p 668 note 14.

96. Rice v. Wilkins, 21 Me. 556.

97. Ill.—Sabath v. Vacek, 204 Ill. App. 396.
Iowa.—Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 518.
Mo.—Lamport v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 199 S.W. 1020
Nev.—Page v. Walser, 213 P. 107, 46 Nev. 390.

rule precludes the delegation to another attorney of the authority of an attorney who has been employed to prosecute or conduct litigation,[98] or to collect a claim or demand.[99]

In addition an attorney cannot, without the client's consent, employ substitutes, associates, or assistants, so as to bind the client for the expense thereof,[1] or for the acts or conduct of the associate or assistant so employed.[2] With this limitation, however, an attorney is at liberty to employ as many assistants in a case as he chooses to pay for,[3] and to charge his client with a reasonable amount for the entire service.[4] Moreover, an attorney has been held to have authority to authorize another attorney to enter an appearance for the client;[5] and authority to make a binding employment of an associate counsel or assistant will be implied or inferred, where the attorney is a general counsel or agent having charge of the legal business of the client,[6] or the circumstances are such as to make the employment necessary or proper to accomplish the purpose of the attorney's employment.[7] Hence, where the case or matter is one which must necessarily be conducted at a distant place, the attorney has implied authority to employ local counsel in that place to assist him;[8] but an attorney by employing another attorney in a distant place may not confer authority in excess of that possessed by himself.[9]

If he has been expressly authorized to do so, an attorney may, of course, employ an associate or assistant;[10] but express authority, where it is in issue, must be proved as a distinct fact by proper evidence;[11] and such authority is revoked by the death of the client.[12]

An associate or clerk in the office of an attorney, who is not a member of the latter's firm and to whom no authority has been delegated with reference to a particular case or matter, has no power to bind the client by his action with respect thereto.[13]

Acquiescence or ratification. The unauthorized act of an attorney, in employing, or delegating authority to, an associate or assistant, may be rendered binding on the client by reason of the latter's acquiescence therein or ratification thereof.[14]

Pa.—Pore v. Duke, 154 A. 797, 303 Pa. 528
6 C.J. p 668 note 19.

Reasons for rule

"The relation of attorney and client is a close personal relation. It involves the element of personal selection, and one attorney so selected by his client may not bind that client by selecting other attorneys for him without the client's consent. . . . While the rule is general that one agent may not ordinarily delegate to another his authority to act for his principal without that principal's consent, the rule in this behalf as to attorney and client is far stronger against such delegation than it is in the ordinary case. This is for the reason that attorneys are selected on account of their special fitness through their learning or probity for the work in hand"—Lamport v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., (Mo.) 199 S.W. 1020, 1023.

98. Iowa—Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N. W. 347, 180 Iowa 513.
Mo.—Lamport v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 199 S.W. 1020.
Nev.—Page v. Walser, 213 P. 107, 46 Nev. 390.
6 C.J. p 668 note 19.

99. Ariz.—Millsap v. Sparks, 188 P. 135, 21 Ariz. 317.
Pa.—Pore v. Duke, 154 A. 797, 303 Pa. 528.
6 C.J. p 668 note 20.

1. Ark.—Young v. Fowler, 200 S.W. 313, 132 Ark. 145.
Ariz.—Millsap v. Sparks, 188 P. 135, 21 Ariz. 317.
Cal.—Cormac v. Murphy, 208 P. 360, 58 Cal.App. 366—Davis v. Mackay, (App.) 194 P. 738.
Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258.
Ky.—Snyder v. Howard's Adm'x, 65 S.W.(2d) 477, 251 Ky. 592.
Md.—Drury v. Brightwood Sanitarium Co., 133 A. 314, 150 Md. 585.
Mo.—Young v. Crawford, 23 Mo.App. 432.
Or.—Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.
6 C.J. p 668 note 21, p 747 note 37.

Attorney on contingent fee basis

"The rule is well settled that where a lawyer takes a case on a conditional fee he cannot employ other counsel and charge this to his client without the client's consent"—Snyder v. Howard's Adm'x, 65 S.W.(2d) 477, 479, 251 Ky. 592.

2. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Padover, 161 N.E. 898, 264 Mass. 26.
Mo.—Lamport v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 199 S.W. 1020.
Tex.—State Life Ins. Co. v. Duke, (Civ.App.) 69 S.W.(2d) 791, error refused.

3. Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.

4. Kingsbury v. Joseph, 68 S.W. 93, 94 Mo.App. 298—6 C.J. p 668 note 22.

5. Panty v. Panty, 129 N.E. 283, 74 Ind.App. 485—6 C.J. p 668 note 23.

6. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Clarke, (Wash.) 106 F. 794, 45 C.C.A. 635—6 C.J. p 668 note 24.

7. Conn.—Rowell v. Ross, 101 A. 333, 91 Conn. 702.
Iowa.—Hornish v. McConnell, 182 N. W. 406, 191 Iowa 308.
6 C.J. p 668 note 25.

8. Ind.—Panty v. Panty, 129 N.E. 283, 74 Ind.App. 485.
Iowa.—Hornish v. McConnell, 182 N. W. 406, 191 Iowa 308.

9. Fuehr v. Ewert & Richter Express & Storage Co., 163 N.W. 347, 180 Iowa 513.

10. Minn.—Olmstead v. Firth, 61 N. W. 1017, 60 Minn. 126.
Va.—Culbert v. Hutton & Hutton, 123 S.E. 367, 133 Va. 477.
6 C.J. p 669 note 30.

11. Cormac v. Murphy, 208 P. 360, 58 Cal.App. 366—6 C.J. p 669 note 30.

12. Watt v. Watt, 2 Barb.Ch. (N.Y.) 371.

13. Southern Grocery Stores v. Cain, 173 S.E. 256, 48 Ga.App. 557.

14. Ariz.—Journal-Miner Pub. Co. v. Curley, 252 P. 187, 31 Ariz. 280.
Iowa.—Hornish v. McConnell, 182 N. W. 406, 191 Iowa 308.
Tex.—State Life Ins. Co. v. Duke, (Civ.App.) 69 S.W.(2d) 791, error refused.
6 C.J. p 668 note 26.
See Bond v. Duntley Mfg. Co., 195 Ill. App. 576.

Accordingly, it is often held that if a client, with full knowledge of all the circumstances and with the understanding that he is to be charged with the fees of extra counsel, makes no objection and accepts the services, it is too late for him to do so after the case is ended and the services have all been rendered.[15] Similarly, the employment of a substitute to conduct the prosecution or defense of a case, where the original attorney becomes unable for any reason to discharge the duty, is not necessarily void or illegal; and if a client stands by and fails to make objection he cannot afterward object that the substitution was unauthorized.[16] In order, however, for the acts of the client to operate as an acquiescence or ratification, he must have knowledge that the services are rendered by an assistant or associate employed by the original attorney;[17] but such knowledge is not of itself sufficient, where the fact of such assistance is consistent with the employment of the associate or assistant to assist the counsel at the latter's expense,[18] or on behalf of another party interested in the litigation;[19] nor is mere silence sufficient for this purpose,[20] unless long continued to the prejudice of the adverse party.[21]

E. TERMINATION OF RELATION

§ 108. In General

Although it may be sooner terminated by intervening cause, in the absence thereof, the relationship of attorney and client ordinarily continues until the accomplishment, fulfillment, or end of the object, suit, or business for which the attorney was employed, and thereupon the relation and employment terminates and comes to an end.

Unless the relation has been sooner terminated by act of the parties (infra §§ 109, 110), by operation of law (infra §§ 111–115), or by virtue of other causes (infra § 117), the relationship of attorney and client, and the rights, powers, and obligations resulting therefrom, ordinarily continue until there has been a complete and final accomplishment, fulfillment, or end of the particular object, suit, or business for which the attorney has been employed,[22] and thereupon the relation or employment terminates and comes to an end,[23] although as noted in sections 125, 132 infra, the confidential relationship will often be treated as existing beyond this time, in order to hold the attorney to the performance of the confidential and fiduciary duties which have devolved on him by reason of the relationship, and if, in a particular case, the continuance of the relationship is left in doubt, it may become a question of fact for the jury.[24]

§ 109. Act of Parties

The relation and employment of an attorney may always be terminated by agreement with his client, or by the client either with or without cause; but the right of an attorney to withdraw or terminate the relation other than for sufficient cause is considerably restricted.

The relation or employment of an attorney may always be terminated by agreement with his client,[25] and, because of the peculiar nature of the relation of attorney and client, the law goes even further and permits the termination thereof in a manner not recognized with respect to other contracts.[26] Either party may dissolve the relation

15. Ariz.—Journal-Miner Pub. Co v. Curley, 252 P. 187, 31 Ariz. 280
Conn.—Rowell v. Ross, 101 A. 333, 91 Conn. 702
Iowa.—Hornish v. McConnell, 182 N.W. 406, 191 Iowa 308.
6 C.J. p. 668 note 26

16. Fenno v. English, 22 Ark. 170—6 C.J. p. 669 note 27.

17. Cal.—Cormac v. Murphy, 208 P. 360, 58 Cal.App. 366.
Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258.
6 C.J. p. 668 note 26 [a].

18. Mass.—Kalbritan v. Padover, 161 N.E. 898, 264 Mass. 26.
Or.—Davis v. Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co., 166 P. 534, 85 Or. 141.
6 C.J. p. 669 note 28.

19. Young v. Fowler, 200 S.W. 813, 132 Ark. 145.

20. Cormac v. Murphy, 208 P. 360, 58 Cal.App. 366—6 C.J. p. 669 note 29

21. State Life Ins. Co. v. Duke, (Tex.Civ.App.) 69 S.W.(2d) 791, error refused.

22. Me.—Mayo v. Purinton, 94 A. 935, 113 Me. 452.
Mo.—Noell v. Chicago & E.I. Ry. Co., (App.) 21 S.W.(2d) 937, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 465, 281 U.S. 766, 74 L.Ed. 1174.
N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.
Va.—Lockard v. Whitenack, 144 S.E. 606, 151 Va. 143.
6 C.J. p. 669 note 32, p. 672 note 57.

23. Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 90 A.L.R. 258—Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co., 239 N.W. 697, 213 Iowa 751—Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740
Ky.—Hay v. Cole, 11 B.Mon. 70.
Miss.—Dennis v. Jones, 31 Miss. 609
Okl.—Calloway v. State, 246 P. 873, 117 Okl. 43
Tex.—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ.App.) 225 S.W. 69
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.
6 C.J. p. 672 note 58.

24. Jinks v. Moppin, (Tex.Civ.App.) 80 S.W. 390.

25. Ark.—Poe v. Walker, 87 S.W. (2d) 866, 183 Ark. 659.
S.D.—Emerson-Brantingham Instrument Co. v. Olson, 227 N.W. 567, 56 S.D. 132.

26. Minn.—Lawler v. Dunn, 176 N.W. 989, 145 Minn. 281.
N.Y.—Matter of Lydig's Will, 187 N.E. 298, 262 N.Y. 408—Application of Krooks, 178 N.E. 548, 257 N.Y. 329—Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc., 277 N.Y.S. 810, 154 Misc. 555
Tenn.—Spofford v. Rose, 237 S.W. 63, 145 Tenn. 583
6 C.J. p. 673 note 69.

for cause;[27] and the client has the absolute right to discharge the attorney and terminate the relation at any time even without cause,[28] no matter how arbitrary his action may seem,[29] although the question of whether the revocation or termination was with or without cause may have a material bearing on the client's liability for fees or damages (infra § 169). In the case of a corporate client, however, the revocation or discharge may be ineffective because it is not legally voted or passed;[30] and the

27. U S—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N Y.) 69 F (2d) 49—Central Loan Co v. Russell, (C C A Tex) 16 F (2d) 35
Cal—Brydonjack v Rieck, 42 P.(2d) 336, 5 Cal App (2d) 219
N Y—Lewy v Union Ry Co of New York City, 272 N Y S 123, 151 Misc 724
R I—Lake v Winfield Fuller Co, 173 A. 119, 54 R I. 358
Tenn—Spofford v Rose, 237 S W. 68, 145 Tenn 583
6 C J p 673 note 70, p 676 note 24.

Demands by attorney as sufficient cause

If attorneys attempt to introduce new terms into their written contract governing their employment and compensation or to discontinue their services, the clients would be justified in taking them at their word and in discharging them, although, if they merely present a tentative settlement and notified their clients as to the basis on which their claim would be made at the conclusion of their services, without making its acceptance a condition to their continued services, it would not justify a discharge, if in fact they were still ready and willing to go on with the litigation—Teiser v. Barlow, 192 P. 394, 97 Or. 410.

Gross negligence unnecessary

A client's right to discharge his attorney is not restricted to cases of gross negligence of the attorney, but the client has a right to discharge his attorney for failing to prosecute the client's claim with reasonable diligence.—Johnson v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 233 S W. 699, 149 Ark 418.

Lack of confidence in attorney

The relation between attorney and client is such that the client is justified in seeking to dissolve that relation whenever he ceases to have absolute confidence in either the integrity, the judgment, or the capacity of the attorney
Cal—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P. (2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712
Fla—United States Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So 567, 80 Fla. 423.
Ill.—Conlan v. Sullivan, 280 Ill.App 332
Okl.—White v. American Law Book Co, 233 P. 426, 106 Okl. 166.
Tenn—Spofford v Rose, 237 S W. 68, 145 Tenn 583.
Wis—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N W. 170, 201 Wis 609, 70 A L R 832.
6 C.J. p 677 note 27.

Nonadmission to practice in other jurisdiction

Where an attorney admitted to practice in the courts of Oregon, both state and federal, but not in Alaska, contracted to perform legal services, the contract expressly providing for the employment of local counsel in Alaska if the attorney should deem advisable, the client could not discharge the attorney on the ground that the attorney was not entitled to practice in Alaska, especially as comity would permit the attorney to appear in Alaskan courts—Tuppela v. Mathison, (C C A Alaska) 291 F. 723.

Nonperformance by attorney.—Brydonjack v Rieck, 42 P (2d) 336, 5 Cal App (2d) 219

28. U S—Lewis v Canadian Pac Ry. Co, (C C A Ill) 39 F (2d) 334, certiorari denied 51 S Ct. 76, 282 U. S 869, 75 L Ed 768—U. S. v McMurtry, (D C N Y) 24 F.(2d) 145—Flagler v Spellman, (C.C A N Y) 15 F (2d) 292—The Flush, (C C A. N Y) 277 F 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v Thompson, 42 S Ct. 184, 257 U S 657, 66 L Ed. 421.
Ark—Johnson v Missouri Pac R. Co, 233 S W. 699, 149 Ark. 418—St L, I M & S Ry. Co. v. Hays & Ward, 195 S W. 28, 128 Ark. 471—St L, I M & S. Ry. Co. v. Blaycock, 175 S.W 1170, 117 Ark 504, Ann Cas 1917A 563
Cal.—In re Hardenberg's Estate, 57 P (2d) 914—Kirk v. Culley, 261 P. 994, 202 Cal 501—Atchison v. Hulse, 290 P 916, 107 Cal App 640—McKelley v Turner, 273 P. 1101, 96 Cal App 292
Fla—U. S Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So 567, 80 Fla 423
Ill—Conlan v Sullivan, 280 Ill App. 332
Ky—Hubbard v. Goffinett, 70 S W. (2d) 671, 253 Ky 779—Bright v Turner, 265 S W. 627, 205 Ky 138—Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S W. 258, 186 Ky 713
La—Foster, Hall, Barret & Smith v. Haley, 142 So. 251, 174 La. 1019—Schiro v. Macaluso, 126 So 244, 13 La App 88—Succession of Le Blanc, 2 La App. 364
Minn—Lawler v Dunn, 176 N.W. 989, 145 Minn. 281.
Mo—Allen v. Fewel, 87 S W (2d) 142.
N Y—Lurie v. New Amsterdam Casualty Co, 1 N E (2d) 472, 270 N Y. 379, affirming 281 N Y.S. 988, 245 App Div 710—In re Lydig's Will, 187 N E 298, 262 N Y 408—Tillman v. Komar, 181 N.E. 75, 259 N.Y. 133, reversing In re Tillman, 254 N Y S 918, 234 App Div. 752—Application of Krooks, 178 N E. 548, 257 N.Y 329—Robinson v. Rogers, 143 N E 647, 237 N.Y 467, reversing Robinson v Ferguson, 201 N Y.S 941, 207 App.Div 802, and motion denied 143 N E 738, 237 N Y 525—In re Montgomery's Estate, 284 N Y S 5, 246 App Div. 495, reversing 282 N Y S. 741, 156 Misc 583—McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y.S. 181, 238 App Div 225, affirmed 187 N.E. 691, 263 N.Y. 548—Conklin v. Conklin, 194 N.Y S. 685, 201 App Div 170—Hausvater v Wikler & Diamont, Inc, 277 N. Y S. 810, 154 Misc. 555—Bloom v Irving Trust Co, 272 N.Y S 637, 152 Misc 50—Lewy v. Union Ry. Co. of New York City, 272 N.Y S 123, 151 Misc 724—In re Makames, 265 N Y S 511, 148 Misc 759, reversed on other grounds 265 N Y S 515, 238 App Div. 534—Eisenberg v. Brand, 259 N.Y.S 57, 144 Misc 878—Selesnow v Shub, 240 N.Y.S 829, 136 Misc. 865—In re Driscoll, 228 N Y S 335, 131 Misc. 613—In re Pollen's Estate, 211 N Y S 626, 125 Misc 354—Hofman v. New York & Queens Electric Light & Power Co, 236 N Y.S. 685.
Okl—White v. American Law Book Co, 233 P. 426, 106 Okl 166.
Porto Rico—Bank of San Juan v. Dist. Court of San Juan, 32 Porto Rico 774.
R.I.—Lake v. Winfield Fuller Co, 173 A 119, 54 R I. 358.
Tenn—Spofford v. Rose, 237 S W. 68, 145 Tenn 583.
Wash—Hamlin v. Case & Case, 61 P (2d) 1287.
Wis—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v Madson, 231 N W. 170, 201 Wis 609, 70 A L R 832
6 C J p 673 note 71, p 677 note 25.

Attorneys from other states, practicing in New York, are subject to the law of that state, entitling client to dismiss attorney at any time—Flagler v. Spellman, (C C A N.Y) 15 F (2d) 292 Discharge of attorney employed to represent state see States § 224 [59 C.J. p 324 note 11].

29. Application of Krooks, 178 N.E. 548, 257 N Y 329, reversing In re Krooks, 245 N.Y S. 773, 230 App. Div. 826—In re Montgomery's Estate, 284 N Y S. 5, 246 App.Div. 495, reversing 282 N Y S. 741, 156 Misc. 583—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y.S 637, 152 Misc. 50.

30. Davis v. Haverill, 43 N H 381.

revocation or discharge must in all cases be definite and unequivocal.[31] Also, a revocation or discharge may not be effective as to the court or third persons until they have received notice thereof;[32] and, if a change is sought to be made in an attorney of record, there must usually be not only notice (infra § 123), but also an order of the court (infra § 121); but, if no proceeding is pending in court, the client is free to discharge the attorney without making application to, or obtaining an order of, the court.[33]

The right or power of a client to discharge an attorney or revoke his authority is not affected by the fact that the contract of employment provides for the payment of a contingent fee,[34] or expressly provides that it is one coupled with an interest in the subject matter or shall be irrevocable;[35] nor is the client prevented from discharging an attorney because the attorney has rendered valuable services,[36] or the client is indebted to him for services rendered or money advanced,[37] although, as noted in section 169 infra, the premature termination by act of the parties may not deprive the attorney of his right to compensation, and, if the contract of employment is for a fixed term, the client may not revoke it without cause or in a manner not permitted by the contract without being guilty of a breach thereof.[38] Moreover, if the attorney has in fact been granted or acquired a specific, present, and coexisting interest in the subject matter of the litigation on which his power is to be exercised, he has a power or authority coupled with an interest which cannot be revoked by the client;[39] but, in a number of cases, an assignment or transfer to the attorney of an interest in the money or property to be recovered, to secure or pay his fees, has been held insufficient to create a power coupled with an interest.[40]

It has been said that the client has not only the right but also the duty to discharge an attorney where the latter has been guilty of unprofessional conduct.[41]

After the client has terminated the relation by discharging the attorney, the relation is not revived

31. Atchison v. Hulse, 290 P. 916, 107 Cal.App. 640.

Letter merely denying relationship held insufficient to constitute a discharge terminating relationship.—Atchison v. Hulse, 290 P. 916, 107 Cal App 640.

32. Hendricks v. Town of Cherryville, 153 S.E. 113, 198 N.C. 659.

33. In re Dix's Estate, 259 N.Y.S. 449, 144 Misc. 494.

34. U.S.—Lewis v Canadian Pac. Ry. Co, (C.C.A.Ill.) 39 F.(2d) 334, certiorari denied 51 S.Ct. 76, 282 U.S 869, 75 L.Ed. 768.

Cal.—In re Scott, 271 P. 906, 205 Cal. 525—Kirk v. Culley, 261 P. 994, 202 Cal 501—Todd v. Superior Court, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal. 406, 7 A.L.R 938—Gage v. Atwater, 68 P. 581, 136 Cal. 170—Cassetta v. Del Frate, 2 P.(2d) 533, 116 Cal. App 255—Ayres v. Lipschultz, 228 P. 720, 68 Cal.App. 134.

Ill.—Regan v Chicago, M. & St. P. Ry. Co, 204 Ill.App 115.

Ky.—Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S.W. 258, 186 Ky 713

N.Y.—In re Weitling, 194 N.E 401, 266 N.Y 184, reversing 275 N.Y.S. 973, 242 App.Div 832—Application of Krooks, 178 N.E 548, 257 N.Y. 329, reversing In re Krooks, 245 N.Y.S. 773, 230 App.Div. 836—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co, 272 N.Y.S 637, 152 Misc 50

Wash.—Hamlin v. Case & Case, 61 P.(2d) 1287

6 C.J. p 677 note 32.

35. Cal.—O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P.(2d) 334, 2 Cal.(2d) 418, 97 A.L.R. 918—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P.(2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712—Todd v. Superior Court of California in and for City and County of San Francisco, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal 406, 7 A.L.R 938

Ill.—Conlan v. Sullivan, 280 Ill.App. 332.

Wash.—Hamlin v. Case & Case, 61 P. (2d) 1287.

6 C.J. p 677 note 33.

36. Cal.—O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P.(2d) 334, 2 Cal.(2d) 418, 97 A.L.R 918—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P.(2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712—Todd v. Superior Court, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal 406, 7 A.L.R 938.

Ill.—Conlan v. Sullivan, 280 Ill.App. 332.

Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N.W 170, 201 Wis 609, 70 A.L.R. 832.

6 C.J. p 678 note 34.

37. Cal.—O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P.(2d) 334, 2 Cal.(2d) 418, 97 A.L.R 918—In re Scott, 271 P 906, 205 Cal 525—Todd v. Superior Court, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal. 406, 7 A.L.R. 938.

Ill.—Conlan v. Sullivan, 280 Ill.App 332.

Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co of Maryland, 231 N.W 170, 201 Wis 609, 70 A.L.R. 832

6 C.J p 678 note 35.

38. U.S.—Flagler v. Spellman, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 15 F.(2d) 292—Gilman v. Lamson Co, (Mass.) 234 F. 507, 148 C.C.A. 273.

N.Y.—Greenberg v. Remick, 129 N.E. 211, 230 N.Y. 70

39. O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P.(2d) 334, 2 Cal. (2d) 418, 97 A.L.R. 918—6 C.J. p 678 note 36

Estoppel to deny lack of interest

The fact that the client, a laywoman, has represented to an attorney, subsequently associating with the original attorney, that the latter had an interest in the subject matter of the litigation under a contingent fee contract prepared by him does not estop the client from discharging the attorneys, where the actual legal effect of the contract is not to give a power coupled with an interest.—In re Scott, 271 P. 906, 205 Cal. 525.

40. Cal.—O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P.(2d) 334, 2 Cal.(2d) 418, 97 A.L.R 918—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P.(2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712—Todd v. Superior Court, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal. 406, 7 A.L.R 938—Cassetta v Del Frate, 2 P.(2d) 533, 116 Cal.App 255.

Wash.—Hamlin v. Case & Case, 61 P.(2d) 1287.

41. Duffy v. Colonial Trust Co, 135 A. 204, 287 Pa. 348, 49 A.L.R. 406, certiorari denied 47 S.Ct. 570, 273 U.S 765, 71 L.Ed. 880

Suggestion that witness simulate illness

Client, having ascertained that an attorney suggested that a witness simulate illness to obtain a continuance, has the duty to discharge him.

or kept alive by reason of the fact that the client makes use of evidence or witnesses employed or obtained by the attorney or that the attorney was present at the trial.[42]

As will appear from section 110 infra, the right of an attorney to withdraw from a case and terminate the relation on his own initiative is greatly restricted and limited.

§ 110. —— Withdrawal of Attorney

An attorney may not, in the absence of the client's consent, withdraw from a case without justifiable cause; and then only after proper notice to his client, and on leave of the court.

When an attorney accepts a retainer to conduct a legal proceeding, he enters into an entire contract to conduct the proceeding to a conclusion, and he may not abandon his relation without justifiable cause,[43] or the consent of his client.[44] If he does so he may forfeit his right to compensation (infra § 169) or a lien (infra § 220) or render himself liable to an action for damages on account of his neglect (infra § 140).

If a firm of attorneys has been retained, no member thereof can withdraw or be released merely by some act or agreement among themselves.[45]

For justifiable and lawful cause, however, the attorney may, after giving proper notice and obtaining leave of court, withdraw from a case at any stage in the proceedings.[46] The determination of what constitutes a sufficient cause for withdrawal must depend to a great extent on the particular facts of each case, for, as has been judicially noted, no rule of universal application has been formulated with respect to what facts or conditions justify an attorney in withdrawing.[47] Usually, however, the attorney is justified in withdrawing on account of any conduct on the part of the client, during the progress of the litigation, which tends to degrade or humiliate the attorney,[48] lower the standard of professional ethics,[49] or destroy the reciprocal confidence required between attorney and client.[50] Also, an attorney is ordinarily justified in withdrawing while the suit is pending if his client insists on employing associate counsel with whom he cannot cordially coöperate and with whom he objects to having personal or professional relations,[51] or if the client fails or refuses to pay or secure the proper fees or expenses of the attorney after being seasonably requested to do so.[52] On the other hand, it has been held that an attorney is not justified in withdrawing from a case because

—Duffy v. Colonial Trust Co., 135 A. 204, 287 Pa. 343, 49 A.L.R. 406, certiorari denied 47 S.Ct. 570, 273 U.S. 765, 71 L.Ed. 880.

42. In re Driscoll, 228 N.Y.S. 335, 131 Misc. 613.

43. Ala.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 296, 215 Ala. 251.
Ariz.—Fogal v. State, 3 P.(2d) 1053, 39 Ariz. 55, (first case), followed in 3 P.(2d) 1053, 39 Ariz. 57, (second case) and Johnson v. State, 3 P.(2d) 1054, 39 Ariz. 57.
Cal.—De Recat Corporation v. Dunn, 242 P. 936, 197 Cal. 737, 42 A.L.R. 1342—Larimer v. Smith, 19 P.(2d) 835, 130 Cal.App. 93.
Mo.—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 309, 276 Mo. 397.
N.Y.—Eisenberg v. Brand, 259 N.Y.S. 57, 144 Misc. 378—Selesnow v. Shub, 240 N.Y.S. 329, 136 Misc. 365
N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.
Okl.—McLaughlin v. Nettleton, 148 P. 987, 47 Okl. 407.
Pa.—Green v. Shils, 18 Pa.Dist. & Co. 10.
6 C.J. p 673 note 73, p 674 note 76.

Rule held inapplicable because the person involved was simply a layman who had acquired an interest of the attorney under the employment contract of the attorney and his client, with knowledge of their relations—Page v. Walser, 213 P. 107, 46 Nev. 390.

44. Ala.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 296, 215 Ala. 251.
Ill.—Jacobson v. Ashkinaze, 168 N.E. 647, 337 Ill. 141, reversing 249 Ill. App. 479.
6 C.J. p 673 note 74.

45. Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773—6 C.J. p 629 note 32

46. Ala.—Shannon v. Lunsford, 111 So. 22, 215 Ala. 465.
Iowa.—In re Coffin's Estate, 179 N.W. 123, 189 Iowa 862.
Mo.—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 309, 276 Mo. 397.
N.Y.—Bailey v. Coventry, 224 N.Y.S. 17, 130 Misc. 269.
N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.
6 C.J. p 674 note 77.

47. Gosnell v. Hilliard, supra—6 C.J. p 674 note 78

48. State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 309, 276 Mo. 397—6 C.J. p 674 note 79.

Attempt to sustain case by unlawful means
The attempt of a client's relative to bribe a juror has been held to justify a withdrawal—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 309, 276 Mo. 397.

49. Ala.—Shannon v. Lunsford, 111 So. 22, 215 Ala. 465.
Mo.—Gebhardt v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, 220 S.W. 677, 9 A.L.R. 1076—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 309, 276 Mo. 397.
6 C.J. p 674 note 80.

Discovery that perjury is necessary to establish case
Where an attorney, suing for injuries to an alleged passenger, discovered before trial that his client was not on defendant's car as alleged, and that the case had no foundation in fact and could not be successfully maintained without perjury, he had a right to withdraw at once from the case—Gebhardt v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, (Mo.) 220 S.W. 677, 9 A.L.R. 1076.

Repudiation of counsel's agreement
The client's repudiation of an agreement made in good faith by counsel with the opposing side is a just cause for counsel's withdrawal from the case—Shannon v. Lunsford, 111 So. 22, 215 Ala. 465

50. Gebhardt v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, (Mo.) 220 S.W. 677, 9 A.L.R. 1076—6 C.J. p 674 note 81.

51. In re Dunn, 93 N.E. 914, 205 N.Y. 393, Ann.Cas.1913E 536—6 C.J. p 674 note 82.

52. N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297
Pa.—Spector v. Greenstein, 35 Pa.Super. 177
Tex.—Thomas v. Morrison, (Civ.App.) 46 S.W. 46.
6 C.J. p 674 note 83.

of the client's refusal to accept the attorney's advice to compromise,[53] or because his client refuses to pay some demand pertaining to another proceeding[54] or a balance for services which is disputed by the client.[55]

It is not only the right, but also the duty, of an attorney to withdraw if at any time he acquires interests adverse or hostile to those of his client,[56] if it becomes apparent that his employment is unnecessary and that no substantial services are being rendered for the compensation received,[57] or if he becomes aware of the fact that the claim which he is urging for his client is fraudulent and fictitious.[58]

If a resignation or withdrawal of an attorney is accepted or assented to by the client, a rescission of the contract of employment is thereby effected,[59] and thereafter the attorney by his own act cannot resume or revive the relationship,[60] but a threatened or attempted withdrawal by an attorney for cause is ineffective to terminate the relationship where the attorney thereafter continues in the case with the consent of the client either under the original contract or under what purports to be a new contract of employment.[61]

Notice, and relief by other attorney. Although justifiable cause for withdrawal may exist, it is generally held that an attorney is not entitled to withdraw from a case until the client has been given due and reasonable warning or notice,[62] and has had opportunity to obtain a substitute to relieve the withdrawing attorney.[63] Even then, it has been said that the attorney cannot quit without losing the benefits of the relation until he has actually been relieved by placing the case and all the information he has concerning it with another attorney chosen by the client.[64]

Application and order of court. An attorney who has appeared as attorney of record in a cause cannot effectively terminate the relation by withdrawal until he has made application to the court and obtained leave to make a formal withdrawal of record;[65] and, if this is not done, the relation continues until the end of the litigation, at least, so far as the court and the opposing party are concerned.[66] Even where sufficient cause exists, the attorney has no unqualified right to withdraw of record and the court in its discretion may refuse

53. Van Gieson v. Magoon, 20 Hawaii 146

54. Cairo, etc., R. Co. v. Koerner, 3 Ill.App. 248.

55. State of Ohio v. Shay, 3 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 657—6 C.J. p. 674 note 86

56. Fla.—U. S. Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla. 423
Mo.—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 809, 276 Mo. 397.

57. In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E. 332, 351 Ill. 206.

58. In re Wendel's Estate, 287 N.Y.S. 893, 159 Misc. 443.

59. Poe v. Walker, 37 S.W.(2d) 866, 183 Ark. 659

60. Poe v. Walker, supra.

61. Okl.—Haunstein v. McCallister, 46 P.(2d) 552.
Wash.—Roche v. Madar, 175 P. 314, 104 Wash. 21, affirmed 181 P. 857, 104 Wash. 21.

62. Iowa.—In re Coffin's Estate, 179 N.W. 123, 189 Iowa 862.
Mo.—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 809, 276 Mo. 397.
N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.—Gooch v. Peebles, 11 S.E. 415, 105 N.C. 411.
Okl.—McLaughlin v. Nettleton, 183 P. 416, 69 Okl. 74.—McLaughlin v. Nettleton, 148 P. 987, 47 Okl. 407.
Pa.—Spector v. Greenstein, 85 Pa. Super. 177.

Demand for fees and expenses insufficient notice

A demand for fees and expense money to which the attorney is entitled is not of itself sufficient notice of an intention to withdraw in case the fees are not arranged for.—In re Coffin's Estate, 179 N.W. 123, 189 Iowa 862.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.

63. In re Coffin's Estate, 179 N.W. 123, 189 Iowa 862.

64. Eisenberg v. Brand, 259 N.Y.S. 57, 144 Misc. 878.

Reasons for rule

"The office of a lawyer is one of great importance. He is schooled in the substantive law, has studied the intricate rules of practice, and is familiar with the pitfalls made in this complex world for the uninitiated. He has the power of expression and is skilled in argument. The road he travels is technical, but he knows the turns—others get lost. One of the reasons why he represents people is that they could not find the way without his help. In the course of litigation he may disagree with his client, may lose faith in him, may even be humiliated by him. Nevertheless, he should remain at his side. The profession demands of him that he stand by under most trying conditions—lest, unprotected, his client fall down harder than justice requires. It may be that he should make no move against the other party, nor raise a defense to the charge projected, but, by the same token, he should not desert in the midst of the battle. The relation of attorney and client, is a sacred one, and it binds the lawyer, although not the client, to continue to represent him until he is properly relieved."—Eisenberg v. Brand, 259 N.Y.S. 57, 58, 144 Misc. 878

65. U.S.—Tripp v. Santa Rosa Street R. R. Co., (Cal.) 12 S.Ct. 655, 144 U.S. 126, 36 L.Ed. 371.—U. S. v. McMurtry, (D.C.N.Y.) 24 F.(2d) 145.
Cal.—De Recat Corporation v. Dunn, 242 P. 936, 197 Cal. 787, 42 A.L.R. 1342.
Ill.—Jacobson v. Ashkinaze, 168 N.E. 647, 337 Ill. 141, reversing 249 Ill. App. 479.—Hollan v. Kepner, 130 N.E. 699, 297 Ill. 332.
Mo.—Desino v. William S. Drozda Realty Co., (App.) 13 S.W.(2d) 659
N.Y.—Seleznow v. Shub, 240 N.Y.S. 829, 136 Misc. 365.—Bailey v. Coventry, 224 N.Y.S. 17, 130 Misc. 269
N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.—Ladd v. Teague, 36 S.E. 45, 126 N.C. 544.
Pa.—Spector v. Greenstein, 85 Pa. Super. 177
R.I.—Dooley v. Slavit, 165 A. 771, 53 R.I. 264.
Vt.—In re O'Brien, 107 A. 487, 93 Vt. 194.
6 C.J. p. 674 note 87.

66. Ill.—Hollan v. Kepner, 130 N.E. 699, 297 Ill. 332
R.I.—Dooley v. Slavit, 165 A. 771, 53 R.I. 264.
6 C.J. p. 674 note 88.

the withdrawal,[67] particularly where it is sought so close to the time the case is set for trial that it must necessarily result in a continuance to the prejudice of the other party.[68] Moreover, the court cannot properly grant an attorney leave to withdraw in the absence of the client and without his being given notice and an opportunity to be heard;[69] but the action of the court in permitting a withdrawal without notice has been sustained where the client was in no way harmed because of a continuance and his being granted ample time to engage other counsel.[70]

§ 111. Disbarment of Attorney

Disbarment of an attorney operates to terminate the relation of attorney and client, or to give the client cause for revoking the employment.

Apparently, an attorney's inability to perform the services for which he was retained by reason of his disbarment annuls the contract of employment and terminates the relationship of attorney and client;[71] and it, at least, affords the client good cause for revoking a power of attorney which is by its terms irrevocable.[72]

§ 112. Death of Attorney

The death of the attorney terminates the contract of employment, unless the deceased attorney was a member of a firm and the contract did not call for his personal attention.

A contract for legal services being personal in its nature, the death of the attorney, rendering performance impossible, terminates the contract,[73] and his representatives cannot lawfully employ anyone to perform the services which the attorney was employed to render.[74] This is true, although the deceased attorney was a member of a firm, if it was understood that he was to give the matter his personal attention.[75] If, however, the employment or retainer was of the firm itself, rather than the deceased partner personally, the death of the latter does not of itself terminate the contract of employment nor relieve the survivor or survivors of the duty of completing its performance;[76] but, as a client engaging a firm of lawyers is entitled to the personal services, skill, and ability of all members, the death of one gives the client the option of terminating the contract and employing other counsel on paying for services rendered up to that time.[77]

§ 113. Death of Client

Death or dissolution of the client terminates the relation of attorney and client and the attorney's authority to act by virtue thereof, unless the power of the attorney is coupled with an interest or the employment by its terms is to extend beyond the happening of such event.

Although the attorney has received no notice thereof,[78] the death of the client,[79] or, in the case of a corporation or partnership, its dissolution,[80] ordinarily terminates the relation of attorney and client and the powers and duties which the attorney 67. Cal.—Linn v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 250 P. 880, 79 Cal.App. 721.

N.Y.—In re Wellington's Estate, 289 N.Y.S. 1005, 160 Misc. 383, denying modification 276 N.Y.S. 946, 154 Misc. 271

68. Linn v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 250 P. 880, 79 Cal.App. 721.

69. N.C.—Gosnell v. Hilliard, 171 S.E. 52, 205 N.C. 297.
Pa.—Spector v. Greenstein, 85 Pa. Super. 177—Newmann v. Goldhammer, 24 Pa.Dist. 402.

70. State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 809, 276 Mo. 397

71. Schafer's Estate, 39 Pa.Super. 384—6 C.J. p. 676 note 12

72. Brownlow v. Payne, 2 Tenn.App. 154

73. Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773
N.Y.—In re Levy's Will, 201 N.Y.S. 818, 207 App.Div. 183.
6 C.J. p. 675 note 89.

74. Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773—6 C.J. p. 675 note 90

75. Ark.—Smith v. Hill, 13 Ark. 173.
N.Y.—In re Levy's Will, 201 N.Y.S. 818, 207 App.Div. 183.
6 C.J. p. 675 note 91

76. Ark.—Smith v. Hill, 13 Ark. 173.
Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773—Green County v. Lewis, 163 S.W. 489, 157 Ky. 490
6 C.J. p. 675 note 92

77. Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773—6 C.J. p. 675 note 93

78. In re Levine's Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 513, 247 App.Div. 19, affirming 278 N.Y.S. 36, 154 Misc. 700

79. U.S.—Lewis v. Canadian Pac. Ry. Co., (C.C.A.Ill.) 39 F.(2d) 834.
Ala.—McDonald v. Womack, 107 So. 813, 214 Ala. 309
Cal.—Treadwell v. Nickel, 228 P. 25, 194 Cal. 242—In re Baker's Estate, 150 P. 989, 170 Cal. 578—Benning v. Nevis, 204 P. 866, 56 Cal.App. 192
Conn.—Hennessy v. Denihan, 149 A. 250, 110 Conn. 646
Fla.—Bickell v. McCaskill, 106 So. 470, 90 Fla. 441
Ind.—Rainey v. Lafayette Loan & Trust Co., 173 N.E. 128, 92 Ind.App. 344—Elliott v. Kern, 169 N.E. 46, 90 Ind.App. 453, denying transfer 161 N.E. 663, 90 Ind.App. 453
Ky.—Slack v. Rowlhac, 5 Ky.Op. 101
Mass.—Barnes v. Barnes, 196 N.E. 917
Miss.—Clifton v. Clark, 36 So. 251, 83 Miss. 446, 66 L.R.A. 821, 102 Am.S.R. 453, 1 Ann.Cas. 396.
N.Y.—In re Levine's Estate, 286 N.Y.S. 513, 247 App.Div. 19, affirming 278 N.Y.S. 36, 154 Misc. 700—O'Brien v. Flynn, 239 N.Y.S. 59, 228 App.Div. 704.
Okl.—Huddleston v. Wallow, 246 P. 585, 117 Okl. 259
Pa.—Scranton Bldg. Assoc. v. Ranck, 5 Pa.Co. 449
S.C.—Bunch v. Dunning, 91 S.E. 331, 106 S.C. 300.
Tex.—Loden v. Fish, (Civ.App.) 20 S.W.(2d) 208
Wash.—In re Mallory's Estate, 278 P. 433, 154 Wash. 181
6 C.J. p. 675 note 95

80. N.Y.—Sinnott v. Hanan, 141 N.Y.S. 505, 156 App.Div. 323—Wamsley v. Horton & Co., 34 N.Y.S. 306, 87 Hun 347—In re Norwood, 32 Hun 196.
Wash.—State ex rel. National Surety Co. v. Superior Court of King County, 41 P.(2d) 133.
6 C.J. p. 675 note 96.

would otherwise have by reason of the employment. Accordingly, it has been held that after the death or dissolution of his client the attorney has no power to admit a previous mistake,[81] remit part of a verdict,[82] move to dismiss a pending action,[83] or revive a pending suit for the heirs or personal representatives without authority from them;[84] nor can he receive money in satisfaction of a judgment,[85] take any step or action with reference to appellate proceedings or the perfection thereof,[86] file a petition for the rehearing of a case determined against a deceased client,[87] or take any further steps in regard to the litigation proper.[88]

Nevertheless, the death of the client does not terminate the relation or revoke the authority of the attorney where the contract of employment is by its terms to continue thereafter;[89] where the attorney is specifically retained to conduct the case to judgment or conclusion;[90] where the client does not retain the control and direction of the attorney in the performance of his services, and neither the terms of the contract not its subject matter requires the aid or presence of the client to enable the attorney to give the required services;[91] or where his authority is coupled with an interest.[92] Although a contract for a contingent fee payable out of the proceeds of the recovery has been held insufficient to give the attorney an interest for this purpose,[93] if the contract is an entire one to prosecute a claim to final adjudication for an exclusively contingent fee, the employment is not revoked by the death of the client.[94]

Notwithstanding the dissolution of a corporation client which he is representing, the attorney has the power to suggest to the court, at the proper time and place, the fact that his client has been dissolved,[95] and it has been stated generally that the courts will pass on the questions submitted and hear suggestions as to their merits from an attorney who is an officer of the court, although his client has died.[96]

The death of a third person who was responsible for the employment of the attorney does not dissolve the relation.[97]

81. Cook v. Parham, 62 Ala. 456.

82. Rundles v. Jones, 3 Ind. 35.

83. O'Brien v. Flynn, 239 N.Y.S. 59, 228 App Div. 704

84. Prior v. Kiso, 9 S.W. 898, 96 Mo. 303—6 C.J. p 675 note 99

85. Farrand v. Land, etc, Imp Co., (Wis) 86 F. 393, 30 C.C.A. 128—6 C.J. p 675 note 1

Necessity of notice of revocation to debtor before his payment of judgment to attorney see supra § 99.

86. Ala.—McDonald v. Womack, 107 So 812, 214 Ala 309

Cal.—In re Baker's Estate, 150 P. 989, 170 Cal 578.

Conn.—Hennessy v. Denihan, 149 A. 250, 110 Conn 646—Barton v New Haven, 52 A. 403, 74 Conn 729

Okl.—Huddleston v. Wallow, 246 P. 585, 117 Okl 259.

6 C.J. p 675 note 2.

Accepting service of case-made

Where a successful party in joint judgment dies before service of case-made, service on attorneys who represented him at the trial is a nullity, and case-made thereafter settled and filed confers no jurisdiction on the supreme court, where neither administrator nor heirs were brought in by proceedings to revive.—Huddleston v. Wallow, 246 P. 585, 117 Okl. 259

Motion to affirm

The death of a litigant revokes all agency of his attorney to appear for him and make motion in the appellate court to affirm in his name.—McDonald v. Womack, 107 So. 812, 214 Ala. 309.

87. Elliott v. Kern, 169 N.E. 46, 90 Ind.App 453.

88. N.Y.—In re Norwood, 32 Hun 196.

Okl.—Huddleston v. Wallow, 246 P. 585, 117 Okl. 259

Pa.—Scranton Building Association v. Ranck, 5 Pa.Co. 449.

6 C.J. p 675 note 3.

Stipulations

Attorneys for an insurance company which was dissolved by act of law had no authority to enter into any stipulations with reference to pending litigation after the act of dissolution had occurred.—In re Norwood, 32 Hun (N.Y.) 196.

89. Lewis v. Braun, 191 N.E. 56, 356 Ill. 467.

Employment to obtain transfer of stock and payment of dividends

(1) A contract authorizing an attorney to take such steps as may be necessary to obtain a transfer of stock and secure dividends due thereon, and providing that, in the event of death of the client, the attorney should thereafter take such course with reference to the stock or money as should be prescribed by will or written directions left by the client, permits the relation and authority of the attorney to continue after the death of the client.—Lewis v. Braun, 191 N.E. 56, 356 Ill. 467.

(2) The failure of the client to leave any will or written directions as mentioned in such a contract does not show an intent on the part of the client to revoke the contract or make it terminable on his death.—Lewis v. Braun, supra.

(3) Moreover, the failure of the client's wife, who has been appointed administratrix after his death, to permit the attorney to use her name in conducting litigation to obtain the stock or dividends in no way revokes the attorney's authority to act under the contract.—Lewis v Braun, supra

90. Cal.—In re Mallory's Estate, 278 P. 488, 99 Cal App 96

Ind.—Rainey v. Lafayette Loan & Trust & Co., 172 N.E. 128, 92 Ind App 344.

Tex.—Loden v. Fish, (Civ.App.) 20 S.W (2d) 208.

6 C.J. p 675 note 4.

91. Ind.—Rainey v Lafayette Loan & Trust Co, 172 N.E. 128, 92 Ind App 344.

Okl.—Spurr v. Pryor & Stokes, 230 P. 267, 104 Okl. 68.

Tex.—Loden v. Fish, (Civ.App.) 20 S.W (2d) 208.

92. Okl.—Spurr v. Pryor & Stokes, 230 P. 267, 104 Okl 68.

Pa.—Scranton Building Association v. Ranck, 5 Pa.Co. 449.

6 C.J. p 676 note 5

93. Lewis v. Canadian Pac. Ry. Co, (C.C.A.Ill.) 39 F.(2d) 834—6 C.J. p 676 note 6.

94. In re Agee's Estate, 252 P. 891, 69 Utah 130, 50 A.L.R. 641.

95. State ex rel National Surety Co. v. Superior Court of King County, (Wash.) 41 P.(2d) 133.

96. Le Baron v. Moni, 167 A. 103, 53 R.I. 385.

97. Ind.—Rainey v. Lafayette Loan & Trust Co., 172 N.E. 128, 92 Ind. App. 344.

§ 114. Dissolution of Partnership

Dissolution of a firm or partnership of lawyers does not terminate the relation and obligation of the partners to clients who have previously engaged the partnership to represent them.

The dissolution of a law firm does not terminate the relation or obligation of the partners to pre-existing firm clients, and the latter may look to either one or all of the partners for the performance of the duties growing out of the relation of attorney and client.[98] Such dissolution has reference to new business to be undertaken and does not affect engagements already made, at least so far as their clients are concerned.[99]

The client, however, is entitled to select the partner he desires to continue his suit, as long as the lien of the firm is preserved,[1] and, if the dissolution results in the formation of a new firm composed in part of the old members, the client is not bound to go on with the new firm,[2] but, in such a case, it becomes incumbent on the client to give notice of his intention to make a change, if he wishes to avoid liability for services thereafter rendered by the new firm.[3]

§ 115. Insanity

Insanity either of the client or the attorney is usually held to terminate the relation of attorney and client.

The insanity of a client operates to terminate the relation of attorney and client;[4] and the mere fact that a party becomes insane while he is indebted to the attorney who was at the time representing him with respect to his property interests does not give that attorney the right per se to appear as such for the guardian or administrator appointed who, by reason of such appointment, becomes responsible for the estate and the proper conduct of its affairs.[5] However, in the absence of any other adjudication of insanity than commitment to a hospital, there being no guardian, it has been held that the relation continues in full force as to all matters included in the original contract.[6]

Insanity of the attorney rendering him unable to perform the services required of him terminates the relation.[7]

§ 116. Termination of Controversy

In the absence of the client's acquiescence to a further continuance of the relation, the relation of attorney and client is terminated by a final termination on its merits of the controversy or litigation in which the attorney was acting, if the purpose or object of the employment is thereby completely accomplished or ended; but, if it is not, the relation may continue thereafter in so far as is necessary.

If it completely accomplishes or ends the object or purpose of the attorney's employment, the relation of attorney and client and the authority of the attorney are terminated by a final determination on its merits of the controversy or litigation in which the attorney was acting,[8] unless the client has consented to, or acquiesced in, a further continuance of the relation.[9] Hence, in particular cases the relation of attorney and client and the authority of an attorney have been held terminated by an executed compromise or settlement,[10] the reconciliation and resumption of marital relations by the parties to a divorce suit,[11] or a dismissal,[12] or a

Okl—Spurr v Pryor & Stokes, 230 P. 267, 104 Okl. 68.
6 C J p 676 note 7.

Person employing attorney for another's defense.—Spurr v Pryor & Stokes, 230 P. 267, 104 Okl. 68.

98. Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky 773
Mo—Powell v. Roberts, 92 S W. 752, 116 Mo.App 629
6 C J p 629 note 32, p 676 note 8.

Responsibility for collections after dissolution

Where a firm of attorneys took a note for collection, and obtained judgment on the note, and dissolved partnership before collecting the judgment, one member of the firm was liable to the client for the amount collected on the note after the dissolution of the partnership by the other member and converted by the latter to his own use—Powell v. Roberts, 92 S.W. 752, 116 Mo.App. 629.

Dissolution of partnership client see supra § 113.

99. Ky—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S W. 744, 180 Ky 773
Pa—McConnell v. Hall, 61 Pa Super 583.
6 C J. p 676 note 9.

1. Little v. Caldwell, 36 P 107, 101 Cal. 553, 40 Am S R. 89—6 C.J. p 676 note 10

2. McConnell v. Hall, 61 Pa Super 583.

3. McConnell v. Hall, 61 Pa Super 583—McConnell v. Hall, 61 Pa Super. 583.

4. Cal—Sullivan v. Dunne, 244 P. 343, 198 Cal 183.
Ill.—Joost v. Racher, 148 Ill App. 543.
N Y—Merritt v Merritt, 50 N.Y.S 604, 27 App Div 208.
6 C J. p 676 note 16.

5. State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 75 P 516, 30 Mont. 8.

6. McKenna v. Garvey, 77 N.E. 782, 191 Mass. 96.

7. Corson v. Lewis, 109 N.W. 735, 77 Neb. 446.

8. Ariz.—Morgan v. Krook, 283 P. 287, 36 Ariz 133
Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R I & P. Ry. Co, 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A L R 258
Tex—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ App) 225 S W. 69, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.
Utah—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L R 630.
6 C J p 673 note 66.

9. Ill—Watson v. Trinz, 274 Ill App. 379
Iowa—Orwig v. Chicago, R I & P. Ry Co, 250 N W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L R 258.

10. Dooley v. Dooley, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 306.

11. Ala—Bell v Bell, 108 So. 375, 214 Ala 573, 45 A L R. 935.
N Y.—Conklin v Conklin, 194 N.Y.S. 685, 201 App Div. 170.

12. Johnson v. Gerald, 113 So 447, 216 Ala 581, 59 A L.R. 348—Bell v. Bell, 108 So. 375, 214 Ala. 573, 45 A L.R. 935—6 C.J. p 673 note 64.

Dismissal or abandonment of suit

nonsuit.[13]

The mere determination of the controversy or litigation does not of itself, however, bring an end to the relation of attorney and client if there has not been a final determination on the merits,[14] or the purpose or object of the employment has not been completely accomplished or brought to an end.[15] Accordingly, it has been held that a dismissal of the case other than on its merits does not terminate the relation, where the attorney has been employed to attain a final adjudication on the merits.[16]

Rendition and entry of judgment. On the assumption or presumption that an attorney employed for purposes of litigation is usually employed to conduct it to judgment and no further, it has often been laid down, as a general common-law rule, that the relation of attorney and client and the authority and powers of the attorney cease or terminate on the rendition and entry of final judgment in the suit.[17] This rule, however, is usually held not to prevent the relation from continuing during the period after the judgment is rendered but before it becomes final;[18] and in actual practice or application the rule is much modified or disregarded in that it is ordinarily applied only where the judgment has the effect of fully accomplishing or ending the purpose or object of the attorney's employment.[19]

Consequently, while there is no doubt but that the rendition and entry of final judgment terminates the relationship of attorney and client and the authority of the former where the purpose or object of the employment is thereby accomplished and nothing further remains to be done,[20] it is equally well settled, as will be seen in sections 93-99 supra, that the mere rendition and entry of judgment does not of itself terminate the relation, so as to preclude the attorney from thereafter taking such steps or action as may still remain necessary to accomplish the purpose or object of the employment. As a defense attorney, generally, has no further steps to take after final judgment in order to accomplish the purpose of his employment, there are many cases which have said or held that his situation is to be distinguished from that of plaintiff's attorney, who has recovered a favorable judgment which he may enforce or collect (supra §§ 96, 99), and that the relation and authority of a defense attorney always terminates on the rendition and entry of final judgment.[21] Even the re-by client terminates the relation of attorney and client and the attorney's authority—Johnson v. Gerald, 113 So. 447, 216 Ala. 581, 59 A.L.R. 348.

13. Hoffman v. Cage, 31 Tex. 595.

14. Cal.—Carpenter v. State Bar of California, 292 P. 450, 210 Cal. 520.
Mo.—Noell v. Chicago & E. I. Ry. Co., (App.) 21 S.W.(2d) 937, certiorari denied Chicago & E. I. Ry. Co. v. Noell, 50 S.Ct. 465, 281 U.S. 766, 74 L.Ed. 1174.

15. Kan.—Todd v. Rhodes, 103 P. 894, 108 Kan. 64, 16 A.L.R. 423.
Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 208 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773.
Wis.—Hegel v. George, 259 N.W. 862, 218 Wis. 327, rehearing denied and mandate amended 261 N.W. 14, 218 Wis. 327.

16. Kan.—Todd v. Rhodes, 103 P. 894, 108 Kan. 64, 16 A.L.R. 423.
Mo.—Noell v. Chicago & E. I. Ry. Co., (App.) 21 S.W.(2d) 937, certiorari denied Chicago & E. I. Ry. Co. v. Noell, 50 S.Ct. 465, 281 U.S. 766, 74 L.Ed. 1174.

Dismissal due to neglect or illness of attorney

"If an attorney is employed to endeavor to attain a certain result and through some accident or inadvertence, or even through neglect or oversight on his part, an order is made dismissing an action brought by him for the purpose, it cannot be said that a new employment is necessary to authorize him to ask for its reinstatement."—Todd v. Rhodes, 103 P. 894, 895, 108 Kan. 64, 16 A.L.R. 423.

17. Cal.—Spencer v. Barnes, 43 P. (2d) 847, 6 Cal.App. (2d) 35.
Iowa.—Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co., 239 N.W. 697, 213 Iowa 751—Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740.
Kan.—Todd v. Rhodes, 103 P. 894, 108 Kan. 64, 16 A.L.R. 423.
Miss.—Dennis v. Jones, 31 Miss. 606.
N.Y.—Weiner v. Jones, 279 N.Y.S. 799, 245 App.Div. 17—Kalmanowitz v. Kalmanowitz, 95 N.Y.S. 627, 108 App.Div. 296—Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N.Y.S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N.Y.S. 1039, 238 App.Div. 766, affirmed 188 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696.
Ohio.—Boldt v. Baker, 13 Ohio App. 125—Reynolds v. Reynolds, 12 Ohio App. 63.
Okl.—Okmulgee Northern Ry. Co. v. Oklahoma Salvage & Supply Co., 271 P. 167, 133 Okl. 64.
S.C.—Foxworth v. Murchison Nat. Bank, 134 S.E. 428, 136 S.C. 458.
S.D.—Sohn v. Flavin, 244 N.W. 349, 60 S.D. 305.
Tex.—Rupert v. Brook Mays & Co., (Civ.App.) 299 S.W. 474—Hamilton v. Hamilton, (Civ.App.) 225 S.W. 69, dismissed for want of jurisdiction—Kentz v. Kentz, (Civ.App.) 209 S.W. 200.
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.
6 C.J. p. 652 note 30, p. 672 note 60.

18. Cal.—Carpenter v. State Bar of California, 292 P. 450, 210 Cal. 520.
Mo.—Southern Surety Co. v. Young, 198 S.W. 476, 197 Mo.App. 640.
Tex.—Kentz v. Kentz, (Civ.App.) 209 S.W. 200.

Before expiration of time for rehearing

An attorney representing plaintiff, on an appeal from a judgment in the latter's favor, continues to have authority to represent plaintiff after affirmance until such order has become final by the expiration of the time for a rehearing—Carpenter v. State Bar of California, 292 P. 450, 210 Cal. 520.

19. Ohlquist v. Nordstrom, 257 N.Y.S. 711, 143 Misc. 502, affirmed 261 N.Y.S. 1039, 238 App.Div. 766, affirmed 188 N.E. 125, 262 N.Y. 696—6 C.J. p. 652 note 31.

20. Iowa.—Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740.
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.

Divorce decree awarding custody of child terminates the employment of plaintiff's counsel, where plaintiff already has possession of the child and nothing further remains to be done to carry out the decree.—Scott v. Scott, 156 N.W. 834, 174 Iowa 740.

21. Iowa.—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258—Dugan v. Midwest Cap Co., 239 N.W. 697, 213 Iowa 751—Owen v. Smith, 136 N.W. 119, 155 Iowa 463.

lation of such an attorney, however, has been held to continue past the rendition of judgment to the extent deemed necessary to accomplish the purpose of the employment.[22]

While the authority and relation of an attorney can always be extended after final judgment with the consent or acquiescence of the client,[23] a re-employment of the attorney with respect to a different matter does not extend his relation with respect to the litigation in which final judgment has been rendered, although the subject matter of the two cases bears some apparent relation to each other.[24]

§ 117. Termination for Other Reasons

Practically any circumstance or event which puts an end to the subject matter of the employment, including a transfer or disposition thereof, or which renders it impossible for the attorney properly or ably to serve his client, terminates the relation of attorney and client.

Practically any circumstance or event which puts an end to the subject matter of the employment,[25] or which renders it impossible for the attorney properly and ably to serve his client or discharge his duties,[26] terminates the relation of attorney and client.

Accordingly, the relation has been held terminated by the transfer or disposition of the subject matter of the employment,[27] or the attorney's acquisition of an interest or position which causes his interests or duties to be adverse to, or in conflict with, the interests of the client,[28] and the attorney's permanent removal from the state also has this effect,[29] although, it seems, not without an order of substitution.[30]

§ 118. Notice to Appoint Another Attorney

Under statutory provisions to that effect, if an attorney representing a party to a pending cause dies, is disabled, or ceases to act as such, it may be necessary to give such party notice to appoint another attorney or appear in person before further proceedings can be taken in the cause.

Under statutory provisions to that effect, if an attorney representing a party to a pending cause dies, is disabled, or ceases to act as such, it may be necessary to give such party notice to appoint another attorney or else appear in person before further proceedings can be taken in the cause;[31] and if there are several parties represented by the deceased or disabled attorney, each must be notified.[32] Such statutes do not, however, embrace a case where an attorney merely withdraws or resigns, and refuses to proceed further with the litigation, as the words "ceases to act as such" do not cover such a situation;[33] and notice to appoint is clearly unnecessary where the party enters his appearance in person at the same time the attorney enters his withdrawal.[34] Also, there is no disability requiring the giving of notice to appoint another attorney simply because the insurance company which has engaged the attorney to represent insured defendant has been placed in liquidation, as the attorney is not thereby removed or relieved of his duty to continue to represent defendant.[35]

If after due notice has been given to appoint a new attorney the party neglects to do so, it has been held that notice of any subsequent proceedings in the action may properly be given such party personally.[36]

Ky.—Macpherson v. Bacon's Ex'r, 203 S.W. 744, 180 Ky. 773
Mo.—Crews v. Bogy, (App.) 285 S.W. 549
N.Y.—International Ry. Co. v. Pickarski, 186 N.Y.S. 319, 114 Misc. 349, affirmed International Ry. Co. v. Piekarski, 191 N.Y.S. 932, 199 App. Div. 953
Okl.—Okmulgee Northern Ry. Co. v. Oklahoma Salvage & Supply Co., 271 P. 167, 133 Okl. 64
Tex.—Rupert v. Brook Mays & Co., (Civ.App.) 299 S.W. 474
Utah.—Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.
6 C.J. p. 673 note 61.

22. Kissick v. Hunter, 39 A. 83, 184 Pa. 174

23. Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 253.

24. Sandall v. Sandall, 193 P. 1093, 57 Utah 150, 15 A.L.R. 620.

25. Pierson v. Lloyds First Mortg. Co., 263 N.Y.S. 611, 239 App. Div. 790—6 C.J. p. 673 note 66.

26. United States Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla. 423—6 C.J. p. 676 note 11

27. Pierson v. Lloyds First Mortg. Co., 263 N.Y.S. 611, 239 App. Div. 790—6 C.J. p. 655 note 63, p. 673 notes 67, 68

Appointment of a receiver for a judgment creditor appearing of record revokes the power and authority of the creditor's attorney of record to satisfy the judgment.—Pierson v. Lloyds First Mortg. Co., 263 N.Y.S. 611, 239 App. Div. 790.

28. Fla.—United States Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla. 423.
Mo.—State v. Bersch, 207 S.W. 809, 276 Mo. 397.
6 C.J. p. 676 note 13.

29. Hommedieu v. Stowell, 18 Abb. Pr. (N.Y.) 336—6 C.J. p. 676 note 14.

30. Faughnan v. Elizabeth, 33 A. 212, 58 N.J.Law 309

31. Cal.—Unwin v. Barstow-San Antonio Oil Co., 172 P. 622, 36 Cal. App. 503
N.Y.—Heller v. Alter, 255 N.Y.S. 627, 143 Misc. 10, reversed on other grounds 257 N.Y.S. 391, 143 Misc. 783
6 C.J. p. 676 note 20

32. Hickox v. Weaver, 15 Hun (N.Y.) 375.

33. Cal.—De Recat Corporation v. Dunn, 242 P. 936, 42 A.L.R. 1343, 197 Cal. 787
Utah.—Van Cott v. Wall, 178 P. 42, 53 Utah 282.
Wash.—McInnes v. Sutton, 77 P. 736, 35 Wash. 384.
6 C.J. p. 676 note 22.

34. Unwin v. Barstow-San Antonio Oil Co., 172 P. 622, 36 Cal. App. 503.

35. Heller v. Alter, 257 N.Y.S. 391, 143 Misc. 783, reversing 255 N.Y.S. 627, 143 Misc. 10

36. Hoffman v. Rowley, 13 Abb. Pr. (N.Y.) 399.

F. CHANGE AND SUBSTITUTION OF ATTORNEYS

§ 119. Right to Change Attorney

The client ordinarily has the right to make a change or substitution of attorneys at any stage of the proceedings, unless it will unduly prejudice the other party or interfere with the administration of justice, and, where the attorney has become deceased or disabled, it may be his duty to do so.

The right of a client at any time to discharge an attorney so as to revoke his authority and terminate the relation (see supra § 109) includes the right to make a change or substitution of attorneys at any stage of the proceedings,[37] either with,[38] or without,[39] cause, and although the client may have been improperly influenced in taking the action by the attorney whom he wishes to substitute.[40] This right, however, is not so absolute that its exercise may not be denied where it will unduly prejudice the other party or interfere with the administration of justice.[41]

On the death, withdrawal, or discharge of his attorney of record a litigant must promptly engage another unless excused therefrom by ignorance of the facts requiring it, in which case he must act promptly on discovery of the facts.[42]

As shown in § 109, supra, a contingent fee contract ordinarily does not prevent a client from discharging the attorney in order to substitute a new one; and even where there is a statute mak-

37. In re Hardenberg's Estate, (Cal) 57 P.(2d) 914—Cassetta v Del Frate, 2 P.(2d) 533, 116 Cal. App 255.

After briefs are on file and case is ready for calendar.—In re Hardenberg's Estate, (Cal) 57 P.(2d) 914.

38. U.S.—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co., (C C A N Y.) 69 F.(2d) 49—Woodbury v Andrew Jergens Co, (D C N.Y.) 37 F (2d) 749.
Cal.—In re Scott, 271 P. 906, 205 Cal. 525—Kirk v. Culley, 261 P. 994, 202 Cal 501.
Fla.—Wilhelm v South Indian River Co, 124 So 729, 98 Fla 970—U S. Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla 423.
Ill.—Conlan v Sullivan, 280 Ill App. 332—Regan v. Chicago, M. & St P. Ry Co, 204 Ill App 115.
Ky.—Hubbard v. Goffinet, 70 S W. (2d) 671, 253 Ky. 779—Bright v. Turner, 265 S W. 627, 205 Ky 188—Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S.W. 258, 186 Ky. 713
Minn.—Lawler v. Dunn, 176 N.W. 989, 145 Minn 281.
Mo.—Allen v. Fewel, 87 S.W.(2d) 142.
N Y.—Matter of Lydig's Will, 187 N. E 298, 262 N Y. 408—Application of Krooks, 178 N.E. 548, 257 N.Y. 329—Robinson v. Rogers, 143 N E. 647, 237 N.Y. 467—Martin v. Camp, 114 N E. 46, 219 N.Y. 170, L R A. 1917F 402—McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N Y S. 181, 238 App Div. 225, affirmed 187 N.E. 691, 263 N.Y. 548—Lynn v. Agnew, 166 N.Y S. 274, 179 App Div 305—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y S 637, 152 Misc. 50—Lewy v Union Ry. Co. of New York City, 272 N.Y.S. 123, 151 Misc. 724—In re Makames, 265 N Y S. 511, 148 Misc. 759, reversed on other grounds 265 N.Y S. 515, 238 App Div. 534—In re Driscoll, 228 N Y.S 335, 131 Misc. 613—Title Guaranty & Trust Co. v Uniform Fibrous Talc Co, 215 N Y S 437, 127 Misc 183—Friedman v Mindlin, 155 N.Y.S 295, 91 Misc. 473.
Or.—Teiser v. Barlow, 192 P. 394, 97 Or. 410.
R I.—Lake v Winfield Fuller Co, 173 A. 119, 54 R I. 358
Tenn.—Spofford v. Rose, 237 S W. 68, 145 Tenn. 583.
Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v Madson, 231 N W. 170, 201 Wis 609, 70 A.L R 832.
6 C.J. p 676 note 24.

39. U.S.—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N Y.) 61 F (2d) 736, certiorari denied Berenson v. Woodbury, 52 S Ct. 659, 289 U.S. 740, 77 L Ed. 1487—Cooper v. McNair, (D C.Fla.) 49 F (2d) 778—Binsfield v. Johnson, (D C Mont.) 6 F Supp 29—Everett, Clarke & Benedict v. Alpha Portland Cement Co., (N Y.) 225 F. 931, 141 C C.A. 55
Ark.—Johnson v. Missouri Pac R. Co., 233 S W 699, 149 Ark. 418—St. L, I M & S. Ry Co. v. Hays & Ward, 195 S.W. 28, 128 Ark 471—St. L, I M. & S Ry. Co. v. Blaycock, 175 S W. 1170, 117 Ark 504, Ann.Cas 1917A 563
Cal.—O'Connell v. Superior Court in and for City and County of San Francisco, 41 P (2d) 334, 2 Cal (2d) 418, 97 A.L R. 918—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P (2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712—Scott v. Superior Court, 271 P. 906, 205 Cal. 525—Kelly v Smith, 268 P. 1057, 204 Cal. 496—Kirk v Culley, 261 P. 994, 202 Cal 501—Todd v. Superior Court, 184 P. 684, 181 Cal 406, 7 A.L R 933—Gill v. Southern Pac. Co, 161 P. 1153, 174 Cal. 84—Casseta v. Del Frate, 298 P. 55, 113 Cal App 297—Atchison v. Hulse, 290 P 916, 107 Cal App. 640—McKelley v. Turner, 273 P. 1101, 96 Cal App. 292—McMunn v. Lehrke, 155 P 473, 29 Cal.App 298.
Fla.—United States Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla 423.
Ill.—Conlan v Sullivan, 280 Ill App. 332—Regan v. Chicago, M & St. P. Ry. Co, 204 Ill App. 115
Ky.—Hubbard v Goffinet, 70 S.W. (2d) 671, 253 Ky 779—Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S W 258, 186 Ky 713
Minn.—Lawler v. Dunn, 176 N.W. 989, 145 Minn 281.
Mo.—Anderson v. Taylor, 227 S.W. 84.
N Y.—In re Weitling, 194 N E 401, 266 N Y. 134, reversing 275 N Y. S. 973, 242 App Div. 823—Matter of Lydig's Will, 187 N.E 298, 262 N Y. 408—McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y S 181, 238 App Div. 225, affirmed 187 N E 691, 263 N Y. 548—In re Liebergall, 178 N Y.S. 857, 189 App Div. 681—Lynn v. Agnew, 166 N.Y S 274, 179 App.Div. 305—In re Montgomery's Estate, 282 N. Y S. 741, 156 Misc. 583—In re Dix's Estate, 259 N Y.S 449, 144 Misc. 494—Title Guaranty & Trust Co. v. Uniform Fibrous Talc Co., 215 N Y S. 437, 127 Misc 183—Friedman v Mindlin, 155 N Y S 295, 91 Misc 473—Hoffman v. New York & Queens Electric Light & Power Co, 286 N.Y S. 685—In re Timmerscheidt's Estate, 180 N.Y S. 269.
Okl.—White v. American Law Book Co, 233 P 426, 106 Okl. 166
Tenn.—Spofford v. Rose, 237 S W. 68, 145 Tenn. 583.
Wis.—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L R 832.
6 C.J. p 677 note 25.

40. In re Hardenberg's Estate, (Cal) 57 P (2d) 914.

41. U S.—Binsfield v. Johnson, (D C. Mont) 6 F Supp 29
Cal.—Flynn v. Fink, 213 P. 716, 60 Cal App 670

Where change would require continuance

Litigants have not an absolute right to insist on a change of counsel where such a change requires a continuance in order that the case may be properly prepared for trial. —Flynn v. Fink, 213 P. 716, 60 Cal. App. 670.

42. Davis v. Cox, (Tex Civ App.) 4 S W (2d) 1003.

ing it lawful to enter into a contract giving the attorney an interest in the subject matter of the suit as his fee and providing that neither party shall compromise or dispose of the suit without the consent of the other, such a contract does not prevent the client from employing a new attorney to prosecute the suit where the original attorney dies or fails or refuses to act.[43]

§ 120. Consent of Attorney and Client

A change or substitution of attorneys can be effected by the mutual consent of both attorney and client; but the consent of the client is always necessary.

Where both the attorney and client have consented to a substitution or change of attorneys, the change can be effected without a formal adjudication by a record entry or order showing the consent and substitution,[44] particularly where a statute provides that an attorney may be changed on consent of both client and attorney filed with the clerk or entered on the minutes,[45] and for many purposes the substitution and appointment of a new attorney has been regarded as complete and effective from the date the parties actually consented thereto, although it was not filed of record until some subsequent time.[46]

A change or substitution of attorneys can be made only with the consent of the client;[47] and if the attorney has been engaged to represent several clients or parties they all must acquiesce or consent in order to effect the change,[48] even if it is sought only to the extent of having a new attorney to represent the interests of the one party who desires it.[49] It has also been held that, after a client has assigned his interest in the subject matter, he cannot obtain a change of attorneys against the wishes and opposition of his assignee;[50] and, after the real party in interest has been substituted in place of the person who originally commenced the action, the latter has been held not entitled to a substitution of the attorney employed by him;[51] but the original client has been held entitled to make a substitution, notwithstanding its resistance by a person claiming to be the assignee of the interests of such party, where there is a controversy as to such assignment.[52]

§ 121. Application and Order of Court

Although an order of substitution is unnecessary where the attorney has not appeared in a cause pending in court, or the new attorney is appointed for a new or different proceeding independent from that for which the original attorney was employed, ordinarily, if the substitution of an attorney of record in a pending cause, for the purpose of further proceedings therein, cannot be accomplished by consent, application must be made to the court and a formal order of substitution obtained.

Although a court order is neither necessary nor proper where there is no court proceeding pending in which the attorney appears as attorney of record,[53] ordinarily, if the parties do not consent thereto, a change or substitution of an attorney of record in a pending cause can be fully and effectually accomplished for all purposes only by an order of substitution obtained on proper application to the court in which the proceeding is pending;[54] and notice to the original attorney that he has been discharged and another been appointed is not, without a court order, sufficient to remove the old, and substitute the new, attorney as attorney of record.[55] This rule is not an absolute one, however, and the necessity for a formal substitution may be dispensed with, where the authority of the new attorney has been recognized by all concerned and he has been

43. Nix v. Lancaster & Wight, 3 La. App 402.

44. U S—In re Goldstein, (C C A N Y) 43 F (2d) 698, certiorari denied Goldstein v Klayes, 75 L Ed 776
Fla—Wilhelm v. South Indian River Co, 124 So. 729, 98 Fla. 970
6 C J p 678 note 37.

45. Sedarovich v. Paul, (Cal App.) 60 P.(2d) 371—6 C J. p 678 note 37 [a].

46. Sedarovich v. Paul, supra.

47. Jacobson v. Ashkinase, 168 N E 647, 337 Ill. 141, reversing 249 Ill. App. 479—6 C.J. p 677 note 30.

48. Cal.—Scott v. Donahue, 269 P. 774, 93 Cal App. 256
N Y—Chappotin v Corcoran Realty Co, 165 N.Y.S 734.
6 C J p 677 note 31.

49. Chappotin v. Corcoran Realty Co., supra.

50. Scott v. Donahue, 269 P. 774, 93 Cal App 256.

51. Fratessa v. Superior Court in and for Los Angeles County, 13 P. (2d) 544, 125 Cal App. 372.

52. Spofford v. Rose, 237 S.W 68, 145 Tenn. 583—6 C J. p 677 note 26.

53. In re Liebergall, 178 N Y S 857, 189 App Div. 681—In re Dix' Estate, 259 N Y S. 449, 144 Misc 494—In re Mandelkorn's Estate, 165 N. Y.S. 404, 99 Misc 168.

54. U S—U. S v McMurtry, (D.C. N Y) 24 F.(2d) 145—The Flush, (C C A.N.Y) 277 F 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S.Ct. 184, 257 U.S 657, 66 L Ed. 421.
D C—Kellogg v Winchell, 51 App.D C. 17, 273 F. 745, 16 A.L R. 1159
Wash—State v. Superior Court for Pierce County, 7 P.(2d) 604, 166 Wash. 502.
Wis—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v Madson, 231 N.W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L.R. 332.
6 C J. p 678 note 39

Appearance by new attorney without order unethical.—State v Superior Court for Pierce County, 7 P. (2d) 604, 166 Wash. 502.

Reason for rule
"An order of court is requisite . . . because of the great confusion which would arise from permitting a party to change his attorney at will, so that the court could never know when the cause was legitimately before it."—U. S. v. McMurtry, (D.C N.Y.) 24 F.(2d) 145, 146.

55. U.S.—U. S. v. McMurtry, supra.
Wash—State v. Superior Court for Pierce County, 7 P.(2d) 604, 166 Wash 502.
6 C.J. p 678 note 40.

permitted to appear without objection,[56] or where the attorney of record has abandoned the case[57] or become unable to act;[58] and for the purpose of binding the parties, the authority of the old attorney is often treated as terminated, and that of the new attorney as commencing, before a formal substitution has been effected.[59]

An application for a substitution of attorneys is properly made by way of motion on behalf of the client.[60] However, the attorney himself may make such a motion where he has been notified of his discharge by the client but the latter has failed to follow his notice by a motion for substitution;[61] and where the attorney who has appeared for a party is legally incapacitated to do so, but the appearance is not void, the court of its own motion may compel a substitution of attorneys.[62]

While an attorney of record who has abandoned the case need not be notified of the substitution of a new attorney,[63] a party making application for an order substituting an attorney must, ordinarily, give notice thereof to his attorney of record,[64] although no special method of giving notice is required as long as a reasonable notice is given,[65] and the necessity for such notice may be waived by the original attorney's presence and participation in the proceedings on the motion for substitution.[66] The attorney of record is the only one who can object to the substitution because of lack of notice, and the party himself cannot avoid responsibility for the acts of his new attorney on the ground that the original attorney was not notified of the motion for substitution.[67]

Where proper application has been made and notice given, the application is, ordinarily, allowed and a substitution ordered as a matter of course,[68] unless it appears that some good reason exists which justifies the court in refusing to make the order.[69] Mere delay resulting in no prejudice to the attorney is not such laches as precludes the client from obtaining an order of substitution.[70]

Court entitled to order change. An order substituting one attorney for another is merely an incident in the progress of a cause, and no such order can be made by a court in which no cause or proceeding is pending to which such order can relate;[71] but, where there is pending in the court a proceeding which is a mere continuation of another proceeding, the court may properly entitle an order of substitution in the prior proceeding.[72] If an appellate proceeding is pending, the appellate court is the proper forum in which to obtain an order of substitution for the purposes of the proceedings in that court;[73] but if the substitution relates to matters not involved in the appeal, the order must be sought from the court in which such matters are pending,[74] and the appellate court may deny a motion for substitution without prejudice to its renewal in the trial court, where the cause is to be reversed and the matter can better be determined in the court below.[75] Also, it has been

56. U S—In re Goldstein, (C C A. N.Y.) 43 F (2d) 698, certiorari denied Goldstein v. Klayes, 51 S.Ct 83, 282 U S 879, 75 L Ed 776
Cal—In re Morgan's Estate, 271 P 762, 94 Cal.App 617.
N Y—Doerle v. Doerle, 159 N.Y.S. 637, 96 Misc. 72

57. Corbin v. Howard, 215 P. 920, 61 Cal App 715.

58. Wilhelm v. South Indian River Co, 124 So 729, 98 Fla 970

59. In re Goldstein, (C.C A N Y.) 43 F (2d) 698, certiorari denied Goldstein v. Klayes, 51 S Ct 83, 282 U S. 879, 75 L Ed. 776—6 C.J p 678 note 41

60. U.S—John Griffiths & Son Co. v. U S, (C C A Ill) 72 F (2d) 466
N Y—In re Ajello's Estate, 175 N Y S 729
6 C.J p 679 note 52.

61. U S v McMurtry, (D.C N Y.) 24 F (2d) 145

62. Ledwith v. Rosalsky, 155 N E 688, 244 N Y. 406, reversing 216 N Y S 411, 217 App Div. 749, motion denied 157 N E 858, 245 N.Y. 563.

63. Corbin v Howard, 215 P 920, 61 Cal App 715.

64. U S—John Griffiths & Son Co v. U. S, (C C A.Ill) 72 F (2d) 466
Cal—Gill v. Southern Pac. Co., 161 P 1153, 174 Cal 84
Wash—State v. Superior Court for Pierce County, 7 P.(2d) 604, 166 Wash 502
6 C J p 679 note 53.

65. Schultheis v. Nash, 67 P. 707, 27 Wash. 250.

66. People v Sherwin, 188 N E 484, 354 Ill 371.

67. Gill v Southern Pac Co, 161 P 1153, 174 Cal 84.

68. D C—Kellogg v. Winchell, 51 App D C. 17, 273 F 745, 16 A.L.R 1159
Ky—Gordon v Morrow, 218 S.W 258, 186 Ky 713
N Y—Bailey v. Coventry, 224 N.Y.S. 17, 130 Misc 269
Wis—Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A L R 832.
6 C J. p 677 note 28.

69. U S—Tuppela v Mathison, (C C A Alaska) 291 F 728.

Cal.—Flynn v Fink, 213 P 716, 60 Cal App. 670.
Tenn—Spofford v. Rose, 237 S W 68, 145 Tenn 583
6 C.J p 677 note 29.

70. In re Scott, 271 P 906, 205 Cal 525.

71. Cal—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P.(2d) 1069, 1 Cal (2d) 712
N Y—People v Price, 187 N E 298, 262 N Y 410—In re Cilento's Estate, 268 N Y S. 714, 149 Misc 547—In re Dix' Estate, 259 N Y S 449, 144 Misc 494—In re Mandelkorn's Estate, 165 N.Y S 404, 99 Misc 168.
6 C J. p 678 note 42—15 C.J. p 1018 26 [a].

72. In re Brown, 165 N Y S 736, 178 App Div. 558

73. Cal—In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P (2d) 1069, 1 Cal (2d) 712—Jacobus v. Jacobus, 282 P. 796, 208 Cal. 562.
N Y—People v. Price, 187 N E 298, 262 N Y. 410

74. In re Casaurang's Estate, 36 P. (2d) 1069, 1 Cal.(2d) 712

75. Whitten v. Dabney, 154 P. 812, 171 Cal. 621.

held that an order to compel the attorney to turn over papers to the substituted attorney must be made in the court of original jurisdiction rather than in the appellate court.[76]

Independent and subsequent proceedings. No order of substitution is necessary to entitle the client to engage a new or different attorney for an action or proceeding which is entirely independent and separate from one for which the original attorney was employed;[77] and after the proceeding for which the original attorney was employed has terminated, resulting in a termination of his authority (supra § 116), the client may engage or appoint a new attorney for independent or subsequent proceedings without obtaining an order of substitution.[78] Consequently, where the authority of an attorney of record in the original suit terminates with the judgment, it is often held that the requirement of a formal substitution of attorneys applies only to changes and substitutions made before, and not to those made after, judgment,[79] and, therefore, that a party may employ a new attorney to issue execution on a judgment, or to take any other proceedings for its enforcement, without a formal substitution of attorney.[80] It has also been said that, as a scire facias is a new action requiring a new warrant of attorney, if an attorney different from the one in the original suit issues it, a rule and notice to change the attorney are not necessary.[81]

Appellate proceedings are often regarded as new proceedings entitling a new attorney to appear therein without a formal order of substitution,[82] but there are a few cases which appear to be the other way;[83] and if the original attorney has taken an appeal in accordance with his authority to do so, he cannot be changed in the appellate court without an order of substitution.[84] Moreover, although a party may be entitled to take appellate proceedings by a new attorney without an order of substitution, it is proper and the better practice to have such an order made to avoid uncertainty.[85]

Reconsideration of motion. After a motion for substitution has been granted, it cannot be reconsidered by a judge other than the one who granted it,[86] but, if the judge who granted the order has subsequently resigned, he himself cannot reconsider it.[87]

Withdrawal of application. A party may, without an order of court, withdraw a motion to substitute attorneys where he offers the opposite party his costs.[88] This is said to be true, although the application for substitution has been referred, and a report has been made by the referee that a certain amount is due,[89] but the contrary has also been held;[90] and it has been held that the trial court may, in its discretion, refuse to permit the withdrawal of an application for substitution.[91]

§ 122. Terms, Compensation and Lien

Although the order of substitution may be granted absolutely, particularly if the attorney has been guilty of misconduct, and it may contain a provision requiring the delivery of papers and property of the client to the latter or the substitute attorney, the court may in its discretion subject the grant of the order to proper terms and conditions where necessary to protect the interests of an attorney who has been guilty of no misconduct.

Under proper circumstances, the court may, in its discretion, make the grant of an order of substitution subject to such terms and conditions as are reasonable and just;[92] but if the attorney has no lien or claim for services, the client is, ordinarily, entitled to an absolute order of substitution at will;[93] and even where the attorney has a lien or a claim for fees or expenses, an unconditional substitution may be directed if the application for sub-

76. In re Lydig's Will, 187 N.E. 295, 262 N.Y. 403.

77. Hastings v. Hastings, 233 N.Y.S. 179, 225 App.Div. 897

78. In re Mandelkorn's Estate, 165 N.Y.S. 404, 99 Misc. 163—6 C.J. p 678 note 45.

79. Title Guaranty & Trust Co. v. Uniform Fibrous Talc Co., 215 N.Y.S. 437, 127 Misc. 183—6 C.J. p 679 note 46.

Void judgment
This is true, even though the entry of judgment is void—Ward v. Sands, 10 Abb.N.Cas.(N.Y.) 60.

80. State v. Gulick, 17 N.J.Law 435—6 C.J. p 679 note 47.

81. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N.W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L.R. 332—6 C.J. p 679 note 51.

82. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, supra—6 C.J. p 679 note 50

83. Shuler v. Maxwell, 38 Hun 240, appeal dismissed 101 N.Y. 657—6 C.J. p 679 note 49

84. Kellogg v. Winchell, 51 App.D.C. 17, 273 F. 745, 16 A.L.R. 1159

85. Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland v. Madson, 231 N.W. 170, 201 Wis. 609, 70 A.L.R. 332.

86. Dinkin v. Stern, 265 N.Y.S. 133, 147 Misc. 827

87. Dinkin v. Stern, supra.

88. Simers v. Great Eastern Clay Products Co., 143 N.Y.S. 1020, 82 Misc. 422.

89. Gardiner v. Tyler, 36 How.Pr. (N.Y.) 63, affirmed 5 Abb.Pr.(N.S.) 33

90. Matter of Davis, 7 Daly (N.Y.) 1.

91. Hudson v. Brown, 35 P.(2d) 756, 179 Wash. 32

92. U.S.—U.S. v. McMurtry, (D.C.N.Y.) 24 F.(2d) 145
D.C.—Kellogg v. Winchell, 51 App.D.C. 17, 273 F. 745, 16 A.L.R. 1159
N.Y.—Robinson v. Rogers, 143 N.E. 647, 237 N.Y. 467, reversing Robinson v. Ferguson, 201 N.Y.S. 941, 207 App.Div. 802, and motion denied Robinson v. Rodgers, 143 N.E. 728, 237 N.Y. 525
6 C.J. p 679 note 53.

93. In re Exposition Catering Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 285 F. 333.

stitution is based on misconduct of the attorney which justifies the client in discharging him.[94] Where both parties are to blame the discretion lodged in the court is even greater.[95] If, however, the attorney has a lien or a claim for fees or expenses, and the client brings no charges of misconduct against the attorney, but merely elects to exercise his absolute right to have a substitution, the court, before granting the substitution, may and should impose such terms and conditions as justice requires to protect the attorney.[96] Under such circumstances, it is usually regarded as necessary and proper that the substitution be conditioned on some adequate and proper provision for the payment or securing of the displaced attorney's fees[97] or expenses,[98] or the preservation of any lien to which he may be entitled,[99] even though the lien is for a general balance of account for services rendered in other cases as well as the one in which the substitution is sought.[1]

If payment of fees is impossible in any given case, it will not be required,[2] but this fact must be shown by the party moving the discharge and substitution, and then it should appear that justice to the client or attorney demands the change.[3]

Surrender or delivery of client's papers or property. Although the order of substitution may and should include an order for delivery of the pleadings and papers in the case to the substituted attorneys, if the displaced attorney is thereby protected in his rights,[4] yet, if the retaining lien of the orig-

94. U S —The Flush, (C C A N Y) 277 F 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S. Ct. 184, 257 U.S 657, 66 L.Ed 421.
N.Y —Matter of Dunn, 98 N E 914, 205 N Y. 398, Ann Cas 1913E 536—Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc, 277 N.Y.S. 810, 154 Misc. 555
6 C J. p 679 note 59

95. Tuck v. Manning, 6 N.Y.S 140, 53 Hun 455, 17 N Y Civ Proc 175

96. U.S —Woodbury v Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N.Y.) 69 F (2d) 49 —Cooper v McNair, (D C Fla) 49 F.(2d) 778—U S v McMurtry, (D C N Y) 24 F (2d) 145—The Flush, (C C.A N Y) 277 F 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S Ct. 184, 257 U.S 657, 66 L.Ed 421—Everett, Clarke & Benedict v. Alpha Portland Cement Co., (N.Y.) 225 F. 931, 141 C C.A. 55.
D C —Kellogg v. Winchell, 51 App D C 17, 273 F. 745, 16 A.L R. 1159.
Ky.—Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S W. 258, 186 Ky 713.
N J —Marshall v. Romano, 158 A. 751, 10 N.J Misc 113.
N Y —Title Guaranty & Trust Co v. Uniform Fibrous Talc Co., 215 N. Y S. 437, 127 Misc. 183—Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N.Y.S 295, 91 Misc 473—In re Timmerscheidt's Estate, 180 N.Y.S 269.
Wash.—Hudson v. Brown, 35 P.(2d) 756, 179 Wash 32.
6 C.J. p 680 note 60

97. U S —John Griffith & Son Co. v. U S., (C C A Ill) 72 F (2d) 466—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co., (C C A N Y) 69 F.(2d) 49—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co, (D C. N Y) 37 F (2d) 749—U S v. McMurtry, (D C N Y) 24 F (2d) 145 —U. S. v 1,572 Cases of Liquor, (D C N.Y) 9 F Supp. 862—Everett, Clarke & Benedict v. Alpha Portland Cement Co., (N.Y.) 225 F. 931, 141 C C A 55
D C.—Kellogg v. Winchell, 51 App. D.C. 17, 273 F. 745, 16 A.L.R 1159.
Fla —Vosges Syndicate v. Everglades Club Co, 164 So. 881.
Ky —Gordon v. Morrow, 218 S W. 258, 186 Ky 713.
Mich —Horvath v. Vasvary, 224 N.W. 365, 246 Mich 231—Kellogg v. Reid, 200 N W. 976, 229 Mich 150.
N.Y —In re Weitling, 194 N.E 401, 266 N.Y. 184, reversing 275 N Y S 973, 242 App Div. 822—Application of Krooks, 178 N E 548, 257 N Y. 329, reversing In re Krooks, 245 N. Y S 773, 230 App Div. 836—Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc, 277 N Y S. 810, 154 Misc. 555—Bloom v Irving Trust Co., 272 N Y. S 637, 152 Misc 50
Tenn —Spofford v. Rose, 237 S.W. 68, 145 Tenn 533.
6 C J. p 680 note 61.

Provision for present payment of contingent fee improper

Where the attorney was employed on a contingent fee basis, he is not entitled to an order directing present payment, but only to an order that he shall be entitled to a lien on the proceeds of the action, and to payment therefrom, in an amount equal to the reasonable value of his services as of the date he was superseded by the new attorney —Bernstein v Suchoff, 274 N.Y.S. 586, 242 App. Div. 784—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co., 272 N.Y.S. 637, 152 Misc. 50.

98. U S.—The Flush, (C.C.A N Y) 277 F. 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S. Ct 184, 257 U S. 657, 66 L Ed 421 —Everett, Clarke & Benedict v Alpha Portland Cement Co, (N Y) 225 F 931, 141 C C A 55
N.Y —Hofmann v. New York & Queens Electric Light & Power Co, 286 N Y S 685
6 C J p 680 note 62.

99. U S —Cooper v. McNair, (D C. Fla) 49 F (2d) 778—The Flush, (C C A N Y.) 277 F. 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S Ct. 184, 257 U S. 657, 66 L Ed. 421—Everett, Clark & Benedict v Alpha Portland Cement Co, (N Y) 225 F 931, 141 C C.A. 55.
Ky —Hubbard v. Goffinett, 70 S W. (2d) 671.
Mich —Horvath v. Vasvary, 224 N.W. 365, 246 Mich 231
N Y —Bernstein v Suchoff, 274 N Y. S 586, 242 App Div 784—Robinson v Rogers, 257 N Y S 737, 236 App Div 1, motion denied 258 N Y S 1022, 236 App Div 782—In re Liebergall, 178 N Y S 857, 189 App. Div 681—Lewy v. Union Ry. Co. of New York City, 272 N Y S 123, 151 Misc. 724—Progressive Merchants' Co v. Elkat Realty Co., 244 N Y S 17, 136 Misc 682—Hofmann v. New York & Queens Electric Light & Power Co, 286 N Y.S. 685 —In re Timmerscheidt's Estate, 180 N Y S. 269—In re Ajello's Estate, 175 N Y S. 729.
6 C.J. p 678 note 44, p 680 note 63.

Attorney's failure to object to substitution

Only if the attorney objects to substitution will the court impress a lien in his favor, and, if the attorney does not object to substitution but objects to having the value of his services determined on a motion to substitute, the motion will be granted and the attorney's lien will be regarded as waived —In re Ajello's Estate, 175 N Y.S 729.

1. Hudson v. Brown, 35 P (2d) 756, 179 Wash. 32.

2. Bryant v Brooklyn Heights R. Co, 72 N.Y S 308, 64 App Div. 542.

3. Curtis v. Richards, 40 P. 57, 4 Idaho 434, 95 Am S R. 134.

4. N.J —Marshall v. Romano, 158 A. 751, 10 N J Misc. 113.
N Y —Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc, 277 N.Y S 810, 154 Misc. 555—Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N. Y.S 295, 91 Misc 473—Hofmann v. New York & Queens Electric Light & Power Co., 286 N.Y.S 685.
6 C.J. p 678 note 43.

inal attorney on the papers, pleadings, and property of the client is not properly satisfied or preserved and he is guilty of no misconduct, he is under no obligation, and cannot be required, to surrender them to the client or substitute attorney;[5] nor can the order of substitution properly provide for the inspection of such papers by the substitute attorney while they are in the hands of the original attorney.[6] An appellate court, in which an order for the surrender of property or papers cannot properly be made, may make an order of substitution without prejudice to, or interference with, any lien the attorney may have on the property or papers of his client.[7]

Determination of issues and fixing compensation or lien. Although, where the attorney objects thereto, the validity of a power of attorney and assignment to the attorney will not be determined on motion for the substitution of attorneys,[8] ordinarily, if, on a motion for the substitution of attorneys, a dispute or issue is raised as to facts which are essential to an ascertainment of what terms or conditions, if any, shall be imposed on the granting of the order, the court itself may determine such facts in a summary manner.[9]

Hence, if the fact of the attorney's misconduct is in dispute, the court may determine the matter in the proceedings for substitution.[10] However, if the charges made by the client in an affidavit filed in support of his motion are denied in detail by the attorney, the issue should not be determined on conflicting affidavits alone, but the witnesses should be produced in court;[11] and, if this is not done, a finding of misconduct as a basis for compelling the attorney to surrender papers and property of the client without satisfaction or security for his lien is unjustified.[12]

Similarly, where the amount due the original attorneys is disputed, or the existence of their lien is controverted, the court may determine these issues in a summary manner,[13] or a reference to determine the amount may be ordered;[14] and the aid of a jury is not necessary, nor can it be demanded as a matter of right.[15] Not only may the court determine the amount due for services rendered in the action in which the substitution is sought, but, if it is sought to have the attorney surrender papers on which he has a general retaining lien for all services rendered, the court may fix the amount due for any services in other proceedings or matters and require its payment before the papers are surrendered.[16] However, the court has no power to fix the fees of an attorney for a receiver and order their payment, where the substitution is sought in private litigation other than the equity receivership proceedings.[17]

The substitution may be made before the fees are determined and paid, if proper provision is made for their subsequent ascertainment and the enforcement of payment when ascertained;[18] and if the attorney, after notice, has failed to appear at the hearing on the motion for substitution, the grant of the motion without fixing the attorney's fees is not error, if the court retains jurisdiction of the matter and eventually determines the attorney's

5. In re Weitling, 194 N.E. 401, 266 N.Y. 184, reversing 275 N.Y.S. 973, 242 App.Div. 823—Robinson v. Rogers, 143 N.E. 647, 237 N.Y. 467—Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc., 277 N.Y.S. 810, 154 Misc. 555—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co., 272 N.Y.S. 637, 152 Misc. 50—In re Makames, 265 N.Y.S. 511, 148 Misc. 759, reversing 265 N.Y.S. 515, 238 App.Div. 534—In re Ackerman's Estate, 166 N.Y.S. 1080—6 C.J. p. 680 note 64.

Insufficient security or preservation

(1) An attorney's lien on papers in his possession is not sufficiently protected by an order giving him a lien on the proceeds of the litigation, if any.—The Flush, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 277 F. 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S.Ct. 184, 257 U.S. 657, 66 L.Ed. 421—In re Makames, 265 N.Y.S. 515, 238 App.Div. 534, reversing 265 N.Y.S. 511, 148 Misc. 759.

(2) If the attorney has a retaining lien for services in other causes as well as the one in which the substitution is sought, he cannot be ordered to deliver up papers on which he has a retaining lien for all his charges on receiving security for only his charges in the particular action in which the substitution is made.—Robinson v. Rogers, 143 N.E. 647, 237 N.Y. 467.

6. The Flush, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 277 F. 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v. Thompson, 42 S.Ct. 184, 257 U.S. 657, 66 L.Ed. 421.

7. In re Lydig's Will, 187 N.E. 293, 262 N.Y. 403.

8. In re Ajello's Estate, 175 N.Y.S. 729.

9. Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 69 F.(2d) 49.

10. Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co., supra.

11. In re Weitling, 194 N.E. 401, 266 N.Y. 184, reversing 275 N.Y.S. 973, 242 App.Div. 823.

12. In re Weitling, supra.

13. U.S.—John Griffiths & Son Co. v. U. S., (C.C.A.Ill.) 72 F.(2d) 466.

Mich.—Horvath v. Vasvary, 224 N.W. 365, 246 Mich. 231.

N.Y.—Yocus v. Southern Pac. Co., 199 N.Y.S. 116, 120 Misc. 554, affirmed 201 N.Y.S. 959, 207 App.Div. 836, and 202 N.Y.S. 959, 208 App.Div. 709.

Wash.—State ex rel. W. W. Robinson Co. v. Gilliam, 161 P. 1194, 94 Wash. 243.

6 C.J. p. 680 note 63.

14. U.S.—U. S. v. 1572 Cases of Liquor, (D.C.N.Y.) 9 F.Supp. 863.

N.Y.—In re Ackerman's Estate, 166 N.Y.S. 1080.

6 C.J. p. 681 note 69.

15. Yuengling v. Betz, 68 N.Y.S. 574, 58 App.Div. 8.

16. Hudson v. Brown, 35 P.(2d) 756, 179 Wash. 32.

17. Klein v. Acco Products, (D.C. N.Y.) 13 F.Supp. 894.

18. U.S.—U. S. v. McMurtry, (D.C. N.Y.) 24 F.(2d) 145.

N.J.—Marshall v. Romano, 158 A. 751, 10 N.J.Misc. 113.

N.Y.—In re Ackerman's Estate, 166 N.Y.S. 1080.

claim for services and expenses before finally denying it on the merits.[19] Also, an appellate court, in which a motion for substitution is made, may make the substitution without determining or fixing the fees of the attorney, where the court does not wish to assume the burden of considerable research into the facts.[20] If, however, the amount of the attorney's fees and lien are in dispute, the court cannot ignore these issues entirely and, without determining the same, direct the substitution, on the client's giving a bond in an amount arbitrarily fixed by the court.[21]

In fixing the amount of the attorney's fees or lien the court should not act on affidavits alone;[22] and it cannot properly fix or prescribe an amount which is unreasonably large or in excess of the sum to which the attorney is legally entitled,[23] or which is unreasonably small or less than that to which the attorney is legally entitled.[24] A statute, permitting the court to determine, not only the fairness and reasonableness of an agreement made by a personal representative for the payment of attorney's fees, but also the reasonable value of the services, entitles the court on an order of substitution, where the attorney's compensation and lien are fixed by agreement with the client who is a personal representative, to fix the compensation of the attorney in accordance with the reasonable value of the services rendered, although the agreement may bind the share of the representative if he is interested in the estate.[25]

If both the original and successor attorney are acting on a contingent fee basis, it may be necessary or proper for the court, in granting the substitution, to fix a fair and reasonable fee for the entire case and apportion it between them in proportion to their services,[26] or according to the equities of the case;[27] and, where the substitution is granted on the express condition that the court reserve the right to later pass on the fees to be allowed to the new counsel, the allowance subsequently made to such counsel is binding on him, although it is less than provided in a contingent fee contract he had with the client.[28]

§ 123. Notice to Adverse Party

Unless such notice has been waived, notice of a substitution of attorneys must be given to the adverse party to make it effective as to him.

Although the client himself cannot avoid the effect of the substitution by his own failure to give such notice,[29] a change or substitution of attorneys is, ordinarily, not effective as to the adverse party until he or his attorney has been notified thereof.[30] Prior to such notice, the attorney substituted cannot legally move in the cause,[31] and the adverse party will be justified in dealing only with the original attorney of record,[32] and in disregarding acts of the new attorney.[33]

After the adverse party has been notified of the substitution, however, he is affected thereby and is no longer justified in dealing with the original attorney.[34] Written notice is sufficient, and it is not necessary that a copy of the order of substitution be served.[35] Sufficient notice of the retainer of a new attorney to prosecute an appeal is given by the service by him on the adverse party of the

19. John Griffiths & Son Co. v. U S, (C C A Ill) 72 F (2d) 466.

20. Vosges Syndicate v Everglades Club Co, (Fla) 164 So. 881.

21. Lederer v. Goldston, 117 N.Y.S. 151, 63 Misc 322

22. Yocus v Southern Pac. Co, 199 N Y S 116, 120 Misc. 554, affirmed 201 N Y S. 959, 207 App Div. 836, 202 N Y.S 959, 208 App Div. 709

23. Rich v. Railway Express Agency, 287 N.Y S 865, 248 App Div. 594—Kaplowitz v. Brooklyn Bus Corporation, 275 N.Y S. 101, 242 App Div 840.

24. O'Brien v Mulcahy, 244 N.Y S. 701, 230 App Div 790.

Amount held unreasonable

Order fixing the original attorney's compensation at five hundred dollars on substitution was held unreasonable, where such attorney was to receive twenty-five per cent of plaintiff's recovery, and the action was thereafter settled for fifteen thousand dollars—O'Brien v Mulcahy, 244 N.Y S. 701, 230 App Div. 790.

25. Yocus v. Southern Pac. Co, 199 N Y S 116, 120 Misc. 554, affirmed 201 N Y S 959, 207 App.Div. 836, and 202 N Y.S. 959, 208 App Div. 709.

26. Boston v. Lamport & Holt, 228 N Y S 279, 228 App Div. 385—6 C. J. p 754 note 68.

27. Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W. 857, 185 Wis 350.

Misrepresentations and misconduct of substitute attorney

Where the substitute attorney obtains his employment and substitution by making misrepresentations to the client that he can obtain a considerably larger recovery than the original attorney, but he in fact recovers very little more than had been offered by the original attorney by way of a settlement which he had recommended to his client, the court need not apportion the fee among the attorneys according to the amount of time expended by them in the case, but should give the original attorney the full contingent fee to which he would have been entitled had the amount offered in settlement been accepted—Hepp v. Petrie, 200 N.W 857, 185 Wis 350.

28. Rubekeil v Director General of Railroads, 176 N W 854, 171 Wis. 128.

29. Anderson v. City Ry Co, 48 P. (2d) 969, 9 Cal App (2d) 205.

30. Hendricks v Town of Cherryville, 153 S E 112, 198 N C. 659—6 C J. p 681 note 72

31. Kelley v Alcona County Cir. Judge, 44 N W. 925, 79 Mich. 392—6 C J p 681 note 73

32. Beliveau v. Amoskeag Mfg. Co, 40 A 734, 68 N H. 225, 73 Am S R 577, 44 L R.A. 167—6 C.J. p 681 note 74.

33. Felt v. Nichols, 47 N Y S. 951, 21 Misc 404—6 C J p 681 note 75.

34. Nuessler v Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash 297.

35. Bogardus v. Richtmeyer, 3 Abb. Pr (N Y.) 179—Dorlon v. Lewis, 7 How.Pr.(N.Y.) 132, notice of appeal and the undertaking to perfect the appeal.[36]

Waiver. The requirement that notice of a change of attorneys must be served on the adverse party is for the benefit of such adverse party, and it may be waived by him or by his attorney.[37] Such a waiver is effected by acknowledging and dealing with the new attorney.[38]

§ 124. Effect of Substitution

A substitution of an attorney vests in the new attorney all of the powers and authority of his predecessor, who is thereby deprived of further power to act.

The effect of a substitution is to preclude the original attorney from acting further in the cause,[39] and to vest in the substituted attorney all the rights and powers, and to impose on him all the duties, of his predecessor.[40] However, the substituted attorney and the client remain bound by the agreements with regard to the suit lawfully and properly made by the first attorney.[41]

A change or substitution in no way appearing of record is ineffective as to the court or its officers who may still deal with the original attorney of record;[42] but, for the purpose of holding the client bound by the acts of the new attorney, his appointment may be given effect from the date it is made, although it is not filed of record until later.[43]

IV. DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF ATTORNEY TO CLIENT

§ 125. General Rules Stated

Not only must an attorney exercise reasonable care and diligence and possess the legal skill and knowledge ordinarily possessed by members of the profession, but he is bound to conduct himself as a fiduciary occupying a position of the highest trust and confidence, so that, in all his relations and dealings with his client, it is his duty to exercise the utmost honesty, good faith, fairness, integrity, and fidelity, and if he does not he is strictly liable or accountable to his client.

In advising his client and conducting the latter's affairs, an attorney is bound to exercise that reasonable care and diligence which is usually exercised by lawyers and must possess and employ the ordinary legal knowledge and skill which is common to the members of his profession (see infra §§ 140–146). This, however, is not the full extent of a lawyer's duties or obligations to his client; he is, in addition, bound to conduct himself as a fiduciary or trustee occupying the highest position of trust and confidence, so that, in all his relations with his client, it is his duty to exercise and maintain the utmost good faith, honesty, integrity, fairness, and fidelity.[44] As a corollary of this, it has

36. Magnolia Metal Co v. Sterlingworth Railway-Supply Co., 56 N.Y.S. 16, 37 App.Div. 366.

37. Cal.—Anderson v City Ry. Co., 48 P.(2d) 969, 9 Cal.App.(2d) 205
N.Y.—Doerle v Doerle, 159 N.Y.S. 637, 96 Misc. 72
6 C.J. p. 681 note 78.

38. Doerle v Doerle, supra—6 C.J. p. 681 note 79.

39. Nuessler v. Bergman, 251 P. 578, 141 Wash. 297—6 C.J. p. 681 note 80.

40. Drummond v. West, 300 P. 823, 212 Cal. 766—6 C.J. p. 681 note 81.

41. Home State Bank of Arcadia v. Haynes, 290 P. 338, 144 Okl. 190—6 C.J. p. 681 note 82

42. David v. David, 130 A. 861, 47 R.I. 122.

Delivery of copy of decisions to original attorney

Where prior to a decision in an action, defendant changes attorneys, but the new attorneys fail to enter appearance, and the old attorneys fail to file withdrawal, the delivery by the clerk of a copy of the decision to the original attorney of record is proper.—David v. David, 130 A. 861, 47 R.I. 122.

43. Drummond v. West, 300 P. 823, 212 Cal. 766.

44. U.S.—Commonwealth Finance Corporation v McHarg, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 282 F. 560—Parkerson v. Borst, (C.C.A.La.) 264 F. 761, certiorari denied Putnam v Borst, 41 S.Ct. 8, 254 U.S. 634, 65 L.Ed. 449.
Ark.—Goode v King, 76 S.W.(2d) 300, 189 Ark. 1093—Norfleet v Stewart, 20 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161—Powell v Griffin, 13 S.W.(2d) 18, 178 Ark. 788—Swaim v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark. 469.
Cal.—Anderson v Eaton, 293 P. 788, 211 Cal. 113—Tomblin v Hill, 275 P. 941, 206 Cal. 689—Larimer v. Smith, 19 P.(2d) 825, 130 Cal.App. 98—Blattman v Gadd, 296 P. 681, 112 Cal.App. 76—Rieck v. Chapman, 257 P. 168, 83 Cal.App. 735—Stieglitz v Settle, 233 P. 350, 70 Cal.App. 351
Colo.—Mutter v Burgess, 290 P. 269, 87 Colo. 530—Enyart v. Orr, 238 P. 29, 78 Colo. 6
Conn.—McKnight v. Gisse, 140 A. 116, 107 Conn. 229
D.C.—Goodrum v Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 279 F. 304—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 277 F. 536.
Fla.—In re Clifton, 155 So. 324, 115 Fla. 168—U.S. Savings Bank v. Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla. 423
Ill.—People v. Kwasigroch, 180 N.E. 344, 296 Ill. 542—People v. Charone, 123 N.E. 291, 288 Ill. 220—Olson v. North, 276 Ill.App. 457—Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill.App. 524.
Iowa.—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N.W. 40, 213 Iowa 300—Cavanagh v. O'Connor, 169 N.W. 747, 186 Iowa 257—Healy v Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111
Kan.—Wigton v Donnelly, 253 P. 400, 122 Kan. 796
La.—Le Blanc v Cristina, 140 So. 149, 19 La.App. 397
Mass.—In re Opinion of the Justices, 194 N.E. 313—Tarr v. Tucker, 172 N.E. 257, 272 Mass. 150—Coffey v. Rady, 166 N.E. 333, 267 Mass. 301—Berman v. Coakley, 137 N.E. 667, 243 Mass. 348—Lanigan v. Scharton, 131 N.E. 223, 238 Mass. 468—Dunne v Cunningham, 125 N.E. 560, 234 Mass. 332.
Miss.—Gwin v. Fountain, 136 So. 18, 159 Miss. 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So. 559, 159 Miss. 619
Mo.—Addison v Cope, 243 S.W. 212, 210 Mo.App. 569
Mont.—In re Lunke, 182 P. 126, 56 Mont. 226
Neb.—Diedrichs v Stephenson, 163 N.W. 153, 101 Neb. 366
N.J.—Proff v. Shirvanian, 160 A. 844, 110 N.J.Eq. 629
N.M.—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N.M. 93.
N.Y.—In re Mahan, 262 N.Y.S. 702, 237 App.Div. 664—People v. People's Trust Co., 167 N.Y.S. 767, 180 App.Div. 494, 36 N.Y.Cr. 203—In re Strandburg's Estate, 247 N.Y.S. 194, been said that the client must likewise deal with the attorney in a fair and equitable manner;[45] and an attorney has been accorded the right to retain such papers and documents of the client as are necessary to protect him from an unwarranted and vicious assault made by the client upon his professional integrity and reputation.[46]

The fiduciary or trust relationship and the duties flowing therefrom preclude the attorney from having any personal interests antagonistic to those of the client with reference to the subject matter of the relation,[47] or from obtaining any personal advantage or profit out of the relationship,[48] without the knowledge or consent of the client. In this latter connection it may be said, as a general proposition, that no rule is better settled than that an attorney cannot make use of knowledge or information acquired by him through his professional relations with his client, or in the conduct of his client's business, to his own advantage or profit.[49]

138 Misc 732, modified on other grounds 248 N.Y.S. 164, 138 Misc. 859.
N.C.—Mebane v. Broadnax, 111 S.E 627, 183 N.C 333.
Okl.—Wolfe v. Bass Furniture & Carpet Co., 3 P.(2d) 895, 152 Okl. 125, certiorari denied Wolf v. Bass Furniture & Carpet Co., 54 S.W (2d) 79.
Pa.—In re Rossiter's Adjudication, 34 Pa.Super. 193.
S.D.—In re Rempfer, 216 N.W 355, 51 S.D 393, 55 A.L.R. 1346
Tenn.—Young v. Wigga, 13 Tenn.App. 522—Harris v. Marshall, 8 Tenn App. 509.
Tex.—Bryant v. Lewis, (Civ App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604—Nugent v. Moody, (Civ.App.) 271 S.W. 266—Laybourne v. Bray, (Civ.App.) 190 S.W 1159.
Va.—Stein v. Morris, 91 S.E 177, 120 Va 390.
Wash.—State v. Mitchell, 34 P.(2d) 903, 178 Wash 196, appeal dismissed and certiorari denied Mitchell v. State of Washington, 55 S.Ct. 349, 293 U.S 533, 79 L.Ed 641.
Wis.—Petition of Board of Law Examiners, Examination of 1926, 210 N.W. 710, 191 Wis 359
6 C.J. p 682 notes 84, 87, p 686 note 19.

Rule founded on dependency of client

(1) "The relationship of attorney and client is an unusual one With the ever-increasing multiplicity of laws, and the growing complexity of our economic and civil relationships, the field of service of the attorney becomes increasingly important, and the necessity for the average layman to depend upon his attorney increases in like degree He owes his client the utmost good faith in his dealings with him."—Bryant v Lewis, (Tex. Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604, 607

(2) The extent of the attorney's duty in this regard is measured in terms of the client's dependency.—In re Sullivan, 261 N.Y.S. 664, 237 App.Div. 551, motion denied 264 N.Y. S 914.

(3) The fiduciary relationship and corresponding duty are intensified if the attorney is, in addition, the son of the client upon whom the latter is dependent generally—Wallach v Rabinowitz, 200 N.W 646, 185 Wis 115

Attorney charged with knowledge of duty

An attorney, by reason of his training, is charged with knowledge that his clients, whether individuals or municipal corporations, have a right to rely on his good faith—In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N.E 332, 351 Ill. 206.

Client's violation of law does not relieve an attorney of his duty in this respect.—Hale v. McGauley, (R.I.) 147 A. 389.

45. U.S.—Laredo Nat. Bank v. Gordon, (C.C.A.Tex.) 61 F.(2d) 966, certiorari denied 53 S.Ct. 524, 289 U.S. 726, 77 L.Ed. 1476
N.Y.—In re Abrusso's Estate, 249 N.Y.S 72, 139 Misc 559.

Duty to furnish information

It is the duty of a client to inform her attorney of the real facts of her case in preparing the pleading—Levy v. Nelson, 279 S.W. 620 212 Ky. 444

46. Painter v Merchants & Manufacturers Bank of Milwaukee, 277 Ill.App 208

47. Ky.—Williams v. Wilson, 7 Ky. Op 322.
Nev.—Martin v Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev 161—Page v. Walser, 213 P 107, 46 Nev 390
N.M.—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N.M. 93
N.D.—Moran v. Simpson, 178 N.W. 769, 42 N.D. 575
Or.—State v Goldstein, 220 P. 565, 109 Or. 497.

Interest held not adverse.—Busey v. Perkins, 176 A 474, 168 Md 19.

Separate compromise of harmonious interest

Where an attorney had a proprietary as well as a professional interest in the subject matter of his client's litigation which is harmonious with, but severable from, that of his client, the duty which he owes his client does not extend to prohibit him from compromising with the adversary with respect to his own interest, where in so doing the only prejudice to the client is the supposed abatement of zeal on the part of the attorney. In such a case the duty to continue to fight zealously for the client is not relaxed by the departure of the personal proprietary interest—Holman v Gulf Refining Co. of Louisiana, (C.C.A.La.) 76 F. (2d) 94, certiorari denied 56 S.Ct. 102, 296 U.S 590, 80 L.Ed 417, rehearing denied 56 S.Ct. 305, 296 U.S. 664, 80 L.Ed 474.

Right of attorney to represent adverse interests see supra § 47.

48. U.S.—Parkerson v. Borst, (C.C.A.La.) 264 F 761, certiorari denied Putnam v Borst, 41 S.Ct. 8, 254 U.S 634, 65 L.Ed 449.
Ala.—Scott v Hardyman, 119 So 224, 218 Ala 515
Ill.—Youngquist v. Hunter, 227 Ill App 152
Mass.—Robertson v. Hirsh, 177 N.E 676, 276 Mass. 452—Tarr v. Tucker, 172 N.E. 257, 272 Mass 150—Lanigan v. Scharton, 131 N.E 223, 238 Mass. 468—Dunne v Cunningham, 125 N.E 560, 234 Mass 332
Miss.—Gwin v. Fountain, 126 So 18, 159 Miss 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So 559, 159 Miss. 619.
Wis.—Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N.W 179, 166 Wis 1, Ann.Cas 1918E 1156
6 C.J. p 682 notes 89, 91 [c].

49. Ark.—Swain v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark 469.
D.C.—Goodrum v Clement, 51 App D.C. 184, 279 F. 304—Goodrum v Clement, 51 App.D.C 184, 277 F 536—Baumgardner v Hudson, 51 App.D.C. 150, 277 F. 552
Iowa.—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 225, 184 Iowa 111.
6 C.J. p 683 note 92.

"The relation is in the highest degree confidential, and a client does not assume any risk in communicating freely with his attorneys concerning the subject-matter of the employment. . . . The duty of an attorney to his clients is one of great delicacy and responsibility and sometimes of apparent hardship. Every consideration of personal advantage or profit must be subordinated to the interest and welfare of the client, and information derived from the close and intimate relationship necessarily existing should not be used to promote personal interests or

This has, however, been limited to information or knowledge of a confidential character, and it has been held that nonconfidential information given to the attorney to be made known to the public generally may be used by the attorney for his own profit.[50]

It is not only the duty of an attorney to inform the client of any personal interest he may have with respect to the matter intrusted,[51] but also to make a clear, complete, and accurate disclosure of all material information or facts concerning the subject matter of the employment,[52] together with the legal consequence of the state of facts disclosed.[53]

An attorney is held to strict accountability for the performance and observance of these professional duties,[54] and for a breach or violation thereof the client may hold the attorney liable or accountable,[55] or may, in a proper case, procure the intervention of a court of equity to compel the performance of the fiduciary duties on principles of equity and public policy.[56]

Nonexistence or termination of relation. The foregoing duties are dependent on the existence of an attorney and client relationship and are in no way owed by the attorney to one who never occupied that relation or position.[57] Once the relationship has been created, however, the duty of fairness, good faith, and fidelity is a continuing one which may extend beyond the continuance of the relationship itself, so long as the influence arising from the relationship exists or there is a possibility of the attorney using confidential knowledge or information at the expense of the client.[58]

for personal gain."—Healy v. Gray, supra

Use of confidential knowledge or information to acquire adverse interest see infra § 126

50. Stein v. Morris, 91 S.E. 177, 120 Va. 390

51. La.—Le Blanc v. Cristina, 140 So. 149, 19 La.App. 397.
N.Y.—Moller v. Pickard, 232 N.Y. 271, 133 N.E. 887, reversing 188 N.Y.S. 791, 197 App.Div. 333.
Wash.—Cameron v. Hurn, 266 P. 179, 147 Wash. 434.
6 C.J. p. 682 note 86

An attorney acting for an executrix in settlement of an estate had the duty to give full information and advice regarding the estate, so as to enable her to act freely and with an understanding as one dealing at arm's length with another.—State ex rel. Clark v. District Court of Second Judicial Dist. in and for Silver Bow County, (Mont.) 57 P.(2d) 809.

Nondisclosure held not shown.—Cameron v. Hurn, 266 P. 179, 147 Wash. 434.

52. U.S.—Graeber v. McMullin, (C.C.A.Colo.) 56 F.(2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v. Graeber, 53 S.Ct. 9, 287 U.S. 603, 77 L.Ed. 525—Orr v. Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Co., (C.C.A.Minn.) 291 F. 343.
Ark.—Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161.
Cal.—Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P. 681, 113 Cal.App. 76.
Ill.—Catherwood v. Morris, 196 N.E. 519, 360 Ill. 473.
N.J.—Turnley v. Nixon, 163 A. 800, 113 N.J.Eq. 116.
N.M.—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N.M. 93.
S.C.—Hawley v. Jennings, 145 S.E. 697, 148 S.C. 140.
S.D.—Kickland v. Egan, 155 N.W. 192, 36 S.D. 428.
Tex.—Ivey v. Neyland, (Com.App.) 25 S.W.(2d) 313, reversing (Civ.App.) 11 S.W.(2d) 608—Bryant v. Lewis, (Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604.

Dealing through agent

Where an attorney dealt with his client through an agent, the duty to disclose material facts was the same as though he dealt directly with the client.—Ivey v. Neyland, (Tex.Com.App.) 25 S.W.(2d) 313, reversing (Civ.App.) 11 S.W.(2d) 608.

Status of case

It is the duty of the attorney to keep the client fairly and accurately informed as to the exact status or progress of the case or matter with reference to which he is employed.—In re Babcock, 243 N.Y.S. 489, 230 App.App. 323—Laybourne v. Bray & Shifflett, (Tex.Civ.App.) 190 S.W. 1159.

Nondisclosure as constructive fraud see infra § 133.

53. U.S.—Graeber v. McMullin, (C.C.A.Colo.) 56 F.(2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v. Graeber, 53 S.Ct. 9, 287 U.S. 603, 77 L.Ed. 525
Tex.—Bryant v. Lewis, (Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604.

54. Mo.—Addison v. Cope, 243 S.W. 212, 210 Mo.App. 569
Wis.—Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N.W. 179, 166 Wis. 1, Ann.Cas.1918E 1156.

"The disability of the attorney arises when some duty or obligation to his client is involved, and the courts are strict in enforcing a rigid adherence to such duty and a recognition of such obligations."—Minton v. Roberts, 247 P. 662, 664, 119 Okl. 32.

55. Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709—6 C.J. p. 682 note 85.

Liability for:

Acts of others see infra §§ 149, 150.
Fraud see infra § 133.
Negligence see infra §§ 140–146
Unauthorized acts see infra §§ 147, 148

Right of client to compel accounting or payment see infra §§ 132–137

56. Ark.—Swaim v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark. 469
Iowa.—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 122, 184 Iowa 111.
Nev.—Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev. 161
N.J.—Proff v. Shirvanian, 160 A. 844, 110 N.J.Eq. 639.
6 C.J. p. 682 note 89

Summary remedies of client see infra § 158

57. Iowa.—Kock v. Burgess, 166 N.W. 275, 158 N.W. 535, 156 N.W. 174, 176 Iowa 493.
Ky.—Bazzell v. Bennett, 191 S.W. 876, 174 Ky. 164
Md.—Parks v. Skipper, 165 A. 319, 164 Md. 338.
Mo.—Hancock v. York, 210 S.W. 62.

Duty is only to own client

(1) A lawyer owes no fiduciary duty to his client's adversary who is represented by another lawyer.—Hancock v. York, (Mo.) 210 S.W. 63, 67.

(2) "While the relation of attorney and client is a fiduciary one of the most confidential character demanding the utmost good faith on the part of the lawyer in all matters pertaining to the employment, we have searched in vain through the many authorities by which this wholesome doctrine is buttressed, for even slight intimation that it extends the same watchful protection from the other man's lawyer."—Hancock v. York, supra.

Creation of relation generally see supra § 65

58. Ala.—Jones v. Caraway, 87 So. 820, 205 Ala. 327
Ill.—Youngquist v. Hunter, 227 Ill.App. 152

§ 126. Acquiring Interest Adverse to Client

a. In general
b. Purchase of interest in property or claim
c. After termination of relationship

a. In General

It is ordinarily a breach of duty for an attorney to acquire an interest adverse to that of his client without the latter's knowledge or consent; and, if he does so, the client may elect to treat him as constructive trustee of such interest for the benefit of the client.

In accordance with the rules that an attorney cannot, without the knowledge or consent of the client, have antagonistic interests or obtain a personal advantage or profit out of the relationship (see supra § 125), an attorney cannot, without his client's consent, acquire and hold, otherwise than in trust, any adverse interest or title touching the subject matter of his employment,[59] particularly where such interest is acquired as the result of knowledge or information obtained by the attorney in his relations or dealings with his client.[60]

Any transaction by which an attorney has taken a position, or acquired an interest, antagonistic to that of his client will be closely scrutinized by the courts,[61] and may in many instances be avoided or invalidated irrespective of its merits, fairness, or good faith or whether or not it is in fact injurious to the client;[62] and even where the existence of good faith and lack of injury to the client, or other facts, will exonerate him it is always incumbent upon the attorney to show such facts to the satisfaction of the court.[63]

While an attorney may be entitled to reimbursement before the client can hold him accountable for the adverse interest as constructive trustee (see infra § 134), the attorney cannot affirmatively assert

Minn—Sandford v Flint, 122 N.W. 315, 108 Minn. 399
Nev—Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev. 161.
Wash—Conner v Hodgdon, 207 P. 675, 120 Wash 426
6 C.J. p 683 note 94, p 685 note 15, p 689 note 40.
Dealings with client after termination of relation see infra § 132.
Purchase of adverse interest after termination of relation see infra § 126 b (2)

59. U.S—Tracy v. Willys Corporation, (C.C.A.Ohio) 45 F.(2d) 485.
Cal—McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P. 679, 173 Cal 499
Md.—Parks v Skipper, 165 A. 319, 164 Md 388.
Nev—Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev 161
N.C—Mebane v Broadnax, 111 S.E 627, 183 N.C 333
Okl—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v Haslewood, 192 P. 217, 79 Okl. 185, 11 A.L.R 709
6 C.J p 682 note 91, p 684 note 6.

Incapacity absolute

"There is no incapacity for dealing with a client, but there is absolute incapacity of an attorney to deal for his own interest in the subject matter of the litigation without his client's knowledge or consent."—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v. Haslewood, 192 P. 217, 219, 79 Okl. 185, 11 A.L.R. 709.

Attorney as constructive trustee generally see Trusts § 151 [65 C.J. p 484 note 81]
Right of client to elect to hold attorney accountable for personal interest or profit acquired by latter see infra § 134.

60. Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C 184, 279 F 304—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 277 F. 586—Baumgardner v. Hudson, 51 App.D.C 150, 277 F 552—6 C.J p 682 note 91, p 683 note 92

Procurement of conflicting patent

(1) A patent attorney cannot file a patent application of his own relating to the same general subject matter to which his client's invention relates.—Goodrum v Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 279 F. 304—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 277 F. 586.

(2) This is so although the information which the attorney has received from the client does not amount to a full disclosure of the invention—Baumgardner v. Hudson, 51 App.D.C. 150, 277 F. 552

Use of information to impeach client's title

(1) An attorney will not be allowed to set up an adverse title and impeach that of his former client with information gained by virtue of the relation—Downard v. Hadley, 18 N.E. 457, 116 Ind 131—Davis v. Kline, 9 S.W. 724, 96 Mo. 401, 2 L.R.A. 78—6 C.J. p 683 note 93.

(2) This is especially true where the defect in the client's title was occasioned by the neglect or nondisclosure of the attorney—Phillips v. Blair, 33 Iowa 649—Briggs v Hodgdon, 7 A. 387, 78 Me. 514—Hatch v. Fogerty, 38 N.Y.Super 166, 10 Abb. Pr.(N.S.) 147, 40 How.Pr. 492.

61. U.S—Reusch v Fischer, (Cust. & Pat.App.) 49 F.(2d) 818, rehearing denied Reusch v Fisher, 53 F. (2d) 270
D.C—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C 184, 279 F 304—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C 184, 277 F. 586—Baumgardner v. Hudson, 51 App.D.C 150, 277 F 552.
Okl—Minton v. Roberts, 247 P. 662, 119 Okl. 32.
Tex—Sherwood v South, (Civ.App.) 29 S.W.(2d) 805

62. U.S—Parkerson v Borst, (C.C.A.La.) 264 F 761, certiorari denied Putnam v Borst, 41 S.Ct. 8, 254 U.S 634, 65 L.Ed 449
Iowa—Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.
Nev—Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev. 161.
N.C—Mebane v. Broadnax, 111 S.E 627, 183 N.C 333
Okl—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v. Haslewood, 192 P. 217, 79 Okl. 185, 11 A.L.R 709.

"The door is shut to all investigation"

"On the principle that a man cannot serve two masters, especially where self-interest is involved, the transaction is vitiated by the law, irrespective of its merits, fairness, or good faith; and whether it is injurious to the client is immaterial The law does not stop to speculate upon the probabilities that the attorney resisted temptation, it removes the temptation by proclaiming in advance that he shall not deal for himself, without the knowledge and consent of his client, with the subject-matter intrusted to him and involved in his representation as attorney."—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v. Haslewood, 192 P. 217, 219, 79 Okl 185, 11 A.L.R. 709.

63. D.C—Goodrum v. Clement, 51 App.D.C 184, 279 F. 304—Goodrum v Clement, 51 App.D.C. 184, 277 F. 586—Baumgardner v. Hudson, 51 App.D.C 150, 277 F. 552.
Md—Parks v. Skipper, 165 A. 319, 164 Md 388.
Nev—Martin v Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev 161.
N.Y—Moller v. Pickard, 133 N.E 887, 232 N.Y. 271, reversing 133 N.Y.S. 791, 197 App.Div. 333.

such interest or title against the client whether or not he has been reimbursed.[64]

b. Purchase of Interest in Property or Claim

(1) In general
(2) Ratification, waiver, and laches
(3) Rights and liabilities of purchasers and assigns of parties

(1) In General

Unless the client has knowledge thereof or consented thereto, an attorney generally cannot make a valid purchase of an interest in the client's property or property which is involved in, or connected with, the litigation or transaction being handled or conducted on behalf of the client, nor can he purchase an outstanding claim or title against the client.

The general rules, above stated, against the attorney's acquisition of interests antagonistic to those of his client are usually held to invalidate a purchase by an attorney, without the client's consent, of any interest in, or the title to, property of the client which is being sold at a judicial[65] or tax[66] sale to which the employment of the attorney bears some relation; property which is involved in, or connected with, litigation or a transaction as to which the employment relates or the attorney has a special advantage or knowledge because of his relations with the client;[67] an outstanding claim against the client or the client's estate,[68] or an outstanding adverse title to land with reference to which the attorney is employed for the purpose of drawing a deed or examining title, or similar employment, even though the client has his title in contemplation only and has not yet purchased.[69] A purchase may be invalid, within this rule, although it is not actually made by the attorney but by a third person, if the attorney is to derive any benefit or profit therefrom.[70]

Although there are indications that the attorney's disability in this connection is absolute,[71] and purchases such as above mentioned have been characterized as void,[72] there are numerous cases which appear to support the view that the rule against purchases by an attorney is not inexorable and that under proper circumstances such a purchase may be sustained where the attorney has not violated any confidence reposed in him nor breach his duty of fidelity.[73] Hence, the purchase may be sustained where the attorney can satisfactorily show that he has acted with his client's consent and that the

64. Strever v. Sinclier, 213 P 253, 66 Mont 258

65. Pa—Hemminger v. Leidigh, 21 Pa Dist & Co 287.
Tex—Sherwood v. South, (Civ.App.) 29 S.W (2d) 805
6 C J p 683 note 2

Purchase for grossly inadequate price
Where the execution sale was by direction of the plaintiff's attorney held on a stormy day so that no one but the attorney attended, and he purchased at a grossly inadequate price, it was held that the attorney took the title in trust not only for his client but also for the execution debtor, as any other result would warrant an inference of fraud—Howell v. Baker, 4 Johns Ch (N.Y.) 118
Purchases direct from client see infra § 128

66. Cal—McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P 679, 173 Cal 499.
La—Chesnut v Snell, 2 La App 746
6 C J. p 684 note 5—61 C J. p 1201 note 26, p 1202 note 37.

67. U S—Tracy v Willys Corporation, (C C A Ohio) 45 F (2d) 485
Cal—McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P 679, 173 Cal 499
Md—Parks v Skipper, 165 A. 319, 164 Md. 388.
Nev.—Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev. 161.
N C—Melane v Broadnax, 111 S E 627, 183 N.C. 333.
6 C J. p 682 note 91.

Interest in estate against which client's claim is asserted
An attorney whose client is engaged in litigation to enforce a claim against a decedent's estate may not purchase the residuary share of the estate, since he cannot acquire an interest adverse to his client, and the purchase will not be upheld as against the client, although the latter was subsequently defeated in the litigation—Stephens v Dubois, 76 A. 656, 31 R I 138, 140 Am S.R. 741

68. Cal—McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P 679, 173 Cal. 499
Ill—McDowell v Milroy, 69 Ill 493
Mo.—Addison v Cope, 243 S W. 212, 210 Mo App 569
Mont—Strever v. Sinclier, 213 P. 253, 66 Mont 258
N D—White Earth Creamery Co. v. Edwardson, 191 N.W. 622, 49 N.D. 394
Pa—Third National Bank of Philadelphia v Hunsicker, 8 Pa Co 635.
Tex—Sherwood v South, (Civ App.) 29 S W (2d) 805
6 C J. p 685 note 13.

Judgment against estate
A purchase of a judgment against an estate by the attorney for the administrator was held to be in trust for the estate, although there was no actual conflict of interests and the estate was in fact greatly benefited—Succession of Hoss, 8 So. 833, 42 La Ann. 1022

Note executed on attorney's advice
Where an attorney, who was also in the business of lending money and discounting notes, purchased a note executed by a client on his advice at less than its face value without disclosing the possibility of such settlement to the client, he was not entitled to compensation for the risk he took, but held the note as trustee—Addison v. Cope, 243 S W. 212, 210 Mo.App. 569

Purchase of note and mortgage against a client, without the latter's knowledge and consent, and for the purpose of defrauding him has been held void—McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P 679, 173 Cal. 499.

69. Baker v Humphrey, (C C Mich.) 101 U S 494, 25 L Ed. 1065—6 C J p 685 note 14.

70. Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C A N Y.) 73 F (2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v Davitt, 55 S Ct 217, 293 U S 621, 79 L Ed 709—6 C J p 684 note 3

71. Newcomb v. Brooks, 16 W Va. 32

72. McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P 679, 173 Cal. 499.

73. Mass—Dunne v Cunningham, 125 N E. 560, 234 Mass. 332.
Miss—Bowers v. Virden, 56 Miss. 595
Okl—Minton v. Roberts, 247 P. 662, 119 Okl 32—Watts v. Jackson, 182 P 508, 75 Okl. 123.
6 C.J. p 684 note 7 [c].

transaction was in every way fair and not to the client's prejudice or disadvantage.[74] Also it has been held that the rule does not preclude a good-faith purchase by the attorney from a third person of a title which has previously belonged to the client,[75] and it has sometimes been held that if an attorney, who has been consulted as to the title of property which the client is planning to purchase, gives correct advice as to the state of the title and the client refuses to buy, the attorney may thereafter do so without committing any breach of duty.[76] As previously noted, however, such transactions are carefully scrutinized and it is always incumbent upon the attorney to show to the satisfaction of the court the good faith or other facts which are necessary to exonerate him.

As the attorney's duties are founded upon the existence of the attorney and client relationship (see supra § 125), he is not precluded from purchasing an interest, title or claim as against a person who never actually occupied the position of a client.[77] Moreover, the relation or employment must ordinarily in some way relate to or result in the purchase of the property, interest, or claim involved.[78]

(2) Ratification, Waiver, and Laches

A purchase by an attorney, which the client has the right to invalidate or claim for his benefit, may be sustained in the attorney's favor because it has been ratified by the client or he has precluded himself from asserting his rights by waiver, estoppel, or laches.

Although an attorney has made a purchase which the client has a right to invalidate or claim for his benefit, under the rules stated in the preceding section, the purchase will usually be sustained in the attorney's favor if the client has by his acts or conduct ratified the same or waived his rights or estopped himself from questioning the attorney's title.[79] A client wishing to assail or claim the benefit of a purchase made by an attorney must do so within a reasonable time after notice thereof or else be deemed to have waived his rights or be barred by laches;[80] and this is particularly true where there has been no moral turpitude involved in the conduct of the attorney or where the delay in the assertion of the client's rights has affected the position of the parties to the transaction, or the value of the property.[81]

(3) Rights and Liabilities of Purchasers and Assigns of Parties

Where an attorney has purchased a title, interest, or

74. Ark.—Goode v. King, 76 S.W. (2d) 300, 189 Ark. 1093
Md.—McLean v. Maloy, 111 A. 91, 136 Md. 467.
N.Y.—Moller v. Pickard, 133 N.E. 887, 232 N.Y. 271, reversing 188 N.Y.S. 791, 197 App.Div. 333.
Okl.—Minton v. Roberts, 247 P. 662, 119 Okl. 32—Watts v. Jackson, 182 P. 508, 509, 75 Okl. 123.
6 C.J. p. 684 note 7.

"There are a few cases holding that an attorney is under an absolute disability to purchase the subject-matter of his retainer or pending or prospective litigation of his client; but the weight of authority is that such purchases are not absolutely void, but will only be upheld in cases where the purchase is made in the utmost good faith and fairness for an adequate consideration, and where it is shown that the attorney fully informed the client of all the material facts and gave the same disinterested advice he would have given had the sale been made to a stranger"—Watts v. Jackson, supra.

Small profit by attorney does not invalidate his purchase at a judicial sale where there has been the utmost good faith and fairness and the client has consented thereto—Watts v. Jackson, 182 P. 508, 75 Okl. 123

75. Okl.—Harrison v. Murphey, 135 P. 1137, 39 Okl. 548, 49 L.R.A.(N.S.) 1059.
W.Va.—Butcher v. Chidester, 68 S.E. 1009, 68 W.Va. 488.
6 C.J. p. 685 note 8.

76. Mich.—Humphrey v. Hurd, 31 Mich. 436.
N.J.—Kauder v. Lautman, 172 A. 565, 116 N.J.Eq. 145, affirming 168 A. 660, 114 N.J.Eq. 197.
Pa.—Dobbins v. Stevens, 17 Serg. & R. 13
6 C.J. p. 686 note 17.

77. Colo.—Webber v. Wannemaker, 89 P. 780, 39 Colo. 425
Ind.—Moore v. Millar, 137 N.E. 351, 98 Ind.App. 69.
Iowa.—Kock v. Burgess, 166 N.W. 275, 158 N.W. 535, 156 N.W. 174, 176 Iowa 493.
Ky.—Bassell v. Bennett, 191 S.W. 876, 174 Ky. 164.
Md.—Parks v. Skipper, 165 A. 319, 164 Md. 333.
6 C.J. p. 683 note 95, p. 685 note 12.

Purchase of title against client's adversary is not prohibited although the attorney acts on information obtained while assisting his client to furnish to the adversary a satisfactory abstract of title—Hancock v. York, (Mo.) 210 S.W. 63.
Existence of relation in general see supra § 65

78. Ark.—Pack v. Crawford, 29 Ark. 489.
Iowa.—Baker v. Davis, 35 Iowa 184.
Minn.—Sandford v. Flint, 122 N.W. 315, 108 Minn. 399
Miss.—Bowers v. Virden, 56 Miss. 595
W.Va.—Jackson v. Strader, 56 S.E. 177, 61 W.Va. 161.
6 C.J. p. 683 note 96

79. Cal.—Tomblin v. Hill, 275 P. 941, 206 Cal. 689
Md.—McLean v. Maloy, 111 A. 91, 136 Md. 467
Mass.—Davidson v. Zieman, 186 N.E. 651, 283 Mass. 492.
Tex.—Ivey v. Teichman, (Civ.App.) 201 S.W. 695, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.
6 C.J. p. 685 note 9.

80. Tomblin v. Hill, 275 P. 941, 206 Cal. 689—6 C.J. p. 685 note 10.

Mere delay of sixteen months, where a prejudicial change of situation is not shown, does not constitute laches—Stephens v. Dubois, 76 A. 656, 31 R.I. 138, 140 Am.S.R. 741.

Notice necessary
Neither the statute of limitations nor the doctrine of laches will operate to defeat an action by a client against an attorney wherein the former asserts a constructive trust in his favor until discovery of the breach of confidence—Hemminger v. Leidigh, 21 Pa.Dist. & Co. 287.

81. Tomblin v. Hill, 275 P. 941, 206 Cal. 689—6 C.J. p. 685 note 11.

claim in violation of his duties to his client, subsequent purchasers and assigns of the attorney, other than bona fide ones for value and without notice, take subject to the rights and equities of the client, while innocent purchasers and assigns of the client are entitled to assert the client's rights and equities.

Where an attorney has purchased a title, interest, or claim in violation of his duties to his client a subsequent purchaser or assign of the attorney takes the title or interest subject to the equities in the client's favor,[82] unless the purchaser or assign has taken in good faith, for value and without notice.[83]

The right to hold the attorney as trustee in such cases does not extend to one purchasing from the client with full knowledge of the facts;[84] but an innocent purchaser from the client is entitled to assert the latter's rights and equities.[85]

c. After Termination of Relationship

Even after the relationship of attorney and client has terminated, the attorney cannot purchase or acquire an adverse title or interest where such action involves a breach of confidence or the use by the attorney, to the client's disadvantage, of information or knowledge obtained by reason of the relationship; but otherwise the termination of the relation leaves the attorney free to acquire or purchase an interest, title, or claim against his former client.

As an attorney's obligation of fidelity may continue beyond the continuance of the relationship between the parties (supra § 125), an attorney is ordinarily precluded from purchasing or acquiring an adverse title, interest, or claim to the disadvantage of his former client, even after the relationship has terminated, if it involves a breach of confidence or the use of knowledge or information obtained through his professional relationship.[86] So long, however, as there is no breach of confidence or use of information or knowledge previously acquired in his professional relations, and no unfair advantage is taken of the client, the termination of the relationship of attorney and client leaves the attorney free to acquire or purchase property previously belonging to the client or an adverse title, interest, or claim.[87] Hence the courts in many instances have sustained an attorney's purchase of a former client's property at a judicial[88] or tax[89] sale, or his purchase of outstanding claims against his former client;[90] and an attorney may, after the relationship has terminated, buy the title to property with reference to which he was previously consulted by the client where the client refused to buy the property after receiving correct advice and the attorney's purchase is not the result of confidential knowledge previously acquired.[91]

§ 127. Dealings between Attorney and Client

a. Validity and propriety in general
b. Matters or circumstances affecting validity of dealing or burden of attorney

82. Henry v. Raiman, 25 Pa. 354, 64 Am D 703—Hemminger v. Leidigh, 21 Pa Dist. & Co 237.

83. Charles v. Roxana Petroleum Corporation, (C C A Okl.) 282 F. 983, certiorari denied 43 S Ct. 361, 261 U S 614, 67 L Ed. 827.

Notice of violation held not shown

Where the purchase is first made through a third person, knowledge of the fact that a person subsequently acquiring the title was previously an attorney for the former owner of the property does not put a subsequent purchaser on notice of fraud or a violation of duty on the part of the attorney—Charles v. Roxana Petroleum Corporation, (C.C.A Okl.) 282 F. 983, certiorari denied (1923) 43 S Ct. 361, 261 U S. 614, 67 L Ed 827.

84. Weaver v. Drake, 193 P. 45, 79 Okl 277—6 C J. p 683 note 97.

85. Ind.—Downard v. Hadley, 13 N. E. 457, 116 Ind 131.
Pa.—Henry v. Raiman, 25 Pa. 354, 64 Am.D. 703.

86. D C.—Baumgardner v. Hudson, 51 App.D.C. 150, 277 F. 552.
Me.—Briggs v. Hodgdon, 7 A. 387, 78 Me. 514.
Nev.—Martin v Dixon, 241 P. 213, 216, 49 Nev 161
Wash.—Conner v Hodgdon, 207 P. 675, 120 Wash. 426.
6 C J p 683 note 94, p 685 note 15
"The authorities are uniform in holding that, whether during the time an attorney is acting as such or after such relations have ceased, and whether with his client's money or with his own money he purchases or acquires an interest in the property, in any way the subject of litigation, a court of equity will decree that he holds such interest as trustee for the client"—Martin v. Dixon, supra.
Right of attorney to deal with client after termination of relation see infra § 132.
Termination of relationship generally see supra § 108 et seq.

87. U S.—Charles v. Roxana Petroleum Corporation, (C.C.A Okl.) 282 F 983, certiorari denied 43 S.Ct. 361, 261 U S. 614, 67 L Ed. 827
Ky.—Smith v. Craft, 58 S W. 500, 22 Ky L 643
N J.—Kauder v. Lautman, 168 A 660, 114 N J Eq 197, affirmed 172 A 565, 116 N J.Eq 145.
Okl.—Harrison v Murphey, 135 P. 1137, 1140, 39 Okl 548, 49 L R A. (N S.) 1059
Or.—Crim v Thompson, 229 P. 916, 112 Or 399—Crim v Thompson, 193 P. 448, 98 Or. 599—Smith v. Boothe, 176 P. 793, 90 Or 360, affirming 175 P 709, 90 Or. 360
"It cannot be the law that an attorney, in the absence of fraud or an abuse of confidence in some way, is forever debarred from acquiring property, honestly and in good faith, solely because it had formerly belonged to a person who at some time in the past had been his client"—Harrison v Murphey, supra.

88. Miss.—Bowers v. Virden, 56 Miss 595.
Okl.—Harrison v. Murphey, 135 P. 1137, 39 Okl. 548, 49 L.R.A (N.S.) 1059.
Or.—Crim v Thompson, 229 P. 916, 112 Or. 399—Crim v. Thompson, 193 P. 448, 98 Or 599.

89. Baker v. Davis, 35 Iowa 134.

90. Smith v. Boothe, 176 P. 793, 90 Or. 360, affirming 175 P. 709, 90 Or. 360—6 C J. p 686 note 16

91. Kauder v. Lautman, 168 A. 660, 114 N J.Eq 197, affirmed 172 A. 565, 116 N J Eq. 145.

c. Construction and operation of contracts between attorney and client
d. Avoidance by client and ratification

a. Validity and Propriety in General

While an attorney is under no absolute incapacity to deal with his client, all such transactions are subject to suspicion and close scrutiny, and will be sustained only where they are characterized by the utmost fairness and honesty and the attorney clearly shows that no undue influence was exercised and that the client received the same benefits and advantages as if he had been dealing with a stranger.

Although a few of the cases contain some suggestions that business dealings between attorney and client after the relation has been created are always void or voidable,[92] it is generally held that an attorney is under no absolute incapacity to deal with his client,[93] but that in order for a transaction or dealing between them to be sustained it must be characterized by the utmost honesty and good faith.[94] In other words, such a transaction may be upheld if it is obviously fair and just;[95] but because of the confidential and fiduciary nature of the lawyer's relationship (supra § 125), and his opportunities to exert undue influence over his client,[96] the "arm's length rule," which permits the parties to an ordinary business or mercantile transaction to outtrade or outmaneuver the other and obtain an advantage at the expense of candor and ingeniousness, is entirely inapplicable to business dealings or transactions between the attorney and his client after the employment has been undertaken.[97] Rather, all such transactions or dealings are regarded with suspicion and disfavor,[98] are discouraged by the policy of the law,[99] and will be closely scrutinized by the courts which will lean against the attorney;[1] and if it appears that the

92. Fla.—Halstead v. Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So. 132, 104 Fla. 21
N D—Moran v. Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D 575
6 C J p 687 note 25.
Gifts regarded as void see infra § 129
Purchase of interest in litigated property as void see infra § 128

93. Ark.—Goode v. King, 76 S.W. (2d) 800, 189 Ark 1093.
Cal—Stieglitz v. Settle, 165 P. 436, 175 Cal 131
Fla—Pilkington v. Rose, 102 So 751, 88 Fla 547
Kan—Yeamans v. James, 27 Kan 195
Ky—Pilant v. Davis, 2 Ky Op. 40.
Md—McLean v. Maloy, 111 A 91, 136 Md 467.
Mass.—Mitchell v. Wright, 125 N E 638, 234 Mass 458
Okl—Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P (2d) 112, 158 Okl 193—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v Hazlewood, 192 P. 217, 79 Okl. 185, 11 A L R. 709.
Or—Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or. 378
6 C J p 687 note 26.

94. Ariz—Holbridge v Southwest Cotton Co, 281 P 202, 35 Ariz 496
Cal—McNeal v Foreman, 8 P (2d) 533, 117 Cal App 155—Stieglitz v Settle, 195 P 705, 50 Cal.App 581
Fla—Halstead v. Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So 132, 101 Fla. 21—Pilkington v. Rose, 102 So. 751, 88 Fla. 547
Ill—In re Kolb, 199 N.E. 92, 362 Ill 190—Thompson v Knight, 3 N. E (2d) 114, 284 Ill.App 656
Mass—Israel v. Sommer, 197 N E 442.
Minn—Svendsgaard v. Grimes, 162 N.W. 298, 136 Minn. 469
Mo—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.
Or—Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or 378
Tex—Rhoton v Texas Land & Mortgage Co, (Civ App) 80 S W (2d) 763, error refused
Va—Bruce v. Bibb, 105 S E. 570, 129 Va. 45
6 C J p 686 note 20
Express contracts for compensation see infra §§ 131–190.

95. Ark—Goode v. King, 76 S W (2d) 800, 189 Ark 1093
Fla—Pilkington v. Rose, 102 So. 751, 88 Fla 547
Ind—City of Rochester v. Campbell, 111 N E 420, 184 Ind 421.
Mass—Mitchell v Wright, 125 N E 638, 234 Mass 458
Minn—Mercer v McHie, 169 N.W 531, 141 Minn 144
Okl—Bilby v Stevenson, 13 P.(2d) 112, 158 Okl 193
6 C J p 687 note 26.

96. Fla—Williams v. Bailey, 67 So 877, 69 Fla 225
Ill—Elmore v Johnson, 32 N E 413, 143 Ill 513, 36 Am S R 401, 21 L R A. 366.
Kan—Yeamans v. James, 27 Kan. 195.
Me—Mayo v Purinton, 94 A 935, 113 Me. 452.
Mass—Israel v. Sommer, 197 N E 442.
Miss.—Gwin v Fountain, 126 So 18, 22, 159 Miss 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So 559, 159 Miss 619
N J—Proff v Shirvanian, 160 A 844, 110 N J Eq. 639.
Va—Thomas v. Turner, 12 S.E. 149, 87 Va 1.
"The situation of an attorney with reference to his client puts it in his power to avail himself, not only of the necessities of his client, but of his liberality and credulity. The law not only carefully watches over all transactions between attorney and client to see that no advantage is taken of the client by his attorney, but often goes further, and holds such transactions void which between other persons would be valid"—Gwin v. Fountain, supra.

97. Fla—Halstead v Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So 132, 104 Fla 21—Gould v State, 127 So. 309, 99 Fla 662, 69 A L R 699
Me—Mayo v Purinton, 94 A. 935, 113 Me 452
Mass—Smith v. Weeks, 147 N.E. 676, 252 Mass 244.
N Y—In re Leopold, 175 N Y.S. 183, 186 App Div 872, affirmed 123 N E 876, 226 N.Y 602
Pa—Nevin v State Bank of Elizabeth, 174 A. 618, 115 Pa Super 92.

98. Cal—Stieglitz v. Settle, 195 P. 705, 50 Cal App 581
Iowa—Haman v. Preston, 173 N W. 894, 186 Iowa 1292
Nev—Moore v Rochester Weaver Mining Co, 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev. 164, 19 A L R 830

99. Tarr v. Tucker, 172 N E 257, 272 Mass 150

1. Cal—Stieglitz v. Settle, 195 P. 705, 50 Cal App 581
Fla—Halstead v Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So. 132, 104 Fla 21
Md—McLean v. Maloy, 111 A. 91, 136 Md 467
Mass.—Mitchell v. Wright, 125 N E 638, 234 Mass 458
Mo—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.
Nev—Moore v Rochester Weaver Mining Co, 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev. 164, 19 A L R. 830
N.J—In re Romaine's Will, 170 A 16, 115 N J Eq 172 (first case) affirming 167 A 683, 113 N J Eq 477—In re Romaine's Will, 170 A 16, 115 N J Eq 173 (second case) affirming 167 A. 683, 113 N J.Eq transaction is unfair or that the client has been overreached or unduly influenced it may be avoided at his election,[2] either in courts of law,[3] or in courts of equity on the principles that govern the conduct and dealings of trustees or fiduciaries generally.[4]

Indeed it is often stated with great strictness, at least where the attorney has seemingly profited at the expense of the client, that all transactions and dealings between attorney and client are, as against the attorney, prima facie fraudulent or presumed to have been obtained by undue influence;[5] and that to sustain such a transaction it is incumbent upon the attorney to show, by clear and satisfactory evidence, not only that there was a sufficient consideration moving to the client and that there was no undue influence or unfairness, but also that his client had all the information and advice that it would have been the duty of the attorney to give had he not been interested, and that the transaction was as beneficial to the client as if the latter had dealt with a stranger.[6] Should

477—Dwyer v Anderson, 166 A 293, 113 N J Eq 210—Proff v Shirvanian, 160 A 844, 110 N J Eq 639—Raimondi v Bianchi, 134 A 866, 100 N J Eq 238—Perkins v Deal Beach Realty Co, 114 A 853, 92 N J Eq 536, affirmed Perkins v Robertson, 114 A 856, 92 N J Eq 692

Ohio—Mechling v Duetiger, 20 Ohio N P (N S) 278

Tenn—Hutchinson v. Crowder, 8 Tenn Civ App 114

Tex—Sherwood v South, (Civ App) 29 S W (2d) 805

Va—Bruce v Bibb, 105 S E 570, 129 Va 45

Wis—State v Barto, 232 N W 553, 202 Wis. 329

6 C J p 686 note 21.

2. Fla—Halstead v Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So. 132, 104 Fla 21

Iowa—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N W. 40, 213 Iowa 300

Or—De Yulio v Brownell, 215 P. 576, 107 Or 651

Va—Bruce v Bibb, 105 S E 570, 129 Va 45

Undue influence by reason of confidential relationship of attorney and client as affecting validity of trust instrument see Trusts § 76 [65 C J p 332 notes 28, 32]

3. Stieglitz v Settle, 195 P 705, 50 Cal App 581—6 C J p 688 note 30

4. Miss—Gwin v Fountain, 126 So 18, 159 Miss 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So 559, 159 Miss 619

Or—De Yulio v Brownell, 215 P 576, 107 Or 651

Wash—Cann v Hodgdon, 207 P 675, 120 Wash 426.

Wis—State v Barto, 232 N W. 553, 202 Wis 329

6 C J p 688 note 29

Transactions between attorney and client as creating express trust see Trusts § 58 [65 C J p 304 note 11 [a]].

5. Cal—Zeller v. Knapp, 1 P.(2d) 1071, 115 Cal App 486

Fla.—Halstead v. Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So 132, 104 Fla 21.

Ind.—City of Rochester v Campbell, 111 N.E. 420, 184 Ind 421.

Iowa—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N W. 40, 213 Iowa 300.

Ky—Pilant v Davis, 2 Ky Op 40

Miss—Gwin v Fountain, 126 So 18, 159 Miss 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So 559, 159 Miss. 619

Mo—Bybee v S'Renco, 291 S W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.

Nev—Moore v Rochester Weaver Mining Co, 174 P 1017, 42 Nev 164, 19 A L R 830

N J—Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen v Van Etten, 110 A. 121, 90 N J Eq 612

Okl—Haunstein v McCalister, 46 P (2d) 552—Hunter v. Battiest, 192 P 575, 79 Okl 248

Pa—Maguire v Wheeler, 150 A 882, 300 Pa 513

Tenn—Hutchinson v. Crowder, 8 Tenn Civ App 114

Tex—Bell v Ramirez, (Civ App) 299 S W 655

Utah—Omega Inv Co v Woolley, 271 P 797, 72 Utah 474.

6 C J p 686 note 22

Statute as to trustees applicable

A statute providing that transactions between a trustee and his beneficiary by which the trustee obtains any advantage from his beneficiary are presumed to be without consideration, and the result of undue influence, applies to the relation between an attorney and client—Magee v Brenneman, 206 P 37, 188 Cal 562

6. U S—Graeber v McMullin, (C C. A Colo) 56 F (2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v Graeber, 53 S Ct 9, 287 U S 602, 77 L Ed 525.

Ala—Verner v Mosely, 127 So 527, 221 Ala 36

Ariz—Holdridge v Southwest Cotton Co, 281 P 202, 35 Ariz. 496.

Ark—Norfleet v Stewart, 20 S.W. (2d) 868, 180 Ark 161.

Cal—In re Witt's Estate, 245 P 197, 198 Cal 407—Clark v Millsap, 242 P 918, 197 Cal 765—Stieglitz v Settle, 195 P. 705, 50 Cal App 581

D C—Hammer v. Gordon, 50 App D C 34, 267 F. 236.

Fla—Halstead v. Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So 132, 104 Fla 21.

Ill—Ankrom v. Doss, 270 Ill.App 464

Iowa—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N.W. 40, 213 Iowa 300

Me—Mayo v. Purinton, 94 A. 935, 113 Me 452

Md—McLean v. Maloy, 111 A. 91, 136 Md 467

Mass—Israel v. Sommer, 197 N E. 442.

Mo—Bybee v S'Renco, 291 S W 459, 316 Mo 517.

Nev—Moore v. Rochester Weaver Mining Co, 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev. 164, 19 A L R 830

N J—In re Romaine's Will, 170 A. 16, 115 N J Eq 172 (first case) affirming 167 A. 633, 113 N.J Eq. 477—In re Romaine's Will, 170 A 16, 115 N J Eq 173 (second case) affirming 167 A. 633, 113 N.J Eq 477—Rhodes v. Rhes, 133 A 712, 99 N. J Eq 633

N M—In re Barth, 189 P. 499, 26 N. M 93

N Y—In re Howell, 109 N E 572, 215 N Y 466, Ann Cas 1917A 527, reversing 150 N.Y S 1090, 166 App. Div 894—Feiber v Copeland, 250 N Y S 429, 232 App Div 504—In re Woolfson's Will, 287 N.Y S. 12, 158 Misc 928

Okl—Haunstein v McCalister, 46 P. (2d) 552—Roseboom v Baughman, 37 P (2d) 616, 169 Okl. 442—Harrison v Reed, 6 P (2d) 700, 154 Okl. 39—Korte v Brown, 255 P 1103, 124 Okl. 282—Board of Com'rs of Okfuskee County v. Haslewood, 192 P 217, 79 Okl. 185, 11 A L R 709.

Or—Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or. 378.

S C—Hydrick v. Hydrick, 141 S E. 156, 142 S.C. 531.

S D—Kickland v. Egan, 155 N W. 192, 36 S D 428

Tenn—Harris v Marshall, 8 Tenn. App 509—Hutchinson v Crowder, 8 Tenn Civ App. 114.

Utah—Omega Inv Co v. Woolley, 271 P 797, 72 Utah 474

Va—Bruce's Ex'x v Bibb's Ex'x, 105 S E 570, 129 Va 45.

6 C J. p 687 note 23.

Reason for rule

"The rule of equity which casts upon the attorney the burden of showing perfect fairness on his part in all his dealings with his client is based upon the consideration that the

the attorney fail to make this showing the transaction may be avoided or set aside as for constructive fraud irrespective of the intention of the attorney or whether fraud or undue influence was actually exercised,[7] and this is so although the client has not sought to rest his case solely on the presumption existing against the attorney.[8] If the attorney discharges this burden, however, the transaction will be sustained,[9] as the presumption mentioned is a rebuttable one.[10]

b. Matters or Circumstances Affecting Validity of Dealing or Burden of Attorney

(1) In general
(2) Existence and nature of relationship
(3) Nature of transaction or dealing
(4) Independent advice to client

(1) In General

The general rule that transactions between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent or invalid so that the attorney has the burden of proving the fairness and honesty thereof, is one of equity and public policy based on the theory that a confidence reposed in the attorney was abused to the disadvantage of the client, and hence, its application may be varied according to the equities of the particular case and whether the circumstances permit or preclude the deductions or assumptions on which it is based.

Notwithstanding the absolute manner in which the general rule that all transactions or dealings between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent and invalid is often stated, it is mainly a rule of equity or public policy which is not inflexible, but may be relaxed or varied in its application according to the circumstances.[11] Moreover, it is founded on the theory that confidence or influence was reposed in the attorney, and abused to the injury of the client or the advantage of the attorney, so that the mere relationship of attorney and client is not sufficient to invalidate a transaction without the appearance of these facts,[12] or such circumstances as will permit a deduction or assumption that they existed;[13] and if the circumstances are such as to preclude an assumption or presumption that confidence was reposed and that undue influence was exercised with respect to the matter involved the general rule does not apply.[14]

In light of the foregoing, it may be said that the validity of a dealing between an attorney and client in a particular case is dependent to a certain extent on its own circumstances, the equities of the parties, and the possibilities that the attorney had to exercise influence or fraud.[15] If the client is aged, ignorant, mentally weak, uneducated, or under similar disability, and largely dependent upon the attorney, the burden which the attorney must discharge in order to sustain a transaction by which he has profited is extremely stringent.[16] On the other confidential relations existing between the parties is such that the attorney has it in his power to avail himself of his influence over his client and of the sense of dependence which the latter has in him and of the confidence which the relation always imposes to a greater or less extent."—Swain v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 27, 158 Ark. 469.

Advice to client

"Defendant before accepting the deed should have used active diligence to see that his client was fully informed of the nature and effect of the transaction proposed and of his own rights and interests in the subject matter involved, and should have seen to it that his client had independent advice in the matter or else should have received from him such advice as he would have been expected to give had the transaction been one between his client and a stranger, and should have seen that his client was so placed as to be enabled to deal with him at arm's length without being swayed by the relation of trust and confidence which existed between them."—Webster v. Kelly, 175 N.E. 69, 71, 274 Mass. 564.

7. Ark.—Norfleet v. Stewart, 30 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161.
N.J.—Proff v. Shirvanian, 160 A. 844, 110 N.J.Eq. 639.
Breach of duty as constructive fraud generally see infra § 138

8. Bouton v. Stuart, 199 P. 71, 52 Cal.App. 484.

9. Ind.—City of Rochester v. Campbell, 111 N.E. 420, 184 Ind. 421.
Ky.—Williams v. Reese, 198 S.W. 27, 177 Ky. 679.
Minn.—Mercer v. McHie, 169 N.W. 531, 141 Minn. 144

10. City of Rochester v. Campbell, 111 N.E. 420, 184 Ind. 421.

11. Ariz.—Townsend v. Shipley, 239 P. 787, 29 Ariz. 96
Okl.—Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P.(2d) 112, 158 Okl. 193
Va.—Bruce v. Bibb, 105 S.E. 570, 129 Va. 45.
6 C.J. p. 687 note 24.

Death of attorney

The rule should not be rigorously applied where, owing to the death of the attorney, it is impossible for his representatives to make full or plenary proof.—Whiting v. Davidge, 23 App.D.C. 156.—Boyd v. Daly, 83 N.Y.S. 539, 85 App.Div. 581, affirmed 68 N.E. 1114, 176 N.Y. 613.

12. Ark.—Goode v. King, 76 S.W.(2d) 300, 189 Ark. 1093
Cal.—Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1020, 52 Cal.App. 438.
Mass.—Mitchell v. Wright, 125 N.E. 638, 234 Mass. 458.
Va.—Bruce v. Bibb, 105 S.E. 570, 129 Va. 45
6 C.J. p. 688 note 27.

13. Haman v. Preston, 173 N.W. 894, 186 Iowa 1292

14. Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1020, 52 Cal.App. 438.—6 C.J. p. 688 note 33, p. 690 note 56 [a].

15. Cal.—Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1020, 52 Cal.App. 438
Okl.—Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P.(2d) 112, 158 Okl. 193
"Each case, of course, must depend upon its particular facts. What might be sufficient evidence to turn the scale in one case might not be in another. The dominating influence of the attorney, and the weak, confiding, and submissive character of the client in one case might require far less proof than in another case, where the client was of a strong and aggressive personality, and not easily influenced by the attorney."—Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N.W. 179, 181, 166 Wis. 1.

16. U.S.—Neuhart v. Buck, (C.C.A. Kan.) 50 F.(2d) 367.
Conn.—McKnight v. Gizzie, 140 A. 116, 107 Conn. 229
Mo.—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.

hand, it is frequently recognized that the beneficent protection of the general rule is not always needed as some clients may be shrewder or better positioned than some attorneys in business deals,[17] and if the case is one in which the attorney possesses no particular knowledge or influence by reason of his position or training, and the client is an intelligent and experienced businessman who is as well or better informed than the attorney with reference to the material facts and likely to exercise his own independent judgment, the transaction will often be sustained unless a breach of faith or unfair dealing on the part of the attorney is clearly shown.[18] In other words, if the parties are sui juris and deal with each other on terms of equality as between men competent to make their own contracts, the law does not deny to the attorney a right to the fruits of open dealings with his client in business matters in which the client is amply able to protect himself, at least where a breach of faith or unfair dealing on the part of the attorney is not clearly shown.[19]

Open hostility of attorney. The rule requiring the attorney to establish the fairness and honesty of the transaction does not apply where the attorney has openly assumed an attitude hostile to the client, before the transaction was entered into, so that thereafter the parties are put at arm's length and the client could not possibly have been acting under the influence of the confidence which he had reposed in the attorney.[20]

(2) Existence and Nature of Relationship

The rule that dealings between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent does not apply to dealings entered into before the relationship of attorney and client has been created.

The rule that transactions and dealings between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent and invalid ordinarily applies to every one who acts in the capacity of an attorney for another irrespective of how the relation was created,[21] and irrespective of whether the person so acting is actually a licensed attorney.[22] The rule has no application, however, where the relationship of attorney and client does not exist between the parties at the time of the transaction,[23] although the relation may have subsequently been established between them;[24] and hence, counsel and client may contract subject to the same rules governing other men before the relation of attorney and client begins.[25]

Although the client has acted in a representative capacity when retaining or employing the attorney, the client as an individual is entitled to the protection of the rules relative to dealings between attorney and client.[26]

(3) Nature of Transaction or Dealing

The rule that transactions and dealings between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent may extend to transactions or contracts with reference to property or rights not directly involved in the particular transaction or proceeding with reference to which the attorney is employed, if the relationship may be pre-

N.J.—Rhodes v. Ries, 133 A. 713, 99 N.J.Eq. 638
Okl.—Barker v. Wiseman, 151 P. 1047, 51 Okl. 645

17. Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P.(2d) 113, 158 Okl. 193

18. Cal.—Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1020, 52 Cal.App. 438.
N.J.—Koller-Vesper v. Wilderotter, (Ch.) 119 A. 375.
Okl.—Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P.(2d) 113, 158 Okl. 193
See Ryan v. Hayes, 190 Ill.App. 208
"In this inquiry, the jealousy with which the law views such a contract is ready to lend its aid in support of perhaps trivial circumstances tending to bring the case within the rule. But the danger to which the client is exposed, from the supposed influence which his attorney has over him, is the reason on which it proceeds, and the inquiry, is whether he has or has not used it to his prejudice; and if it should appear that the client was as well, or better, advised than his attorney on all matters connected with the contract—which without disparagement to the profession, does frequently happen—and has received a full and adequate price, where, I would ask, is the hardship or injustice of sustaining such a contract, although one of the parties should capriciously ask to be absolved from it? Surely there is none, and the rule never could have been intended to operate on such a case."—Miles v. Ervin, 6 S.C.Eq. 524, 548, 16 Am.D. 623.

19. Pilkington v. Rose, 102 So. 751, 88 Fla. 547.

20. Cal.—Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1020, 52 Cal.App. 438.
N.J.—Koller-Vesper v. Wilderotter, (Ch.) 119 A. 375
Tex.—McGary v. Campbell, (Civ.App.) 245 S.W. 106.
6 C.J. p. 688 note 34

21. Ala.—Scott v. Hardyman, 119 So. 224, 218 Ala. 515
D.C.—Hammer v. Gordon, 50 App.D.C. 34, 267 F. 336
Mass.—Israel v. Sommer, 197 N.E. 442
Mo.—Bybee v. S'Ronco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.
Utah.—Omega Inv. Co. v. Woolley, 271 P. 797, 72 Utah 474.
6 C.J. p. 688 note 31

22. Pomeroy v. Collins, 243 P. 657, 198 Cal. 46

23. Ky.—Williams v. Reese, 198 S.W. 27, 177 Ky. 679.
Md.—Smith v. Martin, 140 A. 593, 154 Md. 462
N.J.—Losee v. Cale, 145 A. 468, 7 N.J.Misc. 321.
N.Y.—Colton v. Oshrin, 285 N.Y.S. 433, 246 App.Div. 237
Pa.—Goodbread's Est., 24 Pa.Co. 427.
Va.—Bruce v. Bibb, 105 S.E. 570, 129 Va. 45
6 C.J. p. 688 notes 32, 33
Effect of termination of relation see infra § 132.

24. Bonelli v. Conrad, 37 P.(2d) 137, 1 Cal.App.(2d) 660—6 C.J. p. 688 note 32

25. Ky.—Williams v. Reese, 198 S.W. 27, 177 Ky. 679
Va.—Bruce v. Bibb, 105 S.E. 570, 129 Va. 45.
Contracts creating relationship see infra subdivision (3)

26. Magee v. Bronneman, 206 P. 37, 188 Cal. 562.

sumed to give the attorney some advantage over the client; but the rule does not apply to those transactions which are so totally unrelated to the relationship that it cannot be presumed to have any influence therein, nor to the contract in which the relation has its inception.

The rule that dealings between attorney and client are presumptively fraudulent is not restricted to contracts or dealings with respect to the rights or property involved in the particular transaction or proceeding in which the attorney is acting for the client, but it may extend to other transactions and contracts, where the relationship may be presumed to give the attorney some advantage over the client.[27] The rule does not apply, however, if the transaction is so totally unrelated to the attorney and client relationship that it cannot be presumed to have given the attorney any influence or advantage with reference to the deal.[28] Moreover, as stated in the preceding section, the relationship of attorney and client must ordinarily exist at the time of the transaction, and hence it is usually held that the rule does not apply to contracts by which the relationship is established, but with respect to these the parties will be regarded as dealing at arms' length.[29]

(4) Independent Advice to Client

A showing that the client had adequate independent legal advice with respect to the transaction may discharge the attorney's burden and cause the transaction to be sustained as fair and just; but it is not absolutely essential to the validity of the transaction that it be shown that the client had the benefit of such advice where it can otherwise be established that the transaction was fair and just.

Unless the advice is biased or insufficient,[30] an attorney may often discharge his burden, and cause a transaction with his client to be sustained as fair and honest, by showing that the client had independent legal advice with respect thereto.[31] Independent legal advice for the client is not, however, absolutely essential to the validity of the transaction where the client is fully informed and competent to act without such advice,[32] or it can be otherwise shown that the transaction was fair and that the client acted voluntarily and with full knowledge and understanding.[33]

c. Construction and Operation of Contracts between Attorney and Client

A contract which an attorney has made with his client will be construed most strongly against the attorney, and he is estopped from asserting that a part or provision of the contract is legally insufficient or invalid.

Where there is any doubt or question as to the interpretation to be given to a contract that has been made by a lawyer with his client, that construction which tends most strongly against the lawyer in the deal should be given;[34] but where it is admitted that the contract is fair and just it has been held that the construction of the contract is not to be strained in the interests of the client.[35]

An attorney who has drawn a contract between himself and his client is equitably estopped from asserting that a part or provision thereof is invalid or insufficient.[36]

d. Avoidance by Client and Ratification

A client's right to avoid or set aside a transaction with, or transfer to, his attorney may be conditioned upon the client's restoration of the status quo or payment of the attorney's fees and expenses, and may be lost by reason of laches or ratification or a transfer to a bona fide purchaser for value and without notice.

As noted in §§ 127 a and 128 a, when a transaction with, or transfer to, an attorney is regarded as unfair or constructively fraudulent the client has the right to avoid the same either by an affirmative suit in equity to set the same aside, or by

27. Swaim v Martin, 251 S W. 26, 158 Ark. 469.

28. Cal—Stieglitz v. Settle, 165 P. 436, 175 Cal 131.
Mich—Wilson v White, 194 N.W. 593, 223 Mich 497.
N J—Losee v. Cale, 145 A. 468, 7 N J Misc 321.

29. Cal—Bonelli v. Conrad, 37 P (2d) 137, 1 Cal.App (2d) 660
Okl—Tillman v. Gazaway, 261 P 935, 128 Okl. 182.
Tex—White v. Burch, (Civ App.) 19 S W (2d) 404.
6 C J p 688 notes 35, 36.
Contracts for compensation see infra §§ 181–189.

30. Ala—Verner v. Mosely, 127 So. 527, 221 Ala 36.
Mass—Israel v. Sommer, 197 N E 442, 447—Webster v. Kelly, 175 N. E 69, 274 Mass 564.
Utah—Omega Inv Co v. Woolley, 271 P 797, 72 Utah 474.
"Independent legal advice which is incompetent, or perfunctory, or given without adequate knowledge of the situation will not suffice."—Israel v. Sommer, supra.

31. U S—In re Duntley, (Ill) 227 F 331, 142 C C A. 77
Okl—Bilby v. Stevenson, 13 P (2d) 112, 158 Okl 192.

32. Boardman v. Crittenden, 198 P. 1030, 52 Cal App. 438.

33. Scott v. Hardyman, 119 So. 224, 226, 218 Ala 515.
"The presumption of undue influence, resulting from a transaction inter vivos, between persons occupying confidential relations, whereby the dominant party gets an advantage, may be overcome by evidence of other facts than independent advice, if sufficient to show that the act was voluntary, fair, and well understood It is not necessary to prove this one fact in order to overturn the presumption, although it is usually done in this manner."—Scott v Hardyman, supra.

34. U S—In re Boone, (C.C.Cal.) 33 F. 944
Okl—Barker v. Wiseman, 151 P. 1047, 51 Okl. 645
Or.—Security Savings & Trust Co. v. Gilbert, 250 P. 749, 120 Or. 327.

35. Willoughby v. Mackall, 1 App. D C. 411.

36. Holdridge v. Southwest Cotton Co., 281 P. 202, 35 Ariz. 496.

asserting the fraud or confidential relationship in defense to any attempt by the attorney to enforce his rights under the transaction If the client does not make timely application, however, he may be barred from obtaining relief by the equitable doctrine of laches[37] or by the statute of limitations,[38] and a client who, with full information, has acquiesced in or ratified a transaction with, or transfer to, his attorney cannot thereafter avoid the same.[39] Delay or laches will not, however, preclude the client from defending on the ground of confidential relationship at any time during the period the attorney can enforce his rights under the transfer or transaction.[40] Moreover, it has been said that the defense of laches based on mere delay is not favored in suits to set aside such transactions;[41] and mere delay does not amount to laches which will preclude the client from setting the transaction aside where there was nothing to arouse the suspicions of the client or move him to action.[42]

The client's right to avoid the transaction may often be conditioned upon the client's restoration of the status quo,[43] or payment of the fees and disbursements of the attorney.[44]

Against purchasers or assigns of attorney If he has not acquired the same in good faith and for value, a purchaser or assignee of property or a right, which an attorney has acquired by reason of a transaction with his client, takes subject to the same burden and right of avoidance as the attorney;[45] but a client cannot set aside a transfer to his attorney as against subsequent purchasers for value and without notice.[46]

§ 128. —— Conveyances, Mortgages, and Assignments

a. In general
b. Transfer of subject matter of suit
c. Fraudulent transfers

a. In General

Although a conveyance, mortgage, or assignment by a client to his attorney, or vice versa, may be sustained if it appears that the transfer is fair and honest or that no improper influence has been exercised, such a transaction is ordinarily regarded as presumptively fraudulent or the result of undue influence, and subject to avoidance on that ground, unless the attorney clearly proves that the transfer was fair, honest, and equitable, for an adequate consideration, and that the client fully understood the nature and effect of the transaction.

In accordance with the rules stated in § 127, a conveyance, mortgage or assignment by a client to his attorney is not necessarily invalid if it clearly appears to be fair and equitable or in no way improperly influenced by the superior position of the attorney or the confidence reposed in him,[47] as where the transfer or assignment constitutes but a fair payment or satisfaction of the reasonable costs or fees of the attorney.[48] The general rule that all transactions and dealings between attorney and client are subject to close scrutiny and pre-

37. Johnson v Johnson, 206 P 205, 85 Okl 274—6 C J p 688 note 28, p 691 note 59.

38. Friend v McComb, (Tex Civ. App) 87 S W.(2d) 767.

39. McLean v Maloy, 111 A 91, 136 Md 467—6 C J p 691 note 60.

Lack of full knowledge or advice and continuance of attorney's influence may preclude the client's conduct from being held a ratification — Verner v. Mosely, 127 So 527, 221 Ala 36—Turnley v Nixon, 163 A. 800, 112 N J Eq. 116.

40. Magee v. Brenneman, 206 P. 37, 188 Cal 562

41. Turnley v. Nixon, 163 A. 800, 804, 112 N J.Eq 116.
"Where bills are filed to set aside contracts or deeds between parties standing in a confidential relation to each other, the defense of laches is not usually regarded with favor. It has been said that 'length of time weighs less in such a case than in any other,' and that it is 'extremely difficult for a confidential agent to set up an available defense grounded on the laches of his employer' Elmore v. Johnson, 32 N.H. 413, 419, 143 Ill 513, 21 L R A. 366, 36 Am S R 401: citing and quoting Wood v Downes, 18 Ves Jr 120"—Turnley v. Nixon, supra

42. Ala —Verner v. Mosely, 127 So 527, 221 Ala 36.
Wis —Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N W 179, 166 Wis 1.
Continuance of confidential relationship and position of undue influence until a short time before the bringing of the action may preclude the client from being charged with laches —Verner v Mosely, 127 So 527, 221 Ala. 36—Armstrong v Morrow, 163 N W. 179, 166 Wis 1

43. Head v. Moore, (Tex Civ App) 232 S W 362, dismissed for want of jurisdiction

44. Mass —Webster v. Kelly, 175 N. E 69, 274 Mass 564.
Minn —Delasca v Grimes, 174 N.W 523, 144 Minn 67.

45. Ark —Powell v. Griffin, 13 S W. (2d) 18, 178 Ark 788
Cal —Magee v Brenneman, 206 P. 37, 188 Cal 562.

46. Bucher v Hohl, 97 S.W. 922, 199 Mo 320, 116 Am S R. 492—6 C J p 691 notes 61, 65

47. Cal.—Bailey v. Security Trust Co, 177 P 444, 179 Cal 540, 177 P 449, 179 Cal 815
Ill —Morrison v Smith, 28 N E 241, 130 Ill 304
Mo —Lanneman v. Henry, 291 S W. 109, 316 Mo 674
S D —Howard v. Potts, 233 N.W. 909, 57 S D 469
6 C J p 690 note 56 [a].

Trust deed for benefit of client's creditors
A trust deed to the attorney for the debtor cannot be avoided as fraudulent because the attorney is to receive a fair compensation for his services as trustee or on the ground that because of his dealings as trustee with the creditors or his enforcement of the provisions of the trust deed against the debtor he thereby represents adverse interests, where the debtor made the deed with full comprehension of the nature and effect of his acts.—Busey v. Perkins, 176 A 474, 168 Md. 19.

48 Cal —McGown v Dalsell, 236 P 941, 72 Cal App. 197.
La.—Beattie v Dimitry, 121 So 581, 168 La 81
Wash —Wallace v. Town, 35 P. 1080, 8 Wash 244
6 C J p 690 note 57.

sumptively fraudulent or the result of undue influence applies with full force, however, to any purchase or acquisition by an attorney of his client's property.[49] Hence, a transfer, conveyance, or assignment of property by a client to an attorney is subject to avoidance and being set aside as constructively fraudulent or the result of undue influence, except to the extent that it operates as a payment of reasonable and proper fees,[50] if the attorney fails to discharge his burden by showing that the transaction was fair, equitable, and honest, for an adequate consideration, and that the client had the benefit of impartial advice or was fully informed of the nature and effect of his act so that he was in the same position as if he had dealt with a stranger,[51] provided the client acts promptly and does not ratify the transaction or wait until the property has been retransferred to a bona fide purchaser (see supra § 127 d). These rules apply to transfers to third persons for the attorney's benefit[52] or to a corporation of which he is the principal stockholder,[53] and to conveyances or transfers of all kinds of property, whether real or personal,[54] even though not involved in the litigation or transaction in which the attorney is acting for the client,[55] to mortgages[56] and deeds of trust,[57] and to assignments of rights and claims,[58] such as mortgages,[59] judgments,[60] or causes of action.[61]

Transfers from attorney to client. In case of an assignment by an attorney to his client, the client is likewise presumed to have acted under the influence of the attorney,[62] and is entitled to have the transaction annulled unless the attorney can show that he has observed the utmost good faith.[63]

b. Transfer of Subject Matter of Suit

Although some cases hold that an attorney's purchase of an interest in the subject matter of the litigation in which he is employed is absolutely void or voidable, it is generally held that such a transfer will be sustained where, and only where, it is clearly shown that the transaction was fair and honest and the client acted knowingly with full information and advice as to his rights.

A few cases have regarded the purchase by an attorney from his client of the subject matter of a suit, pendente lite, absolutely void, both on general principles and because it is champerty,[64] and other authorities have taken the view that such a purchase, although made without fraud or undue advantage and upon the payment of an adequate price, is nevertheless voidable at the option of the client;[65] but it is generally held that an assign-

49. Ala.—Verner v. Mosely, 127 So. 527, 221 Ala. 36—Scott v. Hardyman, 119 So. 224, 218 Ala. 515
Mo.—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517
Utah—Omega Inv. Co. v. Woolley, 271 P. 797, 72 Utah 474.
6 C.J. p. 689 note 44.

50. Mass.—Webster v. Kelly, 175 N.E. 69, 274 Mass. 564
Mo.—Linneman v. Henry, 291 S.W. 109, 316 Mo. 674.
6 C.J. p. 689 note 45.

Value of services must be shown by the attorney.—Bonifacio v. Stuart, 199 P. 69, 52 Cal.App. 487.

51. Ala.—Verner v. Mosely, 127 So. 527, 221 Ala. 36—Scott v. Hardyman, 119 So. 224, 218 Ala. 515.
Ark.—Swaim v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark. 469.
Cal.—Bouton v. Stuart, 199 P. 71, 52 Cal.App. 484—Bonifacio v. Stuart, 199 P. 69, 52 Cal.App. 487
D.C.—Hammer v. Gordon, 50 App.D.C. 34, 267 F. 336.
Ill.—Warner v. Flack, 116 N.E. 197, 278 Ill. 303, 2 A.L.R. 423—Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill.App. 524.
Iowa.—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N.W. 40, 213 Iowa 300
Mass.—Webster v. Kelly, 175 N.E. 69, 274 Mass. 564.
Minn.—Delasca v. Grimes, 174 N.W. 523, 144 Minn. 67—Mercer v. McHie, 169 N.W. 531, 141 Minn. 144.
Mo.—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517—Crooks v. Looney, 197 S.W. 125
N.J.—Povey v. Ready, 100 A. 556, 87 N.J.Eq. 199, modified on other grounds 102 A. 443, 88 N.J.Eq. 342
N.D.—Moran v. Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D. 575
Okl.—Hagler v. Bishop, 9 P.(2d) 766, 156 Okl. 110
Tex.—Bell v. Ramirez, (Civ.App.) 299 S.W. 655
Utah—Omega Inv. Co. v. Woolley, 271 P. 797, 72 Utah 474.
6 C.J. p. 689 notes 45, 46.

52. Delasca v. Grimes, 174 N.W. 523, 144 Minn. 67.

53. Maguire v. Wheeler, 150 A. 882, 300 Pa. 513.

54. Ala.—Verner v. Mosely, 127 So. 527, 221 Ala. 36
Ark.—Swaim v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark. 469
D.C.—Hammer v. Gordon, 50 App.D.C. 34, 267 F. 336
N.J.—Povey v. Ready, 100 A. 556, 87 N.J.Eq. 199, modified on other grounds 102 A. 443, 88 N.J.Eq. 342.
N.D.—Moran v. Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D. 575
6 C.J. p. 689 note 47.

55. Swaim v. Martin, 251 S.W. 26, 158 Ark. 469—6 C.J. p. 689 note 48

56. Long v. Powell, 69 So. 585, 194 Ala. 438—6 C.J. p. 689 note 49.

57. Linneman v. Henry, 291 S.W. 109, 316 Mo. 674

58. Jones v. Brown, 282 P. 313, 140 Okl. 155—6 C.J. p. 690 note 52
Statutory prohibition of assignment of claim against United States to attorney for his services in prosecuting claim see United States § 158 [65 C.J. p. 1390 note 37].

59. N.Y.—Pitcher v. Sutton, 264 N.Y.S. 438, 238 App.Div. 291, amended 265 N.Y.S. 929, 240 App.Div. 754, and 265 N.Y.S. 991, 240 App.Div. 759
Wis.—Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N.W. 179, 166 Wis. 1, Ann.Cas.1918E 1156

60. Jones v. Brown, 282 P. 313, 140 Okl. 155—6 C.J. p. 689 note 50.
Purchase of judgment by attorney as not champertous see Judgments § 514 [34 C.J. p. 638 note 2].

61. Coffey v. Quint, 28 P. 494, 799, 92 Cal. 475—6 C.J. p. 690 note 51.

62. Townsend v. Shipley, 239 P. 787, 29 Ariz. 96—6 C.J. p. 691 note 62

63. Townsend v. Shipley, supra—6 C.J. p. 691 note 63.

64. U.S.—Neihart v. Buek, (C.C.A. Kan.) 50 F.(2d) 367
N.D.—Moran v. Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D. 575
6 C.J. p. 690 note 53.

65. Ill.—Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill. App. 524
W.Va.—Woodcock v. Barrick, 91 S.E. 396, 79 W.Va. 449
6 C.J. p. 690 note 54.

ment or transfer of the subject matter of litigation in which the attorney was employed may be sustained by a clear showing that it was fair and equitable and made with full understanding on the part of the client.[66] Even where this latter view is entertained, however, the transaction is always viewed with suspicion and may be avoided unless the attorney discharges the heavy burden of proving not only that there was no overreaching of the client, but that the client acted upon the fullest information and advice as to his rights.[67]

c. Fraudulent Transfers

A client may avoid or set aside a transfer to his attorney, even where it is for the declared purpose of hindering or defrauding creditors, as the client is not regarded as being in pari delicto.

A client may, under the rules stated in the preceding sections, avoid or set aside a transfer to his attorney, even where the transfer is for the declared purpose of hindering and delaying the creditors of the client, as the law does not in such a case regard the client as being in pari delicto.[68] Similarly, where the transaction is an exchange of property, the fact that the transfer from the attorney was to a third person, in secret trust for the client, in fraud of the latter's creditors, does not preclude the client from holding the attorney to account for the profit on the transaction.[69]

§ 129. —— Gifts

Although there is some authority for the view that such a transaction is absolutely void, it is generally held that a gift from a client to his attorney will be sustained if the attorney overcomes the suspicion or presumption raised against him and shows that the gift was voluntarily made with full knowledge of all the circumstances and without undue influence on the part of the attorney.

While some of the early authorities appear to hold that an attorney is absolutely precluded from accepting a gift from his client during the continuance of the relationship and that such a transaction is void and subject to be set aside although good faith is proved,[70] most of the modern cases appear to take the view that the gift is not void ipso facto but may be sustained if equitable and it is clearly proved that the client acted voluntarily with full knowledge of all the material facts and that no undue influence was exercised by the attorney.[71] As in other transactions between them, the attorney, of course, has the burden of proving these facts which are essential to sustain the validity of the gift.[72] Indeed, some of the cases take the view that gifts are to be regarded with much greater strictness or suspicion than other dealings between attorney and client, so that the presumption against the validity of the same is much stronger and the attorney's burden correspondingly heavier,[73] but other authority has pointed out that the degree of suspicion is dependent upon other circumstances than the mere fact that a gift was made from a client to an attorney.[74]

Stranger cannot exercise option of the client to avoid the transaction — Wolfson v. Estate of Martinez, 20 Philippine 340.

66. Ark —Goode v. King, 76 S W (2d) 300, 189 Ark 1093
Cal —Bailey v. Security Trust Co, 177 P 449, 179 Cal 815—Bailey v. Security Trust Co, 177 P. 444, 179 Cal 540
D C —Hammer v. Gordon, 50 App.D C 34, 267 F. 336.
La —Beattie v. Dimitry, 121 So. 581, 168 La. 81.
Md —Russum v Wanser, 53 Md 92.
Pa —Bersch v. Rust, 95 A 108, 249 Pa 512
S D —Howard v. Potts, 233 N W 909, 57 S D 469
Tex —Friend v. McComb, (Civ.App.) 87 S W.(2d) 767.
6 C J. p 690 notes 55, 56 [a], 57.

On notice to the debtor of assignment to attorney of part of the claim, the title vests absolutely in the attorney, as against collusive agreements of the assignors and the debtor —Northern Texas Traction Co. v Clark & Sweeton, (Tex Civ App) 272 S W. 564.

67. Ark —McMillan v. Brookfield, 234 S.W. 621, 150 Ark. 518.
Ill —Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill App. 524
Tex —Baird v. Laycock, (Civ App) 94 S W.(2d) 1135, error dismissed 6 C J p 691 note 58.

Fraud question for jury

Whether a deed sought to be canceled executed by an administrator to his attorney covering the land being administered was procured by the attorney's fraud was for the jury —Baird v. Laycock, (Tex.Civ. App) 94 S.W (2d) 1135, error dismissed.

68. Clark v Millsap, 242 P. 918, 925, 197 Cal 765—6 C.J p 691 note 64
"Certainly the law will not hold a client in pari delicto with her attorney, who, acting under his influence and advice, places her property in his name and possession for purposes of concealment As between the two, the client is not, in the eyes of the law, as culpable as the legal adviser." —Clark v Millsap, supra
Conveyance between attorney and client as not fraudulent by reason of the confidential relationship see Fraudulent Conveyances § 250 [27 C J p 641 note 41].
Future legal services as sufficient consideration for transfer by debtor to his attorney see Fraudulent Conveyances § 148 [27 C J p 529 notes 69, 70]
Persons in confidential relations not in pari delicto with regard to fraudulent conveyances see Fraudulent Convoyances § 262 [27 C.J. p 652 note 66 et seq].
Transfer of property to attorney under agreement to render future services as fraudulent and void against creditors see Fraudulent Conveyances § 148 [27 C J p 530 note 76].

69. Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill App. 524

70. Berrien v. McLane, Hoffm (N Y) 421—6 C J. p 691 note 67.

71. Rice v. Bennington County Sav. Bank, 108 A. 708, 93 Vt. 493—6 C. J. p 692 notes 68, 69

72. Mass —Israel v. Sommer, 197 N. E 442
Wis —Armstrong v. Morrow, 163 N. W. 179, 166 Wis. 1.
6 C J. p 692 note 69.

73. Shacklette v. Goodall, 151 S.W. 23, 151 Ky 20—6 C.J. p 691 note 66, p 692 note 68.

74. Rice v. Bennington County Sav. Bank, 108 A. 708, 713, 93 Vt. 493.

§ 130. —— Security for Fees and Costs

A transaction whereby the client gives the attorney security for his fees, costs, and expenses is ordinarily valid only where the transaction is fair, just, and equitable and free from the exercise of undue influence on the part of the attorney.

Although a transaction whereby the client gives collateral security for an attorney's fees and disbursements may be valid where no confidence is abused or no unfairness or undue influence is exercised,[75] security taken for the attorney's fees during the existence of the relation will not be sustained unless the attorney shows that the transaction was fair and regular and entered into by the client voluntarily with a full knowledge of the facts,[76] and security given at the beginning of the relationship to secure future fees and disbursements will be invalid if obtained by any undue influence or persuasion on the part of the attorney.[77]

In several cases a conveyance to an attorney has been sustained as an absolute one in payment of the attorney's fees and disbursements, as against the client's charges that the conveyance was intended merely as a mortgage to secure the attorney, where the transaction appeared to be fair and there was no showing of a great discrepancy between the amount of the attorney's fees and disbursements and the value of the property;[78] but it has also been held that a client claiming that an absolute conveyance to an attorney was intended as a mortgage to secure his fees and disbursements need not show by clear, unequivocal, and convincing evidence that a mortgage was intended as in ordinary cases, and that if the attorney fails to show the fairness and justness of the transaction it will be treated as a mortgage where the value of the property is considerably in excess of the amount of the fees and disbursements of the attorney.[79]

§ 131. —— Special Contracts

The general rules relative to transactions and dealings between attorney and client generally apply to all contracts of a special nature between them.

The general rules announced in § 127 supra, with respect to dealings and transactions between attorney and client, ordinarily determine the validity of all types of special contracts between them.[80]

§ 132. —— Effect of Termination of Relationship

The fact that the relationship of attorney and client has terminated does not prevent a transaction between an attorney and his former client from being regarded as presumptively fraudulent where the confidence or influence arising out of the relation still continues; but if the confidence and influence have entirely ceased the rule is otherwise.

As previously noted in § 125 supra, an attorney's duties of good faith and fidelity do not cease immediately upon the termination of the relation but continue as long as the influence arising out of the relationship exists. In accordance with this it is quite generally held that the mere fact that the relationship of attorney and client has terminated does not prevent a transaction or dealing thereafter entered into between the attorney and his former client from being regarded as presumptively fraudulent on account of the relationship where the confidence or influence arising therefrom still continues,[81] and that the cessation of such confidence or influence can be shown only by some positive

"The cases show that, where this degree of suspicion has been cast upon the transaction under consideration, something more appeared to create suspicion than the mere fact that the alleged donee was attorney for the alleged donor. The nature of the gift, its value, the wealth of the donor, and other things, are to be considered in determining the degree of suspicion. Could it be said that a trivial gift by a wealthy client should be viewed with the greatest suspicion? We think not."—Rice v. Bennington County Sav. Bank, supra.

75. Cal.—Foster v. Abrahams, 241 P. 274, 74 Cal.App. 521.
Fla.—Wharton v. Hammond, 20 Fla. 934.

Collateral security for note given third person for attorney's benefit

It has been held that collateral security given by the client to a third person as trustee for the attorney loaning money to the client to secure a note to the trustee providing that the collateral might be held for the payment of any liability due or to become due the payee or other holder of the note can be held by the attorney as transferee and holder of the note to secure the payment not only of money loaned to the client but also his reasonable fees and disbursements.—Foster v. Abrahams, 241 P. 274, 74 Cal.App. 521.

76. Magee v. Brenneman, 206 P. 37, 188 Cal. 562
Mortgage by insolvent debtor to attorneys to secure fees for future services as fraudulent and void against creditors see Fraudulent Conveyances § 148 [27 C.J. p. 530 note 77].

77. McKnight v. Gizze, 140 A. 116, 107 Conn. 229.

78. Ill.—Day v. Wright, 84 N.E. 226, 233 Ill. 218
Wash.—Wallace v. Town, 35 P. 1080, 8 Wash. 244

79. Powell v. Griffin, 13 S.W.(2d) 13, 178 Ark. 788.

80. Holdridge v. Southwest Cotton Co., 281 P. 202, 35 Ariz. 496.

Contract guaranteeing collection of debt

If an attorney promises his client to pay the amount of a debt himself if he shall fail to collect it, such promise, if supported by a sufficient consideration, is valid and binding.—Morrill v. Graham, 27 Tex. 646—Gregory v. Gleed, 33 Vt. 405
Champertous contracts see Champerty and Maintenance § 13 [11 C.J. p. 241 note 8 et seq.].
Contract to secure pardon see Contracts § 214 [13 C.J. p. 434 notes 85, 86].

81. Ala.—Jones v. Caraway, 87 So. 820, 205 Ala. 327.
Ill.—Youngquist v. Hunter, 227 Ill. App. 152.
Mo.—Bybee v. S'Renco, 291 S.W. 459, 316 Mo. 517.
Wash.—Conner v. Hodgdon, 207 P. 675, 120 Wash. 426.
6 C.J. p. 689 note 40.

act or a complete case of abandonment.[82] Hence, although the relationship is sometimes held to terminate for other purposes upon the rendition of judgment in the litigation for which the attorney was employed (see supra § 108), such fact does not, of itself, terminate the confidence and influence arising out of the relation,[83] and the attorney's settlement with his client for the fruits of the litigation is usually subject to the same rules as other dealings during the relationship.[84]

Where, however, the relation and its influence have entirely ceased so that the parties are dealing at arm's length, to avoid the transaction the former client must show that it was procured by the attorney by actual fraud.[85]

§ 133. Accounting and Payment

It is the duty of an attorney to give the client a full, detailed, and accurate account of all money and property handled by the attorney for the client, and to promptly remit or pay over to the client all sums or property to which the latter is entitled after the deduction of the attorney's proper fees and charges

An attorney is under an absolute duty to give his client a full, detailed, and accurate account of all money and property which has been received and handled by the attorney as such, and must justify all transactions and dealings concerning the same.[86] Mere general statements will not suffice,[87] and hence it is incumbent upon the attorney to keep complete and accurate books and records.[88] The attorney's duty to render an account is not affected by the fact that he may have a lien on the money in his hands,[89] or that the contract of retainer out of which the relationship springs is illegal,[90] although in the latter case the accounting is limited to the sums to which the client is legally and equitably entitled.[91]

Upon the collection or receipt of property or funds for the benefit of his client, it is the duty of the attorney to notify the client promptly thereof and, if there is no contrary understanding, to pay or remit the same to the client, less only proper fees and disbursements, as soon as reasonably possible.[92] Likewise, an attorney who has received money from the client to apply to a particular purpose must either use it for that purpose or return it to the client immediately;[93] and if the purpose requires but a temporary use of the money it must

82. Conner v Hodgdon, 207 P 675, 120 Wash 426—6 C J p 689 note 39

83. Conner v Hodgdon, supra—6 C J p 689 note 12

Transactions as to property sold under judgment

If land has been sold toward satisfaction of the judgment the relation will be deemed to continue until the expiration of the time for redemption, as far as transactions concerning that particular property are concerned—Zeigler v Hughes, 55 Ill 288—6 C J p 689 note 42.

84. Conner v Hodgdon, 207 P. 675, 120 Wash 426—6 C.J. p 689 note 41

85. Cal—Foster v. Abrahams, 241 P 274, 74 Cal App 521
Okl—Korte v Brown, 255 P 1103, 124 Okl 282
S D—Johnson v. Mound City State Bank, 237 N W 891, 58 S D. 622
6 C J p 689 note 43

86. Mich—Reeck v Polk, 257 N W. 698, 269 Mich 252
Mo—Eadie v Johnston, (App) 201 S.W 601
N Y—Haves Realty Corporation v Colton, 207 N Y.S. 720, 213 App Div. 837—In re Lahm, 167 N Y S 217, 179 App Div. 757, affirmed 119 N E 1052, 223 N Y. 573.
R I—Hale v. McGauley, 147 A. 889
Tenn—In re Woods, 13 S W (2d) 800, 158 Tenn. 383, 62 A.L R. 904
6 C.J. p 693 notes 82, 84, p 694 note 9.

Separation of lay and professional matters

When an attorney receives a commitment to perform services within the range of professional work, he takes it in his professional capacity and must account on the same basis, there being no authority to separate matters technically into lay and professional services in connection with the duty to account to the client for the client's money in the attorney's hands—Reeck v. Polk, 257 N W. 698, 269 Mich 252.

87. Poulson v. Blanchard, 6 La.App 101—6 C J p 693 note 84.

88. N Y—In re O'Neill, 240 N Y.S 183, 228 App Div 513
R I—Hale v McGauley, 147 A 889.

89. McCracken v Harned, 44 A. 959, 59 N J Eq 190

90. U. S Title Guaranty Co v. Brown, 111 N E 828, 217 N Y 628, affirming 152 N Y S. 470, 166 App Div 688, which affirms 149 N Y.S 186, 86 Misc 287—U S Title Guaranty Co v. Brown, 137 N Y S. 663, 195 App Div 738, affirmed 135 N E 961, 233 N Y 664

91. U. S Title Guaranty Co. v. Brown, supra.

92. Ala—Peters v. State, 69 So. 576, 193 Ala 598.
Cal—San Francisco Bar Ass'n v. McClellan, 181 P. 231, 40 Cal.App 630.
Ill—People v. Ladouceur, 179 N.E 890, 347 Ill 454—People v. Simmons, 173 N E 398, 341 Ill. 340—People v. Tracey, 145 N E 665, 314 Ill 434—People v Kwasigroch, 130 N E 344, 296 Ill 542—People v. Smith, 124 N E 807, 290 Ill. 241, 9 A.L R 183—People v. Ehle, 112 N E. 970, 273 Ill 424.
Mont—In re McCue, 261 P. 341, 80 Mont 537.
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v Goldman, 255 N W. 32, 127 Neb 340.
N.J—Hoboken Trust Co v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N J Eq 314
N Y.—In re Babcock, 243 N Y S 489, 230 App Div 323—In re Langfur, 238 N Y S 498, 227 App Div. 468.
Okl—State v. Cutlip, 202 P. 782, 83 Okl. 183.
S C—Hawley v Jennings, 145 S E. 697, 148 S C 140
Tenn—In re Woods, 13 S W (2d) 800, 158 Tenn 383, 62 A L R. 904.
Utah—In re Steffensen, 39 P.(2d) 722, 85 Utah 380
6 C J. p 693 notes 85, 86.

Basis is amount collected

Payment on the basis of a smaller sum than that actually collected will not, of course, discharge the attorney.—Encyclopædia Britannica Corporation v. Carville, 133 So 228, 18 La App. 196—In re McGuinness, 74 N Y.S. 1054, 69 App Div. 606.

Unlawful or improper disbursements cannot be deducted.—In re Woods, 13 S W.(2d) 800, 158 Tenn 383, 62 A L R 904.

93. In re Porcella, 272 N.Y.S. 235, 241 App Div. 344.

be returned when the purpose has been fulfilled.[94] In accordance with the rule stated infra § 139 that an attorney holds such funds as agent or trustee, it is usually held, although there is some authority to the contrary,[95] that a failure to pay or deliver funds or property to which the client is entitled after demand by him constitutes a conversion for which the attorney is liable in damages.[96] It has been said that any agreement by the client permitting the attorney to retain the money for any length of time should be evidenced by a written authorization;[97] and a temporary permission to an attorney to use or retain some sums collected does not authorize him to retain other collections not so permitted nor to refuse payment when reasonably demanded.[98]

Payment in the method or manner designated or acquiesced in by the client may discharge the attorney although the funds are thereby lost to the former.[99]

§ 134. —— Individual Interest of Attorney

A client can ordinarily hold the attorney accountable for, and demand the benefit of, any individual interest or profit that the attorney has acquired or obtained in violation of his duties, but not for sums received by the attorney in settlement of an individual interest properly held by him.

If an attorney has acquired a personal interest, profit, or advantage in violation of his duties, as set forth above in §§ 125–132, it is generally the privilege of the client to treat all such acts as being done for his benefit, to hold the attorney accountable therefor as trustee, and to compel him to transfer or pay over the profit or interest so acquired after payment or deduction of his reasonable fees, disbursements, and expenditures.[1] In such cases the attorney appears to have an absolute right to reimbursement or allowance for his services or expenditures only where he has not practiced any conscious or actual fraud, and in a number of instances such a reimbursement or allowance has been denied where there was an actual intent or purpose on the part of the attorney to defraud his client.[2]

The rule above stated in no way permits the client to hold the attorney liable or accountable for sums which the latter has properly accepted from the adverse party in settlement of the attorney's contingent fee interest in the controversy, although in excess of the fee the attorney would have received if computed as the designated percentage of the amount finally received by the client.[3]

§ 135. —— Acts and Defaults of Partner or Associate

An attorney may be liable or accountable for money of the client lost through the fault or misconduct of a clerk or associate employed by the attorney.

An attorney may be liable or accountable for money of a client lost through the fault or misconduct of an associate or clerk employed by the attorney.[4]

§ 136. —— Interest

Generally an attorney is chargeable with interest on funds retained or held for his client only after the expiration of a reasonable length of time and a demand by the client, unless the attorney has been guilty of a breach or default excusing a demand.

An attorney who holds money for his client, and who is not guilty of laches or default with regard to paying it over, is not liable for interest.[5] An

94. Gentilli v. Brennan, 233 N.W 93, 202 Wis 465.

95. Jackson v Moore, 76 N Y S. 164, 72 App Div. 217.

96. Mich —Reeck v. Polk, 257 N W. 698, 269 Mich 252.
N Y —Jackson v. Moore, 87 N Y S 1101, 94 App Div. 504, discrediting Jackson v Moore, 76 N Y.S. 164, 72 App Div 217
6 C J p 694 note 4.

97. In re Langfur, 238 N Y S 493, 227 App.Div. 468.

98. Reeck v. Polk, 257 N.W 698, 269 Mich. 252.

99. Ind —Hillegass v. Bender, 78 Ind. 225.
Miss —Grayson v. Wilkinson, 13 Miss. 268.
6 C.J. p 693 note 90 [a] (1).

1. U.S —Davitt v. O'Connor, (C C A. N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S Ct. 217, 293 U S 621, 79 L Ed 709
Cal —Tomblin v Hill, 275 P 941, 206 Cal. 689
Iowa —Healy v. Gray, 168 N.W. 222, 184 Iowa 111.
Nev —Martin v. Dixon, 241 P. 213, 49 Nev 161
N C —Mebane v Broadnax, 111 S E. 627, 183 N C 333
Okl —Wolfe v. Bass Furniture & Carpet Co, 3 P (2d) 895, 152 Okl 125, certiorari denied Wolf v Bass Furniture & Carpet Co, 54 S.Ct 79
Tex —Sherwood v South, (Civ App) 29 S W.(2d) 805.
Wash.—Conner v Hodgdon, 207 P. 675, 120 Wash 426
Wis —Armstrong v. Morrow, 168 N. W 179, 166 Wis. 1, Ann Cas.1918E 1156.
6 C J. p 682 notes 89, 91, p 683 notes 92, 2, p 685 note 13—61 C.J. p 1202 note 38.

2. McArthur v. Goodwin, 160 P. 679, 173 Cal 499.
Held not entitled to reimbursement
In a suit by a client against his former attorney to compel a transfer of stock affected with a trust in plaintiff's favor, defendant was not entitled to claim that plaintiff should reimburse him for the money paid out to acquire the stock fraudulently, and hold it adversely to plaintiff.—Martin v Dixon, 241 P 213, 49 Nev. 161—6 C.J p 684 note 5 [a].

3. Shannon v. Stubblefield, (Tex. Civ.App) 242 S.W. 533.

4. Cal.—Ackley v Prime, 278 P. 932, 99 Cal App 534.
N Y —In re McGunness, 74 N.Y.S 1054, 69 App.Div. 606.
Liability generally for acts of associates, partners, clerks, or substitutes see infra §§ 149–150.

5. Govan v Parsons, 155 So. 241, 179 La. 834—6 C J. p 695 note 22.

attorney may, however, be chargeable with interest from the time that he has been guilty of any default or breach with respect to payment, accounting, or notifying the client,[6] as where he has appropriated the money to his own use;[7] or after the expiration of an unreasonable time;[8] but where a demand is necessary to fix the liability of the attorney interest can be charged only from the time that a proper demand was made by the client or the person entitled to receive the money.[9] If the amount claimed by the client is undetermined, or is in the nature of unliquidated damages, the attorney is chargeable with interest only from the time of the institution of proceedings against him.[10]

A statute leaving the granting of an interest in a conversion action to the discretion of the jury has been applied to an action by a client to recover sums for which his attorney has failed to account.[11]

§ 137. —— Persons Entitled

Generally the only person entitled to an accounting or payment is the client or his authorized agent; but, if the client is acting as an agent or representative, the attorney may be required to make his accounting or payment to the true owner.

Ordinarily a payment or accounting by the attorney may and must be made either to the client himself or to some one authorized to act for him,[12] and not to third persons who may claim, or appear to have, title to the funds or property,[13] at least where the client has not refused to indemnify the attorney.[14] If the client is acting merely as agent or representative of another who is the real owner of, or has legal title to, the claim collected, the attorney may discharge himself by making his accounting or payment either to the agent or to the principal or true owner,[15] unless the latter insists upon an accounting before payment has been made to the agent or representative, in which case the attorney must account to the true owner without deduction for any claims he may hold against the representative individually.[16] It has been said, however, that the custom, where one attorney receives a claim from another for collection, is to remit the sums collected to the attorney from whom the claim was received unless otherwise instructed, particularly where the latter attorney is a resident of the same city or county as the client;[17] but the collecting attorney must account and pay directly to the owner of the debt, where the latter insists;[18] and it has been held that the original attorney, although authorized to receive payment, has no right to recover in an action for money had and received against the collecting attorney unless he can prove a legal or beneficial interest in the claim.[19]

§ 138. Fraud

An attorney may be liable to his client for fraud, actual or constructive.

An attorney may be liable to his client on account of actual fraud consisting either of willful mis-

6. U.S.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A. N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709
S.C.—Hawley v. Jennings, 145 S.E. 697, 148 S.C. 140
6 C.J. p. 695 note 24, p. 696 note 26

Unjust profit in dealing

Where an attorney made a profit through the acquisition and sale of an adverse interest in his client's land, for which he was held accountable to the client, the court held that interest should be computed from the day the attorney received the money —Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.

7. Mansfield v. Wilkerson, 26 Iowa 482—6 C.J. p. 696 note 26

8. Chapman v. Burt, 77 Ill. 337—6 C.J. p. 695 note 24.

9. Govan v. Parsons, 155 So. 241, 179 La. 334—6 C.J. p. 695 note 25.

10. McMahon v. New York, etc., R. Co., 20 N.Y. 463—6 C.J. p. 696 note 27.

11. Fiegle v. Brewster, (Mo.App.) 59 S.W.(2d) 769

12. Wallace v. Peck, 12 Ala. 768

Payment to payee of note who has indorsed in blank does not discharge the attorney from liability to the client who has left the note for collection where the payee is not the true owner—Wallace v. Peck, 12 Ala. 768—Lewis v. Peck, 10 Ala. 142.

13. Dollar Savings & Trust Co. v. Bell, 70 Pa.Super. 610—6 C.J. p. 693 note 87

14. Marvin v. Ellwood, 11 Paige (N.Y.) 365.

Doubt as to client's title

"Even where there is doubt whether the securities upon which the money was collected did in fact belong to his client, all that he has any right to ask is an indemnity from his client. And if he is not satisfied with the responsibility of his client, it is his duty to tell him so, and to offer to pay him if the client is willing to give indemnity. Whether, under any circumstances, this court would sustain a bill by an attorney, against his client and a stranger, where the client was wholly irresponsible and refused to indemnify the attorney against the claim of a third person which was apparently well founded, I am not prepared to decide"—Marvin v. Ellwood, 11 Paige (N.Y.) 365, 375.

15. Mass.—Daly v. Crawford, 181 N.W. 396, 279 Mass. 262
Mont.—Buckhouse v. Parsons, 198 P. 444, 60 Mont. 156.
6 C.J. p. 693 notes 90, 92.

After attorney has fully accounted to trustee for whom he acted he is not liable to a successor trustee notwithstanding the client trustee failed to account or made improper disbursements—Daly v. Crawford, 181 N.E. 396, 279 Mass. 262.

16. Newcastle v. Bellard, 3 Me. 369

17. Tyler v. Cockrell, 107 S.W. 799, 32 Ky.L. 1126

18. Ironton Rolling Mills Co. v. Ross, 6 Bush (Ky.) 103—6 C.J. p. 695 note 20

19. N.Y.—Gunn v. Cantine, 10 Johns. 387
Tenn.—Herron v. Bullitt, 3 Sneed 497
6 C.J. p. 695 note 21.

statements of the law[20] or of existing facts,[21] made by the attorney to the client with intent to defraud and secure an advantage for himself and relied on by the client. Actual fraud in its strict sense is not, however, always essential to visit the consequences thereof upon an attorney.[22] Practically any breach or violation by an attorney of his fiduciary duties stated supra § 125 constitutes constructive fraud and is sufficient for this purpose.[23] Hence, an attorney's nondisclosure of an adverse interest,[24] or other material facts or matters as to which he has a duty to fully inform or advise his client,[25] may render him responsible as for fraud although there may be no positive misrepresentation or intention to defraud; and, as already noted in §§ 126 and 127, an attorney's acquisition of an adverse or personal interest or dealings with his client may often be attacked on the ground of constructive fraud without regard to the attorney's actual intent or purpose.

§ 139. Money Collected and Not Paid Over

Money collected by an attorney for his client and not yet paid over constitutes a trust fund, and the attorney's duties and liabilities with respect thereto are determined accordingly.

An attorney who has collected money for his client and not yet paid it over ordinarily holds the same as a trustee rather than as a debtor,[26] and his duties and liabilities with respect thereto are much the same as any other bailee, trustee, or fiduciary.[27]

The attorney is under a strict duty to keep the client's funds separate from his own,[28] in a place of reasonable safety where they will always be available for immediate payment to the client;[29] and under no circumstances should he use the

20. Ind.—Kinney v. Dodd, 101 Ind. 573
N Y—Wille v Maier, 176 N E 841, 256 N.Y. 465, affirming 248 N Y S. 904, 232 App Div. 798, and reargument denied 177 N E 196, 256 N.Y. 692—Milne v. Schneider, 240 N Y. S. 375, 136 Misc. 15.
Wis—Hubbard v. McLean, 90 N.W. 1077, 115 Wis 9.
6 C J p 693 note 97.

Misrepresentations to adverse party
"In such cases as this, the attorney who induces the adverse party to a transaction to accept his word as to the law, in order to avoid the appearance of another attorney on the scene, fails in the jealous care for his standing at the bar which he should sedulously exert, and opens himself to liability for his false representations to his adopted client."—Wille v. Maier, 176 N E 841, 843, 256 N Y. 465, affirming 248 N Y S. 904, 232 App Div. 798, and reargument denied 177 N E. 196, 256 N Y 692.

Validity of Mexican divorce
Where money to obtain a Mexican divorce is paid to the attorney upon his knowingly false misrepresentations that the divorce will be valid and permit the client to remarry in New York, the client may hold the attorney liable for the money paid in an action for fraud and deceit—Milne v. Schneider, 240 N Y S 375, 136 Misc 15.

21. U S.—Goodrich-Lockhart Co. v. Sears, (D C Ky) 270 F 971
Ind—Manley v. Felty, 45 N E. 74, 146 Ind 194.
6 C J p 693 notes 98, 99.

Value of land
False representations by an attorney to an inexperienced client, as to the value of certain land which the attorney undertakes to recover for his client, whereby the latter is induced to execute a note for an exorbitant fee for the attorney's services, constitute positive fraud—Manley v. Felty, 45 N E 74, 146 Ind. 194

22. Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S W (2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161—6 C J p 694 note 2

23. U S—Baker v. Humphrey, (C C. Mich) 101 U S. 494, 25 L Ed 1065
Ark—Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S W (2d) 868, 181 Ark 161.
Ky.—Palms v. Howard, 112 S W. 1110, 129 Ky. 668—Pilant v. Davis, 2 Ky Op. 40
Miss—Gwin v. Fountain, 126 So 18, 159 Miss 619, suggestion of error sustained 132 So. 559, 159 Miss. 619.
N Y—Pitcher v. Sutton, 264 N Y S. 488, 238 App Div. 291, amended 265 N Y S 929, 240 App Div 754, and 265 N.Y.S 991, 240 App Div. 759, affirmed 191 N E 603, 264 N Y 638
N C.—Mebane v. Broadnax, 111 S E 627, 188 N C 333.
6 C J p 682 note 90, p 695 note 11.

24. Ivey v Neyland, (Tex Com App) 25 S W (2d) 813, reversing (Civ App) 11 S W (2d) 608—6 C J p 693 note 1.

25. U.S—Goodrich-Lockhart Co. v. Sears, (D C Ky.) 270 F. 971.
Ark—Francis v. Turner, 67 S W.(2d) 211, 188 Ark 158
N J—Turnley v Nixon, 163 A. 800, 112 N J Eq 116
Tex—Ivey v Neyland, (Com App) 25 S W (2d) 813, reversing (Civ App) 11 S W.(2d) 608—Holland v. Brown, (Civ App) 66 S W.(2d) 1095, error refused.
6 C J p 694 note 2

Nondisclosure held not established.—Cameron v. Hurn, 266 P. 179, 147 Wash. 434.

28. Ill.—People v Ladouceur, 179 N E 890, 347 Ill 454—People v Simmons, 173 N E 393, 341 Ill 340—People v. Tracey, 145 N E 665, 314 Ill. 434.
Mont—In re Lunke, 182 P. 126, 56 Mont 226.
Neb—State ex rel Sorensen v. Goldman, 255 N W 32, 127 Neb 340
N Y—In re Powers, 257 N Y S 113, 235 App Div 382—In re Babcock, 248 N Y S 489, 230 App Div 823—In re Walsh, 217 N Y S 253, 217 App Div 437—In re Ropiecki, 282 N.Y S. 947
6 C J p 684 note 4, p 694 note 4, p 695 note 12

Property of client, not of attorney
Although an attorney was justified in refusing to turn over to his client money collected until the amount of his retaining lien was determined, he had no right to the money as his own—In re Babcock, 248 N.Y.S. 489, 230 App.Div. 823.

27. In re G. F Redmond & Co., (D. C Mass) 17 F (2d) 501—6 C J p 695 notes 12, 13.

28. Mont.—In re Lunke, 182 P. 126, 56 Mont. 226
N Y—In re Porcella, 272 N Y.S 285, 241 App Div 344—In re Yochelson, 258 N Y S. 724, 236 App Div. 807—In re Powers, 257 N Y S. 113, 235 App Div. 382—In re Babcock, 248 N Y S. 489, 230 App Div. 823—In re Dobbs, 160 N Y.S 173, 173 App Div. 605—In re Ropiecki, 282 N Y.S 947.

29. In re Wyte (formerly Weissberger), 248 N Y S. 26, 231 App. Div. 539

In safety deposit box
Keeping of funds collected for client in safety deposit box of attorney disapproved—Gordon v. Harrison, 161 A. 608, 105 Pa.Super. 513.

funds for his own purposes,[30] or lend them to others,[31] without his client's knowledge and consent. With respect to the place of keeping, it has been said that the funds should be deposited in a separate trust account in a bank or trust company of good repute,[32] and that it is improper for the attorney to put the funds in his own safe deposit vault.[33]

If the attorney has kept the client's funds separate and earmarked as trust funds he is liable for their loss only if he is negligent or fails to exercise due care,[34] and he is not liable for a loss resulting solely by reason of the default of a third person,[35] but if he commingles the funds or treats them as his own he thereby becomes absolutely liable as a debtor.[36]

Consequently, if an attorney in good faith deposits the funds in a bank or trust company of good standing, the deposit being made in the name of the client or else clearly earmarked as a trust account, the attorney is not liable for a loss resulting from a failure of the depositary.[37] Nevertheless, although a mere good faith deposit by an attorney of his client's funds in his private banking account does not of itself constitute a conversion where the balance at all times exceeds the amount of the deposit,[38] it is generally held that an attorney who wishes to place the client's funds in a bank and escape liability for loss resulting from a failure of the bank must either make the deposit in the client's name or have it some way indicated on the books of the bank that it is the client's money.[39] If the attorney deposits the client's funds in an account in the attorney's name, and there is nothing in the account or the records of the bank to indicate the trust nature of the fund, the attorney is absolutely liable for a loss resulting from a failure of the bank irrespective of the attorney's good faith or whether the private funds of the attorney are actually commingled in the account.[40] A deposit in the attorney's name has been held, however, not to render the attorney liable for a subsequent failure of the bank where it was made with the express or implied consent of the client,[41] or the client was guilty of negligence in not withdrawing the funds after being notified that they were in the bank at his disposal and the bank was that of the client in which the attorney kept no deposit other than of the client's funds.[42]

§ 140. Negligence in General

An attorney is liable in damages to his client for injury sustained as a proximate consequence of the attorney's negligence in accordance with rules stated hereunder.

An attorney is liable in damages to his client for injury sustained by him as a proximate result of

30. Mont.—In re Lunke, 182 P 126, 56 Mont. 226
N Y—In re Simons, 208 N Y S 51, 211 App Div 659—In re Coleman, 165 N Y S 685, 178 App Div 580.
Liability for conversion
(1) If the attorney does use the funds for his own purposes he is liable for conversion—Cotton v. Sharpstein, 14 Wis 226
(2) Liability for conversion for failure to pay on demand see supra § 133

31. In re Simons, 208 N.Y.S 51, 211 App Div. 659

32. In re Langfur, 238 N.Y.S. 498, 227 App Div. 468.

33. In re Langfur, supra

34. N Y—Mahler v. Hyman, 17 N.Y S 588
Va—Pidgeon v. Williams, 21 Gratt (62 Va) 251
6 C J. p 695 note 12.

35. Ga—Rogers v. Hopkins, 70 Ga. 454.
Va—Pidgeon v. Williams, 21 Gratt. (62 Va) 251.
Misappropriation by third person
An attorney is not liable for moneys passing through his hands as a mere intermediary and subsequently misappropriated by a third person selected by the client to receive the same—Missouri, etc, R Co v Ferris, (Tex Civ App) 99 S.W. 896

36. Okl—Hummer v Wagner Supply Co, 280 P 1103, 139 Okl 24.
Pa—Falconi v Magee, 47 Pa Super. 560
Deposit in own account
If an attorney deposits the fund in his own account he thereby destroys its identity and becomes absolutely liable in assumpsit as a debtor, and is not relieved therefrom by reason of the fact that a check drawn on the account and mailed to the client in accordance with the latter's directions is misappropriated by a third person and collected on a forged indorsement—Falconi v. Magee, 47 Pa. Super. 560

37. Pidgeon v Williams, 21 Gratt. (62 Va) 251—6 C J p 695 note 14.

38. Peirce v Palmer, 77 A. 201, 31 R I 432, Ann Cas 1912B 181

39. Ind—Naltner v Dolan, 8 N E 289, 108 Ind 500, 58 Am R 61.
Okl—Hummer v Wagner Supply Co, 280 P 1103, 139 Okl 24

40. Ind—Naltner v. Dolan, 8 N E. 289, 108 Ind. 500, 58 Am R 61
Okl—Hummer v Wagner Supply Co., 280 P 1103, 139 Okl 24.
Reasons for rule
"Whenever a trustee, unless properly authorized to do so, puts the fund in such shape as to invest himself with a legal title to it, the cestui que trust has election either to treat the fund, according to the appearance of things, as the property of the trustee, and regard the latter as his debtor, or he may demand that the title be transferred to him. If a deposit is made in such a manner as, on the face of the books of the bank in which the deposit is made, to authorize the trustee, his assignee or legal representative, to claim it as the fund of the depositor, the cestui que trust has the option to do likewise In case it becomes the duty of an agent or trustee to deposit money belonging to his principal, he can escape the risk only by making the deposit in his principal's name, or by so distinguishing it on the books of the bank as to indicate, in some way, that it is the principal's money If he deposit in his own name, he will not, in case of loss, be permitted to throw such loss on his principal"—Naltner v Dolan, 8 N E. 289, 291, 108 Ind 500, 58 Am R 61.

41. Matter of Shanley, 107 N.Y S 913, 57 Misc 8, affirmed 109 N.Y.S 434, 124 App Div. 935, distinguished in Hummer v Wagner Supply Co, 280 P 1103, 139 Okl 24

42. Rogers v. Hopkins, 70 Ga 454

the attorney's negligence.[43] On the other hand, where an attorney acts with a proper degree of attention, with reasonable care, and to the best of his skill and knowledge, he will not be responsible.[44] Especially is an attorney not liable for a mere error of judgment, when he consults his client, and the latter, after being informed of the legal status of the case, approves the course the attorney proposes to pursue;[45] nor may liability on the ground of negligence toward a client be imposed on an attorney for a client's loss which results from his own free and voluntary act as to a matter wherein the attorney is deprived of control,[46] or where whatever loss has been suffered is due solely to the client's own individual default.[47] Moreover, where the matter, as to which an attorney is employed to represent a client, has been properly disposed of, he may not be permitted to charge the attorney with liability on the ground of negligence.[48]

Estoppel. A client who is a lawyer is estopped to plead the negligence of his attorney when his acquiescence in the latter's course is the result of a personal examination of the authorities, and of his individual knowledge and superior skill as a lawyer.[49]

Liability determined by employment. Although the liability of an attorney on the ground of negligence is ordinarily enforced by an action on the case for negligence in the discharge of his professional duties (see infra § 155), the liability in reality rests on the attorney's employment by the client and is contractual in its nature.[50] Hence, before the attorney can be made liable, it must appear that the loss for which he is sought to be held arose from his failure or neglect to discharge some duty which was fairly within the purview of his employment.[51] Moreover an attorney is liable for negligence in the conduct of his professional duties to his client alone, that is, to the one between

43. Ala.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 296, 215 Ala. 351
Fla.—Weekley v. Knight, 156 So. 625, 116 Fla. 721
Ill.—Olson v. North, 276 Ill.App. 457
Kan.—Shouse, Doolittle & Morelock v. Consolidated Flour Mills Co., 294 P. 657, 132 Kan. 108
Ky.—Duffin v. Commonwealth, 271 S.W. 555, 208 Ky. 452
Mass.—McLellan v. Fuller, 115 N.E. 481, 226 Mass. 374.
Nev.—In re Miller, 38 P.(2d) 972, 55 Nev. 414
6 C.J. p. 682 note 85, p. 696 note 28.

Each case determined by own facts
"What may be a want of skill in any particular case, or what may be ordinary neglect, must be decided by the facts and circumstances of the case which may be under consideration. It is exceedingly difficult, if not utterly impossible, to lay down any general rule which should control the measure of liability in all cases. Good faith must exist on the part of the attorney towards his client, and when this is shown, the absence or presence of reasonable skill and diligence must in each case be determined by its own facts."—O'Barr v. Alexander, 37 Ga. 195, 201.

Liability of physicians and surgeons
(1) Rules of law governing liability for negligence of physicians and surgeons toward their patients also govern the liability of attorneys for negligence toward their clients.—Olson v. North, 276 Ill.App. 457.—6 C.J. p. 696 note 28 [c]

(2) Negligence of physician see Physicians and Surgeons § 40 [48 C.J. p. 1113 notes 43, 44].

Attorney acting gratuitously
This liability exists, even though the attorney acts gratuitously.—Stephens v. White, 2 Wash. (2 Va.) 203.—6 C.J. p. 696 note 29

Falsely representing self as attorney
One who falsely represents himself as an attorney is accountable to his client with the same strictness as though he were an attorney.—Morris v. Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N.J.Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N.J.Misc. 866.—6 C.J. p. 696 note 30.

Determined by law at time of acts
Such liability is to be determined by the law at the time of the acts which are asserted to be negligent.—Montrose v. Daggott, 146 N.Y.S. 649, 161 App.Div. 494
Liability of client for negligent acts of attorney see supra § 68 [6 C.J. p. 672 note 51]

44. Citizens' Loan, etc., Assoc. v. Friedley, 23 N.E. 1075, 123 Ind. 143, 18 Am.S.R. 320, 7 L.R.A. 669.—6 C.J. p. 696 note 32.

45. Hinckley v. Krug, (Cal.) 34 P. 118

46. Executrix acting with others interested in estate
Where an executrix and others interested in an estate without an order of court divided the property by deeds and assignments, and the executrix got a note as part of her share, and the property was taken from the hands and control of the attorneys for the executrix, the executrix could not recover the amount of such note from the attorneys by reason of the collection of the note becoming barred by limitations six months after the division.—Wilmot v. Moody, 190 P. 639, 47 Cal.App. 156.

47. Failure to communicate facts
A client, having an opportunity to settle a case, but not communicating that fact, nor other facts, to its attorneys, is not entitled to hold such attorneys responsible for its own default.—Maryland Casualty Co. v. Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, (D.C.W.Va.) 224 F. 271, affirmed Maryland Casualty Co. v. Price, 231 F. 397, 145 C.C.A. 391

Failure to make payment or tender
Where the loss suffered by a client was due to his own failure to make a payment or tender necessary under a contract which he employed an attorney to enforce, liability could not be imposed on such attorney for the loss.—Bayly v. Lee, 162 P. 96, 174 Cal. 137.

Failure to furnish merchantable title
Attorneys employed by clients to secure a loan could not be held for damages arising out of failure to obtain the loan where clients failed to furnish a merchantable title to land to be mortgaged.—McCulloch v. Von Zellen, 187 N.W. 350, 218 Mich. 278

48. Where property properly distributed
Where the property of an estate was properly distributed, no recovery may be had for an attorney's supposed negligence in representing those claiming an interest in such estate.—McMillan v. Greer, 259 P. 995, 85 Cal.App. 558.

49. Carr v. Glover, 70 Mo.App. 242

50. Morris v. Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N.J.Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N.J.Misc. 866.

51. Watson v. Calvert Bldg., etc. Assoc., 45 A. 879, 91 Md. 25.—6 C.J. p. 697 note 35.

whom and the attorney the contract of employment and service existed, and not to third parties.[52]

§ 141. —— Care and Skill Required

An attorney is required, as respects his client, to exercise such skill, care, and diligence as are common in such matters of professional employment, but by some authority is liable only for gross negligence.

Ordinarily an attorney is not bound to possess or exercise the highest degree of skill, care, and diligence; nor is he an insurer or guarantor of the results of his work, but rather he is required, as respects his client, to exercise such skill, care, and diligence as men of the legal profession commonly possess and exercise in such matters of professional employment.[53] The rule as announced in many of the cases, however, is that an attorney is liable only on proof of "gross negligence."[54]

§ 142. —— Ignorance of Law

An attorney is required to have such knowledge of law as is ordinarily possessed by other attorneys, and is liable for loss resulting from ignorance thereof.

In addition to the care and skill which an attorney is required to exercise on behalf of his client (see supra § 141), an attorney is required to possess such a reasonable knowledge of the law as is ordinarily possessed by other attorneys.[55] Accordingly, an attorney must be acquainted with the statutes and the settled rules of law and practice prevailing in the courts in the locality wherein he practices, and is responsible for loss to his client resulting from ignorance thereof,[56] but he is not to be charged with

52. Buckley v. Gray, 42 P. 900, 110 Cal. 339, 52 Am S R. 88, 31 L R A. 862—6 C J p 697 note 36

Person deprived of interest under will

It has been held that an attorney employed to draw a will is not liable to a person who, through the attorney's ignorance or negligence in the discharge of his professional duties, is deprived of the portion of the estate which the testator instructed the attorney should be given such person by the will—Buckley v Gray, 42 P. 900, 110 Cal 339, 52 Am S R. 88, 31 L R A 862—6 C J. p 698 note 37.

53. Ark—Hampel-Lawson Mercantile Co v. Poe, 277 S W. 29, 169 Ark 840
Ill—Olson v North, 276 Ill App 457 See Sanitary Hair Goods Co v. Elliott, 191 Ill App 563.
Nev—In re Miller, 38 P (2d) 972, 55 Nev. 444—In re Hegarty's Estate, 222 P. 793, 47 Nev 369
Or—Ex parte Eastman, 62 P (2d) 27.
Pa.—In re Rossiter's Adjudication, 84 Pa Super. 193
Tenn—In re Woods, 13 S W (2d) 800, 158 Tenn. 383, 62 A.L.R 904.
6 C J. p 682 notes 84, 87, p 698 note 42.

Implied by law

It is implied by law that an attorney who undertakes the practice of law thereby undertakes to exercise reasonable care and skill in matters intrusted to him by clients.—In re Miller, 38 P.(2d) 972, 55 Nev. 444—Morris v. Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N J Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N J Misc. 866—McCullough v. Sullivan, 133 A. 102, 102 N.J Law 331, 48 A L.R. 928.

Skill and care by physicians and surgeons

(1) In accordance with the rule that attorneys are liable for their negligence toward their clients in the same manner as physicians and surgeons are liable to their patients (see supra § 140), attorneys are required to exercise that degree of skill and diligence in their profession which physicians and surgeons are required to exercise in theirs—Olson v. North, 276 Ill App. 457—6 C J. p 696 note 28 [c]

(2) Requirements of skill and care by physicians and surgeons see Physicians and Surgeons §§ 41–47 [48 C J. p 1113 note 46–p 1131 note 18]

Reasonable or ordinary care and skill

(1) The true measure of an attorney's duty and liability to his client has been held to turn on the question whether the attorney used reasonable care and skill—Good v Walker, 30 Ala 482, 68 Am D 134—Evans v. Watrous, 2 Port (Ala.) 205.

(2) Similarly it has been held that an attorney is liable only for want of ordinary care and skill.—Holmes v. Peck, 1 R I. 242

No guaranty of infallibility

"Attorneys do not guaranty that their judgment is infallible"—Mecartney v. Wallace, 214 Ill.App. 618, 624.

Lending client's money

(1) It has been held that an attorney, in whose hands money of a client was left to be loaned, although not insurer of such funds, had the duty to exercise the care of a reasonably prudent person in dealing with trust property—Shockney v. Marsh, 147 N E 292, 82 Ind App. 407.

(2) Similarly, where an attorney was authorized to lend a clients' money on a mortgage, it was held that such attorney was not liable as an insurer, but only for using due care and average skill—Weinberg v Needleman, 234 N.Y S. 49, 226 App. Div 3, affirmed 170 N E 167, 252 N. Y 622.

54. Pennington v Yell, 11 Ark 212, 52 Am D 262—6 C J. p 698 note 40.

As want of ordinary or reasonable care and skill

(1) Want of ordinary care and skill in an attorney has been held to amount to "gross negligence."—Holmes v. Peck, 1 R I. 242, 245.

(2) In another case where it was stated that an attorney was liable only for "gross negligence," these words were shown by other language in the opinion to be equivalent to want of "reasonable care and skill."—Evans v. Watrous, 2 Port (Ala.) 205

(3) Thus explained, the phrase "gross negligence" has been held to indicate the true measure of the attorney's duty and liability—Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala 482, 68 Am D 134—Evans v Watrous, 2 Port (Ala.) 205

Degrees of negligence generally see Bailments §§ 26–29 [6 C J. p 1113 note 37–p 1123 note 33]; Negligence §§ 3, 9 [45 C J. p 664 note 64–p 680 note 11].

55. Morris v Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N J Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N.J.Misc. 866

56. In re Woods, 13 S W (2d) 800, 158 Tenn 383, 62 A L.R. 901—6 C. J. p 698 note 43

Degree of knowledge as to well settled rules

"While an attorney does not guarantee the accuracy of all he does, he is bound to exercise reasonable skill and diligence in attending to business intrusted to his care, and he is bound to possess such reasonable knowledge of well-settled rules of law as will enable him to perform the duties he undertakes."—In re Woods, 13 S.W.(2d) 800, 802, 158 Tenn. 383, 62 A.L.R. 904.

negligence where he accepts, as a correct exposition of the law, a decision of the supreme court of his own state,[57] although it is subsequently overruled;[58] nor is an attorney liable for being in error as to a question of law on which reasonable doubt may be entertained by well informed lawyers, or for error in judgment on points of new occurrence, or of nice or doubtful construction.[59]

§ 143. —— Giving Improper or Erroneous Advice

An attorney is liable for giving improper or erroneous advice only where an attorney of reasonable knowledge or skill would have avoided the error.

An attorney is liable for all damage resulting to his client by reason of improper or erroneous advice where an attorney of reasonable knowledge and professional capacity, exercising ordinary care under the circumstances, would have avoided the error.[60] On the other hand, the mere giving of erroneous advice to a client does not necessarily impose liability for negligence on the attorney so advising.[61] Moreover, in order that erroneous advice may impose liability such advice must be the proximate cause of the loss.[62]

With respect to titles and securities. An attorney is not a guarantor that the titles which he certifies are perfect; he is liable only for negligence or misconduct in their examination.[63] Thus it is actionable negligence for an attorney in examining a title to land to overlook prior liens thereon;[64] but his good faith may not be impeached by a mistake or an error of judgment, either as to the law or its application to the concrete facts.[65] An attorney who certifies that a security is a good one thereby warrants that the title to the property constituting the security will not only be found good at the end of a contested litigation, but that the title is also free from any grave doubt or serious question as to its validity.[66] An attorney does not, however, undertake, except by special agreement, to pass on the value of security, even though he may have full knowledge of the amount his client expects to loan on it.[67] With respect to loss suffered by a client in consequence of his attorney's erroneous advice as to the validity of securities,

Circuit court rules and construction thereof

Attorneys owe to their clients the duty of familiarizing themselves with the rules of the circuit court and construction placed thereon by the supreme court—Michigan Cent R Co v. Morgan, 198 N.W. 967, 227 Mich. 491

Paying money of infant into court

Where an attorney, in disregard of statutes clearly indicating the procedure to be followed in case a guardian is unable to furnish a sufficient bond, paid money of an infant client into the county court, because he did not regard the guardian's bond as strong, he was liable to the infant for the loss of such money—In re Woods, 13 S W (2d) 800, 158 Tenn. 333, 62 A L R 904

57. Citizens' Loan, etc, Assoc. v. Friedley, 23 N.E 1075, 123 Ind 143, 18 Am S R. 320, 7 L R A. 669—6 C. J. p 699 note 44.

58. Marsh v. Whitmore, (Me) 21 Wall (U S) 178, 22 L.Ed 482, affirming (C.C) 16 F Cas No 9,122, 1 Hask. 391—6 C J. p 699 note 45.

59. Citizens' Loan, etc, Assoc. v. Friedley, 23 N.E. 1075, 123 Ind 143, 18 Am S R 320, 7 L R A. 669—6 C. J p 699 note 46.

Discovering and questioning finality of decisions

"Attorneys . . . are not necessarily negligent because they do not discover all decisions on a subject, or may question their finality."—Mecartney v. Wallace, 214 Ill App 618, 624.

60. Fabry v. Jay, 141 A. 780, 104 N. J Law 617—6 C J. p 699 note 48.

Enforceability of instrument

An attorney negligently assuring clients that a land contract which they proposed to take by assignment was enforceable was liable for resulting damages—Fabry v. Jay, 141 A. 780, 104 N J Law 617.

61. Parker-Smith v Prince Mfg Co., 158 N Y S. 346, 172 App Div 302.

Loss of remedy

The loss of a remedy through negligent advice is not necessarily actionable negligence, for there may be another remedy equally efficacious.—Parker-Smith v. Prince Mfg Co., 158 N Y S. 346, 172 App Div. 302.

Statute of limitations

Erroneous advice as to the application of the statute of limitations is not necessarily negligence, for there may be a question whether the error indicates lack of due professional care and skill—Parker-Smith v. Prince Mfg. Co, 158 N.Y.S. 346, 172 App Div. 302.

Expression of opinion

A mere expression of opinion not involving the exercise of legal knowledge does not subject an attorney to liability—Reumping v Wharton, 76 N W 1076, 56 Neb 536.

62. Cochrane v. Little, 18 A. 698, 71 Md. 323.

63. Priddy v. Mackenzie, 103 S W 968, 205 Mo. 181—6 C J. p 699 note 50.

Negligence in conduct of litigation compared

"In determining the question of negligence on the part of an attorney in examining a title, it is necessary to bear in mind the marked difference between proper conduct in that employment and in a litigation In a litigation a lawyer is well warranted in taking chances. To some extent litigation is a game of chance. The conduct of a lawsuit involves questions of judgment and discretion as to which even the most distinguished members of the profession may differ They often present subtle and doubtful questions of law. If in such cases a lawyer errs on a question not elementary or conclusively settled by authority, that error is one of judgment for which he is not liable. But passing titles, as a rule, is of an entirely different nature A purchaser of real estate is entitled not only to a good, but to a marketable title, that is, a title free from reasonable doubt"—Byrnes v. Palmer, 45 N.Y S 479, 18 App Div. 1, 4, affirmed 55 N.E 1093, 160 N Y. 699.

64. Lawall v. Groman, 37 A. 98, 180 Pa 532, 57 Am S R 662—6 C.J. p 699 note 51

65. Sellers v. Knight, 64 So. 329, 185 Ala 96.

66. Page v. Trutch, (C.C Or.) 18 F Cas No 10,668. 3 N Y.Wkly Dig. 167, 1 Cinc L Bul. 224

67. Md—Watson v Calvert Bldg., etc, Assoc, 45 A. 879, 91 Md 25 N.Y—Cohn v Heusner, 30 N.Y.S 244, 9 Misc. 482.

the client's right of action accrues immediately, and he may recover the difference between the value of the security that his attorney actually obtained for him and of that which he undertook to obtain under his contract of employment.[68] At all events, in accordance with the rule that an attorney is liable for negligence only to his client (see supra § 140), an attorney employed by a mortgagee to examine the security and who gives his client a certificate of title is not liable to an assignee of the mortgagee for loss by reason of error in the certificate.[69]

§ 144. —— Making Collections

An attorney employed to collect a claim is liable for damage resulting from a failure to use proper care and diligence in making such collection.

An attorney employed to collect a debt is liable for all damages resulting to his client from his failure to exercise proper care or to use due diligence in making such collection,[70] and his good faith in the matter is immaterial.[71] This is true, although the debtor lives in a county where the attorney does not practice.[72] An attorney is liable for negligence not only in failing to collect, but also in failing to guard against contingencies which may injuriously affect his client's debt.[73] He is also liable where, by his negligence, he embarrasses his client in obtaining payment of his claim, although the debtor is solvent and able to pay the debt.[74] An attorney who prosecuted a claim for half of recovery and assigned his interest in judgment to an officer of the corporation sued was held not authorized in ethics or law to collect his own part and abandon all efforts to collect his client's part.[75]

On the other hand, an attorney may not be held liable for the value of claims placed in his hands on a simple failure to account on demand,[76] nor may an attorney be charged with the collection of particular moneys on a mere showing of outstanding receipts without corresponding credits in books where they should have been entered.[77] Moreover, an attorney employed to collect a debt on which an action has been pending may not be liable for negligence on dismissal of the action.[78]

Duty to pursue remedies before and after judgment. An attorney is liable whether a failure to collect is due to his failure to secure judgment on the debt because of his want of care, skill, or diligence,[79] or to his failure to take prompt and proper steps after judgment has been obtained;[80] in the absence of an understanding or agreement with

68. N Y—Fay v McGuire, 47 N Y S 286, 20 App Div 569, affirmed 57 N. E 1109, 162 N Y 644
Pa—Lawall v Groman, 37 A 98, 180 Pa 532, 57 Am S R 662—Miller v Wilson, 24 Pa 114.

69. Dundee Mortg, etc, Co. v. Hughes, (C C Or) 20 F. 39

70. Woods v Mitchell, 6 Ky Op. 513—6 C J. p 700 note 57.

Duty to receive payment

(1) It has been held that the fact that an attorney is authorized to receive payment of claims due to his client and placed in his hands for collection is said to impose no duty on him to do so—Poole v. Gist, 15 S C L. 259

(2) But from the holdings of other cases in this section the correctness of this opinion is questionable, and it seems that an attorney refusing to accept a valid tender of money due on a claim left with him for collection would be liable as for a failure to collect.

Collection of note

Attorneys undertaking collection of a note were bound to exercise reasonable care, skill, and diligence, and put forth all reasonable and proper effort to collect the money, advise their client of the situation and steps necessary to be taken, and utilize the procedure and processes generally known to the profession—Orr v. Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Co., (C C.A Minn) 291 F 343

Realizing highest price in sale of pledge

Attorneys who had control of the sale of a decedent's corporate stock for a mortgagee holding such stock as pledge on a mortgage of the corporation had a duty to secure the highest possible price—Chiswell v. Campbell, 150 A 90, 300 Pa 68

71. Miller v Prescott, 146 N W 1124, 157 Wis 264

72. Riddle v Poorman, 3 Penr. & W (Pa) 224

73. Wain v Beaver, 29 A 114, 493, 161 Pa 605—6 C J p 700 note 60

74. Wilson v Coffin, 2 Cush (Mass) 316.

75. In re Lahm, 167 N Y S 217, 179 App Div 757, affirmed 119 N E 1032, 223 N Y 573

76. Bougher v. Scobey, 23 Ind. 583.

77. Tennison v Quinn, 282 S.W. 20, 170 Ark. 1194

Delinquent taxes

An attorney retained by an improvement district was not chargeable with delinquent collections of taxes on a mere showing of outstanding tax receipts without corresponding credits on tax books—Tennison v Quinn, 282 S.W 20, 170 Ark. 1194.

78. In absence of knowledge and before agreement to try case

An attorney employed to collect a debt after action had been three years pending was not liable for negligence, where subsequent dismissal of the action for want of prosecution was had without his knowledge and before he agreed to try the case—Lawson v. Sigfrid, 262 P 1018, 83 Colo 116

79. Miss—Fitch v Scott, 4 Miss 314, 34 Am D. 86
Tex—Fox v Jones, (App.) 14 S W. 1007
6 C J p 701 note 63.

80. Orr v. Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Co, (C C A Minn.) 291 F 343—6 C J p 701 note 64.

No defense that client could collect from another

Where attorneys employed to collect a note and obtain judgment against the maker, which could have been collected in the exercise of reasonable care and skill, neglected their duty, and the note became uncollectable, they cannot defend on the ground that their client could collect the note from an indorser.—Orr v. Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Co, (C.C.A. Minn) 291 F. 343.

Collection from officer levying execution

Where attorneys were employed to collect on a note, brought suit there-his client, he is bound to sue out all processes necessary to the collection of a demand, unless he requests specific instructions from his client[81] or is influenced by a prudent regard for the interest of the creditor;[82] but, although it is his duty thus to pursue his client's cause through all its stages, he is not bound to institute new collateral suits without special instructions so to do, such as actions against a sheriff or a clerk for any failure of their duty in the issuance or service of process.[83] He should pursue bail, however, and those who may have become bound with defendant, either before or after the judgment, in the progress of the suit.[84] It is not the duty of an attorney who has a claim for collection to file it as a claim against the estate of a debtor afterward declared insolvent.[85]

Where an attorney is given full discretion to pursue any such course to secure the collection of a debt as he may deem best, he is not liable for adopting a course that he may consider proper under the circumstances, although the debt may be thereby lost, unless it is shown that his error of judgment was due to a lack of knowledge of plain and elementary principles which every attorney should know.[86]

Effect of attorney's receipt "for collection" Where an attorney, on receiving a claim for collection, executes his receipt therefor indicating that it has been received "for collection," he binds himself personally to use proper care, skill, and diligence to collect it, and becomes liable for the negligence or default of his agent or representative to whom he turns the claim over for collection.[87]

Client's receipt for part of proceeds. The receipt by a client from his attorney of a part of the proceeds of his claim, when more might have been collected by the employment of ordinary care and skill, is neither an accord and satisfaction nor an estoppel.[88]

§ 145. —— Preparing and Recording Contracts or Conveyances

Attorneys employed to prepare documents of conveyance are under a duty to draw them properly, but may not, in the absence of a special contract, be under a duty to record documents which they have been employed to prepare.

An attorney who is employed to prepare documents of conveyance has the duty to see that they are properly drawn,[89] but, if he is merely asked to draw a contract of sale and to give certain advice, he is not, in the absence of anything wrong with the papers drawn or the advice, liable to his client for failure of the other party to carry out the agreement.[90]

Recording. An attorney employed to prepare deeds, contracts, or other papers which are required to be registered in order to be effective as to third parties is not bound, in the absence of a special contract, to file such papers for recordation, or to see that they are recorded; that is no part of his duty as attorney unless he has especially undertaken it.[91] He may be liable, however, in cases where he has expressly contracted to attend to their being recorded, or where the special circumstances are such as to raise the implication of such a contract.[92]

§ 146. —— Conduct of Litigation

An attorney must exercise reasonable care, skill, and knowledge in the conduct of litigation on behalf of a client and must be properly diligent in the prosecution of the case.

An attorney who undertakes to perform services for a client in the conduct of litigation impliedly contracts to exercise due care, skill, and knowledge of the law in the conduct of his client's business, and his negligence in that regard is a breach of his undertaking.[93] Moreover, an attorney who undertakes to conduct litigation is under a duty to pros-on, recovered judgment, and procured execution, they were held liable to the judgment creditors for negligence in failing to collect from the officer who executed the judgment resulting in loss to such judgment creditors as clients—Woods v. Mitchell, 6 Ky Op 513.

81. Dearborn v. Dearborn, 15 Mass 316—6 C.J. p 701 note 65.

Omissions and conduct amounting to negligence

Attorneys receiving a note for collection, but failing to fasten a lien on the debtor's interest in certain land until time for redemption from a mortgage foreclosure had expired, or to have a second writ of garnishment issued on alias execution, although knowing that mineral royalties were due the debtor, but instead, without the client's knowledge, redeeming the land themselves under judgment owned by them, and attempting to collect the royalties for themselves, were held to be guilty of a neglect of duty—Orr v. Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Co., (C.C.A.Minn.) 391 F. 343.

82. Pennington v. Yell, 11 Ark. 212, 52 Am.D. 262—6 C.J. p 701 note 66

83. Pennington v. Yell, 11 Ark. 212, 52 Am.D. 262.

84. Pennington v. Yell, supra—6 C.J. p 701 note 68.

85. Moore v. Winston, 66 Ala. 296—Stubbs v. Beene, 87 Ala. 627

86. Ark.—Pennington v. Yell, 11 Ark. 212, 52 Am.D. 262.

Iowa.—Bennett v. Phillips, 10 N.W. 828, 57 Iowa 174

Tex.—Morgan v. Giddings, 1 S.W. 369.

6 C.J. p 701 note 70

87. Cummins v. Heald, 24 Kan. 600, 36 Am.R. 264—6 C.J. p 701 note 71.

88. Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am.D. 134.

89. Dale v. Dale, 262 P. 339, 87 Cal. App. 359.

90. Harkness v. Caven, 48 A. 1030, 199 Pa. 267.

91. Fenaille v. Coudert, 44 N.J.Law 286—6 C.J. p 702 note 76

92. Miller v. Wilson, 24 Pa. 114—6 C.J. p 702 notes 77, 78.

93. Roehl v. Ralph, (Mo.App.) 84 S.W.(2d) 405—6 C.J. p 702 note 79.

ecute the same with reasonable diligence,[94] and to keep advised of the situation and proceedings had therein.[95] Further, it is his duty to adopt all honorable means of advancing his client's cause,[96] but he is under no obligation to maintain positions which do not accord with his own notions of law and justice simply because they tend to his client's advantage.[97] An attorney is not liable for negligence in the conduct of litigation where, notwithstanding such negligence in the prosecution[98] or defense[99] of a suit, the client has no cause of action or meritorious defense as the case may be. Similarly, where other conduct of an attorney with respect to litigation results in no damage to his client, the attorney is not liable.[1] Of course an attorney employed to conduct litigation cannot be held liable for acts of a third person with respect to matters which are outside the scope of the attorney's duties.[2]

Attorney acting without authority. A recovery may be had against an attorney for negligently and improperly defending an action, even though he appeared therein without authority.[3]

Collateral matters or suits. Although an attorney is not bound to institute collateral suits without special instructions so to do,[4] if he undertakes something outside his strict professional duty and does it so negligently that his client is injured, he is liable.[5]

Fraud is not essential to render an attorney liable to his client for the mismanagement of a suit.[6]

Personal attention. Notwithstanding the right of a person to the personal services of an attorney whom he employs, as discussed previously in this Title (see supra §§ 56, 107), it is not a part of the attorney's duty, in the absence of special agreement, to attend in person to the management of every detail of the case.[7] Where the client en-

Verbal agreement with unreliable practitioner

It was negligence for an attorney employed to conduct litigation to take a verbal agreement from an admittedly unreliable practitioner who repudiated the same when it was sought to be made effective, thereby causing inconvenience and trouble to rectify.—Jeger v. Julius Kessler & Co., 218 Ill.App. 39.

94. In re Babcock, 243 N.Y.S. 489, 230 App.Div. 323

Inadequacy of compensation immaterial

An attorney agreeing to secure a divorce for a specified sum, and taking the client's money therefor, was required to prosecute the action with reasonable diligence, even if the sum agreed on was too small.—In re Babcock, 243 N.Y.S. 489, 230 App.Div. 323

Where contract required immediate suit

An attorney, not suing within a reasonable time, was held to be guilty of a breach of a contract requiring immediate suit and to be liable in damages.—Buchanan v. Huson, 148 S.E. 345, 39 Ga.App. 774.

Delay of more than four years

That an attorney, instructed by his client to push a suit speedily to judgment, delayed it more than four years, it being dismissed for lack of diligent prosecution, establishes negligence making the attorney liable.—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P. 961, 177 Cal. 783.

No liability for delay caused by plaintiff

Where an infant plaintiff failed to sign papers for the appointment of a guardian ad litem, it was held that attorneys were not liable for delay in instituting suit.—Zeitlin v. Morrison, 152 N.Y.S. 1000, 167 App.Div. 220.

95. Vincent v. Kelly, 249 P. 942, 121 Okl. 302

Mode of keeping advised

Counsel are required to examine the records of cases in which they are interested, and, notwithstanding the custom of making inquiries regarding cases of office clerks, an attorney who relies thereon does so at his own risk.—In re Trottier, (D.C.Mass.) 32 F.(2d) 1010

96. Strobhar v. State, 47 So. 4, 55 Fla. 167.—6 C.J. p. 702 note 80.

97. Mich.—Sprague v. Moore, 99 N.W. 377, 136 Mich. 426
N.Y.—Matter of Hardenbrook, 131 N.Y.S. 250, 135 App.Div. 634, affirmed 92 N.E. 1086, 199 N.Y. 539.
6 C.J. p. 702 note 81.

98. Milton v. Hare, 280 P. 511, 130 Or. 590.

99. Frost v. Hanscome, 246 P. 53, 198 Cal. 500

Failure to defend action

(1) A client could not recover damages for failure of an attorney employed to defend an action against the client to set up an unavailing defense.—Roehl v. Ralph, (Mo.App.) 84 S.W.(2d) 405.—Utterback-Gleason Co. v. Standard Accident Ins. Co. of Detroit, Mich., 184 N.Y.S. 862, 193 App.Div. 646, affirming 179 N.Y.S. 836, and affirmed 135 N.E. 913, 233 N.Y. 549.

(2) Accordingly, a client could not recover for an attorney's failure to defend an action against the client on a note where the client had no defense to the note which the court could have submitted to the jury in an action on the note.—Roehl v. Ralph, supra.

(3) At all events, a failure to defend a suit resulting in a judgment against a client does not render the attorney liable for the full amount of the judgment unless he was informed by the client as to the nature of the defense he was expected to make.—Western, etc., Ins. Co. v. Selzer, 23 Ohio Cir.Ct.(N.S.) 104

1. Russell v. Makanai, 31 Hawaii 517

Failure to join unborn child as party

An attorney's failure to join an unborn child in a partition suit on behalf of a client is not the cause of damage to the client, although the child was later adjudged owner of the fee, where the client's title is decreed merely a life estate.—Russell v. Makanai, 31 Hawaii 517

2. In re Hegarty's Estate, 222 P. 793, 47 Nev. 369.

Notice of hearing

An attorney in the absence of knowledge in the matter is not chargeable with the negligence of the clerk of the court in giving an insufficient notice of the hearing of the application for the probate of a will, in view of the plain requirements of Rev.L. § 5866, that the clerk of the court shall give such notice.—In re Hegarty's Estate, 222 P. 793, 47 Nev. 369

3. O'Hara v. Brophy, 24 How.Pr.(N.Y.) 379

4. Pennington v. Yell, 11 Ark. 212, 52 Am.D. 262.—6 C.J. p. 703 note 88

5. Walker v. Goodman, 21 Ala. 647.

6. Breedlove v. Turner, 9 Mart.(La.) 353.—6 C.J. p. 703 note 91.

7. U.S.—Williams v. Reed, (C.C.Me.) 29 F.Cas.No.17,733, 3 Mason 405.
Ky.—Rust v. Larue, 4 Litt. 411, 14 Am.D. 172
6 C.J. p. 703 note 86 [a].

gages additional counsel to take charge of a particular part of the litigation to the exclusion of the original attorney, the latter is not chargeable with negligence in retiring from the case to this extent.[8]

Process, pleadings, and taking necessary steps. An attorney may be liable in damages to his client for failure to procure proper service of process.[9] An attorney must, likewise, prepare and file all pleadings necessary in the proper conduct of a cause and take such other steps as may be required in the progress of the case; if, by his failure to do so or by his delay, his client's rights are prejudiced, he must reimburse the latter to the extent of the injury suffered in consequence.[10] He does not, however, guarantee the sufficiency of every pleading prepared by him or under his direction; but he is responsible to his client only for those mistakes as a pleader which indicate a lack on his part of the attainments and diligence commonly possessed and exercised by legal practitioners of ordinary skill and capacity,[11] nor is he liable for the improper conduct of a cause due to pleadings filed before he was retained in the case or had any connection with it.[12]

Presenting case to court. An attorney who undertakes to represent his client is under a duty to be present in court for that purpose when the client's case is reached[13] and not to withdraw from the case without adequate cause.[14] Moreover, an attorney who undertakes to represent a client in conducting litigation is under a duty to present the claims of the client to the court unless the attorney knows they are false,[15] and, when representing a defendant, an attorney has the duty to insist that his client be proceeded against by the rules of legal procedure.[16] Further it is the duty of an attorney to his client to see that only competent evidence is introduced against him,[17] but an attorney is also required to see that no evidence is introduced on behalf of his own client for an improper purpose.[18] Of course an attorney who undertakes the conduct of litigation is required to see that the interests of his client are protected as respects findings,[19] judgments and orders,[20] and appeal.[21]

8. Phillips v. Edsall, 20 N E 801, 127 Ill. 535—6 C J p 703 note 87

9. Wilson v. Carroll, 250 P. 555, 80 Colo 234

Affidavit of publication

An attorney for plaintiff in a foreclosure suit was held liable for negligence in filing an affidavit of publication, without showing that affiant was competent to state statutory facts—Wilson v. Carroll, 250 P. 555, 80 Colo. 234.

Ignorance, incompetency, or inattention

Whether the attorney's neglect in this respect is due to his ignorance, incompetency, or inattention is immaterial to the question of his liability—Wilson v. Carroll, 250 P 555, 80 Colo 234

10. Roehl v. Ralph, (Mo App) 84 S.W (2d) 405—6 C J. p 702 note 82

11. Rapuzzi v. Stetson, 145 N Y S 455, 160 App Div. 150—6 C J. p 703 note 83

12. Thompson v. Dickinson, 84 N E 262, 159 Mass. 210—6 C J. p 703 note 84 [a].

13. Court not obliged to waive presence

"He is expected to be present when he undertakes to represent his client in term, and if he is not the court is under no obligation to waive his presence."—Waddell v. Aycock, 142 S E 10, 195 N C 268

When important matter disposed of

An attorney owes a duty to appear in court for his client when any important matter concerning the case is being disposed of—Atlas Assur Co of London v Fairchild, 43 P (2d) 482, 171 Okl 609

14. Rohr v Chicago, N S. & M R R, 190 N W 827, 179 Wis 106

Improper withdrawal

Plaintiff's attorney's withdrawal from case because of dissatisfaction with an adverse ruling of court was held to be improper, as his duty to his client and to the court required him to proceed with the case and to obtain a review of such ruling by an appellate court—Rohr v Chicago, N S & M. R. R., 190 N.W. 827, 179 Wis 106.

15. Shapiro v Frankel, 276 N Y.S 530, 243 App Div 618

16. Dunn v. Bradley, 7 Ky Op. 282

17. McMahan v City of Abilene, (Tex Civ App) 8 S W (2d) 554

18. Watson v. Trinz, 274 Ill App 379

After advising client evidence not to be used

Attorneys are not liable to clients for failure to make use of certain evidence, where, after a study of the law on the subject, they advise clients before the action is tried that they will not use such evidence—Utterback-Gleason Co v Standard Accident Ins Co of Detroit, Mich, 184 N Y S 862, 193 App Div. 646, affirming 179 N.Y S 836, and affirmed 135 N E 913, 233 N Y 549

19. Armstrong v Adams, 283 P 871, 102 Cal.App 677

Including amount of client's loss

Failure of an attorney to include in findings the amount of loss sustained by his client was held to be actionable negligence—Armstrong v Adams, 283 P 871, 102 Cal App 677

Liability notwithstanding adoption of findings

An attorney could not escape liability to his client for negligence in drawing up a finding on the ground that the findings were adopted by the judge—Armstrong v. Adams, 283 P. 871, 102 Cal App 677.

20. Fla.—Atlantic Coast Line R Co v. Holliday, 74 So. 479, 73 Fla. 269.

Tenn.—Whittaker v. Tenn. Central Ry. Co, 3 Tenn App. 185

Entry of judgment

It is duty of an attorney at law to take all necessary steps for the due entry and enrollment of a judgment to which his client is entitled, and the neglect of such duty may render the attorney liable for any loss to the client—Atlantic Coast Line R Co v. Holliday, 74 So. 479, 73 Fla. 269

21. Okl.—In re Opinion of Judges, 231 P. 1041, 26 Okl Cr. 41.

Wis.—Rohr v Chicago N S. & M. R R, 190 N W 827, 179 Wis 106

Appeal from death sentence

The right of appeal is a constitutional right, and counsel representing a defendant sentenced to death fails to fulfill his duty as an attorney if he either neglects or refuses to take an appeal from such a judgment—In re Opinion of the Judges, 221 P. 1041, 26 Okl Cr. 41.

§ 147. Unauthorized Acts in General

An attorney is liable in damages to his client for injuries which result from the attorney's unauthorized acts.

An attorney, who is without authority to take certain steps in regard to his client's matters (see supra §§ 79–107), may be liable for injury suffered by the client as a result of the attorney's taking such steps.[22] Thus, where an attorney, without authority, enters an appearance for a party,[23] dismisses a suit,[24] compromises his client's debt,[25] or withdraws[26] or enters satisfaction of a judgment without full payment thereof,[27] he is liable to his client for the damage suffered. So, where an attorney, without authority, appears and confesses judgment, the remedy is against him.[28] Likewise, an attorney who consents to vacate a regular judgment without the knowledge of his client acts at the peril of being held responsible for any loss which may be shown to have necessarily resulted from that act.[29]

Damage must be shown. In these, as in other cases, a client must show that he has suffered actual damage in consequence of the unauthorized acts of his attorney.[30]

§ 148. —— Violation of Instructions

An attorney is liable to his client for injury resulting from the attorney's violation of his client's instructions.

In accordance with rules governing the liability of agents toward their principals for violations of instructions (see Agency §§ 147–154), an attorney's duty, where he is specially instructed, is to follow the instructions of his client, except as to matters of detail connected with the conduct of the suit, and he is liable for all losses resulting from his failure to follow such instructions with reasonable promptness and care.[31] Thus, if an attorney is instructed by his client to bring suit on a note placed in his hands, it is not discretionary with him to bring suit or not to bring it; but he will be liable for any loss due to his neglect, although he acted in good faith and did what he honestly supposed to be for the interest of his client.[32] Similarly, where a client specifically instructs his attorney to procure a writ of garnishment his failure to do so may render him liable for any loss resulting therefrom to the client.[33] Conversely, where an attorney is instructed to pursue a particular course of action, and he does so, he cannot be held liable for negligence in not pursuing another course which might have proved more beneficial to his client.[34] At all events, where acts of an attorney in violation of his client's instruction are ratified by the client, he cannot recover for loss resulting from such violation.[35]

22. Chatfield v. Simonson, 92 N.Y. 209—6 C.J. p. 703 notes 93, 94

23. Reynolds v. Fleming, 1 P. 61, 30 Kan. 106, 46 Am.R. 86—6 C.J. p. 703 note 95.

24. Coopwood v. Baldwin, 25 Miss. 129

25. La.—Woodrow v. Hennen, 6 Mart. 156
Miss.—Fitch v. Scott, 4 Miss. 314, 34 Am.D. 86—Lombard v. Whiting, 1 Miss. 229.

26. Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 396, 215 Ala. 251

Unjustifiably abandoning conduct of litigation

Attorney unjustifiably abandoning conduct of litigation without client's consent is liable for damages.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 396, 215 Ala. 251.

Withdrawal on request of client's agent

Attorney's liability for withdrawal from the case without the client's consent, on the request of the client's agent employing the attorney, depends on the propriety of such withdrawal and the agent's authority to dismiss the attorney.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 396, 215 Ala. 251.

27. People v. Cole, 84 Ill. 327.

28. N.Y.—Denton v. Noyes, 6 Johns. 296, 5 Am.D. 237
Pa.—Cyphert v. McClune, 22 Pa. 195
Tenn.—Jones v. Williamson, 5 Coldw. 371.

29. Clussman v. Merkel, 16 N.Y.Super. 402.

30. Vooth v. McEachen, 73 N.E. 488, 181 N.Y. 28, 2 Ann.Cas. 601—6 C.J. p. 704 note 2

31. Cal.—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P. 961, 177 Cal. 783
Md.—Caltrider v. Weant, 128 A. 72, 147 Md. 338.
S.C.—McCoy v. Hydrick, 141 S.E. 174, 143 S.C. 135, 56 A.L.R. 953.
6 C.J. p. 704 note 3

Presumed to follow instructions

It is a fair presumption that an attorney acts according to the instructions of his client, unless in a case of such negligence that a violation may be inferred.—Holmes v. Peck, 1 R.I. 242.

32. Cox v. Livingston, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 103, 37 Am.D. 486.

33. W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. v. Rollwage, 63 S.W.(2d) 841, 187 Ark. 1084.

Attorney's erroneous belief immaterial

An attorney's erroneous belief that the law prohibited garnishment before judgment did not excuse his failure to follow a client's positive instructions to institute suit and to obtain a writ of garnishment.—W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. v. Rollwage, 63 S.W.(2d) 841, 187 Ark. 1084.

Debtor's promise to pay immaterial

An attorney, failing to follow a client's instructions to bring suit and to obtain a writ of garnishment for fire insurance moneys due debtor before judgment, became liable for resulting loss to a client, although the debtor promised to pay the claim on receipt of insurance moneys.—W. L. Douglas Shoe Co. v. Rollwage, 63 S.W.(2d) 841, 187 Ark. 1084.

34. Lord v. Hamilton, 56 P. 525, 34 Or. 443—6 C.J. p. 704 note 5.

35. Bidding on foreclosure sale

A mortgagee, who instructed his attorney to bid, but not to exceed a certain sum, on the mortgaged property at the foreclosure sale, and, when the attorney bid in the property for a greater sum, accepted the sheriff's deed and paid the purchase price by permitting the amount of the bid to be credited as a satisfaction pro tanto of the foreclosure decree, thereby ratified his agent's act, and he cannot recover from the latter the difference between the authorized bid and the amount at which

§ 149. Acts of Associates or Substitutes

An attorney may be liable to a client for loss resulting from negligence or wrongdoing on the part of an associate or substitute attorney.

Since, as previously observed in section 107, an attorney has, in general, no authority to employ another attorney to attend to the matters in which the first attorney has been retained, it follows that, if he does intrust to another the performance or prosecution of matters intrusted to him, he becomes liable to his client for any negligence or wrongdoing on the part of the substitute employed by him.[36] However, where the client is informed of the necessity and reason for his attorney's retaining another lawyer for certain purposes and the client approves of such employment, he cannot recover from the original attorney for the negligence of such associate.[37] At all events, an attorney entering employment as associate counsel with another attorney at the request of a client is not disqualified from continuing to represent such client, notwithstanding the other attorney has disqualified himself from continuing to represent the client.[38]

§ 150. Acts of Partners and Clerks

An attorney may be liable to a client for the acts of the attorney's partners and for the acts of the attorney's clerks.

As the employment of a member of a firm of attorneys is that of the entire firm, an attorney is liable to a client for the negligence, lack of skill, or wrongful acts of a partner, even though he himself may have had no participation in, or knowledge of, the transaction.[39] Such acts, however, in order to make the attorney liable, must be done while the relation of attorney and client subsists between the firm and the client.[40]

Accordingly, law partners are not liable to a client of the firm, for the acts of one of the partners, after dissolution of the firm, which are not connected with the partnership business.[41] On the other hand, where a claim is placed in the hands of attorneys who are partners, and before the money has been collected the partnership is dissolved, and afterward one of them receives the money and neglects to pay it over to plaintiff, both attorneys are liable as copartners.[42]

Clerks. An attorney who has a clerk or quasi associate in his office is, as respects a client, bound by the clerk's acts and declarations made within the apparent scope of his authority.[43] During an attorney's absence his clerk represents him, as to all ordinary business of the office, so as to bind the attorney.[44] However, an attorney's clerk, no matter how extensive his general powers may be, cannot, without the consent of his principal, settle[45] or discontinue[46] an action, or waive a notice which he has authority to receive;[47] nor can such a clerk bind the attorney's client by a discharge, without satisfaction, of a debt due such client.[48] Of course, an act beyond the authority of a clerk may be ratified and adopted by the attorney.[49]

§ 151. Acting for Party Adversely Interested

An attorney representing adverse interests may be liable to one of the parties for loss due to the attorney's failure to disclose a material fact.

In accordance with the rule that an attorney is by virtue of his office disqualified from representing adverse interests in the sense that they are in con-the property was sold, although he was thereby barred from recovering from the mortgagor the deficiency for which the latter would otherwise have been liable—Sproul v. Lloyd, 115 A. 667, 96 N.J.Law 314.

36. Smallwood v. Norton, 20 Me. 83, 37 Am.D. 39—6 C.J. p. 704 note 7.

37. Negligence of foreign attorney
A New York attorney, who with due care retained an attorney in another state to conduct procedural matters in such state, was not liable for the foreign attorney's negligence, where the client was informed of the necessity and reason for retainer and approved the choice—Wildermann v. Wachtell, 267 N.Y.S. 840, 149 Misc. 623, affirmed 271 N.Y.S. 954, 241 App.Div. 812.

38. Bryant v. Lewis, (Tex.Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604.

39. Model Building & Loan Ass'n of Mott Haven v. Reeves, 194 N.Y.S. 383, 201 App.Div. 320, reversing 186 N.Y.S. 759, 114 Misc. 137—Lichtenheld v. Bersen, 285 N.Y.S. 585—6 C.J. p. 704 note 8.

Money collected for client
A member of a law partnership is liable for money another partner has collected for a client of the firm.—Whitaker v. Kesler, 3 Ky.Op. 236.

On guilty attorney's withdrawal from firm
It was the legal duty of a firm of attorneys employed by testamentary trustees to disclose misappropriations by an attorney who withdrew from the firm and continued to handle the estate's business, and failure to do so gave the trustees an action for damages—Camp v. Reeves, 205 N.Y.S. 259, 209 App.Div. 488, affirmed 148 N.E. 753, 240 N.Y. 672, reargument denied 150 N.E. 532, 241 N.Y. 508.

40. Ayrault v. Chamberlin, 26 Barb. (N.Y.) 83.

41. Holton v. American Pastry Products Corporation, 174 N.E. 663, 274 Mass. 268.

42. Smyth v. Harvie, 31 Ill. 62, 83 Am.D. 202—6 C.J. p. 705 note 11.

43. McGuinness v. Manhattan R. Co., 74 N.Y.S. 1054, 69 App.Div. 606—6 C.J. p. 629 note 35, p. 705 note 12.

44. Mahoney v. Middlesex County, 11 N.E. 689, 144 Mass. 459—6 C.J. p. 639 note 35.

45. Alterman v. Weil, 142 N.Y.S. 465.

46. Irvine v. Spring, 30 N.Y.Super. 293—6 C.J. p. 629 note 37.

47. Page v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 54 P. 730, 122 Cal. 209.

48. Carter v. Talcott, 10 Vt. 471.

49. Johnson v. Sprague, 66 N.E. 422, 183 Mass. 102.

flict (see supra §§ 47, 48), an attorney who, with the consent of the interested parties, represents such adverse interests may be liable for loss sustained by one of such parties, due to the attorney's failure to disclose a material fact.[50]

§ 152. Actions for Money Collected and for Accounting

The liability of an attorney to pay over to his client money collected for him and to account for a client's money (see supra §§ 133–137), may be enforced by an appropriate action brought for that purpose (see infra § 154).

§ 153. —— Defenses

In a client's action against an attorney for money collected and for an accounting, the attorney is entitled to certain defenses as noted hereunder.

Where money is applied by an attorney, in good faith and in accordance with an agreement entered into between his clients, this act is a defense in an action against the attorney, although there was a failure of consideration among the clients.[51] In an action against an attorney for money collected, it is a defense that, before he had an opportunity to account, the money was garnished by a creditor of the client,[52] but a mere notice to the attorney to hold the money until the respective rights can be tested will not afford him any excuse, if other parties claim the fund, nothing but an injunction will justify the attorney in withholding payment.[53] A summary proceeding by a client to compel an attorney to pay over money collected is no bar to a recovery in an ordinary action against the attorney for money collected.[54]

Estoppel. An attorney who has collected money for his client is estopped to deny that he is an attorney,[55] that plaintiff is a corporation when it sues in the same name used by him in obtaining the judgment,[56] or to claim that the client has no title to the moneys collected,[57] and he may be estopped by his own laches from setting up an equitable defense.[58]

Limitations and laches. An attorney is not debarred from the provisions of the statute of limitations, in an action against him for money collected, because of the relationship existing between him and his client,[59] but the operation of the statute is prevented by payment by the attorney of either principal or interest.[60]

The defense of laches is not available to an attorney when sued by his client for an accounting, unless he is guilty of an unreasonable delay in bringing suit.[61]

Set-off and counterclaim. An attorney, when sued by his client for money collected for the latter, may set up by way of counterclaim a demand for services, and he is entitled to set off other claims which he may have against his client,[62]

50. Johnston v. Andrade, (Tex.Civ.App.) 54 S.W.(2d) 1029

Duty to disclose settlement

An attorney representing the owners of a contract to buy an oil interest owed the owner selling his interest to another owner the duty to fully disclose the situation respecting the pending settlement of litigation affecting the value of such oil interest.—Johnston v. Andrade, (Tex.Civ.App.) 54 S.W.(2d) 1029

51. Guthrie's App., 92 Pa. 269—Strohecker v. Hoffman, 19 Pa. 223

52. Ewing v. Freeman, 30 S.E. 637, 103 Ga. 811.

53. Dunn v. Vannerson, 8 Miss. 579

54. Minn.—Burgraf v. Byrnes, 103 N.W. 315, 94 Minn. 413.
Miss.—Coopwood v. Baldwin, 25 Miss. 129

55. McFarland v. Crary, 8 Cow.(N.Y.) 253, affirmed 6 Wend. 297.

56. McMath v. Com., 12 Ky.L. 251

57. Mich.—Case v. Ranney, 140 N.W. 943, 174 Mich. 673
N.Y.—Fogerty v. Jordan, 25 N.Y. Super. 319
6 C.J. p. 707 note 55.

58. Cannon v. Sanford, 20 Mo.App. 590.

59. Cook v. Rivers, 21 Miss. 328, 53 Am.D. 88—6 C.J. p. 707 note 48.

60. Torrence v. Strong, 4 Or. 39.

61. No laches

Where in 1917 an attorney took a client's assignment of a realty mortgage absolute in form and gave a separate writing to reassign on the discharge of his liability on an accommodation indorsement, and acquired, for a nominal consideration, in 1918, through his brother, the mortgagor's equity at a bankruptcy sale and, in 1919, her realty, in partial satisfaction of a mortgage debt, before the accommodation note matured and without foreclosing the rights of his client, who was without other representation during the foreclosure of the realty mortgage, and where the attorney, without notice, substituted his own note for his client's and sold the realty at a profit in 1926, the client, who was without knowledge of the adverse claim until the attorney refused to account for the proceeds of the sale, was not barred by laches from the right to an accounting.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.

62. U.S.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.
Tex.—Henry v. Boedker, (Civ.App.) 141 S.W. 811.
6 C.J. p. 707 note 51.

Counterclaim on note properly allowed

Where a client sued an attorney for an accounting, a counterclaim by the attorney on a note given by the client for services and disbursements in another matter was held to be proper.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.

Interest

In a client's suit against an attorney for an accounting, where the attorney filed a counterclaim for fees and disbursements, the attorney was entitled to interest on his counterclaims from the time they were due.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.

Counterclaim held excessive

Where a client sued his attorney for an accounting, an allowance of although there exists authority to the effect that an attorney's refusal to pay over money collected or render an account deprives him of any right to counterclaim for compensation for his services.[63] Where collection is made after a client's death, it has been held in an administrator's suit to recover the money that an attorney cannot set off the sum due for his services before the client's death, but that he may do so for the sum due for those rendered afterward.[64]

§ 154. —— Proceedings and Relief

a. In general
b. Conditions precedent
c. Time to sue
d. Persons entitled to sue; parties
e. Pleading
f. Evidence
g. Trial
h. Amount of recovery

a. In General

Actions at law or in equity may be available to a client whose attorney withholds money collected or refuses to account therefor.

In addition to the summary remedies which a client may have to compel an attorney to pay over money collected (see infra §§ 158, 159), where an attorney wrongfully withholds money which he has collected, his client may bring an action at law against him for the amount so withheld.[65] Moreover, an attorney may be compelled to account to a client by a suit in equity.[66] Indeed, where moneys come into the hands of attorneys in the course of their business, and they have a lien on said moneys as security for their services and disbursements, an action for conversion will not lie against them until after there has been an accounting.[67] Further, where an attorney collects money belonging jointly to several persons, one may not sue alone and recover his share, an accounting and adjustment to determine plaintiff's share being necessary.[68] However, except in those cases where a client is entitled to compel an accounting (see supra §§ 133–137), a bill in equity will not lie, unless for some particular reason the remedy at law is not adequate and its appears that the power of a court of equity is necessary to complainant's remedy.[69] eight hundred thirty-eight dollars and sixty-seven cents on the attorney's obviously padded counterclaim for miscellaneous services was held to be excessive for all over two hundred seventy-two dollars and sixty-seven cents—Davitt v O'Connor, (C C A N Y) 73 F (2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v Davitt, 55 S Ct. 217, 293 U S 621, 79 L Ed 709.

Items not allowable

(1) Where a client sued his attorney for an accounting, an allowance on the attorney's counterclaim of three hundred eighty dollars, or any other sum, for the settlement of suit, where the attorney reimbursed himself for expenses and retained one hundred nineteen dollars and ninety-one cents for services, which according to the ledger balanced the account, was error Davitt v. O'Connor, (C C.A N Y) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v Davitt, 55 S.Ct 217, 293 U S 621, 79 L Ed 709.

(2) Where a client sued his attorney for an accounting and the attorney counterclaimed for settling an earlier suit for fifty dollars, which he retained, but for which he never presented a bill and had no record of any additional charge, an allowance of two hundred dollars or any other sum for such services was error—Davitt v O'Connor, (C C.A N Y) 73 F (2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S Ct 217, 293 U S. 621, 79 L Ed 709

63. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420.

64. Lewis v. Kinealy, 2 Mo App 33

65. Palmer v. Thomson, 38 S C L 607—6 C J. p 705 note 17

Where the professional relation involves a series of acts and duties, an attorney is not suable until the relation has been dissolved—Glenn v. Cuttle, 2 Grant (Pa.) 273.

Recovery of percentage on supersedeas bond

Where an attorney agreed to collect claims on conditional fee and agreed with assignees of claims to collect and receive a percentage of their profits, and appeal in the original case by defendants was unsuccessful, assignees of claims were held entitled to a percentage of damages on supersedeas bond—Snyder v Howard's Adm'x, 65 S.W (2d) 477, 251 Ky. 592.

66. Delasca v. Grimes, 174 N W. 523, 144 Minn 67—6 C J. p 684 note 4 Accounting generally see supra § 133

In action to set aside deed and for accounting

On setting aside a deed obtained by an attorney from his client, in an action brought by him to have such deed set aside and for an accounting, there should be an accounting, in which the client should be credited with the rents and profits and charged with taxes, interest, and other proper expenditures made by the grantees—Delasca v. Grimes, 174 N W. 523, 144 Minn. 67.

Purchase of client's land as basis

Attorney's purchase from a client of the land in litigation constitutes sufficient ground for equitable jurisdiction on the client's bill against the attorney for an accounting—Morrow v. Compton, 215 Ill App 524

67. Rose v Whiteman, 101 N Y S. 1024, 52 Misc 210

68. Jackson v Moore, 76 N Y.S 164, 72 App Div 217

69. Crothers v Lee, 29 Ala 337—6 C J p 705 note 19

Attorney and client relation insufficient

While the relation of attorney and client is fiduciary, yet, if there is no complexity or difficulty in an account between such parties the fact alone of the relationship does not present a case for equity jurisdiction—Smith v. Lineville Nat Bank, 106 So 54, 21 Ala App 65, certiorari denied Ex parte Smith, 106 So. 55, 213 Ala 699

Debtor and creditor relation remediable at law

When a member of a law firm, acting as counsel and director for a loan association, received checks drawn by the association and also checks from debtors to the association, failure to pay over such funds results in the relation of debtor and creditor between the counsel and the association, remediable at law, but not in equity—Model Building & Loan Ass'n of Mott Haven v. Reeves, 140 N E 715, 236 N Y 331, reversing 194 N.Y S 383, 201 App Div. 329, which reversed 186 N Y S 759, 114 Misc. 137, followed in Mears v. Cooper, 264 N Y S 899.

Penal proceedings. Under applicable statutory provisions, where an attorney retains money which he has collected and should pay over to his client, not only may a suit be brought as for other debts, but also the attorney may be subject to proceedings to compel him to pay as a forfeiture five times the interest of the money which he has unreasonably neglected to pay over.[70] Under such statutes, he may also be subject to arrest on execution and forbidden to take the oath for the relief of poor debtors.[71]

Form of action at law. With reference to the form of the action at law it has been held that assumpsit,[72] case,[73] and account render[74] will lie against an attorney who fails to pay over money collected by him. On the other hand, it has been held that book account was not the proper form of action for a client to compel an attorney to pay over the difference between a judgment recovered on behalf of the client and the sum actually received by him from the attorney.[75]

b. Conditions Precedent

In order to maintain an action to compel an attorney to pay over money collected or withheld, it may be necessary that a demand be made by the client and a refusal be given by the attorney. Under some circumstances the giving of a release by a client may be a condition precedent. However, a bond may not be required as a condition precedent; nor is restoration or offer to restore benefits required, where such benefits came from one other than the attorney.

In order for a client to maintain any proceeding against his attorney to compel the payment of money collected by the latter and not paid over, the general rule is that there must be a demand by the client and a refusal by the attorney,[76] unless demand has been waived or there are circumstances which excuse it,[77] as where the attorney has collected money and has failed to notify his client of that fact,[78] or where the act of receiving the money was wrongful.[79] Moreover, a demand for money may be excused where it is retained under a void contract,[80] or where it has been collected a long time and its retention is unexplained;[81] where a trust relation exists between the parties;[82] where the attorney has agreed to pay over moneys when collected and has failed to do so;[83] or where he denies his liability[84] and converts the money to his own use.[85] On the other hand, there exists authority to the effect that a demand and refusal does not in any event constitute a condition precedent to an action to compel an attorney to pay over money collected,[86] or that the commencement of the action itself is a sufficient demand.[87]

Bond A bond, required by statute to be given in cases where it is sought to obtain the release of property from an attorney's lien, is not required as a condition precedent to cases whenever it is sought merely to recover moneys collected by an attorney and withheld from his client.[88]

Release Where an administrator turns over the balance in his hands to the attorney for the distributees, with directions to hold it in trust for them, but not to pay it to them until they have duly and properly signed a release, they cannot

70. Griffiths v. Powers, 103 N.E. 468, 216 Mass 169—Goss Printing Press Co v. Todd, 88 N.E. 780, 202 Mass 185.

71. Goss Printing Press Co v Todd, supra.

72. Cameron v. Clarke, 11 Ala. 259—6 C.J. p 705 note 20.

Profit

Assumpsit may lie against an attorney to recover a profit which he should have paid over to his client —Mecnen v. Negley, 93 Pa.Super 591

Liability for improper compromise of client's claims

An attorney may be held liable in an action of assumpsit for money had and received, where he accepts in payment of a client's claim debts due by himself to others.—Houx v. Russell, 10 Mo 246

To maintain assumpsit against an attorney for money had and received, it must appear that the attorney had received money due to plaintiff, or something which he had received as money and instead of it, or which he had actually or presumptively converted into money before suit was brought—Peay v Ringo, 22 Ark 68—6 C.J. p 694 note 8

73. Tinkham v Heyworth, 31 Ill 519—6 C.J. p 705 note 21.

Lease may lie where an attorney settles a suit by his client and receives in payment of his client's claim defendant's claims on third parties—Coopwood v. Baldwin, 25 Miss 129.

74. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420

75. Smalley v Soragen, 30 Vt. 2—6 C.J. p 705 note 22 [a]

76. Wood v. Claiborne, 102 S.W. 219, 82 Ark. 514, 521, 11 L.R.A.(N.S.) 913, 18 Am.St.R. 89—6 C.J. p 706 note 28.

77. Black v. Hersch, 18 Ind 342, 81 Am.D. 362—6 C.J. p 706 note 29

78. Ark.—Jett v Hempstead, 25 Ark 462—Denton v. Embury, 10 Ark 228.

Pa.—Glenn v. Cuttle, 2 Grant 272.

79. Mowery v Webb, 6 Ky.L. 360—6 C.J. p 706 note 31.

80. Jordan v Westerman, 28 N.W. 826, 62 Mich 170, 4 Am.St.R. 836—6 C.J. p 706 note 32.

81. Chapman v. Burt, 77 Ill. 337.

82. Metz v. Abney, 42 S.E. 103, 64 S.C. 254

83. Mardis v. Shackleford, 4 Ala. 493

84. Cal.—Cox v. Delmas, 33 P. 836, 99 Cal 104

N.Y.—Walradt v. Maynard, 3 Barb. 584

Wash.—Burrows v McCalley, 49 P. 508, 17 Wash 269.

85. Ga.—Nisbet v Lawson, 1 Ga. 275

Ill.—Chapman v. Burt, 77 Ill. 337

86. Ott v. Hood, 139 N.W. 762, 152 Wis. 97, 99, 44 L.R.A.(N.S.) 524, Ann.Cas.1914C 636—6 C.J. p 706 note 39

87. Hollenbeck v. Stanberry, 33 Iowa 325

88. Armitage v Sullivan, 39 N.W. 399, 69 Iowa 426.

maintain an action against the attorney to recover their respective shares without first tendering the release, as a compliance with the condition precedent which the administrator has placed on its payment [89]

Restoration of benefits. A rule requiring that an aggrieved party restore, or offer to restore, benefits which he has received as a condition precedent to bringing suit does not apply to an action by a client against an attorney to recover money from an attorney, where the benefits received by the client came from the adverse party rather than from the attorney.[90]

c. Time to Sue

Actions to compel an attorney to pay over money collected and for an accounting must be brought within the proper time.

Where by the terms of a contract existing between a client and his attorney he is not required to repay certain money until a time specified in such contract, an action brought to compel him to account prior to such time is premature.[91] In order to invoke the aid of equity, however, a client who seeks to compel an attorney to account for money claimed by the client must proceed with reasonable promptness.[92]

d. Persons Entitled to Sue; Parties

The assignee of a client may be entitled to sue for money collected; but it may be necessary to sue in the name of the real party in interest.

The assignee of a client may be entitled to bring an action to recover money which has been collected by an attorney and not paid over [93]

Where the complaint shows a breach of contract on the part of an attorney to pay over money collected by him, as such, the liability is on the contract, and the suit must be in the name of the real party in interest [94] On the other hand, the attorney who is sought to be compelled to pay over money collected is the proper party defendant.[95]

e. Pleading

General rules govern pleading in actions against attorneys for money collected and for an accounting.

In accordance with rules governing pleading in civil actions generally, see Pleading §§ 69–86 [49 C.J. p 132 note 12–p 154 note 70], the pleading of a client, who sues to recover from an attorney money collected and withheld by him, must state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.[96] Moreover, where, in accordance with rules discussed in a previous paragraph of this section, a demand and refusal is a condition precedent to an

89. Matter of Smyley, 19 N.Y.S 266

90. Mann v Showalter, 88 S.E 968, 145 Ga. 268

91. Jerome v. Carr, 193 N.Y.S 564

Money payable on termination of controversy

Where a client sought to recover the balance due on an account advanced to his attorney for prosecuting a claim which was still pending, under an agreement whereby the attorney was to receive one-fourth of the recovery for his services and disbursements, and the amount advanced was to be repaid on termination of the controversy, the action was prematurely brought.—Jerome v Carr, 193 N.Y.S 564

92. Paying fees and acquiescing in settlement

A client, voluntarily paying excessive attorney's fees and acquiescing in a settlement for more than two years, cannot invoke the aid of equity.—Ingram v Wesley, (C.C.A.Tex.) 37 F.(2d) 201, certiorari denied 51 S. Ct. 26, 282 U.S. 843, 75 L.Ed. 747

93. Young v. Miller, (Mo.App.) 182 S.W. 822

Assignee consenting to settlement

An assignee of a contestant of a will consenting to a settlement by defendant, the attorney for the other contestant, and to defendant's agreement to pay him his share, was held to be entitled to recover from defendant. Young v. Miller, (Mo.App.) 182 S.W. 822.

94. Allen v. Alston, 41 So. 159, 147 Ala. 609.—6 C.J. p 707 note 53

Original claimants not necessary parties

Where an attorney agreed to collect claims on a conditional fee, and agreed with the assignees of the claims to collect them and to receive a percentage of the profits, original claimants were not necessary parties to the assignees' action against the attorney for their part of the money collected.—Snyder v. Howard's Adm'x, 65 S.W.(2d) 477, 251 Ky. 592.

95. Young v. Miller, (Mo.App.) 182 S.W. 822.

In suit by assignee

In a suit by the assignee of a contestant of a will to recover his share of the proceeds of a settlement in the hands of an attorney and of another contestant, the attorney was held to be a proper party defendant.—Young v. Miller, (Mo.App.) 182 S.W. 822

Bringing in new parties

In a proceeding against an attorney for funds withheld from a client, orders denying the attorney's motion to bring in a former partner and another as codefendants were held to be proper or not erroneous.—Hazlett v Sebring, 275 N.Y.S 260, 242 App.Div. 892.

96. Hill v. Pinder, 133 A. 134, 150 Md. 397.—6 C.J. p 707 note 60 [a].

Bill, complaint, or petition sufficient or not demurrable

(1) A bill against an attorney was held to state a cause of suit for both a discovery and an accounting for the value of land conveyed to defendant in excess of the quantity agreed and profits from the sale thereof to an innocent purchaser for value.—Hill v. Pinder, 133 A. 134, 150 Md. 397.

(2) A complaint against an attorney to recover a balance of money deposited by a client, from which certain expenditures were to be made, was held to state a cause of action.—Grant v Hallam, 276 P. 687, 139 Or. 321, certiorari denied Hallam v Grant, 50 S.Ct. 32, 280 U.S. 522, 74 L.Ed. 591

(3) Petition in a client's action to recover the amount received by her attorneys on the settlement of another suit, less the percentage which they agreed to accept in urging her to make such settlement, was held not demurrable.—Hill & Adams v. West, 117 S.E. 774, 30 Ga.App. 286.

(4) An amended petition, alleging attorney retained a sum in excess of a reasonable fee, was held to state a cause of action in contract.—Meyer v Glick, 295 S.W. 844, 221 Mo.App. 1046.

action against an attorney for money collected, plaintiff must aver such demand and refusal.[97] The complaint however, need not aver that defendant had been retained for reward;[98] that defendant promised to account for the moneys which he collected,[99] or that the latter fraudulently embezzled, misapplied, or converted the money,[1] neither is it necessary for him to state the particulars of the account or to furnish a bill of particulars, unless under a special order.[2]

Issues, proof, and variance. Rules relating to issues, proof, and variance in civil actions generally, see Pleading §§ 512-546 [49 C.J. p 780 note 50-p 818 note 81] are applicable to questions of issues, proof, and variance in actions by clients against attorneys for money collected.[3]

f. Evidence

General rules govern questions relating to presumptions, burden of proof, the admissibility of evidence, and the weight and sufficiency of evidence in actions against attorneys for money collected or for an accounting.

In actions for money withheld from his client by an attorney or for accountings, general rules of evidence apply.

Presumptions and burden of proof. Where it is shown by evidence that the attorney has collected a judgment owned by plaintiff, the presumption is that he owned all of the money.[4] Moreover, in the absence of proof, the presumption is that an attorney gave notice of the collection of the money, and that his client made demand therefor within a reasonable time.[5] Otherwise, the burden of proof is on plaintiff to establish, on all the evidence, his right to recover,[6] but where the relationship and the receipt of the funds have been shown, the burden is on the attorney to account therefor,[7]

(5) A petition, alleging that defendant was plaintiffs' attorney in a suit to quiet title to plaintiffs' lands, that defendant settled the suit without plaintiffs' consent and received money, which money plaintiffs now seek to recover, stated a cause of action.—Fliegle v. Brewster, (Mo App.) 59 S W (2d) 769.

(6) A petition of a client, who engaged attorneys to recover for a death, setting out that the attorneys' compensation was to be fifty per cent in case of suit, thirty three and a third per cent in case of compromise, and that the attorneys represented that a friendly suit, desired by defendant to establish plaintiff's status as wife, would not affect her net return, but nevertheless, treated it as authorizing them to retain half the proceeds of the settlement, was held to state a good cause of action for money had and received.—Heller v McGilvray, (Mo App) 223 S W 970

Bill, complaint, or petition insufficient or demurrable

(1) A bill against an attorney for an accounting was held to be demurrable for lack of allegations showing a cause of action or meeting the apparent defenses of limitations and laches.—Drury v. Poor, 182 N E 817, 280 Mass 564.

(2) A complaint against attorneys and another, averring that "defendants or some one or more of them" collected the amount of the judgment, was held to be fatally defective in not alleging the other defendants' duty to see that the one collecting the money paid it over.—Howard v. McCarson, 110 So. 296, 215 Ala. 251

(3) Where money is rightfully in possession of a firm of attorneys entitled to a lien for services, a complaint to recover the money is demurrable, in the absence of an allegation that a sum previously paid was in full for services, or that the lien had been adjusted.—Young v. Bijur, 182 N Y S. 803

(4) A petition in a client's action against an attorney for a part of an amount collected, showing an agreement authorizing an attorney to make an adjustment, including a settlement with himself, under which the client was to receive a certain amount, stated no cause of action, unless by virtue of its allegations of fraud.—Orozem v. McNeill, 176 P 106, 103 Kan. 694, denying rehearing 175 P. 633, 103 Kan 429.

Evidence inadmissible on demurrer

In a proceeding to recover cash bail deposited with attorneys, records showing that the attorneys performed services for accused, a third person, were properly excluded as immaterial in a hearing on a demurrer to the complaint.—Gentilli v. Brennan, 233 N W. 98, 202 Wis. 465

97. Madden v Watts, 37 S E 209, 59 S C. 81.—6 C J p 707 note 62.

98. Nisbet v. Lawson, 1 Ga. 275.—6 C J p 707 note 63.

99. Nisbet v. Lawson, supra.

1. Grinnell v. Sherman, 14 N Y S. 544, 60 Hun 578, 38 N Y St 587

2. West v Brewster, 8 N Y Super. 647.—6 C.J p 707 note 66.

3. Caples v. Ditchburn, 169 P. 510, 87 Or 264

Proof not required

(1) The answer of an attorney sued for money collected, claiming part of it, and justifying the possession and detention of the remainder, makes it unnecessary for plaintiff to prove demand of payment.—Caples v. Ditchburn, 169 P. 510, 87 Or. 264.

(2) Proof of actual fraud as between an attorney and client is not requisite to the maintenance of an action for moneys intrusted to the attorney.—Zeller v Knapp, 1 P (2d) 1071, 115 Cal.App. 486.

What may be shown under general issue

Where an attorney is sued for money in his hands and on which he has a lien, he may show that in his defense, under the general issue, and he is not obliged to plead his claim in offset.—Patrick v. Hazen, 10 Vt. 183.

No variance

In a particular action of assumpsit to recover money in the hands of defendant, who was plaintiff's attorney, it was held that there was no substantial variance.—Meenen v. Negley, 93 Pa Super 591.

4. Caples v Ditchburn, 169 P 510, 87 Or. 264

5. Voss v. Bachop, 5 Kan 59

6. Mass.—Ross v. Gerrish, 8 Allen 147.

Neb.—Prusa v Everett, 135 N W. 1076, 86 Neb 456

6 C J p 707 note 69.

7. Shepherd v Crawford, 71 Ga. 458.—6 C J p 707 note 70

Law firm's burden of showing accounting

In a suit against a surviving member of an alleged law firm and executors of deceased member for the recovery of money shown to have been collected by deceased partner, the burden was on defendants to show an accounting, and not on plaintiffs to show that defendants had not accounted for the money.—Edwards v. Wall, 114 S E. 63, 29 Ga. App 107, conforming to answers to certified questions 113 S E. 190, 153 Ga. 776.

and to show that his dealings with his client have been fair and just.[8] Similarly, an attorney, sued for money collected by him and not paid over, has the burden of proving that his use of the money collected was in good faith and in accordance with instructions,[9] that plaintiff is not entitled to all of the money collected by the attorney,[10] or a postponement of plaintiff's right.[11] Further, the attorney has the burden of establishing other defenses, such as limitations,[12] accord and satisfaction,[13] or set-off or counterclaim.[14] If an attorney defends on the ground that the amount retained is due him for legal services, the burden is on him to prove the services and their value.[15]

Admissibility. Rules governing the weight and sufficiency of evidence in civil actions generally (see Evidence §§ 158–1015 [22 C.J. p. 158 note 51–p 1295 note 98]) are applicable to the question of admissibility of evidence in actions by clients against attorneys for money collected.[16]

Weight and sufficiency. Rules governing the admissibility of evidence in civil actions generally (see Evidence §§ 1016–1050 [23 C.J. p 8 note 99–p 58 note 80]) govern questions of the weight and sufficiency of evidence in actions by clients against attorneys for money collected or for an accounting.[17]

8. Clark v Millsap, 242 P. 918, 197 Cal 765—6 C J. p 707 note 71.

Burden not met

In a particular case, where an attorney sustained a double trust relation to his client, it was held that, on the evidence, such attorney, as trustee, gaining an advantage from his client, the beneficiary, failed to meet the burden imposed on him of showing that the transaction was fair.—Clark v. Millsap, 242 P 918, 197 Cal 765.

9. Money received by attorney for settlement

Where certain money was alleged to have been paid by a client, under threat of criminal prosecution by a husband, to an attorney to settle with such husband, whose wife frequented the client's hotel for immoral purposes, the burden was on the attorney, when sued for an accounting, to prove his use thereof was in good faith and in accordance with instructions.—Berman v Coakley, 153 N E. 463, 257 Mass 159

10. Caples v. Ditchburn, 169 P. 510, 87 Or 264.

11. Caples v. Ditchburn, supra.

12. Burden not met

Where an attorney died six years and three months after collecting money for a client, and without paying it over, it was held that, in the absence of a showing that a reasonable time for payment in addition to the statutory six-year period had elapsed thirty days before the attorney's death, the burden on defendant of establishing the bar of limitations was not met—Goodyear Metallic Rubber Shoe Co v. Baker's Estate, 69 A. 160, 81 Vt. 39.

13. Fairness of amount retained for services

In an action to recover alimony collected and retained by defendants who were attorneys for plaintiff in a divorce suit, where the defense was an accord and satisfaction, defendants had the burden of proving that the amount retained was a fair and just remuneration for services rendered—Farrell v Betts & Betts, 81 So 138, 16 Ala App 668.

14. Brock v. Brock, 47 Pa Super 321

Reliance on contract for percentage

If the attorney alleges a contract for a certain percentage of the amount collected, the burden is on him to prove such contract—Brock v Brock, 47 Pa Super 321.

Burden not met

Where an attorney, acting for a client, makes expenditures in carrying out his client's business, but fails to obtain vouchers of such expenditures and to turn them over to his client with his accounts, he fails to meet the burden of proof resting on him to show that he is entitled to a set-off against money of his client in his hands—Newman v. Newby, 221 P 386, 64 Cal App 279

15. Iowa—Youngerman v Pugh, 125 N W 321—Stanton v. Clinton, 2 N. W. 1027, 52 Iowa 109.

N Y.—Weber v. Werner, 122 N.Y S. 943, 138 App Div. 127.

16. Hettleman v. Frank, 110 A. 715, 136 Md 351

Evidence admissible

(1) In an action by a nondeclarant alien to recover from his attorney sums paid to secure a release from draft, the alien's testimony that he was first given deferred classification and then reclassified, but that he never received a notice of call into the service, was admissible—Hettleman v. Frank, 110 A. 715, 136 Md. 351.

(2) In an action by an executor against an attorney for failure to pay over the proceeds of a satisfied mortgage, evidence of another mortgage to the attorney's client was admissible to show reinvestment—Jobe v. Mondereau, 67 Pa Super. 311.

(3) Where an issue existed as to the amount of money an attorney paid a client in a bank, testimony of the client's husband that the client on coming out of the bank counted the money, and that the sum was only a specified number of dollars was not objectionable as outside of the issues—Hatfield v. Krueger, 187 N E 895, 98 Ind App 377.

Evidence inadmissible

(1) In a client's action to recover a balance of money deposited with an attorney, which the attorney claimed was paid as a fee, letters from plaintiff to defendant while defendant represented plaintiff were held to be immaterial—Grant v. Hallam, 276 P. 687, 129 Or 321, certiorari denied Hallam v. Grant, 50 S Ct. 82, 280 U S. 522, 74 L Ed 591.

(2) A circular letter written by the adjutant general of the state of New York, wherein a nondeclarant alien had registered, was inadmissible in an action by such alien against a Maryland attorney to recover moneys paid such attorney to secure a release from a war-time draft, where it appeared that the alien, after being given a deferred classification, was reclassified, etc—Hettleman v. Frank, 110 A 715, 136 Md 351

17. Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or 378

Evidence sufficient

(1) Evidence in a particular action by a client against her attorney was held to require a dismissal of a bill against the attorney for an accounting—Gard v. Gould, 238 N.W. 187, 255 Mich. 570.

(2) Evidence held to warrant a judgment requiring an attorney to account for the difference between the amount actually paid for a client's land and the amount represented by the attorney to have been paid—Hawley v. Jennings, 145 S E. 697, 148 S C. 140.

(3) In an action for an accounting by the administrator of a deceased beneficiary under another's will against attorneys who represented such beneficiary in procuring his share under the will, the evidence was held to show that defendants, in securing a compromise of a bona fide contest of the will, acted in good

g. Trial

General rules relating to the trial of civil actions govern in the trial of actions against attorneys for money collected and for an accounting.

Rules relating to the trial of civil actions generally (see Trial §§ 55–156 [64 C.J. p 110 note 72–p 232 note 84], §§ 203–448 [64 C.J. p 296 note 48–p 1008 note 99], §§ 485–573 [64 C.J. p 1053 note 53–p 1189 note 61]) govern the trial of actions by clients against attorneys for money collected and for an accounting, as respects the reception of evidence,[18] taking of case or question from the jury,[19] faith in accordance with instructions from the beneficiary and that the beneficiary was not deceived about defendants acting as attorneys for the executors of the will, as well as for such beneficiary—Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or 378

(4) In an action by a client to recover of an attorney a sum paid for services and a sum delivered to the attorney to provide cash bail, but which was unused for that purpose, evidence was held to be sufficient to sustain a verdict for plaintiff—Miller v. Ginsberg, 159 N.W. 950, 134 Minn. 397

(5) In a client's action to recover an amount deposited with an attorney, evidence supported a finding that the client had agreed that a claim for the attorney's fees would offset the client's claim—Thomas v. Armstrong, (La.App.) 146 So. 795

(6) In a client's suit to recover from his attorney a balance in the attorney's hands after a settlement of a claim against his client, the evidence supported a finding that there was no understanding fixing in advance the fee of the attorney—Smith v. Fisher, (La.App.) 150 So. 55

(7) Evidence in an accounting action was held to be sufficient to support a conclusion that an attorney was indebted to his client—Rieck v. Chapman, 257 P. 108, 88 Cal.App. 735

(8) Evidence warranted the recovery of money intrusted to an attorney for investment on the ground of his false misrepresentation respecting business—Zeller v. Knapp, 1 P.(2d) 1071, 115 Cal.App. 486

(9) Evidence sustained a finding that a negro Creek freedman voluntarily paid the attorney's fees and acquiesced in the settlement for more than two years, and that fraud, duress, and undue influence was not shown—Ingram v. Wesley, (C.C.A.Tex.) 37 F.(2d) 201, certiorari denied 51 S.Ct. 26, 282 U.S. 842, 75 L.Ed. 747

(10) In a client's action against an attorney for a portion of recovery unjustifiably retained by an attorney, the evidence was held to be sufficient to sustain a verdict for the client—Peters v. White, 38 P.(2d) 523, 169 Okl. 640

(11) Evidence and subsequent conduct of parties was held sufficient to show that an attorney, who was also a real estate broker and who sold land for plaintiffs, agreed, in consideration of receiving whole commission from down payments, to perform collection and legal services incident to mortgages and property without cost—Reeck v. Polk, 257 N.W. 698, 269 Mich. 252

(12) In an action against attorneys to recover alimony collected for plaintiff, the evidence was held to show that the amount retained by defendants was a fair and just remuneration for services rendered—Farrell v. Betts & Betts, 81 So. 188, 16 Ala.App. 668

(13) Evidence justified the trial court in sustaining an attorney's plea of payment to a client of part of the money collected—Encyclopædia Britannica Corporation v. Carville, 138 So. 238, 18 La.App. 196

Probative value of accounts stated

Signed accounts stated for attorney's services were of controlling probative value in proceedings against attorneys for repayment—Sasson v. Ferris, 248 N.Y.S. 125, 231 App.Div. 524

Prima facie case

Evidence presented prima facie case that a client signed documents at an attorney's request, with the understanding that they were merely formalities, requiring the attorney to go forward with proofs establishing his individual rights—Farber v. Copeland, 250 N.Y.S. 439, 232 App.Div. 504

18. Helton v. Johnson, 36 S.W.(2d) 362, 227 Ky. 783

Assuming facts and refusal to admit evidence

In a client's action against an attorney to recover the amount of a check given to the attorney, the court's assumption of, and refusal to admit, testimony concerning the controverted facts constituting the issue were error.—Helton v. Johnson, 36 S.W.(2d) 362, 227 Ky. 783

19. Bosson v. Brash, 114 N.E. 6, 63 Ind.App. 86

Questions of fact or for jury

(1) It is for the jury to determine the question of fact as to what portion of the moneys the respective parties should have—Bosson v. Brash, 114 N.E. 6, 63 Ind.App. 86—6 C.J. p. 708 note 74.

(2) Whether an attorney, employed to examine title, prepare title papers, and disburse first advance of the purchase money, acted beyond his authority in making payments for the purchaser, as client, was held to be a question of fact—Coon v. Wilson, (C.C.A.Pa.) 41 F.(2d) 648.

(3) In a client's action against an attorney to recover money left in his hands, whether a receipt tendered in evidence by the plaintiff was a receipt referred to in a power of attorney, and whether it was a part of the contract, was held to be for the jury—Wessinger v. Duncan, 102 S.E. 6, 113 S.C. 205

(4) Whether an attorney paid to his client one-half of the proceeds derived from a settlement of a case was held to be a question for the jury.—Hatfield v. Krueger, 187 N.E. 895, 98 Ind.App. 377

Cases requiring submission to jury

(1) In clients' action to recover money allegedly received by an attorney in a quiet title suit, and not paid to such clients, evidence was held to present a case for the jury—Flogle v. Brewster, (Mo.App.) 59 S.W.(2d) 769.

(2) In a client's action against attorneys for withholding a greater amount of moneys collected than the agreed fee, the evidence was held to present a question for the jury—Kukura v. Wright, 253 P. 800, 142 Wash. 563

(3) In a client's action for a balance of money deposited with an attorney, the case was held to be one for the jury—Grant v. Hallam, 276 P. 687, 129 Or. 121, certiorari denied Hallam v. Grant, 50 S.Ct. 83, 280 U.S. 523, 74 L.Ed. 591

(4) Where a nondeclarant alien, who had been transferred from deferred classification under a citizens' draft statute, paid defendant an attorney, two hundred dollars to obtain deferred classification, and a receipt for one hundred dollars declared that the amount specified was to be applied for expenses and costs, and if a release was not obtained it should be returned, it was held that where there was no evidence of any court costs or expenses, and there was evidence that the reclassification was due to the alien's own efforts, the question as to the amount the alien was entitled to recover was for the jury—Hettleman v. Frank, 110 A. 715, 136 Md. 351.

(5) In a client's action against an attorney to recover money left in his hands, the court erred in withdrawing from the consideration of the instructions,[20] and verdict and findings.[21] Similarly, general rules relating to the trial of an action by the court in a civil action (see Trial §§ 574–657 [64 C.J. p. 1189 note 62–p. 1288 note 82]) govern the trial of an action to compel an attorney to account for money collected, where a jury is waived.[22]

b. Amount of Recovery

A client may be entitled to collect the amount of money which has been withheld together with interest and, under applicable statutes, may recover a penalty.

The measure of damages in an action against an attorney by a client is, ordinarily, the amount of money collected, with interest from the time it was demanded; or, if the attorney fails to give notice to his client or willfully misappropriates the money or applies it to his own use, it is the amount collected with interest from the date of its reception.[23] However, statutes which impose a penalty on attorneys who withhold money collected apply to actions, as well as proceedings, by rule.[24] At all events, damages resulting from an unauthorized appearance in an independent action cannot be recovered in an action solely for money alleged to have been collected by defendants.[25]

§ 155. Actions for Negligence or Wrongful Act

Actions for negligence or wrongful acts of attorneys are available to clients in accordance with rules stated hereunder.

A client who has suffered damages as the result of his attorney's negligence or misconduct may recover therefor, in an action at law.[26] Moreover, jury evidence of defendant that he had a contract for the collection of certain disputed claims, and that plaintiff wrongfully settled with the debtors without his consent, and that defendant was withholding part of the money left with him as compensation for his services.—Wessinger v. Duncan, 102 S.E. 6, 113 S.C. 205.

Cases not requiring submission to jury

(1) In a client's action to recover a balance of money deposited with an attorney, the evidence was held to be insufficient to take to the jury the question of duress in obtaining such deposit.—Grant v. Hallam, 276 P. 687, 129 Or. 321, certiorari denied Hallam v. Grant, 50 S.Ct. 82, 280 U.S. 522, 74 L.Ed. 591.

(2) In an action against an attorney to recover a sum retained as fees for further services under an employment at a specified fee, submission of an issue as respects the reasonable amount of a fee, without submitting an issue as to whether additional services were gratuitous, was held to be erroneous.—Richmond Guano Co. v. Bennett, 87 S.E. 102, 170 N.C. 343.

20. Jordan v. Davis, 72 S.W. 686, 172 Mo. 599.

Conformity to issues

The instructions should be confined to the issues as made by the pleadings and the evidence.—Jordan v. Davis, 72 S.W. 686, 172 Mo. 599.—Jenkins v. Clopton, 121 S.W. 759, 141 Mo.App. 74.

Instructions properly refused

(1) An instruction which ignores facts in evidence is properly refused.—Jenkins v. Clopton, 121 S.W. 759, 141 Mo.App. 74.

(2) It is, likewise, proper to refuse an instruction which instructs the jury to ignore a material issue.—Fargo Gas Light, etc., Co. v. Greer, 18 Ohio Cir.Ct. 589, 10 Ohio Cir.Dec. 164.—6 C.J. p. 708 note 78.

(3) Moreover, an instruction which is covered by other instructions given is properly refused.—Jenkins v. Clopton, supra.

(4) Further, an instruction fixing an erroneous measure of damages should be refused.—Jordan v. Davis, 72 S.W. 686, 172 Mo. 599.

(5) In a client's action for a balance due from an attorney, an instruction that the client was bound by, and in absence of fraud could not contradict, a receipt which she gave to the attorney was held to be properly refused under the evidence.—Hatfield v. Krueger, 137 N.E. 895, 98 Ind.App. 377.

21. Harris v. Drenning, 168 P. 1106, 101 Kan. 711.

Verdict as finding exonerating attorney

In a client's action against an attorney for a balance of money collected by him, alleging misrepresentation as to the amount collected, in view of instructions as to his deduction of fees, a verdict for plaintiff, allowing fees, amounted to a finding that the attorney was not guilty of fraud or misrepresentation.—Harris v. Drenning, 168 P. 1106, 101 Kan. 711.

Findings sustained by evidence

(1) In an action to compel an accounting for rent collected by an attorney from a client's premises, the record sustained a finding of a balance due the attorney for his services.—Clark v. Miller, (Iowa) 233 N.W. 32.

(2) In a petition by a client for an accounting by an attorney for moneys collected, a finding as to the amount of compensation due the attorney was held to be sustained by the evidence.—Carney v. Powers, 161 N.Y.S. 663, 175 App.Div. 201, affirmed In re Pratt, 116 N.E. 1071, 220 N.Y. 676.

22. Coon v. Wilson, (C.C.A.Pa.) 41 F.(2d) 648.

Matters to be considered

The court, in determining an attorney's authority to apply the proceeds of a purchaser's check, should consider other circumstances and the conduct of the parties as well as a letter containing such check.—Coon v. Wilson, (C.C.A.Pa.) 41 F.(2d) 648.

23. U.S.—Davitt v. O'Connor, (N.Y.) 73 F.(2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S.Ct. 217, 293 U.S. 621, 79 L.Ed. 709.
Mo.—Fiegle v. Brewster, (App.) 59 S.W.(2d) 769.
S.C.—Hawley v. Jennings, 145 S.E. 697, 148 S.C. 140.
6 C.J. p. 708 note 81.

24. Edwards v. Wall, 113 S.E. 190, 153 Ga. 776, answers to certified questions conformed to 114 S.E. 63, 29 Ga.App. 107.

25. Scott v. Kirschbaum, 66 N.W. 443, 47 Neb. 331.

26. Weekley v. Knight, 156 So. 625, 116 Fla. 721.—6 C.J. p. 708 notes 83, 84.

If the attorney acts without authority from his client, the remedy of the client is against his counsel.—Village of Dolton v. S. Ellen Dolton Estate, 162 N.E. 214, 331 Ill. 88.—Chicago Hungarian Benevolent Society v. Chicago Hungarian Aid Society, 118 N.E. 1012, 283 Ill. 99.

Repudiation or affirmance of contract

The remedy of a client with reference to contracts with his attorney, although no fraud is shown, is the same as in cases of fraud, namely, to repudiate the contract and put parties in statu quo, or to af-

if the attorney has been guilty of any fraud or collusion, for the deliberate purpose of injuring his client, equity will grant relief to the client on application, if made within a reasonable time[27] Further, where an attorney retains a profit which he should pay over to his client equity will grant the client relief[28] However, a bill in equity will not lie against an attorney for damages for mere negligence, since there is an adequate remedy at law.[29] Also, equity will not entertain a client's complaint based on the supposed wrongful conduct of his attorney, where it appears that the conduct complained of is in fact not wrongful[30] Similarly, a client cannot maintain an action at law based on the wrongful conduct of his attorney, unless such wrongful conduct shall appear.[31]

Form of action at law. Since a client, in case of negligence or misconduct of his attorney, has a choice of remedies either in contract or tort (see Actions § 49), a client may in such case bring an action at law, either in assumpsit for breach of the implied promise, or in case for the neglect of duty.[32]

Under particular statutes. A statute trebling damages in a client's action against an attorney for deceit does not create a new cause of action.[33] Moreover, an action by a client against an attorney to require the performance of an agreement between them cannot be predicated on a statute authorizing a client to bring summary proceedings against his attorney for other relief.[34] Similarly, an action for a supposed wrongful act of an attorney cannot be predicated on a statute providing for summary proceedings against attorneys.[35] firm the contract and recover damages—Townsend v. Shipley, 239 P 787, 29 Ariz 96

Disclosure of confidential communication

The remedy of a client for the disclosure by his attorney of information imparted to him in confidence, to the client's injury, is by an action at law for damages rather than by suit in equity—Universal Sav Corp v Morris Plan Co of New York, (D C S D) 234 F. 382.

27. N J—Dwyer v. Anderson, 166 A. 293, 113 N J Eq 210
Tenn—Harris v. Marshall, 8 Tenn App 501
6 C J. p 708 note 87.

28. Ill—Youngquist v. Hunter, 227 Ill App 152
N J—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v. Rashkes, 183 A. 274, 119 N J Eq 443
Pa—Meenan v. Negley, 93 Pa.Super 591.

29. Nancrede v. Voorhis, 32 N.J Eq 524—6 C J. p 708 note 88.

30. Bill properly dismissed

A bill to compel the reconveyance of realty, conveyed by plaintiff to his attorney for services, was properly dismissed, where the fraud relied on was but an inference drawn from the fact that the realty was worth more than the services—Bersch v. Rust, 95 A. 108, 249 Pa. 512.

Cross complaint properly dismissed

A cross complaint to cancel conveyance of mortgaged land by the grantee of a purchaser at a foreclosure sale to the mortgagor's attorney, who advanced the money to pay the judgment under which the sale was ordered, on the ground of his infidelity and corruption, was held to be properly dismissed for want of equity—Goode v. King, 76 S.W.(2d) 300, 189 Ark 1093.

31. Action based on mortgage notes

It has been held that a client suing an attorney could not recover the difference between the par value and the real value of certain mortgage notes bought from the client by the attorney where the client had signed a document evidencing a sale and produced no evidence to show that the price paid by the attorney was inadequate—Govan v. Parsons, 155 So 241, 179 La 834

32. Currey v. Butcher, 61 P 631, 37 Or. 330—6 C J. p 708 note 85.

Cause of action ex contractu

A client has a cause of action ex contractu against an attorney who neglects to perform the services he agrees to perform when he accepts employment by the client—Weekley v. Knight, 156 So 625, 116 Fla 721

Action on case

The liability of an attorney for negligence is, ordinarily, enforced by an action on the case for negligence in the discharge of his professional duties—Morris v. Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N J Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N.J Misc. 866—6 C.J. p 697 note 34.

Basis for assumpsit

"Why will assumpsit lie against attornies, &c., for neglect? It is because the law implies an undertaking on the part of persons using these avocations for a livelihood, to be careful and diligent in the discharge of their business On this implied promise, the action of assumpsit may be sustained"—Ellis v. Henry, 5 J.J.Marsh (Ky.) 247, 248.

Where suit in assumpsit voluntarily dismissed

The fact that a client has instituted a suit in assumpsit and voluntarily dismissed it does not estop him to sue in tort—Broholm v. Anderson, 178 Ill App 628.

Trover

An action of trover, or for conversion, may be brought by a client against his attorney when he refuses to turn over to the client, on demand, money which has come into the attorney's hands while acting in the fiduciary relation of attorney and client—Jackson v. Moore, 87 N. Y.S. 1101, 94 App Div. 504, discrediting Jackson v. Moore, 76 N.Y S. 164, 72 App Div 217—Cotton v. Sharpstein, 14 Wis. 226.

33. Smith v Chaffee, 232 N.W. 515, 181 Minn. 322

34. In re Bradford's Guardianship, (Iowa) 241 N.W. 420

Contract to protect client from loss

A statute, providing for summary proceedings by a client against an attorney for the recovery of money or property collected or for damages, was held not to authorize an action to require performance of a contract between an attorney and his client to protect her from loss in a particular transaction—In re Bradford's Guardianship, 241 N.W. 420, 214 Iowa 130.

35. King v. Yundt, (Ind.) 199 N.E. 236

Absence of jurisdiction

Under a statute relating to attorneys who withhold money or papers, and authorizing summary relief by the court in which an action is pending, a circuit court was held to be without jurisdiction of defendant attorney in an action by the clients' relative, who alleged that defendant wrongfully withheld funds received while acting as attorney in other causes pending in the circuit court of another county—King v. Yundt, (Ind.) 199 N.E. 236.

§ 156. —— Defenses

Defenses available to attorneys when sued for negligence or wrongful act are noted hereunder.

An attorney, when sued for failure to collect a claim, may show in defense that the client himself prevented the collection of the debt,[36] or that he has still a valid and subsisting remedy by which it may be collected.[37] Moreover, where the negligence charged against an attorney is his failure to attend to the defense of a case which he was retained to conduct, he may show in defense, as a cause for his failure, that the client neglected to instruct him as to what defense could be made, and such a defense, if made out, will relieve him from all liability.[38] Further, where the alleged negligence consists in a failure to institute suit to recover a debt, it is a complete defense to an attorney that he was not retained in the cause in season to institute it,[39] or that, at the time when he was retained, the debt was not due to the client but to a third person.[40] On the other hand, it is no defense to an attorney who is sued for negligence for failure to move for the return of replevied property, on nonsuit of his client's adversary, that he was the real owner of the property in question,[41] nor may the happening of subsequent events resulting in profit to the client constitute a defense to the attorney sued for negligence.[42] Moreover, a defense that the loss sustained by a client was due to his failure to take an appeal from a dismissal is not sustained, where the dismissal under the particular circumstances was proper.[43] An action against his father to recover the proceeds of a judgment in an action prosecuted by such father as plaintiff's next friend, paid to the father by plaintiff's attorney during plaintiff's minority, did not bar plaintiff from suing the attorney for the unauthorized payment to the father, plaintiff being unable to collect the judgment against the father.[44]

The assertion of an attorney's lien, or instruments sought to be canceled because of alleged fraud and failure of consideration, may constitute a substantial defense.[45]

Champerty. An attorney sued by his client for negligence and unskillfulness cannot set up champerty in the contract as a defense to the suit.[46]

Release. A release of all liability executed by the client, in the absence of fraud, is a good defense.[47]

Limitations and laches. It is a good defense that the client's right of action is barred by the statute of limitations.[48]

Only in case of unreasonable delay by the client in bringing suit is the defense of laches available to an attorney when sued by his client to recover for wrongful conduct.[49]

36. Miss—Ransom v. Cothran, 14 Miss 167
NJ—Fenville v. Coudert, 44 NJ Law 286

37. Huntington v. Rumnill, 3 Day (Conn) 390

38. Mass—Salisbury v. Gourgas, 10 Metc 412
Mo—Denton v. Craig, 2 Mo 198

39. Stephens v. White, 2 Wash (2 Va) 203

40. Jackson v. Tilghman, 1 Miles (Pa) 31.

41. Smallwood v. Norton, 20 Me. 83, 37 Am D. 39

42. Ninth Ave & Forty-Second St Corporation v Zimmerman, 217 N Y S 123, 217 App Div 498.

Negligence in representations as to lease

Liability of an attorney, negligently representing that the seller of a lease had a marketable title, was not affected by subsequent transactions and subleases resulting in profit to the client.—Ninth Avenue & Forty-Second St. Corporation v Zimmerman, 217 N Y S. 123, 217 App Div. 498.

43. Lally v. Kuster, 171 Pa. 961, 177 Cal. 783.

Dismissal for want of prosecution

In an action by a client for his attorney's negligence in permitting the dismissal of a foreclosure suit for want of prosecution, the defense that the proximate cause of loss was the client's failure to appeal from such dismissal is not sustained, where such dismissal was proper—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P. 961, 177 Cal 753.

44. Wood v. Claiborne, 102 S W 219, 82 Ark 514, 118 Am S R 89, 11 L R A (N S) 913

45. Osmundsen v Hammond, 236 P 562, 135 Wash. 17.

Lien on note and mortgage as defense

In a suit against an attorney to cancel a note and mortgage executed by plaintiff to effect a property settlement in a divorce action, between him and coplaintiff, his wife, based on alleged fraud of defendant and failure of consideration, defendant's affirmative allegations, setting up a lien on such note and mortgage for services rendered the wife, were held to state a substantial defense—Osmundsen v. Hammond, 236 P 562, 135 Wash. 17.

46. Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am.D. 134.

47. Derrickson v. Cady, 7 Pa. 27.

48. Cal—Hays v. Ewing, 11 P 602, 70 Cal 127
Pa—Rhines v. Evans, 66 Pa 192, 5 Am R 364
S C—Thomas v. Ervin, 25 S C L 22, 34 Am D 586.

49. No laches

(1) Where clients discovered the fraud of their attorney, in making an investment for them, in the summer of 1931, a suit for cancellation, instituted in November, 1931, was held not barred by laches—Turnley v Nixon, 163 A. 800, 112 N.J.Eq. 116.

(2) Where there was no evidence that clients had knowledge of their attorney's fraud for a substantial time before suit, the defense of laches was not available to the attorney—Hemminger v. Leidigh, 21 Pa Dist & Co. 287

(3) Suit by the liquidator of a building and loan association to require an attorney to account for a secret profit allegedly made in purchasing realty for the association, which was commenced approximately nine years after the transaction had occurred, was not barred by laches, where the liquidator, on taking over the books and records of

§ 157. —— Proceedings and Relief

a. Persons entitled to sue; parties
b. Pleading
c. Evidence
d. Trial
e. Judgment or decree
f. Damages

a. Persons Entitled to Sue; Parties

Only clients or those claiming under them may sue an attorney for his negligence or wrongful act

The assignee as well as the client of an attorney may sue to recover for his wrongful act.[50] Moreover both assignor and assignee of a claim may be proper parties plaintiff in a suit against an attorney for negligence in the collection of a claim.[51] On the other hand persons who are not clients and who do not claim under them are not proper parties and are not entitled to sue for secret profits retained by an attorney.[52]

Joinder of parties. Where an attorney accepts compensation from a client with whom he agrees to prosecute certain actions on behalf of such client and others the client paying the compensation may maintain an action against the attorney for breach of contract without joining the others as parties plaintiff.[53] On the other hand in an action against an attorney for conversion of money collected by him, his partner need not be joined as defendant.[54]

b. Pleading

General rules govern as to pleadings in actions against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act

As in the case of civil actions generally, the declaration, complaint or petition in an action against an attorney for negligence or wrongful act must allege facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.[55] Moreover in an action against an attorney, based on the theory that he has given improper

the association, first discovered the record of the transaction and immediately instituted suit—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v Rashkes, 183 A 274, 119 N J Eq 443

50. Blackey v Alexander, 195 N W 455, 156 Minn 478

Client or assignee

If an attorney, guilty of fraud on his client as principal, has been paid or has retained compensation from the moneys of such principal, it may be recovered by the principal as client or by his assignee—Blackey v Alexander, 195 N.W. 455, 156 Minn 478

Divorced wife

A divorced wife, who entered into an agreement with her attorney, entitling the attorney to retain forty per cent of the alimony collected by such attorney, where such agreement was void because against public policy, could recover the amount so collected and retained by the attorney—Wolles v Brown, 198 N W 180, 226 Mich. 657

One paying to stifle pretended criminal prosecutions

Client paying money to attorney on representations that money must be paid to stifle certain pretended criminal prosecutions, was entitled to sue for accounting—Berman v Coakley, 137 N E 667, 243 Mass 348

51. Noziska v. Aten, 152 N W 694, 35 S D. 451, Ann Cas 1916C 589

Where both signed attachment bond

Where a claim was assigned to one who had another claim against the same debtor, so that one suit could be brought for both, and both claimants signed the attachment bond, both are proper parties plaintiff in an action against the attorney for negligence—Noziska v. Aten, 152 N W 694, 35 S D 451, Ann Cas 1916C 589

52. Bruntsch v. Sales, 240 P 43, 74 Cal App 310

In action by part owners of property

In an action by part owners of property to recover secret profits of attorney negotiating a lease for them, other owners of such property were not proper parties and not entitled to recover, where there was no evidence that attorney acted as their agent—Bruntsch v. Sales, 240 P. 43, 74 Cal App 310

53. Fellbaum v Mitchell, (Tex.Civ App.) 277 S W 175.

54. Pratt v. Brewster, 52 Conn. 65

55. Test of sufficiency

(1) In a suit against an attorney for negligence, the test of the sufficiency of the declaration is whether its allegations if proved would make out a case—Maryland Casualty Co v Price, (W Va) 231 F 397, 145 C C A 391, Ann Cas 1917B 50, affirming (D C) Maryland Casualty Co v Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, 224 F 271

(2) In an action on the case based on wrongful acts of attorneys there should be such a statement of the facts that the court may be able to construe them and to determine whether the conclusions drawn by plaintiff are correct or not—National Hollow Brake Beam Co v. Bakewell, 123 S W 561, 224 Mo. 203

In action on statute, the complaint must allege every fact necessary to state a cause of action under the provisions thereof—Jones v Winsor, 118 N.W. 716, 22 S D. 480—6 C J. p 707 note 67.

Fraud

Fraud in procuring contract fixing attorney fees need not be alleged eo nomine, if facts constituting fraud are alleged—Saunders v Guinn, (Tex Civ App.) 1 S W.(2d) 363

Complaint construed

Bankruptcy trustee's complaint against attorneys was construed to be one seeking damages for negligent advice causing the removal of plaintiff as trustee, producing nervous shock, disgrace, and financial loss, and injuring his credit and reputation for honesty—McGregor v Wright, 8 P (2d) 624, 117 Cal App 186

Bill not wholly insufficient

A bill to set aside an assignment by client, to attorneys, of a one-half interest to the proceeds of a settlement of a claim for personal injuries, was held not wholly insufficient—Halstead v. Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So. 132, 104 Fla. 21.

Complaint, declaration or petition sufficient

(1) A complaint, alleging that an infant met his death from a fall from roof because of a landlord's failure to provide a proper railing, stated a good cause of action, so as to sustain recovery against an attorney for his failure to proceed to trial with the action for infant's fall—Hamilton v. Dannenberg, 267 N.Y.S. 156, 239 App Div. 155

(2) A complaint in a client's action against attorneys alleging that plaintiffs employed defendants for specified purposes, that defendants entered upon employment as attorneys and acted so unskillfully, negligently, and in such bad faith as to advice, it must be clearly alleged that a professional relation existed between the parties litigant.[56] However, in an action against an attorney for negligence it may be sufficient for plaintiff to aver generally that defendant has been retained as attorney,[57] without stating the consideration,[58] or that it has been paid.[59] Further, in actions based on negligence, a general averment thereof without a statement of specific facts, is good as against a general demurrer.[60] An averment that the negligence was not due to an excusable mistake of law may also be unnecessary.[61] Neither is it necessary for plaintiff to show that he was without fault.[62] On the other hand, where the action is for failure to collect a note, plaintiff must allege his title to the note.[63] Moreover in a client's action at law to recover from an attorney for his negligence in collecting a claim it must be alleged not only that such claim was valid but also that the debtor was solvent.[64] Further, in a client's action against an attorney for negligence in prosecuting a claim of the client, he must allege facts sufficient to show cause plaintiffs damage, was held to be sufficient to state a cause of action in tort—Franceschi v. De Tord, (C C A Porto Rico) 71 F (2d) 95

(3) Complaint alleging that plaintiff had cause of action for fraud against a debtor, that defendant, employed as counsel to prosecute claim, understood that such debtor would obtain a discharge in bankruptcy unless judgment was obtained against him on the ground of fraud which is not dischargeable, and that the proceeding resulted in a verdict for plaintiff which was lost by defendant's negligence, was sufficient, although not directly alleging that the verdict was based on contract instead of fraud, or that the debtor actually received a discharge—Ziegler v. Gray, 172 N W 884, 143 Minn 45

(4) A petition, alleging that an attorney employed to recover capital stock wrongfully converted the property to his own use, was held to state a cause of action in conversion—Meyer v Glick, 295 S W 844, 221 Mo.App 1046

(5) A petition against attorneys employed in a suit by a mother and her children against her husband and their father, to set aside a decree of divorce and for a return of part of the consideration paid for such attorneys' services, was held to be sufficient to state a cause of action on behalf of the mother—Mann v Showalter, 88 S E 968, 145 Ga 268

(6) Count in declaration, supplemented by a detailed bill of particulars, and alleging that an attorney received money belonging to his client while employed by such client and wrongfully deprived the client of such money by refusing to give it up to client upon demand, was held to state a cause of action for conversion—Ritzer v. Hagerman, 254 N W. 470, 266 Mich 677.

(7) Petition by a former client against an attorney, alleging that defendant hypothecated notes given him for the purpose of settlement of an action against such client was held not to be subject to a general exception—Padgett v. Hines, (Tex Civ App) 192 S W. 1122, dismissed for want of jurisdiction

Complaint, declaration or petition insufficient

(1) A complaint by a client against his attorney for failure to disclose the illegality of a particular transaction was held to be insufficient for failure to show the attorney's duty under the specific retainer—Burr v Hays, 240 N Y.S 83, 136 Misc. 369

(2) Complaint of a client demanding an assignment of certain notes purchased by the attorney was held to be insufficient in not alleging a tender by the client of consideration paid by the attorney—Martin v Hood, 264 P. 478, 203 Cal. 351.

(3) Petition charging attorney with conversion of assets of estate was held to be defective for not pleading the terms of a will, and in failing to show that all persons legally or beneficially interested were joined as parties.—Repetto v. Walton, 281 S W. 411, 313 Mo 182.

(4) A petition against attorneys, employed in a suit by a mother and her children against a husband and father to set aside a decree of divorce, for a return of part of the consideration paid for their services, was held not to state a cause of action on behalf of the children—Mann v. Showalter, 88 S E 968, 145 Ga 268—6 C J p 709 note 6 [b]

Right to waive the tort and sue in contract in the case of a contract between attorney and client see Actions § 50

56. Martin v. Hood, (Cal) 264 P 478

Complaint held uncertain

Complaint of client seeking assignment of notes from attorneys and damages based on such attorneys' improper advice and acts was held to be too uncertain in alleging professional relation and in alleging the date of attorneys' advice relied on to sustain recovery—Martin v Hood, (Cal.) 264 P 478.

57. N Y—Gardner v Wood, 74 N Y. S 750, 37 Misc 93—Guttman v. Rasquin, 133 N Y S 431.

Or—Currey v Butcher, 61 P 631, 37 Or 330.

General employment sufficiently shown

In a liability insurer's action against their regularly retained attorneys for neglecting to defend an action against a policy holder, a declaration was held sufficiently to show the attorneys' employment by plaintiff—Maryland Casualty Co. v. Price, (W Va) 231 F. 397, 145 C C A 391, Ann Cas 1917B 50, affirming (D C) Maryland Casualty Co v Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, 224 F. 271

58. Stephens v. White, 2 Wash.(2 Va) 203

59. Ky—Eccles v. Stephenson, 3 Bibb 517

N J—French v. Armstrong, 76 A. 336, 80 N J Law 152.

60. Burnette v. Elliott, 84 P. 374, 72 Kan. 624—6 C J. p 709 note 6

Averment of gross negligence

Under the rule that an attorney is liable only for gross negligence (see supra § 141) an averment that an attorney commenced a suit and improperly dismissed it, contrary to his duty, is a sufficient charge of gross neglect—Evans v. Watrous, 2 Port (Ala) 205

61. Humboldt Bldg Assoc v. Duckers, 64 S W. 671, 111 Ky. 759, 23 Ky L 1073.

62. Jones v. White, 90 Ind 255

63. Ark—Sevier v. Holliday, 2 Ark. 512

Ky—Baker v. McArthur, 5 Ky L. 185

64. Jones v. Wright, 91 S E 265, 19 Ga.App. 242

Petition properly dismissed.

A petition against an attorney for actual and punitive damages for negligent advice and conduct resulting in the loss of plaintiff's claim was properly stricken on demurrer in the absence of an allegation that the claim was valid and that the debtor was solvent—Jones v. Wright, 91 S E. 265, 19 Ga.App. 242.

that the client had a good cause of action against whom the claim was asserted.[65] On the other hand, where an attorney's negligence in defending an action is relied on by the client he must allege that he had a defense.[66] Where it is alleged that an attorney was retained in consideration of certain fees but no time is stated as agreed upon for the payment of such fees, it has been held that payment of such fees must be alleged.[67]

Damages. It must be made to appear by allegation that plaintiff has sustained some damage.[68]

c. Evidence

(1) Presumptions and burden of proof
(2) Admissibility
(3) Weight and sufficiency

(1) Presumptions and Burden of Proof

In actions against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act they are presumed to have discharged their duties towards their clients, who accordingly have the burden of establishing the liability of their attorneys.

There is no presumption that an attorney has been guilty of a want of care, arising merely from his failure to be successful in an undertaking, on the contrary, he is always entitled to the benefit of the rule that every one is presumed to have discharged his duty, whether legal or moral, until the contrary has been made to appear.[69] Therefore, a client who sues an attorney for negligence must prove the attorney's employment, his negligence, and that it proximately caused the loss complained of.[70] More specifically the cases hold that the client must prove the attorney's employment,[71] his negligence,[72] that damages were suffered by reason thereof,[73] that the loss claimed as damages was a proximate result of such negligence,[74] and that it was the sole cause of the loss.[75] On the other hand, where a prima facie

65. Schmitt v McMillan, 162 N Y S. 437, 175 App Div. 799

66. Martin v. Nichols, 188 P. 519, 110 Wash. 451

Defense not sufficiently shown

(1) In a liability insurer's action against its attorneys for negligence, a declaration failing to allege the existence of a defense to action against a policy holder was held insufficient, although a default judgment paid by such insurer was for more than its limited liability—Maryland Casualty Co v Price, (W. Va) 231 F. 397, 145 C C A 391, Ann Cas 1917B 50, affirming (D C) Maryland Casualty Co. v. Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, 224 F. 271.

(2) In an action for legal services rendered, a counterclaim that plaintiff had been retained to interpose an answer in a suit brought against defendant, but had failed to do so, whereby a judgment was rendered against defendant, thus injuring him in the amount of the judgment, was insufficient and properly stricken as failing to allege that a defense to such action existed—Martin v Nichols, 188 P 519, 110 Wash 451

67. Cavillaud v. Yale, 3 Cal 108, 58 Am.D 388.

68. Martin v. Hood, 264 P 478, 203 Cal. 351—6 C J p 709 note 10

Damages sufficiently alleged

Allegation, in an action for the negligence of an attorney, that client had lost the interest which accrued on a judgment up to the time of the reversal thereof, was held to be a sufficient allegation of damages. —Armstrong v. Adams, 283 P. 871, 102 Cal App 677.

Damages not sufficiently alleged

(1) Complaint of a client alleging attorneys' advice and acts and demanding damages was held to be insufficient for failure to show damage—Martin v Hood, 264 P 478, 203 Cal 351

(2) Pleas that a client spent a large sum of money in purchasing mortgages to protect a mortgage which would have been a first lien had an attorney not breached his duty to record it, but which failed to state that property upon which the client held the mortgages was not worth their aggregate or did not realize the amount represented by the mortgages on foreclosure, were held to be insufficient as pleas of set-off—Weekly v. Knight, 156 So. 625, 116 Fla 721.

69. Olson v North, 276 Ill.App 457—6 C J. p 709 note 11

Attorney retained by administratrices

It will not be presumed that an attorney, retained by administratrices to act in procuring letters and generally in the administration, acted for the special furtherance of some individual distributees, to the neglect or harm of others—In re Rabell, 162 N.Y S. 218, 175 App Div. 345.

70. U S.—Maryland Casualty Co v. Price, (W Va) 231 F 397, 145 C C A 391, Ann Cas 1917B 50, affirming (D C) Maryland Casualty Co v. Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, 224 F. 271
Cal.—McGregor v. Wright, 3 P.(2d) 624, 117 Cal App 186.

71. McGregor v. Wright, supra—6 C J p 709 note 12

72. Cal—McGregor v. Wright, 3 P. (2d) 624, 117 Cal App 186.
Ill—Piper v. Green, 216 Ill App 590
Mass—McLellan v. Fuller, 115 N.E 481, 226 Mass. 374.
Okl—Sutton v Whiteside, 222 P. 974, 101 Okl 79

73. Slade v Harris, 135 A 570, 105 Conn 436—6 C J. p 710 note 14.

Prima facie proof of damage

In an action by a client against an attorney for damages for negligence on account of a defective mortgage drawn by the attorney, certain evidence was held to be sufficient prima facie proof of damage. —Degen v Steinbrink, 195 N Y S. 810, 202 App Div. 477

74. Sutton v. Whiteside, 222 P. 974, 101 Okl 79

Attorney employed to defend action

(1) A client suing his attorney who was employed to defend an action against the client for damages for attorney's negligence must prove that the attorney's negligence proximately caused the loss sustained by the client—Roehl v. Ralph, (Mo. App) 84 S W.(2d) 405.

(2) Accordingly a client suing his attorney who was employed to defend action against client for damages for the attorney's negligence in failing to file an answer setting up a purported defense must prove that the client had a valid defense —Roehl v. Ralph, supra

(3) A liability insurer suing its attorneys for a failure to defend an action against a policy holder, was held to have the burden of showing that the party suing did not have a valid claim for the amount recovered—Maryland Casualty Co v. Price, (W.Va) 231 F 397, 145 C C A 391, Ann.Cas 1917B 50, affirming (D C) Maryland Casualty Co v. Price, Smith, Spilman & Clay, 224 F. 271.

75. Cal—McGregor v. Wright, 3 P. (2d) 624, 117 Cal App. 186
Ill—Olson v North, 276 Ill.App 457. 6 C J p 709 note 13.

case of negligence is shown, the burden of proving adequate excuse, is on the attorney.[76]

In action for negligence in collecting claim. In a suit by a client against an attorney for negligence in conducting the collection of a claim, whereby the debt was lost, the burden rests on the former to allege and prove every fact essential to establish such liability.[77] He must allege and prove that the claim was turned over to the attorney for collection,[78] that there was a failure to collect,[79] that this failure was due to the culpable neglect of the attorney,[80] and that, but for such negligence, the debt could, or would, have been collected.[81] Hence, where a claim is alleged to have been lost by an attorney's negligence, in order to recover more than nominal damages it must be shown that it was a valid subsisting debt,[82] and that the debtor was solvent.[83]

In action for fraud or misconduct. In an action against an attorney for fraud or misconduct where the relation of attorney and client is shown to exist, and the question of the bona fides of a transaction between the parties is involved, the burden is on the attorney to show the fairness and honesty of the transaction.[84] Moreover, in a client's action against an attorney for damages resulting from his violation of the client's instruction, the attorney has the burden of proving matters of defense.[85] Nevertheless in a client's action against his attorney based on his conduct in fraud of the client's rights, it has been held that denials in the answer may require that plaintiff prove the allegations relied on by him.[86] Of course in the absence of any showing of such relationship the person suing an attorney on the theory of his unfairness has the burden of establishing such unfairness.[87]

(2) Admissibility

General rules of evidence apply to questions relating to the admissibility of evidence in actions by clients against attorneys for their negligence or wrongful act.

Rules governing the admissibility of evidence in civil actions generally, are applicable to questions relating to the admissibility of evidence in actions by clients against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act.[88]

76. Moorman v. Wood, 19 N.E. 739, 117 Ind. 144. See Luster v. Steingard, 191 Ill.App. 573.

77. In collection of mortgage
The burden rests upon a client suing his attorney for negligent failure to collect a mortgage to allege and prove every fact necessary to establish such liability.—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P. 961, 177 Cal. 783.

Receipt as prima facie evidence
An attorney's receipt for a claim placed in his hands for collection is prima facie evidence of the genuineness and justness of the securities described in the receipt in an action based on the attorney's negligence in the collection of the claim.—Hair v. Glover, 14 Ala. 500.

78. Smallwood v. Norton, 20 Me. 83, 37 Am.D. 39.—6 C.J. p. 710 note 18.

79. Ark.—Palmer v. Ashley, 3 Ark. 75.
La.—Spiller v. Davidson, 4 La.Ann. 171.

80. Ark.—Palmer v. Ashley, 3 Ark. 75.
Ga.—Nisbet v. Lawson, 1 Ga. 275.
La.—Spiller v. Davidson, 4 La.Ann. 171.
Va.—Staples v. Staples, 7 S.E. 199, 85 Va. 76.

81. Schmitt v. McMillan, 162 N.Y.S. 437, 175 App.Div. 799.—6 C.J. p. 710 note 21.

82. Piper v. Green, 216 Ill.App. 590.—6 C.J. p. 710 note 22.

83. Ga.—Jones v. Wright, 91 S.E. 265, 19 Ga.App. 242.
Ill.—Piper v. Green, 216 Ill.App. 590.
6 C.J. p. 710 note 23.

84. Dwyer v. Anderson, 166 A. 203, 113 N.J.Eq. 210.—6 C.J. p. 710 note 17.

In procuring purchaser or exploiting invention
Where an inventor makes an agreement with an attorney to procure a purchaser for his invention or to organize a company for its exploitation, and the attorney takes charge of the situation, reducing the agreement to writing and characterizing himself therein as the inventor's attorney, and their correspondence shows that fiduciary relations exist between them, the burden is on the attorney to prove good faith toward the inventor and that he kept him informed of all facts material to his interest, if it appears that the attorney has reaped a special benefit from the relationship.—Overholt v. Matthews, 48 App.D.C. 482.

Burden not met
Evidence failed to sustain attorney's burden of showing good faith in transactions wherein attorney obtained bonds and notes of client.—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N.W. 40, 213 Iowa 300.

86. Werthy Fabric Co. v. Marvin, 239 N.Y.S. 682, 135 Misc. 803.

87. In suit to cancel note and mortgage
In a suit against an attorney at law to cancel a note and mortgage, executed by plaintiff to effect a property settlement in a divorce action between him and his coplaintiff wife, based on a reconciliation, fraud of defendant, and failure of consideration of note and mortgage, denials in the answer were held to be sufficient to put plaintiffs upon proof.—Osmundsen v. Hammond, 236 P. 562, 135 Wash. 17.

88. Tobin, Tobin & Tobin v. Budd, 251 N.W. 720, 217 Iowa 904. See Sanitary Hair Goods Co. v. Elliott, 191 Ill.App. 563.
Cal.—Bouton v. Stuart, 199 P. 71, 52 Cal.App. 484.
Okl.—Sutton v. Whiteside, 222 P. 974, 101 Okl. 79.

Declarations of the attorney made at the time of the alleged negligence are admissible to show, not the truth of the facts stated, but the circumstances which occurred at such time.—Salisbury v. Gourgas, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 442.

Other evidence admissible
(1) In an action against an attorney for negligently failing to file an appeal as agreed, defendant may, under a general denial, introduce evidence to rebut negligence.—Tishomingo Electric Light & Power Co. v. Gullett, 152 P. 849, 52 Okl. 180.

(2) The record of the suit on the claim, as to which an attorney is charged with negligence, is admissible against the attorney to prove the final determination of that suit, although it was conducted by him in the name of another attorney.—Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am.D. 134.

(3) An attorney's receipt for a claim placed in his hands for collection is admissible to prove the relation of attorney and client.—Good-

(3) Weight and Sufficiency

Rules of evidence in civil actions generally apply to questions on weight and sufficiency of evidence in actions by client against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act.

Rules governing the weight and sufficiency of evidence in civil actions generally are applicable to questions on the weight and sufficiency of evidence in actions by clients against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act [89] man v. Walker, supra—6 C.J. p 710 note 24

(4) In a suit against an attorney to recover an amount realized by him in wrongfully dealing with notes entrusted to him by clients, defendants in a former suit, for purposes of settlement, an instrument, signed by plaintiff in such former suit, which purported to "give, grant, and will" the notes in question to defendant in the former suit, and plaintiff in the suit against the attorney is admissible—Padgett v Hines, (Tex Civ App) 192 S.W 1122, dismissed for want of jurisdiction

(5) In an action against an attorney for negligence for failing to perfect an appeal, a transcript of the evidence and record in such case is admissible in evidence for the purpose of determining whether the case would have been reversed on appeal—Sutton v. Whiteside, 223 P 974, 101 Okl. 79

(6) Orders of a referee in bankruptcy and of federal courts holding a mortgage invalid were held to be admissible in client's action against his attorney for damages for such attorney's negligent drawing of such mortgage—McCullough v Sullivan, 132 A 102, 102 N J Law 381, 43 A L R 928

(7) In a client's action for negligence of his attorney in failing to file a mortgage for future advances properly, testimony of witness that payment of note covered by mortgage was accepted with the understanding that the mortgage was to be fully satisfied was relevant on the issue of damages—Hampel-Lawson Mercantile Co v Poe, 277 S W 29, 169 Ark. 840

(8) In a client's action against an attorney to set aside conveyances of portions of a tract of land to attorney in payment for services, testimony as to the value of the tract was held to be admissible—Bouton v. Stuart, 199 P 71, 52 Cal App 484

(9) In an action against an attorney for a negligent failure to perfect a materialman's lien, where he claimed to have mailed papers to be recorded, a refusal to allow a clerk of court to testify as to a practice of sending a bill for filing fees, was held to be error, since a failure to receive a bill might be regarded by the jury as sufficient to put an attorney on inquiry—Caltrider v. Weant, 128 A. 72, 147 Md 338.

Other evidence inadmissible

(1) A receipt given to plaintiff by an attorney for a described note was held to be inadmissible in an action against the attorney for failure to collect the note, where the declaration did not show title to such note in the plaintiff who did not appear as a party to the note in any capacity—Sevier v Holliday, 2 Ark 512

(2) In an action by a client against an attorney for a negligent failure to perfect a materialman's lien, evidence that material was actually used in a house on which the lien is claimed was held to be immaterial—Caltrider v. Weant, 128 A 72, 147 Md 338.

89. Iowa—Reeder v Lund, 236 N W 40, 213 Iowa 800.
Mich—Cornelisson v Ort, 93 N.W 617, 132 Mich 294

In actions to recover secret profits

(1) In action to recover secret profits in lease of property owned by plaintiffs and wife of defendant attorney, evidence was held to show that defendant acted as attorney for all plaintiffs—Bruntsch v. Sales, 240 P 43, 74 Cal App 310

(2) In an action to recover secret profits of an attorney in negotiating a lease of plaintiff's property for plaintiffs, evidence was held sufficient to justify a finding that such attorney was acting sui juris, and not solely in behalf of his wife, who was also his client, in obtaining the lease—Bruntsch v Sales, supra.

(3) The evidence in an action by a client against the personal representative of an attorney was held to be sufficient to show that the deceased attorney made a secret profit at the expense of such client—Robertson v Hirsh, 177 N.E 676, 276 Mass. 452

(4) The evidence entitled the liquidator of building and loan association to recover secret profit made by the attorney in purchasing realty for the association and attorney's fee charged the association in the transaction—Sun Building & Loan Ass'n of Newark v. Rashkes, 133 A. 274, 119 N J.Eq. 443.

(5) In an action to recover secret profits of attorney negotiating a lease for plaintiffs of their property, a claim that the attorney's wife, a part owner of the property, was his principal was held not to be sustained by evidence showing that the attorney and the agent of the lessor were the only principals at the beginning of the deal, and that in subsequent negotiations the wife was a principal only in the sense in which the other owners were—Bruntsch v. Sales, supra.

Evidence in other actions sufficient

(1) Evidence established that the attorney committed fraud in investing the client's funds in stock of the corporation in which the attorney was an officer, hence the attorney was liable to the client for the funds—Dwyer v. Anderson, 166 A. 293, 113 N J Eq 210.

(2) Evidence in a suit to recover sums paid under an option to purchase corporation stock was held to show that plaintiff dealt with defendant on a confidential basis as plaintiff's attorney and friend and looked to defendant to write a contract fully effectuating their agreement—Holland v. Brown, (Tex Civ App) 66 S. W (2d) 1095, error refused

(3) In action by a client against his attorney for a negligent failure to perfect a materialman's lien, under Code Pub Gen L. art 63 § 23, evidence was held to be sufficient for the jury to infer that the client served notice of his intention to claim a lien, within the time required under § 11, as against a contention that there was no showing that the claim was not lost by client's own negligence—Caltrider v Weant, 128 A. 72, 147 Md 338

(4) Evidence showed the attorneys were not employed by the bankruptcy trustee, except for special purposes about which the trustee made no complaint, and gave him no advice precluding recovery for alleged negligence—McGregor v Wright, 3 P (2d) 624, 117 Cal App 186

(5) Evidence in a particular action by a client against her attorney was held to require a dismissal of a bill against the attorney for a discovery, and cancellation of a mortgage—Gard v. Gould, 238 N.W. 187, 255 Mich 570

(6) A lessee, contracting to assign a lease, in reliance on fraudulent legal advice, was held entitled, under the evidence, to recover counsel fees in defending an action for specific performance, and the amount paid in settling a broker's action for commission—Wille v. Maier, 176 N E 841, 256 N Y. 465, affirming 248 N Y S 904, 232 App Div. 798, and reargument denied 177 N.E 196, 256 N Y. 692.

d. Trial

Rules relating to trials of civil actions generally apply to trials of actions by clients against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act.

Rules relating to the trial of civil actions generally apply to the trial of actions by clients against attorneys for negligence or wrongful act, as respects taking the case or questions from the jury[90] and instructions[91] Further, the rules relating to the Evidence in other actions insufficient

(1) In an action by a client to recover for an attorney's negligence it was held that the evidence was insufficient to establish the client's case—Piper v. Green, 216 Ill App 590.

(2) In a client's action against an attorney for damages for his alleged negligence in conducting certain litigation, the evidence was held to be insufficient to show his negligence—Ziegler v Cray, 182 N.W. 616, 148 Minn 447

(3) Evidence was held to be insufficient for jury in action against attorney for fraud in connection with plaintiff's agreement with third person for a transfer of certain properties to a corporation for joint management—Berkman v. Cohn, 168 A 290, 111 N J Law 229

(4) Evidence was held insufficient to show that an attorney supplied with funds applicable to a judgment converted them to other uses—Crim v. Thompson, 193 P 448, 98 Or 599

(5) Evidence in a suit by a client against an attorney for negligence in permitting a foreclosure suit to be dismissed for want of prosecution was held to be insufficient to sustain a finding that plaintiff could not have secured a judgment of foreclosure—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P 961, 177 Cal 783

(6) Where the owner of certain corporation stock gave his attorney an option, an assignment and an agreement to pay the attorney a commission for performing certain services, evidence in an action by the owner wherein the attorney intervened as party, was held insufficient to show that the attorney obtained such documents by misrepresentation—Bailey v. Security Trust Co, 177 P. 444, 179 Cal 540, 177 P 449, 179 Cal 815

(7) Evidence was insufficient to show that an attorney for a bankrupt, in connection with execution of certain notes to take up prior notes on which bankrupt claimed he was not personally liable, was derelict in his duty to his client—In re Duntley, (Ill) 227 F 381, 142 C.C.A 77

(8) Evidence failed to show consideration was given for note obtained by attorney from client—Reeder v. Lund, 236 N.W. 40, 213 Iowa 300

Membership of firm

In an action against an attorney for conversion of funds of his client, evidence was held to warrant a finding that attorney, sued for conversion of the client's money, was a member of the firm engaged to defend damage suits for specified fee so as not to be entitled to the converted money as a fee—Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark 161

90. Sherwood v. South, (Tex Civ App) 29 S.W (2d) 805

Questions of fact or for jury

(1) Whether or not particular conduct is negligent may be a question of fact for the jury where the circumstances are in doubt—O'Neill v Gray, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 30 F (2d) 776, certiorari denied 49 S.Ct 430, 279 U S. 865, 73 L.Ed 1003—6 C.J. p 710 note 31.

(2) Accordingly in an action against an attorney for the negligent prosecution of a death action, whether the conduct of the litigation was reasonably skillful, was held to be a question for the jury—O'Neill v Gray, supra

(3) Moreover whether an attorney was negligent in drawing a chattel mortgage was held to be a question for the jury in the client's action for damages—McCullough v. Sullivan, 132 A 102, 102 N J Law 381, 43 A.L.R. 928.

(4) But where the facts have been ascertained, the question of negligence or of want of skill is a question of law for the court—Gambert v. Hart, 44 Cal 542—Casiner v. Gray, 131 P. 404, 54 Colo 551

(5) Where there is evidence tending to show, but not conclusively showing, the continuance of the relation of attorney and client between parties, the question of such relationship is for the jury—Kreatz v McDonald, 143 N.W. 975, 123 Minn 353—O'Donnell v Breck, 7 Pa Super 24—Jinks v. Moppin, (Tex Civ App) 30 S.W. 390

(6) Where a bank holding a vendor's lien notes as collateral security delivered them to the owner's attorney for collection for the bank's benefit, whether the bank waived or abandoned the relationship of attorney and client between it and the owner's attorney by engaging other attorneys to represent it in a suit to enforce vendor's lien was for the jury—Buckhannon Bank v. O'Brien & Hall, (W.Va) 180 S.E. 258.

(7) In an action against an attorney for negligently failing to perfect an appeal, the question whether plaintiff was entitled to recover money expended for costs is one for the jury where the evidence is conflicting—Rosebud Min, etc, Co v. Hughes, 121 P. 674, 21 Colo.App 247.

(8) Whether one dealing with a pledgor's attorney in possession of a note for a special purpose was authorized to rely on an attorney's ostensible authority was held to be a fact question—First Nat Bank v. Broder, 141 A 861, 107 Conn 574

(9) The amount which would have been received from certain fire insurance companies in satisfaction of insured's debt had his creditor's attorney promptly followed his client's instructions to bring suit and to obtain a writ of garnishment was held to be a question for the jury, in the client's action against the attorney for resulting loss—W. L. Douglas Shoe Co v. Rollwage, 63 S.W (2d) 841, 187 Ark. 1084.

(10) Jury question of fraud and damages is presented where an attorney willfully and improperly advises his client and colludes with the opposing attorney in permitting a judgment against the client—Sherwood v South, (Tex.Civ.App) 29 S.W.(2d) 805.

(11) In an action by a client against an attorney for conversion of money paid to him under an alleged agreement to speculate in real estate it was held that on the facts, the question whether such attorney converted funds of the client to his own use should have been submitted to the jury.—Amsterdam v. Apfel, 123 N.E. 69, 226 N.Y. 158, reversing 165 N.Y.S. 60, 178 App Div. 71.

Dismissal not plainly wrong under evidence

In a client's suit for accounting for money paid, a former attorney alleged to have conspired with another to defraud the client in connection with the suppression of a criminal charge against plaintiff, dismissal of suit as without equity, because of lack of credibility of plaintiff's witnesses, was held, under the evidence reported, not to be plainly wrong.—Berman v Coakley, 153 N.E. 463, 257 Mass. 159

91. Almeida v. Cassidy, (R.I.) 147 A. 620

Omission of statute in absence of request

In the absence of any request to instruct the jury with reference to a particular statute, failure to call the jury's attention to such statute having no direct hearing on the case in a client's action for attorney's trial of civil actions generally apply as respects the verdict and findings [92]

e. Judgment or Decree

General rules apply to judgments or decrees in actions by clients against attorneys for their wrongful acts.

General rules, discussed in the title Equity § 584 [21 C J. p 646 note 99], apply to judgments or decrees in actions by clients against their attorneys for their wrongful acts.[93]

f. Damages

Damages recoverable against attorneys guilty of negligence or wrongful act are determined in accordance with rules stated hereunder.

The measure of damages, in an action against an attorney for negligence, is the amount of loss actually sustained as a proximate result of such negligence.[94] Moreover an attorney who by his negligence causes his client to lose his cause of action is liable for the actual, as well as for the negligence in accepting forged attachment release bond is not error. —Almeida v. Cassidy, (R I) 147 A 620.

Invalidity of mortgage

Where the trial court in its instruction fairly and impartially indicated to the jury that the main question for their determination, in a client's action against his attorney for negligence in drafting a mortgage, was whether the attorney had exercised the reasonable care, and skill the law required of him in drafting the paper, that the court also charges that the mortgage in question was invalid which was an undisputed fact does not render the instruction improper—McCullough v Sullivan, 132 A. 102, 102 N J Law 381, 43 A L R 928

92. Almeida v. Cassidy, (R I) 147 A 620

Verdict supported by evidence

Verdict for attorney in client's action for negligence in accepting a forged attachment release bond from a financially irresponsible surety was held to be supported by the evidence—Almeida v. Cassidy, (R I) 147 A. 620.

Verdict unsupported by or against evidence

(1) In an action by a client as plaintiff to recover profits of a real estate purchase from his attorney at one hundred ten dollars per acre, where plaintiff submitted no evidence on his allegation that the land was worth only seventy five dollars per acre, but defendant's witnesses showed land to be worth one hundred dollars and from one hundred twenty dollars to one hundred fifty dollars per acre, a verdict based on value of the land at seventy five dollars per acre will be reversed, as not justified by the evidence—Townsend v. Shipley, 239 P. 787, 29 Ariz 96

(2) Where an attorney foreclosing mortgages for a bank failed to secure a proper allocation of taxes on real estate covered by mortgage but directed a tax collector to turn in all taxes against the mortgagors' real estate, causing the bank to pay taxes assessed against other property of the mortgagors, some of which was subsequently purchased by the attorney on his own foreclosure proceeding, a verdict for fees for such foreclosure which failed to charge against the attorney taxes unjustly collected from the bank was held to be against the evidence—Nevin v State Bank of Elizabeth, 174 A 618, 115 Pa Super 92

Verdict construed as finding of exoneration

Verdict for a client against an attorney for money collected allowing fees was held to be a finding that the attorney was not guilty of misrepresenting the amount collected—Harris v. Drenning, 168 P 1106, 101 Kan 711.

Interrogatory unwarranted by evidence

In a client's action to recover from his attorney an interest in an estate on the ground of the invalidity of his assignment and conveyance of his interest to the attorney, the form of interrogatory was held to be unwarranted by the evidence—Kickland v. Egan, 155 N W. 192, 36 S D 428

93. Webster v. Kelly, 175 N E 69, 274 Mass 564.

Decree conditioned on client's payment

A decree ordering a reconveyance by an attorney to a client was held to be properly conditioned on the client's payment of the amount due the attorney under the circumstances—Webster v. Kelly, 175 N E 69, 274 Mass 564.

Judgment in tort warranted

In an action against an attorney who was also a real estate broker to recover money collected for plaintiffs and held by defendant, the entry of judgment in tort was held not to be error, where the record showed defendant did not act in good faith, as against a contention that collections involved both lay and professional services and for lay collections trover would lie only if defendant had duty to pay identical moneys—Reeck v. Polk, 257 N W 698, 269 Mich. 252

94. Ga.—Hill v Cloud, 173 S E 190, 48 Ga App. 506
Or.—Milton v. Hare, 280 P. 511, 130 Or. 590.

6 C J. p 696 note 28, p 711 notes 35, 36.

Costs on appeal

Costs incurred on appeal may be recovered from an attorney who negligently failed to perfect the appeal—Rosebud Min, etc, Co v Hughes, 121 P 674, 21 Colo App. 247

Permitting dismissal of foreclosure suit

The measure of damages to client for loss caused by attorney's negligence in permitting the dismissal of foreclosure suit is the amount that could have been recovered, less the actual value, if any, to the client of the note and mortgage barred by limitations, to be determined from the evidence—Lally v. Kuster, 171 P. 961, 177 Cal 783.

Failing to give statutory notice

(1) In an action by a client against an attorney for failure to give statutory notice of a personal injury action, the court's ruling that the sole question was whether the client could have recovered in any event was correct—McLellan v. Fuller, 115 N.E. 481, 226 Mass 374.

(2) Accordingly where an attorney in a personal injury action neglected to give notice required by Rev L c 106 § 75, whereby a client suing as an employee was defeated, notwithstanding the client's only loss was the expense in preparing for trial, the measure of damages for negligence in conducting the personal injury cases is the amount plaintiff could have recovered, with interest.—McLellan v. Fuller, supra.

Assuring client that contract was enforceable

Clients' damages for an attorney's negligent assurance that a land contract of which they proposed to take an assignment was enforceable was the consideration paid for such assignment.—Fabry v. Jay, 141 A. 780, 104 N J Law 617.

Examining title to property

(1) Where attorney negligently omits to report a judgment lien against realty, the title to which he was employed to investigate, and his client buys without knowledge of such lien, the measure of damages is the amount paid by the client to remove the lien, although the cliexemplary, damages he might reasonably have recovered in an action thereon.[95] On the other hand where the items of loss sustained by a client are not attributable to his attorney's negligence such items are not recoverable by the client in an action based on the negligence of his attorney.[96] Nor is he liable for interest on debts lost through his negligence.[97]

An attorney may, however, be liable for the actual loss sustained by his client with interest where the attorney is guilty of a wrongful act.[98] At any rate, in a client's action against an attorney for damages resulting from his violation of the client's instruction, the client may recover the amount of loss actually sustained.[99] However, a client is not entitled to recover any sum in excess of his actual damages in a suit against his attorney for violation of the client's instructions.[1]

Nominal damages. Where a client suing his attorney for negligence has suffered no special damages, it has been held that he may nevertheless be entitled, to nominal damages,[2] but this has been denied.[3]

Exemplary damages. Exemplary damages may be allowed in a proper case against an attorney for misconduct in dealing with a client,[4] and proof of actual damages may be unnecessary to a recovery of exemplary damages.[5] However, there exists authority to the effect that there can be no ent subsequently sells for more than the total cost of the property including the discharge of the lien—Jacobsen v Peterson, 103 A. 983, 91 N J Law 404, affirmed 105 A. 894, 92 N J Law 631.

(2) Client taking up lien on property on which he had a lien in reliance on the attorney's report, based on examination wherein the attorney negligently overlooked a prior lien, was entitled to recover the value of the property, where it was within the amount of the lien overlooked—Hill v Cloud, 173 S E 190, 48 Ga App 506.

(3) A client who sues his attorney for his negligence in certifying that the client's title to certain property is good and marketable may recover as damages a broker's commission and title examination fees incurred by the client on attempting to resell the property but cannot recover expected profits or costs incurred by unreasonably litigating the title with a prospective purchaser—Trimboli v. Kinkel, 123 N E 205, 226 N Y 147, 5 A L R. 1385, affirming 162 N Y S 1147, 176 App Div 895.

95. Patterson v Frazer, (Civ App) 93 S W 146, reversed on other grounds 94 S W. 824, 100 Tex 103—Patterson v Frazer, (Tex Civ App) 79 S W 1077—6 C J. p 711 note 37.

96. Lawson v. Sigfrid, 262 P 1018, 83 Colo 116—6 C J. p 711 note 36 [a].

Damages too speculative

Alleged damages involving financial loss, together with impaired credit and reputation for honesty, caused by plaintiff's removal as bankruptcy trustee on defendant attorneys' petition, was held to be too speculative in character and amount to be allowable in an action against such attorneys for their negligence—McGregor v Wright, 8 P.(2d) 624, 117 Cal App 186.

Insolvency of debtor

(1) Where the loss sustained by a client as a creditor is due to his debtor's insolvency rather than to an attorney's negligence the client suffers no loss which he can recover in an action against his attorney—Jones v Wright, 91 S.E 265, 19 Ga. App 242.

(2) Accordingly a creditor cannot recover costs and expenses of an action against an insolvent debtor from a negligent attorney—Lawson v. Sigfrid, 262 P. 1018, 83 Colo 116.

Effectiveness of client's defense

To entitle a client to recover more than nominal damages for his attorney's negligence in representing the client as a defendant in an action, it must appear that the defense relied on by the client would have availed—The Western & Southern Life Ins Co v. Selzer, 23 Ohio Cir Ct (N S) 104.

97. Rootes v. Stone, 2 Leigh (29 Va) 650—6 C.J. p 711 note 35 [a].

98. Robertson v Hirsh, 177 N E 676, 276 Mass 452.

Secret profit

Where an attorney made a secret profit at a client's expense, the client was held to be entitled to a repayment thereof with interest—Robertson v Hirsh, 177 N E 676, 276 Mass 452.

Client purchasing property from attorney

A client, purchasing property from attorney, and choosing to ratify the contract of purchase, can only recover such damages as he has sustained, which is the difference between the contract price and the value of the land at the time of the purchase, not the difference between the contract price and the amount paid by the attorney—Townsend v. Shipley, 239 P. 787, 29 Ariz. 96.

99. Market value of property lost

Where defendant's failure to comply with his client's instructions with reference to a suit to recover for property sold under a conditional sale contract operated to deprive the client of title to the property, the measure of defendant's liability was the market value of the property at the time of bringing the suit which deprived him of that right.—Whitney v Abbott, 77 N E. 524, 191 Mass. 59.

Value of draft

Indebtedness on a draft is presumably its value in computing damages against an attorney violating instructions for collecting such draft—Werthy Fabric Co. v. Marvin, 239 N Y S. 682, 135 Misc. 808.

1. Financial responsibility of mortgagor

A mortgagee, who instructed his attorney to bid in the mortgaged premises at not to exceed a certain sum, but, when the attorney bid them in at a greater sum, accepted the sheriff's deed and paid the purchase price by permitting the amount of the bid to be credited as a satisfaction pro tanto of the foreclosure decree, cannot recover from the attorney the difference between the bid originally authorized and the amount of a judgment for the deficiency which he could otherwise have recovered against the mortgagor, in the absence of proof that the latter could pay such judgment since it is impossible for the jury to say whether the loss sustained by plaintiff was more than merely nominal—Sproul v Lloyd, 115 A. 667, 96 N.J Law 314.

2. Ga—Lilly v. Boyd, 72 Ga 83
N Y—Arnold v. Robertson, 3 Daly 298.
Tenn—Read v. Patterson, 11 Lea 430.

3. Lawson v Sigfrid, 262 P. 1018 83 Colo. 116—6 C J. p 711 note 39.

4. Hill v. Montgomery, 84 Ill App. 300, affirmed 56 N.E. 320, 184 Ill. 220—6 C.J. p 711 note 40.

5. Harmening v. Howland, 141 N W. 131, 25 N D. 38—6 C J. p 711 note 41.

recovery of exemplary damages where there has been no actual damage sustained by the party who sues.[6] Moreover under a particular statute it has been held that for exemplary damages to be recovered the misconduct of the attorney must impede or prejudice the rights or remedies of the injured parties.[7] Further, a statute authorizing exemplary damages for an attorney's misconduct has been held to refer to the direct actual damages suffered by the client in the action where the misconduct occurs rather than some consequential indirect expenditures for attorneys' fees and expenses in another law suit.[8]

§ 158. Summary Remedies of Client

Clients are entitled to various summary remedies against their attorneys as indicated hereunder.

An attorney is subject to the summary jurisdiction of the court for any dereliction of the duty which such attorney owes to his client.[9] Accordingly, in addition to the summary remedies which a client may have to compel his attorney to pay over money, as noted in § 159 infra, the courts may intervene summarily in a proper case to protect a client from the effects of his attorney's negligence, ignorance or carelessness.[10] Moreover the summary jurisdiction of the courts over attorneys embraces authority to compel them to do whatever other specific acts it may be incumbent upon them in their capacity of attorneys to perform.[11] Thus jurisdiction extends to compelling an attorney to perform his undertakings.[12] Further an attorney may, by summary proceedings, be compelled to show the circumstances under which he has procured a client's papers on which judgment in favor of the attorney has been rendered.[13] However, a statute authorizing summary proceedings to compel an attorney to deliver over papers and moneys of his client, is not applicable to a situation wherein a client has delivered an article to his attorney as payment or security for his fees.[14]

Delivery or inspection of client's papers. An attorney may, by summary proceedings, be compelled to deliver up documents or securities belonging to his client, which he retains without authority.[15] On the other hand, since the papers of a client

6. Clark Bros v Anderson & Perry, 234 N W 844, 211 Iowa 920

Treble damages

Under a statute making attorneys liable for treble damages for deceit or collusion, it was held that such damages could not be recovered where there were no actual damages since it is impossible to treble damages which do not exist.—Clark Bros v Anderson & Perry, 234 N.W. 844, 211 Iowa 920

7. Franzone v Tumminelli, 123 N Y S 455 67 Misc 549—6 C J. p 711 note 40 [a]

8. Smith v Chaffee, 232 N.W. 515, 181 Minn 322

9. Chatham Lumber Co. v. Parsons Lumber Co., 90 S E 241, 172 N C 320

10. Meacham v. Dudley, 6 Wend (N Y) 514.

General principles of equity and policy

The court, from general principles of equity and policy, will always look into the dealings between attorneys and their clients, and guard the latter from any undue consequences resulting from a situation in which they may stand unequal.—Starr v. Vanderheyden, 9 Johns.(N Y.) 253, 6 Am D 275.

Relief where attorney is insolvent

Where it appears that an attorney is insolvent and unable to answer to his client for his default, the court will not compel the client to suffer where the defect can be remedied, and will set aside a default in pleading due to the attorney's negligence and allow proper pleadings to be filed.—Meacham v Dudley, 6 Wend (N Y) 514—Denton v Noyes, 6 Johns (N Y) 296, 5 Am D. 237—6 C J. p 708 note 89.

Setting aside judgments by default

The equitable power of the court to set aside judgments by default will be exercised to prevent an injustice to the client, about to result from his attorney's ignorance or carelessness, where there will be occasioned to the opposite party no practical harm other than that of compelling him to try the case on its merits.—Milton v. Hare, 250 P 511, 130 Or. 590—6 C J p 708 note 90

11. In re Evans, 62 P. 913, 22 Utah 366, 83 Am S R 794, 53 L R A. 952—6 C J. p 718 note 32.

12. Fulor v Beery, 8 Ohio S. & C P. 306, 6 Ohio N.P 290.

13. Starr v. Vanderheyden, 9 Johns (N Y) 253, 6 Am D. 275.

With respect to notes given by client

On motion by a client for relief against judgments in favor of his attorney entered by confession on bonds and warrants of attorney it was held that the judgment must only stand as security for what is actually due, and under a rule directed by the court the attorney was required to prove consideration for notes attached to the bonds, and to show for what causes and under what circumstances the notes were given.—Starr v. Vanderheyden, 9 Johns.(N.Y.) 253, 6 Am.D. 275.

14. Golden v. Hyde, 202 P 272, 117 Wash 677.

Issue triable by jury at law

The summary proceeding under Remington Code (1915) §§ 137, 138, is only for those moneys or papers which an attorney may have received in trust for his client, and not for an article which was delivered to the attorney not to be used in his client's interest, but, as claimed by the client, as security for fees, or, as claimed by the attorney, in payment of fees, especially where no fraud or overreaching is charged, since the issue under their contentions is triable in an action at law, in which either party may demand a jury.—Golden v. Hyde, 202 P. 272, 117 Wash 677.

15. N Y.—In re Buschman, 200 N Y. S 874.

Ohio.—Mulholland v. Groot, 24 Ohio Cir Ct (N S.) 582.

6 C J. p 718 note 33.

Power to fix attorney's fees

In a summary proceeding against an attorney for the return of client's papers, the court has power to fix the attorney's fees.—In re Buschman, 200 N Y S. 874.

Notice

In summary proceedings against an attorney for return of client's papers, the court properly permitted the service of an order to show cause giving respondent less than eight days' notice.—In re Buschman, 200 N Y S 874.

Discretion

In a summary proceeding by a cli-may be retained by an attorney with a retaining lien thereon until such lien is satisfied (see infra § 225), he cannot ordinarily be required to deliver up a client's papers where he retains them under a bona fide claim of a lien for compensation due him for services.[16] Nor may he under such circumstances be compelled to permit an inspection thereof.[17] Moreover, an attorney cannot be compelled in a summary proceeding to determine at his peril conflicting claims by delivering papers to one of the conflicting claimants.[18] Nevertheless where a client has a pressing necessity for papers in the possession of an attorney the court may order the papers to be delivered over,[19] or to allow an inspection and copy of them.[20] However, one who seeks by summary proceedings to ent against her attorney to compel him to deliver certain papers, whether the relief asked is to be granted is entirely a matter of discretion—In re Goode, 174 N Y S 72.

16. In re Weitling, 285 N Y S. 550—6 C J p 718 note 39, p 786 note 5

On ineffective order of substitution

Court in attorney's special proceeding to determine and enforce a statutory lien was held to be without power to require attorney to turn over papers in case to another attorney under ineffective order of substitution prior to determination and payment of petitioner's claim for compensation—McNally v. Youngs, 262 N Y.S 828, 237 App Div 787, appeal dismissed 188 N E 49, 262 N Y. 526

Order to return books and papers to client held erroneous

It is error, on a rule to show cause, to order an attorney to return forthwith to his client books and papers in the former's possession, where allegation in the answer to the rule, to the effect that the attorney has a retaining lien on the papers, is not denied—Pitts v Newlin Haines Co, 48 App D C. 167.

After discharge of attorney

(1) Attorneys could not after discharge be compelled to turn over papers in their possession without payment for services then rendered—Phillips v. Hodgson, 237 N.Y S 32, 227 App Div. 754

(2) Attorney who is discharged during pendency of litigation has a retaining lien for his services upon papers pertaining to the action, and cannot be compelled to surrender the papers, in the absence of unprofessional conduct—In re Weitling, 194 N E 401, 266 N Y 184, reversing 275 N.Y S. 973, 242 App Div 823.

Subpœna duces tecum

A client cannot by summoning his attorney as a witness in a suit end by subpœna duces tecum compel him to produce the client's papers on which a lien is claimed—Davis v. Davis, (C C.Mass.) 90 F 791.

17. Pennsylvania Finance Co v Charleston, C. & C R. Co, 48 F. 45—6 C.J. p 786 note 6.

Where permitting client to inspect papers would in effect defeat lien

A client, who has discharged his attorney without cause and without paying him for the services rendered, has no right to inspect the papers held by the attorney under his attorney's lien, since to permit such inspection would be in effect to defeat the lien—The Flush, (C C A N Y) 277 F. 25, certiorari denied Bulk Oil Transports v Thompson, 42 S Ct 184, 257 U.S. 657, 66 L Ed 421

18. In re Kaplan, 234 N Y S 711, 226 App Div 176.

Status of attorney in transaction

Where applicants for an order to compel an attorney to deliver over certain stock certificates given to him by the applicants, claimed that such certificates were deposited with the attorney at his suggestion with a view to the sale of the stock evidenced by such certificate, while the attorney claimed that he was an escrow agent who was to hand over the certificates to the purchaser on the payment of the balance of the purchase price; summary remedy was not available against such attorney—In re Kaplan, 234 N Y S 711, 226 App Div. 176

19. In re Badger, (C C A.N Y.) 9 F (2d) 560—6 C J. p 786 notes 8, 9

On giving security to attorney

(1) A court may compel an attorney, on receiving proper security for his compensation, to deliver up the papers of his client—In re Badger, (C C A.N Y) 9 F (2d) 560—In re Makames, 265 N Y S 515, 238 App Div 534, reversing 265 N Y S 511, 148 Misc 759—6 C J. p 786 note 5 [a], [b]

(2) This power of the court is based on the court's control of its own officers, and power to compel attorneys to act equitably toward clients—In re Badger, supra—Robinson v Rogers, 143 N E 647, 237 N Y 467, reversing Robinson v Ferguson, 201 N Y S 941, 207 App Div 802, and motion denied 143 N.E. 728, 237 N. Y. 525

(3) Hence the relationship of attorney and client is necessary to the existence of such power in the court—Elverett, Clarke & Benedict v Alpha Portland Cement Co, (N Y) 225 F. 931, 141 C C A. 55.

(4) Discharged attorney, on client's cancellation of retainer contract, is required to deliver up papers in his possession belonging to the client, where necessity exists therefor, on furnishing such security as the court deems proper, although the retaining lien is thereby destroyed—Bloom v Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y.S. 637, 152 Misc 50

(5) While the court may compel discharged attorney to deliver up the client's papers or property before payment of his fee, on receiving bond or other security, notwithstanding a general retaining lien, it may not thus destroy charging lien on proceeds of judgment or settlement under Judiciary L. § 475—Robinson v Rogers, 143 N E 647, 237 N Y 467, reversing Robinson v Ferguson, 201 N Y S 941, 207 App Div 802, and motion denied 143 N E 728, 237 N Y. 525

(6) Though the court cannot compel discharged attorney to deliver up client's papers, etc, on security securing only his charges in particular action, nor substitute bond for charging lien on proceeds of settlement of the client's suit to redeem property held as security for loans, it may, to enable the client to borrow money necessary to pay the amount of settlement, compel execution of subordination agreement by the attorney—Robinson v Rogers, 143 N E 647, 237 N Y. 467, reversing Robinson v. Ferguson, 201 N.Y S 941, 207 App Div. 802, and motion denied 143 N E 728, 237 N Y. 525.

(7) Under Remington & B Code §§ 137, 138, an order requiring an attorney to deliver instruments to clients under the penalty of commitment for contempt upon the clients filing a bond for the payment of any attorney's liens is properly entered without determining the amount of the attorney's fee—In re Eighth Ave, 144 P. 533, 82 Wash. 398.

Papers of value to client as defendant in murder prosecution

Attorney who had a lien for fees on certain papers in his possession which he received while employed by a certain client was ordered to deliver up for the use of such client any of such papers as would be of value to him in defense of murder charge against him—In re Hauptmann, 277 N Y S 631, 243 App Div. 616, modifying Hauptman v Fawcett, 276 N Y S. 523, 243 App Div. 613.

20. Pennsylvania Finance Co v. Charleston, C & C. R. Co., (C.C. S C) 48 F. 45.

compel an attorney to deliver over papers on which he claims a lien must invoke the jurisdiction of the proper court by proper pleading.[21] At all events where the relation between an attorney and another is merely that of a hired employee rather than strictly that of attorney and client, such attorney may be compelled to deliver up to his employer papers which have come into the possession of the attorney by reason of such employment.[22] In the absence of compliance with the provisions of a contract, between an attorney and client, specifically stating the conditions under which the attorney shall be paid for his services, he may be compelled by summary proceedings to deliver up the client's papers.[23]

§ 159. —— To Compel Payment Over of Money

a. In general
b. Necessity for existence of relation
c. Defenses
d. Procedure

a. In General

An attorney may be compelled to pay over money, by summary proceedings, subject to the limitations stated hereunder.

Either by virtue of the peculiar power of control which every court has over the attorneys practicing before it, or by reason of applicable statutory provisions conferring such power, a client may, by summary proceedings against his attorney, compel him to pay over money received for and belonging to the client.[24] This summary remedy by motion against an attorney can, however, only be sustained where he has actually collected the money and refuses to pay it over.[25] Moreover the misconduct for which the summary proceeding is authorized is the retaining of a client's money without legal grounds.[26] In accordance with this rule some courts have expressed the view that if no dishonesty on the part of the attorney appears the summary proceeding should be dismissed, and the client left to his action at law.[27] Similarly it has been held that where a client's right to have

21. City of Hackensack v. Winne, 172 A. 601, 116 N.J.Eq. 87.

No jurisdiction in chancery court

A chancery court in New Jersey cannot take summary action against attorney on the client's petition complaining that attorney refuses to surrender papers in pending certiorari action in the supreme court, jurisdiction being exclusively in supreme court by petition.—City of Hackensack v. Winne, 172 A. 601, 116 N.J.Eq. 87.

22. City of Memphis v. Byrne, 9 Tenn.App. 379.

23. In re Goode, 174 N.Y.S. 72.

Where payment conditioned on recovery

An attorney who neither collected anything nor produced any result, so as to comply with an understanding that he be paid for his services only in case he realised on the claims of the client, was compelled on summary proceedings to deliver to the client papers received from her notwithstanding a claim to a lien thereon.—In re Goode, 174 N.Y.S. 72.

24. Ala.—Roquemore v. Sovereign Camp W. O. W., 146 So. 619, 226 Ala. 279
Ill.—Durre v. Sturgeon, 122 N.E. 341, 69 Ind.App. 500
Minn.—Charest v. Bishop, 162 N.W. 1063, 137 Minn. 102
N.Y.—Rokohl v. Attorney at Law, 258 N.Y.S. 903, 144 Misc. 66
6 C.J. p. 711 note 42—p. 712 notes 43, 44.

"There is nothing unreasonable or unjust in compelling the attorney, as an officer of the court, to answer summarily as to money collected for his client."—Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 434, 115 Iowa 695

Basis of remedy

(1) "The basis of the statute as well as of the rule at common law is found in the fact that attorneys are officers of the court where they practice, forming a part of the machinery of the law for the administration of justice and as such subject to the disciplinary authority of the court and to its orders and directions in respect to their relations to the court as well as to their clients."—Charest v. Bishop, 162 N.W. 1063, 1064, 137 Minn. 102.

(2) "This remedy has for its basis the retention of money by the attorney that justly belongs to his client."—Bailey v. Rutherford, 151 N.E. 213, 242 N.Y. 220, modifying 209 N.Y.S. 791, 213 App.Div. 858, and reargument denied 152 N.E. 431, 242 N.Y. 570, and motion denied 154 N.E. 618, 243 N.Y. 591

Statutory provisions declaratory of common law

Statutory provisions authorising such summary proceedings are assumed to be declaratory of the common law.—Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695.—In re H——, 87 N.Y. 521

25. Ala.—Macdonald v. State, 39 So. 257, 143 Ala. 101.
Miss.—Banks v. Cage, 2 Miss. 293.

26. Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695.—6 C.J. p. 713 note 54.

Available to same extent as against sheriffs

(1) Under statutes providing for a rule or order to show cause in favor of clients where their attorneys refuse on demand to pay over money in their hands, it is held that the specified form of proceeding may be available to the same extent as such rule or order is permitted against sheriffs.—Commins v. Ross, (Ga.App.) 160 S.E. 679.—West v. Hill & Adams, 99 S.E. 155, 23 Ga.App. 636.—Clark v. Hilliard, 91 S.E. 926, 19 Ga.App. 514

(2) Rule or order to show cause as remedy against sheriffs generally see Sheriffs and Constables § 170 [57 C.J. p. 984 note 66—p. 986 note 91].

Refusal to return money received for special purpose

Where a client delivered to an attorney employed to sue on a note secured by deed to land a sum of money to discharge a claim against the land, the attorney having failed to return the money on demand by his client, was held to be subject to rule under Civ.Code (1910) § 4954.—Moore v. Garrett, 93 S.E. 112, 20 Ga.App. 474.

27. In re Pohs, 276 N.Y.S. 914, 243 App.Div. 709.—In re Messiter, 179 N.Y.S. 935.—6 C.J. p. 713 note 53.

What is dishonesty

False, exorbitant, and unreasonable charges made by an attorney constitute such dishonest, oppressive, and illegal conduct as will authorize summary proceedings against him.—Tate v. Field, 46 A. 952, 60 N.J.Eq. 42, reversed on other grounds 48 A. 995, 62 N.J.Eq. 795.

Elements of good or bad faith considered

(1) "An attorney should not be a summary order can be reasonably questioned he must be referred to his ordinary remedies [28] Nor is the summary remedy available where there appears to be a real issue of fact between the parties or a substantial defense to the proceeding.[29] Further the summary remedy is not intended to be employed where under all the proper pleadings the question at issue is not the dereliction of the attorney in wrongfully withholding the funds of his client but is the proper construction of an ambiguous contract,[30] or where under the construction of an admitted contract the attorney might have a valid and just claim to the funds sought to be recovered.[31] On the other hand where the attorney's right to retain money of his client is based on an unconscionable contract a summary remedy to recover such money may lie in favor of the client [32] In accordance with the rule, that summary remedies against attorneys are available only where they refuse to pay over money which they have actually collected, as indicated previously in this section it has been held that an attorney cannot be charged in this mode of proceeding for mere misfeasance,[33] or negligence.[34] Nor will the remedy lie to compel the return of fees voluntarily paid to an attorney for services rendered [35]

Existence or pursuit of other remedy. The fact that the client has a legal remedy for the recovery of the money does not affect the right of the court to see that its own officer does not act contrary to his duty [36] However, proceeding by action on subjected to this drastic remedy, except in a plain case where he has violated his professional duty; that is really acted in bad faith If the matter is one of doubtful right upon the part of the parties, the client should . . . be left to an assertion of that right in an ordinary action."—Gross v. Vogel, 187 N.Y.S 660, 661, 196 App Div 858

(2) "Summary process shall not be transformed into a quasi judgment, where . . . bad faith is not charged, but good faith conceded."—Newcomb v. Krueger, 173 N.E. 246, 248, 36 Ohio App 469

(3) Where an attorney distributed money, which he received in settlement of litigation, in apparent good faith and according to his understanding as to its proper apportionment, a summary proceeding by a dissatisfied party to compel the attorney to pay a further sum to him out of a portion retained as fees was held not a proper remedy, since there was, at most, a misunderstanding among the parties respecting the division of the money.—In re Pohs, 276 N.Y.S. 914, 243 App Div. 709.

(4) A rule to show cause why money retained should not be paid over to client will be dismissed, where from the attorney's answer it is evident that the attorney got money in good faith believing it to be no more than honest compensation and his client will be remanded to an action at law—Defoy v. Dever, 17 Pa Dist 546—Chedorska v. Moran, 43 Pa Co. 559.

28. Lynde v. Lynde, 52 A. 694, 64 N J Eq 736, 97 Am S R. 692, 58 L R A 471, reversing (Ch) 50 A 659—6 C.J p 712 note 52

"In all cases the client has relief in the ordinary tribunals for the determination of legal controversies, and, where his right to have a summary order can be reasonably questioned, he must be referred to the ordinary remedies"—Bailey v Rutherford, 151 N.E. 213, 242 N Y 220, modifying 209 N.Y S 791, 213 App Div 858, and reargument denied 152 N E 431, 242 N Y. 570, and motion denied 154 N E 618, 243 N Y 591

29. Shackleford v Ford, 290 S W. 43, 44, 172 Ark. 527.

"In other words, if it is made to appear to the court that the matters of defense set up in the answer are genuine, and that a substantial issue of fact is thereby created, the parties are entitled to trial in the regular way in which suits between adversary parties are tried and decided and a summary judgment is improper."—Shackleford v. Ford, supra.

30. Felton v. Smith, (Ga App) 183 S E 634, 636.

"In other words, such a rule will lie only where an attorney either seeks, in opposition to the explicit terms of his agreement, knowingly and fraudulently to withhold a sum not authorized thereby, or in withholding such funds acts in ignorance or misapprehension of facts which his duty to his client obligates him to know."—Felton v. Smith, supra.

31. West v. Hill & Adams, 99 S E 155, 23 Ga App 636

32. In re Bucken, 196 N.Y.S. 769, 203 App Div. 717.

Testing fairness of contract

"While ordinarily the court will not entertain a summary proceeding to test the fairness of a contract, but will remit the petitioner to his remedy at law . . yet this power unquestionably does exist in the court."—In re Bucken, 196 N.Y S 769, 203 App Div 717

Services on charge of disorderly conduct

Summary proceedings were held to lie to recover a fee of five hundred fifty dollars paid by a laborer as a client for legal services in connection with a charge of disorderly conduct, to which the client pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars—In re Bucken, 196 N Y S 769, 203 App Div 717

33. Unauthorized compromise

Where attorneys without any express authority from their clients entered into a settlement with the adverse party for part of the client's claim, a summary proceeding to compel payment over of the full amount of the claim was not available to such clients for the attorneys' misfeasance but were relegated to an action at law in case—Lombard v. Whiting, 1 Miss 229

Unauthorized form of payment

The summary remedy for payment over of money will not lie against an attorney where he has exceeded his authority by taking notes and other claims in satisfaction of his client's debt—Banks v. Cage, 2 Miss. 293.

34. Weinberg v. Needleman, 234 N Y.S 49, 226 App Div. 3, affirmed 170 N E 167, 252 N Y. 622.

Care and skill in advancing money

Whether an attorney advanced a client's money on a mortgage with due care and skill could not be summarily determined, but required a trial—Weinberg v Needleman, 234 N Y.S. 49, 226 App Div. 3, affirmed 170 N E 167, 252 N Y 622.

35. Application of Secrest, 222 N Y.S. 622, 129 Misc. 793—6 C.J. p 712 note 48

Absence of misconduct

Where a client's dismissal of her attorneys obviously prevented their performing the very services for which they were retained and they were guilty of no misconduct or unethical conduct the client could not, by summary proceedings, recover money paid to such attorneys for professional services—Application of Secrest, 222 N Y S 622, 129 Misc 793

36 D C—Diggs v. Thurston, 39 App. D C. 267.

the part of a client for the money collected may be considered as a waiver of the right to the summary relief.[37] Hence if such an action has been commenced, the client may first discontinue before proceeding summarily,[38] and, if the client has proceeded to judgment in an ordinary action for money collected, it ordinarily operates as a merger of the relation of attorney and client into that of debtor and creditor and is a bar to the summary proceeding for enforcement of payment.[39] Nevertheless there exists authority to the effect that where a client's judgment against an attorney has been returned unsatisfied, the fact that the client has pursued an action against the attorney for money paid to him by the client does not preclude his pursuit of the summary remedy to compel payment of the money.[40]

Nature of remedy and construction of statutes Summary remedies of clients to compel attorneys to pay over money in possession of such attorneys are penal in character,[41] and statutes granting such remedies must be strictly construed.[42] Further the statutory remedy by summary proceeding against an attorney to compel the payment over of money received by him for his client, is not intended as a substitute for the ordinary action for money had and received.[43]

Jurisdiction and venue. Where the money, which is sought to be recovered from an attorney by summary proceedings, is received with reference to some proceeding in court, the court in which that proceeding is pending has exclusive jurisdiction to entertain the application for summary proceedings,[44] and where a proceeding of this character is instituted for breach of duty by the attorney not connected with any proceeding in court, it should be instituted in the county of his residence.[45] Nevertheless a court may require its own attorney to do his duty, although the transaction in question arose in litigation in another court.[46] The same is true in the case of an attorney of another court practicing in the court which exercises the summary jurisdiction.[47] Further a state court may require an attorney who resides within the territorial jurisdiction of the court to respond to summary proceedings brought to compel him to pay over to a client money wrongfully withheld from him, notwithstanding the money was paid to the attorney in connection with the client's supposed violation of a federal statute,[48] but it has been held that a state court has no jurisdiction to compel an attorney to pay over money collected by him under process of a federal court.[49] Moreover it has been held, that in the absence of fraud or misconduct, a court having jurisdiction of proceedings relating to a decedent's estate cannot entertain summary proceedings to compel an attorney for a claimant to pay over money received from him.[50] At all events where a particular court is given juris-

Iowa—Union Bldg, etc, Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N W 433, 115 Iowa 695.

37. Butchers' Union Slaughter-House, etc, Co v Crescent City Live-Stock Landing, etc, Co, 6 So 508, 41 La Ann 355—6 C J p 715 note 74

38. Butchers' Union Slaughter-House, etc, Co v Crescent City Live-Stock Landing, etc, Co, supra

39. Windsor v. Brown, 9 A 135, 15 R I 182, 2 Am S R. 892—6 C J p 715 note 76.

40. Gabriel v Schillinger Fire Proof Cement, etc, Co, 52 N Y.S. 1137, 24 Misc. 313.

41. Felton v Smith, (Ga App) 183 S E 634—West v Hill & Adams, 99 S E 155, 23 Ga App 636

42. Ark—Davies & Davies v Patterson, 201 S W 504, 132 Ark 484 L R A 1918D 825

Ga—Commins v Ross, (App) 160 S E 679—Clark v Hilliard, 91 S E 926, 19 Ga App 514

43. Davies & Davies v. Patterson, 201 S W 504, 132 Ark. 484, L R A 1918D 825

44. Emanuel v Cooper, 133 N W 1064, 153 Iowa 572—6 C J p 715 note 81

45. Emanuel v. Cooper, supra—Union Bldg, etc, Assoc v Soderquist, 87 N W 433, 115 Iowa 695

46. N J—Lynde v Lynde, 52 A 694, 64 N J Eq 736, 97 Am S R 692, 58 L R A. 471, reversing (Ch) 50 A 659

N Y—Batterson v Osborne, 18 N Y S 431

6 C J p 715 note 83

47. Lynde v Lynde, 52 A 694, 64 N J Eq 736, 97 Am S R 693, 58 L R A 471, reversing (Ch) 50 A 659

48. Misenich v. Nelson, 181 N W 319, 148 Minn 479

Jurisdiction of district court of state

Where an alien who had been arrested for failure to register under the federal Draft Law, in order to obtain his liberty employed an attorney and paid him a sum of money but was released from custody without requiring the services of the attorney who contended, on summary proceedings by the client to recover the money paid, that a district court of a state had no jurisdiction by summary proceedings since the client was in custody for violation of a federal statute, it was held that the district court of the state had undoubted jurisdiction to inquire into the conduct of attorneys towards their clients not only in respect to actions there pending, but also in respect to other legal business, no matter what such business may have been, provided the attorney resides in the county of the district court whose authority is appealed to—Misenich v Nelson, 181 N.W 319, 148 Minn 479.

49. Thomas v. Roberts, 5 Dana (Ky) 189—6 C J. p 715 note 85

50. In re Murphy's Estate, 101 A. 935, 258 Pa. 38

Money retained as compensation

Where there was no averment of fraud or misconduct, it was held, that an orphans' court was without jurisdiction to order an attorney to pay over to his client, who received payment from the executor, a sum of money retained by the attorney as compensation for his services in connection with urging claim against deceased's estate—In re Murphy's Estate, 101 A. 935, 258 Pa 38.

diction of the proceeding by statute, summary proceedings must be instituted in accordance therewith.[51]

The question of jurisdiction necessarily depends to some extent at least upon what the duties are which are assumed by the attorney.[52]

Notwithstanding the rule that the relation of attorney and client must exist in order that summary proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over money shall be available, as noted in a subsequent subdivision of this section, the fact that there is a controversy as to whether the relation of client and attorney existed when the money was received does not deprive the court of jurisdiction in the summary proceeding;[53] but where in such a case it is found that the relation does not exist, the court may summarily proceed no further, and the petitioner must be left to his remedy by action.[54] Consent cannot confer jurisdiction where the relationship of attorney and client does not in fact exist.[55]

Discretion. Whether in a particular case a client who seeks to recover money claimed by him in the hands of his attorney shall be permitted to enforce such claim by summary proceedings or shall be put to his remedy by an action at law rests in the sound judgment and discretion of the trial court.[56]

b. Necessity for Existence of Relation

Ordinarily summary remedies to compel an attorney to pay over money are available only to persons sustaining the relation of client to such attorney.

In order that summary remedies to compel attorney to pay over money shall be available it is ordinarily regarded as essential that the relation of attorney and client should exist between the parties in relation to the matter which is the ground for the application,[57] although there exists some authority to the effect that the attorney-client relation need not necessarily exist between the parties to such summary proceedings.[58]

Professional character of relation. Not only must the relation of attorney and client have existed between the parties, but this relation must also have been professional in character.[59] The

51. Macdonald v. State, 39 So 257, 143 Ala. 101.

52. Emanuel v Cooper, 133 N.W. 1064, 153 Iowa 572

53. Union Bldg, etc, Assoc v. Soderquist, 87 N W 433, 115 Iowa 695 —State v Morgan, 45 N.W. 1070, 80 Iowa 413.

54. Matter of Ney Co., 99 N.Y.S 983, 114 App Div 467.

55. In re Langslow, 60 N.E. 590, 167 N.Y. 314

56 Minn —Charest v. Bishop, 162 N W 1063, 137 Minn 103.
N Y —Cross v. Vogel, 187 N.Y.S 660, 156 App Div 358—Application of Secrest, 222 N.Y.S. 622, 129 Misc 793.
6 C J p 712 note 50.

Prudence and caution in exercise of power

"It has been said that this power should always be exercised with great prudence and caution and a sedulous regard for the rights of the client on the one hand and of the attorney on the other"—Schell v New York, 27 N E 957, 128 N Y 67, 68—Application of Secrest, 222 N.Y.S 622, 623, 129 Misc 793

Refusal not denial of legal right

Refusal to permit a client to proceed against an attorney by summary proceeding to compel payment over of money is not the denial of any legal right —Schell v New York, 27 N E 957, 128 N Y. 67

57. Ga —Breen v Phillips, 149 S E 565, 169 Ga 13—Smith v International Lawyers, 132 S.E. 245, 35 Ga App 158—Knight v. Rogers, 95 S E. 997, 22 Ga App 308
Ill —People v Finnegan, 182 N.E 792, 350 Ill 109
Mich —De Keyzer v. Misner, 241 N W 848, 258 Mich 208
N Y —Application of J W Rowe Co, 181 N Y S 87, 191 App Div. 179.
6 C J p 713 note 55.

Basis of rule

"The rule has its basis in the right of an attorney except where the relation of attorney and client exists, to have his liabilities established in the ordinary channels of legal procedure"—People v Finnegan, 182 N. E 792, 793, 350 Ill 109

Acceptance of worthless paper

The client's acceptance of worthless paper of the attorney does not alter the relation of attorney and client so as to affect his right to proceed against the attorney by summary proceedings to compel him to pay over money received from the client —Papa v Rini, 157 N Y S 1079, 171 App Div. 796, affirmed 114 N E 1076, 219 N.Y 575.

58. State v Carey, 187 N W. 710, 151 Minn. 517—6 C J p 714 note 65.

"Conventional relation of attorney and client need not necessarily exist in order that one who has paid money to an attorney for a certain purpose may compel its return in a summary manner"—State v. Carey, 187 N W. 710, 151 Minn. 517.

Bail

An attorney who, while acting as such, receives the money or property of another to deposit as bail for an accused, may be summarily dealt with as an officer of the court under Gen St (1913) § 4956, if he attempts to deprive the true owner of his property —State v Carey, 187 N.W 710, 151 Minn 517.

Money obtained by order procured fraudulently

An attorney who by fraud procures from the court an order by which he obtains money from a party may be proceeded against summarily, even though such party is not his client —Wilmerdings v Fowler, 14 Abb Pr.(N.S) 249, modified 55 N Y 641

Court's power to remedy breaches of discipline

The court has power to make disciplinary orders to remedy breaches of professional duty, independent of the rights of clients and others —Hess v. Conway, 142 P. 253, 92 Kan 787—6 C.J. p 714 note 67

59. Ala —Roquemore v. Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., 146 So. 619, 226 Ala 279
N Y.—Application of J W. Rowe Co, 181 N Y S 87, 191 App Div. 179—In re King, 161 N.Y.S. 233, 175 App Div. 196.
6 C J. p 714 note 68.

Classic rule stated

(1) "When an attorney is employed in a matter wholly unconnected with his professional character, the court will not interfere in a summary way to compel him to execute faithfully the trust reposed in him But where the employment is so connect-courts will not, by a summary proceeding, enforce ordinary contractual or business obligations,[60] such as might be performed by an agent who is not an attorney or counselor.[61] Similarly it has been held that the courts will not, on such application, compel an attorney to pay money in satisfaction of an ordinary debt.[62] This summary jurisdiction is not confined to matters arising out of litigation, but extends to any case where the employment is so connected with professional character as to afford the presumption that that character formed the ground of employment by the client.[63]

Adversary of client. The summary remedy to compel an attorney to pay over money is not available to his client's adversary.[64]

Assignee or other successor in interest. This proceeding being highly penal and quasi criminal, it has been held that it may not be resorted to by an assignee of the claim,[65] or by an administrator de bonis non, although the money constituted assets of the deceased,[66] or by a receiver for the client,[67] but this disability of an assignee or other successor in interest has been denied,[68] and where the relation of attorney and client has been created between such assignee and the attorney, there is of course no question as to his right to maintain the proceeding.[69]

Creditor. The creditor of one who has made a transfer in trust of his stock of goods for the benefit of his creditors cannot proceed summarily against an attorney for the trustee to compel such attorney to pay over money received from the trustee out of the proceeds of the goods.[70]

Guarantor of attorney. The summary remedy authorized by a statute to compel an attorney to pay over money collected for his client may not be available to one who guarantees that the attorney will pay over money collected.[71]

Persons procuring clients. The necessary relation of attorney and client does not exist within the meaning of the rule between a collection agency ed with his professional character as to afford a presumption that his character formed the ground of his employment by the client, there the court will exercise this jurisdiction" —Matter of Aitkin, 4 B & Ald 47, 49, 6 E C L 384, 106 Reprint 855

(2) "This statement has been quoted and approved so often as to become a classic"—Roquemore v Sovereign Camp, W O W, 146 So. 619, 621, 226 Ala 279.

60. In re King, 161 N.Y S 238, 175 App Div. 196—6 C J. p 714 note 69

Improvident investment

Where certain moneys were recovered by an attorney for his client in court proceeding, but at the client's request that such attorney should invest the moneys on her behalf and were later invested improvidently by him pursuant to such authority, such money could not be collected from him in a summary proceeding—In re King, 161 N Y S 238, 175 App Div 196.

61. In re King, supra—6 C J. p 714 note 70.

Collection agency

Correspondence between an attorney of one state, conducting a collection agency in other states, where he was not authorized to practice law, and one sending a claim for collection, to one of the collection agency offices in a city of one of those states where the attorney was not authorized to practice law, was held to show that the relation of attorney and client did not exist, so as to authorize a summary proceeding to compel him to pay over money collected—Application of J W Rowe Co, 181 N Y S 87, 191 App Div 179

62. N J—Koenig v. Harned, (Ch) 13 A 236
N Y—Matter of Neville, 75 N Y S 588, 71 App Div 102.
6 C J p 714 note 71.

63. Roquemore v. Sovereign Camp, W O W, 146 So 619, 226 Ala 279—6 C J. p 715 note 72.

Money paid for use in client's business

(1) Summary remedy lies against attorney converting money paid him by a client for use in the client's business which the attorney was employed because of his professional character to transact.—Roquemore v Sovereign Camp, W. O. W, 146 So 619, 226 Ala 279.

(2) Thus a summary remedy lies against an attorney for money attorney collected for a fraternal association, which the association left with the attorney to settle a policy, and which the attorney converted to his own use—Roquemore v Sovereign Camp, W. O. W., supra.

64. Husband paying money to attorney

Notwithstanding an attorney for a wife suing for divorce received money from her husband, no relation of attorney and client existed between such attorney and the husband so as to justify his recovery of such funds by summary proceedings against the attorney—People v. Finnegan, 182 N. E. 792, 350 Ill. 109.

65. White v. Ward, 47 So 166, 157 Ala. 345, 18 L R A.(N.S) 568—6 C J. p 713 note 60.

66. White v. Ward, supra—6 C J. p 713 note 61.

67. Newcomb v. Krueger, 173 N E. 246, 36 Ohio App 469

68. Schell v New York, 27 N E 957, 128 N.Y 67—6 C J p 713 note 62

69. In re Lahm, 167 N Y S 217, 179 App Div 757, affirmed 119 N E. 1052, 223 N Y. 573—6 C J. p 714 note 63.

Assignment pending action

The relation of attorney and client, entitling client to summary proceeding under Judiciary L § 475, for collection by attorney, was held to exist between one to whom a claim was assigned, pending an action thereon, and the attorney, then prosecuting and continuing to prosecute it—In re Lahm, 167 N Y S 217, 179 App Div. 757, affirmed 119 N E. 1052, 223 N.Y. 573

70. In re Schwartsberg, 239 N Y.S. 513, 228 App Div 174.

71. Surety company

Company which guaranteed that a certain lawyer would turn over moneys collected, on account of such lawyer's failure to pay over a collection to a collecting agency or to the owner of an account, whereby the company was cast in judgment, was not entitled to invoke against such lawyer Vernon's Sayles Civ St Annot. (1914) art 332, providing that an attorney who fails to pay over money may be proceeded against on motion of the party injured or of his attorney, since the company was neither the client nor his legal representative or assign—United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co v Huffmaster, (Tex Civ App) 204 S.W. 337.

which procured clients to forward claims to attorneys for collection so as to entitle such agency to a summary remedy against such attorneys to compel them to pay over money.[72]

Associate attorneys. The relation of attorney and client does not exist between attorneys associated in the conduct of litigation so as to justify a summary proceeding to enforce a division of fees or costs.[73] Nor may a client require one attorney to pay over money collected, and retained by, another attorney who has been employed with the client's consent.[74]

One who has ceased to be an attorney. One who has been an attorney remains liable to the summary jurisdiction of the courts for his conduct while he was an attorney, although he may have been disbarred or may have taken his name off the rolls and ceased to be an attorney at the time the jurisdiction of the court is exercised against him.[75]

c. Defenses

Defenses available to attorneys in ordinary actions at law are available to them also in summary proceedings to compel payment over of money

Being a mere substitute for the ordinary action at law, a summary proceeding is subject to all the defenses which might be made to an ordinary action in regard to the same matter.[76] Thus an attorney may plead as a defense that he did not receive or collect the money demanded,[77] or that it had been garnished in his hands by a creditor of the client.[78] Pleas of set-off in an action are also available to the attorney.[79] On the other hand the assertion of a lien by the attorney,[80] or the refusal of the client to give a receipt[81] has been held to be no answer to a summary application to compel the payment of such money.

Limitations and laches The special proceeding is intended to take the place of, and afford a more sure and speedy remedy than, the ordinary action at law, and it is barred by the statute of limitations if the action at law is barred.[82] On the other hand the right to pursue the summary proceedings will not be barred by laches where it does not appear that the party entitled to enforce such proceedings was guilty of an unreasonable delay.[83]

d. Procedure

(1) In general
(2) Nature and form of proceedings; application and traverse
(3) Hearing, determination and relief
(4) Judgment or order, costs

(1) In General

Summary remedies to compel an attorney to pay over money must be invoked in the proceeding wherein

72. Smith v International Lawyers, 132 S.E. 245, 35 Ga.App. 158.

73. Haden v. Lovett, 65 S.E. 853, 133 Ga. 388, 18 Ann.Cas. 114—6 C.J. p. 714 note 64.

74. Attorney in another state
An attorney who has obtained a judgment in favor of a client and employs an attorney in another jurisdiction to enforce the judgment on assets there located, cannot be held accountable to the client in summary proceeding for fee retained by other attorney employed by client's authority to collect the judgment—Bailey v. Rutherford, 151 N.E. 213, 242 N.Y. 220, modifying 209 N.Y.S. 791, 213 App.Div. 853, reargument denied 152 N.E. 431, 242 N.Y. 570, and motion denied 154 N.E. 618, 243 N.Y. 591.

75. Matter of Burnham, 109 N.Y.S. 988, 58 Misc. 576.

76. Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695—6 C.J. p. 716 note 99.

Defenses available in assumpsit
In summary statutory proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over to his client money collected for him every defense is open to the attorney which would be open to him in an equitable action of assumpsit against him—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456

Paying money into court
It is not necessary to pay the money into court as preliminary to the allowance of a defense on the merits—White v. Ward, 47 So. 166, 157 Ala. 345, 18 L.R.A.(N.S.) 568, overruling Macdonald v. State, 39 So. 257, 143 Ala. 101.

77. Macdonald v. State, 39 So. 257, 143 Ala. 101.

Estoppel to plead such defense
Where an attorney assumed control over money payable to his client under a judgment, but, instead of taking the money into his possession, directed the actual custodian of the fund to pay it to a third person for the client's benefit, he cannot claim, in opposition to a summary proceeding to compel him to pay over such money, that he did not receive it.—Kent v. Rockwell, 34 N.Y.S. 1041, 89 Hun 88.

78. Ewing v. Freeman, 30 S.E. 637, 103 Ga. 811

79. Ala.—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456
Iowa.—Union Bldg., etc., Ass'n v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695
6 C.J. p. 716 note 99 [a].

Available under general issue
Plea of payment and satisfaction as set-off is available to attorney under general issue in summary proceeding by client against attorney—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456

80. Matter of Fincke, 6 Daly (N.Y.) 111—Gillespie v. Mulholland, 33 N.Y.S. 33, 12 Misc. 40.

81. Longworth v. Handy, 2 Disn. (Ohio) 75—6 C.J. p. 716 note 6

82. People v. Brotherson, 36 Barb. (N.Y.) 662—Van Tassel v. Van Tassel, 31 Barb. (N.Y.) 439

83. Knowledge of illegality of contract not appearing
Where plaintiff's decedent had paid fees under a contingent contract with her attorneys to procure a divorce, which was illegal as against public policy, that she had made no attempt to secure restoration of the money paid, during the three years she lived thereafter, did not show that the claim was so stale as to bar summary proceedings by her personal representatives against the attorneys to procure such restoration where it did not appear that she knew that the contract was illegal—In re Sylvester's Estate, 192 N.W. 442, 195 Iowa 1329, 30 A.L.R. 180.

alleged misconduct occurred. Demand for the money is a condition precedent but security, in the absence of statute requiring it, is not a condition precedent. The client and the withholding attorney or attorneys are proper and necessary parties, and so, too, are the persons holding liens on the fund in the attorney's hands.

The summary power of the court must be invoked by application in the action in which the alleged misconduct was committed, and not in an action against the attorney to recover for such misconduct,[84] but the papers should not be entitled in the action, the application being dehors the action and in no sense a step or proceeding in the action.[85]

Money collected by an attorney for his client must be demanded before the client can move for an attachment for its nonpayment.[86] The proper demand is for the gross sum collected by, and in the hands of, the attorney, although he is entitled on a settlement to retain a part as compensation.[87]

Unless required by statute no security is necessary before commencing summary proceedings[88]

Parties. In accordance with the rule, stated earlier in this section, that an attorney and client relationship must exist before summary proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over money shall be available, the client is a necessary party to such proceedings[89] and they cannot be maintained by one other than a client[90] Moreover the client is a proper party petitioner notwithstanding the money in question has been furnished by a third person at the request of such client.[91] Where a single member of a firm of attorneys is summarily proceeded against for moneys belonging to a client, the other members of the firm are proper,[92] but not necessary,[93] parties. Persons holding liens upon the fund in the attorney's hands are, however, necessary parties.[94]

Joinder of parties. Where an attorney has collected separate claims belonging to different persons, they cannot unite in one summary proceeding against him.[95]

(2) Nature and Form of Proceedings; Application and Traverse

The nature and form of the proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over money to his client, including the application, answer and traverse, may be and usually are regulated by statute

The summary proceedings provided for by statute are held to be special statutory proceedings, as distinguished from ordinary common-law actions or ordinary civil actions under a code of civil procedure.[96] However, the summary proceedings authorized by statute are distinguishable from criminal proceedings.[97]

The particular form of summary proceeding whereby a client may compel his attorney to pay over money of the client is generally regulated by statute, and it may be attachment for contempt,[98]

84. Grangier v Hughes, 8 N Y S 828, 56 N Y Super 346

85. Hess v. Joseph, 30 N Y Super 609

86. Roquemore v Sovereign Camp, W O W, 146 So 619, 226 Ala 279—6 C J p 716 note 96.

Money left with attorney to pay policy

Fraternal association's right to summary remedy against an attorney for converting to his own use money left with him by the association to pay a policy did not accrue until association's demand therefor and attorney's refusal—Roquemore v. Sovereign Camp, W O. W., 146 So 619, 226 Ala 279

Delay not constituting laches

Client's delay in making a demand on its attorney for money collected, actively caused by attorney's conduct, was held not laches so as to prevent summary remedy—Roquemore v. Sovereign Camp, W O W, 146 So. 619, 226 Ala 279

87. Macdonald v State, 39 So 257, 143 Ala 101

88. Union Bldg, etc, Assoc v. Soderquist, 87 N.W 433, 115 Iowa 695.

89. Mich—De Keyzer v Misner, 241 N W 848, 258 Mich 208

Miss—Brown v. Pool, 90 So 179, 127 Miss 488.

90. De Keyzer v Misner, 241 N W 848, 258 Mich 208

Wife of client

Where a father, as administrator of an infant son, employed an attorney, who recovered damages for the wrongful death of the son, and paid to such administrator fifty per cent, in accordance with the agreement, the wife of the administrator could not maintain a summary proceeding against the attorney to compel him to pay her a share of the recovery as next of kin, where the relationship of attorney and client did not exist between them, and the wife disclaimed that she employed the attorney—Application of Fellinni, 185 N Y.S. 330, 194 App Div 449

91. Charest v Bishop, 162 N.W. 1063, 137 Minn. 102.

Money paid by daughter of client

Where the money sought to be recovered by summary proceedings had been paid to the attorney by the daughter of the client at his instance and request and for his benefit, it was held that the client could properly maintain the proceedings to require the attorney to return such money to the real owner, the daughter of the client—Charest v Bishop, 162 N W. 1063, 137 Minn 102

92. Nodine v Hannum, 1 Alaska 302

93. Matter of Wolf, 4 N Y S 239, 51 Hun 407.

94. Matter of Forster, 1 N Y S 619, 49 Hun 114—6 C J p 716 note 11.

95. Matter of Forster, supra

96. Davies & Davies v Patterson, 201 S W. 504, 132 Ark 484, L R A 1918D 825—6 C J. p 717 note 26.

"Suit" under code of procedure

A client's statutory proceeding by rule against an attorney to compel him to pay over money in his possession is held to be a 'suit" within the meaning of a general code governing procedure—Commins v Ross, (Ga App) 160 S E 679—Clark v Hilliard, 91 S E 926, 19 Ga App 514.

97. Commins v. Ross, (Ga App.) 160 S E 679.

98. Heffren v Jayne, 39 Ind 463, 13 Am R. 281—6 C.J. p 716 note 90.

disbarment,[99] or execution against the property.[1]

Moreover the proceeding may be begun by affidavit or petition and order to show cause.[2]

Applications for summary remedies to compel attorneys to pay over money are governed by liberal rules as regards form, requisites and sufficiency.[3] Accordingly technical precision and accuracy in pleading is not required in summary statutory proceedings by a client against an attorney to compel him to pay over money belonging to the client.[4]

The petition should be signed and verified by the petitioners themselves, when this is possible.[5]

A traverse of an attorney's answer to a money rule may be filed at any time before the rule is discharged.[6]

(3) Hearing, Determination and Relief

General rules govern questions relating to hearing, determination and relief in summary proceedings to compel the payment over of money.

As in the case of motions generally, applications for summary remedies against attorneys to compel them to pay over money should ordinarily be heard by the court.[7] Under particular statutes author-

99. Jeffries v. Laurie, (C C Mo.) 23 F. 786—6 C.J. p. 716 note 91
Disbarment generally see supra §§ 17–41.

1. Smith v. Bush, 58 Ga. 131.

2. Maigille v. Leonard, 92 N.Y.S. 656, 102 App.Div. 367, affirmed 74 N.E. 1120, 181 N.Y. 553—6 C.J. p. 716 note 93.

3. Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456

Applications held sufficient or not demurrable

(1) Pleading of client against attorney, although bearing many of the earmarks of a declaration in assumpsit, was nevertheless held to be a substantial compliance with Code (1906) § 225, as a summary motion against the attorney to pay over money collected for client—Spivey v. Rodgers, 75 So. 444, 114 Miss. 639.

(2) A petition in a proceeding against an attorney for withholding money collected on petitioner's claim, asking an order to require payment over to petitioner, showing that he had used attorney's check, without acceding to his demand for a larger fee, was not demurrable as showing on its face a complete accord and satisfaction—Alfred Struck Co. v. Slicer, 97 S.E. 455, 23 Ga.App. 52

(3) Where a petition by a client for a rule against attorneys alleged that they were employed by petitioners to collect a certain claim, that there was an award thereon, execution issued, collection of money on account thereof, and the attorneys satisfied the execution of record without authority from petitioners to settle for less than the full amount of the execution and cost, and that such attorneys refused on request to account for any collection, it was held that the petition was sufficient in law and not demurrable—Commins v. Ross, (Ga.App.) 160 S.E. 679

(4) Petition by a client for a money rule against attorneys was held not generally demurrable as showing a mere controversy over the proper amount of fees deductible from collection or over disputed rights and credits, so as to require remand of petitioner to his ordinary remedies at law, where the petition alleged that the attorneys collected a stated sum for petitioner, that their fees had been fixed at a stated amount, and that the attorneys refused petitioner's demand to pay over the difference between the stated amount collected and the stated fees fixed—Felton v. Smith, (Ga.App.) 183 S.E. 634.

(5) Petition by a client for a money rule against attorneys was held not demurrable because of a showing that moneys collected were actually paid over in another state, wherein most of litigation resulting in the collection of moneys was had, where the petition alleged that the moneys in question were being held in state and county of suit and that part of the litigation incident to their collection was prosecuted in county of suit—Felton v. Smith, supra.

Applications held insufficient

(1) A petition against an attorney for a rule to pay money to the purchaser of an execution which had been collected by the attorney prior to such purchase, is demurrable, where it shows that the relation of attorney and client did not exist at the time of the collection—Knight v. Rogers, 95 S.E. 997, 22 Ga.App. 308.

(2) A petition alleging that a collection agency procured clients to forward claims to attorneys for collection was held not to show the relation of attorney and client authorizing a rule against attorney for payment—Smith v. International Lawyers, 132 S.E. 245, 35 Ga.App. 158

Amendments

(1) Where a client's original petition for rule nisi against attorneys alleged that attorneys had collected a stated amount and wrongfully withheld, after demand, stated amount remaining after allowance of specified "obligated" fee, an amendment alleging an agreement that amount of fee be fixed by client and that client had actually fixed such fee by subsequent agreement with the attorneys was held not objectionable as introducing new contract and new cause of action—Felton v. Smith, (Ga.App.) 183 S.E. 634

(2) Moreover an amendment to a client's petition for a money rule against attorneys was held not objectionable because alleging that only one of two attorneys who composed law partnership agreed to fix the fee of associates at a specified maximum, in view of allegations showing that the attorney was acting for the partnership in entering the agreement and that the other partner was present and participated in the alleged agreement—Felton v. Smith, supra

(3) On the other hand in a summary proceeding under Civ.Code (1910) §§ 4954, 5346, 5347, to compel an attorney to pay over money wrongfully withheld from his client, it was not error to refuse to allow movant to amend her petition so as to add to or vary by parol the terms of an unambiguous written contract under which defendant claimed the funds—West v. Hill & Adams, 99 S.E. 155, 23 Ga.App. 636

4. Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456.

Reason for rule

The object of such statutory proceedings is in some measure to divest them of the forms and technicalities which incumber the common-law action and to substitute in its place a less formal and more expeditious remedy—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456

5. Matter of Curtis, 64 N.Y.S. 691, 51 App.Div. 434—6 C.J. p. 716 note 95.

6. Lane v. Brinson, 78 S.E. 725, 12 Ga.App. 760.

7. Shackleford v. Ford, 290 S.W. 43, 172 Ark. 527.

Proper submission to court

On conflicting evidence client's proceeding for summary judgment against attorney was properly submitted to the court sitting as jury.—

izing summary proceedings against attorneys to compel them to pay over money in their possession, it is held that proceedings by way of rule may be heard and disposed of at the term to which the rule is made returnable.[8]

Evidence or proof. In summary proceedings by a client to compel his attorney to pay over money claimed by the client on the introduction of evidence that the money in question came into the hands of the attorney, he has the burden of accounting for such funds.[9]

The evidence on the hearing must be such as is admissible in civil actions;[10] hence ex parte affidavits are inadmissible.[11] The answer of an attorney to a rule against him for money collected is not evidence for him except so far as it is responsive to the rule.[12]

The evidence on hearings of applications for summary remedies to compel attorneys to pay over money, may be regarded as sufficient to support the findings of the trial court, provided that on appeal the court cannot say that such findings are clearly and palpably, or manifestly, against the evidence.[13]

Shackleford v. Ford, 290 S.W. 43, 172 Ark. 527

Conclusions of court and verdict

(1) In proceedings by a client for summary judgment against attorneys for money collected, on evidence given ore tenus, the judge's conclusions correspond to the verdict of a jury—Wilson v. Monette, 139 So. 264, 224 Ala. 106

(2) In a particular case a verdict for client on the theory that defendant-attorney withheld money collected from client's debtor was held to be unauthorized under the evidence—Stanfield v. Gramling, Spalding & Collingsworth, 165 S.E. 776, 45 Ga. App. 665.

(3) On the other hand where in a rule to require an attorney to pay over certain money collected on a note forwarded to such attorney by a client and on the trial all the evidence showed that such attorney's answer was false, a verdict finding the answer to be false was held to be a necessary result of the evidence—Wright v. Schofield, 17 S.E. 929, 92 Ga. 537.

8. Screven Oil Mill v. Guyton, 162 S.E. 920, 44 Ga.App. 820

Reinstatement of rule

(1) Where the court at the first term hears and discharges a rule against an attorney upon verified and untraversed answer, movant cannot file a traverse and demand that rule be reinstated—Screven Oil Mill v. Guyton, 162 S.E. 920, 44 Ga.App. 820

(2) At all events the refusal of the trial court to reinstate the rule under the circumstances of a particular case was held not to be an abuse of discretion, assuming that the matter was within its discretion—Screven Oil Mill v. Guyton, supra.

9. Answer by attorney

An answer filed by an attorney setting up affirmative matter, does not cast any additional burden on the complainant—State v. Morgan, 45 N.W. 1070, 80 Iowa 413.

Debtor's payment to attorney

(1) Where a debtor testified he paid a claim to defendant-attorney, retained to collect such claim, defendant had the burden to account for the proceeds to plaintiff-client—Stanfield v. Gramling, Spalding & Collingsworth, 165 S.E. 776, 45 Ga. App. 665

(2) However, where the attorney on his own behalf testified that he paid over the amount received to his client and introduced documentary evidence in support of such testimony, and no evidence in rebuttal was offered by the client, it was held that the burden on the attorney was sustained—Stanfield v. Gramling, Spalding & Collingsworth, supra

10. Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695—6 C.J. p. 717 note 13

Evidence admissible

(1) In summary proceeding against attorney under Code (1923) §§ 10267, 10268, an attorney was properly permitted to show legal services rendered a decedent as client and to prove the reasonable value of such services—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 639, 212 Ala. 456

(2) Similarly in summary proceedings against an attorney under such statute it was held that the attorney was properly permitted to testify that a certain mortgage was not included in an item paid to plaintiff, and that a stated balance included interest up to the time of a partial settlement.—Bush v. Bumgardner, supra

11. Union Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Soderquist, 87 N.W. 433, 115 Iowa 695

12. Foster v. Reid, 58 Ga. 221.

Admissions by failure to reply

The averments of the answer are not to be regarded as admitted because no reply was filed thereto—State v. Morgan, 45 N.W. 1070, 80 Iowa 413

13. Charest v. Bishop, 162 N.W. 1063, 137 Minn. 102.

Evidence sufficient

(1) In a client's proceeding to compel his attorney to pay over money received by him the evidence was held to sustain a district court's finding that the money had been received to obtain bail, and not as payment of attorney's services.—Charest v. Bishop, 162 N.W. 1063, 137 Minn. 102

(2) Evidence was held to warrant a finding that an attorney owed his client nothing on account of money collected by the attorney on mortgages belonging to the client—Bush v. Bumgardner, 102 So. 629, 212 Ala. 456.

(3) In summary proceedings against an attorney, evidence was held to support a finding that the attorney had certain moneys, the property of client, in his possession—Gerlich v. Richter, 233 N.W. 640, 184 Minn. 346

(4) Evidence was held to be sufficient to show that an attorney wrongfully and in bad faith kept nine hundred fifty-nine dollars and seventy-one cents of his client's moneys and attempted to justify his conduct by crediting the amount upon services when client owed him only thirty-five dollars, so that the trial court was justified in disposing of the matter summarily—Lemington Building & Loan Ass'n v. Weddell, 174 A. 673, 115 Pa.Super. 114

Evidence insufficient

(1) Evidence, on a petition for an order directing an attorney to pay over money to a former client, that money was received by the attorney from a sale of stock belonging to two individuals, and paid over by the attorney to one of those individuals, who claimed it under an oral agreement with the other, was held not to show such bad faith by the attorney, as would entitle petitioner to the relief sought—Gross v. Vogel, 187 N.Y.S. 660, 196 App.Div. 358.

(2) In proceedings, by a client who recovered judgment, to compel his attorney to turn over half the proceeds thereof, the evidence was held to be insufficient to show that the attorney discharged his duty to his client when the attorney paid over, to the client's assignee and his own clerk, the client's half of the judgment, or that the attorney could relieve himself of liability for not tak-

Reference. The court may direct a reference to hear and report on the questions arising on a summary application to compel an attorney to pay over money collected,[14] such as the value of the attorney's services,[15] the amount due to the client,[16] and the character of the employment.[17] On the other hand where the matter in dispute can be decided readily and properly by the court, there is no occasion for a reference.[18] On motion to require an attorney to prosecute an action, an order of reference to determine the amount to which the attorney is entitled as fees should not be made, this matter being properly the subject of a separate motion.[19] In a proceeding of this character the court must determine the controversy, and it may order a reference only for the purpose of assistance to itself in that regard. It cannot shift the whole matter to a referee.[20] If a reference is ordered the matter must come back to the court on the report of the referee for final determination, and the report may be adopted or disregarded and a different decision made on the facts.[21]

Matters determinable and relief awarded. Relief to which a client is clearly shown to be entitled will be granted to him,[22] but, if his right is not manifest, his complaint will be dismissed without prejudice to his right to prosecute his claim in the ordinary way.[23] Further in the summary mode of proceeding a client is not entitled to relief requiring that an attorney shall pay over more than the sum actually collected.[24] Accordingly he cannot be made liable for failing through negligence or other cause to recover judgment for the full amount due to his client.[25]

In a summary proceeding the court has the power to adjust any set-off which an attorney may have on account of fees or other charges due to him in connection with the proceeding in which he received the money in question, or as the result of any other services for which he has a lien on money of his client coming into his hands.[26] This power ing steps to see that the interests of his client were protected.—In re Driscoll, 161 N.Y.S. 872, 175 App.Div. 375.

(3) In a client's proceedings against an attorney the evidence was held not to make out a case of the attorney's having received money for which a summary judgment may be recovered.—State v. Rogers, 191 S.W. 125, 136 Tenn. 578.

14. In re Von Polheim, 162 N.Y.S. 498, 175 App.Div. 819—6 C.J. p. 717 note 18.

15. Matter of Ernst, 66 N.Y.S. 620, 54 App.Div. 362—Matter of Keen, 79 N.Y.S. 857, 39 Misc. 374—6 C.J. p. 717 note 19.

16. Matter of Raby, 51 N.Y.S. 552, 29 App.Div. 225.

17. In re Hammann, 75 N.Y.S. 775, 37 Misc. 417.

18. Matter of Borkstrom, 71 N.Y.S. 451, 63 App.Div. 7, affirmed 61 N.E. 1127, 168 N.Y. 639—Waterbury v. Eldridge, 5 N.Y.S. 324—6 C.J. p. 717 note 22.

19. Lulkert v. Lulkert, 92 N.Y.S. 97, 102 App.Div. 53.

20. Carter v. Spooner, 103 N.Y.S. 505, 118 App.Div. 342.

Reference to committee of bar

In summary proceedings against an attorney referred by the court to a committee of the bar, such committee is simply a body created by the court to assist it in the investigation, and the court cannot delegate any of its own powers to such committee, and cannot empower it to compel the attendance of parties or witnesses, nor to administer an oath to those who do appear before it, and the report of such committee can never be used as the basis of an order against the attorney either for the payment of money or for his discipline, but its only proper use is as a report of a preliminary investigation made to determine if the matter calls for a hearing before the court.—Peirce v. Palmer, 77 A. 201, 31 R.I. 432, Ann.Cas.1912B 181.

21. Carter v. Spooner, 103 N.Y.S. 505, 118 App.Div. 342—Jones v. Gilbert, 102 N.Y.S. 983, 117 App.Div. 775.

Hearing of report

Where, upon the return of an order requiring an attorney to show cause why he should not be punished as for a contempt because of his failure to pay over to his client moneys collected for him, a reference is ordered, the court may, upon the coming in of the report, appoint a day for the hearing thereon, and direct that an attachment issue against the attorney, returnable upon the day of the hearing, for the purpose of securing his presence thereon.—Matter of Steinert, 24 Hun (N.Y.) 246.

22. Peirce v. Palmer, 77 A. 201, 31 R.I. 432, Ann.Cas.1912B 181.

23. West v. Hill & Adams, 99 S.E. 155, 24 Ga.App. 636—6 C.J. p. 717 note 28.

Dismissal not improper

In summary proceedings under Civ.Code (1910) §§ 4954, 5346, 5347, to compel an attorney to pay over money wrongfully withheld from his client, where there was no issue for determination by the jury whereby the attorney could be held liable under the requested rule unless the contract relied on by the attorney should be construed adversely to the attorney's reasonable contention, it was not error to dismiss without prejudice to the right to sue in any court having jurisdiction.—West v. Hill & Adams, 99 S.E. 155, 23 Ga.App. 636.

24. Ga.—Langmade v. Glenn, 57 Ga. 525.

N.Y.—In re McIntosh, 112 N.Y.S. 513.

Tex.—Croft v. Hicks, 26 Tex. 383.

6 C.J. p. 718 note 30.

Allowance of interest

Where a judgment recovered for a client by a firm of attorneys is paid to one member of the firm who appropriates the proceeds to his own use, and the amount which the client owes the firm for legal services is disputed, the order finding the amount due the client and directing its payment should allow interest only from the commencement of the proceedings.—Matter of Wolf, 4 N.Y.S. 239, 51 Hun 407.

25. Croft v. Hicks, 26 Tex. 383.

26. Emanuel v. Cooper, 133 N.W. 1064, 153 Iowa 572—6 C.J. p. 717 note 16.

Discharged attorney

Refusing in summary proceedings to require attorney, discharged from plaintiff's employment, to return money paid for services by a third person and not a party to the main proceedings, was not error where it appeared that the money sought to be recovered had been paid for services which had been rendered up to the time the attorney was discharged.—Seibert v. Seibert, 243 N.W. 59, 186 Minn. 274.

will not be exercised, however, where the attorney offered no evidence as to the value of his services [27]

(4) Judgment or Order; Costs

The determination of summary proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over money should be by order rather than by formal judgment.

Since, as noted in a previous subdivision of this section, summary proceedings to compel an attorney to pay over money are special proceedings rather than an action, no formal judgment can be entered thereon,[28] but on a proper showing an order may be made.[29] Under a statute providing that if an attorney shall retain in his hands money received for a client after being ordered by the court to pay over such money, he shall be stricken from the list of attorneys, it was not improper for a court in summary proceedings brought against an attorney to enter an order reciting that on his failure to pay a certain sum within a designated time his name should be stricken from the roll of attorneys.[30] An order requiring an attorney to pay over money in his hands to petitioner in particular summary proceedings is improper while a pending petition by the client to have such money paid to another remains undetermined.[31]

Costs. As between an attorney and his client in summary proceedings to compel the attorney to pay over certain money, the attorney should not be charged with costs when he has been successful in the main question involved in the proceedings.[32]

V. COMPENSATION OF ATTORNEY

§ 160. Right to Compensation in General

In this country an attorney is entitled to compensation for legal services unless they were rendered under circumstances showing he did not intend to charge for them

Although under the common law, as enforced in England and some parts of Canada, counselors, advocates, and barristers, as distinguished from attorneys, conveyancers, and special pleaders below the bar, had no right to charge and enforce the payment of compensation for their services,[33] in the United States members of all branches of the legal profession are entitled to fair compensation for services rendered on a contract express or implied,[34] and they can enforce this right by action.[35] Even in jurisdictions where it was held

27. Emanuel v Cooper, 133 N W 1064, 153 Iowa 572

28. Cartier v Spooner, 103 N.Y S 505, 118 App Div 342

Imposition of fine

Provision of Code (1931) 30-2-13, so far as providing that an attorney who fails to pay over money collected shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined, etc, presupposes an indictment and conviction, so that such fine cannot be imposed in a summary proceeding against the attorney—Hall v Eary, 170 S.E. 904, 114 W Va 82

29. Peirce v Palmer, 77 A 201, 31 R I 432, Ann Cas 1912B 181

Final determination of attorney's rights

An order in a client's favor will be a final determination of the attorney's rights—Peirce v Palmer, 77 A 201, 31 R I 432, Ann Cas 1912B 181

Provision that order shall not be bar

An order dismissing the proceedings should provide that it shall not be a bar to any action by the client against the attorney to recover the money—Shanley v McManus, 109 N Y S 434, 124 App Div 935, modifying 107 N Y S 913, 57 Misc 8

Conclusiveness of decision in summary proceeding by a client against an attorney to recover money or property collected by the attorney see Judgments § 611 [34 C.J. p 763 note 36].

30. On entry of rule absolute

Where a rule nisi was issued requiring an attorney to account for a client's moneys and the attorney filed an unresponsive unverified answer which did not demand a jury trial, and the undisputed testimony on hearing, not objected to, supported the petition as to the attorney's receipt and retention of money and failure to render services for the total amount thereof, the court properly entered a rule absolute, without a jury, requiring the attorney to pay over the excess over the value for his services within ten days or be stricken from the roll of attorneys, notwithstanding the answer was untraversed—Wilkins v Jordan, 177 S E 344, 50 Ga App 119

31. People v Finnegan, 182 N E 792, 350 Ill 109

Directing payment to client's husband

An order directing an attorney for a wife, suing for divorce, to return money paid by her husband to him before the determination of the wife's petition to require the attorney to pay it to the court clerk, was held to be improper—People v Finnegan, 182 N E 792, 350 Ill 109

32. In re Von Polheim, 162 N Y S. 498, 175 App Div 819

Attorney's right to any fee

Where the attorney retained sums collected for the client, who contended in summary proceedings that the attorney should have no fee, but a part of his claim was allowed the attorney, he should not have been taxed with costs in the proceeding to require payment—In re Von Polheim, 162 N Y S 498, 175 App Div 819

33. Mowat v Brown, (C C Minn.) 19 F 87.

34. Fla.—U S Savings Bank v Pittman, 86 So 567, 80 Fla 423
La.—Thigpen & Herold v Slattery, 73 So 780, 140 La 708.
N J.—Cicalese v. Fortunato, 112 A 508, 92 N J Eq 329.
6 C J p 719 note 49.
"The compensation of an attorney for his services is governed by agreement, express or implied, which is not restrained by law Judiciary Law (Consol Laws, c. 30) § 474 The rules of the old common law and of the civil law relating to the employment of an attorney at law and as to his compensation were never adopted in this state"—Greenberg v. Jerome H Remick & Co, 129 N E 211, 230 N Y 70, reversing 181 N.Y S. 937, 191 App Div. 947.

35. Fla.—U S Savings Bank v Pittman, 86 So 567, 80 Fla 423.
Ill.—Crozier v. Freeman Coal Mining Co, 2 N E (2d) 293, 363 Ill 362
La.—Thigpen & Herold v. Slattery, 73 So 780, 140 La 708
N Y.—Haight v Lloyd Royal Belge Société Anonyme, 217 N Y S 239, that a counselor at law could not recover a fee for services rendered, an action would lie upon a bill of exchange, promissory note, or other obligation given in consideration of his services.[36]

Gratuitous services. Where an attorney renders services voluntarily, or in such a way as to authorize the inference that he did not intend to charge therefor, such services, no matter how beneficial they may be, will be supposed to be gratuitous, and he is not entitled to recover,[37] especially where the services were rendered without knowledge or consent,[38] unless compensation is expressly stipulated for.[39]

Services rendered brother attorney. Although there is a rule of courtesy among the members of the bar, agreeably to which each will render services to the others without expectation of reward, other than such as may come by way of similar service, the courtesy of the profession is not to be strained to meet the demand of one who, having practically withdrawn from the profession and thereby disabled himself from reciprocating in kind, demands the courtesy as an aid to the accumulation of wealth in another pursuit,[40] and the rule of courtesy becomes inapplicable the moment the parties, from any cause whatever, stand on their rights.[41]

§ 161. Statutory Regulations

a. In general
b. Fees in bill of costs

a. In General

Valid statutes regulating the compensation of attorneys are controlling as to amount and mode of recovery thereof.

Where the legislature by a special act adjusts the claims of attorneys employed in some particular proceeding, it withdraws from the court the question of reasonable value, and it also supersedes an express contract to pay.[42] So, where the legislature has fixed one definite and certain mode of payment, no other is permissible.[43]

Where a statute fixing the basis of liability to an attorney on the part of an adverse party who settles the controversy without notice to the attorney is amended, the rights and remedies of an attorney under a contract made with his client before the amendment became effective are not affected by the amendment,[44] and it has been held that,

217 App Div 656—Field v Moore, 178 N Y S 842, 189 App Div. 709
6 C J p 719 note 50.

36. U S.—Mowat v. Brown, (C C Minn.) 19 F 87
Pa.—Mooney v. Lloyd, 5 Serg & R 412

37. Iowa—In re Lear's Estate, 213 N W 240, 204 Iowa 346
Md.—Drury v. Brightwood Sanitarium Co, 133 A. 314, 150 Md 585
Wyo.—Cadle v. Black, 154 P 997, 24 Wyo 43.
6 C J p 719 note 53, p 730 note 64.

38. Philippine—Orozco v. Hernaez, 1 Philippine 77
Tex.—Landman v State, (Civ App.) 97 S W.(2d) 264, error refused

39. Cicotte v. St Anne's Church Corp, 27 N W 682, 60 Mich 552—6 C J p 719 note 54.

40. Thigpen & Herold v Slattery, 73 So 780, 140 La 708
"A member of the bar, who is no longer engaged in the active practice of his profession and has accumulated wealth in other pursuits, has no right to avail himself of the services of an active practitioner, in a long litigation, involving valuable property, upon the assumption that the services will be rendered gratuitously, by reason of a custom, supposed to prevail at the bar of the city in which he lives, since no such custom, applicable to the case stated, is shown to prevail"—Thigpen & Herold v Slattery, supra

41. Graydon v. Stokes, 24 S C 483—6 C J p 731 note 72 [b]

42. Herrick v Barzee, 190 P 141, 96 Or. 357—6 C J p 753 notes 52, 53
Purpose of statute
The purpose of the statute entitling an attorney to a reasonable fee for services in actions on notes, mortgages, or other instruments, and providing fees not to exceed five per cent of the amount decreed for principal and interest, is to impose upon the debtor some part of the expense of collecting the debt evidenced by the obligation, if legal action should become necessary, and to set at rest doubt that a provision in the obligation authorizing inclusion of counsel fee is void as against public policy—Petitions of Warrington, (Del. Super.) 179 A. 505
Contract with revenue collector
A contract between a revenue collector and an attorney approved by the county court, regarding the attorney's fees for delinquent tax suits, imposed no liability on the state, county, or collector where the amount of such fees is fixed by statute—State ex rel McKittrick v. Bair, 63 S.W (2d) 64, 333 Mo 1

43. State ex rel McKittrick v Bair, supra
Delinquent tax proceedings
When the legislature fixed one definite mode of payment for attorney's fees in delinquent tax suits, as where the statute provides that the right to the fees accrues as a whole after collection made or judgment rendered, no other mode of payment is permissible—State ex rel McKittrick v. Bair, 63 S W (2d) 64, 333 Mo. 1.
Home Owners' Loan Act
A statute prohibiting the collection of fees from persons applying to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation for a property loan has been held not to bar attorneys employed by an applicant from recovering for services rendered before acceptance of the application in negotiations with mortgagees for reduction in interest, to prevent foreclosure, to eliminate a receiver, and to induce the mortgagees to accept the corporation's bonds, nor does the act prevent attorneys employed by applicant from recovering reasonable fees for services rendered subsequent to acceptance of the application, where the services consisted in negotiations whereby the mortgagees consented to reduce their claims against applicant's property. The statute is not concerned with a contract made by the borrower with lawyers or other persons for services not connected with appraisal, examination of title, and closing of the loan—Romano v. Magliulo, 278 N Y.S 936

44. Fry v Wolfe, 234 P 191, 106 Okl 289—Allen v. Shepherd, 169 P. 1115, 69 Okl 47—Culver v Diamond, 167 P. 228, 64 Okl 271.

where the statute was amended after such settlement but before submission of the case in the attorney's action for compensation thereunder, the statute in effect when the contract of settlement was made is applicable.[45]

Statutes regulating the compensation of counsel assigned by the court to indigent litigants are hereinafter considered in § 172 of this title; and statutory provisions as to attorney's fees for services in connection with claims against the United States are treated in the title United States § 155 [65 C.J. p 1397 note 34–p 1398 note 43].

b. Fees in Bill of Costs

Statutes regulating the amount awarded attorneys in bills of costs and fixing penalties for illegal charges govern as to such costs but do not affect the attorneys' rights as against their clients.

General acts specifying certain amounts to be taxed as attorney's fees against the losing party to a lawsuit do not limit the amount of an attorney's recovery on a quantum meruit, and an attorney is entitled to a reasonable compensation for his services regardless of the amount fixed by statute.[46] The limitation of the legal fee is for the purpose of regulating the costs for counsel fees between the parties, and not the compensation to be allowed between attorney and client.[47] In other words, the clerk of the court cannot tax against the losing party in a suit fees other than those prescribed by statute; but contracts, express or implied, made between an attorney and his client for fees, are not limited as to amount, and may be enforced in the same way as other contracts.[48]

Where the rate of compensation for attorneys and counselors is changed by the legislature during the progress of a suit, the costs of such suit are to be taxed according to the statute in force at its termination.[49]

Illegal fees. It is generally made a misdemeanor subject to penalty for an attorney to charge and receive illegal fees in a bill of costs. It is held that the act of receiving illegal fees is one of official misconduct;[50] but only one penalty can be exacted for several unlawful charges in the same bill.[51] These rules apply only to charges for such items as are fixed by statute,[52] and, where the statute exacts no penalty, the illegal fees cannot be recovered back.[53]

§ 162. Retaining Fee

A retaining fee is a preliminary fee given to secure an attorney's services and remunerate him for being deprived of the opportunity to act for adverse parties Express contracts for retaining fees are always enforceable, and generally contracts therefor will in a proper case be implied.

A retaining fee is a preliminary fee given to an attorney or counsel to insure and secure his future services, and induce him to act for the client[54] It is intended to remunerate counsel for being deprived, by being retained by one party, of the opportunity of rendering services to the other and of receiving pay from him,[55] and the payment of such fee, in the absence of an express understanding to the contrary, is neither made nor received in payment of the services contemplated;[56] its payment has no relation to the obligation of the client to pay his attorney for the services which he has retained him to perform.[57] On the other hand, such a fee is not intended to swell the amount of the bill which accrues for services rendered in pursuance of the employment.[58] It may be fixed and definite as to amount, time of employment, and time of payment.[59]

45. McDougal v Black Panther Oil & Gas Co, (C C A Okl) 277 F 701

46. Strong v. Mundy, 31 A. 611, 52 N J Eq 833, reversing 30 A 332, 52 N J Eq 744—6 C J p 753 note 54.

47. N J—Strong v. Mundy, 31 A 611, 52 N J Eq 833, reversing 30 A 332, 52 N J Eq 744
N Y—Adams v. Stevens, 26 Wend 451
Pa—Foster v. Jack, 4 Watts 334.
6 C J p 754 note 55

48. Yates v Robertson, 80 Va 475

49. Onondaga v. Briggs, 3 Den (N Y) 173

50. Waters v. Whittemore, 22 Barb (N Y) 593

51. Tanner v. Croxall, 17 N J.Law 332.

52. State v. Andrews, 51 N H. 582—6 C J p 754 note 60

53. Rawson v. Porter, 9 Me 119.

54. Pickens Co v. Thomas, 111 S E. 27, 152 Ga. 648, 21 A L R 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S E 739, 28 Ga.App 434

Other definitions

(1) "The ordinary present definition of a retaining fee . . . is a payment in advance, to cover future services and disbursements until further provision is made."—Severance v Bizallion, 121 N.Y S 627, 629, 67 Misc 103

(2) "A 'retaining fee' is 'a fee given to counsel on being consulted, in order to insure his future services'"—Bouvier L D, quoted in Blair v. Columbia Fire Proofing Co., 77 N E 762, 763, 191 Mass 333

(3) "A retaining fee is an engagement fee; that is, a fee to engage and hold an attorney to render services to a client in a particular case, or generally, as occasion may arise."—Saulsbury v. American Vulcanized Fibre Co, 91 A. 536, 541, 5 Boyce (Del) 182—Bright v Turner, 265 S W 627, 628, 205 Ky 188.

55. Ga.—Pickens Co v. Thomas, 111 S E 27, 152 Ga 648, 21 A L R 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S E 739, 28 Ga. App 434.
N J.—Conover v West Jersey Mortg. Co, 126 A 855, 96 N J Eq 441.
6 C J p 720 note 60

56. Conover v West Jersey Mortg Co, supra—6 C J p 720 note 61.

57. Bright v. Turner, 265 S W. 627, 205 Ky 188—6 C J. p 630 note 51

58. Pickens Co. v Thomas, 111 S E 27, 152 Ga. 648, 21 A.L R. 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S E. 739, 28 Ga.App 434.

59. Bright v. Turner, 265 S.W. 627, 205 Ky. 188.

Right of recovery. While a contract to pay a retaining fee is valid and enforceable although the contemplated services are not rendered,[60] the decisions are in conflict on the question whether an agreement to pay a retaining fee is implied; in some states the right to charge a retaining fee is limited to cases of express stipulation therefor,[61] but the generally prevailing rule is that an attorney is entitled to recover a retaining fee in every case in which he is retained, although no such fee has been specially contracted for,[62] and although he has not been called upon to perform any service in the case.[63] An agreement for a retainer is not necessarily implied, however, where all the particular services performed by the attorney are fully paid for.[64] Accordingly it has been held that when an attorney is generally retained and is employed by the client in all his cases, and is paid in full for services rendered in such cases, he gets all that he is entitled to under such general retainer, and should not be permitted to recover, in addition to the sum so paid for such services, an additional amount as a retaining fee.[65]

An attorney can charge only one retaining fee in a single case, although if many attorneys are employed in one litigation each may stipulate for his retaining fee.[66]

Apart from the technical retaining fee, an attorney may always claim and receive reasonable compensation in advance.[67] He may also demand that costs be paid or secured,[68] and, in some instances, he may refuse to proceed with pending actions unless past services are paid for.[69]

§ 163. Statutory Fees and Taxed Costs

In the absence of statute or agreement to the contrary a judgment for costs and fees is the property of the client, and not of the attorney

A judgment for costs is a judgment in favor of the party, not of the attorney, and the money represented by the costs is ordinarily the property of the party,[70] and so the allowance in a judgment of at-

60. Ga.—Pickens Co. v. Thomas, 111 S.E. 27, 152 Ga. 648, 21 A.L.R. 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S.E. 739, 28 Ga.App. 434
Ky.—Bright v. Turner, 265 S.W. 627, 205 Ky. 188

61. Windett v. Union Mut. L. Ins. Co. of Maine, (Ill.) 12 S.Ct. 751, 144 U.S. 581, 584, 36 L.Ed. 551, affirming (C.C.) 36 F. 838—6 C.J. p. 720 note 57

62. Roche v. Baldwin, 76 P. 956, 143 Cal. 186—6 C.J. p. 720 note 58

63. Union Surety, etc., Co. v. Tenney, 65 N.E. 688, 200 Ill. 349, affirming 102 Ill.App. 95—6 C.J. p. 720 note 59

64. Pickens Co. v. Thomas, 111 S.E. 27, 152 Ga. 648, 21 A.L.R. 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S.E. 739, 28 Ga.App. 434—6 C.J. p. 720 note 62

65. Pickens Co. v. Thomas, supra

General counsel of corporation

"When an attorney is employed by a corporation as its general counsel for one year, without a fixed salary, but the attorney is to be paid a separate fee for each specific service rendered the corporation, and there is no agreement between the attorney and client as to the payment of a retaining fee, such attorney is not entitled, as a matter of right, at the end of his year's employment, to a retaining fee in addition to the fees paid for his specific services rendered the corporation. The agreement by which the attorney is to be paid a separate fee for every specific legal service rendered the corporation excludes any implied agreement to pay him in addition to a retainer fee."—Pickens Co. v. Thomas, 111 S.E. 27, 28, 152 Ga. 648, 21 A.L.R. 1438, answers to certified questions conformed to 111 S.E. 739, 28 Ga.App. 434

66. Ill.—Schnell v. Schlernitzauer, 82 Ill. 439
N.Y.—Morton v. Croghan, 1 Cow. 233

67. Young v. Lansnar, 112 S.W. 17, 133 Mo.App. 130—Reed v. Mellor, 5 Mo.App. 567.

68. Hall v. Crouse, 13 Hun (N.Y.) 557—Gleason v. Clark, 9 Cow. (N.Y.) 57—Castro v. Bennet, 2 Johns. (N.Y.) 296

69. Avery v. Jacob, 15 N.Y.S. 564—6 C.J. p. 720 note 66.

70. Ark.—Vaughan v. Humphreys, 239 S.W. 730, 153 Ark. 140, 22 A.L.R. 1301
Conn.—Erickson v. Foote, 153 A. 853, 112 Conn. 662
Mass.—Boynton v. Tarbell, 172 N.E. 340, 272 Mass. 142.
Minn.—In re Skoll, 81 N.W. 210, 78 Minn. 408, 79 Am.S.R. 400
Mont.—In re Maury, 34 P.(2d) 380, 97 Mont. 316
N.Y.—In re Howell, 109 N.E. 572, 215 N.Y. 466, Ann.Cas.1917A. 527, reversing 150 N.Y.S. 1090, 166 App.Div. 894—Baumwald v. Two Star Laundry Service, 255 N.Y.S. 174, 234 App.Div. 392, affirmed 184 N.E. 33, 260 N.Y. 538—In re Tinney, 176 N.Y.S. 102, 187 App.Div. 569.
6 C.J. p. 720 note 68.

"A judgment for costs and disbursements is the property of the party recovering it, and not of his attorney,—subject, however, to the lien of the latter for his services."—In re Skoll, 81 N.W. 210, 78 Minn. 408, 79 Am.S.R. 400.

In New Jersey

(1) Costs, including counsel fees taxed as costs, are recovered by the party to reimburse him for money necessarily spent in the prosecution or defense of the suit, and the judgment or decree is in his favor, and not in favor of the attorney or solicitor—Eufemio v. McKeown, 159 A. 796, 10 N.J.Misc. 549

(2) In fact, however, the client has seldom paid such expenses, but in practice most of them have been paid by the solicitor or attorney, and that officer has frequently received nothing from his client, so that as between the party and his solicitor it generally or frequently happens that the latter is entitled to all of the costs recovered.—Hoboken Trust Co. v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N.J.Eq. 314.

(3) Hence it has come to be a common expression to say that the costs belong to the solicitor or attorney.—Klein v. Journal Square Bank Bldg. Co., 169 A. 827, 114 N.J.Eq. 510—Columbia Ins. Co. v. Artale, 164 A. 864, 112 N.J.Eq. 505, affirmed 168 A. 304, 114 N.J.Eq. 268—Cicalese v. Fortunato, 112 A. 508, 92 N.J.Eq. 329—Ely v. Peet, 29 A. 817, 52 N.J.Eq. 734.

(4) But this does not alter the intrinsic character of the affair, which is a recovery by the successful party against the defeated party of certain payments which he has made, or become liable to make, to his solicitor, counsel, and others.—Ely v. Peet, supra.

(5) The matter of costs is adjustable between solicitors and clients; and, where costs are not awarded in favor of one party as against the other, they are taxable as between torney's fees gives the attorneys no interest and ownership in the judgment to the extent of the amount of the fee allowed, but the judgment in its entirety is the property of the client[71] Attorneys are entitled to the taxed costs, however, where the right thereto is given them by statute,[72] and, as shown infra § 181, it is competent for the client to stipulate that the attorney shall have the costs in addition to other compensation. The amount awarded as attorney's fees does not necessarily determine the amount payable by the client to counsel or preclude the latter from recovering a reasonable compensation for his services,[73] and, as has been shown supra § 161, the fact that the amount so awarded is regulated by statute does not alter the rule

Allowance paid by adverse party An attorney's contract of employment limiting him to a certain sum to be paid proportionately by his clients does not prohibit him from receiving in addition the allowance made in litigation which is paid by the adverse party[74]

§ 164. Circumstances Affecting Right

The attorney's right to compensation earned by him is not defeated by matters not affecting the value of his services

Errors of the attorney not injuring the client will not defeat his right to compensation;[75] nor is his right affected by the fact that after the compensation was earned the client discharged him[76] or disputed the amount of the fee[77] The fact that the attorney held public office is a matter of no consequence so long as it does not disqualify him to act as an attorney and to appear in that capacity in the proceeding in question for which services he is seeking recovery[78] Where attorneys at the request of other stockholders without litigation successfully attacked a combination of stockholders of a corporation, the fact that the combination may have been illegal does not defeat the attorneys' right to compensation.[79]

Diversion of funds set aside for payment. The fact that money appropriated by a township to pay for the services of an attorney employed by it was diverted to other uses does not affect his right to compensation[80]

Solicitation of third person. An attorney is not to be deprived of his fee because some person, without his knowledge, connivance, or consent, makes representations with reference to the attorney or to advantages to the client that may accrue by reason of the employment of the attorney, if the attorney had no knowledge of such statements or representations.[81]

Nonperformance or breach of contract, as shown solicitor and client—Hoboken Trust Co v Norton, supra

(6) An attorney who had agreed to foreclose mortgages for a stipulated fee was not entitled, in addition to such fee, to the extra allowances for counsel fees allowed by the chancellor in the taxed costs—Perkins v Deal Beach Realty Co, 114 A 853, 92 N J Eq 526, affirmed Perkins v Robertson, 114 A. 856, 92 N J.Eq 692

71. Ind—Berry v State Bank of Otterbein, 193 N E 922, 99 Ind App 655

Mass—Boynton v. Tarbell, 172 N E 340, 272 Mass 142.

Agreement in note

(1) An agreement to pay attorney's fees in promissory notes is ordinarily held to be in the nature of liquidated damages which inure to the benefit of the plaintiff, and is not a provision for the benefit of the attorney at law who brings suit on the notes to recover judgment for the plaintiff for the principal, interest, and attorney's fees due on the note—Spence v. Phillips, 158 S E. 797, 172 Ga 782—In re Maury, 34 P (2d) 880, 97 Mont. 316

(2) This view has, however, been disapproved in Louisiana where the court said "The only sense in which it can be said that the attorney's fee stipulated in a promissory note belongs to the owner of the note is that the owner of the note may sue for and recover the fee in his own name when he sues on the note"—Foundation Finance Co. v Robbins, 153 So 833, 836, 179 La 259, reversing (App) 149 So 166 Contra Foundation Finance Co v Robbins, (La App) 144 So 293

72. Union Mut L Ins Co v Buchanan, 100 Ind 63—6 C J. p 720 note 69

73. Mass—Boynton v Tarbell, 172 N E 340, 272 Mass 142

Mo—Leahy v Lemp, (App) 214 S W. 228

74. Matter of Shanley, 107 N Y S 913, 57 Misc 8, modified on other grounds 109 N Y S 434, 124 App Div 935.

75. O'Day v. Spencer, 189 P 394, 96 Or 73

Erroneously holding sale valid

Where it appeared that defendant received a large sum of money as the result of litigation, and there was no showing that the attorney's fee was to be contingent, the fact that the attorney erroneously represented that a sheriff's sale was valid will not, where there was no showing that defendant relied on it or was injured, prevent recovery of compensation—O'Day v. Spencer, 189 P. 394, 96 Or. 73.

76. Ky.—Sharp v Culton, 89 S.W. (2d) 869, 262 Ky 84

N Y—Bermant v. Keveney, 150 N Y S 949, 88 Misc 537

Tex—Chandler v Harrison, (Civ. App) 4 S W (2d) 604

77. Fleming v. Phinizy, 134 S E 814, 35 Ga App 792

Estoppel of client

Defendants were estopped to assert that when they contracted with complainant to recover an estate for them he made no disclosure as to its extent and nature, where, after they were fully informed, they acquiesced in his further work and expenditure for them in the matter—Adams v Schmidtt, 60 A 345, 68 N J Eq 168

78. Cooke v. Embry, 123 So 27, 219 Ala 623

79. Willingham, Wright & Covington v. Glover, 111 S.E. 296, 28 Ga.App. 394.

80. Union School Tp of St Joseph County v Moon, 137 N.E 332, 205 Ind 514

81. Lamar Hardwood Co. v. Case, 107 So 868, 870, 142 Miss 277

"The attorney is not required to answer for the sins of other persons, unless he has done something to cause or promote such delinquencies or sins"—Lamar Hardwood Co. v. Case, supra.

infra § 183, may, however, defeat the attorney's right to compensation.

§ 165. —— Acting without License

Only duly licensed attorneys are entitled to compensation for legal services.

No one is entitled to recover compensation for services as an attorney at law unless he has been duly admitted to practice before the court, or within the jurisdiction in which the services were rendered, and is an attorney in good standing at the time.[82] This has been held to be true, although recovery is sought for services rendered as agent.[83] It is not enough that the attorney is a practicing lawyer; it must appear further that he has all the qualifications prescribed by the statute, including the taking of the oath of office, payment of the privilege tax, and similar requirements;[84] but it has been held that on failure to pay his professional tax an attorney may charge for services rendered until proper entry of nulla bona has been made on the execution for such tax,[85] and that a failure to pay an occupation tax does not bar the right of an attorney to recover on a cause of action assigned to him as compensation for his services.[86]

Further, the fact that the attorney has been duly admitted to practice law in other states does not affect the application of the general rule above stated,[87] although recovery has been allowed in the case of an attorney licensed to practice in a sister state who has not offended the spirit or intention of the statutes regulating the right to practice, where the circumstances call for application of the rule of comity, discussed supra § 7, permitting such attorneys to practice in particular cases without the formality of an admission and license.[88]

Partners; one of them not duly admitted. Although one may be associated with a licensed attorney, a joint action cannot be maintained for the services of either or both where they act as partners.[89]

Services not rendered as attorney. An unlicensed person may recover for services not performed in a court of record, and of a character the performance of which would not constitute the practice of law.[90]

82. Ind.—Harris v. Clark, 142 N.E. 881, 81 Ind.App. 494
La.—Foundation Finance Co. v. Robbins, 153 So. 833, 179 La. 259, reversing (App.) 149 So. 166.
N.J.—Morris v. Muller, 172 A. 63, 113 N.J.Law 46, reversing 168 A. 772, 11 N.J.Misc. 866.
Wyo.—Harriman v. Strahan, 33 P.(2d) 1067, 47 Wyo. 208.
6 C.J. p. 721 note 72.

Accountant

(1) An accountant who informed a taxpayer of its right to a tax refund and obtained an agreement to receive half of any refund obtained was not entitled to recover where the taxpayer proceeded through its own legal department, since the accountant performed no work, and in supplying information was "practicing law" without a license.—Mandelbaum v. Gilbert & Barker Mfg. Co., 290 N.Y.S. 462, 160 Misc. 656.

(2) An accountant may not recover on a contract, express or implied, for rendering an opinion as to the law, the meaning of a statute, or the giving of information as to what judicial or quasi judicial tribunals are deciding.—Mandelbaum v. Gilbert & Barker Mfg. Co., supra.

Splitting fees with layman

An attorney cannot make an agreement with the holder of a note stipulating for the payment of attorney's fees to collect from the maker the stipulated fee and divide it with the holder, without violating the ethics of the profession, if the holder is not licensed to practice law.—Foundation Finance Co. v. Robbins, 153 So. 833, 179 La. 259, reversing (App.) 149 So. 166.

83. Tedrick v. Hiner, 61 Ill. 139.—6 C.J. p. 721 note 73.

84. Wash.—Smith v. Kneisley, 49 P.(2d) 916, followed in 49 P.(2d) 918.
Wyo.—Harriman v. Strahan, 33 P.(2d) 1067, 47 Wyo. 208.
6 C.J. p. 721 note 74.

Suspended attorney

An attorney who failed to register and to pay the statutory registration fee and was therefore deemed suspended and not entitled to practice law, under the terms of the act could not recover from a client for legal services performed while the fee remained unpaid, notwithstanding the fee went into the public treasury.—Smith v. Kneisley, 49 P.(2d) 916, followed in 49 P.(2d) 918.

85. Williams v. Ivey, 169 S.E. 366, 177 Ga. 77.

86. Ft. Worth, etc., R. Co. v. Carlock, 75 S.W. 931, 33 Tex.Civ.App. 203.

87. Harriman v. Strahan, 33 P.(2d) 1067, 47 Wyo. 208.

In Massachusetts

(1) Under the old statute (St. [1785] c. 23), a person could not lawfully practice as an attorney in any court of justice within the state who was not admitted as an attorney conformably to that statute, although he was an attorney regularly admitted in the courts of another state, and afterward removed into Massachusetts and permanently resided there. Such person therefore could not recover compensation for services rendered as an attorney in the courts of Massachusetts prior to 1836, when the Revised Statutes took effect, altering the rule as to the right of attorneys from other states.—Ames v. Gilman, 10 Metc. 239.

(2) Subsequently, however, it was held that an attorney licensed to practice in another jurisdiction, who at defendant's request performed legal services in Massachusetts, employing local counsel, could recover reasonable compensation despite Rev.L. c. 165 § 45, as amended by St.(1914) c. 432, having informed defendant he was not admitted in Massachusetts and that local counsel was necessary to which defendant agreed.—Brooks v. Volunteer Harbor, No. 4, American Ass'n of Masters, Mates, and Pilots, 123 N.E. 511, 233 Mass. 168, 4 A.L.R. 1086.

88. Freeling v. Tucker, 289 P. 85, 49 Idaho 475.

89. Colo.—Hittson v. Browne, 3 Colo. 304, disapproving Harland v. Lilienthal, 53 N.Y. 438.
Mass.—Browne v. Phelps, 97 N.E. 762, 211 Mass. 376.

90. Schroeder v. Wheeler, 14 P.(2d) 903, 126 Cal.App. 367.—6 C.J. p. 721 note 76.

Claim adjuster

A claim adjuster, who illegally contracted to enforce, secure, settle, adjust, or compromise parents' claim for death of their minor child through dynamite torch of railroad,

Estoppel. That the client knew of the attorney's disqualification and that valuable services were rendered do not estop him from setting up the disqualification,[91] although it has been held that where plaintiffs were partners, one of whom had been duly admitted, and the other, although entitled to admission had not formally enrolled, it was held that in the absence of a statute or rule forbidding recovery, defendant could not set up the disqualification[92]

§ 166. —— Absence of Benefit to Client

An attorney may recover for services rendered in good faith although little or no benefit resulted to the client, but the rule is otherwise where the services were unskillfully or negligently rendered or were detrimental to the client.

One who employs an attorney is presumed to contemplate payment of a fee, and such fee may be earned regardless of the attorney's success in the undertaking, unless there is an agreement to the contrary.[93] As a general rule, the right of an attorney to compensation is not lost because his services may have been of no benefit to his client, if they have been faithfully and intelligently rendered,[94] in such circumstances, the attorney does not lose his right to compensation because he was not successful in what he undertook to do for his client,[95] or because his services were unnecessary, provided they were rendered in good faith[96] So, it is not necessary that a lawyer must be successful in litigation and actually recover or preserve property for a client before he may become entitled to the value of his services on a quantum meruit.[97] However, it has been held that a solicitor, who through an action on behalf of all members of a class of interested parties was successful in realizing a fund for distribution to members of that class, was not entitled to an allowance for services, when it was shown that prior liens would absorb all the money available and no money was made available to members of the class for which the proceeding was brought,[98] and that a statute, authorizing reasonable counsel fees in actions for enforcement of a note, bond, mortgage, or other instrument of writing, but limiting the amount recoverable to five per cent of the amount decreed for principal and interest, contemplated that the creditor's attorney should be paid the reasonable value of the service rendered by him, and did not contemplate an allowance when there was no service or need for service of an attorney.[99]

On the other hand, if through ignorance, want of skill, or negligence, however, the attorney takes steps and renders services that are unnecessary and entirely useless, he cannot recover therefor,[1] and the same is true where services are rendered, not for the benefit of the client, but actually to his detriment[2] Moreover, where the services are of little or no value because of the failure of the attorney to fulfill his part of the contract, he is not entitled to recover.[3] was not entitled to recover for services rendered on the ground that the parents had received all of the benefits, where the contract limited the attorney's fee to twenty-five per cent of the judgment obtained, and offended the court's sense of propriety and good morals—Meunier v. Bernich, (La App) 170 So 567

91. Harriman v Strahan, 33 P.(2d) 1067, 47 Wyo 208

92. Harland v. Lilienthal, 53 N Y 438—6 C J. p 721 note 72 [d]

93. Levin v. Suffrin, (La App) 167 So 911.

94. Trimble v Guardian Trust Co, 148 S W 934, 244 Mo 228—6 C J p 721 note 77.

95. Kan—Shouse, Doolittle & Morelock v Consolidated Flour Mills Co, 294 P 657, 132 Kan 108
La.—Stumpf v. Lopes, (App) 154 So 496
N Y—Strong v. Dutcher, 174 N.Y S 352, 186 App Div. 307.
6 C J. p 721 note 78.

96. Tinney v. Pierrepont, 45 N Y.S 977.

97. Cal—Cullinan v. McColgan, 263 P. 353, 87 Cal App. 684.
N Y—In re People, by Beha, 242 N Y S 100, 136 Misc. 715.
6 C J p 721 note 78.

98. American S S Co v. Wickwire Spencer Steel Co, (D C N Y) 14 F Supp 941, affirmed (C C A.) 82 F (2d) 999

99. Petitions of Warrington, (Del. Super) 179 A 505

1. Shouse, Doolittle & Morelock v. Consolidated Flour Mills Co., 294 P. 657, 132 Kan. 108—6 C J p 722 note 80.

Knowingly continuing wrongful contract

"Where his salary is not to be paid by the individual who employs him, but paid from the public treasury or a trust fund, and little or no services are rendered, and it appearing to him, upon reasonable reflection, that no substantial services will, under the circumstances, be required of him, the common conscience is sufficient to set up a standard of ethics and to warn the recipient of such salary that he is taking that to which he is not entitled and [which he] cannot honestly accept, no matter what may be his contract An attorney under such circumstances may not plead the shortcomings of the individuals or officials who thus wrongfully contracted with him, for he must be held to realize that, if he knowingly continues in such wrongful contract, he becomes a party to the wrong Particularly is this true with the lawyer, since his understanding and training prompt him to an earlier inquiry and aid him in more quickly detecting the wrong" —In re Information to Discipline Certain Attorneys of Sanitary Dist. of Chicago, 184 N E 332, 339, 351 Ill 206

Fraud or misconduct generally see infra § 167

2. U.S—Baxter v. Lowe, (Minn) 93 F 358, 35 C C A. 344
Ky.—Mercer County Bd of Education v Rankin, 134 S W. 157, 142 Ky. 324
6 C J p 722 note 81

3. Perkins v Deal Beach Realty Co, 114 A. 853, 92 N J Eq 526, affirmed Perkins v Robertson, 114 A. 856, 92 N.J Eq. 692.

Failure to advance funds

Where the attorney led his client to believe that he would advance the money necessary for the completion of buildings by the client, but failed to furnish the additional funds, and

§ 167. —— Conduct of Attorney

a. Absence from trial
b. Acting for other parties
c. Fraud or misconduct
d. Negligence

a. Absence from Trial

Temporary absence from the trial or absence with the consent of the client does not affect an attorney's right to compensation

An attorney's presence at the trial is usually required, and his wrongful act in staying away will defeat his claim for compensation; but, if from any cause he is relieved from attendance, his absence will not then affect his right to recover for his services.[4] The client waives a full performance of the contract on the part of his attorney if he still continues to recognize him as his attorney, and avails himself of his services.[5] Where an attorney actually attends court, on the hearing of a cause, he is entitled to his fee, although he is only present a part of the time,[6] or is not actually present in the court room at the moment the decree is obtained or the cause is argued.[7]

b. Acting for Other Parties

That an attorney acts for several parties whose interests are not conflicting does not defeat his right to compensation. However, an attorney representing adverse parties is not entitled to compensation from both, except in some cases where he did so with the knowledge and consent of both parties.

The mere fact that an attorney acts for several parties will not affect his right to compensation from all of them, if their interests are not adverse, conflicting or opposing.[8]

Adverse party. Since counsel fees are earned only by fidelity to, and activity for, a client and his interests,[9] and since, as has been shown supra § 47, an attorney cannot serve conflicting interests, he can claim pay for his services from only one side,[10] notwithstanding that he may have been innocent of any intentional wrongdoing in representing adverse interests.[11] Hence, an attorney employed by a corporation to free it from receivers forfeits his claim to compensation from the corporation by performing services for the receivers, and accepting pay from them,[12] and an attorney employed by a city is not entitled to compensation for services in prosecuting a claim against the city.[13] The fact, however, that an attorney had previously and in an entirely different matter represented one whose interests were adverse to his client in the case for which compensation is presently sought will not defeat his right.[14]

An attorney who was himself one of the adverse parties to his client cannot recover compensation from the latter.[15] thereby placed her in a position where the advance made by him was of very little value to her, the attorney could not recover from the client for services rendered in connection with the construction of a building, since such services were of little or no value to the client, in view of his failure to advance additional funds after leading the client to believe that he would do so—Perkins v Deal Beach Realty Co, 114 A 853, 92 N J Eq 526, affirmed Perkins v Robertson, 114 A. 856, 92 N.J. Eq 692.

4. Douglass v Eason, 86 Ala 687—Pearson v Darrington, 32 Ala. 227

5. Ballard v. Carr, 48 Cal. 74.

6. Wendell v. Lewis, 8 Paige (N. Y) 613.

7. Frost v. Frost, 1 Barb Ch.(N.Y.) 492

8. Cal—In re Kafitz's Estate, 196 P. 790, 51 Cal App 325
Mo—Remmers v Bromschwig, (App) 18 S W (2d) 115.
N Y—Field v Moore, 178 N.Y.S. 842, 189 App Div 709
6 C J p 722 note 89.

Services beneficial to both

An attorney's right to compensation for services rendered his client in receivership proceedings was not defeated by acceptance of a fee from the attorney for the receiver, where the interests were not conflicting and particularly where the amount the client received was materially increased by the attorney's efforts—Remmers v. Bromschwig (Mo App) 18 S W.(2d) 115

Parties seeking same relief

The mere fact that an attorney also represented other clients seeking the same relief, and was paid by them, is no defense to a claim for services rendered a client—In re Campbell, 224 N Y S. 263, 130 Misc 511—6 C J. p 722 note 89 [a].

9. Hoboken Trust Co v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N J Eq. 314.

10. U S—U S. v. Apple, (C C.A. Kan) 292 F 935.
Ill—McGlasson v Durand-McNeil-Horner Co., 272 Ill App 101—Wright v. Clark, 212 Ill App 289. See Gary v. Beadles, 202 Ill.App 58.
6 C J p 722 note 87.

11. Bryant v. Lewis, (Tex Civ.App) 27 S W.(2d) 604.

Unknown adverse interests

An attorney, although not guilty of any intentional wrongdoing, not being aware of any disagreement between his clients, cannot recover for services to a client discharging him, where he, also, at the same time represented another whose interests conflicted with the interest of the client discharging him—Bryant v. Lewis, (Tex Civ App) 27 S W (2d) 604

12. Ill—Strong v International Bldg, etc, Union, 55 N E 675, 183 Ill 97, 47 L.R.A. 792, affirming 82 Ill App 426
Mo—Trimble v. Guardian Trust Co, 148 S W 934, 244 Mo 228

13. Loew v. Gillespie, 153 N Y S 830, 90 Misc 616, affirmed 157 N.Y.S 1113

Claim in different department

An attorney is not entitled to compensation for services under a retainer to sue the board of education, obtained while employed as a law clerk in the city department of finance, since a judgment against the board of education is payable by the city. While there was no actual conflict between the attorney's duties in the finance department and under the retainer, his act in accepting the retainer was adverse to the interests of his employer, the city.—Loew v. Gillespie, 153 N.Y S 830, 90 Misc. 616, affirmed 157 N Y.S 1133

14. Jackson v. Thomas, 141 S.E. 320, 37 Ga App 670.

15. Foxworthy v. Trimble, 5 Ky.Op. 659.

Consent or acquiescence. While it is improper for an attorney to occupy inconsistent positions in a suit without the consent of the parties, yet a party who has consented thereto cannot refuse to pay for the services rendered for him.[16] Similarly, a client who accepts and profits by the services of an attorney with knowledge that the attorney has previously acted as an attorney for another party or for adverse interests cannot dispute the attorney's right to a fee on the ground of his previous employment.[17]

Where an attorney represents two parties whose interests are conflicting, but no conflicting duties are imposed on him, his chief duty being to furnish a channel of communication between the parties, and where he discloses to each party his relation to the other and acts with the consent of both, he is entitled to compensation;[18] but, where the employment for each is to protect the respective and conflicting interests as they may arise in the litigation, it has been held to be against public policy to allow a recovery of compensation, even though the representation was with the consent of both.[19]

c. Fraud or Misconduct

An attorney's right to compensation may be defeated by fraud or misconduct on his part.

Fraud or unfairness on the part of the attorney may prevent him from recovering for services rendered,[20] unless the client is estopped to raise the 16. Haight v. Lloyd Royal Belge Société Anonyme, 217 N.Y.S. 239, 217 App.Div. 656—6 C.J. p. 722 note 90.

Technical conflict of interest

Notwithstanding that there may technically have been a conflict of interest, where defendant employed attorneys to obtain a reduction in the contract price of ships bought from the United States Shipping Board, and the attorneys worked in defendant's best interests and obtained a large reduction, the attorneys' right to compensation was not defeated because they had previously, to the knowledge of defendant, represented the firm through which the government sold the vessels, and had an interest in having such firm paid its commission, particularly, in view of the fact that it was of paramount interest to all concerned to insure payment by defendant by lifting a substantial part of the burden resulting in part from changing conditions—Haight v. Lloyd Royal Belge Société Anonyme, 217 N.Y.S. 239, 217 App.Div. 656

Adverse interest of attorney

An attorney obtaining, with the consent of the client, an interest in property adverse to the interest of the client is entitled to compensation for his services on being compelled to surrender the property acquired—Moller v. Pickard, 188 N.Y.S. 791, 197 App.Div. 333, reversed on other grounds 133 N.E. 887, 232 N.Y. 271.

17. Patterson v. Fleenor, 89 S.W. 705, 28 Ky.L. 582

Employment by other claimant

While an attorney cannot assume a position adverse to his client without the client's consent, attorneys employed by a widow to represent her in matters connected with her husband's estate, with knowledge of their previous employment in another suit by claimant of her husband's estate, could recover for services rendered—Grauberger v. Light, 16 P.(2d) 188, 127 Cal.App. 576

18. West v. Mohr, 194 Ill.App. 496

19. Ill.—Wright v. Clark, 212 Ill.App. 289.
Tex.—Norman v. Wilson, (Civ.App.) 41 S.W.(2d) 331
6 C.J. p. 722 note 92.

20. Cal.—Clark v. Millsap, 242 P. 918, 197 Cal. 765
Minn.—Faber v. Enkema, 231 N.W. 410, 180 Minn. 493—Blackey v. Alexander, 195 N.W. 455, 156 Minn. 478
6 C.J. p. 723 note 93

Failure to disclose facts

(1) It is an attorney's duty to communicate to his client whatever information he obtains that may affect the latter's interests with respect to the matters intrusted to him as attorney, and if guilty of actual fraud or bad faith in the conduct of his client's business, he is not entitled to compensation—Selover v. Hedwall, 184 N.W. 180, 149 Minn. 302.

(2) Where, however, an attorney discloses all facts which he honestly conceives to be material to his employment, and without fraud fails to disclose some fact which by the court may be deemed material to such employment, he is not, by reason of such concealment, barred from receiving compensation for his services, where the services rendered during the time of his employment are rendered with exclusive devotion to the cause confided to him, and to no other interest—Hunter v. Troup, 146 N.E. 321, 315 Ill. 293.

(3) An attorney's possession as trustee of an invalid deed from a testator, without disclosure thereof to the executors, does not preclude recovery of compensation for services rendered to the executors.—Hunter v. Troup, supra.

Secret profit

(1) An attorney making a secret profit at the expense of his client will not be allowed to retain charges for services during the period of such unfaithful conduct—Robertson v. Hirsh, (Mass.) 177 N.E. 676, 276 Mass. 452

(2) So, an attorney procuring a loan for his client and profiting on the investment of his funds, in the absence of an express agreement, is not entitled to attorney's fees—Voisin v. Morales, 127 So. 758, 13 La.App. 318.

Acts held not mala fide

(1) In attorneys' action for fees, allegations that the directors of an investment company had authorized its attorneys to dismiss the action against defendant if by doing so they could procure the dismissal of six actions brought by other parties in which the company was directly or indirectly defendant, and that plaintiffs knew that such authority had been given, but failed to inform defendant thereof, are not sufficient to constitute a defense or counterclaim on the ground of fraud or bad faith, so that evidence offered thereunder was properly refused—Selover v. Hedwall, 184 N.W. 180, 149 Minn. 302.

(2) The fact that an attorney, employed by a township in connection with the construction of a school building, induced the contractors to contribute a sum to the purchasers of bonds issued to pay for the building, so as to enable the bonds to be sold above par, does not defeat his right to compensation—Union School Tp. of St. Joseph County v. Moon, 137 N.E. 332, 205 Ind. 514.

(3) Where the treasurer of a county gave attorneys a duebill for two hundred fifty dollars for their fee in foreclosure proceedings under a mortgage given by bank officers to secure the indebtedness due by the bank to the county, the treasurer was liable thereon, although the attorneys had agreed to act in the foreclosure proceedings free of cost to him, and although they had threatened to block the settlement unless the due-question;[21] and so will acts in violation or excess of authority,[22] and acts of impropriety inconsistent with the character of the profession, and incompatible with the faithful discharge of its duties.[23] Accordingly, where counsel for a receiver is interested as a purchaser of property sold by the receiver, he cannot have from the estate any compensation for his services in bringing about the sale.[24] An immaterial false statement in an affidavit, however, particularly where it was subsequently corrected, is not such misconduct as will forfeit the right to compensation,[25] and neither is the institution of vexatious suits on the cause of action in another jurisdiction;[26] and misconduct in regard to one matter will not prevent recovery for work done in a different employment, except, perhaps, so far as the client may avail himself of some right of set-off,[27] although where the amount claimed was a bulk charge covering all services rendered the client, including the service tainted by fraud, the attorney cannot recover for any part of the services.[28]

Failure to pay over money collected. Where an attorney collects money for his client, and in bad faith or without legal reason retains it and refuses to pay it over, whereby the client is forced to resort to legal proceedings against him, involving the employment of another attorney, the collecting attorney loses his right to compensation for the collection of the funds,[29] although he may recover actual disbursements in behalf of the client.[30] This rule can be applied only where the attorney withholds in bad faith or without legal reason the moneys collected,[31] the validity of his reasons being for the bill was given, which was not "duress, a species of fraud"—Craig v Frauenthal, 224 S.W. 434, 145 Ark 185

Purchase of client's note

Where the maker of a note, executed on the advice of his attorney, who purchased it from the payee at less than its face value without disclosing the possibility of such settlement to his client, paid him all the fees he asked for all his services in all matters in which he was representing him, he was not entitled to compensation for services in the matter of an account, in payment of which the note was executed, in addition to the amount paid therefor—Addison v Cope, 243 S W. 212, 210 Mo App 569

21. Nugent v. Moody, (Tex.Civ App.) 271 S W 266

Accepting further services

Where plaintiff, after being informed of the existence of a will in her favor, permitted defendants to continue to act for her in pending proceedings, she was estopped to deny liability for the reasonable value of services performed and expenses incurred, although defendants had concealed the existence of the will until they procured the contract whereby plaintiff agreed to give them one half of the property recovered, and the client's statement to the attorneys that, since they refused to discuss the fairness of the contract with her, she would find some one with whom they would discuss the matter, was not notice that she would not accept further services from the attorneys in probating the will and defending its contest—Nugent v. Moody, (Tex Civ App.) 271 S.W. 266

22. Chatfield v. Simonson, 92 N.Y. 209—6 C J p 723 note 94.

23 Ingersoll v Coal Creek Coal Co, 98 S W. 178, 117 Tenn. 262, 119 Am. S R 1003, 9 L R A (N S) 282, 10 Ann Cas 829—6 C J p 723 note 95.

"Clients are not alone concerned in the conduct of their solicitors, but also the court and public, when the clients have been injured by the conduct of their solicitors contrary to the character of the legal profession and opposed to sound public policy and a proper and decorous administration of the law"—Hoboken Trust Co. v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N J.Eq 314

Suggesting simulation of illness

That an attorney suggested that a witness simulate illness to obtain a continuance shows bad faith to the court and client, as a matter of law—Duffy v. Colonial Trust Co, 135 A. 204, 287 Pa 348, 49 A L R 406, certiorari denied 47 S Ct 570, 273 U S 765, 71 L Ed 880

24. Tracy v. Willys Corporation, (C. C A Ohio) 45 F (2d) 485

25. Rodgers v. Bromberg, (C C A. Tex.) 53 F (2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S Ct. 314, 285 U S 542, 76 L Ed 934

As to authority of attorney

Where attorneys filing a bankruptcy petition for foreign corporations were properly authorized to do so, but falsely swore that they had powers of attorney from the petitioning creditors, which statement was deemed subsequently corrected by affidavits of authority omitting reference to any power of attorney, they did not forfeit their right to compensation—Rodgers v. Bromberg, (C C. A Tex.) 53 F (2d) 723, certiorari denied 52 S Ct 314, 285 U.S 542, 76 L. Ed 934.

26. Hornish v. McConnell, 182 N.W. 406, 191 Iowa 308.

27. Mich.—Richardson v. Richardson, 59 N.W. 178, 100 Mich 364
N Y.—Currie v. Cowles, 19 N Y.Super. 452—Smith v Hoctor, 99 N.Y.S. 843, 51 Misc. 649
Vt.—Davis v Smith, 48 Vt. 52
6 C J p 723 note 96

28 Duffy v Colonial Trust Co, 135 A 204, 287 Pa 348

29. N J.—Hoboken Trust Co. v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N J Eq 314.
Pa.—Osterling v. Pose, 133 A. 374, 286 Pa 263.
W Va.—Bailey Lumber Co v. Dunn, 156 S E 79, 109 W.Va. 725.
6 C J p 753 note 97.

Appropriating funds

An attorney appropriating clients' funds in his possession on a claim for services rendered, instead of keeping the fund intact until a determination of the claim, estops himself from retaining or successfully claiming in a subsequent equitable action any part of the money for services rendered as attorney—Bull v. Pendock Co., 267 N Y.S 783, 239 App Div 590

Incurring statutory penalty

Attorney who incurs the statutory penalty for failing to pay over money received by him for his client should not be allowed compensation for the collection of such funds—Bailey Lumber Co v. Dunn, 156 S.E 79, 109 W Va. 725

30. Hoboken Trust Co v. Norton, 107 A. 67, 90 N J Eq 314

31. Zuckernik v. Jordan Marsh Co, (Mass.) 194 N.E. 332—6 C J. p 723 note 98

Honest mistake

Where an honest mistake resulted in an attorney's wrongful refusal to account to his client for profits realized on the eventual sale of the property acquired on the foreclosure of a mortgage which had been assigned to the attorney only as security, the attorney is entitled to a reasonable compensation for his managerial and legal services—Da-court and jury to determine on the law and facts of the case.[32] Accordingly, in a suit against an attorney to recover money collected, where his good faith is apparent, the attorney will not be deprived of his fees as damages for retention of the money,[33] although the court may compel him to pay over the whole amount in his hands and leave the recovery of the fee to a subsequent action against the client.[34]

d. Negligence

Uncondoned culpable negligence or ignorance of an attorney resulting in damage to the client may bar recovery of compensation by the former.

As a general rule, an attorney's culpable negligence or ignorance in the discharge of his duties, resulting in damage to the client, is a valid defense to an action for compensation,[35] unless such negligence or mistake has been condoned by the client.[36] To entitle himself to this defense, the client must show that he suffered damages consequent on the attorney's negligence.[37]

Not every mistake or negligent act on the part of an attorney is a defense to his claim for compensation; thus, a mistake which reasonable care would not prevent does not bar recovery;[38] nor would neglect of an unimportant matter defeat the right to recover for important services rendered without fault.[39] Where there is a failure to make out the alleged negligence of the attorney, the dissatisfaction of the client with the result of the suit will not affect the attorney's right to his pay.[40]

§ 168. Premature Termination of Employment

An attorney is entitled to the reasonable value of his services on premature termination of his employment.

Where performance is made impossible on the part of an attorney, he may still recover the reasonable value of his services on a quantum meruit; and this is so, regardless of whether the impossibility of performance was brought about by the dismissal by the adversary of his client of the proceedings in which he was engaged to act,[41] or, as shown in the succeeding sections, by the act of the client or the combined act of attorney and client, by operation of law, or by the death or disability of the client or attorney.

§ 169. —— By Act of Parties

a. By act of client
b. By act of attorney
c. By combined act of attorney and client

a. By Act of Client

(1) General rule
(2) Discharge without cause
(3) Discharge for cause

(1) General Rule

Although full performance is rendered impossible by the acts of the client, an attorney is entitled to compensation for services actually rendered, and in some cases, to damages.

Where the complete performance of an attorney's services has been rendered impossible, or otherwise prevented, by the act of his client, the attorney may, as a general rule, recover on a quantum meruit for the services actually rendered;[42] and in some states vitt v. O'Connor, (C C A N.Y.) 73 F. (2d) 43, certiorari denied O'Connor v. Davitt, 55 S Ct. 217, 293 U S 621, 79 L Ed. 709

32. Gray v. Conyers, 70 Ga 349

33. Soper v Manning, 16 N E 752, 147 Mass 126—6 C J. p 723 note 99

34. Walton v. Dickerson, 7 Pa 376.

35. N Y—Parker-Smith v. Prince Mfg. Co, 158 N.Y S. 346, 172 App. Div. 302.
Ohio—Western & Southern L Ins Co v. Selzer, 23 Ohio Cir Ct. (N S) 104.
6 C.J. p 723 note 1.

Allegations in pleading

Where a complaint seeking the cancellation of a land contract alleged false and fraudulent misrepresentations concerning the value of the land, its productiveness, and its condition with respect to drainage, the mere fact that it contained allegations with respect to false representations concerning the value of the land did not show such negligence of the attorneys in the preparation of the complaint as would defeat compensation, such an allegation, even if not sufficient in itself to constitute ground for cancellation of the contract, not being an inappropriate allegation in connection with the other allegations—Munsell v. Yerger, 244 S W 465, 155 Ark. 385

Failure to demand payment

Where no demand for payment is made before execution is issued on a judgment note providing for an attorney's commission for collection, and defendant pays into court the debt interest and costs, no commission will be allowed—Johnson v Marsh, 4 Walk (Pa.) 136, 21 Wkly. N Cas 570.

Failure to sue

An attorney, who, in compliance with a request by an heir, examined into an estate and interviewed the administrator and reported that an action would be necessary to enforce the heir's rights, cannot be held negligent in not instituting an action where he was not directed to do so—Hamlin v Flick, 226 P. 484, 130 Wash. 126—6 C J. p 723 note 1 [a].

36. Gleason v. Kellogg, 52 Vt. 14.

37. Cal.—Hinckley v. Krug, 34 P. 118.
Mo—Gabbert v. Evans, 166 S W 635, 184 Mo.App. 283
6 C J. p 723 note 3.

38. La—Herwig's Succ, 53 So. 466, 127 La 127
Tenn—Fulton v. Davidson, 3 Heisk. 614.

39. Mason v. Ring, 2 Abb.Pr N S. (N. Y) 322—6 C J. p 723 note 6.

40. Hennen v. Bourgeat, 12 Rob. (La.) 522—6 C J p 724 note 7.

41. In re Boardwalk Amusement Co, 236 N Y S 449.

42. U.S.—In re Badger, (C C A.N.Y.) 9 F.(2d) 560
Ky—Baxter v. Hubbard, 47 S.W.(2d) 743, 242 Ky. 751.
Minn—Lawler v. Dunn, 176 N.W. 939, 145 Minn 231
N.Y.—Tillman v. Komar, 181 N.E.

he may have an action for damages[43] or, where he remains in readiness to render complete performance, recover the entire stipulated compensation as though he had fully performed,[44] although, in the latter case, the court may deduct a sum sufficient to pay another attorney for completing performance, particularly where the first attorney consents thereto.[45] On the other hand, where an attorney has fully performed his contract before discharge by the client, the attorney may stand on his contract and recover the agreed value of services as damages;[46] and where an attorney has not been dismissed during the pendency of the proceeding for which he was retained, he will not be relegated to a quantum meruit for recovery of his fee.[47]

Provided the contingency has taken place, the fact that the agreement was for a contingent fee, does not deprive the attorney of his right to recover the stipulated compensation.[48]

Where an attorney, employed by several clients to oppose the appointment of an administrator, was discharged by one of them who joined in asking the appointment, the fact that the attorney continued to contest it in behalf of the others does not prevent him from recovering compensation of his former client for services rendered before his discharge.[49]

(2) Discharge without Cause

An attorney discharged without cause may generally recover the reasonable value of the services rendered by him to the date of the discharge. In some jurisdictions such a discharge gives rise to an action for breach of contract in which the damages are ordinarily held to be the agreed contract price, but under other authorities such discharge does not subject the client to such an action for damages, but confines his liability to the reasonable value of services rendered prior to the date of discharge.

Where an attorney has been discharged by his client without cause, the attorney may treat the contract of employment as rescinded and recover on a quantum meruit for services rendered up to the date of his discharge;[50] and it has been held that he is limited to the reasonable value of his services to the date of the termination of the employment,[51]

75, 259 N.Y. 133, reversing In re Tillman, 254 N.Y.S. 918, 234 App. Div. 752—McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y.S. 181, 238 App.Div. 225, affirmed 189 N.E. 691, 263 N.Y. 548—Hausvater v. Wikler & Diamont, Inc., 277 N.Y.S. 810, 154 Misc. 555—Badger v. Mayer, 28 N.Y.S. 765, 8 Misc. 533

Tex.—Bryant v. Lewis, (Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 604

6 C.J. p. 724 note 8

See O'Hair v. Watson, 202 Ill.App. 439

Employment of retiring partner

A client, discharging a law firm after recovery of judgment and employing a retiring junior member of the firm to represent such client in the supreme court in the same lawsuit, is liable to the firm for reasonable value of services rendered until its discharge, notwithstanding the retiring junior partner had performed most of the legal services, and notwithstanding the client had permitted such partner to pay himself out of collections made on the judgment after such partner had ceased, with knowledge of the client, to be a member of the firm.—Cox v. Trousdale, 27 P.(2d) 298, 138 Kan. 633.

Refusal to agree on fee

A client refusing to agree on the fee for an attorney's services became liable for compensation, whether the attorney then quit or was discharged by the client.—Baxter v. Hubbard, 47 S.W.(2d) 743, 242 Ky. 751.

43. Ind.—French v. Cunningham, 49 N.E. 797, 149 Ind. 632
N.C.—Johnston v. Cutchin, 45 S.E. 522, 128 N.C. 119.

44. La.—D'Avricourt v. Seeger, 125 So. 735, 169 La. 620
Mo.—Neeper v. Heinbach, (App.) 249 S.W. 440—Thompson v. Stearns, 234 S.W. 1059, 208 Mo.App. 338
S.C.—Bonham v. Farmer, 148 S.E. 878, 151 S.C. 246
Tenn.—Bright v. Taylor, 4 Sneed 159
Tex.—Stroud v. Toland, (Civ.App.) 279 S.W. 609.
6 C.J. p. 724 note 10.

45. Bonham v. Farmer, 148 S.E. 878, 151 S.C. 246.

46. McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y.S. 181, 238 App.Div. 225, affirmed 189 N.E. 691, 263 N.Y. 548

47. In re Liebergall, 178 N.Y.S. 857, 189 App.Div. 681.

48. Kan.—Carter v. Dunham, 177 P. 533, 104 Kan. 59.
N.Y.—Parker-Smith v. Prince Mfg. Co., 158 N.Y.S. 346, 172 App.Div. 302.
Ohio—Roberts v. Montgomery, 154 N.E. 740, 115 Ohio St. 502
Okl.—White v. American Law Book Co., 233 P. 426, 106 Okl. 166
Or.—Dolph v. Speckart, 186 P. 32, 94 Or. 550
S.C.—Bonham v. Farmer, 148 S.E. 878, 151 S.C. 246.
6 C.J. p. 724 note 11

49. Pauchet v. Bujac, (C.C.A.N.M.) 281 F. 962.

50. U.S.—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co., (C.C.A.N.Y.) 69 F.(2d) 49—Marquam v. Vachon, (C.C.A.Alaska) 7 F.(2d) 607.
Cal.—Lessing v. Gibbons, (App.) 45 P.(2d) 258
Ill.—Bunge v. Downers Grove Sanitary Dist., 191 N.E. 78, 356 Ill. 531, certiorari denied Downers Grove Sanitary Dist. v. Bunge, 55 S.Ct. 117, 293 U.S. 601, 79 L.Ed. 693
Kan.—Shouse, Doolittle & Morelock v. Consolidated Flour Mills Co., 294 P. 657, 132 Kan. 108
Ky.—Hubbard v. Goffinett, 70 S.W.(2d) 671, 253 Ky. 779
Mo.—Mills v. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co., 221 S.W. 1, 282 Mo. 118
N.Y.—Tillman v. Komar, 181 N.E. 75, 259 N.Y. 133, reversing In re Tillman, 254 N.Y.S. 918, 234 App.Div. 752
R.I.—Lake v. Winfield Fuller Co., 172 A. 119, 54 R.I. 358.
Tenn.—Brownlow v. Payne, 2 Tenn.App. 154
6 C.J. p. 724 note 13

Recovery of usual charge

Where a client, who had agreed to let an attorney do all his legal business in a county, in consideration of which the attorney agreed to charge only half his regular rates, abandoned his contract by giving most of such business to another, the attorney was entitled to recover the full amount of his usual fees for the client's business which he handled.—Noble v. Bellows, 53 Vt. 527.

51. Ky.—Hubbard v. Goffinett, 70 S.W.(2d) 671, 253 Ky. 779
La.—Louque v. Dejan, 56 So. 427, 129 La. 520—Succession of Le Blanc, 2 La.App. 364 N.Y.—Lurie v. New Amsterdam Casualty Co., 1 N.E.(2d) 472, 270 N.Y. 379, affirming 281 N.Y.S. 988, 245 App.Div. 710—In re Weitling, 194 N.E. 401, 266 N.Y. 184, reversing 275 N.Y.S. 973, 242 App.Div. 823—Application of Krooks, 178 N.E. 548, 257 N.Y. 329—Johnson v. Ravitch, 99 N.Y.S. 1059, 113 App.Div.

although, as pointed out hereinafter, in some jurisdictions he is entitled to damages for breach of contract.

Failure of the attorney to perform the contract after discharge without cause does not defeat his right to recover reasonable fees for services rendered before the discharge [52]

In a quantum meruit action the attorney's compensation is not limited or governed by the agreed price fixed by the terms of the contract previously terminated [53] Together with other elements they may, however, be taken into consideration as a guide for ascertaining quantum meruit [54]

Where a contract fixing no period of service provided for a specified retainer for each case and for specified compensation for each day that the attorney was actually engaged in trying the case and for each appeal, the discharge of such attorney is not a breach, and he is not entitled to compensation for pending cases on the basis of quantum meruit, but his compensation is governed by the contract.[55]

Contingent fee contract. Where the compensation of an attorney is to be paid to him contingently on the successful prosecution of the suit, the measure of the attorney's recovery on his discharge by the client before the happening of the contingency is not the contingent fee agreed on, but a reasonable compensation for the services actually rendered;[56] but the contract and the ultimate result should not be ignored in fixing the reasonable value of the services, and it has been held that the determination thereof should be deferred until the fixing of damages in the suit.[57] In the absence of evidence showing what was the reasonable value of the services rendered by the attorney up to the time of his discharge, there can be no recovery.[58]

Where the attorneys are discharged after judgment and pending appeal therefrom, it has been said that they have the option, either to treat the contract as rescinded and sue for the reasonable value

810—Carey v. Gnant, 59 Barb. 574 Contra Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N Y S 295, 91 Misc 473

From retainer to discharge

The quantum meruit of an attorney's services was limited to actual services rendered from the date of retainer until his discharge—In re Driscoll, 228 N.Y S. 335, 131 Misc 613.

Future costs

An attorney, sought to be displaced, is not entitled to future costs as part of compensation in an action not tried—Progressive Merchants' Co v Elkat Realty Co, 244 N Y S. 17, 136 Misc 682.

Where there is no contract governing the amount of an attorney's fees, and he is wrongfully discharged before the contemplated services have been fully rendered, he is entitled to recover only reasonable compensation for the services performed—Gamewell v. Killion, (Tex.Civ App.) 282 S W. 873

52. Pierce v Rilovich, 29 P.(2d) 228, 136 Cal App 611

53. Cal—Leesing v Gibbons, (App) 45 P (2d) 258
N Y—Tillman v. Komar, 181 N E 75, 259 N Y 133, reversing In re Tillman, 254 N Y S 918, 234 App Div 752—In re Montgomery's Estate, 284 N.Y S 5, 246 App Div. 495, reversing 282 N Y S 741, 156 Misc 583—In re Montgomery's Estate, 287 N Y S 136, 158 Misc 412—In re Driscoll, 228 N Y S. 335, 131 Misc 613. Contra Grant v. Langley, 68 N.Y.S 820, 34 Misc. 776.
Tex—Thompson v. Smith, (Com App) 248 S W. 1070, reversing Smith v. Thompson, (Civ.App) 238 S W. 876.

Value exceeding contract price

An attorney, discharged without cause after completion of five sixths of the work agreed to be done for five thousand dollars, was held entitled to thirteen thousand dollars, where that was the reasonable value thereof, notwithstanding the contract.—In re Montgomery's Estate, 287 N. Y.S. 136, 158 Misc 412.

54. U S—Shattuck v. Pennsylvania R. Co, (D C N Y) 48 F (2d) 346
N Y—Tillman v Komar, 181 N E 75, 259 N Y. 133, reversing In re Tillman, 254 N Y S 918, 234 App Div 752—In re Montgomery's Estate, 284 N Y S 2, 246 App.Div 495, reversing 282 N Y S 741, 156 Misc 583—In re Montgomery's Estate, 287 N Y S. 136, 158 Misc. 412—Bloom v Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y S 637, 152 Misc 50.
S D—Ritz v Carpenter, 178 N.W. 877, 43 S D. 236, 19 A.L R. 340

55. In re Sachs, 218 P. 209, 126 Wash. 343

56. U S—Woodbury v Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N Y) 69 F.(2d) 49—Shattuck v. Pennsylvania R Co, (D C N Y) 48 F.(2d) 346—Spellman v Bankers' Trust Co., (C C A N Y.) 6 F (2d) 799
Ala—Owens v. Bolt, 118 So 590, 218 Ala. 344
N Y—In re Rosedale and St. Lawrence Avenues in City of New York, 114 N.E 49, 219 N Y 192, reversing In re City of New York, 159 N Y S. 1105, 174 App Div. 853, and reargument denied In re Rosedale Ave. in City of New York, 114 N E 1082, 218 N.Y. 626—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y S 637, 152 Misc 50—Lewy v. Union Ry. Co of New York City, 272 N Y S. 123, 151 Misc 724.
Tex—Thompson v Smith, (Com App) 248 S W 1070, reversing Smith v Thompson, (Civ App.) 238 S.W 876.
Wash—Hamlin v Case & Case, 61 P (2d) 1287—Cavers v. Old Nat. Bank & Union Trust Co, 7 P.(2d) 23, 166 Wash 449—Wright v. Johanson, 233 P. 16, 132 Wash 682, affirmed 236 P 807, 135 Wash 696—Ramey v Graves, 191 P. 801, 112 Wash 88
W Va—Clayton v Martin, 151 S.E. 855, 108 W.Va 571.
6 C J p 725 note 19.

Remedy

Where a client repudiated her contract to give an attorney a specified per cent of her share of real estate of an estate, the attorney was entitled to a personal judgment against the client for the value of his services according to such contract, to be impressed on her interest in the real estate and deducted from the proceeds thereof if sold—Beck v Boucher, 195 P. 996, 114 Wash 574—6 C. J. p 740 note 6 [a]

57. Shattuck v. Pennsylvania R Co, (D C N Y) 48 F.(2d) 346

58. N Y—In re Rosedale and St. Lawrence Avenues in City of New York, 114 N.E 49, 219 N Y. 192, reversing In re City of New York, 159 N Y S 1105, 174 App Div 853, and reargument denied In re Rosedale Ave in City of New York, 114 N E. 1082, 218 N Y. 626.
Wash.—Ramey v. Graves, 191 P 801, 112 Wash 88
W Va.—Clayton v Martin, 151 S.E. 855, 108 W Va. 571.

for the services, or to treat the cause of action as liquidated by its reduction to judgment, subject to the results of the appeal.[59]

Damages for breach of contract. In some jurisdictions it is held that, where the attorney is employed to perform services for an agreed sum and is discharged without cause and thereby prevented from performance, he may treat the contract as continuing, although broken by the client, and may recover damages for the breach,[60] the measure of damages ordinarily being the full contract price,[61] unless some other sum has been agreed on,[62] provided, however, if the employment is for a term of years and the action is brought before the expiration of the term, the probabilities as to the attorney's living until the termination of the term and remaining capable of performing his part of the contract must be considered.[63] On the other hand, according to some decisions the measure of recovery is the contract price abated by such sum as is reasonably represented by the unperformed part of the service.[64] The general rule that the measure of damages in case of an employer's breach of a contract for personal employment is the difference between what the employee received or might have received from others and the price agreed on does not generally apply to breach of a contract for attorney's services,[65] but this rule was held not to apply to a contract for the employment of an attorney to prosecute an appeal, which was broken by renunciation before anything was done under it and before performance became due.[66]

Nevertheless, since a client has the implied right to terminate the contract at any time, the view has been taken that he cannot be held in damages for exercising that right; in such a case, the attorney may recover the reasonable value of the services which he has rendered to the date of discharge, but he cannot recover for damages for the breach of contract.[67]

The rule does not apply, however, where by the

59. Barthels v Garrels, 227 S.W. 910, 206 Mo.App. 199

60. Mo.—Mills v Metropolitan St. Ry. Co., 221 S.W. 1, 282 Mo. 113.
Tenn.—Brownlow v. Payne, 2 Tenn. App. 154.
Tex.—White v Burch, (Civ.App.) 19 S.W.(2d) 404.
6 C.J. p. 724 note 14.

Alternative remedies
On being summarily discharged by his client, with whom he had a percentage contract, an attorney has an option to wait until the cause of action of the client was liquidated by judgment or settlement, and then to sue for his fee according to the contract, or to treat the contract as rescinded and to sue for the reasonable value of his services.—Mills v. Metropolitan St. Ry. Co., 221 S.W. 1, 282 Mo. 113.

61. Cal.—Ellcomn v Yalen, 282 P. 791, 208 Cal. 546—Kirk v Culley, 261 P. 994, 202 Cal. 501—McCully v Gano, 3 P.(2d) 348, 116 Cal.App. 695.
Mo.—Miles v Metropolitan St. Ry. Co., 221 S.W. 1, 282 Mo. 113.
Neb.—Dorshimer v Herndon, 153 N.W. 496, 98 Neb. 421, affirmed 154 N.W. 207, 98 Neb. 425.
Okl.—Okmulgee Building & Loan Ass'n v Cutler, 51 P.(2d) 709, 174 Okl. 614—White v American Law Book Co., 233 P. 426, 106 Okl. 166.
Or.—Dolph v. Speckart, 186 P. 32, 94 Or. 550.
Tenn.—Brownlow v Payne, 2 Tenn. App. 154.
Tex.—White v Burch, (Civ.App.) 19 S.W.(2d) 404.
6 C.J. p. 724 note 15.

Ignorance of employment
An attorney for a building and loan association discharged without cause on change of management of the association was held entitled to recover the compensation named in his contract as against the contention that the new management did not know of plaintiff's claim to act as attorney for the association until other counsel had been employed, where the attorney turned over to the association and new counsel all the files relating to uncompleted cases and the attorney's work was utilized by new counsel.—Okmulgee Building & Loan Ass'n v. Cutler, 51 P.(2d) 709, 174 Okl. 614.

Contingent fee contract
Where a client breached a contingent fee contract under which he employed an attorney to obtain or recover part of the estate of decedent claimed by him, and employed other counsel, who brought an action wherein it was stipulated that the client was at least entitled to certain corporate stock, which was then given to such client, damages for breach of the contract with the attorney should be based on the value of the corporate stock at the time it was issued or given to the client.—Dolph v Speckart, 186 P. 32, 94 Or. 550.

Nominal damages
An attorney employed for a definite time and wrongfully dismissed before its expiration is entitled at least to nominal damages.—Dixon v. Volunteer Co-op. Bank, 100 N.E. 655, 213 Mass. 345.

62. Millard v Jordan, 42 N.W. 1085, 76 Mich. 131.

Agreed reduction
Attorneys, discharged without their fault, are entitled to recover from their clients the contract price, less an agreed reduction for unperformed services.—Searson v. Sams, 141 S.E. 107, 142 S.C. 558.

63. Lakewood v Shaver, 16 Ohio Cir.Ct.(N.S.) 413.

64. Bowser v Patrick, (Ky.) 65 S.W. 824.—Goodin v. Hays, 88 S.W. 1101, 28 Ky.L. 112.—6 C.J. p. 725 note 18.

65. U.S.—Kikuchi v. Ritchie, (Alaska) 202 F. 857, 121 C.C.A. 215.
Mass.—Dixon v Volunteer Co.-op. Bank, 100 N.E. 655, 213 Mass. 345.

66. Kikuchi v Ritchie, (Alaska) 202 F. 857, 121 C.C.A. 215.—6 C.J. p. 725 note 21.

67. U.S.—Marquam v. Vachon, (C.C.A.Alaska) 7 F.(2d) 607. Contra, Tuppela v Mathison, (C.C.A.Alaska) 291 F. 723.
La.—Louque v. Dejan, 56 So. 427, 129 La. 520.
Minn.—Lawler v Dunn, 176 N.W. 989, 990, 145 Minn. 281, overruling Moyer v. Cantieny, 42 N.W. 1060, 41 Minn. 242.
N.Y.—Martin v Camp, 114 N.E. 46, 219 N.Y. 170, L.R.A.1917F 402, reversing 146 N.Y.S. 1041, 161 App.Div. 610, and reargument denied 114 N.E. 1072, 219 N.Y. 627, motion granted 115 N.E. 1044, 220 N.Y. 653, and reargument denied 116 N.E. 1060, 221 N.Y. 631.—In re Montgomery's Estate, 284 N.Y.S. 5, 246 App.Div. 495, reversing 282 N.Y.S. 741, 156 Misc. 583.—In re Board of Water Supply of City of New York, 167 N.Y.S. 531, 179 App.Div. 877.—Corcoran v. George Kellogg express terms of the contract, or otherwise, it appears that a different rule was intended by the parties, as where an attorney is employed under a general retainer for a fixed period to perform legal services in relation to matters that may arise during the period of the contract, since such a contract is more in the nature of an ordinary contract between master and servant than one for professional services, and, in such a case, the discharge of the attorney without cause makes the employer liable for a breach of contract.[68] The incurring of expense by the attorney prior to the notification of his discharge, however, would not keep alive the contract after such discharge, nor give the attorney a cause of action for a breach thereof.[69]

(3) Discharge for Cause

Ordinarily, an attorney discharged for cause cannot recover compensation.

Where the attorney has been retained on a specific contract and is discharged for good and justifiable cause, the prevailing rule is that he may not recover compensation either in an action on the contract or on a quantum meruit,[70] although it has been held that a recovery may be had on a quantum meruit.[71]

b. By Act of Attorney

Where an attorney for good cause abandons his employment, he is entitled, at least, to compensation for services actually rendered; but when he prematurely terminates the employment without just cause, he forfeits all right to compensation.

Where an attorney withdraws from a case or otherwise abandons his employment for a justifiable cause, the client is liable for the services actually rendered,[72] although such withdrawal or abandonment was without his consent or that of the court,[73] and where the withdrawal resulted from conduct of the client equivalent to dismissal without cause, it has been held that the attorney is entitled to recover the full amount contracted for.[74]

On the other hand, if an attorney, without just cause, abandons his client before the proceeding for which he was retained generally has been conducted to its termination, according to the prevailing doctrine he forfeits all right to payment for any services which he has rendered,[75] and he may not

Structural Co, 166 N.Y.S 269, 179 App Div. 396—Lynn v Agnew, 166 N Y S 274, 179 App Div 305, affirmed Lynn v. McCann, 123 N E 877, 226 N Y. 654—Bloom v. Irving Trust Co, 272 N Y S 637, 152 Misc 50—Boehm v. United Power Laundries, 229 N Y S 430, 132 Misc 1—In re Pollen's Estate, 211 N Y S 626, 125 Misc 354.

S D —Ritz v. Carpenter, 178 N W. 877, 43 S D 236, 19 A L R 840

Wyo —Enos v Keating, 271 P 6, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430, rehearing denied 275 P. 131, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R. 430

In Washington

(1) In conformity with the rule of the text, it has been held that a client discharging an attorney, employed under a contingent fee contract, is not liable to him in damages as for breach of contract, but is liable only on quantum meruit for services rendered before discharge — Wright v. Johnson, 233 P 16, 132 Wash 682, affirmed 236 P. 807, 135 Wash 696

(2) It has been held, however, that, where an attorney is employed to conduct a suit at an agreed compensation, and fully performs his agreement until discharged without cause, the measure of damages is the unpaid balance of the contract amount —Sessions v. Warwick, 89 P. 482, 46 Wash. 165

Under contract for share of recovery

Under the law of New York, an attorney, although having a contract for a share of any recovery, may be discharged by his client at any time without cause, in which case he is entitled only to the reasonable value of his services rendered —The Johnson Lighterage Co No 24, (D C.N J.) 240 F 435, modified on other grounds 248 F. 74, 160 C C A 214

68. Greenberg v Jerome H Remick & Co, 129 N E 211, 230 N Y. 70, reversing 181 N.Y.S. 937, 191 App Div 947

Change of position

Where an attorney, by contract, enters the general employment of his client, thereby changing his position by giving up other clients and incurring expenses, and is discharged by his client without reasonable cause, such attorney may recover damages for loss of fees provided by the contract—Roxana Petroleum Co of Oklahoma v. Rice, 235 P. 502, 109 Okl. 161.

69. In re Driscoll, 228 N.Y.S. 335, 131 Misc. 613

70. U S.—In re Badger, (C C A.N Y) 9 F.(2d) 560
N Y.—Bloom v Irving Trust Co., 272 N Y S 637, 152 Misc 50.
6 C J p 725 notes 23, 24.

Contingent fee contract

An attorney, who for more than two years unsuccessfully endeavored to increase the client's interest in a particular estate, pursuant to a contract providing for a contingent fee, was not entitled, on the client's termination of the contract, to recover on quantum meruit for services rendered, nor for traveling and living expenses incurred —Fletcher v. Kellogg, 55 App D C. 351, 6 F (2d) 476, 40 A L R 1525, certiorari denied 46 S Ct 18, 269 U S 555, 70 L Ed 409

71. Goodin v. Hays, 88 S.W. 1101, 28 Ky L 112

72. Dowling v Peyroux, 126 So 270, 12 La App. 551—6 C J. p 725 note 26.

Refusal to pay fee

An attorney withdrawing from litigation during the pendency of an appeal without injuring the client, following unsuccessful efforts to collect his fee, could recover on the basis of quantum meruit for services rendered —Dowling v. Peyroux, 126 So 270, 12 La App. 551

73. Powers v Manning, 28 N E 290, 154 Mass 370, 13 L R A. 258.

74. Mutter v. Burgess, 290 P. 269, 87 Colo 580

Accusation of dishonesty

As regards the right to contract fee, a client's falsely accusing his attorneys of dishonesty, resulting in their withdrawal, was equivalent to discharging them without cause — Mutter v. Burgess, 290 P. 269, 87 Colo. 580

75. Ala —Howard v. McCarson, 110 So 296, 215 Ala. 251—Amason v. Harton, 89 So 37, 205 Ala 681.
Ark.—Beaumont v. J H Hamlen & Son, 81 S W.(2d) 24, 190 Ark. 630.

recover either on the contract or on the quantum meruit.[76] It has been held, however, that the attorney in such case may recover the reasonable value of his services, less the damage the client may have suffered on account of the abandonment.[77]

c. By Combined Act of Attorney and Client

An attorney is entitled to compensation for services rendered where the employment is terminated by the combined act of attorney and client.

If the employment is terminated by the combined act of the attorney and the client, the attorney may recover, in an amount not exceeding the contract price, for services actually rendered,[78] unless, at the time of his withdrawal, the attorney waives his claim to compensation.[79] Where the attorney accepts an amount less than that required by the contract in consideration of being relieved from performance of further services thereunder, he is not entitled to recover the balance due under the contract.[80]

§ 170. —— By Operation of Law

Incapacity of an attorney to continue his services arising by operation of law does not defeat his right to compensation for services rendered.

The incapacity of an attorney to continue his services, arising by operation of law, will not prevent him from recovering for services already rendered.[81] Thus, where an attorney becomes a judge, and in consequence is prohibited by law from appearing as an attorney in any court of record in the state, he will, nevertheless, be entitled to compensation for services rendered in a case up to the time of his incapacity.[82] A contract to defend an expected charge of murder is not rendered impossible of performance, however, within the rule fixing the amount of recovery in case of impossibility of performance merely because no indictment has ever been found, since no law of limitation for indictment and prosecution therefor exists.[83]

§ 171. —— By Death or Disability

a. Of attorney
b. Of client

a. Of Attorney

Where the contract is terminated by the death or disability of the attorney, the client is not ordinarily liable under the contract, but only on a quantum meruit.

In accordance with the general rule that contracts for personal services requiring skill, which can be performed only by the person named, are subject to the implied condition that the person designated shall be able to perform, if an attorney dies before he has prosecuted to a judgment or settlement a litigation which he has undertaken to conduct for a certain compensation, his contract is at an end; and the compensation agreed on cannot be recovered by his representative under the agreement because he did not, and his representative cannot, carry out his agreement.[84] The extent of the recovery permitted his representative is the reasonable value of the services rendered under the contract,[85] not exceeding, however, the sum or the rate fixed by it.[86]

The same result follows where an attorney is prevented from completing his contract by reason of physical disability.[87]

If the contract is not entire, but severable, and the death of the attorney occurs before complete performance, his representative may recover for the part performed and is not limited to recovery on a quantum meruit.[88]

Where the fee has been paid in advance, the client may, as pointed out infra § 192, recover the unearned portion thereof.

Mo—Mills v Metropolitan St Ry. Co, 221 S W 1, 282 Mo 118
6 C J p 673 note 75, p 726 note 28.

76. Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A.N.Y) 61 F (2d) 736, certiorari denied Berenson v Woodbury, 53 S Ct. 659, 289 U S. 740, 77 L Ed 1487

77. Morgan v. Roberts, 38 Ill. 65—6 C J. p 726 note 29.

78. Ownbey v. Silverstein, 194 P 607, 69 Colo. 325—6 C.J. p 726 note 30

Both parties at fault
The rule of the text has been applied where both parties were at fault.—Scobey v. Ross, 5 Ind. 445—Price v. Western Loan, etc, Co, 100 P. 677, 35 Utah 379, 19 Ann Cas 589

79. Coopwood v. Wallace, 12 Ala. 790.

80. Champion v. Ferguson, 34 S.W. (2d) 957, 237 Ky. 115.

81. Ky—Warren Deposit Bank v. Barclay, 60 S W. 853, 22 Ky L 1555.
Tex—Baird v. Ratcliff, 10 Tex 81.
6 C.J p 726 note 33

82. Ind—Justice v. Lairy, 49 N E 459, 19 Ind App. 272, 65 Am.S R. 405.
Tex—Baird v. Ratcliff, 10 Tex 81.

83. White v. Burch, (Tex Civ.App) 33 S W.(2d) 512.

84. In re Lichtblau, 261 N Y.S. 863, 146 Misc 278—6 C J p 727 notes 37, 38

85. Ariz—Neale v. Hinchcliffe, 189 P 1116, 21 Ariz 452
N Y—In re Levy's Will, 201 N Y S 818, 207 App Div. 182—In re Lichtblau, 261 N Y S. 863, 146 Misc. 278
6 C.J. p 727 note 39.

86. Ind—Coe v. Smith, 4 Ind. 79, 58 Am D. 618.
N Y—Sargent v. McLeod, 103 N.E 164, 209 N.Y. 360, 52 L R A (N S) 330.

87. Lewis v. Omaha, etc., R. Co, (Neb) 114 N.W. 231.

88. Boyd v. Daily, 33 N Y.S. 539, 85 App Div. 581, affirmed 68 N.E 1114, 176 N.Y. 556, 613.

The effect of the death, before complete performance, of an attorney employed on a contingent fee basis is discussed infra § 188.

Death of one of two attorneys. When one agrees to pay a certain compensation for the services in a specified matter of two attorneys named, the contract is not performed and the compensation cannot be recovered, when one of them dies before the agreement is substantially performed; the contract is one of personal trust and confidence, and its terms are not fulfilled, although the surviving attorney associates with himself others of equal or greater ability, and carries the litigation to a successful conclusion.[89] If the contract is with a firm and the client changes his attorneys after the death of one partner, however, as stated infra § 184, he is liable for the reasonable value of the services already rendered. The effect of death or disability on the rights of the attorneys under a contract to divide fees is discussed infra § 174.

b. Of Client

Where the contract does not require the attorney to perform notwithstanding the event, the death of the client precludes recovery for services performed thereafter.

Where there is no special contract between an attorney and his client in regard to the duty of the attorney to proceed with the cause in which he is employed until its final determination, the death of the client terminates the relation, and the attorney is entitled to compensation only for services rendered up to the time of the client's death,[90] but, when the attorney is acting under an express contract, the death of the client does not affect the right to fees.[91] The effect of the death of the client on the attorney's right to recover under a contingent fee contract is treated infra § 188 b

§ 172. Services under Assignment as Counsel by Court

a. In criminal cases
b. In civil cases

a. In Criminal Cases

(1) In general
(2) Statutes providing for compensation

(1) In General

Ordinarily, in the absence of controlling statutes, an attorney assigned to defend an indigent accused must serve without compensation; and statutes requiring such gratuitous service are generally held constitutional.

As stated supra § 54, it is a part of the general duty of members of the bar to act as counsel for persons accused of crime and destitute of means, on appointment by the court, when such service is not inconsistent with their duties to others. In such cases they must look alone to the possible future ability of the accused to pay for their compensation, where no provision for compensation is made by statute; no implied liability ordinarily arises on the part of the county or state to pay for such services.[92] Furthermore, in the absence of statutes so providing, courts are without authority to order payment for such services by the county, and the fact that no appeal was taken from a void order of this character does not give the attorney the right to recover thereon in proceedings against the county.[93]

A statute authorizing courts of record to appoint counsel for persons accused in criminal proceedings, and requiring attorneys so appointed to act without compensation, is not unconstitutional, it being merely a recognition of a power already existing; it cannot be attacked as taking the attorney's time and labor, his property, without compensation, since such a duty is one of those impliedly assumed on his being admitted as an attorney and officer of the court,[94] nor does the requirement by the court of such service, for which no compensation is permitted by law, deprive him of a constitutional right.[95]

A different doctrine prevails, however, in some jurisdictions, where it is held that the courts cannot require an attorney to render gratuitously serv-

89. Baxter v. Billings, (Colo.) 83 F 790, 28 C C A 85

90. Matter of Robbins, 112 N Y S 1032, 61 Misc 114—Avery v Jacob, 15 N Y S 564—6 C.J p 727 note 46

91. Headley v Good, 24 Tex 232—6 C J. p 727 note 47

92. N Y—People v Thompson, 199 N.Y S 868, 205 App Div. 851—People ex rel Whedon v. Board of Sup'rs Washington County, 183 N Y S 438, 192 App Div. 705
Pa.—Commonwealth v Henderson, 173 A 868, 113 Pa Super 348.
6 C.J p 727 note 51.
"At common law service as assigned counsel was given without pay"—Reilly v. Berry, 166 N E 165, 166, 250 N Y 456, reversing People v. Lee, 231 N Y S 844, 225 App Div. 698

93. Commonwealth v Henderson, 173 A. 868, 113 Pa Super. 348
Taxable as costs see Costs § 456 [15 C J. p 335 note 42-p 337 note 91]

94. Presby v. Klickitat County, 31 P. 876, 5 Wash. 329—6 C J. p 728 note 52.
In Iowa
(1) A statute requiring the services of an attorney without compensation has been held not unconstitutional—Brown v. Warren County, 135 N W. 4, 156 Iowa 20, 137 N W. 474, 42 L R A.(N S.) 527, 529, Ann Cas 1915B 185
(2) An attorney, however, has been allowed compensation in such a case on the ground of implied liability, where the statute was silent on the subject—Hyatt v. Hamilton County, 96 N W. 855, 121 Iowa 292, 100 Am S R 354, 63 L R.A. 614, affirming 90 N W. 508—Hall v. Washington County, 2 Greene 473.

95. People ex rel. Whedon v. Board of Sup'rs of Washington County 183 N Y.S 438, 192 App.Div. 705.

ices in behalf of an indigent criminal; the courts have abundant power to appoint attorneys to defend such persons and to require them to serve, but on such appointment an implied promise arises on the part of the county or the state to pay a reasonable compensation for such services[96] There is even authority to the effect that a statute requiring gratuitous services in such a case is unconstitutional;[97] but, if the attorney accepts the appointment without protest, he must be held to have done so under the terms of the statute, and the plea of unconstitutionality is not available.[98] A statute imposing restrictions on the power of courts to bind the county by contract does not, however, unlawfully deprive the courts of any inherent powers or compel the rendition of legal services without just compensation.[99]

(2) Statutes Providing for Compensation
- (a) In general
- (b) Amount of compensation in general
- (c) Personal and incidental expenses
- (d) Services on appeal

(a) In General

While the statutory right to recover compensation depends on the validity of the assignment and substantial compliance with the statutory requirements, the result of the prosecution is immaterial

In a number of the states statutes have been passed providing for compensation to attorneys appointed by the court to defend destitute persons accused of crime,[1] and the right to compensation thereunder depends on the validity of the appointment.[2] While an attorney showing that the statute has been complied with is entitled to recover for his services,[3] unless the statute is substantially complied with, no such allowance is permissible.[4] Thus, where an affidavit showing that accused is wholly destitute of means is required, there can be no allowance if such affidavit is wanting.[5]

Where the statutes authorize compensation only in cases of a certain class or character, the attorney cannot recover for his services in a case not included within the class, and, where the statutes authorize payment for services rendered in behalf of one under indictment for a certain crime, services by counsel assigned for a person held by a magistrate on a charge of the designated crime, but not under indictment, are not compensable,[6] and neither are services in behalf of accused charged with another crime.[7]

The disbursing officer can treat as a nullity an order allowing fees which was made without jurisdiction by the court.[8] The certificate of the court that the claim has been examined and allowed, while prima facie evidence that the amount allowed is correct, is not conclusive on the county commissioners, who may reexamine the account and allow so much as they may think just.[9]

Where the statute requires the allowance to be on a certificate of the judge who disposed of the indictment, a certificate of a judge who merely took a plea not disposing thereof will not support the allowance,[10] nor can compensation be had for services at a commissioner's hearing where accused was found insane and the indictment was consequently not disposed of.[11]

Some statutes provide that, if accused appear for arraignment without counsel, he must be asked if he desire the aid of counsel and, if he does, counsel must be assigned; under such statutes, when counsel is assigned at the arraignment or thereafter and acts in the case, he is entitled to compensation, and the fact that accused was represented on arraignment by counsel is immaterial; the facts that accused did not, after arraignment, appear without counsel and that he was not formally asked if he desired counsel do not affect the case, where the jurisdictional facts are sufficiently brought to the attention of the court.[12]

96. Board of Com'rs of Vigo County v. Moore, 166 N.E. 779, 93 Ind App 180—6 C.J. p 728 note 58

97. Dane County v Smith, 13 Wis 585, 80 Am D 754—Carpenter v. Dane County, 9 Wis. 274.

98. Ind.—Miami County Comrs. v. Mowbray, 66 N.E. 46, 160 Ind. 10—Howard County Comrs. v. Pollard, 55 N.E. 87, 153 Ind 371.
Iowa.—Brown v. Warren County, 135 N.W. 4, 137 N.W. 474, 156 Iowa 30, 42 L.R.A.(N.S.) 527, 529, Ann Cas 1915B 185

99. Board of Com'rs of Vigo County v. Moore, 166 N.E. 779, 93 Ind App 180.

1. Korf v. Jasper County, 108 N.W. 1031, 132 Iowa 682—15 C.J. p 567 note 39.

2. People ex rel Perry v. Berry, 231 N.Y.S. 267, 224 App.Div. 426, reversed on other grounds 166 N.E. 163, 250 N.Y. 452

3. Houk v Montgomery County Com'rs, 41 N.E. 1068, 14 Ind.App. 662.

4. People v Foster, 193 N.Y.S. 345, 200 App.Div. 710—6 C.J. p 728 note 58 [1] (2).

5. People v. Foster, supra.

6. People v. Foster, supra.

7. People ex rel Whedon v. Board of Sup'rs of Washington County, 183 N.Y.S. 433, 192 App.Div. 705.

8. People ex rel Perry v Berry, 231 N.Y.S. 267, 224 App.Div. 426, reversed on other grounds 166 N.E. 163, 250 N.Y. 452.

9. Boone County v. Armstrong, 37 N.W. 626, 23 Neb 764

10. People v. Ferri, 155 N.Y.S. 180, 170 App.Div. 944.

11. People v Coler, 61 App.Div. 538, 70 N.Y.S. 639, 10 N.Y.Ann.Cas. 105, 15 N.Y.Cr. 460.

12. People ex rel. Perry v. Berry, 166 N.E. 163, 250 N.Y. 452, reversing 231 N.Y.S. 267, 224 App.Div. 426—6 C.J. p 728 note 58 [1] (1).

Result of prosecution. In the absence of provision to the contrary, the right to compensation does not depend on the result of the prosecution.[13]

After a change of venue the county from which the venue was taken is liable for the compensation allowed under statutes so providing,[14] but the right of the attorney is subject to such restrictions as other statutes may place on the power of the court to bind a county.[15]

(b) Amount of Compensation in General

Where statutes provide for compensation to attorneys appointed to represent accused indigent persons, the attorney must act for whatever compensation the court may allow him within the statutory limits.

An attorney, being an officer of the court, may be required to defend an accused person and accept such compensation, within the limits of the statute, as the court may allow.[16] The fee allowed by the court must represent the exclusive compensation of the attorney, and he has no right to contract with other persons for fees.[17]

The amount allowed must not exceed the statutory limit, but, where there are several trials of the case, it has been held that the maximum amount may be allowed for services in each trial[18] and the attorney need not again be assigned to the case to be entitled to pay for his services on trials after the first trial.[19] Where two defendants jointly indicted received separate trials, an attorney assigned for each may be allowed compensation for his services to each, although the aggregate amount exceeds the statutory limit.[20] Where the statute provides that only one fee can be allowed in any one case, an attorney appointed to defend several defendants tried together is entitled to but one fee.[21] Notwithstanding a provision that only one attorney in any one case shall receive such compensation, however, it has been held that, where an attorney has been appointed to defend two persons jointly indicted and jointly tried, he is entitled to the statutory fee for each.[22]

Where the court is empowered to appoint more than one attorney and does so, each is entitled to compensation for his services,[23] but it has been held that, where several attorneys are assigned to the case, the aggregate amount allowed to them may not exceed the statutory limit.[24]

Under a statute limiting the compensation to a stated amount for each day actually spent in the trial, no compensation can be allowed for time spent out of court in preparation for the trial.[25]

Where the power of the courts to bind the county for attorney's fees is limited to the amount of the existing appropriation for that purpose, the recovery cannot exceed the amount on hand therefor at the time of the appointment.[26]

Appeal from amount fixed. Where the amount of the fee is required to be fixed by the county board, in the absence of statutes sanctioning such practice, no right of appeal lies on behalf of an attorney dissatisfied with the amount allowed.[27]

(c) Personal and Incidental Expenses

Under statutes authorizing payment of such ex-

13. Mobile Com'rs Ct v Turner, 45 Ala 199—6 C J. p 728 note 58 [a], [i] (6)

14. Board of Com'rs of Vigo County v Moore, 166 N E 779, 93 Ind App 180—6 C J p 728 note 58 [c] (3)

15. Board of Com'rs of Vigo County v. Moore, supra

16. Iowa—Samuels v. Dubuque County, 13 Iowa 536
Neb—Moran v Otoe County, 146 N W 956, 95 Neb 658

17. Commonwealth v Wormsley, 144 A 428, 294 Pa. 495—6 C J. p 728 note 58 [d] (4).

18. Iowa—Tomlinson v. Monroe County, 112 N W. 100, 134 Iowa 608
Nev—Washoe County v. Humboldt County, 14 Nev 123
6 C J p 728 note 58 [i] (9).

Effect of partial acquittal

Under a statute providing that an attorney appointed by the court to defend a person "indicted for homicide or any offense the punishment of which may be life imprisonment" shall receive certain pay from the county for his services, he is entitled to such pay for defending one indicted for homicide, although a prior trial amounted to an acquittal of all degrees of homicide, except manslaughter, which is not punishable by life imprisonment—Tomlinson v Monroe County, 112 N W. 100, 134 Iowa 608

19. Tomlinson v Monroe County, supra.

20. People v McElvaney, 73 N Y.S. 639, 36 Misc 316, 10 N Y Ann Cas. 316

21. Washington County v. Murray, 100 P. 588, 45 Colo. 115

22. Clark v Osceola County, 78 N. W. 198, 199, 107 Iowa 502.
"We understand the words 'in any one case' to mean an indictment against any one person; for that is, in legal contemplation, a case."—Clark v. Osceola County, supra.

23. Huntington v. Yellowstone County, 257 P. 1041, 80 Mont. 20—6 C J. p 728 note 58 [c] (2).

24. People v. Haiselbetz, 51 N Y S 685, 30 App Div 199, 13 N Y Cr 223, appeal dismissed 55 N Y.S. 4, 26 Misc 100, 5 N.Y Ann Cas. 165, 13 N Y Cr 470

In Maine it has been held that where two or more persons are jointly indicted for a capital offense and by order of the court are tried jointly, and, on application therefor, the court assigns separate counsel for each, the presiding judge has authority, under the statute, to allow a sum not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars in all for the services of counsel for anyone on trial, including services on appeal or on exceptions before the law court.—Anonymous, 76 Me. 207.

25. Green Lake County v. Waupaca County, 89 N W. 549, 113 Wis. 425—6 C J. p 728 note 58 [k] (2).

26. Board of Com'rs of Vigo County v Moore, 166 N.E. 779, 93 Ind App 180—6 C J. p. 728 note 58 [c] (4).

27. Geauga County v. Ranney, 13 Ohio St 388.

penses, personal and incidental expenses incurred by the assigned attorney are expenses incurred by him on his personal account.

Personal and incidental expenses, within the meaning of a statute authorizing the allowance of such expenses incurred by the attorney assigned to the case, are such as relate to those incurred by counsel on his personal account,[28] such as traveling expenses incurred in attendance at the court, or printing charges for the preparation of a brief in accordance with the rules. They do not include payments to detectives employed to investigate and report as to the character of a witness, even though made by counsel himself;[29] payments to additional counsel employed to investigate the facts,[30] or to consultants employed to advise as to the defense;[31] payments for a copy of testimony taken at the coroner's inquest, which was not used at the trial;[32] payments for traveling expenses of a witness to the attorney's office before trial to assist in preparation for trial,[33] or payments for fees or expenses of an expert witness.[34] Where the statute authorizes an allowance of the fees for expert witnesses employed for accused in a number not exceeding the number sworn, or to be sworn, for the prosecution, the attorney is not entitled to such allowance where the state did not have expert witnesses, or where the statutory proceedings for the employment of such witnesses have not been followed.[35]

(d) Services on Appeal

Services rendered on appeal by an attorney assigned to defend an indigent accused are generally compensable within the statutory limits.

Under a statute providing for compensation to be allowed by the court, the court can in its discretion allow counsel fees for services on appeal;[36] but the allowance cannot exceed the amount limited by statute,[37] and it has been held that an order of the court directing an appeal is necessary, in order that an attorney may recover extra compensation for such services under a statute authorizing enlarged compensation therefor.[38] A statute limiting compensation for services rendered at the trial and in preparation therefor does not, however, apply to the prosecution of an appeal or writ of error in the appellate court.[39]

Where provision is made for payment by the state of the expenses of stenographic service and of printing the briefs on appeal, an attorney who has not complied with the statutory requirements has no proper claim against the state or county for reimbursement of moneys spent by him for such purposes.[40]

It has been said to be the duty of the trial court, and not of the appellate court, to determine whether the attorney's claim for services on appeal is reasonable,[41] and where the statute vests the power to fix the amount of such compensation sole-

28. N.Y.—Reilly v. Berry, 166 N.E. 165, 250 N.Y. 456, reversing People v. Lee, 231 N.Y.S. 844, 225 App.Div. 698.
Pa.—Com. v. Endrukat, 35 Pa.Co. 637.
6 C.J. p. 728 note 58 [1] (10).

29. Reilly v. Berry, 166 N.E. 165, 250 N.Y. 456, reversing People v. Lee, 231 N.Y.S. 844, 225 App.Div. 698.

30. Kraushaar v. Berry, 237 N.Y.S. 594, 227 App.Div. 395—Matter of Waldheimer, 82 N.Y.S. 916, 17 N.Y.Cr. 381, 84 App.Div. 366.

31. People ex rel. Van Zandt v. Prendergast, 142 N.Y.S. 611, 157 App.Div. 486, reversing 141 N.Y.S. 255, 80 Misc. 321.

32. People ex rel. Van Zandt v. Prendergast, supra.
But the expense of such a copy has been allowed in a case where it did not appear whether or not the copy was actually used at the trial—Commonwealth v. Endrukat, 35 Pa.Co. 637.

33. People ex rel. Van Zandt v. Prendergast, 142 N.Y.S. 611, 157 App.Div. 486, reversing 141 N.Y.S. 255, 80 Misc. 321.
Witness from outside state
Expenditures to secure the attendance of witness from outside the state are not "personal and incidental expenses" of counsel—Kraushaar v. Berry, 237 N.Y.S. 594, 227 App.Div. 395.

34. N.Y.—Reilly v. Berry, 166 N.E. 165, 250 N.Y. 456, reversing People v. Lee, 231 N.Y.S. 844, 225 App.Div. 698—Cantwell v. Coler, 70 N.Y.S. 755, 61 App.Div. 598, affirmed People v. Coler, 61 N.E. 1132, 168 N.Y. 643.
Pa.—Commonwealth v. Endrukat, 35 Pa.Co. 637.
6 C.J. p. 728 note 58 [1] (12).

35. Reilly v. Berry, 166 N.E. 165, 250 N.Y. 456, reversing People v. Lee, 231 N.Y.S. 844, 225 App.Div. 698.

36. State v. Hudson, (R.I.) 179 A. 130—6 C.J. p. 728 note 58 [h], [1] (7).

37. Leidigh v. Otoe County, 146 N.W. 957, 95 Neb. 661—Moran v. Otoe County, 146 N.W. 956, 95 Neb. 658.

38. De Long v. Muskegon County, 69 N.W. 1115, 111 Mich. 568.

39. John v. Municipal Court of Milwaukee County, (Wis.) 264 N.W. 829.
Reasons for rule
"It can hardly be said that the preparation of a case and briefs in this court, followed by oral argument here, constitute a trial. The process is not a trial process, but a process of review of a trial already had"—John v. Municipal Court of Milwaukee County, 264 N.W. 829, 830, 220 Wis. 334.
Time expended in preparation
Attorney appointed to prosecute writ of error in the supreme court on behalf of indigent defendant was held entitled to compensation at the statutory rate of fifteen dollars per day for whatever time was necessarily expended in preparation of the case and brief, notwithstanding the statute limits the pay for preparation for trial to five days.—John v. Municipal Court of Milwaukee County, 264 N.W. 829, 220 Wis. 334.

40. John v. Municipal Court of Milwaukee County, (Wis.) 264 N.W. 829.

41. John v. Municipal Court of Milwaukee County, supra—6 C.J. p. 728 note 58 [g] (1), [k] (3).

ly in the county board of supervisors, the appellate court has no power to allow the claim.[42]

Delay in bringing a case on for argument on appeal without applying for an extension under statutes so providing has been held to defeat the attorney's right to compensation for his services on appeal,[43] although he may be allowed his personal and incidental expenses notwithstanding such delay, such expenses not constituting "compensation" within the meaning of the statute.[44]

b. In Civil Cases

In some jurisdictions attorneys can be compelled to serve for persons unable to pay in civil cases; but, under statutes in other jurisdictions, compensation is allowed in such cases where there is a compliance with the statutory provisions

In some jurisdictions the court has a right to command the services of counsel for persons unable to pay in civil as well as in criminal cases,[45] and even where it is held that an attorney cannot be compelled to give his services gratuitously, if he voluntarily undertakes the employment he has no ground for a claim to compensation.[46]

Provision is sometimes made by statute for compensation in such cases, thus, under a federal statute authorizing the court to request any attorney to represent a poor plaintiff in a cause worthy of trial, it has been held that the fee of such attorney will be contingent on success, and in the event of success the fee, payable out of the fund recovered, will not be larger than the quantum meruit.[47] Under a statute authorizing the appointment of an attorney by the court in probate proceedings to defend the interests of minor or absent devisees, legatees, heirs, or creditors of decedent, and providing that the attorney is to be allowed a fee to be paid as necessary cost of administration and on distribution charged to the person represented, attorneys so appointed are entitled to reasonable compensation for their services.[48] Before the appointment can be made, however, the court must be satisfied that the class of persons named in the statute exists, and the order must designate who they are, or otherwise the fee allowed cannot be charged to the person represented; and when an attorney has been appointed to represent a claimant, nothing should be paid to such an attorney from the estate if the claim of such person is not substantiated.[49] The court making the appointment should fix a reasonable allowance for the services where the statute so requires; and this rule obtains whether the services were rendered in the trial, or in the appellate, court.[50] On his part, the attorney should observe requirements as to preparing and filing a statement of what he has done in the case.[51]

Representing officer of court. In order to recover compensation as counsel for an officer of court, an attorney in seeking the appointment owes the duty of complete disclosure of all facts bearing on his eligibility for such appointment, and if that duty is neglected, however innocently, he stands in no better position than if it had been performed.[52]

§ 173. Persons Entitled in General

An attorney to whom his associates assigned their rights can recover for legal services performed by himself and the others.

An attorney is entitled to recover for services performed by himself and his associates who, without objection by the client at the time, withdrew from the case and assigned their interests to such attorney, and the client cannot raise objections thereto for the first time in the attorney's action for compensation.[53] As has been shown supra § 165, however, only duly licensed attorneys are entitled to compensation for legal services. Two attorneys associated together under an arrangement whereby one paid the other's salary and all office and business

42. People v Hanifan, 59 N W 611, 99 Mich 516, overruling Springer v. Wayne County Auditors, 53 N.W. 471, 99 Mich 513

43. People v Mummiani, 180 N.E. 673, 259 N Y 8—People v Cowan, 157 N.E 816, 245 N.Y. 532—People v Chapman, 122 N E 240, 225 N. Y. 700—6 C J. p 728 note 58 [1] (8).

Circumstances not excusing delay

Where counsel for defendant convicted of first degree murder failed to bring the appeal on for argument within six months, as required by Code Cr.Proc. § 536, he was entitled to no compensation on appeal under section 308a, although the clerk did not cause the record to be printed within the time prescribed by section 485, and although the six months from the taking of the appeal expired during recess, and notwithstanding the stipulation for adjournment of the argument to the day after the expiration of such six months, no application for extension being made, and the appeal not being brought to argument until nine days after the expiration of the recess—People v. Chapman, 122 N E 240, 225 N Y 700

44. People v. Mummiani, 180 N.E. 673, 259 N.Y. 8—People v. Chapman, 122 N.E. 240, 225 N.Y. 700.

45. N.J.—Todd v. Todd, 9 N J.L J. 342
Tenn—House v Whitis, 5 Baxt. 690.
6 C J p 729 note 60

46. Howard County v. Pollard, 55 N.E. 87, 153 Ind. 371.

47. Whelan v. Manhattan R. Co, (C C.N Y) 86 F. 219

48. Lee v. San Joaquin County Super Ct., 44 P 666, 112 Cal 354

49. In re Lux, 66 P. 30, 134 Cal 3.

50. Cochran v. Lee, 87 S W 769, 27 Ky.L. 1038.

51. Jackson v. McElroy, 2 Bush (Ky.) 132

52. In re Rogers-Pyatt Shellac Co, (C.C A N Y.) 51 F (2d) 988, affirming (D C.) 43 F (2d) 863.
Compensation of attorneys appointed to represent absentees in actions see the title Absentees § 9

53. Johnston v. Cox, 154 So. 206, 114 Fla. 243 But see Sabath v. Vacek, 204 Ill.App. 396.

expenses, who held themselves out as partners and had a partnership name on the door and on letterheads and billheads, were held not entitled to maintain an action as joint plaintiffs for services rendered defendant, where the firm name had never been registered nor a return made, as required by statute of a person doing business under any name other than his own.[54]

§ 174. Division of Fees and Apportionment

a. In general
b. Express contracts

a. In General

In the absence of any agreement or custom to the contrary, attorneys jointly undertaking to render legal services are entitled to share equally in the compensation, and an attorney collecting the entire fee is liable to his associate for his proper share. Attorneys employed severally are entitled to recover the reasonable value of their respective services in the absence of a different contract.

Attorneys who jointly undertake to prosecute or to defend a lawsuit are entitled, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, to share equally in the compensation,[55] and it is immaterial which attorney furnishes the most labor or skill,[56] neither can charge the other for extra services,[57] and mere neglect by one of them to discharge his duties will not be an abandonment of the contract, nor will it extinguish his claim to one half the proceeds.[58]

So, where an attorney retained in a case employs or procures the employment of another to assist him, as regards the division of fee, the agreement constitutes a joint adventure or special partnership,[59] and although it has been held that the employed attorneys should receive only reasonable compensation,[60] in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, there is an implied agreement that, although one performs more work than the other, they should share equally.[61] This principle may be varied by a subsequent agreement between the parties, however, and where it is agreed that one of the attorneys shall take no further steps in the case and that another shall receive extra compensation for carrying on the litigation, the latter is entitled to a reasonable sum for his additional services, and the former, only to the reasonable value of his services up to the time of the agreement.[62]

An attorney is not to be deprived of his compensation because he expressed an opinion inconsistent with the opinion of his associate on questions arising in the course of litigation or because his associate who received the fee failed to avail himself of his services to the fullest extent,[63] or because he was not admitted to practice in the jurisdiction in which the contract was made at the time it was made, when he was then entitled to be admitted and was admitted thereafter.[64]

Where one of two attorneys jointly employed collects the entire fee, he is liable to the other unless he accounts to the client therefor, and where he pays

54. Amey v. Vermont Products Co., 177 A 197, 107 Vt. 178

55. Cal.—Ford v. Freeman, 180 P. 545, 40 Cal.App. 221
Ky.—Underwood v. Overstreet, 223 S.W. 152, 188 Ky. 562, 10 A.L.R. 1352.
6 C.J. p 754 note 62.

56. Underwood v. Overstreet, supra.

57. Henry v. Bassett, 75 Mo. 89.

58. Henry v. Bassett, supra

59. Ky.—Harris v. Flournoy & Flournoy, 38 S.W.(2d) 10, 238 Ky. 329—Underwood v. Overstreet, 223 S.W. 152, 188 Ky. 562, 10 A.L.R. 1352
Neb.—Langdon v. Kennedy, Holland, Delacy & McLaughlin, 224 N.W. 292, 118 Neb. 290, 63 A.L.R. 896.
Okl.—Bailey v. Griggs, 49 P.(2d) 695.
S.D.—Egan v. Waggoner, 170 N.W. 142, 41 S.D. 239
33 C.J. p. 845 note 53.

Voluntary services

Where plaintiff's brother employed defendants, a competent law firm, to conduct litigation, and plaintiff, an attorney, aided in the case, there was no implied promise on the part of defendants to pay plaintiff for the services rendered.—Gugel v. Olin, 170 N.W. 261, 168 Wis. 321

Apportionment of fees between partners in a law firm during the existence and after dissolution of the firm see supra § 56.

60. Harris v. Flournoy & Flournoy, 38 S.W.(2d) 10, 238 Ky. 329

Equal division among attorneys

Where a firm of two attorneys employed two individual attorneys to assist in a will contest, each attorney was held entitled to one fourth of the attorneys' fee allowed by the court.—Harris v. Flournoy & Flournoy, 38 S.W.(2d) 10, 238 Ky. 329

61. Iowa.—Gill v. Mayne, 162 N.W. 24
Neb.—Langdon v. Kennedy, Holland, Delacy & McLaughlin, 224 N.W. 292, 118 Neb. 290, 63 A.L.R. 896.—Jones v. Thomas, 184 N.W. 151, 106 Neb. 635.
Okl.—Bailey v. Griggs, 49 P.(2d) 695

62. Jones v. Thomas, 184 N.W. 151, 106 Neb. 635.

63. Fried v. Cahn, 267 N.Y.S. 182, 239 App.Div. 213, motion granted 191 N.E. 520, 264 N.Y. 471.

64. White v. Little, 268 P. 221, 131 Okl. 132

Contract not against public policy

A contract between a lawyer from another jurisdiction and a local lawyer who was not a member of the local bar, engaging the latter to prepare and file the necessary petitions in certain legal proceedings, was not invalid as being against public policy where the local lawyer was in good standing in other courts, and in view of the general practice to permit members of the bar in other jurisdictions to appear as counsel in special causes when associated with a qualified local lawyer.—Cochran v. Burdick, 63 App.D.C. 150, 70 F.(2d) 754, certiorari denied Burdick v. Cochran, 55 S.Ct. 73, 293 U.S. 561, 79 L.Ed. 661.

Failure to enroll

That an Indian Territory attorney eligible to admission to practice in the Oklahoma supreme court had not been enrolled when he contracted with a client did not preclude him from recovering from his associate counsel his share of a fee collected by such counsel.—Martindale v. Shaha, 151 P. 1019, 51 Okl. 670.

part of the agreed fee to the client, the client is liable to the other attorney for so much of the fee paid to him as the attorney is entitled to under the joint contract.[65]

Several employment. Where two attorneys are severally employed in a cause, each is entitled to recover for the reasonable value of his own services, in the absence of any different contract; one is not entitled in such a case to recover severally one half of the value of the services of both attorneys; in such a case the court will not undertake accurately to separate the services performed by each counsel, but will determine from all the facts and circumstances what is the fair value of the services sued for.[66]

Substitution of attorneys and the effect thereof on their compensation is discussed in § 122 of this Title.

Different proceedings for same relief. Where suits seeking the same relief were instituted by different parties represented by different attorneys in state and federal courts successively and the latter suit, through the cooperation of all parties, was prosecuted to a successful conclusion, the decree providing for an apportionment among the various solicitors of a fund set aside for the purpose, the counsel who first protested the action of defendants and brought suit in the state court are entitled to compensation from the fund for their services in connection with that suit.[67]

Existence of a general custom as to division of fees under certain circumstances may be shown,[68] but a custom to divide fees equally between the firms involved is not applicable in a controversy involving only one firm and several individual attorneys.[69]

b. Express Contracts

Express contracts to divide fees are, subject to the general rules of contract, valid, the rights of the parties being governed by the terms of the contract.

It is neither unethical nor illegal for an attorney to make an arrangement for dividing fees with an attorney whom he may retain as counsel in behalf of his clients.[70] Such a contract is subject to the rules applicable to contracts generally,[71] and is voidable for nondisclosure of material conditions.[72] To be enforceable it must express the intention of the parties with reasonable certainty; and an agreement to make an "equitable division" of fees without furnishing any rule by which the equitable division is to be made is too vague and indefinite to form the basis of an action.[73] An attorney accepting a written contract prepared by himself providing for the fee he was to receive for services rendered to another attorney is bound thereby and precluded from setting up a verbal agreement as expressing the true intention of the parties.[74]

The terms of the contract determine the right to claim a division of the fees,[75] and where the right was to accrue on the happening of a certain event, which happened, counsel is entitled to his share unless he abandoned the contract, or declined, refused, or failed without excuse to perform.[76] The fact that one does more than his proportionate share of the work will not entitle him to more than the agreed proportion of the compensation, where the other is ready and willing to serve whenever called on.[77] So it is immaterial whether the client knew of the contract between the attorneys or not, or whether he had any connection with it,[78] and a discharge of one attorney by the client cannot affect the rights of the latter to recover from the other attorney his agreed share of the fees.[79] If an attorney employed on a

65. Lake v. Wilson, 88 S W (2d) 25, 183 Ark 180—Lake v Wilson, 35 S W (2d) 597, 183 Ark. 180.

66. Chicago Junction Ry. Co. v. Leitch, 215 Ill.App. 67—6 C J. p 754 notes 66, 67.

67. Thompson v Bomar, (Mo) 258 F. 339, 169 C C A 355

68. Parker v. Gartside, 178 Ill App 634

69. Harris v. Flournoy & Flournoy, 38 S W (2d) 10, 238 Ky. 329—6 C. J. p 754 note 74.

70. In re Allen St. in City of New York, 266 N Y S 277, 148 Misc. 488
Agreement between attorney and notary for division of fees was held enforceable as not in violation of professional ethics where the notary was also an attorney and his services in drawing up the deeds partook largely of the services of an attorney.
—Macaluso v. Succession of Marinoni, 168 So 296, 184 La 1052

71. In re Evans, 130 P. 217, 42 Utah 282, reversing 62 P. 913, 22 Utah 366, 88 Am S R 794, 53 L.R.A. 952 —6 C J p 754 note 69.

72. Berenson v. French, 159 N.E. 909, 262 Mass. 247.

73. Barker v. O'Grady, 168 N.Y S 594

74. Garland v. Dimitry, 119 So. 42, 167 La 262

75. Ariz—Neale v Hinchcliffe, 189 P. 1116, 21 Ariz 452
Ga—Robinson v. Guerry, 148 S.E 745, 40 Ga App. 26
6 C J p 754 note 70

76. Smith v Waldrop, 77 So 331, 201 Ala 37 See Alexander v. Case, 206 Ill App. 69.
Taking of appeal
Where attorneys employed by another firm as associate counsel were to have one half of fees if the case went to the supreme court, and the case went to such court, the associates, if not in default, are entitled to their half—Smith v. Waldrop, 77 So 331, 201 Ala. 37.

77. Robinson v. Guerry, 148 S E 745, 40 Ga App 26—6 C J. p 754 note 71

78. Smith v. Waldrop, 77 So 331, 201 Ala. 37—6 C J p 754 note 72.

79. Jackson v Gensberger, (D.C. Mont) 5 F Supp. 187
Administration proceedings
Where an attorney for an executor in California procured a Montana attorney to secure the appointment there of an administrator, on the Montana attorney's agreement that the attorneys' fees be divided equally, the administrator thus appointed, although entitled to discharge the California attorney, could not abro-contingent fee agrees to pay other attorneys out of his share, the client is not liable for the fees of the other attorneys,[80] and if the client stipulates for and exercises the option of engaging another attorney who should share the first attorney's compensation, the latter is entitled to only half of the percentage of recovery originally agreed on.[81]

Such an agreement to divide fees establishes a trust arrangement between the attorneys respecting the fees collected, in which both are entitled to share, imposing on each a duty to disclose to the other and account to him for his share of fees collected;[82] and an attorney who repudiates his obligation to divide the fees may be subject to action and constrained to account.[83] It is immaterial that the order fixing the fee allowed it as for services rendered solely by one attorney, where the other was not a party to the arrangement under which the fee was allowed or collected.[84]

Agreements against public policy. There can be no recovery where the agreement is against public policy,[85] as where attorneys for a trustee in bankruptcy agree to divide fees with an attorney for the creditors of the bankrupt;[86] and a contract to divide a contingent fee with third parties, not lawyers or an agreement by which a person procuring such a contract from another is to be compensated for the services rendered, which is prohibited by statute, renders the contract of retainer void,[87] although, if the statute is directed against the attorney alone, and does not prohibit a layman from entering into such contract, such a layman may recover thereunder.[88] The fact that a contract between an attorney and client was made at the suggestion of a layman does not render it invalid, however, in the absence of a showing that the layman had an interest in the fee.[89]

Withdrawal from contract. An attorney is justified in withdrawing from an agreement to divide fees by acts of other attorneys detrimental to his client and himself.[90]

Breach of contract and waiver. By continuing to recognize the contract after breach by his associate, regardless of his motive for so doing, an attorney waives the breach,[91] but notwithstanding such waiver, the guilty attorney is not entitled to a division of the fees accruing after his actual discharge from the proceedings.[92]

Effect of death or disbarment. Where several attorneys are jointly prosecuting a claim on a contingent fee basis under an agreement to divide the fee, and one of them dies after judgment has been gate the agreement for the division of the fees, nor could the Montana attorney avoid the obligation to divide the fees by claiming he was employed by the administrator.—Jackson v. Genzberger, (D.C.Mont.) 5 F.Supp. 187.

80. Denson v. Caddell, 77 So. 720, 201 Ala. 194.

81. Donovan v. Jenkins, 155 P. 972, 52 Mont. 124.

82. Ala.—Acuff v. Rice, 139 So. 91, 224 Ala. 54.
D.C.—Columbus v. Sheehy, 43 App. D.C. 462.

Accounting when not available

Where compensation for services rendered by three attorneys in settlement of an estate had been equally divided between them pursuant to an agreement, two of the attorneys were held not entitled to an accounting against the third attorney, who received additional compensation for additional services rendered to the estate under a separate retainer, on the ground that the attorneys were engaged in a joint venture as to such additional services.—Baylis v. Wood, 287 N.Y.S. 372, 248 App.Div. 585.

83. U.S.—Jackson v. Genzberger, (D.C.Mont.) 5 F.Supp. 187.
Ga.—Robinson v. Guerry, 148 S.E. 745, 40 Ga.App. 26.

84. Robinson v. Guerry, supra.

85. Weil v. Neary, (N.Y.) 49 S.Ct. 144, 278 U.S. 160, 73 L.Ed. 243, reversing (C.C.A.) 22 F.(2d) 893, certiorari granted 48 S.Ct. 338, 276 U.S. 613, 72 L.Ed. 732.—6 C.J. p. 754 note 69 [a].

Right of assignee

One accepting employment as a government attorney thereby abandoned a claim to compensation for past services under an agreement with a fellow attorney for splitting a contingent fee on a claim against the government, and a supplemental agreement between the attorneys regarding the division of such contingent fee and an agreement of the retiring attorney to assign his interest in return for advances are void, precluding the assignee's recovery of the compensation assigned.—Case v. Helwig, 62 App.D.C. 98, 65 F.(2d) 186.

86. Weil v. Neary (C.C.A.N.Y.) 22 F.(2d) 893, certiorari granted 48 S.Ct. 338, 276 U.S. 613, 72 L.Ed. 732, and reversed on other grounds 49 S.Ct. 144, 278 U.S. 160, 73 L.Ed. 243.

87. Matter of Welch, 141 N.Y.S. 331, 156 App.Div. 470.

88. Irwin v. Curie, 64 N.E. 161, 171 N.Y. 409, 58 L.R.A. 830.

89. Mytton v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., (Mo.App.) 211 S.W. 111.

Former client and employee of attorney

Where a client injured while in the employ of a railway company became, while in the hospital, acquainted with a former client of a firm of attorneys, who recommended such firm to the person injured and at the latter's request caused them to send an employee with a contract for him to sign, in the absence of evidence that either the firm's employee or the former client had an interest in the fee, the contract is not made unlawful by a statute relating to division of attorney's fees.—Mytton v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., (Mo.App.) 211 S.W. 111.

90. Chance v. Commercial Credit Co., 118 S.E. 465, 30 Ga.App. 543.

Reducing fund for distribution

An attorney, agreeing with attorneys for other clients to pool their fees in a certain matter, owed allegiance, not only to his original client, but to those of the other attorneys, and, if he participated in an effort to reduce the fund for distribution, which was insufficient to satisfy all the claims, by the allowance of unfair fees to the auditor and the auditor's attorney, another of the attorneys, whose client was thereby detrimentally affected, was justified in withdrawing from the agreement.—Chance v. Commercial Credit Co., 118 S.E. 465, 30 Ga.App. 543.

91. Wilson v. Nugent, 299 S.W. 18, 174 Ark. 1115.

92. Wilson v. Nugent, supra.

obtained in the trial court, but before affirmance on appeal, his representative is entitled to his share of the fee without diminution,[93] but where the attorney does not die but is disbarred at that stage of the proceedings the rule is otherwise; the disbarment annuls every contract of employment and places the attorney in the position of one who has willfully and wrongfully abandoned his contract, and, accordingly, the other attorneys are not liable for any fees subsequently earned by them,[94] and since no fees accrued until the affirmance on appeal subsequent to the wrongful abandonment of the enterprise, he is not entitled to recover for his share of the services rendered up to the date he ceased to act.[95]

§ 175. Necessity of Contract of Employment

A contract of employment is necessary to render one liable for the services of an attorney; but it need not be an express contract, it may be implied from acts of recognition or acceptance of the benefits of such service.

An attorney's claim for professional services against persons sui juris, or against the property of such persons, must rest on a contract of employment, express or implied, made with the person sought to be charged or with his agent.[96] No one can legally claim compensation for incidental benefits and advantages to one, flowing to him on account of services rendered to another by whom the attorney may have been employed,[97] or, as has been shown supra § 160, for services voluntarily rendered.

No formal contract is necessary, however, to create the relationship of attorney and client or the obligation on the part of the latter,[98] and the absence of an express promise on a client's part to pay will not prejudice recovery, if the employment is fairly made out from all the attendant circumstances;[99] neither is it necessary that the parties agree on a definite fee,[1] the promise to pay a reasonable sum

93. Senneff v. Healy, 135 N.W. 27, 155 Iowa 82, 39 L.R.A.(N.S.) 219.

94. Davenport v. Waggoner, 207 N.W. 972, 49 S.D. 592, 45 A.L.R. 1126—Egan v. Waggoner, 170 N.W. 142, 41 S.D. 239

95. Davenport v. Waggoner, 207 N.W. 972, 49 S.D. 592, 45 A.L.R. 1126.

Quantum meruit

An attorney, contracting with other attorneys for a contingent fee, cannot, after failure fully to perform because of disbarment, on quantum meruit, recover a greater amount than he could have recovered under the contract—Davenport v. Waggoner, 207 N.W. 972, 49 S.D. 592, 45 A.L.R. 1126.

96. Ala.—Tyson & Arrington v. Thompson, 70 So. 649, 195 Ala. 230.
Cal.—Tracy v. Ringole, 262 P. 73, 87 Cal.App. 549.
Iowa—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258
Ky.—O'Doherty & Yonts v. Bickel, 179 S.W. 848, 166 Ky. 708, Ann. Cas. 1917A 419.
La.—Levin v. Suffrin, (App.) 167 So. 911.
Md.—Drury v. Brightwood Sanitarium Co., 133 A. 314, 150 Md. 585—Barry v. Carroll, 123 A. 453, 143 Md. 688.
Minn.—Lowell v. Connolly, 223 N.W. 786, 176 Minn. 498
Mont.—In re Baxter's Estate, 22 P.(2d) 182, 94 Mont. 257
N.Y.—Lynn v. Agnew, 166 N.Y.S. 274, 179 App.Div. 805, affirmed Lynn v. McCann, 123 N.E. 877, 226 N.Y. 654
Or.—Fields v. Fields, 7 P.(2d) 975, 139 Or. 41, denying rehearing 3 P.(2d) 771, 139 Or. 41—In re Gratton's Estate, 293 P. 231, 136 Or. 224, 79 A.L.R. 517—In re Faling's Estate, 228 P. 821, 113 Or. 6, modified on other grounds 231 P. 143, 113 Or. 6.
Wis.—Gugel v. Olin, 170 N.W. 261, 168 Wis. 321.
6 C.J. p. 730 note 63
See Ryden v. Hastings, 209 Ill.App. 367.

Circumstances not establishing contract

(1) Statements of a fraternal benefit society's secretary to an attorney after its general counsel's refusal of the attorney's offers to disclose information concerning a fraudulent death claim for stated sums that the general counsel would do what was fair and the secretary would see that the attorney received a reasonable fee, if he disclosed the information, was held not to establish an employment contract entitling the attorney to recover his fee—Modern Woodmen of America v. Arnkens, 192 N.E. 706, 99 Ind.App. 344

(2) An attorney, employed by a company as auditor prior to his admission to the bar, was not entitled to recover an attorney's fee from a stockholder for advice given to the stockholder subsequent to his admission to the bar, where such stockholder had not contemplated employing the attorney as such apart from his services as an auditor—Levin v. Suffrin, (La.App.) 167 So. 911.

Nonpayment by employer

In an action for attorney's fees, plaintiff defending a patent suit must recover, if at all, under a contract with defendant, and not solely because he was not paid by the party who defended the suit for defendant and who employed him—Orwig v. Chicago, R. I. & P. Ry. Co., 250 N.W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A.L.R. 258.

Stipulation by heirs of client

Where a party died, pending an appeal by her from an adverse order in guardianship proceedings, a stipulation by her heirs in full settlement of all controversies among themselves except such appeal, which was to be submitted on its merits, will not obligate the heirs to pay an attorney, who was not a party to the stipulation, for services rendered in the appeal—Kratz v. Wolff, 182 N.W. 173, 191 Iowa 328.

97. Ky.—O'Doherty & Yonts v. Bickel, 179 S.W. 848, 166 Ky. 708, Ann. Cas. 1917A 419
Md.—Bregel v. Cooper, 157 A. 719, 161 Md. 416.
Mo.—Gilliam v. Gibney, (App.) 204 S.W. 41
Neb.—In re Kierstead's Estate, 237 N.W. 299, 121 Neb. 423
N.Y.—Lynn v. Agnew, 166 N.Y.S. 274, 179 App.Div. 805, affirmed Lynn v. McCann, 123 N.E. 877, 226 N.Y. 654
Pa.—Dickinson's Estate, 8 Pa.Dist. & Co. 75.
6 C.J. p. 730 note 66

98. Cal.—Brydonjack v. Rieck, 42 P.(2d) 336, 5 Cal.App.(2d) 219—Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P. 681, 112 Cal.App. 76
Iowa.—Cahill v. Murray, 194 N.W. 61, 196 Iowa 33.
"It is not necessary to effect that relationship that there should be a general retainer or express contract to that specific end."—Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P. 681, 687, 112 Cal.App. 76

99. Iowa.—Cahill v. Murray, 194 N.W. 61, 196 Iowa 33.
Md.—Barry v. Carroll, 123 A. 453, 143 Md. 688.
6 C.J. p. 730 note 67.

1. Pulaski County v. Shofner, (Ark.) 92 S.W.(2d) 217 being, as shown infra § 190, implied in the absence of any express agreement as to the amount. Where an attorney undertakes to represent one person and to collect his fee from another, however, he should make certain that the latter understands the situation.[2]

Acts of recognition or acceptance are in general equivalent to a prior engagement, thus, acquiescence by a client in his attorney's conduct may supply the place of a request to act, provided the case was such that the client might reasonably know that he would be expected to pay for the service,[3] and, where a person, with knowledge that a suit has been instituted in his behalf, prevents the attorney from proceeding further therein but himself prosecutes the suit to judgment, such person, by such conduct, ratifies the prior act of the attorney and is liable for the services rendered.[4] The same would be true where a client by his acts induced his attorney to believe that his services were desired.[5] Unless the circumstances show that the services were intended to be gratuitous,[6] where services are rendered by an attorney at the request of another, or where the benefits of such services are knowingly accepted, a promise to pay therefor will be presumed,[7] particularly where it would be inequitable for the party benefited to share the benefit without contributing to the expense.[8] Thus, where there is even slight proof of an employment of the attorney by the client, the fact that the latter stood by without objection and allowed the attorney to render valuable services in his behalf will estop him to deny the fact of employment.[9] The acquiescence must be such as presumes volition on the part of the person sought to be charged, however, and there is no acquiescence where he has no choice but to avail himself of the efforts made by the attorney.[10]

On the other hand, it does not always follow that, because one receives the benefit, directly or indirectly, of the services of another, the law implies a contract to pay therefor.[11] Thus, where the attorney, in carrying on the action does so for his own benefit and not for the nominal party to the action, the fact that such nominal party knows of his course and does not object will not make him liable for fees,[12] nor does a tacit acceptance of an attorney's services raise a promise to pay therefor, when the services were rendered after the distinct refusal of defendant to avail himself of, or pay for, such services.[13] So, where one of several parties, all of whom are equal-

2. Landry v White, (La App) 148 So 104, affirming 146 So 509

3. Iowa—Cahill v Murray, 194 N W. 61, 196 Iowa 38
Md—Barry v Carroll, 123 A 453, 143 Md 688.
6 C J p 730 notes 68, 69.

4. Shippen v Walker, 105 S E 853, 26 Ga App 280

5. Crawford v Wiedemann, 164 S W 981, 158 Ky 333, 336—6 C J. p 730 note 70.

6. Taussig v St Louis, etc, R Co, 65 S W 969, 166 Mo 28, 89 Am S R 674—6 C J p 731 note 72

7. Ala—Martin v Henderson, 68 So 478, 12 Ala App 564
Ark—Morning Star Mining Co v Williams, 333 S W 354, 171 Ark 187.
Md.—Barry v. Carroll, 123 A. 453, 143 Md 688
6 C J. p 731 note 71

Enforcement of lower gas rates
Domestic consumers of gas, in whose behalf a city employed attorneys to defend an ordinance lowering the gas rates, and who, without objection, accepted the attorney's services, are liable for reasonable counsel fees—Haynie, Parks & Westfall v Camden Gas Corporation, 56 S W (2d) 419, 186 Ark. 842.

Equitable owner of judgment is liable for reasonable attorney's fees in procuring judgment thereon in a sister state, and in obtaining a compromise settlement of the judgment procured, notwithstanding the action is prosecuted in the name of the legal holder, where the equitable owner has knowledge of, and acquiesces in, such action, and consents to, and accepts avails of the settlement—Hultman v Hanley, 248 N W 81, 134 Neb. 757.

8. Clarke v Hot Springs Electric Light & Power Co, (C C A Wyo) 76 F (2d) 918, certiorari denied 56 S Ct 147, 296 U S 624, 80 L Ed 443.

9. Trimble v. Texarkana, etc, R Co, 97 S W 164, 199 Mo. 44—6 C J p 731 note 73

10. O'Doherty & Yonts v Bickel, 179 S W 843, 166 Ky. 708, Ann Cas 1917A 419

Benefits necessarily arising
Attorneys, representing certain stockholders in a suit to recover on a contract for the sale of stock, are not entitled to recover compensation as against other stockholders who had been benefited by their services, on the theory that they acquiesced in the services, where they had previously declined an offer to avail themselves of the services and the success of the attorney on behalf of the other stockholders of necessity benefited them, since on the success of the litigation defendant therein would have no incentive to resist the claims of the nonjoining stockholders—O'Doherty & Yonts v. Bickel, 179 S W. 843, 166 Ky 708, Ann Cas 1917A 419.

11. O'Doherty & Yonts v. Bickel, supra—6 C J p 731 note 74.

Insurer's interest in tort action
The facts that a compensation insurance carrier which paid compensation permitted an injured employee to sue a third party tort-feasor for damages, and accepted benefits to the extent of the compensation paid, do not create the implied contract that insurer would pay attorneys' fees to the employee's attorneys out of its share of the recovery, and such attorneys are not entitled to attorneys' fees from such insurer's share, on the theory that the employee and insurer were jointly interested, and that one party in interest prosecuted the action for the benefit of the others, neither is the insurance carrier estopped to question the right of the attorneys to assert such claim—Spinner v Fidelity & Casualty Co of New York, 53 S W.(2d) 946, 245 Ky. 519.

12. Me—Wright v Fairbrother, 16 A. 330, 81 Me. 38.
Vt—Smith v Dougherty, 37 Vt. 530
6 C.J. p 731 note 75.

13. Ark—Caldwell v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 230 S W 566, 148 Ark 474
Ky—O'Doherty & Yonts v. Bickel, 179 S.W 843, 166 Ky. 708, Ann Cas 1917A 419
6 C.J. p 731 note 76.

ly interested in a cause, employs an attorney to conduct the case for him, and the benefit of such services from the nature of the case extends to all the other interested parties, the other parties, merely by standing by and accepting the benefit of such services without objection, do not become liable for the attorney's fees.[14] In such case it is held that liability cannot be imposed on the theory of unjust enrichment.[15] These rules are particularly applicable where the other parties benefited are minors.[16] If, however, the parties not directly employing the attorney, after becoming aware that he looks to them for his compensation, fail to make objection or to declare their nonliability, they are liable.[17]

§ 176. Nature and Extent of Liability

The attorney, ordinarily, looks to his employer for compensation, but the parties may agree to payment out of a fund.

Generally, in the absence of a contract providing otherwise, each client should pay his own attorney,[18] and one litigant cannot be compelled to pay the attorneys' fees of another.[19] The person to be looked to for compensation is not of necessity the one benefited, but is the employer,[20] and where the attorney is employed by two parties to perform the same service, he has a right of action against each until paid by one.[21] A party joining in the employment of an attorney is liable for his share of the fees when he was intentionally included in the litigation, although after investigation the adversary discovered that he was not a proper party and voluntarily dismissed the suit as to him.[22]

Where two attorneys are employed by the client, one of them cannot be deprived of his right of compensation by anything that happens thereafter between the associate attorney and the client, nor in such case is an attorney writing a letter reciting that the client had not employed other attorneys estopped from recovering his share of the compensation.[23]

Payment out of fund. The employer's liability is personal, and he cannot defend by alleging that it is customary for the attorney to be paid out of the money collected.[24] There is no objection, however, to an agreement that the attorney shall look to a fund for compensation, and not to the personal liability of the client.[25] In some cases the right to be paid out of a fund is preferable to the personal claim, and sometimes such payment can be obtained by an attorney.[26]

Joint and several liability. If parties voluntarily and with knowledge avail themselves of an attorney's services, they become jointly and severally liable for the value of such services.[27] On the other hand, it has been held that, wherever a joint lia-

14. Ky.—O'Doherty & Yonts v Bickel, supra
Pa.—Dickinson's Estate, 8 Pa Dist & Co. 75.
6 C.J. p 732 note 77

15. Aronstam v All-Russian Central Union of Consumers' Societies, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 270 F. 460.

16. Tull v. Nash, (Wash.) 141 F. 557, 73 C.C.A. 29

17. Cincinnati Sav. Bank v. Benton, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 240—6 C.J. p. 732 note 79.

18. U.S.—General Finance Corporation v. New York State Rys., (D.C.N.Y.) 3 F. Supp. 975.
Md.—Barry v. Carroll, 123 A. 453, 143 Md. 688.

19. Ky.—Howard v. Carmichael, 85 S.W. (2d) 852, 237 Ky. 462—Gilliam v. Gibney, (App.) 204 S.W. 41.
Mo.—Johnson v. United Rys. Co. of St. Louis, 152 S.W. 362, 367, 247 Mo. 326.

20. Ansley v. Concrete Construction & Contracting Co., 77 So. 774, 142 La. 871—6 C.J. p. 732 note 80.

Employment by partnership

Where a claim of an international banking firm against the Chilean government was rejected by a joint commission created by the governments of the United States and Chile to consider claims of the citizens of each against the other, because the firm was a Chilean concern, but the claim was subsequently presented in the names of the partners, one of whom was an American citizen, to an arbitrator who made an award in favor of the American claimants, the firm's attorneys were held to have no contractual relation with the heirs of the American partner, and were not entitled to fees from the amount received by them.—In re McCall's Estate, 109 A. 637, 266 Pa. 379

Recovery from opponent

"Where, after a protracted litigation, in which money and securities to a large amount are tied up, the litigants desire to effect a compromise and the attorney of the one stands in the way and another attorney is employed, through whom negotiations are concluded, to the knowledge of the first attorney, which lead to the compromise, and where, in such case, the one litigant makes a claim against the other to be indemnified for the indebtedness incurred by him for his attorney's fees, and an amount is paid in compromise of such claim, the attorney in question, who has in the meanwhile taken no steps for his own protection, has no standing to recover his fees from the litigant making such payment."—Ansley v. Concrete Construction & Contracting Co., 77 So. 774, 142 La. 871

21. Ala.—Martin v. Henderson, 68 So. 478, 12 Ala. App. 564.
Mo.—Walker v. Whitten, (App.) 33 S.W.(2d) 480

22. Caillouet & Caillouet v. Bouvier, 135 So. 273, 17 La. App. 41

23. Kline v. Blackwell, (C.C.A.Fla.) 63 F.(2d) 397, certiorari denied 54 S.Ct. 54, 290 U.S. 636, 78 L.Ed. 553

24. Bodfish v. Fox, 23 Me. 90, 39 Am. D. 611—6 C.J. p. 732 note 81.

25. N.Y.—Leavitt v. Dodge, 16 N.Y.S. 309.
Tenn.—Rogers v. O'Mary, 32 S.W. 462, 95 Tenn. 514

26. Hand v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 21 S.C. 162—6 C.J. p. 732 note 83.

Protection of fund

Where one party has employed an attorney whose services have protected or raised a common fund for administration or distribution under the direction of the court, that fund is liable for the counsel fees so incurred for the benefit of all parties in interest.—Smyth's Estate, 14 Pa. Dist. & Co. 773

27. Robert v. Goldman, (Mo. App.) 299 S.W. 55—Lawson v. Bufton, (Mo. App.) 199 S.W. 268—6 C.J. p. 732 note 84.

bility for attorney's fees is sought to be established, it must be made to appear clearly that the contract of employment was joint on the part of defendants, and not several, the mere fact that several parties similarly interested employ the same attorney does not fix their liability as joint.[28]

§ 177. —— Attorney Employed by Agent

a. In general
b. Employment by attorney

a. In General

The principal is liable for services of an attorney employed by an authorized agent; and the agent is liable if his act was unauthorized or if he also binds himself individually.

Where an agent has authority to employ an attorney and bind the principal to pay for his services, the principal is liable for the services of an attorney so employed,[29] and his liability to the attorney is not affected by an agreement between the principal and agent, of which the attorney had no notice, that the agent shall pay for such services,[30] but where an agent in employing an attorney acted beyond the scope of his authority, the principal is not liable[31] unless he accepted the services knowing that they were performed for him.[32] The principal cannot be held liable for the compensation of an attorney who is the agent of the original agent, and not of the principal.[33]

Liability of agent. An agent may render himself personally liable if the circumstances are such that his principal is not bound,[34] and where he has bound himself individually as well as in the capacity of agent for another, he cannot avoid liability on the ground that he was not a party to the litigation in which the services were rendered.[35] Where, however, the alleged agent had no authority to bind the principal and did not purport to bind himself, he is not liable personally on the contract.[36]

Scope of authority. The question whether an agent has authority to bind the principal in the employment of an attorney is treated in the title Agency § 105 d (1).

b. Employment by Attorney

Although the employing attorney may be personally liable for services rendered by counsel employed by him, his client is not liable therefor unless he authorized or ratified such employment.

As an attorney has, under the rule stated supra § 107, no implied power, under a general retainer, to employ associate counsel, the client is not liable to counsel so employed,[37] unless he has authorized the Contract apportioning costs

Under a contract whereby the owners of property along a residential street agreed to retain counsel to bring an injunction suit against the operation of a funeral parlor, and to pay attorney's fees and costs, defendants, sued for the balance of the attorney's fees incurred on the employment of the attorney and prosecution of the injunction suit, are jointly and severally liable for the attorney's services and expenditures, notwithstanding the contract provided a method of assessing the costs as between the signers—Robert v Goldman, (Mo App) 299 S W. 55.

28. Adriatic F Ins Co v. Treadwell, (N Y) 2 S Ct 722, 108 U S 361, 27 L Ed. 754—6 C J. p 732 note 85.

Employment through single request

Employment of an attorney, through a single request to represent three baseball clubs with separate interests, did not create a joint liability for his services.—Hindman v Pittsburgh Trust Co, 109 A. 876, 266 Pa. 204.

29. Harms v. Wolf, 89 S W. 1037, 114 Mo App 387—2 C J p 661 note 4 [a]—6 C J. p 732 notes 86 [a], 87.

Employment by administrator's agent

An administrator requesting another's aid in the settlement of the estate is liable for reasonable compensation to the attorney selected by such other and accepted by the administrator—Harms v Wolf, 89 S W 1037, 114 Mo App 387.

Apparent officer of corporation

An attorney honestly rendering services for the apparent officers of a corporation in bringing and defending suits, without knowledge that the corporation was not benefited thereby, is not required to return the money received as compensation for such services.—General Mortgage & Loan Corporation v. Guaranty Mortgage & Securities Corporation, 162 N E. 319, 264 Mass. 253

30. New York Life Ins. Co. v. Smith, 147 S.E. 126, 39 Ga.App. 160.

31. Bush v. Southern Brewing Co, 13 So. 856, 69 Miss. 200

32. Knights of Pythias v. Reinberger, 269 S W. 41, 168 Ark. 77.

Implied contract

Where the officers of a fraternal association attended a hearing before the attorney general, and there saw an attorney appear on behalf of the organization, and where such attorney subsequently appeared for the organization in an action brought by the attorney general to dissolve it, there was at least an implied contract between the organization and the attorney which would sustain a recovery by him of compensation, although the officer directly employing him may have been without authority so to act—Knights of Pythias v. Reinberger, 269 S.W. 41, 168 Ark 77.

33. Mussey v. Vanstone, 82 Mo App 353—2 C J. p 662 note 6.

34. Brennan-Love Co. v. McIntosh, 87 N W. 327, 62 Neb 522—6 C J. p 733 note 88.

35. Winslow v. Atz, 177 A. 272, 168 Md 230.

36. Orr v. Brown, (Miss) 74 F 1004, 21 C C A. 195.

37. Kan—Orosem v. McNeill, 176 P 106, 103 Kan. 694, denying rehearing 175 P. 633, 103 Kan 429
N Y—In re Carney, 158 N Y S. 585, 93 Misc 600.
6 C J. p 733 note 90.

Discovery of want of authority

Where a patent attorney was employed by a railroad attorney to defend certain patent suits and discovered that the railroad attorney had no power to employ him, and thereafter the first suits were dismissed, and new suits instituted in defense of which the patent attorney was retained by one who sold the patented article to the railroad, no employment of the patent attorney by the railroad to defend the latter suits could be implied—Orr g v employment,[38] or has ratified the act of the original attorney in employing assistance, with full knowledge of the facts.[39] In such cases, the assistant employed will not be affected by a secret agreement between the attorney and his client that the former shall pay for the extra service,[40] or by anything that happens between the other attorney and the client after the employment.[41]

The ratification by the client need not be express, but may be implied from circumstances, as from his failure to repudiate the employment on becoming aware that the assistant counselor looked to him for his fees, coupled with an acceptance of the benefit of his services.[42] Thus, if an emergency makes it necessary for a substitute attorney to conduct part of the proceedings, the client cannot accept the services and later deny his liability to pay for them.[43] Where, however, the fact of the recognition of the assistant counsel may be explained on the ground that the client supposed that the assistant was looking to the original attorney for his fees, the assistant cannot hold the client responsible for compensation.[44] So, where the client accepting the services of the second attorney understood that he was rendering them at the request of the first one to fulfill the latter's contract with the client, the client is not liable;[45] and, where a client is unaware of such services until after they have been rendered, he cannot be made liable therefor on the ground of acquiescence or ratification.[46]

Liability of attorney. An attorney employing associate counsel to aid him is himself liable for the latter's fees, unless the circumstances are such as to make the client liable.[47]

§ 178. —— Attorney Employed by One Joint Defendant

A defendant not ratifying the employment is not liable for services of an attorney employed by a joint defendant.

One of several joint defendants has no authority, as agent, to employ counsel to act for all, and the others are not liable for the value of the attorney's services,[48] unless, by subsequent acquiescence, they ratify the employment.[49]

§ 179. —— Attorney Employed by Trustees, Personal Representatives, and Beneficiaries

The general rule, stated supra § 176, that the attorney must look to his employer for compensation has been applied particularly in cases of employment by fiduciaries. Thus, as appears in the title Trusts § 284 [65 C.J. p 719 note 62], an attorney employed by a trustee must, ordinarily, look to the trustee himself, and not to the trust estate, for payment; and the same rule applies, as is shown in the title Executors and Administrators § 199 [24 C.J p 66 note 26–p 68 note 31], in the case of an executor or administrator, although under certain circumstances the attorney is given the right by statute to look to the estate. Similarly, with some exceptions, as will be shown in the titles Executors and Administrators § 199 [6 C.J. p 734 notes 5–7] and Trusts § 284 [65 C J p 722 note 3–p 723 note 13], the attorney cannot look to the estate for services rendered at the request of a beneficiary.

Chicago R I & P Ry Co, 250 N W. 148, 217 Iowa 521, 90 A L R 258

Employment by unauthorized attorney

Where the chairman of a political committee, without authority, employed an attorney to conduct an election contest, who in turn employed plaintiff, there was no liability on the part of the individual members of the committee for plaintiff's services —Owen v. Hadley, 171 S W. 973, 186 Mo App 1.

38. Cummings v. National Shawmut Bank of Boston, 188 N E 489, 284 Mass. 562—6 C.J p 733 note 91.

39. Kneedy v. Kaiser, 168 N W. 715, 41 S D 15—6 C.J. p 733 note 92.

40. Emblem v. Bicksler, 83 P. 636, 34 Colo. 496—6 C J. p 733 note 93.

41. Kline v. Blackwell, (C C.A.Fla.) 63 F (2d) 897, certiorari denied 54 S Ct 54, 290 U S 636, 78 L Ed 553

42. Aldrich v. Brown, 103 Mass. 527 —6 C J. p 733 note 94

43. Ark —Fenno v. English, 22 Ark 170

Ky.—Rust v Larue, 4 Litt 411, 14 Am D 172.

Mich —Eggleston v. Boardman, 37 Mich 14.

Pa —Henderson v. Montgomery, 21 Pa Dist. 413.

Tex —Allcorn v. Butler, 9 Tex. 56

44. Fraser v Haggerty, 49 N W 616, 86 Mich 521—6 C J p 734 note 96

45. Martin v Henderson, 68 So. 478, 12 Ala.App 564.

46. Gilliland v. Brantner, 121 N.W. 1047, 145 Iowa 275.

47. Mo—Kersey v. O'Day, 73 S W 481, 173 Mo 560.

Vt—Scott v. Hoxsie, 13 Vt. 50.

Contingent fee contract

Where an attorney agreed to institute requisite proceedings to establish the right of his clients in decedent's estate and to loan them any amount of money required for disbursements, which they agreed to repay with fifty per cent of any recovery, any sum paid to another attorney for legal services should come out of the share of the attorney originally employed, not from the share of the clients —In re Carney, 158 N Y S. 535, 93 Misc. 600.

48. Roselius v Delachaise, 5 La. Ann. 481, 52 Am D. 597—6 C J. p 734 note 99.

49. Laughlin v Newman, (Mo.App) 61 S W.(2d) 218—6 C J. p 734 note 1.

§ 180. —— Reimbursement for Expenses

In the absence of a contract or custom to the contrary, the attorney may recover disbursements made by him which were usual and reasonably necessary to carry out his employment

Where an attorney having general authority over the subject of his employment, makes expenditures in the professional undertaking which are usual and reasonably necessary, under all the circumstances, to carry out the object of the employment, such disbursements may be recovered from the client.[50] In some cases, however, the right to reimbursement may depend on custom or usage;[51] and where the contract between attorney and client limits the implied authority of the former to incur expenses, or the parties agree as to who shall pay the expenses, the provisions of the contract control.[52] So, where the contract expressly limited the recovery of expenses to "court costs," the attorney is not entitled to reimbursement for other expenses of the litigation,[53] but where it is agreed that the attorney shall be reimbursed out of the proceeds of a judicial sale, and the client in bad faith obstructs the proceedings so that the sale does not take place, the attorney may recover his disbursements from the client.[54]

Disbursements need not necessarily be expressly authorized by the client in order to be a proper charge against him;[55] but the attorney must furnish proof as to the actual disbursements made.[56] An attorney has no legal claim to be reimbursed for unauthorized expenses[57] or for expenditures which were not usual or reasonably necessary,[58] or such as are made necessary by his own wrongful acts.[59] So, in the absence of special agreement he may not recover fees paid to additional counsel employed by him.[60]

50. Cal—Tasker v Cochrane, 271 P 503, 94 Cal App 361
La—McClendon v Chrysoverges, 130 So 520, 10 La App 639
Mo—Lawson v Bufton, (App) 199 S.W 268
N Y—MacDonald v Johns, 115 N.Y S 695
6 C J p 734 note 9.

Contingent fee contract

Where an agreement between an attorney and client for rendition of services on a contingent fee basis did not provide who should be ultimately liable for costs and expenses of suit, the client is liable, and, in such case, where the attorney consulted his client with regard to extraordinary expenses, the client was charged with notice of his ultimate liability—Hampton v Rosenheim, 155 N Y S 361, 92 Misc 207

Reimbursement of proportionate share

On an accounting by an attorney employed to establish the right of several clients in decedent's estate, he is entitled to reimbursement of the proportionate share belonging to the parties asking the accounting of moneys disbursed by him for expenses—In re Carney, 158 N Y S 585, 93 Misc 600

Advancement to client

Where an attorney advanced his client two hundred dollars to settle litigation with one to whom she had leased a farm under a sharing agreement, and she received the fruits of the settlement and still retains them, the client cannot avoid repaying the attorney's advances on any claim of fraudulent misstatement of law by him inducing the settlement—Wadleigh v Stewart, 169 N W 559, 168 Wis 235

51. Clark v. Ellsworth, 73 N.W 1023, 104 Iowa 442—6 C J. p 734 note 11.

52. City of Wakefield v. Tuttle, 221 N W 155, 244 Mich 237—6 C J p 734 note 10

Expense of recording decree

Where an attorney, who was employed on a contingent fee basis, agreed to pay all expenses incurred in the prosecution of the case, the recording of the decree is part of the expense of the litigation to be borne by him—Mann v. Day, 165 N.W. 643, 199 Mich. 88.

Contingent fee contract

An attorney, who for more than two years unsuccessfully endeavored to increase his client's interest in a particular estate, pursuant to a contract providing for a contingent fee, was not entitled on the client's termination of the contract, to recover for traveling and living expenses incurred, where such expenses were not chargeable to the client under the contract—Fletcher v Kellogg, 55 App D C 351, 6 F (2d) 476, 40 A L R 1325, certiorari denied 46 S Ct 18, 269 U S. 555, 70 L Ed 409

Without cost to client

A written agreement of an attorney under a contingent fee contract to conduct an appeal without cost to the client is an unambiguous contract, which, standing alone, should be construed as requiring the attorney to pay the costs and disbursements of the appeal—Lloyd W Casner, Inc v Hartshorne, 177 A 890, 13 N J Misc 295

53. Zuckernik v Jordan Marsh Co, (Mass) 194 N E 892

Expenditures not recoverable

Where an oral agreement between a store owner and an attorney for collection of accounts receivable entitled the attorney to an agreed commission plus reimbursement for "court costs" actually paid by the attorney but no other expenses, the attorney is not entitled to allowance for traveling expenses and the expense of obtaining descriptions from the registry of deeds of real estate owned by the store owner's debtors, nor for advances to attorneys in other cities in cases which the attorney could not well handle personally—Zuckernik v. Jordan Marsh Co, (Mass) 194 N.E 892

54. Hildreth v. Honsinger, 171 N W. 332, 41 N D. 485.

55. Iowa—Forbes v Chicago, etc, R. Co, 129 N W 810, 150 Iowa 177, Ann Cas 1912D 311.
Kan—Haseltine v. Mahan, 55 P. 467, 8 Kan App. 857

56. Tasker v. Cochrane, 271 P 503, 94 Cal App. 361—6 C J p 734 note 13.

57. Mich—Gray v. Emmons, 7 Mich. 533.
N Y—Townsend v. Meyers, 127 N Y. S 451, 142 App Div 851—People v. Lockwood, 9 Daly 68.

Payment to adverse attorney

Where the attorney collected part of the amount of a judgment for his client, the judgment creditor, such attorney is chargeable with the amount he paid out, without his client's consent, as attorney's fees to the adverse attorney.—Hoy v Nichols, 170 Minn. 191, 212 N W. 530.

58. Cal—Tasker v Cochrane, 271 P. 503, 94 Cal App 361.
Md—Winslow v. Ats, 177 A 272, 168 Md. 220.

59. Ill.—Hughes v. Zeigler, 69 Ill. 38
Mass—French v. Meyer, 107 N.E. 956, 220 Mass 451
6 C.J. p 734 note 16.

60. Tasker v Cochrane, 271 P. 503, 94 Cal App. 361.

Advances. It is proper for an attorney to ask from time to time for advances to pay the expenses of litigation and to apply on account [61]

Traveling expenses. Some cases having to do with the expenditures by counsel draw a line of demarcation between costs of the litigation such as clerk's fees, filing fees, witness fees, jury fees, and the like, and the personal and traveling expenses of attorneys; such traveling expenses, it has been held, can be recovered only when there is a special or express agreement that counsel may be reimbursed therefor;[62] but it has been held that an attorney is entitled to a reasonable allowance for traveling expenses necessary to the performance of legal services, even though he had agreed to make no charge for the services in connection with which the disbursements were made.[63] Where the claim for traveling expenses is a proper one, they will be allowed only from the place of the attorney's residence to the place where the client's business calls him [64]

§ 181. Express Agreements in General

a. General principles
b. Contracts made after relation established
a. General Principles
(1) Requisites and validity in general
(2) Fraud or undue influence
(3) Illegality

(1) Requisites and Validity in General

An enforceable contract between attorney and client for legal services must conform to the requirements of other valid contracts.

Apart from the consideration of questions relating to contracts for retaining fees (supra § 162), express contracts for division and apportionment of fees (supra § 174), and the validity of agreements between attorney and client as to compensation for services in connection with divorce which will be discussed in the title Contracts § 235 [13 C.J. p 464 notes 78, 80, 82], an attorney may make an enforceable contract with one about to become his client for the payment of compensation for services to be rendered,[65] and the principles of law applicable thereto do not differ materially from those applicable to other contracts of employment.[66] Such a contract is not subject to the particular scrutiny of the court,[67] for the client is regarded as competent to judge for himself what is a proper sum to pay for services,[68] and it cannot be repudiated merely because of the

61. Young v. Lonznar, 112 S W 17, 133 Mo App 130

62. Cal—Cooley v Miller & Lux, 105 P 981, 156 Cal 510—Tasker v Cochrane, 271 P. 503, 94 Cal App 361.
N Y—Stiles v Annabel, 235 N Y S 508, 226 App Div 268

Employed in income tax matter
An attorney, employed to represent a client in an income tax matter "as in the past," during which he was paid traveling, hotel, and other incidental expenses, as well as for services in a similar case before the internal revenue department, was entitled to recover hotel and traveling expenses, incidental to preparation and presentation of the case, from the client—Darnell v Woodruff, (Cal App) 58 P (2d) 975

63. In re Barreiro's Estate, 14 P. (2d) 786, 125 Cal App 752

64. Isham v. Parker, 29 P. 835, 3 Wash 755—6 C J. p 734 note 14

65. Cal—Thornley v Jones, 274 P 93, 96 Cal App 219—Tracy v Ringole, 262 P 73, 87 Cal App 549—Bonelli v Conrad, 37 P (2d) 137, 1 Cal App (2d) 660
Ill.—Dietz v. Van Speybroeck, 225 Ill App. 133.
Ky—Chreste v. Louisville Ry Co, 180 S W 49, 167 Ky 75, L.R.A. 1917B 1123, Ann Cas 1917C 867
La—Levin v. Suffrin, (App) 167 So 911.
Mich—Gates v. McLaulin, 165 N W. 614, 199 Mich 438
Mont—Coleman v Sisson, 230 P. 582, 71 Mont 435
N Y—Rodkinson v. Haecker, 162 N E 493, 248 N Y 480, affirming Marks v Haecker, 227 N Y S 849, 223 App Div 710—Ward v Orsini, 152 N E 696, 243 N Y 123, modifying 213 N Y S 932, 215 App Div 795 which affirmed 211 N Y S 249, 125 Misc 407—In re Woolfson's Will, 287 N Y S 12, 158 Misc 928
Or—Hansel v. Norblad, 151 P. 962, 78 Or 38
Wash—Beck v Boucher, 195 P 996, 114 Wash 574—Roche v Madar, 175 P 314, 104 Wash 21, affirmed 181 P 857, 104 Wash 21
W Va—Hubbard v. George, 94 S E 974, 81 W Va 538, L R A 1918C 835
6 C J p 735 note 28
"Prior to assuming the relation of attorney and client a lawyer may bargain for his services with one proposing to employ him and may deal with him at arm's length"—Boldt v Baker, 13 Ohio App 125.

Contract for liquidated damages
A statute providing for an attorney's lien and the manner of enforcing the same against clients' property does not take from the parties their right to make a contract for a stipulated sum intended as liquidated damages in case the clients shall breach the employment contract and a mortgage given to secure it—Sierzek v. Smith, 206 P 611, 86 Okl. 79.

66. Cal—Tracy v Ringole, 262 P. 73, 87 Cal App 549
Fla—Halstead v Florence Citrus Growers' Ass'n, 139 So 132, 104 Fla 21
Or—Hansel v. Norblad, 151 P 962, 78 Or 38.
Wash—Beck v. Boucher, 195 P. 996, 114 Wash 574

Offer and acceptance
(1) No contract as to fees results from a qualified acceptance of the attorney's proposal as to the amount to be paid, nor does such a qualified acceptance constitute a counter offer—Remmers v. Bromschwig, (Mo. App) 18 S W (2d) 115

(2) The act of an attorney in rendering services after receiving the client's proposal as to the fees to be paid constitutes an acceptance thereof—Vellenoweth v. General Motors Bldg Corporation, 225 N W. 522, 247 Mich 274

(3) And the acceptance of the fee provided for in a proposed contract amounts to an acceptance of the terms of the contract—Townsend v Water and Sewer Improvement Dist No. 1 of Gurdon, 25 S.W.(2d) 755, 181 Ark. 324

67. Thornley v Jones, 274 P 93, 96 Cal App 219—6 C J. p 735 note 28

68. Hansel v. Norblad, 151 P 962, 78 Or. 38—6 C.J. p 735 note 29.

subsequent confidential relation.[69]

As in the case of other contracts to be enforceable, the promise to pay must be supported by a valid consideration[70] and the agreement must specify the terms or set up some standard or furnish some data by which the extent of the client's undertaking may be measured and ascertained with reasonable certainty.[71] The validity of the contract does not, however, depend on the value of the services rendered,[72] and it has been held that the objection of want of mutuality cannot be sustained in such contracts.[73] A valid contract between attorney and client for retainer fees is not abrogated by an attempt to merge it in a void contract.[74]

The contract is not enforceable against the client where it is entered into under a mutual mistake of fact,[75] or is dependent upon a condition which is not performed.[76]

Partial invalidity. A contract containing an invalid clause is not invalid in its entirety where that clause is severable from the remainder of the contract,[77] and in such case recovery can be had on so much of the contract as is valid.[78]

69. Hansel v. Norblad, supra.

Confidential relationship does not arise until contract between them is made, and in agreeing upon its terms parties deal at arm's length—Lee v Gump, (Cal.App.) 58 P (2d) 941.

70. Redwine v. Cummins, 233 P 413, 108 Okl. 39.

Consideration held sufficient

(1) Promise of employer to pay attorney for services rendered employee in obtaining his release from jail is supported by consideration—Walker v. Whitten, (Mo App) 38 S W.(2d) 480.

(2) So where plaintiff, attorney at law, who, as guardian of a ward's estate, was authorized by a court order to bring an action against a railroad company to determine the latter's water rights affecting a certain ranch in which the ward and defendant each owned a parcel of land, by reason of which defendant was interested in the action, plaintiff was not, as an attorney at law, under duty to render any professional services in that action, so that his promise to render such services on behalf of the ward, in consideration of defendant's promise to pay a stipulated fee, was supported by a sufficient consideration—Boardman v. Christin, 224 P 97, 65 Cal App 413

(3) A contract of employment of an attorney pursuant to an agreement between property owners desiring the prosecution of an injunction suit to remove an undertaking establishment was held not without consideration as to defendant property owner, who signed the subscription contract after the attorney's employment, but before the major part of the attorney's services had been rendered, and who received the benefit of the services and expenses incurred—Robert v. Goldman, (Mo App.) 299 S W. 55.

Failure of consideration

(1) "Where a promissory note is delivered to an attorney at law pursuant to a contract of employment by the makers, wherein the attorney agrees to render his services to the makers in defending them upon a criminal charge, provided they are indicted by a grand jury, and the makers of the note are never indicted, and no services are rendered to the makers of the note, in an action by the payee, where the makers of the note plead failure of consideration, held, the plea is valid"—Redwine v. Cummins, 233 P. 413, 108 Okl. 39.

(2) A three party agreement whereby certain property was to be transferred to defendants, who undertook to pay certain attorney's fees owing to plaintiffs by another party to the agreement, was not, however, rendered invalid because of failure of consideration as to defendants' promise to pay the fees because the identical deed made to defendants was not recorded, where by a second deed more property than had originally been agreed upon was conveyed to the executors of plaintiffs' client, and from them passed to defendants—Hart v. Bogle, 152 P. 1010, 88 Wash. 125

Setting contract aside

Where a client agrees to give an attorney one-half of twenty five thousand dollars recovered, though he knows that a recovery can be had with the expenditure of little effort or time, and later repudiates the contract, the court may set it aside on the principle that the excess was a gift without consideration—In re Hahn, 94 A. 953, 84 N. J Eq 523, motion denied 96 A. 589, 85 N J. 510, Ann Cas.1918B 830

71. Ky—Keser v. Jarvis, 25 S W (2d) 721, 233 Ky 316
N.Y.—Boehm v United Power Laundries, 229 N Y S 430, 132 Misc. 1

Contract sufficiently certain

A contract of the client to pay her attorney for bringing suit for land and personal property, "as fee for his services one-fourth of the land which he may recover for her, and one-fourth of all other property he may recover for her, by suit or settlement of her claims by litigation," is not so vague or uncertain as to prevent recovery thereon—Amick v. Henman, (Mo App) 241 S. W 988.

Contracts held too indefinite

(1) Where an attorney had represented a city in a number of condemnation proceedings, such proceedings differing in amount involved, proof necessary, and in object sought to be attained, a contract whereby his compensation for services during certain proceedings is to be at same rate at which he had been paid in other similar proceedings is too indefinite for recovery thereon.—Dykman v. City of New York, 171 N Y S. 870, 183 App Div. 859.

(2) So a promise by a third person to help a client pay the attorney's fee is too vague and uncertain to render such third person liable—Keser v. Jarvis, 25 S W (2d) 721, 233 Ky. 316.

72. Ala—Fuller v. Stevens, 39 So. 623.
Kan—Topeka Water-Supply Co. v. Root, 42 P 715, 56 Kan 187.
N Y—Rogers v Polytechnic Inst., 84 N Y S. 12, 87 App.Div. 81.
6 C J. p 735 note 30.

73. Franklin County v. Layman, 88 N E 1094, 145 Ill. 138.

Invalidity for lack of mutuality

It has been held that a contract to employ an attorney exclusively, so long as he owns a single share of defendant's stock, was unenforceable for lack of mutuality—Boehm v. United Power Laundries, 229 N. Y S 430, 132 Misc. 1.

74. McCurdy v. Dillon, 98 N.W. 746, 135 Mich 673.

75. Kelsey v. Mackay, 117 P. 714, 65 Wash 116.

76. Boyd v. Boyce, (Tex Civ.App) 53 S W. 720

77. Ark—Sizer v Midland Valley R Co, 217 S W 6, 141 Ark 369
Mont—Downey v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co, 232 P 531, 72 Mont 166.
6 C J p 735 note 35.

78. Miss—Martin v. First Nat. Bank, 164 So 396
Okl—Allen v. Shepherd, 169 P. 1115,

Ratification. A party ratifying a contract of employment made between the attorney and others is himself bound by the terms thereof.[79]

Contract for costs. An agreement is unobjectionable which allows the attorney the costs recovered,[80] or costs plus a reasonable counsel fee.[81]

(2) Fraud or Undue Influence

Contracts induced by fraud or undue influence on the part of the attorney or providing for extortionate charges for services will not be enforced.

The power of the court to reform[82] or cancel[83] contracts between attorney and client is limited to the duty of protecting the latter against the undue influence of the former. Accordingly, where the parties have come to an agreement touching the fees, and it appears that the agreement was arrived at after complete disclosure and full consideration, and that there was no fraudulent or unfair conduct on the part of the attorney, and that, as to the client, the agreement is fair, that agreement ought not to be disturbed by the court, but the parties should be left where they have placed themselves.[84] If any fraud or undue influence on the part of the attorney induces the contract, however, it will not be enforced,[85] and the same is true where the terms are so indefinite as to be susceptible of unconscionable advantage on the part of the attorney,[86] or where such an advantage is discernible in a stipulation for compensation in excess of the fair value of the services to be performed.[87]

The reasonableness of the contract price for the services is determinable from the viewpoint of the reasonableness when the contract was made, rather than the reasonableness for the services actually rendered.[88] In determining the question, the status of the parties, the nature of the controversy, and the work involved may be considered;[89] and it is also proper to consider the results of the attorney's services.[90] Prima facie the charge will be regarded as 69 Okl 47—Culver v Diamond, 167 P. 223, 64 Okl. 271.

Alternative promise

Where a guardian employing an attorney to recover property for minors, agreed in the alternative to pay the attorney one-quarter of the value of the property recovered, or to convey an undivided one-quarter interest in such property, the fact that the promise to convey was unenforceable does not invalidate promise to pay—Berryhill v. Spillers, 232 P. 376, 105 Okl 255.

79. Robert v. Goldman, (Mo App) 299 S W. 55.

Signing subscription contract

A property owner signing a subscription contract, which provided for retaining an attorney to prosecute an injunction suit after the attorney had been actually employed, thereby ratifies the contract of employment and accepts its terms—Robert v Goldman, (Mo App) 299 S W 55

80. Gotham Music Service v. Denton & Haskins Music Pub Co, 260 N Y S 312, 237 App Div. 78—6 C J p 721 note 70, p 735 note 37.

81. Zogbaum v Parker, 55 N.Y. 120—6 C J p 735 note 38.

82. Lewis v. Yale, 4 Fla. 413.

83. Cooley v. Buie, (Tex Com App) 291 S W. 876, reversing (Civ App) 284 S W. 702.

Duress

Where attorney for bankrupt handling bankruptcy proceeding agreed to have exempt property set aside, deed to portion thereof secured by threat to abandon contest over property held invalid on account of duress.—Cooley v. Buie, (Tex.Civ.App) 284 S W. 702, reversed (Com.App) 291 S W. 876

Inequitable conduct

"A contract for a fixed compensation may be avoided, as between the parties, only on allegation and proof of inequitable conduct in its procurement"—In re Woolfson's Will, 287 N Y S 12, 158 Misc 928

84. N J—Grimm v. Franklin, 140 A 236, 102 N J.Eq 198, affirmed (Err & App) Grim v. Franklin, 146 A 914

N Y—Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N.Y S. 295, 91 Misc 473

Absence of undue influence

A contract employing an attorney was made after due deliberation between parties dealing at arm's length, where, after the attorney stated what he would charge for the contemplated services, it was suggested that the client talk with her family and friends and come back the next day, and she returned the next day and expressed a desire to employ the attorney, but stated she wanted to talk to two men and did see one of them, the other being out of town, before the contract was signed—White v. Burch, (Tex Civ. App) 33 S W.(2d) 512.

In action by client to annul note given in payment of an alleged balance due for attorney's fees, evidence was held sufficient to show that the client made a contract by which the attorney, for consideration of five thousand dollars agreed to defend him under an indictment for assault with intent to kill, through all possible exigencies of the case, with his eyes open and was not deceived by reason of his ignorance, or by any misunderstanding of the circumstances—Barber v. Jetmore, 227 P. 523, 111 Or 545.

85. Barnett v. Gross, 216 P. 153, 91 Okl. 162—6 C.J p 737 note 56

Duty of fair dealing

It is attorney's duty to deal fairly with his client in matter of fees.—Waugh v. Q. & C. Co., (C C.A.Ill.) 16 F (2d) 363

Concealment of facts

Contract for attorneys' fees for services in obtaining higher mail rates for short line railroads is void and unenforceable, because of fraud and concealment of facts notwithstanding the attorneys obtained increase in rates, where the salaried officers of association of short line railroads violated their trust by entering an arrangement among themselves by which some of the officers would be employed as attorneys by member roads and receive large fees, to be divided among the officers, and where such facts were concealed from member roads and contract for attorneys' fees was entered into pursuant to an arrangement of the officers—East Tennessee & Western North Carolina Ry Co. v. Robinson, (Tenn App) 36 S W.(2d) 433.

86. Planters' Bank v. Hornberger, 4 Coldw (Tenn) 531.

87. Bruce's Ex'x v. Bibb's Ex'x, 105 S E 570, 129 Va. 45—6 C.J. p 737 note 58

88. Wright v. Wright, 237 N.W. 896, 58 S D 612

89. Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P. 681, 112 Cal App 76

90. Grimm v. Franklin, 140 A. 236, 102 N.J Eq. 198, affirmed (Err & App) Grim v. Franklin, 146 A 914.

reasonable;[91] it may be said to be extortionate only when it is an oppressive or illegal exaction, and a charge made in good faith, in compliance with the terms of a contract which is not illegal, cannot be said to be extortionate.[92]

If the contract is void because unconscionable, it cannot be made effective by ratification.[93]

Who may object. Ordinarily, any agreement for services, made by the client, cannot be objected to on the part of his creditors.[94]

(3) Illegality

Contracts of an attorney to render services in violation of a statute or of public policy or good morals are not enforceable

An attorney cannot recover any compensation under a contract to render services, where the contract is in violation of public policy or good morals.[95] In this rule are embraced all contracts expressly prohibited by statute;[96] contracts for legal services by persons not licensed to practice law;[97] contracts tending to interfere with the proper and unbiased discharge of duty on the part of an attorney,[98] such as contracts which tend to place the attorney in a false light before the court by placing him in a position inconsistent with the performance of his full duty to his client;[99] contracts for lobbying services;[1] contracts to defend a party in case he is indicted for a crime, where the attorney instigated the commission of the crime;[2] contracts to influence unduly the action of public officers in the discharge of public duty;[3] contracts to collect illegal claims for a percentage of the amount recovered,[4] promises on the part of the client to pay for advising him how to make fraudulent conveyances;[5] and, as shown infra § 186, provisions that neither the attorney nor client can settle the contemplated suit without consent of the other party.

A contract leaving the amount of the fee to be fixed by a third person or a judge is not contrary to public policy or good morals, however,[6] and neither is a contract to render services to an alien not subject to compulsory military service, to secure exemption therefrom under the war-time Selective Service Act,[7] and, although there is authority to the con-

91. Petitions of Warrington, (Del Super.) 179 A 505

92. Grievance Committee v Ennis, 80 A 767, 84 Conn 594—6 C J. p 737 note 59.

Charges held not unreasonable or unconscionable.—Board of Improvement of Paving Improvement Dist No 28 v. Matheney, 76 S.W (2d) 81, 189 Ark. 957—Barber v Jetmore, 227 P 528, 111 Or 545—Hansel v Norblad, 151 P. 962, 78 Or 38—6 C J p 737 note 60 [a].

93. Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P 631, 112 Cal App 76.

Concealment of facts

Contract for attorneys' fees for services in obtaining higher mail rates for short line railroads was not ratified by the failure of railroads belonging to the association of short line railroads to object to the employment of attorneys promptly after receiving resolution of committee of association whereby attorneys were employed or until the attorneys had completed their work, where the attorneys, who were salaried officers of the association, purposely concealed material facts from member railroads, in violation of duty to exercise utmost good faith in imparting material facts to members.—East Tennessee & Western North Carolina Ry Co v Robinson, (Tenn App) 86 S W (3d) 433

94. U S.—Jenkins v Einstein, (C C Ill) 13 F Cas No 7,265, 3 Biss 128
Mo.—Reed v Mellor, 5 Mo App 567
Pa.—Mumma's Appeal, 18 A. 6, 127 Pa 474
6 C.J. p 737 note 61.

95. Cal.—Theisen v Keough, 1 P (2d) 1015, 115 Cal App 353
Mont.—Spaulding v Maillet, 188 P 377, 57 Mont 313
Utah.—Gillette v Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P. 776, 75 Utah 13
6 C J. p 737 note 63

Vitiation of whole contract

Although an attorney may in representing his client render services perfectly legal and proper, yet if such services are intermingled with others that tend to suppress legal investigations of crime, or to defeat the finding of an indictment by a grand jury, the contract for services as a whole is vitiated.—Bradley v Gilliam, (Tex Civ App) 260 S W. 289

96. Ludwig v Raydure, 157 N E 816, 25 Ohio App 293, certiorari denied 48 S Ct 84, 275 U S. 545, 72 L Ed 413.

97. Woodward v Prairie Oil & Gas Co, 243 P. 940, 116 Okl 166

But it has been held that a contract between an attorney and client for services, signed by the attorney in connection with a law student not licensed to practice, was not void.—St Louis Southwestern Ry. Co v. Terral, 11 S W (2d) 763, 178 Ark 475
Acting without license generally see supra § 165.

98. Steger v. Hume, 79 S.W 19, 97 Tex. 324, certified from 79 S W 19, 33 Tex Civ App 401

99. Gillette v. Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P 776, 75 Utah 13.

Inducing attorney to aid adversary

Where a hotel company was sued with the elevator manufacturer for injuries resulting from the fall of an elevator in the hotel, an employment contract, whereby the hotel company agreed to pay its attorney ten per cent of all moneys paid on judgments or compromises by the elevator company to hotel guests injured in the elevator accident, without regard to whether the hotel company recovered anything from the elevator company or vice versa, is void, as against public policy, especially in view of the possibility, expressed by the attorney, that hotel company might ultimately have to pay judgments against the elevator company.—Gillette v. Newhouse Realty Co, 282 P 776, 75 Utah 13

1. McBratney v Chandler, 22 Kan 693, 31 Am R 213—6 C J p 737 note 64

2. Treat v. Jones, 23 Conn 334—6 C J. p 738 note 65

3. Colo.—Mulligan v. Smith, 76 P 1033, 33 Colo 404.
Tenn.—Newman v. Davenport, 9 Baxt 538
6 C J p 738 note 66.

4. Delahunty v Canfield, 103 N Y S 939, 118 App Div. 883—6 C J p 738 note 67

5. Dunn v Bradley, 7 Ky Op 282—Dunn v. Bradley, 6 Ky Op. 241

6. Fitzgerald v. Eisenhauer, 206 P. 685, 62 Mont. 582.

7. Spaulding v. Lambros, 193 P. 565, 58 Mont. 536.

trary,[8] an agreement between an attorney and a private person to pay the attorney for assisting the district attorney in matters pertaining to the prosecution of a criminal case is not illegal.[9] A contract for legal services in connection with a sale and exchange of property to a school board is valid, although part of services performed by the attorney was in endeavoring to secure the exchange.[10]

Prosecuting claims against government. An attorney may lawfully contract to render services in prosecuting for a client a claim against the government before a commission authorized by statute to pass on such claims, or pending in one of the executive departments of the government, for claimants in such cases have as much right to the benefit of legal counsel as in cases pending before ordinary courts.[11] Where the attorney is disqualified by statute, however, to prosecute the claim, he may not recover for services rendered under such a contract.[12]

b. Contracts Made after Relation Established

Contracts made during the existence of the relation, although closely scrutinized, will be enforced in the absence of fraud or overreaching Contracts for additional compensation are ordinarily enforceable only if made without fraud and supported by a valuable consideration An attorney employed for a fixed salary may contract for a special fee in a special case. An attorney employed in one matter may make a contract for services in other matters. Contracts made after the relationship has terminated are enforceable like other contracts.

An attorney is not prohibited from contracting with his client respecting his fees,[13] and a contract thus made after the commencement of the relation of attorney and client is not per se void,[14] but it will, by reason of the confidential nature of the relation, be closely scrutinized by the courts.[15] Such contracts are often declared to be voidable when they would be deemed unobjectionable between parties not sustaining the relation of attorney and client,[16] but the question whether a particular contract is void depends in each instance on the facts of the case.[17]

No undue advantage can be taken of the relationship of attorney and client in order to procure

8. Rock v. Ekern, 156 N W 197, 162 Wis 291, L R A 1916D 459.

Acquiescence of all parties

A contract with the complaining witness in a prosecution whereby an attorney agreed to assist the district attorney therein was void as against public policy, and the attorney could not recover for services rendered thereunder on preliminary examination of the accused, although the court, district attorney, and accused acquiesced —Rock v. Ekern, 156 N. W. 197, 162 Wis. 291, L R A 1916D 459

9. Willett v. Schiff, 203 N Y S. 900, 208 App Div 616.

Subsequent official appointment

A contract employing an attorney to assist in a prosecution was not void because the attorney was thereafter appointed deputy prosecutor in the case involved —Ramey v Lafayette Loan & Trust Co, 172 N E 128, 92 Ind App 344

10. Rumbaugh v. Morriss, (Tex Civ App) 264 S W. 198

11. Taylor v. Bemiss, (D C) 110 U. S 42, 3 S Ct. 441, 28 L Ed 64— Stanton v. Embry, (D C) 93 U S 548, 23 L Ed 983—Wright v. Tebbitts, (D.C.) 91 U S. 252, 23 L Ed 320.

12. Ludwig v. Raydure, 157 N E 816, 25 Ohio App. 293, certiorari denied 48 S Ct. 84, 275 U S 545, 72 L Ed 418

Former employee of department

Under 5 U S C.A. §§ 99, 261 (U.S. Comp St. §§ 272, 385), authorizing the secretary of treasury to require attorneys representing claimants before the department to show their competency, and making it unlawful for an officer or employee of the department within two years after terminating employment to aid in the prosecution of a claim, plaintiffs, employed to formulate a plan acceptable to the internal revenue department by which to measure the depletion of oil wells, who were not enrolled as attorneys in the treasury department at the time of entering into the contract, and who were within two years prior to the employment in the employ of the internal revenue department as agents, inspectors, or clerks, are not entitled to recover for services rendered — Ludwig v Raydure, 157 N E 816, 25 Ohio App 293, certiorari denied 48 S Ct 84, 275 U S 545, 72 L Ed 418.

13. Ky —Chreste v. Louisville Ry Co, 190 S W 49, 167 Ky. 75, L R A. 1917B 1123

Or —Kirchoff v Bernstein, 181 P. 746, 92 Or 378.

14. U S —Ridge v. Healy, (Mo) 251 F 798, 164 C C A 32

Cal —Preston v. Hermínghaus, 292 P 953, 211 Cal. 1—Thornley v Jones, 274 P. 93, 96 Cal App 219

Okl —Spaulding v. Beidleman, 160 P 1120, 60 Okl 183.

S D —McFarland v. Hiltsley, 166 N W. 141, 39 S D 618

Tex —Cooley v. Buie, (Com App) 291 S W 876, reversing (Civ App) 284 S.W 702.

6 C.J. p 735 note 39.

Consideration

Contract of woman seeking divorce from her husband, to pay attorney's fees in return for services, made after the wife had called in the attorney and he had tried to settle the differences between husband and wife, was supported by a consideration —Boyles v. Leonardo, 224 P. 115, 65 Cal App 315.

15. U S —Ridge v. Healy, (Mo) 251 F. 798, 164 C C A. 32.

Fla —F. L. Stitt & Co. v. Powell, 114 So 375, 94 Fla. 550.

Ky.—Chreste v. Louisville Ry. Co, 190 S.W. 49, 167 Ky. 75, L R A 1917B 1123.

Nev —Moore v. Rochester Weaver Mining Co., 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev. 164, 19 A L R 830.

N Y —Petition of Raymond, 212 N Y S 577, 214 App Div. 622, motion granted In re Raymond, 153 N.E 415, 242 N.Y. 534

Okl —Spaulding v. Beidleman, 160 P 1120, 60 Okl 183.

Or —Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 181 P 746, 92 Or. 378.

Tex —Laybourn v Dray & Shifflet, (Civ App) 214 S.W 630, error refused.

W Va —Vance v. Ellison, 85 S E 776, 76 W Va. 592.

16. Chreste v. Louisville Ry Co, 190 S W 49, 167 Ky. 75, L R.A 1917B 1123

17. McFarland v Hiltsley, 166 N.W. 141, 39 S D. 618

Right to retain part of fund

Written consent of client to retention by attorney of one thousand eight hundred dollars for services and expenses out of three thousand five hundred dollars received in compromise of claim in condemnation proceeding did not bind the client — Ryder v. Warren, (Mass) 3 N E (2d) 231.

such a contract;[18] but where the parties are free to contract, their agreement should not be set aside or the agreed compensation withheld unless fraud has been perpetrated, undue influence exerted, material facts affecting the subject matter misrepresented or suppressed, or advantage taken of a position of confidence and trust to obtain an unconscionable advantage over the party,[19] in which case a court of equity may grant relief from such oppression,[20] and the attorney will be confined to a reasonable charge for compensation without regard to the attempted fixation of the value of his services;[21] the same principles apply here as in other classes of contracts between attorney and client, although they are enforced with a less degree of strictness.[22]

Contracts for additional compensation. The rule holding a person in a fiduciary capacity to the strictest accountability applies to agreements for increased compensation after the confidential relationship is commenced;[23] and although it has been held that a contract of employment between attorney and client is not invalidated by the mere fact that the amount which the attorney was to receive was increased by agreement after partial performance by the attorney,[24] where no additional services by the attorney are contemplated, such an agreement is, in the absence of peculiar facts, ordinarily held without consideration and invalid,[25] especially where 18. Rodkinson v. Haecker, 162 N.E. 493, 248 N.Y. 480, affirming Marks v. Haecker, 227 N.Y.S. 849, 223 App.Div. 710.

19. Cal.—McNeal v. Foreman, 3 P.(2d) 583, 117 Cal.App. 155—In re Mallory's Estate, 278 P. 488, 99 Cal.App. 96—Boyles v. Leonardo, 224 P. 115, 65 Cal.App. 315—Countryman v. California Trona Co., 170 P. 1069, 35 Cal.App. 728.
Ill.—Comerford v. Loewenbein, 227 Ill.App. 321.
La.—McElrath v. Dupuy, 2 La.Ann. 520.
N.Y.—Rodkinson v. Haecker, 162 N.E. 493, 248 N.Y. 480, affirming Marks v. Haecker, 227 N.Y.S. 849, 223 App.Div. 710.
Okl.—Spaulding v. Beidleman, 160 P. 1120, 60 Okl. 183.
Or.—Kirchoff v. Bernstein, 131 P. 746, 92 Or. 378—Hansel v. Norblad, 151 P. 962, 78 Or. 38.
Tex.—Cooley v. Buie, (Com.App.) 291 S.W. 876, reversing (Civ.App.) 284 S.W. 702—Laybourn v. Bray & Shifflet, (Civ.App.) 214 S.W. 630, error refused.
Wash.—Albert v. Munter, 239 P. 210, 136 Wash. 164.
6 C.J. p. 736 note 40.

"The rule that, where the relation of attorney and client already exists, when a contract is made concerning attorney's fees, the attorney is precluded from recovering more than a reasonable sum without regard to the attempted fixation of the value of such services by the agreement, is applicable only in special cases, as where special relations of confidence exist or where the client had no other independent adviser, or where the attorney failed to make full disclosure or secured assurance of compensation greater than was previously agreed upon.—Countryman v. California Trona Co., 170 P. 1069, 35 Cal.App. 728, In re Estate of Mallory, 278 P. 488, 99 Cal.App. 96."—McNeal v. Foreman, 3 P.(2d) 583, 584, 117 Cal.App. 155.

Merger of contracts

A valid contract to issue fully paid-up stock as compensation for legal services cannot be avoided by a prior agreement, since anything taking place prior would be merged into or changed by the subsequent contract.—Dissette v. W. J. Cutler Co., 163 N.E. 53, 29 Ohio App. 88.

Failure to read contract

A valid contract to issue fully paid-up stock as compensation for legal services cannot be avoided by a plea that, although the president of the company signed the contract, he was unaware of its contents, because an able business man cannot evade his responsibility by saying that he did not read a contract which he signed.—Dissette v. W. J. Cutler Co., 163 N.E. 53, 29 Ohio App. 88.

Coercion by one attorney unknown to another attorney of the client was held not to affect the latter attorney's rights under the contract.—Lombard v. Lufkin, 179 N.E. 632, 278 Mass. 263.

20. Woodcock v. Barrick, 91 S.E. 396, 79 W.Va. 449—6 C.J. p. 736 note 41.

21. N.C.—Stern & Swift v. Hyman Bros., 109 S.E. 79, 182 N.C. 422, 19 A.L.R. 844.
Okl.—Haunstein v. McCalister, 46 P.(2d) 552.
6 C.J. p. 736 note 41.

22. Cooley v. Buie, (Tex.Com.App.) 291 S.W. 876, reversing (Civ.App.) 284 S.W. 702—6 C.J. p. 736 note 42.

23. Ark.—Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161.
Fla.—F. L. Stitt & Co. v. Powell, 114 So. 375, 94 Fla. 550.
Idaho.—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190.
6 C.J. p. 737 note 49.

Failure to advise of rights

Where an attorney was retained and paid a fee to appear at a preliminary trial in a criminal case, and, while the relation of attorney and client existed after preliminary trial, a contract was entered into for further compensation for services to be rendered in the case, such contract was absolutely void, where the attorney did not advise the client of his rights in relation to contracting with one already his attorney.—Ritz v. Carpenter, 178 N.W. 877, 43 S.D. 236, 19 A.L.R. 840.

24. Minn.—Anker v. Chicago Great Western Ry. Co., 174 N.W. 841, 144 Minn. 216.
Nev.—Moore v. Rochester Weaver Mining Co., 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev. 164, 19 A.L.R. 830.
N.D.—Moran v. Simpson, 178 N.W. 769, 42 N.D. 575.

25. Ark.—Norfleet v. Stewart, 20 S.W.(2d) 868, 180 Ark. 161.
Fla.—F. L. Stitt & Co. v. Powell, 114 So. 375, 94 Fla. 550.
Neb.—Thurston v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 258 N.W. 66, 128 Neb. 141.
N.Y.—Petition of Raymond, 212 N.Y.S. 577, 214 App.Div. 622, motion granted In re Raymond, 152 N.E. 415, 242 N.Y. 534.
N.C.—Stern & Swift v. Hyman Bros., 109 S.E. 79, 182 N.C. 422, 19 A.L.R. 844.
Or.—Muir v. Morris, 154 P. 117, 80 Or. 378, rehearing denied 157 P. 785, 80 Or. 378.
Tex.—Coon v. Ewing, (Civ.App.) 275 S.W. 481.
6 C.J. p. 737 note 50.

Peculiar facts justifying agreement

Attorney misled and induced to accept stated fee by representation, recklessly made without knowledge of facts, or mistakenly made as opinion, by client's leading attorney, that there was no real controversy over the fact that a much greater part of the value claimed by plaintiffs in the action against client to try title to oil land and recover the value of oil extracted therefrom was in adjoining survey, is entitled to recover additional compensation for assisting in the defense, under a contract made on the eve of trial, if reasonable, just, and fair to the client, no undue advantage was taken of him, and he was fully advised by an attempt is made to cover an expense account, including fictitious items.[26] To uphold such an agreement the best of reasons are required,[27] and in a proper case a court of equity will interfere to prevent the enforcement of the contract.[28]

A contract may be abrogated by mutual consent while the employment continues, and a new contract may be made whereby the rights, duties, and obligations of the parties are mutually changed, and the rights of the parties are controlled thereby if the new contract is supported by a valuable consideration[29] and there is no fraud perpetrated or undue influence exercised by the attorney;[30] but unless new duties are assumed by the counsel, and the client secures additional advantages and fully understands his rights under the original agreement as well as under the new contract, it is not binding upon him.[31] The rule requiring close scrutiny does not apply, however, where the attorney contracting for additional compensation is not dealing with the client but with another attorney of the client having no personal interest in the increased compensation.[32]

After a contract for extra services has been executed and the services rendered, the contract will stand according to its terms whether supported by a consideration or not.[33]

Effect of statutory provisions. In some states statutes have been passed especially authorizing contracts between a client and his attorney as to fees; and under these statutes the contract will be upheld when it appears to be fair and honest.[34] Such statutes are held to confer upon the parties the right to change the terms of an existing contract by mutual agreement or to abrogate the contract entirely and make a new one,[35] and if the modification be free from fraud or unfairness it is not void and the courts are bound to respect it.[36] In view of the fiduciary relation between the parties, however, a court of equity may inquire into the good faith of a written agreement between them for compensation, notwithstanding such a statute;[37] but the amount contracted for will not be reviewed by the court unless it is so excessive as to evince a purpose on the part of the attorney to obtain an the leading attorney and fully understood his rights in making it, although the jury found that the leading attorney did not make such false representation as a fact—Coon v Ewing, (Tex Civ App) 275 S W 481

26. Maires' Case, 7 Pa Dist 297

27. Moore v. Rochester Weaver Mining Co, 174 P. 1017, 42 Nev 164, 19 A L R 830

28. Vance v. Ellison, 85 S.E. 776, 76 W.Va 592

29. S D—McFarland v. Hiltsley, 166 N W 141, 39 S D 618
Tex—Cooley v. Buie, (Com App) 291 S W 876, reversing (Civ App) 284 S W 702

Services not originally contemplated

(1) Reasonable, just, and fair agreement, understandingly made by client, with advice and consent of his leading attorney, to pay additional compensation for services of another attorney theretofore employed to assist in defense of the suit, involving difficulties and burdens much greater and more onerous than contemplated at time of original contract of employment, is supported by sufficient legal consideration—Coon v. Ewing, (Tex Civ.App) 275 S.W. 481

(2) Where agreement between attorneys and husband in divorce action contemplated only nominal services, subsequent agreement between husband's father and attorneys on discovering new facts requiring additional services, providing for additional compensation and father's becoming primarily liable, held supported by valid consideration—Lee v. Gump, (Cal.App) 58 P (2d) 941.

Changing basis of computation

Where attorneys agreed on a sum certain in a divorce action, and such other allowances as the court should allow, and prior to trial returned what had been paid and agreed to take a sum contingent on the amount obtained in a property settlement, such agreement was not an alteration of the old contract, but was entered into after a mutual abandonment of the old, and is supported by a valuable consideration because if a property settlement is entered into, there are no more allowances allowed by the court—McFarland v Hiltsley, 166 N W 141, 39 S D 618

30. Coon v Ewing, (Tex Civ App) 275 S W 481—Laybourn v Bray & Shifflet, (Tex Civ App) 214 S W 630, error refused.

Expressions of opinions by attorneys as to probability of judgment secured by them being reversed on appeal, even if mistaken, are not ordinarily such false representations as will entitle the client to avoid for fraud a contract for increased compensation based thereon—Laybourne v Bray & Shifflett, (Tex Civ App) 190 S W. 1159

31. Cooley v. Buie, (Tex Com App) 291 S W. 876, reversing (Civ.App.) 284 S W. 702—6 C J. p 737 note 52.

Assuming new duties

Where a written agreement between attorney and client provided for a fee contingent upon the outcome of the action, but contained no provision that he should prosecute an appeal, a further oral agreement to prosecute the appeal on the basis of quantum meruit, was valid—In re Wise, 158 N.Y S 793, 172 App Div. 491.

32. Boyle v. Waters, 173 N.W. 519, 206 Mich. 515

33. Gorrell v. Payson, 48 N E. 433, 170 Ill 213, reversing on other grounds 68 Ill App 641

34. De Yulio v. Brownell, 215 P. 576, 107 Or 651—6 C J. p 736 note 45

35. Mich—Eriksson v. Boyum, 184 N.W 961, 150 Minn. 192.
N.D—Moran v Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N D 575.

36. Eriksson v Boyum, 184 N.W. 961, 150 Minn. 192

Amount of compensation and determination

A contract between attorney and client entered into during the existence of the relation, changing a prior agreement for attorney's compensation at a stipulated amount to one for reasonable value of services rendered, is not void, in the absence of fraud; nor is a stipulation in the contract to submit the question of the value of the attorney's services to the court at the conclusion of the action which the attorney was retained to bring for the client—Eriksson v. Boyum, 184 N W. 961, 150 Minn 192.

37. Ransom v. Ransom, 133 N Y S. 173, 147 App Div 835, reversing 127 N.Y.S. 1027, 70 Misc. 30.

undue advantage of the client.[38]

Employment in other matters. Employment in one suit does not deprive an attorney, while it is pending, of the right to make a contract for compensation for services in another, or for any other professional business with the same client.[39] It is proper for an attorney to contract with a corporation for a special fee in a special case, although he is employed by the same corporation for a fixed salary.[40]

After the relationship has terminated, the parties deal at arm's length[41] and the client is liable on any agreement as to compensation which may then be made by the parties;[42] nor will equity interfere with any valid agreements made after the litigation is over and the relation is at an end.[43]

§ 182. —— Construction and Operation

a. Construction in general
b. Operation and effect
c. What law governs

a. Construction in General

General rules apply in construing contracts for compensation of an attorney.

The construction of special contracts between attorneys and their clients as to compensation is to be governed by the usual rules relating to the construction of agreements generally, regard always being had to the character of the relation between the parties,[44] and the context of the agreement and the surrounding facts and circumstances may be considered in determining the meaning of terms used

38. In re Fitzsimons, 66 N.E. 554, 174 N.Y. 15, 23—6 C.J. p. 736 note 48

39. Kidd v. Williams, 31 So. 458, 132 Ala. 140, 56 L.R.A. 879—Lecatt v. Sallee, 3 Port. (Ala.) 115, 29 Am. D. 249

Defending claim of illegitimate offspring

Attorney who after agreeing to act without pay for executors of the succession of his deceased brother-in-law informed executors that he could not represent them in defense of claim against estate by alleged legitimate offspring of deceased, without fee, held entitled to fee on quantum meruit basis for services rendered estate in defeating such claim—Succession of Marinoni, 169 So. 562, 185 La. 527.

Suit between same parties

Where suit which attorney had agreed to prosecute for his client who was plaintiff therein was abandoned by mutual agreement, the attorney was not required to defend the client in an action brought against him by the adverse party, and a contract to so do for a stipulated fee was based on a good consideration—Laybourn v. Bray & Shifflet, (Tex.Civ.App.) 214 S.W. 630, error refused

40. Bartlett v. Odd Fellows' Sav. Bank, 21 P. 743, 79 Cal. 218, 12 Am.S.R. 139

41. Bonelli v. Conrad, 37 P.(2d) 137, 1 Cal.App.(2d) 660

42. Dennis v. Cowan, 292 P. 659, 109 Cal.App. 248

After settlement of litigation

Agreement of attorneys with client for whom attorneys had been working under contract on contingent basis, made after settlement of litigation instituted by the attorneys, which brought forward and restated the original agreement of the parties and contained additional provisions was held sufficiently supported by consideration, under the facts.—Hynd v. Sandler, (Tex.Civ.App.) 95 S.W.(2d) 165, error dismissed

Discharge by client

Client discharging attorney was liable on an agreement entered into at such time to pay for services rendered in lieu of compensation under original employment—Dennis v. Cowan, 292 P. 659, 109 Cal.App. 248

Reinstatement of contract

Where one of the attorneys who entered upon a contract of employment for a specified fee withdrew from the agreement, it was competent for the parties to reinstate the contract, and, having done so, it again became obligatory upon all the parties—Roche v. Madar, 175 P. 314, 104 Wash. 21, affirmed 181 P. 857, 104 Wash. 21.

43. Ellis v. Poindexter, 137 S.E. 595, 193 N.C. 565—6 C.J. p. 736 note 43.

44. U.S.—Maynard v. Reynolds, (Mo.) 251 F. 784, 164 C.C.A. 18, certiorari denied 39 S.Ct. 19, 248 U.S. 578, 63 L.Ed. 429
Cal.—Tracy v. Ringole, 262 P. 73, 87 Cal.App. 549
Idaho—Federal Land Bank of Spokane v. Elliott, 281 P. 378, 48 Idaho 263
Ill.—Lyon v. Oliver, 227 Ill.App. 511, reversed on other grounds 147 N.E. 251, 316 Ill. 292
Or.—Dunlway v. Hadley, 178 P. 942, 91 Or. 343
6 C.J. p. 738 note 76

Particular provisions construed

(1) Agreement by a bank to pay plaintiff attorney's fees for foreclosure against a third party, if the bank collected the full amount on foreclosure—People's Sav. Bank v. Marrs, (Tex.Civ.App.) 206 S.W. 347.

(2) Agreement to pay attorney's expenses in recovering client's separate estate and dower and alimony—Hoskins v. Adkins, 41 S.W.(2d) 753, 184 Ark. 124

(3) Provision for payment of attorney on date action was "settled"—Setzer v. Moore, 260 P. 550, 202 Cal. 333, 55 A.L.R. 423.

(4) Provision that consultant counsel's name should appear of record and on the brief—McGovern v. Hitt, 62 App.D.C. 33, 64 F.(2d) 156, certiorari denied 54 S.Ct. 54, 290 U.S. 637, 78 L.Ed. 554.

(5) Contract of employment conveying land to attorneys for services "rendered and to be rendered" was held conveyance of present interest, not executory contract—Terry v. Baskin, (Tex.Civ.App.) 27 S.W.(2d) 857, reversed (Com.App.) 44 S.W.(2d) 929, 78 A.L.R. 1067, motion denied 46 S.W.(2d) 290, 78 A.L.R. 1067

(6) Recital in contract of employment conveying land to attorneys for services "rendered and to be rendered" was covenant, not condition, future breach being ground for only partial avoidance—Terry v. Baskin, supra.

(7) The words "perpetual right" in attorney's contract for compensation for securing permit from the department of the interior to flood certain acreage.—Crane v. Washington Water Power Co., 165 P. 892, 97 Wash. 7.

Term of employment

(1) Under letter to attorney stating he had been employed for year at annual salary specified, the attorney was employed by year—Poe v. Walker, 37 S.W.(2d) 866, 183 Ark. 659.

(2) A contract of "permanent" employment between oil company and attorneys, as long as the company operated in two states and the services of attorney were satisfactory, meant employment as long as which have not acquired a well defined meaning.[45] A subsequent contract, which embraces the entire subject matter of a prior one being the last act of the parties, will be presumed to contain and express the true meaning.[46]

While, in construing contracts between attorneys and clients concerning compensation in which there is any ambiguity, it is the general rule to adopt such construction as is most favorable to the client[47] and to resolve doubts against the attorney,[48] this the company should be in business in those states, if services were satisfactory.—Roxana Petroleum Co of Oklahoma v. Rice, 235 P. 502, 109 Okl. 161.

(3) The words "final completion," in a resolution appearing in the record book of a drainage district, "It was moved and seconded that S be retained as counsel for the drainage district until its final completion, including such litigation as may arise," referred to the district, and not to the drainage system, and the attorney was entitled to his compensation where he brought about the organization of the district and brought action to confirm the proceeding and obtained a decree to that effect.—San Luis Valley Drainage Dist No. 1 v. Stanley, 189 P. 855, 68 Colo. 393.

(4) Where a corporation employed an attorney to defend all actions against it for a specified retainer for each case and specified compensation for each day that he was actually engaged in trying cases, and for every appeal to the supreme court, the contract was to handle all litigation that might arise, and was not an individual contract as to each action, and since the original contract fixed no period of service, the corporation had the right to discharge the attorney at any time, and a resolution of the board of trustees of the corporation, which continued the employment of the attorney on all cases pending on or before a certain date, did not operate as a new contract, where the effect of the resolution was simply to continue the employment of the attorney under the terms fixed by the original contract.—Sachs v. Mutual Union Ins. Co., 218 P. 209, 126 Wash 313

Entire or divisible contract

(1) A contract of employment as attorney to render all legal advice to client, represent her in matters "now or hereafter" pending in state courts, and render all legal services reasonably required by her during four-year period for "retainer fee" of stated monthly sum and percentage of client's net earnings as actress, is an entire contract and not a divisible or apportionable one.—Lessing v. Gibbons, (Cal.App.) 45 P. (2d) 258.

(2) A contract whereby defendant agreed to pay plaintiff, as attorney at law, one thousand dollars for services rendered by him in the prosecution of an action, as authorized by a court order, on behalf of a minor who was defendant's brother, to determine a railway company's water rights on a certain ranch in which the minor and defendant each owned parcels of land, the contract reading, "I am interested with said minor in procuring a judgment determining the rights aforesaid," is an entire contract requiring full performance and a prosecution of the action to judgment by plaintiff.—Boardman v Christin, 224 P. 97, 65 Cal.App 413

Joint contract

Where a client originally employed one attorney, who with the client's consent employed another, but after decision to appeal from an unsatisfactory judgment, a new contract was made whereby the client agreed to pay the two attorneys five thousand dollars from the proceeds if judgment was obtained for the full amount sued for, and a pro rata fee if the judgment was cut down, the contract between the client and the two attorneys was a joint contract.—Lake v. Wilson, 35 S W (2d) 597, 183 Ark 180, Id., 38 S W (2d) 25, 183 Ark 180.

Severable contract

Under an agreement providing that each attorney employed was to receive a certain retainer and that on modification or reversal of a decree each was to be allowed reasonable compensation for his services, the rights of the attorneys employed were severable.—McGraw v Lake Tp., 253 N W 207, 266 Mich 38.

Right to fix amount

Where a letter from the attorney to the client with reference to a contract stipulates a basis upon which the contract is to be made and provides, "I shall be in conference in Washington next Tuesday and will straighten out the matter of fee to your entire satisfaction I am sure you will find me fair in the matter"—the quoted clause is not to be used alone but is to be construed with other parts of the correspondence, and the agreement arrived at from a consideration of the whole, and, so considered, the correspondence in this case does not authorize the client to whom the correspondence is addressed, alone to fix the amount of the fee.—Barry v. Gulfport Building & Loan Ass'n, 128 So 569, 158 Miss 163

Purported conveyance

Plaintiffs, attorneys, at Valdez, on January 12, 1911, agreed with defendants to act for them in pending litigation in consideration for 7½ per cent interest in certain mining claims Defendants agreed to deed to plaintiffs their interest as soon as the case was decided, "and in case the said parties of the first part are unable to or refuse to execute said deed as above, then and in that case this instrument shall be understood to be, and it is hereby agreed to be, a conveyance, and the said parties of the first part hereby give and grant unto the said parties of the second part, their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, the said undivided seven and one-half one-hundredths interest in and to the said above-described lode mining claims" Defendants failed and refused to perform, and on suit by plaintiffs, the agreement was held to be a contract for attorney's fees.—Donohoe v. Tjosevig, 6 Alaska 139.

45. Cal.—Setzer v. Moore, 260 P. 550, 202 Cal. 333, 55 A.L.R. 423
Mo.—Mecartney v. Guardian Trust Co., 202 S.W. 1131, 274 Mo. 224

46. Brown v. Curtis, 82 N.W. 945, 111 Iowa 542.

47. U.S.—Waugh v Q. & C. Co., (C.C.A.Ill.) 16 F.(2d) 363.
Cal.—Jackson v. Campbell, 8 P.(2d) 845, 215 Cal 103.—Miller v Wing, 50 P.(2d) 470, 9 Cal.App.(2d) 483.—Boardman v Christin, 224 P. 97, 65 Cal.App. 413.
Neb.—Falloon v Miles, 170 N.W. 191, 102 Neb. 343
N.Y.—Newcomb v. Whitehouse, 162 N.Y.S. 249
6 C.J. p. 739 note 77.

48. U.S.—Vans Agnew v Fort Myers Drainage Dist., (C.C.A.Fla.) 69 F.(2d) 244, certiorari denied 54 S.Ct. 776, 293 U.S. 643, 78 L.Ed. 1494
Cal.—Hollingsworth v. Lewis, 269 P. 709, 93 Cal.App. 526
N.Y.—In re Howell, 109 N.E. 572, 215 N.Y. 466, Ann.Cas.1917A 527, reversing 150 N.Y.S. 1090, 166 App.Div. 894.—Petition of Raymond, 212 N.Y.S. 577, 214 App.Div. 622 motion granted In re Raymond, 152 N.E. 415, 242 N.Y. 534.
6 C.J. p. 739 note 77 [a].

After establishment of relation

A contract for compensation of an attorney, made after the relation of attorney and client was established, will be construed most strongly against the attorney.—Ridge v. Healy, (Mo.) 251 F. 798, 164 C.C.A. 32.—Preston v. Herminghaus, 292 P. 963, 211 Cal. 1.

rule may not be invoked to perpetrate a palpable injustice[49] or to frustrate the obvious intent of the parties,[50] nor does it call for a construction of such contract beyond the express covenants of the parties.[51]

A contract providing that the compensation shall not exceed certain limits leaves the amount to be determined on a quantum meruit within such limits;[52] but a mere estimate of the lawyer as to what the amount his fee in a protracted litigation would be does not limit him to the amount named.[53]

Construction by parties. Where the parties to such a contract have placed a particular interpretation upon it, this will generally be adopted.[54]

b. Operation and Effect

(1) In general
(2) As to extra compensation

(1) In General

Both attorney and client are bound by a valid existing agreement fixing the amount of the attorney's compensation. Where the contract leaves the compensation to be fixed by the client or a third person, in the absence of bad faith no more than the amount fixed is recoverable.

An attorney is bound by his contracts exactly as any other person,[55] and, so long as he observes good faith, he will likewise be protected in his contractual rights.[56] Accordingly, where there is a valid agreement fixing the compensation, that alone fixes the rights of the parties and the rate of compensation which the attorney is entitled to receive for services rendered regardless of the value of such services,[57] the court is not concerned with the reasonableness of the fees,[58] the attorney in such case is entitled to recover the amount agreed on.[59] If the creditor and attorney agree in advance upon the attorney's fee, such, if not excessive, is the measure of fee chargeable against the debtor, notwithstanding the contract out of which the debt arose stipulated a specific amount as a reasonable attorney's fee, since such contract is one of indemnity merely, to protect the creditor against attorney's fees to amount stipulated.[60]

On the other hand, the attorney is limited to the amount stated in his contract,[61] even though he

49. Pinto v Seely, 135 P 43, 22 Cal App. 318—6 C J p 739 note 78

50. Preston v. Herminghaus, 292 P 953, 211 Cal. 1.

51. Pinto v. Seely, 135 P. 43, 22 Cal App. 318.

52. Russell v. Young, (Ohio) 94 F. 45, 36 C.C.A. 71—6 C.J. p 739 note 81.

53. Mecartney v Guardian Trust Co, 202 S.W. 1131, 274 Mo 224.

54. Colo.—Chase v. Collins, 225 P. 355, 75 Colo 156.
La.—Liverman v. Hungerbeeler, 100 So 425, 156 La. 279.
Minn.—O'Brien v Liberty Mining Co., 204 N.W. 625, 164 Minn 186.
Ohio—Trustees of Southern Ry. v. Porter, 12 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 353.
Okl.—Board of Education of Oklahoma City v. Thurman, 247 P. 996, 121 Okl 108.
6 C.J. p 739 note 80.

Receipts

Written receipts given by the attorney for client's payments, although not new contracts, are properly considered in determining the terms of a supplemental oral agreement as to time for payment.—Williams v Bevis, 278 P 193, 152 Wash. 469, followed in 279 P. 1119, 152 Wash. 701.

55. Alaska.—Grigsby v. Dickinson, 7 Alaska 457
Cal.—Preston v. Herminghaus, 292 P. 953, 211 Cal. 1.
Neb.—Thurston v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 258 N.W. 66, 128 Neb. 141.
Or.—Dunlway v. Hadley, 178 P. 942, 91 Or. 343.
Wash.—In re Sachs, 218 P. 209, 126 Wash. 343
6 C.J. p 738 note 72.

56. Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N.Y.S. 295, 91 Misc 473.

57. N.Y.—In re Carney, 158 N.Y.S. 585, 93 Misc 600.
Tex.—Saunders v. Gunn, (Civ App.) 1 S.W.(2d) 362.

Conclusiveness of agreement

Where one employs an attorney and makes an express valid contract, stipulating for the compensation which the attorney is to receive for his services, such contract is generally speaking conclusive as to the amount of such compensation.—Dolph v. Speckart, 186 P. 32, 94 Or. 550—White v Burch, (Tex.Civ.App.) 33 S.W.(2d) 512.

58. Iowa.—Ayers v. Brown, 196 N.W. 1002, 197 Iowa 1151
Ky.—Sharp v. Culton, 89 S.W.(2d) 869, 262 Ky 84
Mich.—Burnett v. King, 248 N.W. 540, 263 Mich. 33
S.D.—Wright v. Wright, 237 N.W. 896, 58 S.D. 612.

Agreement to offset claims

Where client agreed that claim for amount deposited with attorney would be offset by claim for attorney's fee, the client could not raise question whether the fee charged was exorbitant.—Thomas v. Armstrong, (La.App.) 146 So. 795.

59. N.J.—Creditors' Holding Co. v Perkins, 130 A. 279, 98 N.J.Eq. 11.
N.Y.—Friedman v. Mindlin, 155 N.Y.S. 295, 91 Misc. 473.

60. Hamilton v. Burgess, (Ala.) 170 So 348, reversing (App.) 170 So 346.

61. Ark.—Terral v. Poe, 79 S.W.(2d) 69, 190 Ark 346—Townsend v Water and Sewer Improvement Dist No 1 of Gurdon, 25 S.W.(2d) 755, 181 Ark 324.
Fla.—Baruch v. Giblin, 164 So 831
Idaho.—In re Burns, 40 P.(2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190
Ky.—Boyd County v. Cisco, 35 S.W.(2d) 849, 237 Ky. 534
La.—Bullis v Town of Jackson, (App.) 162 So. 82, setting aside 157 So 780
Neb.—Thurston v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 258 N.W. 66, 128 Neb 141.
Ohio.—Trustees of Southern Ry. v. Porter, 12 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 353.
S.D.—Wright v. Wright, 237 N.W. 896, 58 S.D. 612.
Tex.—Smith v. Thompson, (Civ.App.) 233 S.W. 876, reversed on other grounds Thompson v. Smith, (Com. App.) 248 S.W. 1070.
6 C.J. p 747 note 94.

Quantum meruit not recoverable

An attorney at law, who makes a contract with his client for a stipulated amount as his fee for attending to a litigation, cannot afterwards recover on a quantum meruit, but can only claim such sum as he is entitled to under the contract with the client.—Walker v. Bietry, 24 La.Ann. 349—Melin v Fritz, 243 N.W. 400, 186 Minn. 379.

agrees to act for an inadequate amount,[62] or for no fee at all,[63] unless such agreement is made under a mistake of fact,[64] or unless payment in accordance with the agreement is rendered impossible by an act of the client and a third person.[65]

Compensation to be fixed by client or third person. The parties are bound by a contract which leaves the right to fix the compensation to the client[66] or to a third person,[67] and while such provisions are held not to confer plenary power, but only the power to fix a reasonable fee in good faith,[68] in the absence of bad faith no more than the amount so fixed can be recovered.[69] Where the contract leaves the fee to the determination of the client, he must put a reasonable value on the services and must exercise his right at the completion of the services or at least when called upon to do so and on his failure to fix the amount, the attorney may recover the reasonable value of the services.[70] A statement while making payment that it was subject to settlement of any differences in regard to the fees is not a surrender of the right to make the final decision in the matters.[71]

Superseded contract. A contract superseded by a subsequent contract covering the same subject matter is no longer binding on the parties.[72]

Voidable agreements. The parties are not bound by the amount stipulated as attorney's fees in a voidable contract.[73]

Allowance paid by adverse party. An attorney's contract of employment, limiting him to a certain sum to be paid proportionately by his clients, does not prohibit him from receiving in addition, in conformity with an understanding between attorney and clients, the allowance made in litigation which is paid by the adverse party.[74]

(2) As to Extra Compensation

The right to extra compensation may be controlled by the agreement. No extra compensation is ordinarily recoverable for services incidental to the proper conduct of the specific legal matters intrusted to the attorney. While an attorney may be entitled to extra compensation for services not contemplated as probable or necessary at the time of making the agreement, in doubtful cases such services are usually held within the contract

Whether an attorney may charge any extra compensation for his services is dependent upon the fact as to whether or not the agreement measured the whole amount, for the whole service, that he was entitled to receive.[75]

Incidental services. An agreement by which an at-

62. Idaho—In re Burns, 40 P (2d) 105, 55 Idaho 190
Neb—Thurston v Travelers' Ins. Co, 258 N W 66, 128 Neb 141
6 C J p 738 note 73

63. Nance v Pace, (N C) 179 S E 890—6 C J. p 738 note 74.

64. Pickett v Gore, (Tenn Ch App) 58 S W. 402—6 C J p 738 note 75

65. Union Central Life Ins Co v. Wilson, 161 S E 237, 157 Va. 454

Payment out of proceeds of sale

Where the attorney and client contemplate that the attorney's fees shall be paid out of the proceeds of a sale, but the client and a third person render that impossible by abandoning the sale, the client is liable for the reasonable value of the services rendered by the attorney—Union Central Life Ins Co. v. Wilson, 161 S E 237, 157 Va 454

66. Pattison v Chicago & Northwestern Ry Co, 254 Ill.App. 398—6 C J p 739 note 82

67. Fitzgerald v Ehsenhauer, 206 P. 685, 62 Mont. 582

Comptroller of the currency

An agreement that the decision of the comptroller of the currency would be final regarding fees of attorney employed by national bank receiver is binding upon the attorney in the absence of fraud or bad faith. —Crichlow v Doepke, (C C.A Fla.) 56 F.(2d) 599

Court

Where attorney agreed to render services to client for compensation to be fixed by the court in a case in which services were rendered, the attorney was bound by amount fixed by court in that case, even though the amount so fixed was inadequate. —Thurston v Travelers' Ins Co, 258 N W 66, 128 Neb 141.

68. Foster v. Young, 156 P. 476, 172 Cal 317.

69. U S—Crichlow v Doepke, (C.C. A Fla) 56 F (2d) 599
Ill—Pattison v Chicago & Northwestern Ry Co, 254 Ill App 398.
Neb.—Thurston v Travelers' Ins. Co, 258 N W. 66, 128 Neb. 141.
Ohio—Trustees of Southern Ry v. Porter, 12 Ohio N P (N S) 353.
6 C J p 739 note 82.

70. Nave v. Taugher, 193 P. 508, 49 Cal App 308

71. Crichlow v. Doepke, (C C A.Fla) 56 F (2d) 599.

72. Woodward v. Prairie Oil & Gas Co, 243 P 940, 116 Okl. 166.

Settlement agreement

Where a settlement agreement provided that in the absence of a written contract therefor, the attorney should render no further services, except in specified matters then pending, the attorney could not recover for services in matter then pending, but not specified in the contract, on the ground of inadvertent omission, where the parties thereafter attempted to agree on the contract for such matter, but were unable to do so—John Griffiths & Son Co. v. U. S, (C. C A Ill) 72 F (2d) 466

73. Bruce's Ex'x v. Bibb's Ex'x, 105 S E 570, 129 Va 45

Bond for fees, excessive

Where in an action by a client's executrix against an attorney's executrix to set aside a bond which must be held voidable because in excess of the reasonable value of attorney's services shown, equity and good conscience require that the attorney's estate should have a substantial recovery for retainer and services, the court may make such allowance—Bruce's Ex'x v Bibb's Ex'x, 105 S E 570, 129 Va. 45.

74. Matter of Shanley, 107 N Y S. 913, 57 Misc. 8, modified on other grounds 109 N Y.S 434, 124 App. Div 935

75. Matter of Martin, 77 N Y S 193, 73 App Div. 505.

Agreement to draw all documents

Work of preparing assessment roll and other documents, for drainage district and necessary advice, comes within the attorney's agreement to draw all documents for stipulated salary, precluding recovery of additional compensation, and although the contract provided for extra compensation to be paid for court work, the attorney is not entitled to such extra compensation for drawing amended or supplemental rolls to torney undertakes, for a specific compensation, to conduct the prosecution or defense of a case or other matter intrusted to him contemplates that the amount fixed is to cover compensation for all services which are ordinarily or necessarily incidental to the proper conduct of such case, and the attorney cannot recover extra compensation for the performance of any such services[76] Within this rule, a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence is a statutory remedy, which the attorney may reasonably contemplate in contracting, for a specific fee, to protect the interests of his client in a pending litigation.[77]

Unexpected services. Where an attorney agrees to do a certain piece of work for a stated fee, he is bound by that fee, notwithstanding the amount of work may be greater than was anticipated.[78]

Services not within original agreement. Where an attorney renders services clearly not contemplated as probable or necessary at the time of making the agreement, but made necessary by subsequent unexpected and unusual developments in the progress of the cause, he is entitled to extra compensation on the ground that the original agreement did not cover the services performed[79] Consistently with the general rules of construction, however, the courts are unwilling to find that services were not included in the contract,[80] and in doubtful cases will usually decide the point against the attorney,[81] particularly where the client did not request the services or understand that they were outside the contract.[82]

On the question of whether the particular services, for which extra compensation is asked, were or were not contemplated by the original agreement, it is held that ordinarily the prosecution of an action includes the commencement thereof as well as the pursuit of the remedy thereafter,[83] although it may refer to proceedings after the suit has been begun[84] So an agreement to defend a suit has been held to include comply with rulings of court—Neal v Drainage Dist No 2 of Ada County, 248 P. 22, 42 Idaho 624.

76. Trustees of Southern Ry. v. Porter, 12 Ohio N P.(N S) 353—6 C J. p 739 note 86.

"Necessary litigation"

Where an attorney employed by the executor of an estate in litigation pending to recover property which the deceased had transferred shortly before his death advised that recovery could be had in a creditor's suit, and it was begun and prosecuted to a successful determination, the attorney's agreement that a stipulated fee should cover "the necessary litigation" in the superior court of the county included litigation not then pending and as well a creditors' suit, which was necessary to recover the property—In re Prather's Estate, 191 P 521, 183 Cal. 314.

Retainer construed to require plaintiffs' attorneys to render services in taking depositions necessitated by defendant's counterclaim—Woodbury v Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A.N Y) 61 F (2d) 736, certiorari denied Berenson v. Woodbury, 53 S Ct. 659, 289 U S 740, 77 L Ed. 1487.

77. Falloon v. Miles, 170 N W. 191, 102 Neb 843.

78. U S—Woodbury v. Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N Y) 61 F.(2d) 736, certiorari denied Berenson v Woodbury, 53 S Ct. 659, 289 U S 740, 77 L Ed 1487.

Ohio—Trustees of Southern Ry v. Porter, 12 Ohio N P (N S.) 353.

6 C J p 739 note 87.

Subsequent law requiring work

A supplemental assessment roll for a drainage district, provided for by legislation subsequent to attorney's contract to prepare legal documents for stipulated salary, comes within such agreement and he is not entitled to extra compensation for services in preparing such roll—Neal v Drainage Dist No 2 of Ada County, 248 P 22, 42 Idaho 624

79. Colo—Ownbey v Silverstein, 194 P. 607, 69 Colo 325

La—C T Patterson Co. v. Porte Barre Lumber Co., 66 So. 418, 136 La 60

Or—Dunway v. Hadley, 178 P. 942, 91 Or. 343

Tex—Cooley v. Buie, (Com App.) 291 S W. 876, reversing (Civ App) 284 S W. 702.

6 C J p 739 note 88

"The jealous regard that the law rightfully exercises in protecting the interest of the client in his dealings with his attorney should not be allowed to operate so far as to work a rank injustice to the attorney in matters where it is apparent there could have been no possible design on the attorney's part to overreach his client in entering into the contract."—Isham v. Parker, 29 P. 835, 839, 3 Wash 755.

Services not contemplated

(1) A contract employing attorneys to defend the interests of a county before a city council and its committee, in proceedings to annex territory to the city, did not cover services in procuring the passage, by the general assembly, of an act amending the annexation laws—Campbell County v. Howard, 112 S E 876, 133 Va. 19.

(2) The fact that plaintiffs, a broker and an attorney, were to receive specified payments out of the sale of certain property was not inconsistent with their claim for special services rendered as to the property at the express request of defendant, who was interested in the sale, where plaintiffs were not parties to the contract as to the disposition of the proceeds of the sale, nor interested in the profits, but were merely beneficiaries to the extent of receiving money acknowledged to be due them, together with a commission on the sale of the property, and a charge by them for extra compensation for services rendered in procuring from an electric light company the payment of four thousand dollars for the right to erect a pole line on property for the sale of which they were to receive a commission was proper if agreed on, the services not being in any manner connected with the sale—Cochran v. Stevenson, 113 A. 65, 270 Pa. 125.

80. Trustees of Southern Ry. v. Porter, 12 Ohio N P (N.S) 353—6 C J p 740 note 89

Salaried attorney

An attorney employed by a corporation at a salary will not be allowed extra compensation for extraordinary services coming within the line of his duty—Trustees of Southern Ry. v Porter, 12 Ohio N P (N S) 353—6 C J. p 740 note 89 [a] (1).

81. Trustees of Southern Ry v. Porter, supra—6 C.J p 740 note 90.

82. Gabrielson v. Gorin, 159 P. 387, 92 Wash 408

83. Clinton v Heagney, 55 N.E 894, 175 Mass. 134.

84. Iowa.—Cheshire v. Des Moines City R. Co., 133 N.W. 324, 153 Iowa 88.

N J—Buecker v. Carr, 47 A. 34, 60 N.J.Eq 300.

the filing of a counterclaim[85] or cross petition[86] and the preparation for trial.[87]

An agreement for a stipulated fee for the trial of a case contemplates the conduct of a hearing on a cross petition after dismissal of the petition in the case,[88] and an agreement to render services in any suit involving distribution of trust funds contemplates proceedings for final accounting as well as actions;[89] but there is no rule that a general employment for an agreed sum continues till the final disposition of the case in the court of last resort,[90] and an agreement to attend to cases during the balance of the year does not oblige the attorney to attend to business uncompleted at the end of that time.[91]

Services in another matter. Under a contract by which one undertakes to pay to an attorney a certain sum for professional services rendered in a particular matter, such attorney is not entitled to recover for services rendered by him to the same person in another and entirely different matter, the recovery in such case being upon the quantum meruit.[92] So a contract for services in a civil action does not include services rendered in criminal proceedings, although the former is dependent upon the result of the latter.[93]

c. What Law Governs

Contract provisions as to charges are governed by the law of the place where the contract was made or to be performed.

As to the charges for services, a contract between an attorney and client is governed not by the law of the place where enforcement thereof is sought but by the law of the place where it was made[94] or where it was to be performed.[95]

§ 183. —— Performance

a. In general
b Impossibility of performance

a. In General

An attorney who has fully performed his contract is entitled to the stipulated fee notwithstanding acts or omissions of the attorney, client, or third persons not affecting the character or quality of the attorney's performance. Unexcused nonperformance or breach of his contract by an attorney defeats his right to compensation. The contract itself and all the surrounding facts must be considered in determining whether there has been a breach.

Where the contract between an attorney and client is an entire one, full performance on the attorney's part is a condition precedent to his right to recover the stipulated compensation in an action on the contract,[96] and where the attorney has fully performed, he is entitled to recover the agreed compensation[97] notwithstanding voluntary acts of the client

85. Payne v. Davis County, 129 N.W. 823, 150 Iowa 597—Lindsay v Carpenter, 58 N.W. 900, 90 Iowa 529.

86. Bryant v. Mundorf, 179 N.W 125, 189 Iowa 882

87. Cordes v Bailey, 78 N.E. 678, 1060, 39 Ind.App. 83.

88. Bryant v. Mundorf, 179 N.W 125, 189 Iowa 882

89. In re Pollen's Estate, 211 N.Y.S 626, 125 Misc. 354.

90. Cal.—Pinto v. Seely, 135 P. 43, 22 Cal.App. 318
Ill.—Sanders v. Seelye, 21 N.E. 601, 128 Ill. 631.
Ind.—Bartholomew v. Langsdale, 35 Ind. 278.
6 C.J. p 740 note 95.

91. State Bank v. Martin, 4 Ala. 615.

92. Wells v. Haynes, 28 S.E. 968, 101 Ga. 841.

93. Gorrell v Payson, 48 N.E 433, 170 Ill. 213, reversing 68 Ill.App 641.

94. U.S.—Shattuck v Pennsylvania R. Co, (D.C.N.Y.) 48 F.(2d) 346—Spellman v Bankers' Trust Co, (C.C.A.N.Y.) 6 F.(2d) 799.
Mich.—Dawson v. Peterson, 68 N.W 246, 110 Mich. 431.
6 C.J. p 753 note 52 [c].

95. Sizer v. Midland Valley R. Co, 217 S.W. 6, 141 Ark. 369.

96. U.S.—Swift v. Jackson, (C.C.A. Okl.) 37 F.(2d) 237, certiorari denied 50 S.Ct. 351, 281 U.S. 745, 74 L.Ed 1158
Cal.—Platnauer v. Forni, 21 P.(2d) 638, 131 Cal.App. 393—Boardman v. Christin, 224 P. 97, 65 Cal.App 413
Va.—Union Cent. Life Ins. Co. v. Wilson, 161 S.E. 237, 157 Va. 454

Agreement to defeat claims

Where an attorney entered upon a contract by which for a given sum he was to save the estate harmless from certain claims, upon which judgments were subsequently rendered against the estate, and payments made, the agreed fee was not earned.—In re Lyons, 173 N.Y.S. 590, 186 App.Div. 161, affirmed 124 N.E. 899, 227 N.Y. 564.

Abandonment of case

(1) Where attorney, having agreed to fight case to final determination, abandons case by dismissing it on demurrer before rendition of judgment thereon, he is not entitled to recover compensation for services Where, however, the attorney dismissed suit before judgment on second demurrer was formally entered, after having alleged in petition all facts he had or was furnished with, and after having made effort to secure overruling of demurrer upon intimation by court that it was about to sustain demurrer, such dismissal was not an abandonment of the case within the contract.—King v. Mann, (Mo.App.) 207 S.W. 836.

(2) An attorney employed by a road improvement district, who was to receive as compensation two per cent. of all bonds issued, and who under such agreement had received one payment of five thousand dollars, was held not entitled to recover any additional amount where it appeared that disagreements had arisen, and he had offered to resign, retaining the five thousand dollars as payment for services to that time, notwithstanding that his resignation was not accepted until several months thereafter, during which time he rendered further but unimportant services, and the commissioners being as a matter of law without power to make any contract for a greater payment in view of the actual benefit received by the district.—Vaughan v. Woodruff-Prairie Road Imp. Dist. No. 6, 250 S.W. 870, 158 Ark. 236.

97. Ark.—Board of Improvement of Paving Improvement Dist. No. 23 v. Matheney, 76 S.W.(2d) 81, 189 Ark. 957.
Mo.—King v. Mann, (App.) 207 S.W. 836.
N.Y.—McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y.S. 181, 238 App.Div. 225, affirmed 189 N.E. 691, 263 N.Y. 548.

which may affect the practical value to the client of the services rendered.[98] Thus the right of the attorney in such case is not affected by the fact that the client settled a collectible judgment obtained by the attorney in his favor for less than the amount of the judgment,[99] or by the fact that the client through his own fault sustained a loss in the case[1] Moreover the fact that further steps which the attorney was neither authorized nor empowered to take were necessary before the client could fully realize on his claim does not defeat the attorney's right,[2] and neither does the fact that an attorney while on a mission for his client transacted other business of his own not in any way reacting to the injury of the client.[3] Where an attorney is employed to perform all matters necessary to defend against and defeat a certain claim "in the courts or otherwise," he is entitled to recover for any services by which the claim was finally defeated, as where, because of his services, the claim was outlawed by the statute of limitations.[4]

Nonperformance or breach. The attorney is not entitled to his stipulated fee where he fails to perform his contract,[5] and if the attorney commits a material breach of his contract, he may thereby forfeit all right to compensation[6] unless it appears that the client was willing that the attorney should fail to perform[7]

What constitutes performance or breach Whether the contract was fully performed within the rules stated in the preceding paragraphs must be determined by interpretation of the contract, particularly with respect to the intention of the parties as dis-

Right to assert failure of consideration

The client is precluded from setting up a failure of consideration for notes given attorneys in a settlement as to the fee, in a transaction in which attorneys took a judgment of dismissal in an action against the client for the fees, since the consideration for such notes was the dismissal of the former action —Stephenson v Gaines, (Tex Civ App) 291 S W. 602, reversed on other grounds (Com App) 298 S W 401

98. Osmundsen v. Hammond, 236 P 562, 135 Wash 17.

Incurring new obligations

Where one interested in a corporation which was in financial difficulties employed attorneys to do everything they could to save his good name and save the business, obligations voluntarily incurred by him to raise the money used in settling with creditors did not impair the contract rights of the attorneys —Jablonski v Rojcewicz, 141 N E. 77, 246 Mass 336

Reconciliation of parties to divorce

That husband and wife effected reconciliation does not of itself avoid a note given in, and all transactions leading to, a settlement of costs of divorce action and wife's attorney's fees —Osmundsen v Hammond, 236 P 562, 135 Wash 17.

99. Botts v. Arkansas County, 57 S W.(2d) 563, 186 Ark 981.

Percentage of "settlements" and "adjustments"

An attorney who has obtained a collectible judgment has performed his contract entitling him to a percentage of all "settlements" and "adjustments" made notwithstanding the client subsequently, and without the consent of the attorney, settled for less than the amount of the judgment obtained —Botts v. Arkansas County, 57 S W.(2d) 563, 186 Ark 981

1. Union Central Life Ins Co. v. Wilson, 161 S E 237, 157 Va 454

Causing litigation

Where a client inadvertently caused litigation despite attorney's advice and the attorney was employed to defend the client's interest, the client was liable for services —Union Central Life Ins. Co. v. Wilson, 161 S E 237, 157 Va 454.

Delaying sale

Where attorney expressed opinion that land would sell for enough to satisfy debt, but the client delayed sale until years later, the insufficiency of the proceeds was no defense to the attorney's claim for fees —Union Central Life Ins Co v. Wilson, 161 S.E 237, 157 Va 454.

2. McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N.Y S 181, 238 App Div 225, affirmed 189 N.E 691, 263 N Y. 548

Further acts of third party

Executrix of attorney, retained by a minority stockholder to realize on the latter's holdings in a corporation owning land which the attorney induced the city to include in a park, was held entitled to recover agreed fee for full performance of contract, although further steps on the part of the corporation were necessary before the corporation received cash awarded in condemnation proceeding, the corporation disavowing any right of such attorney to act for it —McAvoy v. Schramme, 264 N Y S 181, 238 App Div. 225, affirmed 189 N E. 691, 263 N Y. 548

3. Wheeler, etc, Co. v. Dahms, 50 Ill App. 531.

4. Johnson County v. Patterson, 267 S W. 783, 167 Ark 287.

Procuring cancellation of warrants

Attorney, correctly advising county judge of jurisdiction to order cancellation of certain road warrants, and thereafter allowing matter of claims thereon to rest in order that the payee might not be stirred to take an appeal or bring suit before expiration of the statute of limitation, is entitled to his fee, after warrants were barred, under contract with county judge to perform all matters necessary to defeat claim — Johnson County v Patterson, 267 S. W 783, 167 Ark 287

5. Tunison v Guthrie, (W.Va.) 252 F 526, 164 C C A 442

Incomplete performance

A contract by which defendant agreed to pay plaintiff attorney twenty-five thousand dollars on his securing a permit from the department of the interior to flood certain acreage, and further to pay twenty-five thousand dollars if within three years he secured and caused to be vested in defendant the perpetual right to flood such acreage, did not entitle the attorney to payment of the second twenty-five thousand dollars upon his securing a permit under Act Congr Febr 15, 1901, c 372, 31 Stat. 790 (U S Comp St [1916] § 4946) authorizing the secretary of the interior to permit the use of public lands, but providing that any permission so given may be revoked in his discretion —Crane v. Washington Water Power Co, 165 P. 892, 97 Wash 7.

6. Beaumont v. J. H Hamlen & Son, 81 S W (2d) 24, 190 Ark 630.

Appearance for adversary

Where an attorney, under employment to perform all legal business of certain persons, appeared for defendants in a suit brought by such persons, he broke the contract, and could not recover on the contract for services, no claim being made on quantum meruit —U S. v. Apple, (C C A Kan) 292 F 935

7. McCall v. Atchley, (Mo App.) 194 S.W. 714.

closed by its terms in the light of surrounding facts and circumstances.[8] An agreement to handle certain litigation is not one to perform certain specific services but is to do generally all that is necessary to a successful handling of the litigation, and the fact that the attorney stated his intention to do specific things in furtherance of the litigation does not make a failure to do them a breach of the contract if they were not necessary to a successful handling of the litigation.[9] So where an attorney agreed to render such assistance as he considers necessary to the trial attorney, it is no breach that he was out of town during the trial of defendant's case.[10] The fact that part of the work contracted for was done by employees of another attorney is not sufficient to constitute a breach of the contract,[11] nor, where the attorney is employed to collect delinquent taxes, is his failure to collect the penalty therefor, it not appearing customary to collect penalties under the circumstances under which the taxes were collected.[12] Where the contract provides that the fee should attach on the filing of a suit, the fee is not earned if the case is settled by the parties without filing suit;[13] but a contract for fees payable when the matter was disposed of in the court is fully performed by the attorneys when the client peremptorily orders dismissal of the suit for his own purpose on the eve of its hearing.[14]

The fact that the client has been guilty of criminal conduct will not excuse performance by the attorney of his agreement to return part of the fee paid him in the event that he is unsuccessful in performing the services for which he was employed.[15]

b. Impossibility of Performance

Attorneys are entitled to compensation where complete performance of services is prevented by acts of their client or third persons.

When complete performance by an attorney of his contract of employment becomes impossible without fault on the part of either party, the attorney may recover in quantum meruit the value of the services actually rendered by him.[16] Where complete performance is rendered impossible by the act of the client, the attorney may recover the entire fee if he remains ready to render complete performance,[17] where attorneys had performed their agreement to prosecute a claim so far as they were permitted to do so by their client, the fact that on the death of the client before the collection of the claim, they failed to tender their services to his executor, who was unwilling for them to perform, does not defeat their right to compensation.[18] However an

8. Ill.—Chicago Junction Ry Co v. Leitch, 215 Ill App 67.
N Y.—McAvoy v Schramme, 264 N Y S 181, 238 App Div 225, affirmed 189 N E 691, 263 N Y. 548

Duties under contract

Where the offer of an appointment as attorney for a railroad stated the practice of the client to require bills to be made out at least quarterly, it was the duty of the attorney accepting the employment to report from time to time as to the work he was doing, and the compensation he was claiming.—Pattison v Chicago & Northwestern Ry Co, 254 Ill App 398

9. Allen v Brooke, 102 S E. 832, 25 Ga App 122

10. Strong v. Eckert, 167 N.Y.S 1069, 180 App Div 526.

11. Anderson v Rindge Co., 270 P. 262, 93 Cal App 725

12. Tennison v. Quinn, 282 S W 20, 170 Ark 1194

13. Mammoth Cave Nat Park Ass'n v. Whittle & Demunbrum, 70 S W (2d) 990, 254 Ky 63

14. Maynard v Reynolds, (Mo) 251 F 784, 164 C C A 18, certiorari denied 39 S Ct. 19, 248 U S. 578, 63 L Ed 429

15. People v. Loeff, 126 N E. 577, 292 Ill 55.

Forgery

Where attorney received three hundred dollars, and agreed to obtain apprentice certificate for client from state board of pharmacy, which was then in their possession, and to return two hundred dollars if he failed to do so, that client had fraudulently and by forgery obtained the certificate did not justify the attorney in refusing to perform agreement and to return the two hundred dollars on failure to procure certificate.—People v Loeff, 126 N E 577, 292 Ill 55

16. Boardman v. Christin, 224 P 97, 65 Cal App 413

An attorney employed at a fixed fee to perform certain services cannot be deprived of his compensation by his client preventing the performance of such services by settlement.—U S Savings Bank v Pittman, 86 So. 567, 80 Fla 423

Act of third party

Where plaintiff, attorney at law, who agreed to prosecute an action on behalf of a minor, in consideration of defendant's promise to pay a stipulated fee, was prevented from fully performing his contract, without fault of either himself or defendant, by reason of the minor's selection, upon attaining his majority, of another attorney, while plaintiff was not entitled to recover the stipulated sum, he was entitled to recover in quantum meruit the reasonable value of services actually performed under the contract.—Boardman v. Christin, 224 P 97, 65 Cal App 413.

Amount of compensation

An attorney employed to represent a road improvement district at a compensation of two per cent of all bonds issued, who on this basis has received a commission of five thousand dollars on one issue, was held not entitled to any compensation based on a second issue of two hundred thousand dollars, which was sold at a discount of twenty-four thousand dollars, where it appeared that only one-half of the proceeds had been received and placed in a local bank, which soon thereafter closed its doors, and the remaining half was unpaid and involved in litigation concerning the buyer's estate.—Vaughan v. Woodruff-Prairie Road Imp. Dist. No. 6, 250 S W. 870, 158 Ark 236

17. Allen v. Brooke, 102 S E 832, 25 Ga App. 122

Settlement before trial

Where an attorney at law agrees for a stipulated fee to handle litigation, and the complete performance of such service is rendered impossible by the client's settlement before trial, the attorney may recover the entire fee, where he remains ready to render complete performance.—Allen v. Brooke, 102 S E. 832, 25 Ga. App. 122.

18. McGowan v. Parish, 35 S Ct. 543.

attorney is not entitled to compensation on the theory that the client prevented him from performing where there was in fact no interference with his attempt to perform.[19]

§ 184. —— Contract with Partnership

Where the contract is with a firm of attorneys, services of any partner pro tanto fulfill the contract; but where the contract is with an individual, the client is not obligated to pay for services of a partner. Formation or dissolution of a firm of attorneys does not affect contracts as to compensation, although in the latter case a partner acting alone may sue alone. Where death causes a change in a firm of attorneys, the surviving partners are entitled at least to the reasonable value of services performed and, if they complete performance, to the stipulated fee.

Where a client contracts with a firm of attorneys, whatever is done by any one in behalf of all and under their joint engagement is, if properly done, a fulfillment to that extent of their contract;[20] and payment to one member of the firm is payment to the firm.[21] Where, however, the client contracts with one partner, it has been held that there is no implied agreement to pay for services rendered by another partner.[22]

Effect of changes in firm In the absence of a particular agreement on the part of a client, the formation of a partnership by his attorney does not alter the previous terms of employment.[23] Where a firm dissolves, as shown supra § 56, there is still a joint employment, and all of the attorneys constituting the firm are under the same obligation to a client as if the partnership continued; but where the remaining partner alone acts, he may sue alone[24] When one member of a firm dies and a client exercises his privilege of changing his attorneys, the client is liable for the reasonable value of the services already rendered,[25] and he is liable for the full amount if he allows the remaining members of the firm to complete the business.[26] In an action by a copartnership for professional services as patent attorneys, a contention that defendant did not employ plaintiffs, but employed another copartnership to which they succeeded, could not be sustained, when it appeared that defendant had actual notice of the change in the firm by the addition to it of two other attorneys, and continued to avail itself of the services of such firm.[27]

§ 185. —— Employment of Additional Counsel

Employment of additional counsel by the client does not affect the right of the original attorney to compensation, but a substituted attorney having notice of the contract of his predecessor may be bound by it.

When there is an express agreement between an attorney and his client that the pay for services shall be a certain fixed sum, the right of the attorney to the full amount agreed upon is not affected by the client's act in employing additional counsel to assist in the work,[28] and a mere suggestion by the attorney that aid be called in does not affect this rule.[29]

Where an attorney employed to take a case turns it over to his associate or successor, the latter is bound by the contract of his predecessor, and he may not claim fees in excess of those for which the first attorney agreed to conduct the case;[30] it is otherwise, however, where the second attorney is employed by the client and is not aware of any prior contract.[31]

§ 186. Contingent Fee Contracts

a. In general
b. Requisites and validity

a. In General

A contingent fee is one depending on the success of the services to be performed. A contingent fee contract is a bilateral, entire agreement, speculative in nature, providing for conditional compensation of an attorney.

237 U.S. 285, 59 L.Ed 955, reversing Parish v McGowan, 39 App D.C. 184.

19. Crane v. Washington Water Power Co., 165 P. 892, 97 Wash. 7

Employment of another attorney

Under a contract by which defendant agreed to pay plaintiff attorney a certain amount on his securing a permit from the department of the interior to flood certain acreage, and a further sum if he caused to be vested in defendant the perpetual right to flood such acreage, where the secretary of the interior granted a permit but later revoked it and defendant employed another attorney to secure a reversal of the revoking order, the plaintiff attorney was not entitled to compensation on the theory that defendant had prevented his performing, since proceedings as to the original permit could in no way interfere with his attempting to secure the perpetual right—Crane v Washington Water Power Co., 165 P 892, 97 Wash 7.

20. Phillips v Edsall, 20 N.E. 801, 127 Ill. 535—6 C.J. p 746 note 78.

21. Williams v. More, 63 Cal. 50

22. Evans v Mohr, 42 Ill.App 225, affirmed 39 N.E. 1083, 153 Ill. 561

23. Ostrander v. Capital Inv., etc., Assoc., 89 N.W. 964, 130 Mich 312—6 C.J. p 746 note 80

24. Webster v Loeb, 86 S.W. 463, 112 Mo.App. 139

25. Ky.—McGill v. McGill, 2 Metc. 258
Tex.—Landa v Shook, 30 S.W 536, 31 S.W. 57, 87 Tex 608

26. Smith v Hill, 13 Ark 173—6 C.J. p 747 note 84.

27. Rector v Duntley Mfg. Co., 189 Ill.App 562

28. Lipscomb v. Castleman, 145 S.W. 753, 147 Ky. 741—6 C.J. p 747 note 85

29. Townsend v. Rhea, 38 S.W. 865, 18 Ky.L. 901.

30. Ennis v. Hultz, 46 Iowa 76.

31. Iowa.—Gates v. McClenahan, 103 N.W 969
Neb.—Cowles v. Thompson, 48 N.W. 145, 31 Neb. 479.

Payment of contingent fees depends on express contract therefor.

A contingent fee is a fee stipulated to be paid to an attorney for his services in conducting a suit or other forensic proceeding only in case he wins it;[32] that is, a fee which is made to depend upon the success or failure in the effort to enforce a supposed right, whether doubtful or not.[33] It may be a percentage of the amount recovered.[34]

An agreement with an attorney for a contingent fee provides for conditional compensation of the attorney,[35] but is not to be regarded in the nature of or analogous to an unconditional promissory note, nor as an agreement payable unqualifiedly upon the happening of a certain contingency.[36] It is speculative in nature, and entire and not divisible.[37] Although signed by only one person, when accepted by the other it becomes a bilateral, not a unilateral contract, presupposing something to be done in the future by both sides.[38]

An attorney is not entitled to a percentage of the amount recovered by his client in the absence of an express contract to that effect;[39] and the payment of contingent fees cannot be provided for by the court, no matter how great and peculiar their merit may be.[40]

b. Requisites and Validity

(1) In general
(2) Contracts affecting right to settle
(3) Contract to convey land

(1) In General

Contingent fee agreements, although closely scrutinized by the courts are valid if fair to the client and reasonable.

While, as a general proposition, agreements between attorney and client for contingent fees are not looked upon with favor by the courts[41] and will be closely scrutinized,[42] in the absence of fraud or imposition, where they are fair and reasonable as to the client, such agreements are valid and binding upon the parties, and will be enforced at law according to their terms.[43] A contingent fee is per-

32. Black L. D quoted in Gray v Stern, 149 P. 26, 29, 85 Wash. 645, 651.

33. Adair v First Nat Bank, 137 S. E 192, 139 S C 1, 51 A L R 1269—6 C J p 740 note 1.

34. Black L. D quoted in Gray v. Stern, 149 P 26, 29, 85 Wash 645, 651

35. Byrd v Clark, 153 S E. 737, 170 Ga 669, rehearing denied 154 S E 881, 170 Ga 912

36. Galligan v. Bua, 236 P. 1016, 77 Colo 386.

37. Davenport v. Waggoner, 307 N. W. 972, 49 S D 592, 45 A L R 1126

38. Galligan v. Bua, 236 P. 1016, 77 Colo. 386.

39. Thurston v. Travelers' Ins Co, 258 N.W. 66, 128 Neb. 141—6 C J. p 741 note 14.

Contract not shown

Where services were rendered without any agreement whatever as to the amount or terms of compensation, the attorney is not acting under a contract for a contingent fee, and a letter by the attorney to the client stating that a certain sum would be a reasonable amount to charge for his services and adding that a rate of not less than five per cent nor more than ten would be reasonable and customary does not convert the original agreement into a contract for a contingent fee.—Fleming v. Phinizy, 134 S E. 814, 35 Ga App. 792.

Abrogated contract

Where attorney released his client from contingent fee contract, the mere fact that the client knew that suit was later filed by the attorney was not sufficient to reinstate the contract.—Miller v Barnes, 205 S.W. 549, 181 Ky 473.

40. Crumlish v Shenandoah Valley R Co, 22 S E 90, 40 W Va. 627.

41. N J.—Grimm v. Franklin, 140 A. 236, 102 N J Eq 198, affirmed (Err & App) Grim v. Franklin, 146 A 914—Soper v Bilder, 100 A. 858, 87 N J Eq 564

Tenn.—Moyers v. City of Memphis, 186 S W 105, 135 Tenn. 263

"Contracts which provide that an attorney should receive a certain proportion of the proceeds of litigation where, as in this case, the amount to be received cannot be approximated, and in case of failure should receive nothing, are to be most strongly, in my opinion, condemned, and I think that it is immaterial whether the agreement was made before or after the technical relation of attorney and client began . . . The evils to which such contracts lead far outweigh any advantage which there may be in permitting them The moment an attorney enters into a contract of this kind he ceases to be in a position where it can be said that he can in all cases properly advise his client . . . There is no one thing that has more strongly tended to get the bar in disrepute with the general public than this class of contracts"—Soper v Bilder, 100 A. 858, 860, 87 N J.Eq. 564, per Lane, V. C.

42. Conn.—Gruskay v. Simenauskas, 140 A 724, 107 Conn. 380

Mich.—Hext v Moriarty, 244 N W. 170, 259 Mich 590—Neudeck v Horvath, 222 N W. 106, 244 Mich. 685.

N.J.—Soper v. Bilder, 100 A. 858, 87 N J.Eq 564

Reason for rule

"Plaintiffs who are poor, or helpless, or in distress of body or mind, may be imposed upon, or yield too easily to unjust professional demands"—Gruskay v. Simenauskas, 140 A. 724, 727, 107 Conn. 380.

43. U.S.—U S v Call, (C.C A.Fla.) 287 F 520—De Hay v. Cline, (D C. Tex.) 5 F Supp. 630.

Ark.—Hoskins v Adkins, 41 S W. (2d) 753, 184 Ark 124—McClain v. McFarlane, 206 S W. 38, 135 Ark. 602.

Ga.—Kimball v. Casey, 151 S E. 372, 169 Ga. 631.

Idaho.—Savic v. Kramlich, 12 P (2d) 260, 52 Idaho 156

Iowa.—In re Sylvester's Estate, 193 N W. 442, 195 Iowa 1329, 30 A L. R 180

Mich.—Neudeck v Horvath, 222 N W. 106, 244 Mich. 685—Gates v. McLaulin, 165 N.W 614, 199 Mich 438

Minn.—Parker v Fryberger, 214 N. W 276, 171 Minn 384

Miss.—Lamar Hardwood Co v Case, 107 So 868, 143 Miss 277

Mont.—Haley v. Hollenback, 165 P. 459, 53 Mont. 494.

N J.—Grimm v. Franklin, 140 A. 236, 102 N J Eq. 198, affirmed (Err & App.) Grim v Franklin, 146 A 914—Soper v. Bilder, 100 A 858, 87 N. J Eq. 564.

N Y.—In re Meng, 135 N E 508, 227 N Y. 264, reversing 176 N.Y.S. 290, mitted to attorneys only as a reward for skill and diligence exercised in the prosecution of doubtful and litigated claims, however, and it is not allowed for the rendition of merely minor services which any layman or inexperienced attorney might perform.[44]

An agreement of this kind is not objectionable for want of mutuality,[45] or for uncertainty[46] or, ordinarily, on the ground of public policy[47] although in particular instances it may be, as where the contract prohibits compromise or settlement by the client, as stated infra § 186 d (2), or in the case of a contract by an attorney to assist in the prosecution of a criminal case for a contingent fee, dependent on the conviction of the accused[48] or, as shown in the title Contracts § 235 [13 C.J. p 464 note 81] in the case of litigation between husband and wife, where the attorney is to take a certain percentage of alimony or community property recovered for his client.

The contract must be made in good faith, however, without suppression or reserve of fact or of apprehended difficulties, and without undue influence of any sort or degree; and the compensation bargained for must be absolutely just and fair, so that the transaction may be characterized throughout by all good faith to the client.[49] If the contract is shown

188 App Div 69, which affirmed 159 N Y S 535, 96 Misc 126, and reargument denied 126 N E 914, 227 N Y 669—Sasson v. Ferris, 248 N Y S 125, 231 App Div. 524—In re Liebergall, 178 N.Y S 857, 189 App Div. 651—In re Carpenter's Estate, 276 N Y S 754, 154 Misc 143—Smith v First Nat Bank, 170 N Y S 137, 103 Misc 274, modified on other grounds 172 N Y S 595, 184 App Div 719

N C—High Point Casket Co v. Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C 459, 19 A L R 391.

Okl—Lashley v Moore, 240 P 704, 112 Okl 198—Allen v Shepherd, 169 P 1115, 69 Okl 47—Culver v. Diamond, 167 P 223, 64 Okl. 271.

Pa—Gross' Est, 14 Pa Dist 137—Hagemann's Est, 5 Pa Co 576

S C.—Adair v First Nat Bank, 137 S E. 192, 139 S C 1, 51 A L R 1269.

Tenn—Moyers v City of Memphis, 186 S W 105, 135 Tenn 263

Tex—White v. Burch, (Civ App) 19 S W (2d) 404—Saunders v Guinn, (Civ App) 1 S W (2d) 363

Wash—Hamlin v Case & Case, 61 P. (2d) 1287—Hardman v. Brown, 279 P 91, 153 Wash 85.

6 C.J p 740 note 2.

Reason for rule

"A contract of this character is often the only way by which the poor and helpless can have their rights vindicated and upheld and the injuries they have suffered redressed"—Gruskay v Simenauskas, 140 A. 724, 727, 107 Conn 380.

"Catching bargain"

An attorneys' contract for professional services to heirs of realty for a contingent fee of twenty per cent of the value of the realty received by the heirs on the death of their mother, terminating her dower right, is not invalid as a "catching bargain."—Edler v. Frazier, 156 N.W 182, 174 Iowa 46

Not contract for part of res

An agreement to pay attorney an amount equal to whatever amount in excess of one thousand dollars might be collected on a group insurance policy is not contract for a fee as part of the thing in litigation—Sharp v. Culton, 89 S W.(2d) 869, 262 Ky. 84

Fees held reasonable

(1) Twenty per cent. contingent fee to attorneys prosecuting suits to recover from bondsmen certain county deposit in closed banks—Barnard v. Young, 251 P. 1054, 43 Idaho 382

(2) Fee of twenty per cent. of value of real property to be received by heirs after death of their mother—Edler v. Frazier, (Iowa) 156 N W. 182

(3) Twenty-five per cent of heirs' share for enforcing heirs' interests—Hext v. Moriarty, 244 N.W. 170, 259 Mich 590.

(4) Fee of twenty-five per cent. of amount recovered by tenants in condemnation proceeding by city, where landlord denied tenants' right to any compensation, and technical questions were involved—In re Allen St in City of New York, 266 N. Y.S. 277, 148 Misc. 488

(5) Fee of twenty-five per cent. of amount saved by defense of action—Board of Education of Oklahoma City v. Thurman, 247 P. 996, 121 Okl. 108.

(6) Fee of one-third of recovery—High Point Casket Co. v. Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C. 459, 19 A L R 391—Saunders v. Guinn, (Tex Civ App) 1 S W (2d) 363.

(7) Fee of one-third for representing claimant in receivership proceeding, notwithstanding desired end was reached more easily than anticipated—State v. American Bonding & Casualty Co, 237 N.W. 360, 212 Iowa 1052

(8) Fee of forty per cent. of the damages recovered—In re D'Adamo's Estate, 157 N.Y S. 374, 94 Misc 1, 16 Mills Surr. 213.

(9) Two thousand five hundred dollars fee for attorney's services, if the client should marry man who breached promise of marriage and obtain $10,000 property settlement.—Wright v. Wright, 237 N.W. 896, 58 S D. 612.

44. High Point Casket Co. v. Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C. 459, 19 A L R 391—6 C J. p 741 note 13.

45. Gorrell v. Payson, 48 N.E. 433, 170 Ill. 213.

46. Smith v. Brown-Crummer Inv. Co, 210 P. 477, 112 Kan. 201.

47. Kan—Sedbrook v. McCue, 180 P. 787, 104 Kan. 813.

Ky—Manning v. Edwards, 265 S.W. 492, 205 Ky. 158.

Tenn—Moyers v. City of Memphis, 186 S W. 105, 135 Tenn. 263.

Solicited contract

A contract between an attorney and his client obtained by solicitation by the attorney's agent, and providing for a contingent fee, was not unenforceable as against public policy merely because it had been obtained by solicitation.—Chreste v. Louisville Ry. Co, 180 S W. 49, 167 Ky 75, L R A.1917B 1123, Ann.Cas. 1917C 867.

48. Baca v. Padilla, 190 P. 730, 26 N M 223, 11 A L R. 1183—6 C.J. p 741 note 13 [a].

49. U S—Ridge v. Healy, (Mo) 251 F 793, 164 C.C.A. 32

N.C—High Point Casket Co. v. Wheeler, 109 S E. 378, 182 N C 459, 19 A L R. 391.

Okl—McArthur v. Lotridge, 58 P (2d) 326—Board of Education of Oklahoma City v. Thurman, 247 P. 996, 121 Okl. 108.

6 C J. p 741 note 7.

"The question of the reasonableness of the fee always remains open, though the fact of contingency often determines the controversy."—Blattman v. Gadd, 296 P. 681, 687, 112 Cal. App. 76.

Duty to explain contract

An attorney, concluding a contingent fee contract with his client, is bound to explain to her the distinction between a contingent fee in cases where any recovery at all is doubtful and in cases where at least to have been obtained by fraud, mistake, or undue influence, or if it is so excessive in proportion to the services to be rendered as to be in fact oppressive to the extent of extortion, it will not be upheld [50]

The test is the fairness and reasonableness of the contract as applied to the client,[51] and the question depends upon the circumstances of each case [52] The words "unjust or unconscionable," as applied to these contracts mean nothing more than that the amount of the fee contracted for, standing alone and unexplained, would be sufficient to show that an unfair advantage had been taken of the client, or that a legal fraud had been perpetrated upon him.[53] To be unconscionable the contract must be such as no man in his senses and not under a delusion would make on the one hand, and no honest and fair man would accept on the other [54] The fact that the clients had never had any lawsuits and were not skilled in estimating attorneys' services is no reason for holding the contract void,[55] and the contract cannot be condemned solely because the proportion of the claim to be retained by the attorney was very large, if it was deliberately entered into, was free from fraud, and showed no purpose to obtain undue advantage,[56] since one may very properly demand a larger compensation, if it is to be contingent, not certain.[57] Accordingly, the mere fact that the attorney is to receive one half of the recovery does not render the agreement unconscionable, in the absence of proof that it was induced by fraud, or that the compensation provided for is so excessive as to evince a purpose to obtain an improper or undue advantage,[58] particularly where the attorney is obligated for the costs and the case is contested,[59] although under the particular circumstances of the case, a fee of fifty per cent or a smaller percentage may be unreasonable and extortionate [60] Whether particular contracts between attorney and client for contingent fees constitute a forty per cent. recovery is assured by reason of a compromise offered by the adverse party; and where the effect of the contract is to make the fee payable and an interest-bearing obligation upon conclusion of a compromise, he is bound to explain to his client such effect of the contract—Ridge v Healy, (Mo) 251 F 798, 164 C C A 32

Fraud not shown

Fraud or bad faith in agreement by surviving partner and agent to pay attorney's fee of twenty-five per cent. of recovery cannot be predicated upon the fact that the attorney advising the agreement and a party to it was the son-in-law of the partner and agent—In re Allen St in City of New York, 266 N Y S 277, 148 Misc. 488.

50. Cal—Jackson v. Campbell, 8 P (2d) 845, 215 Cal 102—Blattman v Gadd, 296 P. 681, 112 Cal App 76

N C—High Point Casket Co v Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C 459, 19 A L R 391

Pa—Sloan's Est, 14 Pa Co. 359.

6 C J p 741 note 8

'The members of the bar are in a certain sense officers of the court, and their contracts for professional services on a contingent fee basis in cases such as the instant one may not as a matter of law be regarded as not subject to inquiry and correction by the courts if found unreasonable, greatly in excess of the value of the services rendered, and beyond the ability of the client to pay"—Husk v Blancand, 99 So 610, 612, 155 La 816

Fee of sixty per cent

A contingent fee contract allowing attorney sixty per cent. of client's recovery is extortionate and void—Gruskay v Simenauskas, 140 A 724, 107 Conn 380

51. Grimm v. Franklin, 140 A 236, 102 N J Eq 198, affirmed (Err & App) Grim v. Franklin, 146 A. 914

52. In re Allen St in City of New York, 266 N Y S 277, 148 Misc 488

53. N Y—In re Allen St in City of New York, 266 N Y S. 277, 148 Misc 488

N C—High Point Casket Co. v Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C 459, 19 A L R 391

54. Board of Education of Oklahoma City v Thurman, 247 P 996, 121 Okl 108

55. Jones v Jones, 63 S W (2d) 146, 333 Mo 478, 90 A L R 219

56. High Point Casket Co. v. Wheeler, 109 S E 378, 182 N C 459, 19 A L R 391—6 C J p 741 note 9

57. High Point Casket Co. v Wheeler, supra—6 C J. p 741 note 12.

"In this connection it must be remembered that an attorney who takes a case upon such a basis may receive nothing as well as much, and that he, as well as others who assume hazards, is entitled to be compensated for his risk"—Friedman v Mindlin, 155 N Y S 295, 300, 91 Misc 473

58. Idaho—Savic v. Kramlich, 12 P (2d) 260, 52 Idaho 156.

La—Taft Mercantile Co. v. Blouin Co, 7 La App 190

N Y—Race v Harris, 286 N Y S 168, 246 App Div 867—In re Reisfeld, 175 N Y S 365, 187 App Div. 223, modified 124 N E 725, 227 N Y 137—Campbell v. Tunnicliff, 173 N Y S 242, 185 App Div 506, motion denied 125 N E. 913, 227 N Y. 628—In re Levine's Estate, 278 N.Y S 36, 154 Misc. 700, affirmed 286 N Y S 513, 247 App Div 19—In re Uravic's Estate, 255 N Y S 638, 142 Misc 775—In re Carney, 158 N Y S 585, 93 Misc 600—Friedman v Mindlin, 155 N Y S 295, 91 Misc 473

Tenn—Moyers v City of Memphis, 186 S W 105, 135 Tenn 263

Wash—Hardman v. Brown, 279 P 91, 153 Wash 85.

6 C J p 741 note 10.

59. Husk v Blancand, 99 So. 610, 155 La 816.

60. In re Kraus, 185 A. 737, 322 Pa 362.

Contracts held unconscionable or unfair

(1) Contract calling for a fee of one third of the benefits collected under an insurance policy where the claim was not contested and the services of the attorney were not onerous and did not call for the exercise of unusual professional skill, where all the services required could have been performed free of charge by an association to which the client belonged, and where the client was a stranger somewhat unfamiliar with the language who had been told that the fee would be a fixed amount—Berkos v. Ætna Life Ins Co., 279 Ill App. 243.

(2) Agreement of widow and sole heir, to pay attorney one third of the amount collected for the estate, where the services rendered took only a short time and were not of unusual character—In re Mellick 158 N Y S. 689, 112 App Div. 538, affirmed 114 N E. 1072, 219 N Y. 557.

champerty is fully discussed in the title Champerty and Maintenance §§ 17–21 [11 C.J. p 241 note 8–p 246 note 34].

Who may object. Parties who have no interest in the proceeds of a claim[61] or interested parties whose conduct has estopped them[62] cannot ordinarily question the reasonableness of a contingent fee contract for prosecution and collection of such claim. An adverse party who settles with the client and agrees to pay the attorney's compensation may, however, attack the agreement between attorney and client as unconscionable and invalid.[63]

Binding effect on others. A contract for a contingent fee of fifty per cent, made by a mother and sole next of kin of a decedent, is not binding upon her descendants, nor upon an estate toward which she stood in no other relation than that of distributee.[64] Nor is an attorney bound by such a contract entered into by his colleague, unless he knew of it before he performed the service.[65]

(2) Contracts Affecting Right to Settle

A contingent fee contract prohibiting a settlement by the client is void.

Any contingent fee contract providing that the client shall not compromise the suit without the consent of, or consultation with, his attorney is generally considered void as against public policy,[66] unless permitted by statute.[67] So where such a void provision is inserted in the contract, it has been held to avoid a further provision stipulating the amount of fees which the attorney would receive under the contract,[68] although the view has been taken that such an invalid provision is severable and does not invalidate the whole contract.[69] Under some authorities, an agreement of this kind may or may not be condemned as against public policy, according to the circumstances of the case.[70]

A contract which does not prevent settlement by the client and provides for the payment to the attorney of an agreed amount in the case of such settlement is valid,[71] but the rule of fairness and reasonableness should be applied to such provisions.[72]

(3) Agreement to pay attorney fifty per cent recovery on life policy, signed by beneficiary subsequently adjudged incompetent, where, after investigation, the insurance company, before any action was brought, paid—In re Cupid, 245 N.Y.S. 554, 230 App.Div. 677

61. Lay v Lay, 79 So 291, 118 Miss. 549, affirmed 39 S.Ct 13, 248 U.S. 24, 63 L.Ed 103

Devisee of property which had been previously deeded to attorney by client pursuant to a contingent fee contract cannot question such a completely executed transaction in the absence of evidence of fraud—Soper v. Bilder, 100 A. 858, 87 N.J. Eq 564

62. Beck v. Boucher, 195 P. 996, 114 Wash 574.

Permitting performance by attorney

Client having permitted attorney to perform services and spend money under contract giving the attorney a one fifth interest of whatever share of an estate the attorney succeeded in procuring for the client, and having executed a deed conveying a one fifth interest in land acquired for her to the attorney, although deed was not in fact delivered, was estopped from denying the validity of the contract.—Beck v. Boucher, 195 P. 996, 114 Wash 574

63. Ward v. Orsini, 152 N.E. 696, 243 N.Y. 123, modifying 213 N.Y.S. 932, 215 App.Div. 795, which affirmed 211 N.Y.S. 249, 125 Misc 407.

64. Sloan's Est., 28 A. 1084, 161 Pa. 237.

65. Bissell v Zorn, 99 S.W. 458, 122 Mo.App. 688

66. N.D.—Simon v. Chicago Milwaukee & St P Ry Co., 177 N.W. 107, 45 N.D. 251—Moran v Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D 575
Pa.—Murray's Est., 13 Pa.Co. 70
6 C.J. p 743 notes 31, 32, p 739 note 44.

67. Stiles v. Bruton, 64 So 399, 134 La 523.

68. Moran v Simpson, 173 N.W. 769, 42 N.D 575

69. Ark.—Sizer v. Midland Valley R Co., 217 S.W. 6, 141 Ark 369.
Mont.—Downey v. Northern Pac Ry Co., 232 P. 531, 72 Mont. 166.

70. Lipscomb v Adams, 91 S.W. 1046, 193 Mo. 530, 112 Am.S.R. 500—6 C.J. p 743 note 34.

71. Cal.—Klein v. Lange, 267 P. 130, 91 Cal.App. 400
N.Y.—Ward v. Orsini, 152 N.E. 696, 243 N.Y. 123, modifying 213 N.Y.S. 932, 215 App.Div. 795, which affirmed 211 N.Y.S. 249, 125 Misc 407

Contract not abridging right

A contract employing an attorney to settle a claim or sue for damages which provides that in making settlement, either before or after suit brought, the attorney is not to act until he has submitted the offer of settlement to the client and obtained his consent, and that the attorney is to have entire control of the settlement and suit, if one is brought, does not abridge the clients' right to settle, and is not void as against public policy—McClain v. McFarlane, 206 S.W. 38, 135 Ark. 602.

72. Ward v Orsini, 152 N.E. 696, 243 N.Y. 123, modifying 213 N.Y.S. 932, 215 App.Div. 795, which affirmed 211 N.Y.S. 249, 125 Misc. 407.

Fee equal to amount paid

A contract that the attorney's compensation in a personal injury action equal the amount received by the client if the client settle without the attorney's consent is not within the condemnation of contracts seeking absolutely to prevent settlements without the attorney's consent when the result is reasonable, because intended to safeguard the attorney against settlements for small sums, whereby he would be deprived of compensation Accordingly an agreement that the compensation of the attorney for plaintiff in a personal injury action equal the amount paid the client, and that the attorney have his taxable costs and disbursements if the client settle without the attorney's consent, is not unreasonable nor invalid, where the client settled for three hundred dollars. But such an agreement would be unconscionable if the total sum to be paid to attorney and client exceeded the amount demanded in the complaint—Ward v. Orsini, 152 N.E. 696, 243 N.Y. 123, modifying 213 N.Y.S. 932, 215 App.Div. 795, which affirmed 211 N.Y.S. 249, 125 Misc. 407.

(3) Contract to Convey Land

Contingent fee agreements to convey land are enforceable.

A contingent agreement to convey a portion of the land recovered by suit to the attorney for his fee will be specifically enforced,[73] even though the land has greatly increased in value.[74] If the property has been sold, the attorney is entitled to his due share of the amount thereby realized.[75]

§ 187. —— Construction and Operation

a. Construction

b. Operation and effect

a. Construction

General rules as to the construction of contracts are applied to contingent fee contracts.

In construing contracts providing for the payment of contingent fees the rules of construction of express agreements for compensation discussed supra § 182 are applicable.[76] Accordingly in the absence of a showing of a contrary intent, words used in the contract will be given the meaning usually expressed by those words[77] and uncertainties will be resolved in favor of the client and against the attorney.[78] An agreement for a proportion of the amount recovered in a suit necessarily means the amount realized in

73. Okl.—Lashley v. Moore, 240 P. 704, 112 Okl. 198
Wash.—Beck v. Boucher, 195 P. 996, 114 Wash. 574.
6 C.J. p 740 note 4.

Reasonableness of contract

A contract to convey one hundred and eighty acres of land to attorney, as a contingent fee for defending, at his own expense, a will contest involving one thousand one hundred fifty-eight acres of land, was held not unconscionable, although the contestants defaulted.—Jones v. Jones, 63 S.W.(2d) 146, 333 Mo. 478, 90 A.L.R. 219.

74. Chester v. Jumel, 26 N.E. 297, 125 N.Y. 237, reversing 5 N.Y.S. 809, 2 Silv.Sup. 159

75. Pa.—In re Shoenberger, 60 A. 502, 211 Pa. 99
S.C.—Hand v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 21 S.C. 162.

76. Alternative promise

Contract of guardian to pay attorney for legal services for minors in recovering property, providing that guardian "agrees to pay and convey" to attorney one quarter of property recovered, is an alternative promise to pay one quarter of value of property recovered or to convey an undivided one quarter interest in such property.—Berryhill v. Spillers, 232 P. 376, 105 Okl. 255.

Personal liability of client

Children who employed attorneys to institute proceedings for the interdiction of their mother for five per cent. of the total amount of the inventory if successful were held not to have incurred any personal liability for the attorney's fees.—Lazarus, Michel & Lazarus v. Veazey, 92 So. 338, 151 La. 790.

Costs

A contract by heirs employing an attorney to recover their respective interests in decedent's property, and providing that the heirs should pay the attorney an amount equal to fifty per cent. of the recovery, and that if nothing was recovered the heirs should not be liable in any amount for costs advanced or services rendered, means that the attorney should pay all costs if no recovery was had, but if recovery was had the costs and expenses should be paid out of the property recovered, and the heirs should then get fifty per cent and the attorney fifty per cent of balance.—Brown v. Furlong, 127 So. 731, 170 La. 802

77. "Bond issue"

Executrix of will of attorney, agreeing to handle drainage district's legal work "for 2% of the Bond Issue," is not entitled to recover more than unpaid retainer fee, where the district never had any funds, did no work on the drainage project, and canceled the contract for sale of bonds on purchaser's default, the words "bond issue" covering delivery of bonds to purchaser.—Vans Agnew v. Fort Myers Drainage Dist., (C.C.A.Fla.) 67 F.(2d) 244, certiorari denied 54 S.Ct. 776, 292 U.S. 643, 78 L.Ed. 1494

"Cause of action"

The employment of attorneys to perform all legal services incident or pertaining to a described "cause of action" pending in the district court for a contingent fee did not refer only to the action in the district court, especially where the attorneys, after an adverse judgment in the district court, took the matter to the supreme court without further contract, and the client requested them to advance costs for that purpose and repaid the costs.—Lane v. Gooding, 193 P. 670, 69 Colo. 216.

"For the period of one year"

Agreement with client was held to entitle attorneys to one third of oil leasehold recovered by settlement of litigation, as against the contention that provision in the agreement that attorneys receive "for the period of one year" one third of all moneys and settlements received by the client limited the attorneys to one third of revenues of leasehold for one year, since attending circumstances showed that such provision was made in lieu of a cash retainer and in addition to provision for a fee of one third of everything recovered.—Hynd v. Sandler, (Tex.Civ.App.) 95 S.W.(2d) 165, error dismissed.

"Inheritance"

"An action to set aside a divorce having been successful, and the wife having obtained in an attack on the will of the husband, who had died, a half interest in a future estate limited by the will to vest upon the death of their child under age, her attorneys being entitled under their contract with her to one-half of whatever might be recovered for her, an agreement in settlement in terms binding her to convey to them one-half of whatever might come to her by inheritance from the child, interpreted in a normal and popular sense, would create an obligation to convey to them a half interest in the future estate if and when it might become vested, the word 'inheritance' being ambiguous in normal and popular usage, and the circumstances surrounding the parties and their situation at the time of making the settlement contract clearly indicating the intended sense of the word 'inheritance'."—Higby v. Martin, 28 P.(2d) 1097, 167 Okl. 10

78. Race v. Harris, 286 N.Y.S. 168, 246 App.Div. 367.

Fees allowed in action

Under a contract between attorneys and client relating to attorney's compensation in an action to partition land and for an accounting, providing that the attorneys "shall receive as their compensation 10 per cent. of whatever is recovered, either by litigation or settlement, excepting that if the court makes an allowance for an attorney's fee in said partition suit or other suits then such fee shall belong to said law firm, exclusive of the said 10 per cent. so to be paid by" the client, the attorneys were not entitled to ten per cent. of the land set apart to the client in addition to a fee allowed, but were only entitled to such money or property, and not a mere interest in the judgment.[79]

b. Operation and Effect

(1) In general
(2) As assignment
(3) On client's power to dismiss or compromise

(1) In General

The rights of the parties as to the measure of an attorney's contingent fee and the medium of payment are controlled by the contract. Contingent fee contracts ordinarily contemplate performance of all services necessary to collect the claim, but particular agreements may give the attorney the right to extra compensation.

In determining the measure of the attorney's compensation under an agreement for a contingent fee, the contract of the parties is controlling,[80] and the client cannot impair or destroy the attorney's rights to the stipulated fee.[81] An agreement to prosecute a claim for a percentage of the recovery entitles the attorney to the stipulated portion of any amount collected under the judgment;[82] and where a set-off having no connection with the claim which the attorney agreed to prosecute is allowed against the judgment, the attorney is entitled to compensation on the basis of the full judgment obtained on the main cause of action undiminished by the amount of the set-off.[83] An amount paid to the attorney by the adverse party to cover the attorney's expenses in settling the claim is "money received by compromise by reason of the injury" within the meaning of a contract requiring division between the attorney and client of such money.[84]

An agreement by the client to compensate the attorney if he recovered the difference between the actual value and the purchase price of certain bonds contemplates that as regards the right to compensation, the question of the difference should be settled by the verdict and judgment in the action for recovery, and the client cannot in a subsequent action between attorney and client raise the question of whether the amount recovered in the prior action was in fact such difference.[85]

Medium of payment. Where the contract clearly indicates that the parties had in mind the collection of the claim in money, the attorney is entitled to his fee in money although in fact the judgment was paid not in money but in property. In such case the attorney is not to be deprived of his right to compensation or compelled to accept an interest in the property recovered but is entitled to the agreed percentage of the fair cash value of such property.[86] Where, however, the fee, as far as the partition suit was concerned, and ten per cent of the amount recovered in the accounting —Bennett v. Potter, 183 P. 156, 180 Cal 736

79. McCall v Atchley, 164 S W. 593, 256 Mo. 39—Schempp v Davis, 211 S W 728, 201 Mo App 430

80. Graeber v. McMullin, (C C A Colo) 56 F (2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v. Graeber, 53 S Ct 9, 287 U S 603, 77 L Ed 525

Unexpectedly large amount realized without suit

Where an attorney, employed, on a contingent fee of one-half the recovery, to recover for criminal conversation, unexpectedly secures twenty-five thousand dollars without suit, he should renounce the contract and turn over to his client all but reasonable compensation for his services —In re Hahn, 94 A 953, 84 N.J Eq 522, motion denied 96 A 589, 85 N J Eq. 510, Ann Cas 1918B 830.

81. Ex parte Wilkinson, 126 So 102, 220 Ala. 529

82. In re Lahm, 167 N.Y S 217, 179 App Div. 757, affirmed 119 N.E 1052, 223 N Y. 573

Fee provided for in note

Where the payee of a note calling for ten per cent. attorney's fees agreed to pay the attorney seventy five dollars for collection of the note, but that ten per cent provided for in note would be in lieu of seventy five dollars fee if judgment on the note included attorney's fees, on reduction of note to judgment including attorney's fees provided for in note, the attorney was entitled to a fee of ten per cent of amount actually collected on the judgment —Stegall v. Edwards, (Ga App) 181 S E 502.

Recovery in creditor's suit

In a creditor's suit to subject to judgment a fund from a personal injury case, the attorney for the judgment debtor was entitled to the percentage of the fund which was due him under his contract of employment in the negligence case —Kittinger Witt Co v. Brookins, 172 N E 197, 35 Ohio App 266.

Recovery in foreclosure suit

Under an agreement with defendant providing that the attorney for prosecuting foreclosure suits would be paid whatever actual fee could be thereafter realized from foreclosure, the attorney was held entitled to amount of fee included in foreclosure decree, where defendant, after purchasing the mortgaged property on foreclosure, sold it subsequent to expiration of redemption period for an amount in excess of its mortgage debt and costs, as against the contention that the attorney was entitled to a fee only to the extent that it was actually collected prior to expiration of redemption period —Henry v. Federal Land Bank of St Louis, (Ill App) 8 N E (2d) 972.

83. In re Choate, (Okl.) 50 P.(2d) 706

84. Sanders v. Cotton, 206 S.W. 313, 136 Ark 212.

85. Steiner, Crum & Weil v. Smith Sons Lumbor Co, 93 So. 399, 207 Ala 442, overruling in effect Smith Sons Lumber Co v. Steiner, Crum & Weil, 85 So 758, 204 Ala 306.

86. Graeber v. McMullin, (C C A. Colo) 56 F (2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v. Graeber, 53 S Ct. 9, 287 U S 603, 77 L Ed 525.

Percentage of "sum" recovered

Where attorneys agreed to accept as compensation for services in foreclosing a mortgage one half of such sum as defendant might recover, they are entitled to compensation in money and cannot be required to accept an interest in the land. The word "sum" used in the contract to define the character of the attorney's compensation refers to money and not to an interest in real property — Donovan v. Jenkins, 155 P. 972, 52 Mont. 124.

Recovery of mining claims

Where judgment was not collected in cash but by transferring mining parties agreed that the attorney was to receive a certain percentage of whatever may be collected for the client, and the client took realty instead of cash, the attorney is entitled to the stipulated portion of the realty.[87]

Services contemplated. An attorney's agreement to conduct a case for a contingent fee based on the amount recovered ordinarily includes all work necessary, whether contemplated at the time or not, to carry the cases through to a finish, until judgment is obtained and the judgment collected,[88] but an attorney who accepts a claim on a contingent fee for collection without suit is not thereby required to appear at a contested trial of the claim against a decedent's estate, where his client has evaded his requests for an additional fee.[89] If the circumstances warrant the attorney in demanding a new contract because of the necessity of additional unexpected work, he must act within a reasonable time after discovery thereof.[90]

(2) As Assignment

An executory agreement that an attorney shall receive a certain portion of what is recovered ordinarily does not prior to judgment give him any interest in the claim, although on recovery of judgment, provided there has been a proper appropriation, it operates as an equitable assignment pro tanto.

Whether in a given case the agreement between attorney and client constitutes an assignment is dependent upon the intent of the parties, as evidenced by the terms of the agreement, in the light of all the surrounding circumstances.[91]

An executory agreement that the attorney shall receive a certain portion of what is recovered will not, ordinarily give him any legal or equitable interest in the cause of action or claim prior to reduction to judgment[92] unless there is an express stipulation to that effect or unless an intention to assign an interest in the cause of action plainly appears,[93] and, where a right of action is not assignable, it is not possible to assign to an attorney any right in a future judgment.[94]

claims, attorney negotiating settlement of judgment was entitled to agreed percentage of fair cash value of claims as fee—Graeber v McMullin, (C C A Colo.) 56 F (2d) 497, certiorari denied McMullin v Graeber, 53 S Ct. 9, 287 U S 603, 77 L Ed 525

87. O'Byrne v McNeill, 7 P (2d) 956, 90 Colo 226

88. Creason v. Deatherage, 30 S W. (2d) 1, 325 Mo 661

Extra services not required

An attorney having one tenth interest in an invention obtained for the seller was entitled to a fair compensation for his services before being required to execute the documents necessary to clear the purchaser's title—U S Colloid Mill Corporation v Myers, (D.C N.Y.) 6 F Supp 283

89. In re Coffin's Estate, 179 N.W 123, 189 Iowa 862

90. Roper v Alamosa Nat. Bank, 203 P 663, 70 Colo. 580.

Delay held unreasonable

An attorney who had agreed to make collection for specified percentage of amount collected could not, on discovery that the client's debtor was demanding an accounting and making large counterclaims, making additional labor on attorney's part necessary, continue to perform the work in connection with the case and to prosecute negotiations and proceed with the litigation, without insisting upon a new contract for additional compensation until a few days prior to the trial—Roper v. Alamosa Nat Bank, 203 P 663, 70 Colo 580

91. Stearns v Wollenberg, 92 P 1079, 51 Or 88, 93, 14 L R A (N S) 1095—6 C J p 743 note 30

92. U S—Woodbury v Andrew Jergens Co, (C C A N Y) 69 F (2d) 49—Spellman v Bankers' Trust Co, (C C A N Y) 6 F (2d) 799

Cal—In re Scott, 271 P 906, 205 Cal 525—Kelly v. Smith, 268 P 1057, 204 Cal 496

S C—Perry v. Atlantic Coast Life Ins Co, 164 S E. 753, 166 S C 270

Tex—Besteiro v Besteiro, (Civ App) 7 S.W (2d) 124

Wyo—Enos v Keating, 271 P 6, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430, rehearing denied 275 P 131, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430

6 C J p 742 note 20

Mere assignment of fund collected

Where the attorney of an injured servant suing for damages was assigned one half the amount which might be recovered, the transfer being made before the filing of the petition, the attorney's interest was contingent upon collection, and was a mere assignment of funds to be collected—Chicago, R I & G. Ry. Co v. Cosio, (Tex Civ App) 132 S W 83

Recovered, or received on compromise

Agreement that attorneys were "to have one-third of any sum of money or property, or both, or either, that may be recovered or paid as a compromise of said suit," was held not a present sale or conveyance of interest in plaintiff's cause of action entitling the attorneys to intervene after attempted dismissal by the client and prosecute to judgment on their own account the client's suit—Wheeler v. Fronhoff, (Tex.Civ. App) 270 S W. 887

93. Gibson v. Texas Pac. Coal Co., (Tex Com App) 266 S.W. 137—6 C J p 742 note 21

Particular contracts construed

(1) Contract whereby client, in consideration of services to be performed by attorney in prosecution of personal injury claim, "assigns" to attorney "one-third of any and all sums which may be realized either by suit or by compromise," constituted transfer to attorney of interest in cause of action—Gibson v. Texas Pac Coal Co, (Tex Com App) 266 S W. 137, reversing (Civ App) Gibson v. Texas Pacific Coal Co, 252 S W. 874.

(2) A contract between attorney and client, "in order to secure the services as attorneys in the case of the death of my husband, * * * I hereby set over to said attorneys one-third of same against all parties," etc, did not provide for a contingent fee, but was an assignment of a one-third interest in the case, rather than any amount or judgment which might be recovered by prosecuting the litigation—Wichita Falls Electric Co. v. Chancellor & Bryan, (Tex Civ App) 229 S W. 649, error refused.

(3) A conveyance to attorney in consideration of services of two-thirds interest in lands, estate, and property recovered was held effective as present conveyance of realty, but not to convey oil theretofore extracted from the lands—Broadway v. Stone, (Tex Com App) 15 S W.(2d) 230, modifying (Civ.App) Stone v. Broadway, 6 S.W (2d) 197, and rehearing denied (Com.App) Broadway v Stone, 17 S W.(2d) 86

94. Lynde v. Lynde, 52 A. 694, 64 N.J Eq. 736, 97 Am S R. 692, 58 L.

An agreement with an attorney that he shall have as compensation a specific sum,[95] or a stipulated percentage,[96] to be paid out of the amount recovered will, however, on the recovery of judgment, operate as an equitable assignment pro tanto; and this has been so held where the action in which the judgment was obtained was on a cause of action for a tort in itself unassignable.[97]

Necessity of appropriation. In order that an agreement for a contingent fee may operate as an equitable assignment, there must be in effect a constructive appropriation of so much of the amount to be recovered as will confer upon the attorney a complete and present right to receive the same without the further intervention of the client.[98] A mere covenant by a client to pay from a specified fund after that fund has reached his hands does not operate as an equitable assignment of the fund,[99] and a clause binding the client to pay "an amount equal to" a certain percentage "of the amount recovered" merely fixes the amount to be paid and does not convey an interest in the property eventually recovered.[1] In some jurisdictions there must be an actual appropriation of some designated proportion or per cent of the judgment,[2] but in others it is not indispensable that the portion or amount of the fund sought to be assigned should be precisely ascertained and stated in the assignment, it being sufficient that the transaction affords evidence as to the part of the fund on which the assignment was intended to operate.[3]

(3) On Client's Power to Dismiss or Compromise

The client's power to dismiss or compromise his suit is not affected by a valid contingent fee contract.

A valid agreement for the payment to the attorney of a proportion of the sum recovered in case of success does not give the attorney such an interest in the cause of action as to prevent the suitor without consulting his attorney, from dismissing the suit[4] or compromising it;[5] and where

R.A. 471, reversing (Ch.) 50 A. 659—6 C.J. p. 742 note 22

95. Cal.—McGown v. Dalzell, 236 P. 941, 72 Cal.App. 197
D.C.—Sanborn v. Maxwell, 18 App. D.C. 245
N.Y.—Lynch v. Conger, 168 N.Y.S. 855, 181 App.Div. 221
Tex.—Ives v. Culton, (Com.App.) 229 S.W. 321, affirming (Civ.App.) 197 S.W. 619

96. N.Y.—La Fetra v. Hudson Trust Co., 197 N.Y.S. 332, 203 App.Div. 729, affirmed 142 N.E. 272, 236 N.Y. 533
N.C.—High Point Casket Co. v. Wheeler, 109 S.E. 378, 182 N.C. 459, 19 A.L.R. 391.
Ohio.—Healy v. Robinson, 11 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 329—Smith v. Baltimore & Ohio R. Co., 11 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 65—Bailey v. Toledo & Ohio Central Ry. Co., 3 Ohio N.P.(N.S.) 366
Pa.—Cramer v. Equitable Gas Co., 14 Pa.Dist. & Co. 153.
Tex.—Bowles v. Bryan, (Civ.App.) 277 S.W. 760—Northern Texas Traction Co. v. Clark & Sweeton, (Civ.App.) 272 S.W. 564—C. W. Hahl & Co. v. Hutcheson, Campbell & Hutcheson, (Civ.App.) 196 S.W. 262, error refused
6 C.J. p. 742 note 24

Creation of trust relation

Where defendants employed attorneys to protect their title to certain mining claims, agreeing to deed them seven and one half per cent. of the claims or the proceeds left after judgment, and to do the necessary annual assessment work on the mining claims for them, it was held that defendants became trustees for the interests of their attorneys—Donohoe v. Tjosevig, 6 Alaska 139

Assignment of legacy

Retainer agreement executed by legatee, specifying that an attorney should receive twenty-five per cent. of legacy, to extent of such twenty-five per cent amounted to an equitable assignment of the legacy—In re Kitching's Will, 253 N.Y.S. 112, 141 Misc. 704.

Conveyance of land

(1) "An attorney agreed to conduct litigation for quieting title to his client's real estate, and the client agreed as compensation 'to make, execute, and deliver to said second party (attorney) a good and sufficient warranty deed conveying an undivided one-half interest in and to said lands above described.' Held that, the agreement constituted an equitable, conditional assignment to the attorney of an interest in the subject of litigation"—Lashley v. Moore, 240 P. 704, 112 Okl. 198.

(2) So a client's agreement to give his attorney one-half of tract of land for services rendered in recovering possession thereof from the client's divorced wife manifested intention to convey to attorney an interest in such land—Oliver v. Howie, 281 S.W. 17, 170 Ark. 758

97. Pa.—Cramer v. Equitable Gas Co., 14 Pa.Dist. & Co. 153
Tex.—Gibson v. Texas Pac. Coal Co., (Com.App.) 266 S.W. 137, reversing (Civ.App.) Gibson v. Texas Pacific Coal Co., 252 S.W. 874.
6 C.J. p. 742 note 25.

98. Holmes v. Evans, 29 N.E. 233, 129 N.Y. 140—6 C.J. p. 742 note 26.

99. Holmes v. Bell, 124 N.Y.S. 301, 139 App.Div. 455, affirmed 94 N.E. 1094 mem., 200 N.Y. 536 mem.—6 C.J. p. 742 note 27.

1. Brown v. Furlong, 117 So. 533, 166 La. 537.

2. Story v. Hull, 32 N.E. 265, 143 Ill. 506—6 C.J. p. 743 note 28.

Fixed compensation or percentage

The agreement must provide for a fixed compensation or specify the percentage of recovery—In re Kitching's Will, 253 N.Y.S. 112, 141 Misc. 704.

3. Milmo Nat. Bank v. Convery, 27 S.W. 328, 8 Tex.Civ.App. 131.

4. Zerkowsky v. Zerkowsky, 131 So. 647, 160 Miss. 278

5. Minn.—Southworth v. Rosendahl, 158 N.W. 717, 133 Minn. 447.
Miss.—Lamar County v. Tally & Mayson, 77 So. 299, 116 Miss. 538
6 C.J. p. 743 note 31.

In Texas

Where injured person assigned interest in cause of action to his attorney, without reservation of right to determine whether the claim should be compromised after commencement of suit, the injured person, after judgment in his favor had been affirmed by the court of civil appeals, and pending application to supreme court for writ of error, could not compromise his attorney's interest in the judgment by a settlement with defendant who had actual notice of the attorney's rights, and the attorney, notwithstanding such attempted compromise, on the district court's receipt of mandate from court of civil appeals, was entitled to execution for the amount due him.

the adverse party obtains a judgment, the client is under no obligation to his attorney, by reason of such contract, to bring writ of error.[6]

§ 188. —— Performance

a. In general
b. Effect of death of parties
c. Nonperformance or breach

a. In General

An attorney's right to recover under a contingent fee contract depends on the happening of the contingency.

Where there is an agreement for a contingent fee, and the contingency has happened, the attorney is entitled to recover the fee stipulated in his contract.[7] The happening of the contingency is a condition precedent to the right to recover for his services, however,[8] and the precise event which

—Gibson v Texas Pac Coal Co., (Tex Com App) 266 S W. 137, reversing (Civ App) Gibson v Texas Pacific Coal Co, 252 S W. 874

Liability of county

County is not liable to an attorney assigned a fifty per cent interest in a suit on compromise with plaintiff who had accepted a consideration for right of way for road—Grantham v Lamar County, 114 So. 33, 148 Miss. 148.

6. State v. Miller, 96 S.E. 791, 82 W.Va. 490

7. U S—Waugh v. Q & C Co., (C C A Ill) 16 F (2d) 363
Ark—Reeves v Singfield, 292 S W. 365, 177 Ark. 1195
Ky—Sharp v. Culton, 89 S W (2d) 869, 262 Ky 84
La—Morrison v. Antoine, 124 So 318, 11 La App 526
Tex—Chandler v Harrison, (Civ App) 4 S W (2d) 604.
6 C J p 743 note 35 [a].

Final determination

Where an attorney was retained to bring suit and to fight it in good faith to a final determination, the compensation to be at a fixed amount if he lost, and at an increased amount if he won, sustaining a demurrer to the petition was a "final determination" of the cause of action in the circuit court, entitling the attorney to his fee, and if he filed an amended petition by leave of court, and subsequently withdrew it because no new facts were stated therein, such final determination was not thereby affected and the client could not resist payment on the ground that the attorney had voluntarily abandoned his case—King v Mann, 235 S W. 506, 208 Mo App. 642, affirmed (Sup) 236 S W. 100.

Partial recovery

An attorney employed to recover two parcels of land for an amount equal to half of the value of the property recovered was entitled to agreed compensation, where he recovered only one parcel, in the absence of a showing that he failed to do anything he should have done. —Stowers v. Runyon, 267 S W. 554, 206 Ky. 479.

Realization of holdings

An attorney's cash remuneration under contract for payment to him in cash of twenty-five per cent of the amount realized "whether by way of sale, mortgage, hypothecation, exchange, or any other manner" by the client from his holdings of stock in a corporation, was not dependent on the client's receipt of cash therefor after payment to the corporation of the amount awarded in condemnation proceedings—McAvoy v Schramme, 264 N Y S 181, 238 App Div. 225, affirmed 189 N E 691, 263 N Y 548.

Settlement

A suit for divorce is not settled within the meaning of an attorney's contract, entitling him only to one-half the stated fee if the case was settled, where plaintiff dismissed her petition without prejudice, but the attorney secured a divorce for defendant on his cross-petition, since "settled" implies that there has been an agreement by the parties—Bryant v. Mundorf, 179 N W. 125, 189 Iowa 882

Straightening out title

Where the contract provides that an attorney is to have a one-third interest in property conveyed to him as a contingent fee for straightening out title thereto, his right accrues and he is entitled to a conveyance when making the title good and marketable and furnishing counsel's opinion accordingly.—Johnston v Cox, 154 So 206, 114 Fla. 243

Successful defense of action

Under a written agreement to defend an action for a contingent fee, a final favorable judgment by the appellate division on the evidence entitled the attorney to receive the amount stipulated for the successful outcome of the suit—In re Wise, 158 N Y S. 793, 172 App Div. 491.

Matters not defeating right

Where a school district claimed interest in tax funds collected by the county, the fact that before the contract of the district with an attorney for a contingent fee to aid in defending claims of taxpayers for taxes paid under protest the county treasurer had disbursed some of the money did not excuse the district from payment of a portion of such sum under a contingent fee contract. —Board of Education of Oklahoma City v. Thurman, 247 P. 996, 121 Okl 108.

8. U S—Swift v Jackson, (C C A. Okl) 37 F (2d) 237, certiorari denied 50 S Ct. 351, 281 U S 745, 74 L Ed 1158.
Ga—Byrd v. Clark, 153 S E 737, 170 Ga 669, rehearing denied 154 S E 881, 170 Ga 912—Stephens v Fulford, 112 S E 894, 153 Ga 637, answers to certified questions conformed to, 113 S E 95, 28 Ga.App 790—Gower v. Roberts, 132 S.E 796, 32 Ga App 164.
Mass—Zuckernik v. Jordan Marsh Co., 194 N E 892
N.Y—Catts v. Harft, 208 N Y S. 446, 124 Misc 519.
Okl.—Gilbert v. Gaines, 35 P (2d) 911, 169 Okl 5—Jones v Merfeldt, 30 P (2d) 924, 167 Okl 530—Fisher v. Grider, 234 P. 570, 109 Okl 23, error dismissed 47 S Ct 342, 273 U S 655, 744, 71 L Ed 824, which denied rehearing 46 S Ct. 105, 269 U S 579, 70 L Ed 422—Snell v Canard, 218 P. 813, 95 Okl 145, error dismissed Canard v. Snell, 45 S Ct. 350, 267 U S. 578, 596, 69 L Ed 797.
Pa—In re McCall, 28 Pa Dist 433
Tex—Butler v King, (Civ App) 91 S W (2d) 862—Sanford v. Weller, (Civ App) 189 S.W. 1011, error refused
6 C J p 743 note 35, p 745 note 58 [a].

Foreclosure of mortgage

Where plaintiffs agreed to foreclose defendant's mortgage for a percentage of the recovery, they became entitled to compensation only on the date when defendant's lien was adjudged superior to the claim of a third person—Donovan v. Jenkins, 155 P 972, 52 Mont 124.

Institution of receivership proceeding

Where an attorney investigating the advisability of a receivership proceeding worked with the understanding that he should not receive any fee if a receivership was not asked for, and a receivership proceeding was not instituted, the attorney was not entitled to recover reasonable compensation for services rendered on the theory that he was ready to perform the contract by instituting a receivership suit and his was contemplated must happen,[9] although it is immaterial that the client is not benefited by the success of the suit.[10]

In determining whether the contingency has happened, the contract of employment should receive a fair and reasonable construction[11] Unless specifically provided, the manner in which the attorney accomplishes the desired result is not material,[12] if he has not previously abandoned the suit,[13] and it is not a valid objection to the attorney's claim that the result was brought about in some unforeseen manner, even though the duties of the attorney are rendered much less burdensome thereby[14] Thus a contract, giving the attorney a certain contingent fee if the case was "tried" in the supreme court and affirmed, covers a situation where the appeal was defeated in the supreme court, although the case was not contested there on its merits.[15]

Compromise or settlement. Where a recovery by settlement as well as by suit is contemplated by the contract, the attorney is entitled to recover the stipulated amount in the case of a settlement,[16] client abandoned the proceeding.—Spears v. Polk, 69 S.W.(2d) 239, 17 Tenn App. 556.

9. Ga.—Byrd v. Clark, 153 S.E. 737, 170 Ga. 669, rehearing denied 154 S.E. 881, 170 Ga. 912.
Ill.—Dietz v. Van Speybroeck, 225 Ill App. 133
La.—Putnam v. Pons, 103 So. 254, 157 La. 895
6 C.J. p 743 note 36.

Collection of claim

(1) An attorney agreeing to collect money for a percentage of the sum collected cannot recover fees for obtaining a judgment, but must collect the money—Byrd v. Clark, 153 S.E. 737, 170 Ga. 669, rehearing denied 154 S.E. 881, 170 Ga. 912

(2) So the attorney for plaintiff in a separation action under an agreement by which plaintiff agreed to pay him fifty per cent of any sum collected in the action was not entitled to fifty per cent of the amount which had accrued, where the action was abandoned and alimony was not paid.—Wien v Wien, 273 N.Y.S. 636, 241 App Div. 526.

(3) Where money garnished was never applied to plaintiff's claim, it was never "collected," within the meaning of an attorney's contract for fees providing, "No fees for legal services unless collection is made." —Mountain States Supply Co v Nuttall-Allen Co., 225 P. 811, 63 Utah 384.

Damages for breach of promise

Under a contract providing that the attorney should receive half of the money which his client should recover or obtain for the breach of a contract of marriage, whether obtained "on execution, or by settlement, compromise, or agreement" the attorney was not entitled to any part of the property acquired by the client by operation of law when she married the adverse party, nor could he recover any part of the value of such marriage—Crow v. Mitchell, 192 S.W. 417, 269 Mo. 697, L.R.A. 1917D 912.

Interdiction in supreme court

A contract by which an attorney for a contingent fee undertook to secure a judgment of interdiction in the supreme court, while the case was then pending on appeal from judgment of dismissal, was not complied with, where he merely secured a remand there.—Putnam v. Pons, 103 So. 254, 157 La. 895.

"Procuring" money

An attorney for a former administrator who obtained from opposing counsel a stipulation not binding on the opposing party for distribution of the estate's assets in settlement of conflicting claims "procured" no money for his client within a contract providing payment of one half the amount "procured" for his client—In re Strandburg's Estate, 247 N.Y.S. 194, 138 Misc 732, modified on other grounds 248 N.Y.S. 164, 138 Misc 859.

Redemption of land

Where an attorney agreed with a mortgagee to foreclose a second mortgage on land, subject to a large first mortgage, rendering the second mortgage of little value, for a fee of two hundred dollars, with a further understanding that he should receive three hundred dollars additional if the premises were redeemed, he was entitled only to two hundred dollars, where the premises were not redeemed, although the mortgagee bid in the land at foreclosure for the full amount, including five hundred dollars attorney's fees awarded by the court—Baldwin v. McClaine, 244 P. 256, 138 Wash. 79.

Securing probate of will

In an action for an attorney's fee under a contract whereby plaintiff with other attorneys undertook to secure the probate of a will and they were to be paid a stipulated amount and also an additional fee of twenty-five thousand dollars if and when the will should be probated by final decree after appeal, where it appeared the client had entered into a compromise terminating the litigation then pending on appeal, plaintiff was not entitled to his share of the twenty-five thousand dollars, since the judgment of the county court denying probate had become final when the cause was dismissed on appeal because of failure to file an appeal bond as required by statute—Robertson v. National Spiritualists' Ass'n of United States of America, (Tex Civ App) 25 S W (2d) 889.

10. Hudson v. Sanders, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct 615, 10 Ohio Cir Dec. 342

11. Ingersoll v. Coram, (C C Mass) 127 F. 418—6 C J p 744 note 38

Amount receivable under Employers Liability Law

A contingent agreement by an attorney that he was to receive nothing unless the client should receive at least the amount she would receive under the "Employers' Liability Law" meant the full amount she could receive under such law, and not an amount previously offered by the employer under such law where such previous offer was not mentioned in the contract—Nichols v. Waters, 167 N W. 1, 201 Mich. 27.

12. Cal.—Mullia v. Mayer, 17 P.(2d) 705, 217 Cal. 209.
Ill.—Dietz v. Van Speybroeck, 225 Ill. App 133.
6 C.J. p 744 note 39.

Suit not originally contemplated

A lawyer whose client contracted to pay him twenty-five per cent of the proceeds of any suit, settlement, or compromise, of the client's claim to certain property or damages, and who recovered money and property for such client through joining in a suit not originally contemplated, could recover his share of the proceeds—Thomas v Scougale, 155 P. 847, 90 Wash 162.

13. U S.—Frink v. McComb, (C C. Del) 60 F. 486
Ala.—Cheney v. Kelly, 10 So. 664, 95 Ala. 168.
Ill.—Scoville v. School Trustees, 65 Ill. 523
Ky.—Simrall v. Morton, 12 S W. 135, 12 Ky L. 21.
6 C J p 744 note 41.

14. Clancy v Kelly, 166 N W. 583, 182 Iowa 1207—6 C J. p 744 note 40

15. Clancy v Kelly, 166 N W. 583, 182 Iowa 1207.

16. McCall v. Atchley, (Mo App) 194 S.W. 714.

Secret compromise by client

Under a contract providing that and the court cannot disregard the contract and allow a lesser compensation, on the ground that the attorney's labor in procuring a settlement was presumably less than that which would have been required by a trial,[17] nor, where a compromise of the suit was brought about, is the attorney's right to the stipulated compensation defeated by his failure to subpœna witnesses when requested by the client not to do so.[18] Although the contract is not literally performed, if the client, as the result of a compromise, receives all that he would have received in the event of a literal performance the attorney is entitled to the agreed compensation,[19] but where the contract provides that the attorney is to have a percentage of whatever is recovered by compromise or otherwise in the litigation, if no such compromise is effected he is not entitled to recover where the client, by reason of an independent claim, receives in settlement substantially what he could have received in the litigation, the attorney taking no part in such settlement.[20] Where the contract provides for a certain percentage of the recovery if settlement is made out of court and a larger percentage in case suit is brought, where a just settlement is effected without litigation and suit is then instituted as a mere formality for the convenience of an adverse party, the attorney is entitled only to the smaller amount of compensation, it being his duty to select the method of recovery which is least burdensome to his client.[21]

b. Effect of Death of Parties

The rule that the contingency must happen to entitle the attorney to his fee applies notwithstanding the death of the parties.

The death of either attorney or client does not affect the requirement that the contingency must happen before the fees become payable.[22]

Death of attorney. The estate of a deceased lawyer employed on a contingent fee basis has no enforceable claim where the contract was not performed at the time of his death;[23] and an attorney prosecuting a claim upon a contingent fee, who performed every act proper and necessary to promote the interest of his client but died before the case came to trial, cannot be held to have performed his contract so as to entitle his estate to the stipulated fee.[24] So where the right to compensation is contingent upon success, and the death of the attorney occurs before any recovery is had, and nothing is thereafter recovered, his personal representatives are entitled to no compensation for his services.[25] Where the contract has been fully performed by the attorney, however, his death does not abrogate the right of his estate to the contingent fee owing to him;[26] and where an attorney who is employed under a contract for a contingent fee substitutes another attorney in his stead who prosecutes the suit with the consent of the client, the death of the original attorney does not defeat the right of the substituted attorney to recover the agreed compensation for such services.[27]

Death of client. Where a contract was made with an attorney for the prosecution of a claim for a contingent fee out of the amount recovered, and the contract was substantially performed by the attorney before the death of the client, as where the claim was tried before his death, but favorable decision was rendered on it thereafter, the fees became vested prior to the client's death, and the attorneys are to receive one fourth of whatever is recovered by them for their client "in said action" by compromise or otherwise, the attorneys are entitled to recover, although the client obtains a secret voluntary compromise while the action is pending, an objection that the compromise on the client's part was not a recovery "in said action" being untenable.—McCall v. Atchley, (Mo App.) 194 S.W. 714

17. Murray v Waring Hat Mfg Co., 127 N.Y.S. 78, 142 App.Div. 514—In re Summerville, 129 N.Y.S. 1148 See Malmquist v Belden Mfg Co., 202 Ill.App. 319.

18. McCall v Atchley, (Mo App.) 194 S.W. 714.

19. Webster v. Rhodes, 112 P. 324, 49 Colo. 202—6 C.J. p. 744 note 43

20. McCall v Atchley, (Mo App.) 194 S.W. 714

21. Saunders v Gunn, (Tex.Civ.App.) 1 S.W.(2d) 363.

Suit to establish party's status

There was a compromise of the claim of plaintiff whose husband was killed in a railroad accident within the meaning of the word as used in her contract with her attorneys, where the road settled the claim, although it required a friendly suit to be brought against it to establish plaintiff's status as the wife of deceased.—Heller v. McGilvray, (Mo.App.) 223 S.W. 970

22. Ky.—Triplett v. Mockbees, 5 J.J.Marsh. 219
N.Y.—Badger v. Celler, 58 N.Y.S. 653, 41 App.Div. 599

23. Mulqueen v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, (C.C.A.) 65 F.(2d) 365, cert. den. 54 S.Ct. 62, 290 U.S. 644, 78 L.Ed. 559

24. Sargent v. McLeod, 103 N.E. 164, 209 N.Y. 360, 52 L.R.A.(N.S.) 350

25. Badger v. Celler, 58 N.Y.S. 653, 41 App.Div. 599—6 C.J. p. 744 note 49.

26. O'Brien v. Liberty Mining Co., 204 N.W. 625, 164 Minn. 186

Royalties under mining lease

Where a landowner contracted with an attorney to assign one tenth of the royalties payable under a lease which he might succeed in putting the land under, and the attorney effected the lease after the death of the landowner, whose heirs assigned the attorney one tenth of the royalties payable thereunder, the landowner's promise to assign part of the royalties was dependent only on the success of the attorney's promised efforts to procure the lease, and the death of the attorney did not abrogate the assignment of part of royalties to him.—O'Brien v. Liberty Mining Co., 204 N.W. 625, 164 Minn. 186

27. Reese v. Resburgh, 66 N.Y.S. 633, 54 App.Div. 378.

attorney is entitled to them.[28] So when the attorney rendering services to the date of the client's death was dismissed by the client's administrator, who afterward recovered on the claim, it was held that the death of the client did not dissolve the contract, but that the compensation remained a lien upon the money when recovered;[29] and it has been held that an agreement for a percentage of the sum recovered is such an interest as will prevent the death of the client from revoking the attorney's authority.[30] An agreement between attorney and client in consideration of legal services in a pending action for land conveying to the former an interest in the land sought to be recovered is not revoked by the death of the client;[31] but where an attorney undertook the prosecution of a suit for compensation conditioned on success, and, upon the death of the client, the suit was dismissed or compromised by the client's personal representatives, thereby preventing success, it was held that the attorney was not entitled to the entire contingent fee agreed on.[32]

c. Nonperformance or Breach

An attorney breaching his contingent fee contract is entitled to no compensation and may be liable in damages. The attorney cannot recover where performance becomes impossible through the happening of a collateral event, but the rule is otherwise where the client prevents performance.

The attorney is not entitled to recover his compensation under a contingent fee contract where before the happening of the contingency he abandons the case[33] or refuses to complete his contract without extra compensation,[34] even though his services may have been of benefit to the parties,[35] and he is liable for damages proximately caused by his failure to perform.[36]

Where the attorney obtained a settlement pursuant to his contract of employment, and that settlement was almost immediately attacked from the source from whence it came, it is the attorney's duty to defend such attack, and if he refuses to do so and the client is therefore compelled to employ other counsel, such employment must be held to be at the expense of the first attorney.[37]

Impossibility of performance. The attorney is not entitled to recover under a contingent fee contract when the attainment of the desired object becomes impossible through the happening of a collateral event.[38] Where the client prevents proper performance by the attorney, however, the latter is entitled to the reasonable value of the services rendered in part performance,[39] and, where the attorney has fully performed by bringing about a settlement to which the parties agreed but the client refuses to execute the agreement, the attorney is entitled to the agreed contingent compensation;[40] but the attorney cannot recover where the happening of the contingency is prevented by the wrongful conduct of the person for whose benefit the services were engaged and with the sub-

28. In re Levine's Estate, 286 N Y S 513, 247 App Div 19, affirming 278 N Y S. 36, 154 Misc 700.

29. Wylie v Coxe, (D C) 15 How (U S) 415, 14 L Ed. 753—6 C J. p 727 note 43

30. Dupree v Bridgers, 84 S E 696, 168 N C 424—6 C J p 744 note 51.

31. Dupree v. Bridgers, supra

32. Campbell v Kincaid, 3 T B Mon (Ky.) 63—6 C J p 727 note 49.

33. U S—In re Woodworth, (D C N Y) 15 F Supp 291, affirmed (C C A) 85 F (2d) 50

Ark—Young v. Fowler, 200 S W. 813, 132 Ark. 145

6 C J p 744 note 45

34. Douglass v. Downend, 30 Ohio Cir Ct. 649

35. Young v Fowler, 200 S W. 813, 132 Ark. 145

36. Page v. Walser, 213 P 107, 46 Nev. 390.

Loss of interest in corporation

An attorney is liable for damages proximately caused by his failure to perform his contract to establish by litigation or otherwise the client's interest in a named corporation in return for the assignment to him by the client of a portion of such interest, and where the attorney so manipulated plaintiff's interest in such corporation that it was transferred into stock of another corporation, which was later sold on execution and wholly lost to plaintiff, the fact that the stock became in contemplation of law the sole property of such other corporation does not preclude plaintiff from maintaining an action to recover such damages—Page v Walser, 213 P. 107, 46 Nev 390

37. Hoskins v Adkins, 41 S W (2d) 753, 184 Ark 124.

38. Ky—Fisk v. Snyder, 4 Ky L 716, 11 Ky Op 928

Tenn—Moyers v. Graham, 15 Lea 57.

Disbarment

The rule permitting an attorney's recovery for the reasonable value of services performed is based on quasi contract and is confined to instances where the attorney is prevented from earning the agreed contingent fee without fault, as by illness, death, or discharge without fair cause, and is inapplicable where the attorney is disbarred or unjustifiably abandons the case—In re Woodworth, (D C N Y) 15 F Supp 291, affirmed (C C A) 85 F (2d) 50.

39. Ala—Lanthrip v. Ivey, 114 So 12, 22 Ala App 190

N D—Hildreth v Honsinger, 171 N W 332, 41 N D 485

Wash—Smith v. Saulsberry, 288 P 927, 157 Wash 270—Ramey v Graves, 191 P. 801, 112 Wash 88

Acceptance of consent judgment

Where the client, after employing the attorney to collect a claim and agreeing to pay one half of the amount collected, by his neglect prevented the attorney from properly presenting the claim and compelled him to accept a consent judgment, and where the attorney's services were reasonably worth the full amount of the consent judgment, the client was not entitled to one half of the amount so collected—Lanthrip v. Ivey, 114 So. 12, 22 Ala. App. 190

40. Iowa—Coughlon v. Pedelty, 233 N W 63, 211 Iowa 138

N J—Levy v. Gollin, 138 A. 308, 5 N J Misc. 786.

sequent continuing passive acquiescence of the client.[41]

§ 189. —— Effect of Premature Termination or Settlement of Action

Although the client may dismiss the action or compromise without his attorney's consent, by so doing he cannot defeat the attorney's right to contingent compensation.

Since ordinarily an agreement for a contingent fee, as has been shown supra § 187, does not give the attorney any interest in the subject matter of the litigation, any disposition of the case the client chooses to make is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, binding on the attorney.[42] However, a compromise or settlement by the client may not deprive the attorney of his right to proper compensation for his professional services, especially where the employment contract contains a stipulation against compromise or settlement.[43] General-

41. Stephens v Fulford, 112 S E 894, 153 Ga 637, answers to certified questions conformed to 113 S E 95, 28 Ga App 790

Employment to obtain pardon

Where the father of a convict engaged an attorney on a contingent fee basis to obtain a pardon for his son, and the attorney obtained from the trial judge, the solicitor general, and each of the trial jurors, and from various other persons, a recommendation for a pardon and obtained a confession of perjury from the state's main witness in the criminal case and a recommendation from the commission to the governor for a full pardon which was transmitted to the governor, and where the son of the client escaped from the penitentiary while such favorable recommendation was awaiting the governor's consideration so that the pardon could not be granted, the convict being a technical fugitive from justice, and where the client knew the whereabouts of his son and refused to return him to the custody of the state authorities, the attorney could not recover either on a quantum meruit or on the contract. In such case, as pointed out by the court, the question of whether recovery could be had where the client himself prevented, by his wrongful conduct, a successful result of the attorney's services was not presented and could not be decided—Stephens v Fulford, 112 S E 894, 153 Ga. 637, answers to certified questions conformed to 113 S E 95, 28 Ga App 790.

42. La—Succession of Rice, 86 So 282, 147 La 834—Succession of Carbajal, 71 So. 774, 139 La 481
Miss—New Orleans & N E R Co v. Tally & Mayson, 69 So 136, 109 Miss 393.
Mo—Miller v. St. Louis Car Co., (App) 14 S W.(2d) 464.
N Y—Corcoran v. George Kellogg Structural Co., 166 N Y.S 269, 179 App Div. 396
Tex—Robertson v National Spiritualists' Ass'n of United States of America, (Civ App) 25 S W (2d) 889—Kelly v. Gross, (Civ App) 4 S W (2d) 296.
6 C J p 745 notes 53, 54.
Effect on attorney's lien see infra § 231.

Contract held not binding

Where the attorneys of plaintiff had a contract with him for one third of the amount recovered in a suit for personal injuries and plaintiff without their knowledge by a settlement contract with defendant received an amount in satisfaction of his own part of the judgment, a written agreement, part of such contract, that defendant was to pay plaintiff's attorneys' fees, not exceeding a certain amount, was not binding on such attorneys, and defendant, under Rev St (1909) § 964, is liable, for plaintiff's attorneys' fees, for an amount equal to one half of plaintiff's part of the judgment—Kaemmerer v St Louis Electric Terminal Ry Co., 211 S W. 687, 201 Mo App 305.

Right of attorney to intervene

(1) An attorney rendering services for a contingent fee, based on a percentage of real property recovered, could not intervene or restrain his client's settlement through other attorneys—Bestairo v. Bestairo, (Tex Civ App) 7 S W.(2d) 124.

(2) Attorneys having a contingent interest in community property recovered by the wife in the event of divorce cannot intervene in and prosecute a divorce suit after the parties' reconciliation and prayer for dismissal—Kelly v. Gross, (Tex Civ.App) 293 S W. 325

43. Miss—Lamar Hardwood Co v Case, 107 So 868, 143 Miss 277
N Y—In re Carney, 158 N.Y S. 585, 93 Misc 600
Or—Snow v. Beard, 162 P. 253, 82 Or 518
Tex—Kelly v. Gross, (Civ.App) 4 S W (2d) 296
Wyo—Enos v. Keating, 271 P. 6, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430, rehearing denied 275 P. 131, 39 Wyo. 217, 67 A L R. 430

Client cannot waive his attorney's contingent interest in recovery, but an attorney having such interest may recover in the client's name against the person liable having prior notice of the attorney's interest.—Groves-Barnes Lumber Co v. Freeman, (Tex Civ App.) 33 S W (2d) 218.

Compromise of suit to cancel oil lease

(1) If an oil lease was an absolute nullity, a breach of the agreement by the lessors, husband and wife, with their attorney, employed under a contingent fee contract, not to compromise suit to cancel the lease without the consent of the attorney, entitled him to judgment against the husband for damages if a compromise was made with intent to deprive the attorney of his fee—Finkelstein v. Roberts, (Tex.Civ App) 220 S W 401, dismissed for want of jurisdiction

(2) In a suit to cancel an oil lease executed by plaintiffs, husband and wife, wherein plaintiffs' attorney intervened to enforce his contract with them, declaring on an agreement made by plaintiffs with defendant lessees, defendants cannot be held on such agreement except in accordance with its terms, including their stipulation to pay all claims as attorneys established against plaintiffs by suit or compromise, the compromise having established nothing against plaintiffs—Finkelstein v. Roberts, supra.

Quantum meruit

(1) Where a contract between attorney and client for a contingent fee contains no stipulation against compromise or discontinuance, the client may compromise or discontinue at will, leaving the attorney to his remedy by an action on quantum meruit—Succession of Carbajal, 71 So 774, 139 La 481

(2) A client, discharging attorneys employed on a contingent fee of two thousand dollars and settling the case, was at least liable on quantum meruit, if not on the contract, having put it out of the attorneys' power to complete the contract—Lane v. Gooding, 193 P. 670, 69 Colo 216.

(3) Where the consideration received by plaintiff for the cause of action was so intermingled in the settlement agreement that it was impossible to say how much plaintiff gained from the cause of action, an attorney who was to receive one fourth of the amount recovered on the cause of action was entitled to payment on the basis of what his services were fairly and reasonably worth—Nic Projector Corporation v. Movie-Jecktor Co., (D.C N.Y) 16 F Supp 605.

Liability of third person

(1) Defendant in a suit owes plainly, where an attorney is employed upon a contingent fee, and the matter is compromised, with or without his consent, if the result arrived at, no matter what its form, is in effect substantially the same as that upon which his contract fee is based, he may recover the full compensation fixed in the agreement, but, if it differs materially, he is limited to a quantum meruit.[44]

If the party compromises the suit or dismisses it without receiving any consideration, the attorney is entitled to nothing under the contract,[45] his remedy being an action for damages,[46] or an action upon a quantum meruit for the value of the services actually rendered.[47]

Where the client compromises for less than the face of his claim, the stipulated method of computing the compensation to be paid the attorney for his services must control, even though the suit is settled without his consent,[48] unless the agreement contains a void clause prohibiting settlement,[49] and it has been held that the entire compensation stipulated for may be recovered in such tiff's attorneys no duty to see that plaintiff complies with his contract for contingent fees, and, if plaintiff wrongfully compromises the suit to the injury of his attorneys, their remedy, if any, is a suit against plaintiff, and not against defendant. —Wheeler v Fronhoff, (Tex Civ.App.) 270 S W. 887.

(2) Husband and wife, suing to cancel their oil lease, had power to compromise the suit without consent of their attorney, although they had contracted with him not to do so, and defendant lessees were not liable to the attorney for such breach of contract by his clients unless in compromising defendants acted with a wrongful purpose—Finkelstein v Roberts, (Tex Civ App) 220 S W 401, dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

(3) However, where an attorney to bring action against a railroad for a contingent fee was dismissed before suit and action was commenced by other attorneys, who, after conducting litigation for four years, made a settlement with the railroad, which acted in good faith, the attorney's claim, if any, was not against the railroad but against the client—Rawlings v. Louisville & N. R. Co., 205 S W 681, 181 Ky 610.

Nonprofessional services

Objections by plaintiff's attorneys to dismissal of an employee's action against a railroad for personal injuries, on the ground that they were employed on a contingent basis, and had received no compensation for services rendered, and had advanced plaintiffs six hundred dollars to seven hundred dollars, in addition to retaining doctors to give him medical treatment, corroborated charges of improper conduct by attorneys, and to disclose that their relation to plaintiff had ceased to be merely professional—Weinard v Chicago, M. & St. P Ry. Co., (D C Minn) 298 F. 977.

44. Walker v. Wright, 236 P. 710, 28 Ariz 235

Substantial compliance

Where defendant client in writing agreed with plaintiff attorneys that, in the event he secured one half the money belonging to his wife as his sole property, or all of it passed into his control as community property, whether by court action or otherwise, the fee agreed to be paid plaintiffs should then become due, a compromise of the matter by defendant with his wife, without consent of plaintiffs, and which in effect irrevocably branded the money as community property, and secured to defendant a one-half interest therein beyond the power of the wife to dispose of, while not a literal compliance, was a substantial compliance with the contract, entitling plaintiffs to the agreed fee—Walker v. Wright, 236 P. 710, 28 Ariz 235

45. Colo—McPhail v. Spore, 162 P 151, 62 Colo 307.
Minn—Southworth v. Rosendahl, 158 N W. 717, 133 Minn 447
Miss—Lamar County v Tally & Mayson, 77 So 299, 116 Miss 588
Tex—Kelly v Gross, (Civ App) 4 S.W (2d) 296.
Wyo—Enos v Keating, 271 P 6, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430, rehearing denied 275 P 131, 39 Wyo. 217, 67 A L R 430
6 C.J. p 745 note 55.

Will contest

Where, after having plaintiff file a caveat in a will contest, and contracting to pay him one fourth of anything recovered, defendant, without plaintiff's authority, dismissed the action, which however, proceeded as to other caveators, plaintiff was not entitled to one fourth of the estate gained for defendant by the setting aside of the will—Boyd v. Johnson, 125 A 697, 145 Md 385.

46. Johnston v. Cutchin, 45 S E 522, 133 N C. 119.

47. U.S—Marquam v Vachon, (C C A Alaska) 7 F (2d) 607.
Cal—Ayres v. Lipschutz, 228 P 720, 68 Cal App 134—Hall v. Orloff, 194 P. 296, 49 Cal App 745.
Minn—Southworth v Rosendahl, 158 N W 717, 133 Minn 447
Tex—Kelly v. Gross, (Civ App) 4 S.W (2d) 296
Wyo—Enos v. Keating, 271 P 6, 39 Wyo. 217, 67 A L R. 430, rehearing denied 275 P. 131, 39 Wyo 217, 67 A L R 430
6 C J. p 745 note 57.

Discharge of attorney and settlement

A client may at any time, for any reason satisfactory to him, however arbitrary, discharge his attorney, and his settlement of a case without consulting his attorney is not a breach of the contract; but the attorney is limited to recovery of the reasonable value of services rendered—Marquam v Vachon, (C C.A Alaska) 7 F (2d) 607.

48. Ark—Davies & Davies v Patterson, 205 S W 118, 135 Ark 22
Kan—Carter v. Dunham, 177 P. 533, 104 Kan 59.
N Y—Lefkowitz v. Leblang, 187 N Y S. 520
6 C J. p 745 note 59.

Substantial performance

Where a contract between attorney and client provided for a certain contingent percentage of recovery, if by settlement without trial, and a higher percentage of recovery if by final judgment, and after reversal in the federal court the attorney dismissed, and sued in the state court, on compromise by client for the same amount for which judgment had once been procured, the attorney had substantially performed the contract, and was entitled to his fee based on the percentage for recovery by final judgment—Quinette v. Mitschrich, 235 P. 530, 109 Okl 281.

Agreed lump sum payment

An attorney holding a contract for a contingent fee is entitled to the lesser fee which his client procured him to name in case of settlement where the client, without replying, settled the case, thereby impliedly assenting to the attorney's offer to forego his contingent fee and receive instead the lump sum payment which he named—Laredo Nat Bank v Gordon, (C C A Tex) 61 F (2d) 906, certiorari denied 53 S Ct. 524, 289 U S 726, 77 L Ed 1476.

49. In re Snyder, 82 N E 742, 190 N.Y. 66, 123 Am S R 533, 14 L R A (N S) 1101, 13 Ann Cas. 441—6 C J. p 745 note 60.

a case,[50] although a contrary view has been taken.[51] The question as to the amount on which the percentage is reckoned in case of compromise or settlement is discussed infra § 191.

Settlement advised by attorney. Where an attorney advises his client to settle, he thereby waives his right to claim a contingent fee payable in the event the claim is prosecuted to final judgment.[52]

Proof of damages. Since an action by an attorney against his client for compromising a claim without notice is an action for damages, he must prove the damages that he sustained by such compromise,[53] which necessarily include proof that the suit would have been successful if no compromise had been made,[54] and that the claim if reduced to judgment would have been collectable.[55]

§ 190. Implied Agreements

a. In general
b Services covered

a. In General

Where the contract of employment contains no special agreement for compensation, there is an implied agreement to pay for the attorney's services, on the other hand a contract for compensation will not be implied in the face of an express contract therefor, but where the latter is void, or is nullified by mutual consent or act of the client, a contract may be implied

In the absence of special agreement and on the assumption that there is a valid retainer, there arises an implied agreement on the part of a client to pay a reasonable sum for the services of his attorney,[56] and, as shown supra § 162, contracts to pay retaining fees will be implied in some jurisdictions The question of what constitutes an employment sufficient to support an implied promise to pay for the services is discussed supra § 175.

Existence of express contract. The existence of an express contract for the payment of attorney's fees prevents the arising of a contract by implication;[57] and where one person is bound by an express contract to pay for services rendered, the law generally does not impose the same obligation on another by implication,[58] especially where such other is represented by his own counsel.[59] The attorney alone has no right to rescind an express contract,[60] but, where both parties assent to the abandonment thereof, an implied contract arises,[61] and in case the client sets aside the contract or procures it by misrepresentation, the attorney may resort to an implied contract on the part of the client to pay a fair amount as a fee.[62]

